She had counted as far as fifty dollars, when her husband showed unmistakable signs of waking up. Still hanging on to that amount, she was putting the remainder back in his clothes when the rattle of the silver woke her husband with a jar. He played possum; did not let on that he saw her, nor give any sign of being awake. Leaving the room, she went to the kitchen, closing the door behind her. She thought that her husband was still sleeping, but in that she was mistaken, for quickly jumping from the bed he too went toward the kitchen, and was in time to step on a chair and look through the transom and see his wife take the fifty dollars, look at it a moment, and then hiding it in a tea cannister on a shelf in the pantry. Back to bed he went, and as he avers, "there was no more sleep for this boy that night."

Daylight soon made its appearance, and with it he arose. Quickly getting into his clothes he went to the kitchen, grabbed the confiscated coin and wrote the note which begins this little recital. He went to the place where he had been employed, counted his coin and found that the amount taken from the tea cannister fitted nicely into the total amount which he carried home from the ball. As soon as he could get in touch with his employer he advised him that he wanted to leave. It took but a few moments to arrange matters. One of the out-of-work members took his job, and after he had closed his accounts with the officers of the union, went to his friend who had loaned him the money to make good on the previous occasion and advised him what he was going to do, securing an additional loan, and before noon was on his way to other parts.

Meanwhile, his wife did not wake up until late that morning. She did not experience any immediate loss, for her husband had frequently left home without waiting for breakfast. After making a leisurely toilet and starting to cook breakfast for herself, she thought of the money which she had purloined from her husband's clothes, took down the cannister and instead of fifty big hard dollars which she expected found the note referred to. Even then, she avers, she didn't believe her husband was making good on his threat. In fact, she looked for him to return home that evening at his usual time, but he didn't return that evening, nor for many and many an evening after. In fact, more than three years elapsed before explanations were made and reconciliation followed.

"How foolish," writes the wife, "it is for any woman to jump to quick conclusions, to carry impressions not borne out by facts. Had I taken time to think; had I even taken into consideration the information which had been willingly offered me by my husband, that he was an officer, the financial officer of an organization, complimented by his fellow workers and trusted by them with their funds, it would have been easy to understand why he carried so much more money than I knew he was getting as wages. But no, I was blind with jealousy, and could not see anything but that I was being victimized, when the opposite was the fact. I was victimizing the man whom, above all others, should have been protected by me. I was taking—stealing, if you please—the funds intrusted to his care; was in fact making him suffer for sins which he did not commit. I thought that I was depriving him of stolen pleasures, of ill-gotten money, and ashamed as I am now to confess it, gloried in my acts. In my mind there was no scruple too mean and unwomanly which I did not employ, and all because I was a foolish and thoughtless woman. I should have known that my husband's wages were all of his income; that if I took from his pockets money, that it must come from those wages, and that one can not make twenty dollars do the impossible task of increasing itself. But I didn't want to know. I was headstrong; set in my own views, and it needed purifying fire to make me see things. If there are any foolish women situated as I was, I hope my experience will help them to get over the idea that one can extract money from the pockets of a husband and help him to remain loyal and honest to his employer and his fellow man.

"You may succeed in taking a few dollars now and then, and you may have done so without it being noted, but remember this one fact, that for every dollar which you took, you caused your husband to deprive himself of some privilege which he may have enjoyed, or else you forced him to steal from his employer or the members of his organization, who may have done as the members of my husband's old local union did, elected him to a position of honor and trust. I paid a terrible price for my error, breaking up a pretty little home which had been provided for me, suffering tortures during the period of our separation, and now residing in a section of the country far removed from the friends and acquaintances of other days. Yes, I got my husband back, and we are living happily, but to think that through no effort of any one but myself I should have thrown away three priceless years, years during which as fine a boy —my husband—as ever served a thirsty patron was living in a hell created by a foolish, thoughtless and selfish woman.

"I am trying to make amends, and the suffering which I caused and which I experienced prompts me to urge those similarly placed to show a little faith and confidence in their life's mates, for when all is said and done, if he is half the man you believed him to be when you took your vows, he is worth striving to please and to help as a good woman should help her mate."

The husband in the case says but little, but what he has to offer is worth while reproducing:

"Hasty action is ill-advised action. Woman is generally prompted to do unwise things or reach unsafe conclusions from one or several wrong premises. Men are not always clear in making explanations. Some of us are a bit timid about telling the wife what she is entitled to know. If we are handling the money of our employer and bring it to our homes, or if we are handling the money of our union and bring it home, we must not conclude that the wife knows where that money come from and to whom it belongs. Therefore, it is best for all concerned to explain, and do it fully and truthfully. There is no sensible reason why a man should "hold out" on the folks at home. The man who starts that sort of thing is building a warm fire upon which he will eventually get burned. Be on the level with your home and with your fellow man. If you are, you don't need to worry, for it will all come out right in the end. It did in my case."

The writer or compiler of this incident in the lives of two of our folks appreciates that he has not succeeded in making a very good job of the task assigned, but has the satisfaction of knowing that there are two of our folks who now understand and trust one another, who have passed through an episode which they will never forget, and who are now living happily and trying to make converts of men and women to the idea of talking things over, to understand one another, to be helpful and trustful, to measure up to truth and loyalty—to be real pals.

JERE L. SULLIVAN.

MELON OR LEMON.

The fond hopes and expectations of the few men and women who were attracted by the salutation and promise of The Culinary Craft, who remitted the necessary money to pay for one year's subscription and who have been fortunate enough to receive one of the few copies which they print, thus having an opportunity of perusing and discovering that the promises made and the salutation offered have wedged together and failed to produce anything which the most susceptible could classify as tangible results.

These men and women, few though they may be, have probably read and re-read the professions and promises set forth at the beginning of January, 1914, and have no doubt begun to realize, that so far as genuine accomplishment is concerned, the wonderful aggregation advocating secession admit impotency, though they probably do not realize that such admission is contained in the following, clipped from their editorial page January, 1915:

"The Culinary Craft has carefully looked into and studied the needs of the workers in the industry, the past and present organized efforts for betterment, the accomplishments and failures of this same organized effort, its weaknesses, the cause of the lack of interest on the part of the workers in the International organization, in short, gave full consideration to every feature connected with the welfare of the Culinary worker. It has come to the conclusion that the primary thing to accomplish is to bring all these workers under one strong International organization of Culinary workers' only.' It finds that most of the failures of the past were principally due to the dual form of the present International organization, in which the sympathies of the two distinct callings are not close enough or strong enough to assimilate, and therefore has taken up the cry for a Culinary Workers' Union as an issue, and has, is and will continue to promote this issue, called segregation, until it is accomplished."

No doubt after perusing that statement they may, with considerable interest, refer back to the initial announcement and find therein substantially the same conclusion, and after one whole year "in showing how" the very best which they offer is repetition.

The subscribers who have been stung, probably read with expectation for the future the display announcements which the Seven Sacred Scribes of Seventh Street adorn, and waste pages, and which in part reads:

*"The Culinary Craft  It is a Live Wire.  It is the Paper that Advances the Interests of Hotel and Restaurant Workers. * * * It is the only Medium which will bring the 750,000 Unorganized Culinary Workers of this Country into one Big Culinary Union."*

The subscribers of the Culinary Craft have probably looked carefully through each copy as it came to them, seeking for some of that "new unionism" which would give them stronger arguments to approach their non-union allied craftsmen and craftswomen; they have looked in vain through the pages of the twelve numbers for original thought and suggestions as to how best to go about perfecting their local unions, aye, how best to overcome the great obstacles which the Sacred Septette write so knowingly of and point out as existing, especially back east. The subscribers have been "stung," they looked for something truly original, something which would have stiffened them in their campaign for a greater and better membership and the very best they have procured is: Barbary Coast wit interspersed with a combination of Syndicalism, Genevaism, Near-Redism, I. W. W. ism and New Unionism. Almost as many ingredients as usually found in secession movements, but not one word, not a clearly expressed thought which could be construed to mean a real suggestion for the advancement of the cause so splendidly set forth in the platform of principles and objects of our International union. Truly a case of the "Blind Leading the Blind."

In a recent issue of the MIXER AND SERVER we
Digitized by Google

made mention of the fact that the census of 1910 reported 3,154 waiters who admitted being employed as such in the city of San Francisco, that assuming proportionate increase in concord with the growth of the population of the city since 1910 there were not less than 4,000 waiters living there and working at the culinary business. At that time we called attention to the fact that Local 30 did not have approximately one-half of these craftsmen as members of their union. Let us, for the sake of emphasizing facts, again review the numerical status of said Local 30. In their report for January, 1914, they had a membership of 1,849; compare that with their reported membership to headquarters for January, 1915, when their membership stood 1,826 members. Subtract that number from the approximate number of waiters in that city on January 1st, 1915, Four Thousand, and you will observe that 2,174 are outside the fold, sufficient, if you please, to create another Waiters' Union of equal size to Local 30 and have a few left over for good measure. With such a showing right at the home of secession, right under the flying banner of the "Voice of Secession" and under the noses—seven of them—of the Sacred Septette, and then, my friends, you who remitted your great big, hard iron dollar for twelve numbers of The Culinary Craft, will begin to understand WHY you have been fed on promises and glittering generalities; you will begin to realize that they didn't have any new ideas, that they simply wanted your money in order to aid them in their campaign to crush the one American organization which had shown up their subsidized, boss-owned, boss-directed culinary (?) International Geneva's as a gigantic frost and tool, used extensively here and abroad to prevent catering industry employees from getting inside unions and improving their conditions.

Stung, yes, and badly; but cheer up, the war will soon be over. JERE L. SULLIVAN.

"LEGISLATION VIA THE PIE COUNTER."

Under the above caption "The Voice of Secession" for April, 1915, wallows to its septette's hearts content through 'a maze of accusation which, for downright silliness comes close to being the ultimate limit. "One of the greatest handicaps," writes the Sacred Seven of the Voice of Secession, "to the advancement of organized labor is the use or misuse of the pie counter. By this is meant the gift of political jobs by the machine in power to such as will do the bidding of the machine and follow its dictates." Then over two pages the Seven Sacred Scribes of Seventh Street, San Francisco, Cal., spread an assortment of phrases which are about the most insulting to the men and women of our local unions who sought and secured aid through an appropriation of fifteen dollars a week, the services of one of their own members as a Local Special Organizer.

It will indeed be astonishing, if, after such an accusation so unhesitating and unlimited as to scope, the unions who are thus set down as "poor weaklings" will be willing to swallow the insult without seeking such redress as is possible under our laws.

In order that our members may be able to appreciate how much truth there is in the wild accusations printed in the "Voice of Secession" by the Sacred Septette, we offer for perusal and consideration the following unquestioned facts:

Local 527 of Dubuque, Iowa, wrote headquarters asking for aid in the shape of a local special organizer. Brother Henry Draese, secretary of that local was selected by the local and accomplished good work during the several weeks in which he was employed. He began January 1st, 1913. Local 527 is a bartenders' union.

Local 59, Milwaukee, Wis., requested an appropriation to employ a local special organizer for several weeks. James Manz, secretary of that union was selected by the union and secured a fair measure of results for his union. Local 59 is a culinary union.

Local 861 of Billings, Mont., a culinary union, was having hard sledding, its secretary, John R. Daly, asked for help. We granted his local an appropriation via the local special organizers' method. Secretary Daly was the member selected by his union.

Local 593 of Minneapolis, a culinary union, was up against the dual union proposition in that city, and they asked for help. We granted them the services of a local special organizer, and Secretary E. A. Hawk was selected by that union. It has been asserted that if Secretary Hawk had not been employed during the period referred to Local 593 would have ceased to exist.

Local 335, of Toledo, Ohio, waitresses' union, were having a difficult struggle to keep going. Their secretary solicited aid from the International Union and the services of a local special organizer was given them. Sister Nida Prangle, secretary of that union was selected by that local for the job, and we unhesitatingly declare that if the General Executive Board had not granted that local the aid which they sought it would not have existed many months. Local 335 is a live, thriving local today, and the General Executive Board feels gratified with the results secured.

Local 562, Detroit, Mich., a bartenders' union, requested aid to the extent of the services of a local special organizer. That union put Secretary John Ledwith on the job and the records show that it was worth while.

Organizer McGinley was working in and adjacent to Albany, N. Y. He suggested that the services of a local special organizer would be helpful; he recommended Charles E. Sands, a member of Waiters' Union, Local 362, of Albany, to look after Local 150 at Syracuse, N. Y., which culinary local had been experiencing some obstacles to their progress.

Local 6 of Boston, Mass., a culinary union, asked for and was given the services of one of their members as a local special organizer. They selected Brother John Lynch. He helped that local maintain itself and added some new members.

Local 449, Altoona, Pa., a bartenders' union, asked for and was given the usual consideration, the services of a local special organizer for several weeks. Secretary Craig Rhodes was given the job by that union; he tried and seemingly succeeded in helping his union.

Local 273, Springfield, Mass., recommended Secretary Rudolph Garske of Local 273 as a local special organizer to help Waitresses' Local 416 of that city, and he was appointed for the task. It was probably no fault of his that said Local 416 did not make better headway after his efforts in their behalf for eight weeks.

Bartenders' Joint Council of Chicago, which council included all of the bartenders' unions of Chicago, asked us to put Paul W. Giese on the pay-roll as a local special organizer. We acquiesced, and Brother Giese got on the job with what results the interested unions know.

THE MIXER AND SERVER

Local 700 of Paterson, N. J., asked for help; we gave them the usual appropriation of $15 per week, and they selected John Henderson. Brother Henderson worked among his fellow culinary workers for a period of four weeks and secured some results.

Local 19 of Kansas City, Mo., was confronted with dual unions and clubs and asked for an appropriation as well as the services of two local special organizers. Their request was granted, and they put Brothers W. L. Doolittle and Charles E. Henderson in the field as local special organizers. Local 19 was not to blame if the returns were not as good as they desired. They tried to accomplish results, but the dual unions and clubs of culinary workers were harder problems than they imagined. At that the dual unions knew that there was something doing in opposition.

On August 29, 1913, after perusing a communication from Secretary M. E. Henderson of Local 189, Portland, Oregon, we wrote him in effect that if his local union had a live wire to put in the field as a Local Special Organizer, "Somebody that would help you to increase the membership and put things in better shape than they seemingly are at the present time," we would remit the usual $15 per week for four weeks, or probably eight weeks, all depending on the results gleaned by such appointee. Secretary Henderson later advised us that Brother C. T. Fredericks had been the man chosen for the job by Local 189. Brother Fredericks began work September 15, 1913, and continued for 15 weeks. Probably Local 189, or Brother Fredericks will, if written to by the Seven Sacred Scribes of San Francisco, inform them of the reasons why Local 189 did not win more converts and make the local second to none on the Pacific Coast. The use of "pie" as pictured by the Sacred Septette was used by and in behalf of Local 189; were they as well as Brother Fredericks' "poor weaklings," who had been promised "pie" for votes?

Local 2 of Brooklyn, N. Y., solicited help via the local special organizer route. We agreed to give them what they asked for and they put Brother George Hale on the job. We advise the Sacred Septette that unless they feel unusually healthy, not to be too sure that Brother Hale is a "poor weakling," or that he is a "dupe" of some higher up; he might resent the imputation with some vigor. Perhaps the culinary workers of Local 2 are "weaklings" or "dopes" of the "higher ups," but the Sacred Septette are brave, long-distance slime slingers, and are far enough away to avoid being properly rewarded for their churlish insinuations.

Cooks' Local 381, of Brooklyn, N. Y., believing that it could add to its numerical strength was granted the services of a local special organizer, and the local put Brother Joseph Fritz in the field and he accomplished fair results during the time he was employed. We never had the privilege of meeting Brother Fritz, hence don't know whether he liked the brand of "political pie" we serve or not. Evidently his fellow members of Local 381 thought he was all right, and that is something which the Sacred Septette can't deprive him of.

Local 70 of Brooklyn, N. Y., a bartenders'

union, wanted similar consideration as its sister locals in the same city. It was given them, and Secretary Otto Pattberg was selected by his union to tackle the job. Those who know Otto will hardly agree that he is either a "dupe" or "weakling," and the so-called "higher ups" would have some job on hand to tell him where to get off at.

Waiters' Local 575 of Jersey City, N. J., wanted Bill Kavanagh in the field as a local special organizer; their wish was granted. Bill always makes good, for he carries something under his hat which is not filled with moldy excelsior. Bill is big enough to speak for himself; he needs no other champion, as the Sacred Septette are due to realize.

Bartenders' Union, Local 178, of New Orleans, La., were on the ragged edge, they asked for help. We gave them a local special organizer for several weeks. Albert Roux was the member selected by that union to do the work and earn the fifteen per. Poor results, but no fault of the coin remitted or the G. E. B.

The Local Joint Executive Board of Denver, Colo., wanted enough help to keep a local special organizer in the field for several weeks. They were granted their request, and Brother Stanley P. Oplinger was put on the job. The fact that the afore referred to Local Joint Board, composed of bartenders, cooks, waiters and waitresses urged that he be continued for several months is offered in evidence as to what they thought of Brother Oplinger's ability. Probably the brother, as well as the members of the L. J. E. B., were "poor weaklings and dopes of some higher ups," but those who make that accusation are safe with two ranges of mountains and several hundreds of miles between the alleged "weaklings" and their unscrupulous accusers.

Cooks' Local 865, of Chicago, Ill., after making every effort to make both ends meet financially, asked us to help them out by putting Secretary Martin Miller on as a local special organizer. We granted their prayer in December, 1913, and that local has had a local special organizer ever since, for Brother Miller was succeeded by Brother Fred Ebeling, July 6th, 1914. Brother Ebeling is husky and brainy enough to satisfy the Sacred Septette as to whether he is a "dupe" or "weakling," and may be heard from as to why his local has had such a steady seat at that "pie counter" which the Sacred Septette refers to.

Brother Barney Rowohlt, of Bartenders' Union, Local 4, Hoboken, N. J., per request of that local union, was placed at the "pie counter" and drew down the usual stipend remitted to local special organizers. But don't lose sight of the fact that Brother Rowohlt worked hard enough to bring in quite a few brands from the burning. The writer does not recall having ever met the brother, but judging from the esteem in which he is held by the members of Local 4, the bar-boys of Hoboken are better judges of "dopes" and "weaklings" than the Sacred Seven. Barney concluded his services as a local special organizer over a year ago, long before we had heard the song "It's a Long Way to Tipperary."

Local 593, of Minneapolis, which, as the reader will recall, had Brother E. A. Hawk on the job as a local special organizer during the early months of 1913, again appealed for further aid; and they repeated their former selection, putting Brother Hawk to work December 29, 1913, and keeping him on the job until April 11, 1914. During that time the brother tried every method known to induce the waiters of his city to get inside the union. But there was a dual waiters' union to contend with, and those who have bumped against that sort of thing need not be advised of the difficulties to overcome, especially if the obstacles take the form of branches of the International Geneva Association.

Bartenders' Union 340, of Orange, N. J., wanted help; they were given the usual attention and consideration. Result was that Brother J. J. Tierney went into the field as a local special organizer for several weeks. He was selected by that local union and seemed to satisfy the members of same that he made good use of his time.

Local 353, of St. Louis, colored waiters' union, asked for and secured enough to keep a local special organizer busy for a few weeks. We didn't select him, that was the union's privilege; they know whether he made good or not.

The Local Joint Board of Philadelphia advised us that they intended carrying on a vigorous organizing campaign, and asked for the appointment of Brother Harry Weinstock as a local special organizer and a little coin to make their campaign successful. We gave them both, and the General Executive Board is not a bit backward in asserting that if similar results can be secured as our boys and girls put over from February, 1914, to November of the same year, they won't have to coax the board to get out the money box. One peek at that wonderful labor parade which took place during the convention of the A. F. of L. proved that not only our kind of folks got into the band wagon, but all other workers.

Having in mind quite a number of our members in that city, I doubt very much that we should care to accuse them of being "dupes or weaklings;" fact is, we prefer to leave that sort of thing to the Sacred Septette. Whisper: do you recall the fact that "Philly" sent into the fistic arena several fairly lively manipulators of the padded mitts? Quite as many we may venture to say as the city where the Sacred Septette mixes up its slime. Some one has his hat on the wrong peg, and you can wager a punched jitney that it ain't the boy with his name signed to the foot of this little review.

In the spring of 1914 Local 696, bartenders of Norfolk, Va., wanted help in the form of a local special organizer. Their request was granted, and whom do you suppose they elected to get on the job? Why no one but "Col." Charles Hosier. The "Colonel" has a host of friends and acquaintances in almost every town on the map. Ask them how much of a "weakling" or a "dupe" he is, and who wants the job of telling the "Colonel" where he fits?

Local 592, of Winnipeg, Man., Can., through their secretary informed us of the conditions surrounding the culinary workers and urged us to help maintain their union and aid it in moving forward. We granted their request in March, 1914, and Secretary A. W. Smith of that union was assigned to the task by his local. In passing it may not be amiss to say that we attribute to the work of Brother Smith the credit of making Local 592 a live and progressive union, for we have had evidence in the shape of correspondence from other than members of his local, which indicates that when Local 592 selected him for the task they knew he was neither "dupe" or "weakling," even if the Seven Sacred Scribes do think so.

Culinary Local 315, of Montreal, Can., wanted help. We gave them the usual fifteen dollar a week local special organizer. They selected Brother Joseph Bosley to try his hand at the task of increasing their numerical strength. He began on March 30 and finished April 25, 1914. Not having the privilege of Brother Bosley's acquaintance, we don't know how he or the members of his local feel over being classed as "weaklings or dupes."

But we are aware of this one pertinent fact, that the Genevas have a branch in Montreal. Need more be said?

Pittsburg, Pa., had tried on several occasions to maintain a local union of culinary workers, but the old man of the sea in the form of clubs and associations managed to put them to sleep with a wallop from which they never recovered. On March 19, 1914, we issued charter No. 209 to the culinary workers of Pittsburg. Their secretary, Brother Otto Schatz, communicated with headquarters quite frequently during the next few weeks, and reaching the conclusion that if we wanted a culinary union in "Smoketown" we would have to give the officers such assistance as we could afford. Brother Schatz was therefore placed on the pay-roll as a local special organizer and continued on the job until the union had erected a fairly good foundation. That it succeeded in doing so, despite the existence of a waiters' club and a branch of the International Genevas, and that the said Local 209 is in existence today and doing fairly well, is, we think, ample to offer to show that these members were neither "dupes or weaklings," and that they did not "sell out" to the General Executive Board for future delivery.

The Local Joint Executive Board of Chicago submitted the name of Brother William Woods and recommended that he be the recipient of the usual $15 per for services as a local special organizer. The wish of the Local Joint Executive Board was concurred in and carried out. Brother Woods was a member of Bartenders' Union, Local 649.

Culinary Local 407, of Indianapolis, Ind., after having been aided by the organizer for several weeks, found that they were not making headway; they asked for and secured the usual consideration, a local special organizer. They elected Brother F. M. Hooper, and he worked hard for them while his term lasted.

Locals 336 and 530 of Chicago amalgamated and became Local 35, and to render all the encouragement and help possible we agreed to give them the usual remittance for the services of a local special organizer. Brother J. W. Frakes, president of Local 35, was elected for the job and he continued on the pay-roll from April 27, 1914, until April 17th, 1915. Was the acceptance of that aid indicative that the membership of Local 35 were "dupes" of some one "higher up," or that they were "poor weaklings?" Surely there ought to be some evidence to offer that the generous action of the General Executive Board was prompted by a "promise to sell out" or to be "loyal to the machine" as long as the coin was forthcoming. As a reward for that bestowal of "patronage" we have been advised that Local 35 is fully in accord with the wishes and desire of the Sacred Septette. In fact, the knowledge of that prompted Brother Frakes to advise us that he was impelled to seek other employment. He was ashamed to accept the $15 per, knowing that the union for which he was working was seeking to help the Sacred Septette and their associated secessionists to break up our International Union. Now who was the "dupe" or the "weakling" in that bit of experience?

THE MIXER AND SERVER

Bartenders' Union, Local 81, of Holyoke, Mass., through their president began a campaign to revive Local 619 of that city. They recommended Brother Jos. Ross of that local as a local special organizer, believing he was the right man to take hold of the task and make good. Brother Ross did revive Culinary Local 619. It is in good standing today. Where was the "dupe and weakling" combination in that case?

Waiters' Union, Local 19, of Kansas City, Mo., believing that there was an excellent opportunity of winning converts to their banner, asked for the usual support, the necessary funds to pay a local special organizer for a brief period of time. Their request was approved, and Brother C. C. Glover was elected to take hold of the job. He began May 18, 1914, and continued, securing good results while thus employed. Will Local 19 advise our general membership that before they were given the assistance solicited, a promise was exacted that they would have "to deliver the goods in the shape of votes at the coming convention?" Were they ready to "sell out the rank and file" of Local 19 for that "piece of pie," as such jobs are called by the Sacred Seven? Are they "weaklings or dupes?" Or are there "unscrupulous leaders" in that local union?

Local 59, of Milwaukee, Wis., asked for a little help; they were given it. It took the form of paying Brother T. P. Woods, who had been chosen for the job, the customary $15 per week. The Sacred Seven are invited to particularize and name the "weaklings or dupes" in that local union, or perhaps they can tell us who are "the unscrupulous leaders" of that local who sold out the rank and file.

Local 43, of Pueblo, Colo., had a secretary who had occupied a similar position in several other western local unions, Local 239 of Seattle for one. We asked him along about the first of June, 1914, if he could devote his time to our two locals in that city, as we believed such attention was necessary for several months. That brother was J. N. Butler; he accepted the task and made good. So well did he accomplish the task assigned to him, that the General Executive Board when seeking for the services of a real trades unionist to act as one of a number of special defense organizers, appointed him for a limited period.

This was one case where the appointment came from headquarters, and those who are personally acquainted with Brother Butler will hardly agree that he is either "dupe" or a "weakling" or that he was put on the job only as a result of "making promises to deliver votes at the coming convention." The Pueblo, Colo., Trades and Labor Assembly at its meeting on March 31, 1915, adopted a resolution, the final paragraph reading as follows:

"Resolved, That we commend Brother Butler to the organized labor movement of this country as a man worthy of their trust and confidences and as a man of exceptional ability, and one who has the interests of the working people at heart, and as one who will use every endeavor within his power to emancipate the working class."

We wonder if the traducers of the men and women who have acted as local special organizers can produce anything remotely resembling such a splendid tribute as given to Brother J. N. Butler?

Cooks' Union, Local 408, of St. Paul, Minn., needed help after that local had been chartered. They asked us to put Brother I. T. Murphy on the local special organizer list for a brief period. We did, and he stuck to the job as long as he could afford it, meanwhile doing excellent work for his local.

Bartenders' Local 29, of Bronx, N. Y., wanted a little help. They asked that Brother A. Toby, secretary, be made a local special organizer for a brief period. He was, and Local 29 benefited considerably. Those who want the job of advising Brother Toby that he is either a "dupe or weakling" are welcome to the task—we pass the buck up to some other person.

Local 69, Galveston, Texas, Cooks' and Waiters' Union, organized way back in June, 1896, nineteen years ago, were given the usual weekly appropriation of $15 per. President M. W. Lusk of that local was put on the job August 3, 1914. He has been kind enough to describe the results obtained in communications printed in the MIXER AND SERVER. With a record of nineteen years in continuous existence, dare any one accuse Local 69 of being made up of "weaklings or dupes," or that they were remotely susceptible of being peddled by "unscrupulous leaders" for some of that "pie counter" stuff which the Seven Scribes in the "Voice of Secession" write about?

Local 223, of Des Moines, a culinary union, wanted some help; we gave them a local special organizer for several weeks. They selected Brother Wm. A. Sweeney, who, before he had been on the job very long, secured a good job and Brother F. P. Anderson followed him. He, too, found another job and Brother C. W. McCurdy took hold. Brother McCurdy is big enough to say whether he comes under the insulting classification which the Sacred Septette applies to local special organizers.

Waiters' Union, Local 80, of Boston, Mass., elected Brother Joseph E. Laycock for the position of local special organizer, and headquarters remitted a weekly check for $15 during the time Brother Laycock was employed in the field. It is barely possible that Local 80 may send Brother Laycock as one of its delegates to the coming convention. In any event, whomsoever they may send will quickly display how much of a "dupe" that local made of itself and whether they represent a bunch of "weaklings" or not.

Local 80 is well supplied with talent as delegates to our general conventions will testify.

Waiters' Local 72, of Cincinnati, Ohio, were given the usual weekly remittance of $15 per. They elected Brother J. D. Atkinson, and their reports show some advancement for the appropriation made to them.

Bartenders' Local 287, of St. Paul, Minn., were in need of a man in the field. They elected Brother Frank McGlogan as their local special organizer, and our connection with the proposition consisted in remitting weekly while he was employed.

Bartenders' Union, Local 230, of Auburn, N. Y., had passed through a siege of indifference on the part of their members. We gave them the usual consideration, and Brother Wilbur L. White went on the job but didn't finish, and Brother

W. A. Donnelly worked the remainder of four weeks and helped the local wonderfully.

Local 843, of Worcester, Mass., a local composed of men who are employed in wholesale wine and liquor houses, wanted a little help. We gave it to them in the form of a local special organizer for several weeks. Brother William Guilfoyle was chosen for the task.

The L. J. E. B. of Los Angeles, Cal., asked us to put Brother George W. McDonald of Local 17 on the pay-roll for several weeks as a local special organizer. We did, knowing that McDonald was a busy little secession worker.

Does George come under that classification of "dupes," or is he fitted into space marked "unscrupulous leaders?" Take your share, Georgie, there is quite sufficient to reach you.

Local 348, of San Antonio, Texas, was struggling along manfully, and their activity prompted Vice-President Steffler to recommend that they be given a local special organizer. Brother Frank Guardo was put on the job for several weeks the first of the present year and showed that he was the right man for the task, his local benefiting thereby. If that local succeeds in getting enough coin together to pay the expense of sending a delegate to the coming convention, would that delegate be classed as a "dupe" or "weakling" because he favored Vice-President Steffler to office? Steffler is a resident and citizen of San Antonio. He would be very unfortunate if he didn't have the respect and esteem of his own townspeople.

The Local Joint Executive Board of Newark, N. J., requested that we come to the assistance of Cooks' Union, Local 294, of that city. The method suggested by them and which was agreeable to the General Executive Board was the employment of Brother Harry Maertens, of Waiters' Local 109, as a local special organizer in behalf of the cooks. Were the members of that Local Joint Executive Board "unscrupulous leaders?" Were they "poor weaklings," or was the power of suggestion so strong with the "higher ups" that it transmitted itself into the state which gave Woodrow Wilson to the country and infected the members of that Local Joint Executive Board to such an extent that they took the action as outlined for the benefit of the Newark cooks? And if such is the case, where did the promise to put down votes for the "higher ups" at this coming convention come in?

Perhaps the reader has about come to the conclusion that this is rather tiresome reading, but be patient and persevere to the end, for the purpose of setting forth all these facts is to place you in a position to judge of the character of the individuals who seek to poison your minds and force you to absorb untruths in the hope that you may be foolish enough to follow their lead and do their bidding. They are telling you that your official family is imitating that political aggregation known as the Tammany Society, which they allege use "pie counter" methods for the purpose of strengthening their hold on the political jobs of the Empire State.

Just for a change we will drop over into Canada, that section of North America which the so-called segregationists purposely ignored when they nailed down the plans of their wrecking platform.

Local 28, of Vancouver, B. C., went before the Local Joint Board of that city and secured their endorsement of a request to lay before the General Executive Board a proposal to furnish the funds to employ a local special organizer for the benefit of the culinary workers of Local 28 of that city. The request was received in January, and on the 25th of that month Brother A. Graham, secretary of Local 28, began to draw the usual $15 per. He worked eight weeks and, unless we misconstrue his reports to headquarters, accomplished some good for his local union. Can the Local Joint Executive Board and the members of Local 28 be accused of coming under that "dupe" or "weakling" classification? Or are the affairs of our locals in that city in the hands of a lot of "unscrupulous leaders" who are ready to sell out the rank and file for a "piece of pie"—a 15 simoleon per week job?

Now let us jump over to Toronto at the other end of British North America. Local 300, a culinary union, had an unfinished campaign on their hands. They wanted help, and a local special organizer was the answer. Brother E. F. Humphreys was put on the job by Local 300, and while he has not revolutionized matters, we take it that he has tried to the best of his ability to increase the membership of his local. Do you suppose that Local 300 or its members accepted what was given them with the understanding that it was "political pie," and that they would have to "come across" with votes or support at the coming convention if they were fortunate enough to have enough spoundulix to defray the expenses of a delegate to the Pacific Coast?

Several years ago there was a popular song about Cheyenne. It seems to us it was being sang about the time that our allied crafts of that State began to desire organization. At any rate we have two very nice local unions in Cheyenne, Wyoming. They formed a Local Joint Executive Board and were going along fairly good, yet they needed something, and that was one of their members in the field to reach the non-union worker.

The Local Joint Executive Board asked us to put Brother Clyde Hackney on the list as a local special organizer. We acquiesced, and after hustling for eight weeks both unions of that city have taken on added members and encouragement; at least that is the conclusion one reaches after reading the nice words printed about our members in that city by the Wyoming Labor Journal printed at Cheyenne. Question: "Were the members of the General Executive Board unscrupulous when they granted the Local Joint Executive Board at Cheyenne, Wyo., the services of a local special organizer, or were the unions of that city in the hands of 'unscrupulous leaders' who had arranged a dicker whereby an exchange of votes would be made for 'political pie' via the local special organizer route?" Probably the Sacred Septette imagines that all others are as "cheap" as themselves, hence their unexampled accusations.

It's getting warmer, stick it out until the whole story has been told, for this next item may be more interesting.

We had a waitresses' union in Springfield, Mass. Unfortunately it did not thrive as well as we had hoped and it was suspended for non-payment of dues. Local 273 wanted to gobble it up, but we could not see it, so to speak. We instructed one of our organizers to get busy in that city and see what could be recovered from the ruins. After working on the matter for several days he suggested that we put a member of Local 273 on as a local special organizer for a few weeks and have that brother devote his time and energy to trying to encourage the girls to revive their local. The brother recommended was David I. Casey, president of Local 273. He began work January 25, 1915, and closed February 20, 1915. He had hardly begun, however, before the secretary of Local 273 began to pester the general office wanting to know why that local had not been consulted in the appointment. That secretary also gave an illustration of how exceedingly anxious he was to see the waitresses' union revived by filing a claim against the girls for $16.50 for hall rent. Can you imagine the size of the bump of generosity which he toted around? Sixteen dollars and fifty cents' worth of wear and tear had been debited against the handful of girls for what? For meeting by invitation in the rooms of Local 273. The secretary is a so-called segregationist; in fact, has contributed some dribble on the subject, which the Seven Sacred Scribes gave space to in the Voice of Secession. Possibly his secession ideas got twisted up with his miserably small bump of generosity, hence the bill against the girls for hall rent. If the girls of Springfield ever do become courageous enough to make their local a genuine success, we suggest that they heap coals of fire on the heads of the members of a local union who would tolerate such cheap tactics and retain such a secretary in office, by returning good for evil, and showing that the feminine heart consists of something besides a travesty on that much abused organ. How humiliated a real, live man must feel when he realizes he has his card in such a union.

THE MIXER AND SERVER

The Cooks' Union, Local 408, still struggling along, asked for another little boost; we gave it to them. Brother C. Hubert Landis put in from January 25, 1915, to March 6, 1915, trying to make his local sea-worthy and strong enough to keep on its voyage.

Brother Robert Lyons, of St. Louis, Mo., president of Bartenders' Union, Local 51, wrote the undersigned early in January, 1915, that he believed he could do some good work for the locals in his city if put on as an organizer. He was put on as a local special organizer, and we have on file letters from the waitresses and cooks' unions of that city which indicate that the work done by Brother Lyons was well worth while. Brother Lyons, we understand, will be a delegate to the coming convention from his local. Perhaps he may take up a few moments' time of the convention seeking to convince all concerned that he is neither "dupe or weakling," nor yet an "unscrupulous leader" of his local union.

Local 6, of Boston, culinary union, wanted to take advantage of conditions prevailing among the hotel workers in that city, and they were given the services of a local special organizer. Brother James M. Thomas was selected for the task; he put in eight weeks with a fair measure of results for his union.

Local 848 of El Paso, Texas, was given a boost in the form of a local special organizer for four weeks. Brother E. D. Skinner was chosen for the task of helping his union and, despite rather poor trade conditions, a good deal of advancement was made.

Local 62, of Fresno, Cal., asked for a little help; we granted their request. Brother Al Oaks went on the field to see what could be done to increase the membership. The local seems to be satisfied with his efforts.

Waitresses' Union 644 of Philadelphia were given a little help via the local special organizer route. Sister (Mrs.) Maud Mosier was elected for the job and she has worked ceaselessly to secure new members.

Thomas P. Woods, secretary of Local 593, Minneapolis, was put in the field as a local special organizer, and we agreed to remit the usual stipend for the several weeks.

Cooks' Union, Local 266, of Kansas City, Mo., asked us to help them with a local special organizer. We granted their request, with Brother Joseph R. Franklin taking hold of the job March 8th. He will close with us May 1, 1915, and we venture the prediction that Cooks' Union 266 will be benefited by a goodly number of new recruits.

Milwaukee Waiters' Union 59 needed a little help, and President Jas. Foley of that union was put on as a local special organizer from March 15, 1915, to April 10, four weeks. Brother Foley has a reputation of being untiring when he begins hustling. Did he make good? We think so.

L. A. Gastinel, of Local 659, Dallas, Texas, was put on as a local special organizer from March 29 to April 24, 1915, four weeks. Judging from the good work which that brother has done for his local in the past, he will show good returns for the money he received.

We wonder if Brothers Thomas of Local 6, Skinner of Local 848, Oaks of Local 62, Woods of Local 593, Franklin of Local 266, Foley of Local 59 and Gastinel of Local 659 feel complimented by being classed as "dupes" or "weaklings" by the Sacred Septette?

Brother W. H. Thomas, of Local 261, per recommendation of Secretary Fred Schwenker, of Local 79, was put on as a local special organizer in the hope that he would be able to revive the drooping spirits of the members and perchance increase the numerical status of that union.

Bartenders' Joint Council of Chicago, Ill., asked us to place Brother Thomas J. Devine on the pay-roll as a local special organizer. The council consists of Locals 376, 401, 456, 507, 649 and 702. Brother Devine began March 29, 1915, for a four week trial. If he makes good no doubt the B. J. C. of Chicago will ask for an extension of time. We are trying to figure out where that number of locals were "bunked" into anything unbeknown to them, and where, if any place, that "dupe and weakling" thing comes in.

Local 249, Waitresses Union of St. Louis, asked us for an organizer to help them out. We tried to arrange matters so as to send one to that city, but being unable to do so, gave them the privilege of a local special organizer for eight weeks. They elected their secretary, Sister Louise Kane, for the position. She began work March 29 and will close May 22, 1915. Sister Kane has a tough problem to handle, but we feel confident that the local will benefit from her labors.

Waitresses' Union, Local 112, of Boston, Mass., but recently organized, was encouraged by granting them the help of a local special organizer. Sister Delia A. Hurley was chosen for the field work. It is our hope and expectation that she will put enough Boston waitresses into Local 112 to make it a big success. Sister Hurley began on March 29 and will close on May 22, 1915, eight weeks.

The Local Joint Executive Board of New York

Digitized by Google

City wanted the waitresses organized, the Women's Trade Union League were anxious also, and we, agreeing on the same lines, promised to remit to the Local Joint Executive Board the usual $15 per week for eight weeks. Miss Belle Bonner began March 29th, and will close May 22, 1915.

Sister Loretta Wheeler, secretary of Local 180, of San Jose, Cal., a culinary local, which had been having a struggle to keep things going in the right direction, asked for an organizer. We sent Brother Merryfield to co-operate with the officers and members. After going over the field carefully he suggested that we help that local out by remitting the usual $15 per week for a limited period, and thus make it possible for Secretary Wheeler to devote full time to the task.

Local 72 asked for and was granted the services of a local special organizer. That local selected Brother Leonard Griffith for the job, which will last four weeks, closing May 12, 1915.

Cooks' Union, Local 872, recently organized at Milwaukee, Wis., started Brother Victor Marot to work April 19 for a four-week effort to put said Local 872 in shape to make headway.

There, we have finished the list of local special organizers appointed during the years 1913, 1914 and 1915 up to the date of closing forms for this month's issue of the MIXER AND SERVER, April 25, 1915. Some of the names may be familiar to you, possibly you may have met some of them, therefore will be better able to decide whether you think the Seven Sacred Scribes of Seventh street, San Francisco, were justified in making a general accusation against them of being "dupes" of some one higher up, or "weaklings" under the control of "unscrupulous leaders of local unions." You will, no doubt, be able to judge, whether these men and women, whose names have been made a part of this article, have been imposed upon by your General Executive Board or have been insulted by the Sacred Septette, who say: "These same pie eaters are loyal to the machine as long as they are fed, but when influence is on the wane and the machine has no further use for them, they whine."

The members of our International Union are asked to condemn in the same insinuating and contemptible manner, all members who may have been called on by their local unions to perform labor for their union and who received any compensation whatever. Will our membership follow the unmanly route picked out by the Sacred Seven?

The members will have to determine whether attempting to help local unions, who are struggling to overcome obstacles and who ask for funds to employ local special organizers, is what the Seven Sacred Scribes call it: a "misuse of funds."

Our members will also be asked to decide whether there is any real difference between direct and indirect acceptance of such funds as may be appropriated for the use of local unions.

The Seven Sacred Scribes aver that our funds are manipulated for the benefit of the alleged "machine," that the doling out of so-called "political pie" was for the purpose of securing votes and support for the officers at our conventions, so that these officers might continue in office indefinitely.

Perhaps the Sacred Seven may be able to distinguish between an appropriation made in bulk and one made by installments of $15 per week.

For instance there has been remitted to our San Francisco unions since our convention, June, 1913, twenty-four hundred dollars on account of the White Lunch establishments. That money was paid to members of the unions in that city for services.

Were the members who received that money from their locals "dupes" or "weaklings?" Were they selected to receive that coin by "unscrupulous leaders of local unions who are ready to sell out the rank and file" for some of their "political pie?"

Can the reader find any difference between the Fifteen Dollars sent to John Doe, of Local 999, for services as a local special organizer for his local union, and a similar amount paid to Richard Roe for services as a picket by his local union, and FROM MONEY SENT TO HIS UNION BY THE INTERNATIONAL UNION? If John Doe is a "dupe or weakling" for taking that fifteen dollars from headquarters, and is a "machine" employe, what is Richard Roe, who also takes fifteen dollars from headquarters AFTER IT HAS PASSED THROUGH THE HANDS OF HIS LOCAL UNION OFFICERS? Is Richard Roe a "machine" employe? Is he one of the "dupes" or "weaklings?" And if not, why not?

If the General Executive Board remits one hundred dollars to Chicago on account of a strike in that city, and repeats the action and remits one hundred dollars to San Francisco for a similar purpose, is the money sent to Chicago "dirty" money and that which was sent to San Francisco "clean" money? Did the twenty-four hundred dollars sent to the San Francisco locals of our International Union since the last convention leave the headquarters as "dirty" money, and after being gazed upon by the Seven Sacred Scribes, or a laying on of their hands resulted in transforming said money into "clean" Seven Sacred Scribes dough?

Does it make a difference from whence money comes as to its cleanliness? For instance, one of the Sacred Septette is an employe of the San Francisco Labor Council, he receives wages for services rendered. Another member of the same local union was put on the pay-roll of our International Union as an organizer. Is the employe of the Labor Council a "dupe" of the officers of that organization, and the money which he receives "clean," while the organizer is a "weakling," and the money he secures "dirty?" Or must a member be employed and receive funds from the International Union before he becomes a "dupe and weakling."

If, as is alleged, local special organizers were employed only after promises of support and loyalty had been exacted from them and their unions, why don't the Seven Sacred Scribes offer tangible evidence? Will they take the position that an exception was made as to promises and loyalty and that San Francisco unions were the exception?

Don't it strike the reader that the "machine" committed an unpardonable blunder by sending twenty-four hundred dollars to San Francisco unions without making similar exactions and promises as the Sacred Septette accuse the general executive officers of making from local unions who enjoyed a little aid from the general fund?

After all, probably the Sacred Septette permitted their imagination to get overheated. They saw an immense horde of delegates coming to the convention in June, and perhaps they thought that they might find a thin skinned, wobbly-minded fellow among the number, who may have received one of those fifteen per week jobs for a limited period, who would be afraid that if he did vote for any of the present officers he would be accused of "being purchased," and would vote in opposition in order to show that he was not tied up.

THE MIXER AND SERVER

The Sacred Septette have been exceedingly generous in their insulting, insinuating and impudent accusations during the last sixteen or seventeen months. If there are men or women in our great big International Union who have not as yet felt the trickle of the slime from the "Voice of Secession," they have been fortunate. But they cannot very well offer thanks to the slime slingers, for it has never been the intention of that aggregation to overlook any head which seemed to have more than its share of brains, or that did not bow down before the shrine constructed by that aggregation known to our readers as the Seven Sacred Scribes of Seventh street, San Francisco.

There are "master minds" in our International Union, and we expect to see them in convention to the tune of several hundred, beginning Monday, June 14, 1915. We have never for a single instant lost sight of the fact that when those "master minds" do get together in convention, they quickly drive to cover the "operatives" and wreckers, no matter under what guise they appear.

Previous conventions have had to deal with quite as serious problems, and to the credit of the men and women of those conventions they never side-stepped their duty, but performed it with a willingness and celerity which astonished and confounded the agents of dissolution. The coming convention will be no exception to the rule, for it will be composed of the brains and intelligence of our International Union; and where such men and women are in conclave the rank and file need have no fear as to the outcome.

Long before this article has been forgotten the Seven Sacred Scribes will have been compelled to show cause for their ungenerous and uncalled for castigation of honorable men and women, who for the little time allotted to them as local special organizers, have been so grossly abused and misrepresented.

Whatever else the coming convention has before it as a task, it cannot very well afford to overlook what this article so completely exposes. Nor can it safely depart from the convention city without making it impossible for a repetition of the slanderous villifying which has characterized the word and work of the Seven Slime Slinging Scribes. It is not a crime for men and women to be employed by our International Union, that fact must be made clear. Those who think otherwise can well be spared further membership and their polluting presence dispensed with.

JERE L. SULLIVAN.

SHALL WE SEGREGATE?

No question which is now claiming the attention of members of our International Union can compare in importance with the question of segregation. If the question was merely a matter as to whether or not the culinary workers and the bartenders were to affiliate with two separate internationals, wholly independent of each other, the subject would by no means be of such great significance as it must assume under the industrial and social conditions which obtain in California to-day.

The mere matter of breaking down the affiliation between these two groups of workers would in itself be a radical subversion of all the tendencies of the modern trade-union movement, which seeks to bring into federation the workers of every trade; but were it assured that the existence of neither organization would be jeopardized by this action, and that each might assume its independent existence with all the advantages surrounding it that it enjoys at the present time, the matter of segregation would hardly be of sufficient consequence as to be worthy of discussion.

For many years the affiliation of the culinary workers and the bartenders has stood as an example of the practicability of industrial federation; a working model for the American labor movement. We owe it to the labor movement of America to continue this federation to its logical termination, the complete organization in one great international of all the workers in the catering establishments of this country.

For fifteen years this International has enjoyed a growth almost unexampled in the history of American labor unionism. In point of membership ours is the ninth international affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. At the last convention of that organization we were represented by 590 votes. We have expended in fifteen years one-third if a million dollars in death benefits. We have demonstrated the absolute practicability of our plan of organization.

Segregation can mean nothing else but step backward.

Our organizations have offered the favored line of attack from the anti-union forces in this State. Weaken in the least our powers of resistance, and the onslaught from the ever-alert M. M. & E. will sweep down upon us with a force that may prove irresistible.

At this particular time our affiliation gives us a strategic advantage far beyond our numerical strength.

The ever-recurring "wet" and "dry" elections insure both branches of our International from a concentrated attack from the M. M. & E. The suggestion of the breaking down of affiliation between the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' Alliance and the Bartenders' League has been the inspiration and incentive for the growing organization of the hotel managers with designs against the unions. Every late anti-union fight in this State has been directed first at the restaurant employes. The organized bartenders and the jeopardy of licenses has stood as a bulwark against the success of this movement in each instance.

Could this segregation possibly inure to the advantage of either branch of the organization? By what line of reasoning can it be shown that this bond of affiliation can tend to restrain the organization of either branch of workers? That one branch has surpassed the other in organization is not the fault of our plan or organization nor of the administration of our International. It has been due to the fact that one branch has been able to profit more speedily than the other from certain social and political forces which have conspired to the advantage of one branch more directly than to the other. This growth and strength in one group of our workers can mean nothing less than a like growth in the affiliated organization. The revolution which is going on in the catering business with the development of the cafeteria system in California is almost as radical in its effect upon the culinary workers as is the prohibition sentiment to the bartenders. We must stand together, cut out this segregation talk and organize. A house divided against itself can not stand.—W. S. RENFRO, President Bartenders' Union 378, Bakersfield, Cal., in Annual Souvenir Program.

GRASPING AT STRAWS.

In the "Voice of Secession" for March, 1915, the Seven Sacred Scribes labored faithfully to produce a mountain, and delivered a mole hill. On page 5, under the caption, "The Secretary Usurps Authority of President to Render Legal Decisions," they reprint part of a communication which contained the substance of a letter sent to one of our locals under date of June 14, 1914, with reference to a case covering an individual who had been convicted of violation of law; and in offering that correspondence to their readers, they quite pointedly admit one of two things: that they did not read the memorandum printed in the July (1914) MIXER AND SERVER (page 14), a synopsis of the minutes of the General Executive Board; or having read it, probably imagined every one of our members were about as sleepy as their following, and would not recall that the matter had been printed and approved by the General Executive Board. The General Secretary did not render a decision; neither did the General President; but the General Executive Board did say, and emphatically, that "Our organization is not an asylum for persons with police records, and local unions which accept such persons to membership are doing an injury to the men and women who compose our membership."

That conclusion is, according to the Sacred Septette, "unwarranted and illegal"; but the undersigned believes that the members of the General Executive Board expressed a general conviction; one held by the more than sixty thousand men and women of our International Union WHO ARE UNWILLING TO BE REGARDED AS "COMRADES" AND ASSOCIATES of persons with police records. But to show still further that the Sacred Septette were grasping at straws, they failed to reproduce the entire communication, they didn't want all the facts printed; and for the benefit of the limited number who do receive and peruse the "Voice of Secession," we offer the close of that communication, so that they may know exactly what it contained.

The closing paragraph read:

"Inasmuch as the union which you were formerly a member of is no longer in existence, your application would have to be presented to the General Executive Board; and as the foregoing expresses the views of the General Executive Board, you can readily perceive the attitude which they would take on any application from a former member of the International Union to become an active member who had been convicted of burglary."

Another live fact which the "Voice of Secession" overlooks: The General Executive Board was in session at headquarters June 15, 16, 17, 18, 19 and 20, 1914, and the letter which they partially reprint bears date of June 17, 1914. The applicant which the Sacred Seven takes up the cudgel for was initiated in Local 30; he was convicted of burglary after his arrest December 15, 1908, and his sentence was eight years.

Evidently the time is about ripe for the Sacred Septette to lay aside the "pick" and let it cool off. In its heated condition the "digging" is rather unproductive.

JERE L. SULLIVAN.

THE SHORTER WORKDAY—ITS PHILOSOPHY.

By SAMUEL GOMPERS.

Decreasing the hours of labor in a revolutionary force. Contrast the life of the toiler who works twelve hours with that of one who works eight hours. The difference in the workday affects personal habits, standards of living and social relations.

The man who works twelve hours spends perhaps one hour going to and from work, and surely sometime for meals—the rest of the day is for sleep and—shall we say—opportunity for self-improvement. Twelve long hours of work exhaust physical strength and fill the whole body with the poison of fatigue. The time for rest is sufficient only partially to counteract the fatigue and so the deadening effect of the poison is cumulative. There is neither energy, inclination, nor opportunity for the man or the woman who works twelve hours—the worker becomes only a work machine. The darkness under which he creeps to and from work hides his misery and his poverty from the world and often from himself. Daylight and a chance to see, stir up discontent necessary to arouse action.

The individual who works eight hours or less does not each day exhaust his energy. He has time for recuperation and something more. His mind is more alert and active. He is capable of more vigorous and more effective work. He goes to and from work at a time when well-dressed people are on the streets. He really has time and opportunity for making comparisons and forming desires. He has longer time to stay at home, sees other homes better furnished, and consequently wants a better home for himself. He wants books, pictures, friends, entertainment. In short, he becomes a human being with intellectual desires and cravings. This change makes him a more valuable worker. Because his standard of living has changed he demands higher wages. Men and women will not continue indefinitely to work for wages that force them to live below their concepts of what constitutes standards of living.

This is why the shorter workday is one of the primary, fundamental demands of organized labor. The labor movement represents organized discontent with poorer conditions and definite purposeful effort to secure better. It represents ambition and ideals.

Before the labor movement of the United States was organized upon a permanent, national basis, the working day was from sun-up to sunset. During the thirties there were numerous efforts by trades to establish ten hours. By proclamation, in 1840, the ten-hour workday was established in the Navy Yard at Washington, D. C. During the latter sixties came a revival of the trade union movement, and the eight-hour day became the slogan. Eight Hour Leagues were formed. Local labor organizations and economic associations educated public opinion in the philosophy of eight hours and the benefits of the shorter workday. In 1868 a federal eight-hour law was enacted. The National Labor Union, organized in 1869, endorsed the eight-hour day. The Knights of Labor was formed the same year and added impetus to the eight-hour movement. During the seventies there were numerous trade strikes for the eight-hour day. There was conviction and desire, but the movement to obtain the results lacked direction and unity.

Three years after the American Federation of Labor was organized, based upon the principle of trade autonomy, the 1884 annual convention adopted a resolution that the trades should fix May 1, 1886, as a definite day and bend their efforts toward establishing an eight-hour day upon that date. The movement aroused enthusiasm and hope, and was stirring the working people all over the country. As the result of this united effort, trade unions increased greatly their numbers and powers. Lectures and talks were delivered, literature distributed and agitations held for the eight-hour cause. The opposition and the treatment of the leaders were of such a nature as to develop among them devotion and a spirit of consecration to the cause.

Eight hours was forcing its way with irresistible power into workshops and factories. Many trade agreements were signed before May 1, but the dreadful Haymarket disaster in Chicago checked this unprecedented progress. Nevertheless, three national unions established the eight-hour day during that campaign—the cigarmakers, the German typographers, and the stonemasons.

The labor movement and the eight-hour cause were not permanently retarded. The A. F. of L. decided to select some one international each year, and to concentrate all efforts on securing the eight-hour day in that industry. As time went by this policy was no longer advisable, and securing the shorter workday is now the concern of the organizations in each trade.

As the years have gone by, the eight-hour philosophy which originated in the misery and weary toil of workers has become an accepted principle of society and industry. Employers have learned that the short-hour worker is a better, more productive, more valuable worker than the one who drudges long hours for low wages. The short-hour worker has more vitality, more ability, more resources, to put into his work—he accomplishes more in a shorter period of time. As a natural result, decreasing hours of daily work invariably results in increasing wages.

When employers have to pay higher wages to workers they place a higher estimate upon those services and increase managerial efficiency and secure improved machinery, tools, and methods in order to make labor power more effective. Thus the dignity of Labor, of which vote-seekers love to discourse, assumes reality through the economic collective power of workers who secure for themselves a shorter workday and higher wages.

Many apologists for long hours and low wages claim that the short workday and high wages necessarily result in higher costs of production and high selling prices and hence are contrary to the best interests of society. That theory is contradicted by facts—the individual production of the short hours, highly paid workers, is vastly greater than that of the long hours worker who always works under less advantageous conditions. Placing a high estimate upon human labor power stimulates the invention of machinery and the discovery of better methods. The cumulative effect of improvements is cheaper and increased production, hence lower selling prices and the benefit of all society.

The shorter workday movement originated in the need of overworked employees, and has been carried on through their unions assisted by other agencies that the workers have been able to convert to their cause. For workers under the government it is not possible to use the same methods of determining contractual relations as are used in dealing with private employers. For these workers legislation has been enacted to secure them less burdensome hours of work—but even in this case the initiative and the burden of work in securing the legislation have fallen upon organized labor. Legislation for shorter workdays in government employment is not only secured because of the economic power of the workers but it is enforced by the same power. Merely enacting a law does not guarantee the benefits of its enforcement—that depends upon the vigilance of those to be benefited. This is manifest in the continuous efforts of organized labor to prevail upon government officials to provide for the eight-hour day in government work and contracts. Meanwhile there are all the perils from the courts and Attorneys-General that minimize and limit its application.

When an attempt is made to regulate by law relations between employers and employees in private industry, the difficulties are increased. Obviously the primary difficulty with securing results by legislation is its indirectness. Instead of dealing directly with the employer who has power to establish an eight-hour day in his industry, influence must be used with political representatives as well as the employers' lobbyists, and then upon government administrators and upon their deputies who are supposed to enforce the law. Violations of laws must be righted through the slow methods of litigation, which have regard for precedent and red tape rather than for justice and human rights.

Consider a few well-known examples of eight-hours by law: Colorado has an eight-hour day for miners, yet the whole country has been stirred by the courageous fight of the Colorado miners to secure, among other things, an eight-hour workday. Never will there be an eight-hour workday in the Colorado mines until there are miners' unions which force mine operators to operate their mines on an eight-hour basis and retain in their own power the enforcement of the regulation.

Consider what has happened in some shipyards which had government contracts requiring the eight-hour day. Workmen were employed upon the federal government work six or eight hours, and for two, three, or four hours more upon other work, not covered by such contracts.

Consider this statement of Secretary Iffland of the Journeymen Bakers' International Union, one who has had experience with the law of New York to establish a ten-hour day in all bakeries:

"The local unions of the State of New York through agitation spent considerable money and time to be successful in passing the law, in which we succeeded in 1896. At that time we were of the opinion that by giving through our efforts the ten-hour day by law to the bakery workers of that State, they would realize what the organization could do to that effect, and by that would become members of our organization, but we had to find out very soon that we had made the mistake of our lives, as from that day on the members dropped from the organization, and the unorganized threw up to those who tried to organize them that they don't need an organization any more as they have the ten-hour workday by law.

"Not alone this, but the members who used all their energy to pass the law have been insulted as corrupt politicians, etc., and the radical labor papers of course denounced at that time, such action taken by organized labor as nothing could be expected from the political organizations under the present system of society. We very soon had to find out that we were confronted to regain our strength and make good the loss of membership, as well as prestige in our organization in the State of New York, although the organization was weak, to institute agitation for a nine-hour workday, and it has proved that only through the effort of organized labor were we successful in gaining the shorter workday, and we welcomed the day when that law was declared unconstitutional."

Experience with legislation has taught that statutes are very much akin to repositories for exalted New Year resolutions unless there is some force that can and will give life and influence in the affairs of the people.

Another difficulty with the legislative method is the diffusion of effort. There are comparatively few people interested in the matter, and yet the whole body politic must be interested, educated and roused to action.

Contrast this with the simple, direct methods of economic action. Those workers who want the shorter workday know why they want it, and they want it so intensely that they are ready to fight for it. Forceful independent men and women, they assume the responsibility of their own welfare and make sacrifices to secure their rights. By agreement or by strike, they secure what they need, and because they have won it themselves they value it and maintain it. They are organized in such a way that they can give expression to their will and secure results in the most direct way possible.

Two influences have been operating to develop sentiment in favor of establishing in private industry, legislative regulation of contractual relations; one, an ardent enthusiasm to accomplish big results by one revolutionizing regulation, the other a sort of moral flabbiness that refuses to assume responsibility for its own life but endeavors to cast upon society not only all responsibility for the environment in which people live and work, but also responsibility for securing for them conditions that are desirable and helpful.

The latter is a repudiation of the characteristics that enabled Americans to get results. They never feared the hard places but dared to wrestle with a primeval country. They were red-blooded men and women with ruggedness in their wills. They were ready to fight for right and justice and equality, ready to defend what was rightfully theirs. This is the spirit that has made the American labor movement the most aggressive labor organization in the world, and has made its members the most efficient workers to be found anywhere. The American labor movement has done things for the workers despite hostility of employers and indifference of society.

Then as to the other influence—the desire to secure the big thing at one "fell swoop." That has appealed to the imagination of dreamers and those who are infected with intellectual phantasmas.

They forget that after all permanent changes and progress must come from within man. You can't "save" people—they must save themselves. Unless the working people are organized to express their desires and needs, and organized to express their will, any other method tends to weaken initiative.

And this is not a narrow policy, unmindful of the difficulties and hardships that encompass overworked, exploited workers. The organized labor movement has done much for the unorganized; in incalculable ways the unorganized have been the beneficiaries of the fights and struggles of the organized.

Because of public opinion that has been formulated and roused by organized labor, the old workday of fourteen to sixteen hours has practically passed away. The twelve-hour workday obtains in but few industries, whereas ten, nine, and eight hour days have been secured by organizations. Then the benefit is necessarily bestowed upon allied trades, because of association in the same industry. The burden of the eight-hour fight has been borne by organized labor. Now there are few who deny Labor's claims, and there are many sympathetic scientists and publicists ready to substantiate them. This is a heritage the organized bestow upon the workers of today.

Organized labor created the sentiment for an eight-hour day—it has made possible and secured the eight-hour day for many trades. Without organized labor it would be impossible to maintain an eight-hour day in any trade or industry. The labor movement, which is the organized workers directing and controlling their own affairs and destinies, is the only dependable defense and protection of those who work for wages.

If the workers surrender control over working relations to legislative and administrative agents, they put their industrial liberty at the disposal of state agents. They strip themselves bare of means of defense—they can no longer defend themselves by the strike. To insure liberty and personal welfare, personal relations must be controlled only by those concerned.

But after all, even if it is the quicker way, is the quick way always the best way? Suppose you have a boy for whom you are fondly ambitious. You wish him to be a business or a professional success—do you start him in either at the age of ten, or do you wait upon the process of education? When he finally embarks in business or a profession, do you dictate and regulate each feature, or do you advise and leave the boy to solve his own problem and make his own decisions?

So with the eight-hour or shorter workday in private employment. It is as stated in the beginning, the fundamental objective for workers who are seeking better things. But when forced upon them by law, or given them without their appreciating its value, they frequently look upon it as injustice or hardship. They have not been able to make agreements for the adjustment of wages, hence they apprehend that decreasing the hours of work means to them decreased pay.

Often securing the eight-hour day by outside agencies means that organization is retarded or checked, which in time means that continued progress and future betterment will be practically impossible.

Doing for people what they can and ought to do for themselves is a dangerous experiment. In the last analysis the welfare of the workers depends upon their own initiative. Whatever is done under the guise of philanthropy or social morality which in any way lessens initiative is the greatest crime that can be committed against the toilers. Let social busy-bodies and professional "public morals experts" in their fads reflect upon the perils they rashly invite under this pretense of social welfare.

Some say that the State is an agency through which the people obtain results—that it exists for their service. But the State is not some impersonal thing. It has no existence outside the people that compose it. Its policies and movements can be directed only by those who are organized and therefore able to exercise power and exert influence. The working people who are unorganized have no part in determining the affairs of state—they may benefit or suffer from policies but they have no voice in them.

Organization in industry to be utilized in every field of beneficent activity is the only defense and protection of the workers. Those who would really benefit the workers through legislation or through economic action should lose no opportunity to further organization of the yet unorganized. If all the welfare workers, the social uplifters, the social legislative enthusiasts would apply the efforts and money they are now diverting to other causes to the work of promoting organization, they would greatly shorten the time necessary to put all workers in a position where they could solve their own problems, fight their own battles, and promote their own welfare as free, equal men and women.

Bear in mind that "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty" is as essential today as when the warning was coined, or at any time in the world's history. It has its potent application to life and liberty in industry, as in the political life of our nation.

"Whether you work by the piece or work by the day.
Decreasing the hours increases the pay."

Organize. Unite. Federate, to reduce the hours of labor.

MAKE UNIONISM MORE EFFECTIVE.

A Strong Treasury Is a Potent Force In Time of Trouble.

By JOSEPH F. VALENTINE.

To say that as workmen we organize to strike would be a misstatement, but to say that we organize so that we can act unitedly in all matters affecting our terms of employment and that at times we find it necessary to strike would probably be an accurate definition of our purposes. When we do strike it is with the object of securing some condition to which we feel we are entitled, and to secure this our reserve strength must be sufficient to carry us through a period during which the employer's mind gradually reaches a stage where consideration of the contest leads him to believe that a basis of agreement can be reached which he is willing to accept.

This period may vary from a few days to many months, but during all of this time, whatever it may be, the workmen must either be supplied with food and shelter or surrender their effort because of sheer exhaustion. Strikers cannot exist on enthusiasm, courage and loyalty to a principle alone. They must eat and be clothed as well, and their wives and children must not lack food, clothing and shelter. From some source the strikers must be given financial relief.

If there is one thing that stands out prominently in the history of our most successful trade unions it is that the nature of this financial relief, its extent and regularity, has had much to do not only in the winning of their strikes, but, what is as important, in the successful negotiation of trade agreements with employers. The moral effect of a substantial reserve in the trade union treasury is a powerful one upon workmen and employers alike. The very fact that workmen will contribute money year after year for the purpose of self-protection conveys the impression that there is something substantial about the men and their organization. There is in it an evidence of practical methods and definite purpose which unquestionably influences the employer's mind, for whether he be antagonistic or not he appreciates the difference between sound financial systems and happy-go-lucky methods. It occasionally requires more time for some groups of trade unionists to learn the lesson that each group must prepare itself in advance for the day when it may be suddenly called upon to meet the problems arising from a rupture of working relations with employers, and to learn the lesson as some workmen have is to pay an exceedingly costly price for a course in the school of experience.

There are some self-evident facts which every trade unionist must face when a strike lengthens into weeks and months. The strikers must be supported from the funds of their own organization or from donations from the members of other trade unions or from the public. Funds from some source must be available or the strikers must surrender. Trade unions are proverbial for the generous assistance which they render to each other, but it would be a fatal policy to feel that we need not heed for tomorrow, because if trouble comes others will donate funds they have accumulated for their own protection and give them to us to use even though in our own improvidence we have neither been willing to pay adequate dues into our treasury nor husband our funds during good times.

But after all it is not argument, but experience, which supplies the surest guide. The history of trade unionism in America is an open book. It contains the record of national trade unions, which, from the date of their birth, have gained in strength, and it also tells us of organizations once powerful in numbers which have passed out of existence. In addition it tells the story of the organizations which compose the A. F. of L. and degree of success which each is making in securing improved conditions for its members. It tells us of some organizations which accomplish more than others. Qualities of leadership, sound methods of organization play their part in this, but I am probably well within the facts in believing that the financial system adopted has been prominent if not the most prominent factor. Looking the field over as it is today, we find that the international unions, without exception, whose members pay the highest dues and accumulate adequate defense funds, are making the most progress, while the organizations with the poorest financial systems or basis lag further behind in the march toward improved terms of employment.

—American Federationist.

We know of no trade union official connected with the labor movement of America, who has had a chance to accurately gauge the results of having a strong treasury than the author of the foregoing timely article. Mr. Joseph F. Valentine is president of the International Iron Molders' Union of North America, an organization which has enjoyed greater general success in collective bargaining and for a longer period of years than any we know of.

The Iron Molders' Union is a high dues-paying organization; they believe in what their president offers as advice. For years they have carried immense funds for their protection, and strikes which would have eliminated other trade unions from the field of organization have not made a perceptible dent in their progress. They know from a half century's experience that money is a great battler and hard to knock out.—EDITOR
MIXER AND SERVER.

PROHIBITION.

A Life Story.

By E. D. SKINNER.

The man is not yet born of woman who is absolutely infallible or whose theories may not be erroneous; but the actual experiences of the humblest life are facts about which there can be no argument.

I was born in a prohibition town of prohibition parents and one of my earliest recollections is of signing the pledge, while under the influence of the persuasive eloquence of Francis Murphy. The stories he told that day, of the trail of crimes and suffering following in the wake of intemperance, left no dry eyes in his audience. In after years I was fated to see actual facts that were much worse than anything he pictured to our minds; but I never forgot the stories he and others told me in my childhood days, nor did I ever, in the vital moments of my life, forget their warnings.

I was "sweet sixteen," when I tasted my first glass of beer. I don't know how it happened although I suspect that my companion "winked the other eye." Anyway I received lager beer, instead of "birch beer," and I did not object, for the notion had already crept into my head that "temperance" and "total abstinence" were not synonymous terms.

Of the years that follow it is only necessary that I mention the striking incidents. I remember a youthful disappointment and a couple of years, when money went as easy as it came. I remember my final awakening to the fact that "this would never do," and the years of abstinence that succeed. I remember those last years when the weak stomach, that was my heritage, absolutely collapsed; and, finally, I remember my last desperate resolve to "be drunk or something." It was then that I made the surprising discovery that I could eat a hearty meal, without discomfort, when under the influence of beer.

It was beer that cured me and gave me a new lease on life.

As I look back over those years I note a strange fact. During the years that I drank, money came easily even if it did go as easily. During the years that I was a total abstainer, luck seemed to be against me and I just drifted along —any old way.

And then comes the one real tragedy of my life—since which I have never been the same.

Out of the mists of what seems like another era there rises the picture of the dreary grey of an approaching dawn, by a river bank, with the swirling waters beneath. Those waters did not look good to me, with their cakes of ice floating, but, for a time, there seemed to be nothing else in life. And then, at last, another idea sprouted, and grew, and took shape. The dull red of another sunrise tinged the eastern horizon as I turned and dragged my weary footsteps towards the nearest hospitable doorway.

I am not proud of some of the days that followed; but I am still unconvinced that I chose the greater of the two evils—there by that river bank, with the ice cakes floating by in the swirling waters beneath.

Sometimes I look back over the years that are gone and I realize that my footsteps have often rested on the brink of intemperance, and I wonder why I have never taken that single remaining fatal step. And then, out of the black depths of that yawning chasm, there arises a specter of the horrors concealed there—a specter that is my heritage from my childhood's prohibition training—and I am no longer surprised that I have found it so easy to say, "So far will I go—and no further."

On the crest of the vast mountain of human achievement, there are a few monuments upon which are inscribed the names of men who have altered the course of human events and who have given direction to human endeavor for succeeding generations and centuries. But the name of a total abstainer is not to be found there.

An alwise Creator so constructed his human masterpiece that it is adjustable to surrounding conditions. Colonize a tropic region with people from a temperate zone and, in a few generations, their progeny will be unable to withstand the bitter cold of an arctic latitude. Colonize an arctic province with the same people and, in a few generations, their progeny will wither away and die if transported to the heat of the tropics. The human family have been habitual users of intoxicating beverages, of some sort or other, since the days of Noah. Absolutely deprive them of all intoxicants, and the coming generation will be a generation of namby pamby "sissies," whose greatest achievements will be precarious victories at "ping pong." "Prohibit" the manufacture and sale of all intoxicants and you will not very materially decrease their actual consumption; but the coming generation will drink "boot-legger" decoctions that are a short cut to the grave—and to a real hell on both sides of the grave. Ingrain into the very thing of the coming generation a perfect knowledge and fear of actual intemperance, as that knowledge and fear was ingrained into my being, and make it absolutely certain that what they drink is absolutely pure; and you may hope for an era of achievement, in which the evils of intemperance will have a negligible part.

This problem, like all other human problems, must be solved by careful study and cool-headed analysis. Frenetic hysteria can only leave us floundering in an eternal quagmire.

UNION WRECKERS BUSY AS USUAL.

The Iron City Trades Journal (Pittsburg, Pa., March 26, 1915) offered a photographic reproduction of a communication sent to a firm at Mingo Junction, O., from a firm of union busters which makes a business of furnishing strike-breakers, as well as furnishing "operatives" to become members of unions and do their damnable work of wrecking while on the inside.

While we are unable to produce the "cut" from which the following is taken, we are trying to reproduce the communication as best we can, in order that our members may read and understand what sort of a game the trade-union movement of our time is stacked up against. Our members, in view of the efforts being made to convert them to so-called segregation, may find in the following food for decidedly serious reflection:

(Personal and Confidential.)

"E. J. Brettell, General Manager, Brettell Bros., Mingo Junction, Ohio:

"DEAR SIR—You, no doubt, are contemplating operating your mines, permitting such of your employes as are willing to return to work, to do so irrespective of the arbitrary position assumed by the leaders of the United Mine Workers. In order to insure the success of your venture, you will require assistance such as this company is prepared to furnish, both in the way of giving protection to your loyal employes, as, no doubt, they will be molested and pressure brought to bear in every way to discourage them and in recruiting a sufficient number of workmen to conduct operations. You will also of necessity have to keep yourself informed as to what the attitude of your disloyal employes is and what steps their so-called 'leaders' will take to frustrate your plans.

"We have handled many strikes, and have yet to lose a single one; and many of these strikes were won without the use of a single guard or the destruction of one cent's worth of property. Among recent large strikes of national prominence that we have handled we might mention the Boot and Shoe Workers' strikes in Portsmouth, Ohio, and Brooklyn, N. Y.; the Furniture Workers' strike in Grand Rapids, Mich.; the Teamsters' strike in Indianapolis, and the Rubber Workers' strike in Akron, Ohio. The officers of our company are men of repute, and we have a reputation to sustain which we have built up by doing our work thoroughly at the least possible cost to our clients. In handling labor troubles we aim to bring them to a successful issue as quickly as we can, fully appreciating that it is only by our proved ability to accomplish this that we can hope to enjoy the future patronage of our clients. We are widely and favorably known not only in this State, but throughout the country, numbering among our clients some very prominent coal operators, who have gone on record as saying that our representatives are true in every particular, despite the fact that we have gained but little publicity, it having always been our aim and the desire of the people we do business with to avoid this.

"In conclusion, let us say a word regarding our industrial or community control service, which comprehends placing men in labor and political organizations with the idea of having them work up to the leaders, not with the object of writing history after somebody else has made it, but for the purpose of making history by influencing or dominating that particular organization. This is a big proposition, but by no means an experiment with us, as we are doing this today for some of the largest manufacturers in this country, and there is absolutely no reason why, with the support of the coal operators, it cannot be accomplished in the coal industry.

"Our methods, as you appreciate, have no place in correspondence, but if you will write or phone us, appointing a time when our representative can call so that your time as well as our time—both of which are valuable—may not be wasted, we will be glad to explain everything fully to you, and know you will be interested.

"Anticipating your early and favorably reply, which carries with it no obligation whatever excepting a candid discussion of a subject that is of vital importance to you, we remain

"Yours very truly,

"THE CORPORATIONS AUXILIARY COMPANY,

"By Dan G. Ross, District Manager."

To make sure that the reader of the foregoing may fully note the significance of the offer made, it may not be asking too much to suggest that the paragraph beginning with the words: "In conclusion, let us say a word regarding our industrial or community control service," be perused a second time, in order that the full significance of the offer may be appreciated. After the second reading hold a conference with yourself and ask yourself the very pertinent question: If these union busters are able to employ men with so little manhood and such an immense quantity of villainy in their make-up as to go into the mining industry and unions for the purpose of destroying the work of such poorly paid workers as miners, men who are perpetually taking chances on their lives to make a living, what reasonable ground has any one got to assume that quite as unprincipled rascals can not be employed to become members of our locals and endeavor to weaken them and our International Union? Don't you believe we should be a bit careful, in fact, a whole lot careful, of swallowing the recommendations and suggestions of men who, for all we know, may be on the payroll of a union-busting institution? As a member of the organized labor movement of America you have had a chance to read the labor press reports of the strike at Akron, O.; and must know that the I. W. W. had a hand in that affair as well as in the Boot and Shoe Workers' strikes at Portsmouth, O., and Brooklyn, N. Y. Need you be advised as to the other strikes mentioned in that union busters' communication. In the language of one of the plays offered to the theater-patronizing public: "WATCH YOUR STEP."

THE EARLY HISTORY OF OPIUM.

The medicinal properties of poppy juice date from a remote period. Recalling the highly developed culture of the ancient Egyptians one is inclined to imagine that the narcotic properties of opium were known to them; but the investigations of Unger (1857) have failed to trace any acquaintance with opium in Ancient Egypt, and Dr. Ember, of the Semitic Department of Johns Hopkins University, knows of no reference to it in Egyptian literature. According to some Hebrew scholars, there is a reference to poppy juice in the Bible. In several passages in the Old Testament the word rôsh is mentioned. Professor Haupt is convinced that rôsh means the poppy, and so also is Professor Post. In the Talmud we have one reference to opium, under the name ophion, but that word was clearly borrowed from Greek. In the classical Hindoo literature there is found no reference to it. From the time of the Mogul Conquest on there appears a word Khash-khash which means poppy-seed, and Khash-khasharasa, juice of the poppy. In this it is easy to recognize our modern word hashish; and so it seems that at that early date the narcotics opium and cannabis indica were confused with each other. The original home of the poppy was in Asia Minor. From there it was carried to Greece at a later period.

It is not at all certain whether Hippocrates was acquainted with the juice of the poppy. According to Woottton, he refers to a substance called mecon to which he attributes a purgative as well as narcotic action. Some think that it was opium; others believe that he was referring to another plant. In any case, he made but very little use of the drug. The first authentic reference to the milky juice of the poppy we find by Theophrastus at the beginning of the third century B. C., when he speaks of it as mecomion. Scribonius Largus, in his "Compositions Medicamentorum," about the year 40 of the present era, describes the method of procuring opium from the capsules of the poppy, and about the year 77 of the same century Dioscorides makes a distinction between the juice of the capsules and the extract of the whole plant. He describes the method of incising the capsules, and refers to adulterations of the drug with the milky juices of other plants so that it is evident that the collection of opium was quite an industry in Asia Minor at that time. Pliny devotes some space to a description of opium and its medicinal use, and the drug is mentioned repeatedly by Celsus in the first century and by numerous other Latin writers. Galen spoke enthusiastically of the virtues of opium confections, and the drug was soon so popular in Rome that it fell into the hands of shopkeepers and itinerant quacks.

The introduction of the drug to the natives of the East was through the Arabs, and in the first instance to Persia. Its introduction into India seems to have been connected with the spread of Mohammedanism.

The Arabic physicians used opium very extensively, and even wrote special treatises on some of its preparations. The earliest mention of opium as a product of India is by the traveler Barbosa, in 1511. A Portuguese historian, Pyres, in a letter to Manuel, King of Portugal, in 1516, speaks of the opium of Egypt and Bengal.

Opium is supposed to have been brought to China first by the Arabs, who are known to have traded with the southern parts of the empire as early as the ninth century. Later, says The Journal of the American Medical Association, the Chinese began to import the drug in their junks from India. It was not before the second half of the eighteenth century that the importation of opium began to increase rapidly through the hands of the Portuguese, and a little later through the famous East India Company. In 1770 the English established an opium depot in Lark's Bay, south of Macao, and the traffic rapidly increased, so that very soon the Chinese authorities began to complain and in 1820 an edict was issued forbidding any vessel having opium on board to enter the Canton River. A system of contraband followed, then political friction between England and China, and the so-called Opium War, which culminated in the Treaty of Nanking (1842) by which five ports of China were opened to foreign trade, and in 1858 opium was admitted as a legal article of commerce. By that time the vice of opium-smoking had spread like a plague over the gigantic empire, and became so deeply rooted that, in spite of innumerable edicts and decrees, all efforts to check its growth have been powerless.

FIRING LINE

NATIONAL WHOLESALE LIQUOR DEALERS ASSOCIATION OF AMERICA, Cincinnati, U. S. A.

An open letter to the editors of Tennessee Papers:

GENTLEMEN—Possibly among your great army of readers there is one well up in mathematics who can help your more benighted readers in understanding some of the statistics placed before the people of Tennessee by the distinguished speakers of the Anti-Saloon League Flying Squadron.

In a Nashville paper of March 14, we find Dr. Carolyn Geisel, member of the Flying Squadron, and heralded all over the country as a speaker upon the scientific aspects of the liquor question, quoted thus:

"Facts that caused astonishment on the part of those who were not familiar with them were given in the address by Dr. Carolyn Geisel, who enjoys the reputation of being one of the ablest and most unanswerable debaters and lecturers on the American platform. She told of the 114,000 men and boys killed in California in one year because of drink, and then demanded to know why the worth of California's men and boys was not as much as that of the vineyards which produce grapes for wine and hops for beer."

These figures are appalling until one turns to the United States Census Bureau's "Mortality Statistics for 1913," and finds on Page 34 that:

Total deaths in California from all causes, among men, boys, women and girls (excluding stillbirths) were:

In 1913	38,606
In 1912	36,716

Instead of being appalling, these "statistics" then become puzzling. Nor are they any less puzzling in the light of Dr. Geisel's further declaration: "I am opposed to dealing in fancies, and I am going to give you some figures that will cause you who have been asleep to open your eyes."

Having had our eyes opened by Dr. Geisel, we notice in another Nashville paper's report of the Flying Squadron other figures that puzzle us. We find the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Sheldon of Kansas, one of the most distinguished members of the Flying Squadron, declaring that "Russia has lost 50,000 men a year from the effects of strong drink."

Statistics seem to be the long suit of the Flying Squadron orators, but Dr. Sheldon's figures must create surprise in the minds of those of your readers who have read in the Congressional Record and elsewhere, Congressman Richard Pearson Hobson's assertion that liquor causes the death of 700,000 people every year in the United States.

Possibly the Prohibition speakers and the writers about Russia have libeled Russia, but we have been told from time to time that drunkenness is far greater in Russia than in this country. How then are we to reconcile Dr. Sheldon's statement that drink kills 50,000 men a year in Russia, and Congressman Hobson's statement that it kills 700,000 in the United States?

Inasmuch as Russia has some 160,000,000 population and the United States something around 100,000,000 the contrast between Dr. Sheldon's statement and that of the Honorable Richmond Pearson Hobson seems even more striking to those of us who are not such statistical experts as are the speakers of the Flying Squadron.

This is written with the idea that you may find space for it in your columns and that some one of your readers may be able to reconcile for us this apparent anomaly. Very truly yours,

JOSEPH DEBAR,
Secretary National Wholesale Liquor Dealers Association of America.
Cincinnati, April 2, 1915.

Louisville, Ky., March 10, 1915.—The Czar of Russia did not issue an edict prohibiting the sale of liquors in Russia. He expressed a desire that the sale of liquors be discontinued during the war, but recognized the principle of local self-government. Also, prohibition does not prohibit, even in Russia. These facts are brought out in a letter from John H. Snodgrass, American Consul General at Moscow, in response to a request from the National Model License League for the exact truth about prohibition in Russia. The letter, which was forwarded through the State Department at Washington, is as follows:

"In response to your inquiry of January 7, requesting exact information in regard to the Russian ukase prohibiting the use of liquors other than vodka in Russia, I beg to state that, in the strict sense of the word, the crown has not proclaimed such an edict. At the beginning of the war the government expressed a desirability for the discontinuance of the sale of all intoxicants throughout the empire, but the issuance or regulations for the sale of drinks was left to the local institutions of self-government.

"The city of Moscow was the first to prohibit the sale of intoxicating drinks, including light wines and beer, but only the vodka shops were closed for the first three months of the war, it being possible to purchase, either at the beer saloons or wineshops, all grades of beer and wine. Vodka was also sold at that time in the higher-class restaurants in Moscow, and, in fact, throughout Russia in the same places. Later, however, all wine stores and beer saloons were closed, and the sale of any kinds of intoxicants absolutely forbidden for the time being, no limit being set for the opening of these institutions. Petrograd followed Moscow's example, and so did most of the other cities, boroughs and villages, so that it may be assumed that the sale of intoxicants is forbidden in perhaps 90 per cent of all cities and towns in the empire.

"In the city of Moscow these regulations are outwardly being strictly enforced, a heavy fine being exacted from all persons infringing the rules. Wine may only be obtained on a prescription signed by a doctor, the exact amount being named, and the prescription good for only one time, but this office is informed that in all the restaurants drinks may be obtained. It is stated, furthermore, that private houses have sufficient supplies to last during the war.

"At the present moment there is a movement in favor of the authorization to sell light wines and beer. This question will be placed before the legislative institutions, upon which will depend the passing of a law regulating the sale of liquors.

"Practically all the breweries in Russia are temporarily closed, but, according to a statement of the manager of one of the largest in Moscow, they expect to open in the spring, as they anticipate a favorable ruling on the part of the government authorities with regard to the sale of beer. The wine merchants are equally hopeful, but no one is in a position to state accurately what the disposition of the government will be as to the continuance of the general sale throughout the country of vodka. There is a pretty decided opinion on the part of the thinking classes that the bottle houses in the village and rural districts should be cut down, at least, and perhaps eliminated, and that the number in the larger cities should be fewer. This question is problematical, and no decision will be reached until the cessation of hostilities.

"The government's loss on account of the closing of the vodka shops is more than $1,000,000 per day."

CINCINNATI, OHIO.

At a meeting of the Liberal League, held at a recent date, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

The members of the Liberal League of Ohio, in convention assembled, do resolve that:

Whereas, A number of the citizens of the United States have banded themselves together in the support of an organization known as the Anti-Saloon League of America;

Whereas, These same citizens, through this League, are carrying on a propaganda known as "Prohibition," which has as its intention the destruction of over $250,000,000 of revenue paid into the treasury of the United States, which is over one-third of the annual income of our National Treasury;

Whereas, These same individuals have, when successful in their propaganda, forced out of their means of making a livelihood many bread-winners employed in the liquor industry, with consequent suffering, distress and misery to their families who are depending upon them for support, and,

Whereas, These aforesaid individuals last year entered the State of Ohio, and attempted to force prohibition upon the citizenship; and,

Whereas, Despite the fact that this attempt failed, they have announced their intention of again making prohibition an issue in this State:

Therefore, be it Resolved, That we, the members of the Liberal League of Ohio, believing in the subordination of the interests of individual citizens to the interests of the community as a whole, but not in the curtailment of the personal rights and liberty of one class or party of citizens to satisfy the demands of another class or party, who may desire to waive such personal rights and liberties for themselves, and having pledged ourselves at all times to exercise our franchise in preserving the personal liberty accorded us by the Constitution of the United States,

We do Resolve. To create and maintain an organization among ourselves for the mutual protection of our individual interests, in opposition to those fanatics and destroyers of property and means of employment, without compensation.

All persons who are interested in this cause to protect their livelihood and personal liberty, and wish to take up matters of this kind, should get in touch with the Publicity Committee at once, who are as follows:

Ray P. LeCount Chairman, care Lackman Brewing Co., Cincinnati.

Oscar Haeusser, care Nivison-Weiskopf Co., Cincinnati.

George Kuhlman, care James Walsh & Co., Cincinnati.

President R. J. McGrath's Address to the Keystone State Lawmakers, April 6, 1915.

As President of the Iron City Central Trades' Council of the American Federation of Labor, representing in its membership all the varied industries which go to make up the industrial population of what is conceded to be the greatest industrial State in the Union, I have been delegated to appear at this hearing and protest, in the name of organized labor, against the enactment into law of the so-called Brumbaugh-Wiliams Local Option Bill.

Organized labor protests that local option, as applied to the habits of the individual, is an interference with personal liberty, a principle for which we have been constantly contending.

We protest that the bill under consideration would, if enacted into law, be merely a means to an end, and that end, "State Prohibition." It is a well known fact to the labor leaders of the country that a national organization, known as the "Anti-Saloon League," is responsible for the agitation of this question, their ultimate aim being "National Prohibition," securing State-wide prohibition wherever they can, and where this is impossible, local option, with the idea that it will eventually lead to State or National Prohibition. This avowal of the purposes of the Anti-Saloon League by its leaders has been made repeatedly, and in States where organized labor has been forced to meet this condition, our members have suffered, where the Anti-Saloon League has been successful in accomplishing its purpose.

There is no need of a Local Option Law in Pennsylvania. Under the present license law the judges of our courts have discretion to grant or refuse a license, and we know that judges throughout the State are exercising this discretion in refusing licenses in localities where the sentiment is opposed to it, and in some cases this discretion has been exercised arbitrarily, to the extent that no licenses whatever have been granted in the entire County. There are few, if any, examples throughout the State where licenses are granted in vicinities where public sentiment is opposed to it.

The statement has been made that a local option law will take the judiciary of the State out of politics, or remove from controversy in judicial contests the question of "License or no License." We believe, on the contrary, that it would have the effect of injecting this question into every phase of political life, and that at every judicial election this question would be the paramount issue—whether a judge was "dry" or not. As a matter of fact this has been the experience in States where their laws provide for recurrent elections on the question.

The fact is, that the adoption of a local option measure in this State, will mean that every important question, and the election of every officer, however remote his duties may be respecting the question of "License or no License," will be subordinated to the question of the success or non-success of local option.

The American Federation of Labor, of which the Iron City Central Trades' Council is a component part, has within its fold over two million wage earners. Affiliated with that institution are two score of National and International organizations directly and indirectly affected by such legislation as is now being discussed in this assembly hall.

Possibly the best evidence to offer in this connection is to read to this Committee the resolution passed at the last session of the Iron City Central Trades Council, and this, I am sure, will demonstrate beyond cavil the position of organized labor in this connection.

Whereas. At the State Capital in Harrisburg, Pa., on Tuesday, April 6th, 1915, a special hearing is to be held by the Committee on Law and Order, for this much mooted problem of Local Option, and

Whereas, The passage of any measure of this character means a direct attack upon several thousand members and their families who are affiliated with the Iron City Central Trades Council, whose livelihood depends upon the industry, which some self-constituted apostles seek to destroy, and

Whereas, The organizations at interest are no small factor in our local and National movement, and we owe it to these organizations, and to ourselves, to accord them the utmost protection in this matter, therefore, be it

Resolved, That a Committee of three, including the President, be sent from this body to attend the hearing and to be so instructed to voice the sentiments of this body, against the introduction of narrow, injurious legislation, and to do all in their power to defeat said proposition, and to aid in all other legislation that labor advocates.

Convention after convention in town, city and in the State of Pennsylvania has gone on record time and time again, against the issue of local option. They know and they understand what it means. It is not theory with them, gentlemen of the Committee; they have passed that stage many years ago and know from experience in other States, and realize what it means to the toiling masses.

The very basic foundation of the trade union movement is temperance in all things.

Organized labor submits to no one, not even the most radical prohibitionist, in all matters pertaining to true temperance. We hold, however, that statutory legislation is intolerance and not temperance. It does oppose and will oppose legislation which seeks to destroy its very foundation, for it stands first, last, and all the time for the protection of its members and their families, for the human uplift and for better conditions under which they shall toil in the factories, mills and mines, and it says to you, gentlemen, that there are many things surrounding the employment of the wage earners of this Commonwealth that need remedial legislation, and that is what organized labor wants and expects this legislature to bring about, and not to curtail the inherent rights and privileges of the man who, after a hard day's toil in the mines, mills or factories desires to obtain a glass of beer in a legalized and properly regulated licensed house.

We want it emphatically understood that we favor not this Local Option issue. We, as a unit, stand in opposition to it. Union labor protests against the enactment of legislation that allows the more fortunate citizen the opportunity to fortify himself with the product in his own home, and at the same time bar the working man from spending a five-cent piece to quench his thirst, as is now done under the present order of things. Organized labor finds no fault with the present laws governing this question in this State. Ample protection is given every one. It says, "Let well enough alone." Good legislation lingers not in the pathway of local option. This legislature holds within its power the opportunity to make a record for itself. Let it not be said by those that follow in years to come that the members of the 1915 session were derelict in their duty, that they left undone the things that should have been done, followed false gods and brought misery, poverty and suffering to the thousands of good, stanch, law-abiding citizens by legislating them out of positions without any logical reason for so doing.

The thousands and thousands of members of our organization who would be affected by sumptuary legislation, protest most vigorously to their representatives in this legislature, against the passage of this bill. Labor of Pennsylvania went on record on this question at the election in November last, by the election to this legislature of a vast majority of members opposed to local option, as this question was an issue in every legislative district in the Commonwealth, made so by the partisans who favor the enactment of a local option law. Any statement that the result of the vote of Pennsylvania last November, indicated a desire for local option legislation, does not apply to organized labor. On the contrary, organized labor is opposed to local option and prohibition in its varied forms, and organized labor expects the representatives in this House to have due regard for this sentiment.

LABOR VETERAN ANSWERS THE LAST ROLL CALL.

No man has been connected with the American Federation of Labor for even a few years, but what has either had the pleasure of knowing Dan Harris or having heard of his sterling efforts in behalf of organized workingmen and working women. Late Brother Harris was indeed a veteran labor man, for almost half a century identified with the Cigar Makers' International Union, of which organization he was a lifelong member, and besides doing more than his share of aiding and encouraging other skilled and unskilled workers to perfect organizations of labor. Late Dan Harris was not alone a big figure in the Empire State labor movement, but he was quite as well known for work accomplished in every section of North America.

Dan Harris was President of the New York State Federation of Labor for so many terms that we have lost count of the number, his unceasing efforts were always in evidence and no man connected with the labor movement struck harder blows against oppression and the enemies of the workers than late Brother Harris. As an advocate of liberal and economic legislation he made a splendid record, and one which stands as a testimonial to a fine and aggressive character. Dan Harris died Monday, April 5, 1915. He was 68 years of age.

Our International Union, as well as the labor movement of America, loses a warm friend, one who seemed to possess inexhaustible energy and a man who abhorred and fought every species of sumptuary legislation. We tender to his immediate family and relatives our condolences; we feel that the knowledge that thousands upon thousands will miss Dan Harris is ample testimony that he had won the esteem of his fellowmen, and that knowledge will help them bear their sorrow.

WHO WOULDN'T BE AN "EVANGELIST" FOR THAT PRICE?

It may tax the memory of the average reader to recall that old Sunday school song of years ago which began something about as follows:

"I want to be an angel
And with the angels stand
With a crown upon my forehead
And a harp within my hand."

Well, anyway, whether that is the correct wording or not, it rather reminded us of early aspirations and how deucedly far we wandered from the path. Had we half the wisdom which some of our friends accuse us of possessing, we would have continued playing baseball until we had accumulated enough "dough" to take a course in esthetic slinging of slang and then taken the stump as an "Evangelist" and then collected enough of the mazuma to retire with a final "bless you my children." What's the reason for the foregoing gush of recollection and regret, say you. Hate to tell you, but it seems I must and here is the reason—A news item imparts the information that "Billy" Sunday received a draft—he called it a "Free Will" check, for $51,136.85, and a freight car of presents from the "good folks" of Philadelphia, Pa. Gee, and then again gee and haw, too, here we have been working for the last fifteen years for several thousands less than the ex-ball player picks up in that number of weeks.

Who wouldn't want to be an Evangelist at that price?

You've got to hand it to "Billy" for getting the "mazuma"—if he had been sucker enough to have gone into the catering industry the chances are good that he'd be in hock instead of clover.

Don't slam the door on opportunity. You may talk until your face takes on a purple hue, until you have exhausted every argument which you possess, but, unless you grab the chances offered to increase the numerical strength of your local union, your labor is lost so far as immediate results are concerned and your local as well as yourself and all working at the catering industry are losers by your failure. Every addition to the roster of your union means advancement. Every new union worker converted to trades unionism is a direct help to our progress.

CHAT OF THE CRAFT

ADVERTISING OUR BUTTONS AND LABELS.

Our members in the city of Toronto, Canada, sent us the above reduced illustration of their billboard advertising. Several "stands" are now used, and it is their intention to contract for others and keep perpetually before the public eye the living fact that they want the patronage of the public for such employers as grant living wages and fair conditions of employment. The Local Joint Board of Toronto shows, by its progressive activity, that they are believers in publicity. They conclude that if advertising brings good returns to business concerns, there is good reason to expect similar benefits to an organization of labor which seeks to improve the well-being of its membership and encourage employers to co-operate in giving the public the best service which skill and capability can produce. So far as we recall, this is the second city in America which has tried out billboard publicity. Philadelphia, through its Local Joint Executive Board, erected, at the convention hall last November, one of the finest bits of the painters' art which we have ever seen, and judging from the illustration above, our members in Toronto have come close to matching the City of Brotherly love product.

We are not in a position to advise the probable cost of advertising on billboards, but it seems that the two cities which have tried it out have found it worth while. Toronto's membership is steadily going forward, and Philadelphia is making such progress as forces all members in that city to carry a satisfied smile.

No doubt our Philadelphia members will have a cut made of their billboard advertising and supply us with a cut. When they do so we promise to find space in these pages for it.

A feature of such advertising is that it sticks out in all kinds of weather and attracts the attention of passersby. The first cost may be fairly heavy, but continuing the display brings it down materially.

Supposing your city had several such stands, don't you believe it would help your union to win some of the non-union workers at the industry? Why not give the matter a little investigation and try it out for six months or a year?

QUOTES A PRECEDENT.

The sailor had been showing the lady visitor over the ship, in thanking him she said:

"I see that by the rules of your ship tips are forbidden?"

"Lor' bless yer 'eart, ma'am," replied Jack, "so were the apples in the Garden of Eden."—Tit-Bits.

The attention of officers and members is hereby called to the law covering the distribution of our official magazine, THE MIXER AND SERVER.

A perusal of Section 144 will disclose the fact that every member in good standing is entitled to receive a copy of the MIXER AND SERVER at their home address. A little co-operation with the Secretary of your local union now will aid considerably in making our mail list more complete, as well as give you the privilege of getting and reading the Mixer and Server every month in which you are entitled to same. If you do not receive the Mixer and Server, ask your local union Secretary why. Probably you have overlooked informing him of your present address. Make sure by writing your name and address on a piece of paper; write plainly, and thus avoid error, and present the slip of paper, with the request to your local union Secretary that your name be added to the mail list at general headquarters. Right now, while the matter is fresh in mind, is the best time to care for it.

EX-MAYOR "GENE" O'CONNOR NOW A TEXAN.

Many of our members will recall that Kewanee (Ill.) Local 221 was the first Bartenders' Union in the United States which succeeded in electing to the high office of Mayor one of their members, the successful candidate being none other than one of the most active and popular members of Local 221, Eugene C. O'Connor, who at that time occupied the position of President of said local.

THE MIXER AND SERVER

Delegates who attended the Twelfth General Convention, held at Rochester, N. Y., May 9-14, 1904, will recall the genial Mayor of Kewanee, for he was the delegate from his local union to that convention.

"Gene," as his friends usually call him, took a rather strange liking to the undertaking business, and embarked in that line of work shortly after retiring from the position of Mayor. He was such a bunch of good nature that it seemed peculiar for him to engage in a line of work where so much distress is the rule and not the exception; but, as the saying goes, "Gene" made good, and when he left his old town for new fields good wishes were piled high enough to satisfy the most exacting. We received a communication from "Gene" a few weeks ago. He is now located at Dallas, Texas, and is a member of the undertaking firm of Palmer, O'Connor & Whisenant, of that city. Our boys in Dallas will find "Gene" O'Connor a very pleasant and agreeable gentleman; one of the old guard who aided with splendid ability to make our International grow to its present position. They will make no mistake in calling him in when they are confronted with the dread reaper and must put away one of their loved ones in their last resting place.

THE SEATTLE "SHOT GUN" AND ITS TARGET.

For a number of weeks we have been the recipients of one of the most unique publications which it has ever been our privilege and pleasure to peruse, and that publication is "The Shot Gun," printed and published at Seattle, Wash., weekly. According to the announcement of its publishers, it is devoted to Fact, Foolishness and Fiction, is loaded each day in the week and Fired on Saturday. The Shot Gun is a hand printed, hand pressed and hand illustrated four-page weekly, a publication which must be seen and perused to be appreciated. We have no recollection of ever seeing any publication which remotely resembled The Shot Gun, and surely none which offers quite so much real interesting items about the men and women of the catering industry.

The Shot Gun has a target and is consistently shooting at the mark, for it is a well-known fact that suggestions and items offered in tabloid are more likely to be absorbed by the readers, and The Shot Gun aims to reach, and in fact does reach, the catering industry employees with messages of encouragement and good cheer, "short and sweet," so to speak.

Members who may desire to secure The Shot Gun are invited by its publishers to remit 25 cents per month and become one of its numerous subscribers. The business address of The Shot Gun is The Shot Gun Publishing Co., 86 West Stewart Street, Seattle, Wash.

As a final word, we wish to advise probable subscribers that The Shot Gun is decidedly WET, though you won't require an umbrella to peruse its excellent articles.

WHEN THEY BEGIN TO PAY.

We have a good sized hunch which prompts the remark that, when the voters and especially those who are property holders, discover that their vote dry last fall saddled on them additional taxation, while the institutions which induced them to cast a "dusty" ballot are immune from and don't have to tote their share of the burden—they will wake up and recognize things which may have been rather indistinct last November. Nothing jars some men so quickly and thoroughly than to hit their bank role, and the bank roll of the dry state property owner and citizen is due to receive a very material bump. Why should a sky pilot be immune from taxation. What do they produce which is of value to any community. Do you know?

ORGANIZATION.

Many international conventions will be held this coming summer that should be productive toward the aims and the welfare of organized labor, and many are the subjects that will come before the different bodies to be dealt with in the course of these meetings in framing the destinies and activity of the various affiliated organizations, and these conventions can be made to reciprocate to the crafts interested in the organization's makeup, prestige, dignity and respect, so let us urge careful action and consideration of all questions that may become paramount at such meetings.

When great crafts have faced situations, critical in the extreme, there has always come up out of the chaos and dust something grander, nobler and more stable, which has created a better feeling toward one's fellowmen. No foolish stand has ever been taken by body or by individual and been successful. No man or no business is big enough to stand alone; it must have the moral support of others in its own line, and he who stands aloof is profiting from his fellows without doing a part of the work himself. Fanaticism and personalities should have no place in the convention hall, and it is for the real big man who will take off his coat, jump into the ring and give an impetus in the right direction, lend a hand in framing, in guiding, the destinies of the organization's best interests along the most profitable lines. Every branch of industry needs the co-operation of all other branches, and it is only by working together systematically and earnestly that the greatest good will be accomplished.

—The Northwestern Culinary Art Journal.

BUTTING IN ON THEIR PICKINGS.

The Colorado Drys are doing everything in their power to knock the Flying Squadron; they aver that the members of the Flying Squadron make collections from their hearers at meetings and after paying the bills for advertising and hall rent, pocket the rest for themselves. This, according to Superintendent Finch, of the Colorado Anti-Saloon League, is not considered good form, in fact he says that the Anti-Saloon League of Colorado having closed a very strenuous campaign and they still have some campaign debts to meet. Evidently the Flying Squadron recognized the fact that, dry advocates are good pickings, fine producers and seemingly willing to put up plenty of the necessary cash to keep things going; they do not believe that Purley Baker and his Anti-Saloon League are entitled to "hog" the game, therefore they propose to "cut in" wherever the prospects of good financial returns seem promising. Just to show the reader that Purley Baker's henchmen are quite as clever adepts at knocking as ever, here is a sample declaration by Superintendent Finch—"The so-called Flying Squadron is in no way allied with the federated church constituency of the Anti-Saloon League." In other words the Flying Squadron refuse to give up to Purley Baker's organization any of the spondulix which the festive Dry suckers chuck into the contribution boxes and offerings.

LUKE MCLUKE SAYS.

Some men use mighty big words to say mighty small things.

Most of us give to charity with the knowledge that a dime makes more noise in a contribution box than a dollar bill.

The more clothes a woman has the more pleasure she gets out of complaining that she has nothing to wear.

Before marriage He does all the talking. But it is different after marriage.

Once in a while you will meet a fellow who turns his mouth on when he gets up in the morning and forgets to turn it off until he crawls back into the hay at night.

The men went to work and made the legs of their trousers so tight that they couldn't possibly be used for hobble skirts, and the women, just to be contrary, have gone back to the wide skirt.

After all our preparations for extermination it looks as though both the Federal League and the English Sparrow will be on the job next spring as per usual.

We blame Heredity for our failures, but never for our successes.

When some men are clothed with authority, the authority fits them like a two-dollar seersucker suit fits a fat man after he has worn it out in the rain.

Even the man who expects the unexpected is often disappointed.

Disappointment and Remorse are about all you get out of Making a Night of It. After you have used up all the paint you could buy and borrow, the town doesn't look a bit red to other people.

Another of the sure things of life is that you can't find a man who will admit that his salary is increasing as fast as the Cost of Living.

If you went up to a man on Saturday and tried to tell him what he should do with his pay, he would rap you on the nose. And then he would spend the rest of his time indignating about things and telling what Jawn D. Rockefeller and Andy Carnegie should do with their money.

A member of one of the big political parties imagines that he is extremely Broad Minded and Charitable when he admits that there are a few good men in the other big political party.

The ornery cuss who can't save a nickel always justifies his course by saying: "Oh, well. You can't take it with you when you die."

There may be other funny sights. But one of the funniest is to see a fat woman trying to tiptoe across a floor.

Married men are all Bluffers. After Tom Jefferson had written the Declaration of Independence he went home and played dead and rolled over and jumped through every time Mrs. Tom snapped her fingers.

A woman will send flowers to a man who has murdered his wife. But she believes that any man who is the father of twelve children is too ornery to live.

What has become of the old-fashioned farmer who had a $4,000 barn and lived in a $400 house.

Once in a while Mother decides to let Father down easy when he comes home after spending the evening posing in front of members of the Bartenders' Union, and she will make up her mind to forget that she has either eyes or ears. But after Father gets home Mother gets mad because she can't forget that she has a nose.

When some other man's wife does anything, a man will say: "How womanly!" And when his own wife does anything he will say: "That's just like a woman!" And there's an awful difference between the two statements.

A woman can come home in a cab and nobody thinks anything of it. But if her husband does it everybody knows that he is soured.

You might imagine that a homely girl would be grateful to a man for marrying her. But after she gets you she will roast you just as much as if she was the prettiest thing in town when you snared her.

A man might possibly use that inside vest pocket once a year. But why is the belt on the back of an overcoat?

Every spring, when the sun is warm and the birds are singing, a man throws his overcoat into the corner of a closet because he knows he will be able to buy a new one when winter comes around again. And the next fall, when it starts to snow, he finds that he is broke, as usual, and the old coat feels mighty good to him.

You have to teach a child everything else in school. But you never have to teach it to put pencils in its mouth.

A Highbrow states that there are 1,000,000 too many women in the United States. And there are 1,000,000 husbands in the United States who will agree with him.

Lots of people who have their beer and booze carried in the back entrance to their homes in disguised packages will be awfully mad when they get to Heaven if they find that St. Peter has admitted any of the fellows who openly rushed the growler when they were alive.

A bride won't believe it. But the only way she can marry both a lover and a provider is to commit bigamy.

The sort of fellow who is proud because he wears No. 6 shoes usually wears that size in hats, too.

Any man who has failed can tell you that success is all a matter of luck.

It is funny that a ninety-pound girl with a shape like a capital "I" can wear out as many pairs of shoes in a year as the Corn Fed who makes a pair of scales holler for help when she weighs herself.

After sizing up the jewelry worn by most of the Princesses a man wonders where all the stained glass factories are located.

When a married woman announces that her new gown is going to be a dream, she is often telling the truth. The new gown often fails to materialize.

What has become of the old-fashioned man who used to put a "bokay" in his coat "lapell" and go down to the "deppo" and watch the train come in?

Those European highbrows who hold that Americans are lacking in imagination have evidently never purchased any of the War Extras issued over here.

He doesn't know it at the time. But the boy who has arrived at the age when he begins to think that his mother hasn't sense enough to select his clothes for him has a lot of trouble in store.

An Eastern savant announces that impulsive people have black eyes. Huh! Lots of impulsive people get their eyes blacked.

One of the drawbacks about being a liar is that you always have a hard time trying to remember what you said yesterday and the day before.

A girl doesn't mind it so much if her arms are thin. But she sure hates to be thin where she can't talk about it.

THE MIXER AND SERVER

If a man could be arrested for stealing another man's time, there would be more jails than churches in this country.

A man laughs best when he smiles all the time.

The old-fashioned woman who used to spend $4 worth of time making a $2 comfort now has a daughter who hands over $8 for a $2 comfort because she only has to pay 25 cents per week on it.

Lots of men who work for all they are worth are getting $10 per week.

We have to give them credit for one thing. A man will do more groaning over a stomach ache than a woman will over a hard spell of sickness.

A woman can be so modest at home that she will take the canary out of the room before she undresses. Then she will go out on the street and act as though she didn't care how much of herself she displays.

The reason why parents have eight children is because they are only able to support four.

The reason why a man gets pneumonia on a cold day when he is bundled up in warm clothes is because his wife is perspiring because she is wearing a new pair of silk stockings and an imitation pearl necklace.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

HAD THE OLD MAN THERE.

Father—Politeness costs nothing, sir.

Son—I don't know, dad. Try putting "Your obedient servant" on the bottom of a telegram.

If the innumerable earnest men and women who succeeded in voting a number of states dry last fall have excess energy to apply, it is suggested that they turn their guns against the greatest abuse and curse of modern times—child labor. Take the infants out of the workshops. Send them to school and teach them self-reliance and real citizenship. Permit them to absorb some of God's Sunlight instead of the fetid atmosphere of the factory and they will grow up into men and women capable of caring for themselves and will not need restrictive legislation to confine their steps or prevent them from straying from true temperate ideals.

Sanitary inspection of workshops, factory and mines has prevented much in the shape of unhealthful conditions. There is no good reason why our members should be required to labor in unsanitary surroundings, in fact there are many good reasons why our workshops should be the most sanitary of any. Bartenders, cooks, waiters, waitresses and catering industry workers generally have reasons to insist on proper sanitation.

Some of our boys appear to be trying for an altitude record when it comes to filling an office in the local; they probably failed to accept the suggestions contained in the MIXER AND SERVER and which were offered to all aspirants for executive positions. If you think that you are big enough to fill a job for your local union without giving the task study and attention, you are making a serious mistake, for it is about as useless to expect of a total stranger at any of our trades to make good as it is to imagine that you can pull through without knowledge. Aim high, seek position in your local if you wish, but don't do so without studying up and knowing what you are going to do after getting the members to elect you to it.

MOTHERHOOD.

O God, I know his sins are red,
That it were better he were dead;
But wasn't not thou, O Lord, who said
Out of thy master mercy: "Tho
Thy sins be scarlet"—even so,
And his are scarlet, Lord, I know—
"They shall be made as white as snow?"

Then hear me—hear! For, oh, I pray
Through all the night and all the day
Since ever that he went away—
Pray as I seek him in the street
Amid the myriad tramping feet
Down such rough roads, and even ask
Thy favor at the household task;
Yes, pray upon my weary bed
Until the gray of dawn glows red;
Tho none may guess! O Mighty One,
Father, deal gently with my son!

I know the Law thyself didst say,
For every sin some soul must pay—
But I recall his clinging hands,
His tender mouth, his big eyes wet
With tears, it seemed, from heavenly lands:
O Lord, he is my baby yet!
So, if a payment there must be
For one so sweet and weak as he,
Exact it, O my God, from me!

—RUTH HAMMITT, in The Circle.

TEN GOOD ONES FOR YOUR PERUSAL.

The following assortment of snappy and up-to-date items was sent to us by Brother Henry W. Zeidler, former secretary of Local 134, Scranton, Pa., who, notwithstanding being away from the catering industry, is deeply interested in the progress of our International Union, and specially desirous of helping to keep the MIXER AND SERVER right up at the head of the procession.

Need we say that, we express your wishes when we urge Brother Zeidler to "c me again."

NO WHISKERS ON THIS JOKE.

"Mamma," said little Elsie, "do men ever go to heaven?"

"Why, of course, my dear. What makes you ask?"

"Because I never see any pictures of angels with whiskers."

"Well," said the mother, thoughtfully, "some men do go to heaven, but they get there by a close shave."

SEEMS REASONABLE.

A young Western doctor has made the discovery that the ankle is placed between the foot and the knee in order to keep the calf away from the corn.

NO POLITENESS.

Tramp (as he hurries over back fence)—"If that ain't the rudest dog I ever seen. He not only made me get up, but he took my seat."

BY THE WAY.

It is reported that the new'y married lady in Boston kneads bread with her gloves on.

This incident may seem a little peculiar, "but there are others."

Our Treasurer needs bread with his shoes on, he needs bread with his pants on, he needs bread with his shirt on, and if some of our members don't send in their checks for dues before long, he will need bread without a d—d thing on, and Scranton is no Garden of Eden in March.

EXTREMES.

A pupil in a school near Chatham Square, thus defined the word "Spine":

"A spine is a long, limber bone. Your head sits on one end, and you sit on the other."

MISTAKE SOMEWHERE.

Some recent fashion publications have been describing a new style of woman's dress composed of postage stamps.

There must be a big mistake in this statement, as postage stamps are only used on mail matter.

A SURE SIGN.

Prof. Dad—"There's one good thing about that young man that called to see you last night, and that is, he is healthy."

Daughter—"That is real nice, but how do you know?"

Prof. Dad—"Heard you say when you met him in the hall, 'Oh, Billy, how cold your nose is.'"

The wicked are punished in the hereafter. The good usually get it in the neck here."

A MODERN VARIETY.

"When I order poultry from you again," said the man who quarrels with his grocer, "I don't want you to send me any more of those aeroplane chickens."

"What kind do you mean?"

"The sort that are all wings and machinery and no meat."

A RELIGIOUS ASHMAN.

The ashman was raising a can of ashes above his head to dump the contents into his cart, when the bottom of the can came out.

Ethel saw it and ran in and told her mother.

"I hope you didn't listen to what he said," the mother remarked.

"He didn't say a word to me," replied the little girl; "he just walked right off by the side of his cart talking to God."

SCRAMBLED SLOGANS.

As through the avenue I passed
I met a man who held me fast
And pinned upon me in a trice
A button with this strange device:
"Vote for Binks!"

He ran away to my delight,
But soon I met another wight,
Who grabbed me with a gleeful yell
And fastened this in my lapel:
"Wear Cotton!"

In wonderment I went my way,
Not knowing what to do or say.
When soon there came another chap
Who stuck this button on my cap:
"Buy a Bale!"

Should I these admonitions heed?
They seem consecutive, indeed.
But how and when? A lady fair
Attached this ribbon to my hair:
"Shop Early!"

Alas! I knew not what to do;
I trusted fate to see me through.
And so it proved—I met my wife,
Who bore the flag that saved my life:
"Safety First!"

—Chicago News.

SISTER'S SHOPPING BAG.

The articles boys stow away
In trousers pockets, I must say,
Are many and diversified;
But, gee, they're nothing put beside
Those found when, hunting Fido's tag,
I emptied sister's shopping bag!

A cardcase, coin purse, a barrette,
A handkerchief, a yard of net,
A drinking cup, a collar stay,
A ticket to the matinee,
A comb, a brush, a powder rag—
All these in sister's shopping bag!

Some "violet talcum" in a can,
A kodak picture of a man,
A looking glass, a calling list,
The latest "Rules For Playin' Whist."
A clipped out joke from some smart wag—
All these in sister's shopping bag!

A crochet need'e, spool and lace;
A letter from her school chum, Grace;
A little manicuring set,
Three postage stamps, a novelette,
A safety pin, a small silk fl̄—
All these in sister's shopping bag!

A bow of velvet and two wings,
A chamois "pocket" full of rings,
A stick of gum, a bit of soap,
Free samples of complexion dope.
Some tissue that will mend a snag—
All this in sister's shopping bag!

And any boy whose sister pries
Into his pockets and then cries:
"My goodness, brud, see what I've found!
How can you pack all this around?"
Should say: "Aw, that's no load to drag!
Just think what's in your shopping ba!"

—Judge.

THIRSTY "TRAIL HITTERS."

The "Trail Hitters," as the ex-ball player and present acrobatic pulpit pounder calls his "converts," have not been deprived of their thirst as the following little newspaper item, which appeared in the Chicago Tribune of March 28, 1915, amply illustrates. The Flying Squadron and the Anti-Saloon League aggregation will of course declare that the information imparted is or was "inspired," but the fact remains that the statement was made before a court and bears the earmarks of truth:

GATHERS UP 14 TONS OF BOTTLES IN DRY TOWN.

Bellingham, Wash.—In the trial of one L. S. Menary on an assault charge in the Superior Court here the defendant caused a ripple of amusement in the courtroom. Menary said his business was gathering empty bottles. He said he had been operating in Anacortes, but was advised to shift to Bellingham, a dry town. He said he did so, and soon after his arrival here he made a shipment of fourteen tons of "dead soldiers" picked up in alleys and divers places about the city.

BEYOND REACH.

Here's a fact you oft regret—the things you want you seldom get. The sweets of life you want in youth, beyond your reach remain, in truth. The jam, alas! stays on the shelf until you're laid on it yourself.—Chicago News.

INFORMATION GLEANED FROM PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE.

The Anti-Saloon League officials of the Empire State are trying by every known and some unknown processes to dispute the record offered by Rev. W. A. Nichols, an Episcopal clergyman and Chaplain of the "Workhouse" on Blackwell's Island, who, before the legislative committee in charge of the excise bills at Albany, N. Y., March 16, 1915, said:

"One-half of the dope fiends we have to handle tell me they were driven to dope by their efforts to get away from liquor. That is what you are going to face if you pass this measure and cut off their liquor from those who are accustomed to use it—and you will cut it off, not only from those who misuse it, but from those who use it well also."

Mr. Nichols read a letter from Rev. P. Gavan Duffy, also an Episcopal clergyman, of New York City, and a frequent contributor to the leading magazines of this country and England, in which Mr. Duffy said:

"You might just as well try to abolish wife-beating by abolishing matrimony as to try to abolish drunkenness by doing away with all legal use of liquor."

The Rev. W. A. Nichols may not realize it, but by presenting such a statement, he invites the perpetual enmity of "Dri Bill" Anderson, who will leave nothing undone to show that the Workhouse Chaplain is on the pay roll of the liquor interests or mentally unqualified to discern the difference between "dope" and whisky. Parson Nichols is one of the few preachers unafraid to give expression to conviction obtained from live unquestioned facts—may their number increase and confound the publicity seeking near sky pilots and finally drive them to seek labor more exhausting than "beggin' nickels from school children."

THE PROHIBITIONIST'S CREED.

Believe as I believe, no more, no less;
That I am right, and no one else, confess;
Feel as I feel, think only as I think;
Eat what I eat, and drink but what I drink;
Look as I look, do always as I do.
And then, and only then, I'll fellowship with you.

That I am right, and always right, I know.
Because my own convictions tell me so;
And to be right is simply this to be Entirely and in all respects like me;
To question, doubt, or hesitate, is sin.
I reverence the Bible if it be
Translated first and then explained by me;
By churchly laws and customs I abide,
If they with my opinions coincide;
All creeds and doctrines I admit divine,
Excepting those which disagree with mine.

Let sink the drowning if he will not swim
Upon the plank that I throw out to him;
Let starve the hungry if he will not eat
My kind and quality of bread and meat;
Let freeze the naked if he will not be Clothed in such garments as are made for me.

'Twere better that the sick should die than live,
Unless they take the medicine I give;
'Twere better sinners perish than refuse
To be conformed to my peculiar views;
'Twere better that the world stand still than move
In any other way than that which I approve.

—The Lamar Sparks, Lamar, Col.

WHAT PEOPLE WANT.

Laugh, and the world laughs with you;
Weep, and you weep alone;
For the sad old earth
Must borrow its mirth,
It has trouble enough of its own.

Sing, and the hills will answer;
Sigh, it is lost on the air;
The echoes bound
To a joyful sound,
But shrink from voicing care.

Rejoice, and men will seek you;
Grieve, and they turn and go;
They want full measure
Of all your pleasure,
But they do not want your woe.

Be glad, and your friends are many;
Be sad, and you lose them all;
There are none to decline
Your nectared wine,
But alone you must drink life's gall.

Feast, and your halls are crowded;
Fast, and the world goes by;
Succeed and give,
And it helps you live,
But it can not help you die.

There is room in the halls of pleasure
For a long and lordly train:
But one by one
We must all file on Through the narrow aisles of pain.

—ELLA WHEELER WILCOX.

THE INDUSTRIAL WORKERS OF THE WORLD VS. BILLY SUNDAY.

From press dispatches of recent date "Billy" Sunday with the Rev. lost in the shuffle, will have to contend with opposition, for it is the intention of the I. W. W. to invade Paterson, N. J., where Rev. "Billy" Sunday is holding forth in one of his specially constructed tabernacles. According to the news items which come to us Carlo Tresca and Frank Tannenbaum will head an opposition "circus" and try to get close to some of the loose coin which is supposed to be waiting for the nimble nickel pickers.

"Comrade" Frank Tannenbaum has but recently been released from Blackwell's Island and no doubt has enough stored up vitality and language to make Rev. "Billy" go some in order to hold his own, in fact we rather expect to hear that the ex-ball tosser will take the hint and vacate, for, according to reliable reports he has not been so generously supported as he was during his recent engagement in the City of Brotherly Love; and those who profess to know allege that when the coin is slow in coming into "Billy's" wash pans he becomes very peevish and discontented.

We are willing to bet a twisted doughnut that before the men and women of Paterson get rid of the I. W. W.-Sunday combinations they will have a pretty good idea of what is now transpiring on the battlefields of Europe.

It would indeed be tough for "Billy" if the I. W. W. aggregation made it a point to tackle every town where he had been "invited" to chase the Devil out of town; talk about opposition attractions, that would be more than a "Holy Show."

Whether the citizens of Paterson realize it or not, they are due for some big doings, and they will need a whole lot of sympathy before they are many weeks older. In the language of our friend Joe P. Carroll of Bakersfield, Cal.—“Watch the Papers.”

THE GUNMAN.

Prowling in the alley, loafing in the bar,
Chancing his swift “get-away” in a stolen car;
Vermin of the city, whose bite is sure to kill,
Hired by wiser villains to work vicarious ill,
Not for hate or vengeance or quarrel of his own,
In sordid risk and danger this savage strikes alone.
Life to him is merchandise, crime he sneers away,
Carelessly he murders for a little pay;
Killing, for his profit, a man he never saw—
Thug—assassin—gunman—laughing at the law.

Honored and defended by church and bench and bar,
Proud in his park and palace, steam yacht and private car;
Giver to school and college, to charitable care,
Patron of art and science, a multi-millionaire.
He makes the guns and sells them; again and yet again
There die, to his advantage, our armies of young men.
Not for hate or vengeance, or quarrel of his own
He kills, but just for business—for profit his alone.
Murderer of millions, by him our wars are made;
Thug—assassin—gunman—thriving at his trade.
—The Forerunner.

MARS, THE BOOKMAKER, HAS POSTED THE ODDS.

Duration of War Has Become a Source of Speculation in London Through Lloyd's Exchange.

The “books” made on the probable duration of the war, and posted through Lloyd’s Exchange in London, now run as follows:

That war will end before May 1, 1915, 3 to 1 against.

That war will end before June 1, 1915, 2 to 1 against.

That war will end before September 1, 1915, even money.

That war will end before December 1, 1915, 10 to 1 on.

That war will end before March 1, 1916, 15 to 1 on.

That Germany will take Warsaw, 5 to 1 against.

Explanation of “on” and “against” terms, as used by English bettors: “3 to 1 against,” war ending May 1. You get $3 for $1 if you think the war will end so soon and are willing to back your judgment. “Ten to one on,” the war ending before December 1. You would have to risk $10 on the chance of winning $1; the bookmakers are so confident the fighting will be over by next winter.

It is evident that the English figure this way: The combatants are still so strong and evenly matched that there is little chance of peace during the coming summer. It is, they think, about an even chance that they will be tired of fighting and ready to shake hands by September, and, so think the bettors, everybody will be so done up that there is almost no probability of fighting after the beginning of next winter.—Exchange.

AT THE “SIGN OF THE SMILE.”

We’re weary awalking the Highway of Life;
We’re fretted and flustered with worry and strife.
Let us drop by the wayside the heavy old load
And rest at the inn at the turn of the road,

Let us tarry awhile
At the “Sign of the Smile.”

Ho, the “Sign of the Smile” is a jolly old inn.
With gargoyles about it that do naught but grin.
There’s always a laugh, and a shoulder to whack,
And an echo that ever will answer us back.

Let us tarry awhile
At the “Sign of the Smile.”

At the “Sign of the Smile” we will linger long there,
For the strictest of rules is the ban upon care,
And the guests must forget there are such things as years,
And never shed any but laughter-brought tears.
Let us tarry awhile
At the “Sign of the Smile.”

There’ll be flagons of jollity for us to sip,
And many and many a rollicking quip.
Though the jokes may be old, like the juice of the vine.
They mellow with age to the richest of wine.
Let us tarry awhile
At the “Sign of the Smile.”

Let us tarry awhile at the “Sign of the Smile,”
Forget all our griefs in the joys that beguile.
Let us pleasure the noon till it changes to night,
Then ‘up with our loads, and we’ll find they are light.

If we tarry awhile
At the “Sign of the Smile.”

—Tit Bits.

NEEDED GLASSES.

Bitter experience is a wonderful teacher. No doubt the young lady had often been told that she ought to wear glasses, but had neglected or refused to do so.

There was a most determined look in her eye, however, as she marched into the optician’s shop.

“I want a pair of glasses immediately,” she said. “Good, strong ones. I won’t be without them for another day!”

“Good strong ones?”

“Yes, please. I was out in the country yesterday, and I made a very painful blunder which I have no wish to repeat.”

“Indeed! Mistook an entire stranger for an old friend, perhaps?”

“No, nothing of the sort. I mistook a bumblebee for a blackberry.”—Judge.

ALWAYS ALERT.

Discouragement finds no spot to land on the anatomy of the men and women who believe there are other things to do to help their union besides paying dues. Frisk them and you will find one or several application blanks ready for instant use.

CORRESPONDENCE

This Journal will not be Held Responsible for Views Expressed by Correspondents.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Cooks and Waiters' Union, after calling a meeting for the purpose of discussing the proposed amendments to be offered at the coming convention in San Francisco, June 14, desire to comment on the same, believing that the rank and file should discuss and instruct their representative as to the different amendments offered. This to our way of thinking, is true democracy, that delegates should be instructed by their organizations.

The amendment as submitted by Local 593, to amend Section 18, was unanimously voted down. We believe that suspended members should only be allowed reinstatement by a vote of the local suspending them. That local is in a better position to know the caliber of the applicant for reinstatement than probably some new local a long distance away.

Sections 22, 23 and 24, bearing on the same, were also voted down.

The resolution as offered by Local 106, wherein a member after twenty-five years of good standing should be exempted from all dues is a very good one and Local 273 voted in favor of same unanimously.

The amendment to Section 88, as submitted by Local 110 and Local 27, relative to representation on Local Joint Boards, was voted to accept unanimously.

The proposed amendment to Section 64, offered by Local 8, was also voted for. We believe that all officials handling funds SHOULD be bonded and that the International Secretary should be in a position to know that secretaries, or others handling funds ARE bonded. At the present time while it is mandatory for secretaries to be bonded, yet the International secretary under the present laws cannot safely say whether secretaries are bonded or not. Secretaries leaving with locals' funds have done more to disrupt locals than all the bosses' organizations.

The proposed amendment to section, or rather a new section to be added, Section 178, as offered by Local 525, Local 273 is very much in favor of, and so voted.

Also we are in favor of the proposed amendment to Section 176, but we trust that the letter and spirit of the proposed section, if enacted into law, will be carried out, as the present constitution is very conflicting in SPOTS.

The proposed adding of a new Section to be known as Section 177, meets with the undivided support of Local 273, not a vote registered against this proposed new section. The proposed amendment to Section 43, offered by Local 44 is, to our mind, a good one and should be enacted into law.

The proposed amendment to Section 83, offered by Local 44, we are opposed to. We do not believe that any boss has any business in an organization of workers, while there are many cases where small proprietors, ex-workers, are a benefit to the local, yet the law could be, and no doubt would oftentimes be against the interests of true democracy and oftentimes free speech. We are opposed to this amendment. We are also opposed to the proposal to do away with retiring cards.

We are in favor of the repealing of Section 7b, as we believe that locals should have full control over all their funds and not be forced to pay a month's dues for gaining new members.

We are opposed to the subsidiary amendment to Section 15, believing it to be a complicated piece of legislation. However we are in favor of portions of same.

The proposed amendment to Section 76, offered by Local 30, meets with our approval and we hope to see same enacted into law.

We are also in favor of the proposal to strike out Section 24. This law could just as well be done away with as in most instances it is absolutely useless. Local unions could, if they so desired, make rules something similar to this to fit the occasion, and not deprive other locals from the benefit to be derived of closer affiliation with clubs, societies, etc., in cities where such a procedure would be for the best interest of the locals.

This is the way Local 273 voted on the different proposed amendments as printed in the official journal, all members were requested to read same and come to the meeting, which was advertised, to act on these amendments, prepared to register their votes.

I am instructed to forward this for publication in the MIXER AND SERVER.

Yours fraternally,

CHAS. E. SANDS,
Secretary-Treasurer Local 273.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—To say the least, Local 659 is holding its own, "war or no war."

At our regular meeting, March 24, our worthy president, David Lynch, was elected as delegate to Texas State Labor convention to be held April 19; Harry Barker was elected alternate. Everyone who knows Dave, knows whenever he hits the floor there is something doing all the time.

Our worthy Brother L. A. Gastinel was appointed special local organizer for Dallas on Monday, March 29th inst. I am sure many of our traveling brothers will be pleased to read this good news in our official publication, as he is well liked by all.

Business here at present is on the standstill, our spring trade has never picked up as it usually does in March of each spring, and we have a number of members out of employment at this time, otherwise everything is lovely.

Hoping by the time this is published times are better in the south, I am

Yours fraternally,

CHAS. A. SIMPSON,
Secretary-Treasurer Local 659.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—At this time of the year all nature has cause for rejoicing. The grass and the trees are green once more and the buds are pregnant with fragrant life. The beautiful Mayflower has appeared again.

But, Oh! How many of us can join Mother Nature and enjoy her beauty and wonders? What cause have we for rejoicing? Can we be honestly happy when thousands of our fellowmen are starving, when myriads of others are daily falling in our industrial battles, when the only thing that keeps the wolf from the door is the boss' good will, a sacrificed honor, or a prostituted ideal?

We have but one cause to rejoice and that is that we can at last find our way out of the stifling, deathly darkness. We have learned the value and power of organization that will yet win us the day of freedom. We know that lack of immediate success in the face of tremendous obstacles is no discredit to a movement based upon righteousness and justice, and reflecting the spirit and principle of true religion itself and, therefore, destined ultimately to prevail. With such convictions and aspirations in our hearts we shall not be satisfied until we shall have brought every culinary worker in Philadelphia under the banner of Local 279. We are positive that the aims and objects of our organization are far superior to any of the existing dual organizations and we are bound to win on merits. "Solidify our ranks," is our slogan now and, once that is accomplished, we shall leave no stone unturned in order to secure for every one of our members an opportunity of making a livelihood comfortably and thereby enable him to enjoy happiness with those near and dear to him.

Inspired by such principles and lofty ideals no member should forget his obligations to our local. Those going away to summer resorts this coming season should keep in good standing at all times. The principle and spirit of unionism should be inoculated among culinary workers everywhere and new members should be acquired wherever possible. Any change of address should be reported to the financial secretary, 1108 Arch street.

CHAS. HOCK,
Press Secretary Local 279.

NEW BRITAIN, CONN.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Local 166 of New Britain, Conn., celebrated its fourteenth anniversary Sunday afternoon, April 18, 1915, by giving a very fine banquet. The affair was attended by one hundred and twenty-five members and their friends. The hall and tables were beautifully decorated and music was furnished by Lynch's Orchestra of five pieces. The committee in charge had a very fine program arranged after dinner. President M. T. Kernin spoke briefly of the good and welfare of the local, after which he introduced P. H. Corbett, chairman of the committee, who acted as toastmaster. Brother Corbett responded very readily with pleasing remarks, and concluded by reciting a poem entitled "Our Flag."

The Honorable Mayor of our city, Geo. A. Quigley, was next called upon for remarks. His Honor, who thinks very highly of organized labor, spoke upon the tenement houses and how they should be eliminated, stating also the only way to get better conditions was through organized labor, as he is a firm believer in patronizing the labor unions.

State President of A. F. of L., Julius Stremlan, spoke quite lengthy on legislative affairs and the factory conditions, stating some of his experiences while on the State Labor Commission, and highly praising the mayor for his strong support for union labor. State President Stremlan is one of the hardest workers we have in Connecticut for organized labor.

Brother Thos. J. Durnin, International Organizer, next addressed the gathering and gave a lengthy and very good illustration of his work, which greatly pleased and impressed those in attendance, especially the members of Local 166.

Other speakers were John W. Boyle, first president of Local 166; Jas. E. O'Brien, secretary and Treasurer; "Tim" Sullivan, of Local 200, Hartford; President Eastman, of Middletown local. Among other brothers present from out-of-town locals were President Molloy, of Local 200, Secretary Welch of Middletown local, past President John Holmes and Brother Lyons, of Meriden local.

Excellent vocal solos were rendered by Hugh Conroy, John Kilduff and Robert Andrews. Irving Sands, L. Williams and Leo Ford presented some fine cabaret.

Much credit can be given Mr. Hilding Nelson who did the catering, while the committee in charge, consisting of P. H. Corbett, chairman; President M. T. Kerwin, Secretary-Treasurer Jas. E. O'Brien. Recording Secretary Louis W. Fodt, Wm. Kramer, Simon Meskill, received congratulations for arranging one of the finest ever given in the city of New Britain.

With best wishes to your future, I remain,

Yours fraternally,

LOUIS W. FODT,
Recording Secretary Local 166.

BALTIMORE, MD.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Just a few lines from Local 532. We are pleased to state to the readers of the MIXER AND SERVER that conditions here are improving. Initiations are the common thing, every meeting having some new candidates ready for the obligation. One of the most interesting features of our last meeting was the debating between Bros. Chenoweth and Flanagan. Some very good points were brought out which were very educational to the younger members.

Local 532 expects to purchase their new home by September 1, 1915. "Some going, eh." So look out for us getting the "Watch Us Grow Habit."

Fraternally yours,

BERNARD STERN
Business Agent Local 532.

THE MIXER AND SERVER

MONROE, LA.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Just a few lines from Local 760, to let the boys know we are right here on the job, and are preparing to hand the Prohibitionists a lemon when they enter our territory, which won't be later than 1917, but I am very proud to say that Monroe is the strongest union town in the State of Louisiana, having taken the State labor convention by the majority of 46 votes.

We are glad to have the opportunity to set an example for the "Pride Of the South," New Orleans.

DON'T GRUMBLE.

Let the other fellow do the grumbling,
There is better work ahead for us.
Grumbling never lessened the burden of the load, never pulled a local out of a rut.
Never added a dollar to any man's bank account.
Grumbling makes pessimists and pessimists have bad livers and poor digestion, and sour countenances, and are general nuisances all around.
And pessimists are always grumbling about something.
They grumble if times are bad:
They grumble because they are not better when they are good,
They grumble over their meals and politics, and religion, and anything else that offers a chance to grumble.
And then they grumble because there is nothing left to grumble about.
Grumbling is a habit with them—it is their daily pastime—and nothing is so dear to their hearts as great big unadulterated grumble.
Many of us grumble a part of the time, but some folks grumble all of the time.
Now let's quit grumbling any of the time,
Let's get down tohardtacks and dig a lot of wealth out of this community,
It's here, but grumbling won't do the digging.
Let's make this the greatest productive year in "Local" History.
Let's get out and hustle—
Let's find the opportunities or make them where none exist.
The soil is as rich today as it was a year ago,
and it will produce as much and the products will sell for more money.
Let's not sit on dry-goods boxes and wait for the world to come to our feet,
We will die grumbling if we do.
There's a great big place in the world for us.
Let's fill it,
Let's do something,
Let's let the rest of the world know we are alive;
That we are producers, and that we are something more than grumblers.
Let's be optimists—for optimists do things and never grumble.
There are better times and more congenial work ahead for us.
Let's all get busy and whoop it up.

Hoping you will consider these few lines worthy of space in the MIXER AND SERVER, I remain,
Yours fraternally,

MAX COUNCIL.
Press Agent Local 760.

BRONX, N. Y.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Our local requests to have the honor and have a few words printed in the next MIXER AND SERVER, as follows:

Brothers Albert Lirsch and Harry Hilenbrand, of Local 276, attended a special meeting of the Down Town Waiters' Club No. 342, for the benefit of the installation of new officers; they are: President, James J. Dwyer; vice-president, Patrick J. Corey; business agent and financial secretary, Francis A. Gracey; chaplain, Edward
A. Schreider; inside guard, Chas Mohr; outside guard, Tony Stoopnitzky.

Local 276 never thought that Local 342 had such a fine and jolly bunch of boys, but we know now and will always remember them. What more can you say about such boys, as they had good talent and the best of refreshments and they certainly know how to give a person a good time. Local 276 wishes Local 342 the best of health and good luck. Greetings from Local 276.

Fraternally yours,

HARRY HILENBRAND,
Secretary.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—I want to issue a warning to all members to stay away from Minneapolis, as the city is overcrowded with waiters at the present writing. There are no jobs open, in fact, it is directly the opposite, many places are closing, either through adverse legislation or through lack of business during the spring and summer months. Members are coming in with traveling cards, staying a week or two, and leaving sadder but wiser men. Conditions are not so bad for the girls, but it is almost impossible for a man to secure a position in Minneapolis at present.

STAY AWAY FROM MINNEAPOLIS.

Fraternally yours,

THOS. P. Woods,
Bus. Agt. and Fin. Sec., Local 593.

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, MINN.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Just a few lines to let you know that we came out on top in Tuesday's election. Won by a majority of 138. It was a pretty tough fight, but thanks to the support the other unions gave us we got there. Am enclosing a couple of clippings: one from the president of the paper makers and the other from the secretary of the musicians. They would not make bad items for the MIXER AND SERVER, and it might show other places what organized labor can do when all go together. Brainerd went dry by 157. Hoping that everything is going fine, I remain,

Fraternally yours,

A. B. DEVERELL,
Secretary-Treasurer.

BUFFALO, N. Y.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—We held our sixteenth anniversary Friday, March 26, 1915. We held our meeting first, at 3 p. m., and heard some good sound talk from President Flore, Chas. Stevens of the Cigarmakers' union, and Bro. John Clark of the Central Labor Council, after which refreshments were served and a general good time was had. Musical selections were rendered by Bros. Ed. C. Maharg (in German), T. Peckham and others.

The headquarters of Buffalo Central Labor Council is with us, the finest rooms in Buffalo.

Where some of our brothers are at: David Weir at Joenzel's, Ferry and Michigan avenue; Al Reimnetz at Sandsman's Cafe, Allen street; Wm. Fredrick, Wm. Faux at Ferry Hotel; Sandy Steinbach at Herbst's Buffet, Michigan avenue; L. Moorhouse at Swartz's Cafe, Washington street; Brother Jene Moriarty is in business at Niagara and Tonanandia streets; Al Spang has taken a withdrawal card after ten long years; Brother H. L. Standford is at Smith and Maharg's Cafe in Brother Detine's place, who is on the sick list; Brothers G. Wolf, H. Selwin, R. Warfield, F. Brown and Donley on sick list.

Fraternally yours,

FRANK BROWN,
Press Agent and President Local 175.

LOS ANGELES, CAL.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The best ever, was the concensus of opinion expressed by the boys who attended our grand annual ball, held March 28. In fact some expressed themselves as saying this was the first time they had attended and were surprised that an organization, known as the bartenders, could pull off an affair of this kind.

There were over 600 guests present, and with handsome Frank Lindenfeld as master of ceremonies, the ball started.

Everybody had a good time and the majority of the guests were disappointed when the music played "Home, Sweet Home."

Then there was the reception committee. Some class, I can assure you. Bert Ferrel, Wm. Behrens, L. J. Costa, Harry Desmond and last but not least, W. C. Cline, of the Nattick House.

It was his first appearance at one of our balls and it was certainly a revelation to him, as he thought that he had seen some dancing in his day and considered himself a competent judge he admitted. "Never will I miss one of these again." Smiling Geo. Peterson, with his versatile smile, was at the gate and many were the sighs he expressed: "Gee, I wish I was a pal of yours." Delegates please take notice at our next convention, George being a member of the K. P., not of the uniformed rank, "Knob Polishers," you know what I mean.

President Getsinger, who was a member of the arrangement committee, was there with bells on, and talk about your Southern Hospitality, they had nothing on him.

To cap the climax of the evening, our genial and hustling business agent, Albert Hassel, tried to pull off a steal on the fox trot and when censored by the floor committee, tried to explain that he was dancing the one-step, better known as the flat-footed glide. "What's yours, please?"

Members of the arrangement committee were President Getsinger, past president B. McKone, Geo. O. Peterson, Geo. H. Christian, Edw. Malter and A. B. Hassel. The floor committee consisted of Brothers F. Lindenfeld, floor manager; M. A. McGrath, A. M. Collini, M. Singer, and Jack Mathy.

Brothers L. J. Costa, Tom Billings, Carl Zeren-

GEORGE W. McDONALD,
Secretary Local 754, San Pedro, Cal.

ner and J. Miller, took turns at serving the punch and handling the check-room.

A neat souvenir program was gotten out for the occasion and was liberally patronized by the business houses through the persuasive efforts of A. M. Collini, L. J. Costa and A. B. Hassel.

Reference has now been made to those who composed the committees, etc., what about the ladies? Well, all that we can say is that they were charming and gracious and danced like Queens.

Trusting that I am not taking up too much space of our valuable paper, believe me to be,

Fraternally yours,

EDW. MALTER,
Financial Secretary, Local 284.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Local 320, of Schenectady is still growing, and our members are mostly all working. With the approach of spring we look for a good season.

Our old Treasurer, Joe Nolan (Silver King), has left us and gone to Albany, but still likes his Robert Campbell cigars.

Brother Wernacke has gone back to his old job on the ice wagon. Bro. Olmstead has gone back swinging the brush for a few weeks, but will soon be back of the bar again.

President Frachette and Brother Leard (Dick) have bought a farm, and are working it night and day. Some farm!

Brother Bill Hogan has gone on the road, selling bird seed for "Coo Coo" clock.

With greetings to all officers and members of our International, I remain,

Fraternally yours,

FRED G. MADILL
Secretary Local 320.

Digitized by Google

DENVER, COLO.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Though I do not write to the MIXER AND SERVER every month I want the world to know that Local 14 is not being overlooked, but as there was nothing of interest to write about in the past three months I hope you will please allow me space in the May issue.

Conditions in Denver are and have been the same since election last November. If anything, worse; the lid is on tighter than ever and it is certainly hurting the cafes.

I am back on the job again after being laid up for weeks with a broken ankle, and am working at the Frisco Club, owned by Dan Arnold. An old-timer, in the person of Eddie J. Morris, is bartender in same place, and wishes to be remembered to many of the girls and boys. He was a former business agent of Local 19.

At this writing there are many sick members: Brother Thos. Wilson is in hospital, also Brother Freeye, Sister Bruce, Sister Collins and Brother Wm. Lawrence. Brother Brown, of Bartenders' Union, Local 8, is also in hospital, and has been for weeks suffering from a stroke of paralysis. Our sincere wishes are for their speedy recovery.

Brother Cecil Givens and Brother Stewart were elected delegates to convention.

We are all proud to hear of the good work that is being done by two of our old "war-horses." Brothers Chas. McKee and James Butler, formerly of Local 14. Stick to the good work, boys, we need a few more like you in the field.

Things are commencing to look a little brighter for our boys as the park season will soon open, and, as heretofore, expect them to sign up. The summer season is good in Denver. It keeps all our boys working, and we hope that all brothers coming this way will have a paid-up card. The girls are still in the lead here and we have all but two or three houses.

The Mosconi Fish and Oyster House, known as the Marquette Restaurant, made a change last week from boys to girls. Girls work eight hours six days. The eight-hour law is a State law as well as the union law. The boys work 10 hours, six days.

Now that convention days are drawing near I hope all delegates will do what they should for the interest of their union and fight segregation to a finish. Show Local 30 that they are not the only local in the International. This is going to be a fight, delegates, but there is no reason why segregation should not be defeated and will be, if each delegate does his or her duty to their union, themselves and the International. Stop and consider what segregation will mean and then ask yourself why it should not be defeated, and there you have the answer.

Wishing all delegates good luck on their journey and a safe return, and with best wishes to all members of the International, especially Locals 20 and 249 of St. Louis, I am,

Fraternally yours,

MAE MCCORD,

Vice-President and Press Secretary, Local 14.

CHICAGO, ILL.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The officers and members of the Chicago Cooks and Pastry Cooks' Union, Local 865, desire to take this opportunity to welcome our sister local, No. 872, of Milwaukee, Wis. There never was any real glory gained without hard toil, and we desire to congratulate those members of the Cream City who will share both. It is not like going to a Sunday-school picnic to organize and put in working order an organization of men who have been exploited for years and who are tired and wornout from over-work.

Organizer G. F. Martel is, probably, doing far better work for the cooks of this country than they themselves realize; but as he finds his greatest reward is his success, and while he has a great many friends who admire him as a craftsman and a chef, he has already proven to the whole continent his powerful ability as an organizer.

The Culinary Art Journal of the Minneapolis Cooks' Association is a power in the Northwest, and its educational work is beginning to bear fruit.

It is an old contention of philosophers that the most exploited workers are the last to rebel. Such is, undoubtedly, the case with the Chicago cooks.

We have pending before the Legislature of Illinois a One-Day-Rest-in-Seven bill. This bill, if made a law, will bring all the basement workers in the sunlight every seven days, and it may be possible then to reason with at least some of them.

The Hotel and Restaurant Keepers' Association are, of course, opposing the bill, and time will tell whether human health or gold bricks will receive the foremost consideration.

The Women Eight-Hour bill is being juggled, and it looks as if a nine-hour substitute will be agreed on and passed by the Legislature.

The Vampire bill, which provides that a saloon can not conduct an employment office, either by direct or indirect profit, may be passed, and if so, will greatly assist our local unions.

I had an opportunity to present the saloon vampireism to the U. S. Industrial Commission, and it may be possible that our employers will now take some notice.

It is a common practice to-day for an employer to ask when hiring help, Do you belong to the union? If so, we can't use you.

The people of Chicago have already told of the wrongs done to our strikers by first dumping the Harrison administration at the primaries, then again dumping the entire Vogelsang, Sullivan and Schweitzer machine by electing Thompson for Mayor, and then by placing two Socialist Aldermen, Rodriguez and Kennedy, in the City Council. We will now have at least four Aldermen in the City Council who will speak for the workers, as McCormick and Meriam are also on the workers' side.

The three large amusement parks have practically agreed to employ all union men, and have promised to abolish the vampire system. If this promise can and will be carried out, it will lay a foundation for a large union, as vampireism and graft are unions' bitterest enemies.

The cooks and pastry cooks will give a picnic Sunday, June 6, at Friedel's Grove, Crawford and Fullerton avenues. All delegates to the Eighteenth General Convention and their friends are cordially invited. Daniel W. Hoan, City Attorney of Milwaukee, Wis., formerly a Chicago cook; John C. Kennedy, Alderman, and International Organizer A. F. Martel will be the speakers.

The cooks of Chicago have elected John Staggenburg and myself as delegates to the convention, and it is our hope to meet cooks from every part of the continent.

To the Eastern delegates we may announce that arrangements have been made with the C. B. & Q.

Railroad for a special train. It may be interesting for delegates to stop in Chicago long enough to get the story of the strike from the girls who have been on the picket line for fifteen months; girls who have walked the streets in front of strike-bound lunchrooms, rain or shine, day and night, under all kinds of conditions, and are still willing to do so, if permitted, in order to get away from that miserable "seven spot" every week and to get a day's rest. The pickets will all be at the cooks' picnic.

Trusting that the Eighteenth Convention will stronger and firmer unite all crafts and classes of the eating and drinking industry, be a power in the elimination and emancipation of the wage workers from all forms of slavery and an aid in the building of an industrial democracy, I remain,

Fraternally yours,

FRED EBELING,
Secretary Local 865.

JERSEY CITY, N. J.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The Rev. Billy Sunday has hit the State of New Jersey. He is preaching in Paterson to immense crowds on the evils of demon rum. And I would like to state, according to information I got at a Paterson bartenders' meeting, that through the agitation of the church people, and a Mayor and a Board of Aldermen who were elected to office, a resolution was passed forbidding intoxicating drinks in dance halls and picnic parks. So you can see Sunday has some foothold to work on in the city of Paterson.

Jersey City has just passed through a strenuous campaign against local option in the Legislature. And, let me say, it was a hard fight. If the liquor interests, bartenders and waiters had not gone down to the State House and put up the great fight they did, we would have local option in New Jersey. Boys, you got to fight these bills in the Legislature halls when they come up in your State. Make your Assemblymen and Senators pledge themselves before you give them your support. We have a committee from the C. L. U. questioning candidates before their election on labor and how they stand, and they got to show us. We have had our lesson with some law-makers.

Work is slow in this city at present, but we look for better times in the future. Whether we can blame politics or the war for the present bad times I do not know, but I do know that money is locked up somewhere in the country and the people have not got much to spend. But let us hope that when the boys get to the convention in San Francisco they'll whoop things up against prohibition and segregation, and when the smoke clears away from the battle field harmony and good will reign throughout the country.

Fraternally yours,

FRANK BURNS,
Secretary Local 575.

FRESNO, CAL.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—About two months ago Local 62 came to the conclusion that in order to get conditions they had to get together and elect officers with energy and backbone. And we sure got them: Bro. Pomeroy, president, and Bro. Larissey, vice president, both of whom are business officers and staunch union men; and ready to assist at all times in the upbuilding of the organization. As to Bro. Harry F. Russell, our secretary-treasurer and business agent, he has up to date proven himself to be one of the best, if not the best, man in the State in that office. I have visited several houses with Bro. Russell, allowing him to take the lead, and he has gained his point in every instance.

Local 62 is in better condition now than ever, and the following sisters and brothers are taking an active interest, namely: Brothers L. M. McDonald, B. L. Williams, G. W. O'Hare, M. Jovovich, George Peddy, and in fact all members, not overlooking Sisters Mrs. Harry Russell and Miss Louise Besancon.

Oh, by the way! All of the above are at the present time staging our third annual ball, to be held April 24, and by the looks of the program, as outlined, it will be the banner ball of the season for Fresno.

So with the above bunch here, Bro. J. L. S., you can look for Local 62 as being in line for third place soon in the State of California, and Los Angeles and Sacramento will have to get busy or lose their place. Believe me, this is no small-town talk.

By gosh! them new headquarters of ours consist of six rooms—one meeting room with a pool table, one room for the secretary-treasurer and business agent's office, a library and reading room, one stag rag-chewing room, where we can meet all comers, and a room for the sisters only furnished with a sewing machine and a writing table. Yes, we have toilets and bathroom in connection. So how is that for headquarters?

Bro. Russell has the two leading hotels well under way to line up. We are also after the cafeterias, which looks favorable; also we are after the under help, which, I am sorry to say, has been left out; but they are falling in line now.

Members coming this way with paid-up cards will be met by Bro. Russell with a pleasant smile and welcomed to our city and extended the privileges of old-time members. No partiality will be shown. But if you have not a paid-up card, I would advise you to call up the secretary and tell him your troubles the first day you are in town. If you don't, he will be on your trail, and you are liable to incur a bad impression.

We have elected our delegates to the convention to be held in the month of June in San Francisco, Cal. The delegates are Harry F. Russell and L. M. McDonald.

AL. OAKS, Local 62.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The annual installation of officers was held March 28, 1915, at our meeting room, 104 Reynolds Arcade.

The regular routine of business was gone through and nothing was left undone on any account whatever. But we proceeded to do our best to hurry, for we were anxious to have our general president install us, as we knew full well that he had some good advice for the members of Local 171, as well as for the officers.

Some time ago Local 171 passed a resolution instructing our delegates to vote against segregation, as we feel there is turmoil enough at the present time combating the advancement that is being made by the Anti-Saloon League and Prohibition party, without having a break among our own ranks.

Local 171 sent out a big invitation, as all bartenders were told to bring all the friends they had,

THE MIXER AND SERVER

and from all appearances every member had a big following of friends. We had as visitors from Buffalo Local 175, our genial General President Edward Flore, Business Agent P. J. McGowan, the Irish Duke; Brother Edward Ehrman, the beau brummel of Local 175, a fine fellow; also a member of the Buffalo Butchers' Union, Tracey Meyers. From Syracuse Local 76: President Patrick M. Gardiner, the Robt. Emmett of Local 76, Business Agent Charles Yates, silent Chas.; Recording Secretary Edward Costello, the Silver King; high-low Chaplain John Harkaway, a friend of all, and last but not least, Inspector Johnny O'Neil, who knows how to fix up a limburger sandwich. From Syracuse Waiters' Alliance came Foster Dudley, the business agent who is getting results.

We missed a good old war-horse when Eddie Maharg did not arrive, still he knows he is welcome any time in the Flower City by Local 171.

Well, I have told you all who were here, and you can see for yourself that we had the best talent obtainable.

Our first speaker was introduced, as you are aware, by our business agent, Emanuel Koveleski. He said: "Brothers, the speaker I am presenting to you needs no introduction, as you are all pretty much acquainted with our general president, Brother Edward Flore." He was received and greeted with a good deal of hand-clapping, and "Oh, you Ed." And for one time in the lives of a great many bar-boys, who are all good fellows, they had their eyes opened. I dare say there were a great many, if asked how many states in the United States were dry, they would have said: oh, about three; and when Brother Flore told them there were eighteen at present they sat up and took notice, for they saw that they must start to do things and do them collectively and not by units. If we want to keep working at our trade for any length of time we must not only lock the door on the prohibition fanatics at night, but must keep it locked in the day-time as well. Now, how can we do that? is a question some of us may ask. Well, to start with, we must dig up votes from those who come in the places where we are employed. We must ask them to take it upon themselves and write to our representatives in regards to the prohibition and local option question. Then, on the other hand, we have, without a doubt, friends who never drink. Let us invite them to our places of employment and ask them to spend one hour with us and see if we chain a man to the bar and keep him there until he spends his all. Let them see for themselves just how the liquor business is conducted so they can tell their friends. And when any of these prohibition squakers holler to them they can show them they are all wrong. Let us invite some of these high-brows to come to our homes, those of us that are married, and let them see for themselves that the bartenders are not degenerates as they would try and make the public believe. (Cheers for Brother Flore.)

We were treated to a trip through the West by Brother Flore and were told of all the places he had visited and all about their conditions, some good, but some very poor. One place in particular, Des Moines, Iowa, where conditions were so bad that they were deplorable. All the saloons closed tight, over one hundred and eighty some odd members walking the streets praying to God something would turn up, as they were out of employment, and no chance of them ever going back to their old jobs again for some time to come. How they were all good members, taking out withdrawal cards, and quite a few taking traveling cards and headed for they know not where. How they had to dispose of every thing they possessed, furniture and all for little or nothing in order to get a new start. How segregation is coming fast enough this way without bringing it on ourselves, as we sure will if we try and break away from the ranks of those who have carried us through a storm and put every local connected with this great body on a sound and firm footing, would be folly and dam foolish.

Brother Flore concluded by asking the members of Local 171 to get together and do all they can for the good of the State of New York and the country in general, and not let us wake up some fine morning and find ourselves out of work and no place to go. The only way to do this is by co-operation with our officers and writing to Senators and Representatives at our capitol in Albany and elsewhere. (Cheers and more cheers.)

Our next speaker was Patrick M. Gardiner, president of Local 76. His was a brief, but to the point, address, as Brother Flore had given us all we needed he thought. But he advised us to stick together and do all we can with the able assistance of our minute man, Koveleski, who has done wonderful work at Albany, as well as throughout the State, not only for Local 171, but for every local in New York State.

The other speakers were Richard Curran, a city officeholder and secretary of Molders' Union, Local 11; Chas. Yates, Ed Costello, John Harkaway, John O'Neil. We wanted the Irish Duke to sing a song, but he said the only song he knew was "It's a long way to Frisco, and Ed Maharg stole his music. Eddie Ehrman did not have anything to say, as he wanted to wait until he got to Albany and he sure would say: "Well, if Johnson don't win, Willard will."

After the speakers came the refreshments; the boys were all ready to go to it. President Dentinger, who is our official caterer, gave the word to uncover the good things, and believe me, it sure was some spread. We had a feed too good for a king, but just the ticket for bartenders of Local 171 and their friends.

We were very sorry our own Jere L. Sullivan was not here, nevertheless we are with you heart, soul and breeches. More and more power to you, Jere, and all the boys.

Officers elected were: president, Edward Dentinger; vice-president, John J. Ritz; recording secretary, Frank Sargent; business agent and financial secretary, Emanuel Koveleski; Treasurer, Joseph F. Curtis; inspector, Michael Murtha; inside guard, Frank Weiman; trustees, Fred Fickweiler, Frank Coddington, Fred Schmidt; chaplain, John L. Hennessy.

Wishing our members everywhere all success in the world, I remain,

Fraternally yours,

JOHN L. HENNESSY,
Chaplain, Local 171.

PHOENIX, ARIZONA.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—A few lines from Local 631, of Phoenix, Arizona, for the next issue of the MIXER AND SERVER.

We have just held our semi-annual election of officers and the members of Local 631 have elected a body of officers who will do their duty, and help Local 631 along to its goal of a stronger and better organization. For president, we re-elected the old warhorse, E. J. Warren; the vice-presidency fell to J. T. Banks, for this third term; D. H. McClintock was re-elected financial secretary; the honors of recording secretary fell to Jack Sheppard; our newly elected treasurer is Jack Wilson; the inspector's chair fell to W. C. Hefferon; the chaplain's position will be filled by Joe Noon; the official funmaker of Local 631, Harry Kelly, was elected as inside guard; our executive board consists of three live wires, namely, Nick Pape, Ed. Skelsey, and F. S. Williams; our board of trustees is well taken care of by Brothers H. G. Halliday, C. G. Shelton and D. A. Butler. Brothers E. J. Warren, D. H. McClintock, Ben. A. Adams, D. A. Butler, W. P. Graham, are the delegates to Phoenix Trades Council. Our sick and needy brothers will be looked after by Brothers A. Fey, H. G. Halliday and W. C. Hefferon. On the firing line, Warren, "the old warhorse," will represent Local 631 at the Frisco Convention. Your humble servant is acting as press secretary.

I wish to call your attention to the fact that the weather is getting hot and business will be dull for the next five or six months, so it will be fair to us if members will take notice and stay away from Phoenix.

Trusting you will find space in the next issue of the MIXER AND SERVER for these lines and wishing you all possible success, I beg to remain,

Fraternally yours,
BEN. A. ADAMS,
Press Secretary Local 631.

PHOENIX, ARIZONA.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—At our last regular meeting, our worthy Brother D. H. McClintock, resigned his position as financial secretary, after serving the local for a number of years. Brother McClintock and Brother Butler, a member of our board of trustees, have secured the State agency from the Royal Brewing Co., of Kansas City, to handle a beverage called "Tanhauser," a very good substitute for beer. Much as we regret losing Brother McClintock, we rejoice with him in his success. It is a big undertaking, as the demand is so great for "Tanhauser" that they have to order three or four cars a week. Here is good luck to you, Brothers McClintock and Butler.

At the same meeting mentioned above, I had the honor of being elected, by acclamation, to fill out Brother McClintock's unexpired term.

Brother Jere, I wrote you a letter as press agent from Local 631 some time ago which you stated would be published in May issue of MIXER AND SERVER; if convenient please add these lines to my former letter.

Trusting to hear from you soon, I beg to remain,

Yours fraternally,
BEN. A. ADAMS,
Financial Secretary, Local 631.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—To the MIXER AND SERVER. Grand annual picnic of the Bartenders' Union, Local 70, Bor. of Brooklyn, at Queens Bor. headquarters, 405 Evergreen avenue, to be held at John H. Gerken's Ridgewood Grove, on Thursday, May 27, 1915. Music by Prof. August Schneider. The committee: President, Charles Denton; vice-president, Charles Boerner; secretary and treasurer, Maurice De Young; financial secretary, Otto Pattberg; chairman of the committee, Frank Ricker; Gus Stengel, Geo. Schepper, Christ Jacob, Wm. Gill, Chas. Hofmann, Gus Ballerau, Jos. Schuman.

AFRICA, N. Y., 1999.

Dear Yourself a Correspondent:

You are cordially invited to attend a moonlight afternoon picnic which will be given in the morning by the Katzenjammer Kids of the funny world. Music by Happy Hooligan and family. Directed by Uncle Sam.

Directions—if you miss the boat, swim after the train you just missed, as there is no extra charge for swimming. Bring a basket of water in case you get hungry.

Amusements—Men without legs will run a five-mile race; a silver medal made of the finest brass will be awarded; $2,500.00 worth of fire-crackers will be displayed if you bring them.

Dessert—Very long shortcake, 5 cents a ton; American spaghetti, African style, 5 cents a yard; canned hearts, 5 cents each.

Rules—You eat here and die at home. Anyone found dead on the premises will be arrested.

Closing remarks—if you come you will be sure to have a good time, but feel so sorry after.

Yours mournfully,
DINGBAT.

Fraternally yours,
JOSEPH SCHUMAN,
Press Agent Local 70.

EAST ST. LOUIS, ILL.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—You will confer a favor to me if you will have the following lines inserted in our next MIXER AND SERVER:

It's a long way to Prohibition,
It's the wrong way to go,
It's a sure way to bring perdition,
To the Greatest State I Know.

Let us all stick together,
Let this be our cry,
It's a long way to Prohibition,
And we will not go Dry.

JNO. BOYD,
President Local 332.

DANBURY, CONN.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Just a few lines from Local No. 255, of Danbury, Conn. This little city is on the map, but that is about all. Our industrial line is hatting, as our city is known as the "Hatting City," and our slogan is: "Danbury Crowns Them All." That means that it crowns a greater number of heads than any other city in the U. S. A.

But the hatting is slow at present, and the bar boys feel the effect of it. But, nevertheless, we are well organized and our officers are doing good work with the co-operation of the members. We believe in the old saying that if "one helps the other" you are sure of success and bound to accomplish something.

The temperance cranks figure on giving us a big fight this fall. They claim they are going to make us drink water or grape juice for the next two years. But I can not see it, as a large majority of the boys are Irish and they say they never take water; and I need not say that there is a beverage they like better than grape juice.

Google

But, nevertheless, the antis are making a great effort to place this city on the dry list. They have engaged some speakers of national fame on the dry movement, such as ex-Congressman Hobson, of Alabama, and a preacher from Philadelphia, one of Billy Sunday's lieutenants.

The Committee on Excise Law have signified their intention to report favorable on a bill before the General Assembly to increase the license from $450 to $600.

I must say that the boys of Local 255 feel as though they were slighted. They have not had a call from any of the National officers or organizers in eight years, and one of the officers was within distance of twenty miles of us when he visited Local 256 of Bridgeport. We expected that he would drop in and make us a call. I assure you we would be glad to see any of the officers. There would certainly be a great welcome for them among the bar boys.

Our new Chamber of Commerce is meeting with a great success. They are enrolling members fast. Everybody is getting together to boost the city. Let us hope they will be successful in getting some new line of industry into the city.

Thanking you for the space in advance, I remain

Fraternally yours,

JOHN J. CARRICK,

Recording and Corresponding Secretary of Local No. 255.

TOLEDO, OHIO.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—We are able at this time to report some success in our fight with the Hotel Men's Association. Two places have been settled up, both proprietors coming to realize that they were wrong in fighting the two organizations involved. The fight has now centered on one place, the St. Clair Hotel. Pickets are found there both early and late, and they have, indeed, done most efficient work.

We do not feel discouraged, despite the fact that the Hotel Men's Association have used every means known to such a "bunch" of men to break this trouble up. Their latest attempt to boost business for the aforesaid hotel has been to send letters to the business men, asking for their patronage. Many other tricks, too numerous to mention, have been unsuccessfully tried to break our spirit, but it is impossible.

The two locals in this city have learned that we can accomplish many things by joining forces and fighting for the conditions we know are rightfully ours. The bartenders, waiters and cooks of Toledo are ever on the job, ready and willing to assist the waitresses, whether it be trouble or for the uplift and good of the girls. The waitresses, though a small organization, are sure to battle when the call comes from our brothers, and against everything have stood side by side in our present trouble.

On April 20 Local 335 gave their spring dance, which was a success in every way. Every one turned out to make the dance the finest ever given by this local. We were ably assisted by President James Overmeyer, of Local 216; Bro. George Flynn, and other members of Local 216. We were honored by a delegation from Local 107 (Cleveland waitresses). Miss Kitty Donnelly and a number of sisters came from Cleveland to attend the dance.

We trust that the spirit of unity which prevails in Toledo will be carried on, and that all members of our International will stand for unity. Get closer together, if possible; to separate is what the employers want. When they see a spirit of unrest prevails, how eager are they to grasp this unrest and kindle a new fire under it, and keep fanning the flame until it will burst forth into a roaring fire, only to consume the poor worker, who has no chance.

We feel that it is best to "stop, look and listen" before it is too late.

With greetings to every member,

Fraternally yours,

NEDA R. PANGLE,
Secretary Local 335.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—I am enclosing herewith a little piece of, whatever you might call it, in the poetic line; nevertheless the same appealed to me very strong, as I figure that I have been one of the cliques in Local 152, B. I. L., as well as in other organizations. And as I peruse the MIXER AND SERVER very carefully each month, I don't believe I ever saw this in any copy of the same, so therefore I thought, maybe, that in case the same was worthy or not an old one on you, that you might run it in one of your next issues.

Not wishing to take up any more of your valuable time, and trusting I will have the pleasure of meeting you when you pass through this city on your way to the Big Convention, and with greetings to yourself, I beg to remain

Fraternally yours,

W. M. GRETHER,
Member Local 152.

"THE CLIQUE."

What is "The Clique"? 'Tis a body of men
Who attend every meeting, not just now and then;
Who don't miss a meeting unless they are sick—
These are the men that the grouch calls the "The Clique."

Who don't make a farce of that sacred word
"Brother,"

Who believe in the motto to "help one another";
Who never resort to a dishonest trick—
These are the men that some call "The Clique."

The men who are seldom behind in their dues.
And who from the meetings do not carry the news;

Who attend to their duties and visit the sick—
These are the men that the crank calls "The Clique."

We all should be proud of members like these—
They can call them "The Clique," or whatever they please;

They never attempt any duties to dodge;
These are "the cliques" that run most every lodge.

But there are some people who always find fault,
And most of this kind are not worth their salt;
They like to start trouble, but seldom will stick—
They like to put all the work on "The Clique."

THE MIXER AND SERVER

(Registered.)

(Registered.)

This is the Official Journal of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes International Alliance
and
Bartenders International League of America.

Affiliated with the
AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR

Volume XXIV.

Number 6.

CINCINNATI, OHIO, JUNE 15, 1915.

Press of Roessler Brothers.

Commercial Tribune Bldg.
Cincinnati, Ohio

CONFIDENCE

When the little group of delegates gathered at the city of Cleveland, Ohio, in May, 1900—there were thirty-one, representing nineteen local unions—they were unacquainted with one another and few of them had ever met their General Officers, or in fact, had any first-hand knowledge as to what character of men were holding down places on the General Executive Board. To say that they came to that conclave with an extra load of SUSPICION of the officers and the organization, means no discredit to them or their perception; they had in mind the early history of the organization, and were fairly well acquainted with such parts of it as caused them to express doubt of its regeneration. They attended with solemnity; they looked with questioning eyes, and ears attuned to the slightest sound; they came to be "shown"—to be convinced, that their organization was something besides what they had with unconscious unanimity concluded was a HOLLOW FAKE, held together by bonds of uncertain stability and utterly useless as a vehicle wherewith to secure improvement to the catering industry or those engaged therein. They came to consign it to its lasting place, to, if possible, erect on its ashes an organization which would come nearer their ideal. They had ever in mind the victimization through which they and their unions had passed, and were determined to cut adrift, unless something had been accomplished by the new administration more encouraging than what had been offered them almost continuously from the institution of the International Union. When the General Secretary-Treasurer made his report and advised them that he had issued forty-nine charters from the date of taking hold of office until May 1, 1900, and that he had paid off outstanding indebtedness and had cash on hand amounting to $282.94, they came forward with doubtful, uncomprehending minds and said almost in unison: We are from Missouri—SHOW US!

They were SHOWN—the sight of real MONEY was CONVINCING, and it was really and truly the MONEY of OUR INTERNATIONAL UNION. That was the ALL-IMPORTANT, LIVING TRUTH. What had happened? This was a New Sensation—to be OUT OF DEBT; TO HAVE REAL, SURE ENOUGH MONEY IN THE TREASURY. Well, Well, WELL.

The little seed of confidence was sown, it was watered and nursed right then and there, and it has grown and grown, until today it is the mightiest oak in the forest of Our International Union.

CONFIDENCE, that was what was lacking; confidence in the men who had been at the wheel.

At the conclave held a year later the unheard of catering industry record which was offered showed unprecedented advancement; in comparison with former years it was astounding. From a membership of approximately Four Thousand to an ACTUAL GOOD STANDING MEMBERSHIP of NINE THOUSAND FIVE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-TWO—from a tiny sum of $282.94 to an actual International Union Fund of Three Thousand Six Hundred and Seventy-Five Dollars and Twelve Cents.

And the delegates were in MISSOURI at the time the report was made, for it was made to the Ninth General Convention held at St. Louis, Missouri, May 14, 1901. They had placed their faith in good hands, they had CONFIDENCE in their chosen executives and they made good. CONFIDENCE has made Our International Union stand out as one of the big worth-while institutions of our time. When we lose CONFIDENCE just that moment will we retrace our steps and go back to the days of Suspicion and DISTRUST. Those who seek to destroy, first attempt to cast Suspicion and DISTRUST. Where those Twins live CONFIDENCE DEPARTS.

VOLUME XXIV.

CINCINNATI, JUNE 15, 1915.

No. 6.

AFFILIATED WITH THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR

Published Monthly by the
GENERAL EXECUTIVE BOARD
At Commercial Tribune Bldg., Cincinnati,
Ohio, U. S. A.

Entered at the Postoffice at Cincinnati, Ohio, as second-class matter.

Printed by
ROESSLER BROTHERS,
Printers & Publishers

Commercial Tribune Building,
CINCINNATI, OHIO

SUBSCRIPTION

Per annum $1.50

Matter intended for publication must be at this office by the 25th of the month preceding publication.

Correspondents will please write on one side of the paper only, and address all communications to the Secretary-Treasurer.

EXTRACT FROM CONSTITUTION

Section 140. The journal shall be issued monthly under the direct supervision of the General Executive Board, who shall act in the capacity of "associate editors." And the Secretary-Treasurer shall have the power to censor all matter for publication.

Section 152. The General Executive Board shall hold the right to refuse the publishing of any article of a personal or other nature inimical to the interests of the International Union.

JERE L. SULLIVAN, Editor
Commercial Tribune Building, Cincinnati, O.

GENERAL EXECUTIVE BOARD

EDWARD FLORE.....	President
375 Oak street, Buffalo, N. Y.
ROBERT HESKETH.....	First Vice-President
P. O. Box 594, Seattle, Wash.
FRANK HOFFMAN.....	Second Vice-President
239 Second avenue, South, Minneapolis, Minn.
W. H. FOSTER.....	Third Vice-President
339 South Franklin street, Decatur, Ill.
C. W. McCURDY.....	Fourth Vice-President
305 Youngerman Building, Des Moines, Ia.
F. SESMA.....	Fifth Vice-President
P. O. Box 522, San Francisco, Cal.
ELIZABETH MALONEY (MISS)	Sixth Vice-President
Room 413, South Dearborn street, Chicago, Ill.
PAUL STEFFLER	Seventh Vice-President
626 Victoria street, San Antonio, Tex.
JOHN W. CONLEY.....	Eighth Vice-President
183 Court street, Boston, Mass.
JERE L. SULLIVAN.....	General Secretary-Treasurer
Commercial Tribune Bldg., Cincinnati, Ohio, U. S. A.

Every member of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League being interested in its welfare, inasmuch as the proceeds are part of the International funds, it therefore follows that, being the "servers" of condiments, liquors, etc., their good will would be of marked advantage to purveyors of articles of consumption, either in Hotels, Clubs, Cafes, Buffets, or Bars. The membership of the International Union consist of the very highest class of bartenders, cooks, waiters and hotel employees generally.

If the reader has ever enjoyed the pleasure and companionship of children he will appreciate the truthfulness of the statement that a youngster from five to fifteen years of age can deliver more puzzling interrogations in a few moments' time than can be intelligently solved and answered by a savant in hours of effort.

The seeking for knowledge is ever present with them, nothing so small which their little minds cannot understand but what they take to their elders seeking the why and whereof, and it is indeed an exceptional individual who is able to satisfy with replies based on knowledge. Children seem to be able to discover innumerable things which their elders either have overlooked, or, having found have forgotten; some of the queries offered remain unanswered for the excellent reason that careful research by investigator and savant for years and years have brought them no closer to a solution than when they began their search. Children take with them as they grow up these profound problems and whether they realize it or not, seldom permit an opportunity to pass without trying to solve the unanswerable puzzle. Perhaps, you who peruse these lines recall one or several problems which stumped you in your childhood days, and can bear testimony to the fact that a search for knowledge seldom leave a normal individual; they want to know and will go to considerable trouble to obtain facts which may aid them in reaching correct conclusions. Of course, all mortals are not so constituted—that may be fortunate or otherwise—there are people on earth who form the habit early in life of asking questions for the sake of asking, still others who make interrogations a part of their plan to annoy and harass those with whom they disagree, toward whom they feel aggrieved, and whom they expect to aggravate by the asking of more or less pertinent questions.

There are several brands of interrogators, but to the average man the most injurious is the one who pretends to espouse the welfare of those whom he may be affiliated with, who on the surface seeks information but who knows full well that honest replies to his interrogations will reflect on the persons whom he allegedly represents. Such seekers, despite their frequently announced proclamations, are enemies under the cloak of friendship; they care nothing for the welfare of those for whom they are permitted to speak, they have no real concept of the harm which they attempt to inflict—in truth, they are a grave menace, an infliction which it is difficult to overcome and an affliction which brings disaster in its train.

We have a number of the latter kind of question askers holding membership in our International Union; unfortunately for all concerned they managed somehow to secure the consideration of their fellow members and have been promoted to positions of trust and responsibility and they are using their positions to create as serious a situation as their ignorant viciousness permits. It would require the services of an expert psychologist many, many hours to grasp the trend and understand the workings of these brainless wonders. Possibly the only thing which will ever make them thoroughly harmless in the future is to answer their questions, first insisting that full responsibility for their actions be borne by them, and that those who may be injured as a consequence shall mete out the only character of reward such fellows deserve. All of which prompts using that old saying, "The good Lord protect us from those who call themselves our friends."

BETWEEN OURSELVES.

Reiteration of a pertinent fact may lose freshness in the ratio of its repetition, yet, despite that conclusion the writer is convinced that what follows is quite as important a subject for genuine consideration as any which may come before the Eighteenth General Convention. To at least two of our general conventions the subject was touched upon, and owing probably to the immense quantity of other matters, not a whit more important, the warning given was unheeded, though many delegates, subsequent to the referred to gatherings, expressed themselves as favoring a measure which would make it possible to reach creators of trouble, especially those with an unquestioned intent to destroy the effectiveness of the organization and keep its working force eternally watching for the "next move" of those whose mission is to disrupt and destroy. Every member of our International Union has a perfect right to give expression to their convictions, they are supporting our organization and thereby lubricating the machinery of government. If they feel that an official has departed from the lines which were created for his guidance and has shown either lack of interest or has proven himself incompetent to carry out the wishes of the majority, it lies with them to insist on changes which will remove the obstacles, in this instance the indifferent or incompetent officials. That right, no one who has any regard for fairness and justice, will attempt to deny to the men and women of our International Union; and any member or members, be they in office or in the ranks, who would advocate putting a muffler on members who desired to give expression to convictions relative to the ability, integrity and fairness of their general executives would forthwith be looked upon as persons minus appreciation and thorough understanding of the meaning of collective membership combining for a general purpose, such as trade unions really are.

There are, however, several kinds and character of criticism, and a sane limit to each, beyond which men with reason do not trespass unknowingly or without full understanding of the consequences.

Sincere criticism of officers and official acts is never truly wasted on men fit to hold such positions; they may feel the keen edge momentarily and cringe from its effect, but if they are as big as we believed them to be when we voted them into office, they will accept and profit thereby. We have not arrived at that period of our existence where we are fortunate in having in our ranks, masters of knowledge and generalship; we are a working aggregation who have had to enter into the field of toil early; few of our immense number have enjoyed the exceptional privileges of continuing their school days until their graduation. Most of us were considered fortunate if we succeeded in being allowed to remain at school until the primary grades were reached and passed. What we lack in that respect we have endeavored to make up by careful study of work-a-day affairs and become skilled craftsmen in our chosen vocations. If we make any errors, and we do occasionally, it is not because we deliberately rush into serious situations without thought or consideration, but almost wholly due to a heart's desire to solve problems quickly and without unnecessary delay.

The men and women of our International Union knew quite as well as its officers, at the time of admission, that our organization was neither greatly different nor any better equipped to secure immediate results than similar trade union organizations covering other trades and callings. If perchance they were advised by enthusiastic members that our organization was greater and better than any organization then in existence, their anxiety to put forth fine pictures of their organization and its intentions may be set down to overzealousness and not pre-meditated misrepresentation. No organization which has ever existed but what has been afflicted with its quota of members who thoughtlessly exaggerate its strength and resources; they do not offer their views with any other thought in mind than to make the non-member look with favor on their union and perchance to induce non-members to become affiliated.

As an organization we have had to contend with forces almost double that which the ordinary trade union is confronted with; we have, in our own way and time, tried to overcome the antagonisms of our employers and made measurable headway; we have not ceased our efforts to obtain further advance, but we have adopted different and more comprehensive tactics than marked our efforts of ten to fifteen years ago. With the remaining force we are still in the experimental stage. Thus far they have, by reason of better organization and resources, been able to defeat us and eliminate many of our work shops. Yet, with all that, we are gradually waking up and unless signs fail, the workers at the catering industry will not be immune to our approaches and invitations, providing meanwhile we make an effort to sweep from our path natural and created obstacles—the created obstruction being greatest by reason of the fact that it hides itself under the guise of fellowship and affiliation, and moves ceaselessly with a single purpose in view—to destroy.

It does seem that the time has arrived for the men and women in convention assembled, who are in conclave as the ambassadors of their respective unions, to take sufficient time and seriously consider the underlying purpose of these periodic campaigns which are conducted for the alleged purpose of creating separate craft International Unions. It seems to the observer that there must be behind such periodic campaigns a guiding agency, and that agency has an objective which it is endeavoring to reach irrespective of whatever consequence may ensue. In the previous campaigns for dismemberment these so-called divisionists were careful to confine themselves to a limited field of action; they succeeded somehow in combining their forces with others who, in reality, were not genuine advocates of division, but who were willing to welcome, for the time at least, any added strength which they were unable to command otherwise, and which seemed to give them a better chance of defeating their adversaries.

SAMUEL GOMPERS
President American Federation of Labor

The student of our affairs will admit that each recurring division campaign has increased in bitterness the attacks made on the foundation of our International Union. Engendering craft caste is the principal plank in their present platform; they have exercised unusual activity to spread seeds of discontent, to make one portion of our allied crafts look with doubt and suspicion on the other.

Not content with sowing that character of seed, they have added malicious character assaulting, picking especially those men and women of our International Union who declined to swallow their propaganda of "new unionism." In the vehicle which they have employed for the last seventeen months to propagate their peculiar seed and sow their discordant and vicious expressions, they have given an illustration of unincumbered and unhampered license without the redeeming feature of individual identity and responsibility for insidious personal attacks and unheard of insults.

These divisionists and their sponsors became members of our International Union with the knowledge that it was an ALLIED CRAFTS ORGANIZATION; they were neither driven into or coerced into becoming members; the aims and objects of our International Union were not changed as an inducement for them to become attached thereto, nor has any one created insurmountable obstacles in their path to prevent them leaving our organization with no more noise than they made on entering.

Yet, with all this knowledge, they have carried their campaign into the very heart of our organization and are seemingly determined to make this one last effort to rule or ruin.

We have watched their insinuating efforts for years—they have become bolder and bolder, until today they challenge you to combat, and the prize which they seek is your relinquishment of what your International Union charter grants you.

They seek and want unquestioned division, not only of your jurisdiction over the allied catering industry employes whom they designate, but they also seek a division of your funds, that they may the better enjoy the fruits of their wrecking campaign.

If you discovered in your local union one or several members banded together with an avowed purpose to destroy that union, you would quickly put in operation an effective method of getting rid of the would-be wreckers. There is neither doubt or question raised as to the identity of those who seek to destroy your present International Union. They have saved you the trouble to locate them, and your duty is quite as plain with reference to your International Union as it was when your local union was threatened. The history of several other national and international unions is well known to all of you; they were afflicted with the "wedge inserters," the under-cover I. W. W.'s and so-called "new unionists." Had they known what you do now, they would have done what you MUST do—CLEAN THEM OUT OF YOUR ORGANIZATION BEFORE THEY CLEAN YOU OUT.

JERE L. SULLIVAN.

THOUGHTS OF CITIZENSHIP.

In The Culinary Craft for February the Sacred Septette or Octette give a fine example of hyphenated wisdom which should not be permitted to pass unobserved. Editorially they command and condemn the salutation offered in the MIXER AND SERVER for January, 1915, but the greater emphasis is put on the condemnatory end, for they regard our advocacy of citizenship as an invasion which they must hobble and discredit, if such a thing is possible. They are fearful of losing their following, for they predict disaster if we "segregate out all segregationists, socialists, club members, genevas, etc., etc."

They express wonder as to the number of members remaining to continue our International Union after "making them fish or cut bait." It might not be amiss to inject the information that there are many trade unionists in America who carry the impression that the labor movement would be more wholesome if the "wedge inserters" were deprived of further connection with the labor movement; and out of the number who carry that impression our International Union contains its full quota. The non-citizen members of our International Union have a very active champion in the Sacred Septette. To such championship they are entirely welcome; but they might just as well get wise to the fact that, if they remain in America and continue working as employes of the Catering Industry, they can take this prediction home with them and mull it over—that the employers are waking up to the necessity of paying wages to citizen voters, and not so many years are going to elapse before the non-citizen catering industry worker will be an exception, and not the rule, as it is now in certain localities.

The attitude of the Sacred Septette on the Asiatic question is that the Chink and Jap, being minus a vote, should be prevented from working at the industry which depends on voters and legislation approved by them. Yet they are willing, and in fact protest against, our advocacy of practically the same thing in connection with white men who are non-voters, but who are employed at the catering industry.

While speaking of citizenship, we are reminded of an address made to newly naturalized citizens in Philadelphia by President Wilson. The address contained some splendid thoughts, some of which we herewith reproduce:

"You were drawn across the ocean by some beckoning finger of hope, by some belief, by some vision of a new kind of justice, by some expectation of a better kind of life."

"No doubt you have been disappointed in some of us; some of us are very disappointing."

"No doubt what you found here didn't seem touched for you, after all, with the complete beauty of the ideal which you had conceived beforehand."

"But remember this, if we have grown at all poor in the ideal, you brought some of it with you. A man does not go out to seek the thing that is not in him. A man does not hope for the thing that he does not believe in, and if some of us have forgotten what America believed in, you, at any rate, imported in your own hearts a renewal of the belief. That is the reason that I, for one, make you welcome."

"If I have in any degree forgotten what America was intended for, I will thank God if you will remind me."

"I was born in America. You dreamed dreams of what America was to be, and I hope you brought the dreams with you. No man that does not see visions will ever realize any high hope or undertake any high enterprise."

"Just because you brought dreams with you America is more likely to realize the dreams such as you brought. You are enriching us if you came here expecting us to be better than we are."

In the language of President Wilson, we say to the non-citizen voters of our International Union: "You were drawn across the ocean by some beckoning finger of hope, by some belief, by some vision of a new kind of justice, by some expectation of a better kind of life;" and you are faithless to yourself, your co-workers and your hopes if you decline to put forth the necessary effort which make dreams come true.

JERE L. SULLIVAN.

MY AUTO, 'TIS OF THEE.

My auto, tis of thee, short cut to poverty—of thee I chant. I blew a pile of dough on you two years ago, and now you quite refuse to go, or won't or can't. Through town and countryside, you were my joy and pride; a happy day. I loved thy gaudy hue, thy nice white tires so new, but now you're down and out for true, in every way. To thee, old rattle box, came many bumps and knocks; for thee I grieve. Badly thy top is torn, fraying are thy seats and worn; the whooping cough effects thy horn, I do believe. Thy perfume swells the breeze, while good folks choke and wheeze, as we pass by. I paid for thee a price 'twould buy a mansion twice, now everybody's yelling "ice"—I wonder why? Thy motor has the gripe, thy spark plug has the pip and woe is thine. I too have suffered chills, ague and kindred ills, endeavoring to pay my bills since thou wert mine. Gone is my bank roll now. No more 'twould choke the cow, as once before. Yet if I had the mon, to help me John—amen, I'd buy myself a car again, and spend some more.—WALT MASON, in
The Toledo Union Leader, by Google

Section 141. All official announcements printed on the Official Pages of the Mixer and Server shall be read at the first meeting after the journal has been received by the Secretary and a copy posted at the local union headquarters for the benefit of all those who may have been absent from meetings.

HOW THEY STAND.

New York	53
Pennsylvania	49
Illinois	43
Massachusetts	40
Washington	33
California	33
Ohio	31
Canada	29
Montana	23
Texas	22
Connecticut	22
New Jersey	21
Missouri	19
Indiana	19
Wisconsin	17
Minnesota	15
Iowa	12
Colorado	11
Kentucky	9
Wyoming	9
New Hampshire	7
Arkansas	6
Michigan	6
Rhode Island	6
Oregon	5
Arizona	4
Georgia	4
Idaho	4
Virginia	4
Florida	4
Alaska	4
Tennessee	4
Utah	3
Alabama	3
Nebraska	3
Louisiana	3
West Virginia	2
Vermont	2
Maryland	2
Delaware	1
District of Columbia	1
New Mexico	1

CHARTERS.

The following charters were issued during the month of May, 1915:

Local	Location	Organizer
WS 493—New York City, N. Y.Mrs. B. Donner
B 537—Long Branch, N. J.W. B. Joyce
M 606—Winona, Minn.F. Hoffman	—E. G. Hall
B 745—Prince Rupert, B.C., Can.	W. E. Denning
M 825—Prince Rupert, B.C., Can.	W. E. Denning

DEATHS FOR THE MONTH OF MAY, 1915.

12 :—Jas. Goepfert.
19 :—Roy Bledsoe.
20 :—Wm. Wells, Edw. Mott.
35 :—George Doan, E. J. Dawson.
41 :—J. R. Hudson.
51 :—Arnold Schmidt, Wm. Carter, John Knoepfle.
67 :—Caliste Brothers.
70 :—P. Reiser.
77 :—Dennis J. Berrigan, John C. Johnson.
80 :—Michael McDonough, Serapio Viscaey, A. Harry Emerson.
84 :—Dominick Dioncourt.
90 :—Theodore Pellitier.
109 :—Francis Stickle.
110 :—Carlo Gionora.
116 :—Thos. A. Hickey.
155 :—Philip N. Mayer.
157 :—Leopold Normand.
169 :—Henry Corwine.
171 :—Clayton D. Knapp.
188 :—T. N. Bishop, H. Clyde Bassatt.
196 :—George Schneider.
200 :—Wm. Horgan.
203 :—Max W. Kutchin.
206 :—Geo. C. Wray.
216 :—John H. Moss.
228 :—Conrad Carl.
256 :—Frederick Prentice.
284 :—W. G. Payne, J. B. Armstrong, Harry G. Storer.
285 :—Frank Gaffney, David Kelly.
321 :—Oscar Stensen.
322 :—John Roeschen.
361 :—Walter L. Bortz.
379 :—Fred Erzinger.
387 :—Chester Builtman.
411 :—Fred Cayo.
420 :—Dave Porteous, Harry Esterman, Toney Cuff.
437 :—Bert R. McKee, Frank Jones, Christian Raquet.
447 :—Daniel Bergin.
495 :—Peter Clarkin.
499 :—James Deywer.
523 :—John A. Reinardy.
535 :—Thomas Keraghan.
543 :—Frank Wilson, Thomas Hill.
547 :—Robert L. Dale.
548 :—Chas. L. McArthur, Everett Conway.
573 :—John R. Roberts.
575 :—Wm. Knarbe.

613 :—Ernst Rosetta.
 651 :—Michael Dillon.
 663 :—Alfred Cornelius.
 744 :—S. G. Collins.
 746 :—Jas. J. Sheehan.
 827 :—J. T. Johnson.
 842 :—James Woodard.
 859 :—Chas. C. Lockwood.

LOST MEMBERSHIP BOOKS FOR THE MONTH OF MAY, 1915.

20—Wm. Brinkmeyer, V. M. Hewitt.
 35—Dan Brown.
 39—James Nichols.
 51—Chas. Niemeyer, Fred Christman.
 62—Chas. Gray, Ed. Enos, Jack Isheim, Clarence Lewis.
 84—John T. Marley.
 95—Chas. St. John.
 100—John W. Whalon.
 115—Jos. J. Bowes, Harry Kurz, Danied Flood.
 133—James Higgens.
 173—Thos. F. Connelly.
 204—Bert Calkins.
 207—Chas. Buckley.
 248—J. E. Dobbs.
 252—Floyd Kinney.
 260—Jos. W. Gallinis.
 284—W. G. Payne.
 286—John S. Turck.
 300—Fred Ward, Peter A. Peters.
 378—C. Kurtz.
 400—Charles E. Finch.
 402—H. C. Armstrong.
 437—Ora Dooley, Butler Simmons.
 593—Maud Lohr.
 603—W. H. Rice.
 648—James Byrnes, Harry Halliwell, Daniel Dowd.
 729—Rob. Carrick.
 827—H. W. Shively, Chas. E. Brandli.

SAN DIEGO, CAL.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Local 402, Cooks, Waiters and Waitresses' Union, in regular meeting assembled, instructed their officers to request the MIXER AND SERVER to publish the fact that one J. M. Carter was expelled from this local, and in consideration thereof Local 402, Cooks, Waiters and Waitresses' Union, assumes all responsibility for such article appearing in the columns of the MIXER AND SERVER.

Yours fraternally,

CLAUDE McCLELLAN,
 Secretary Local 402, P. O. Box 255.
 AL WILT,
 President.

INFORMATION WANTED.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Would you please have this article printed in the MIXER AND SERVER: Information of Wm. J. Reiley, age 33 years, complexion dark, 5 feet 7 inches, weight 160 lbs. Last heard from in Pittsburgh, Pa., and was a member of Local 188. His sister is anxious to hear from him. Address Mrs. Medford Phillips, 1016 Adam street, Wilmington, Delaware.

JAMES A. SLEVIN,
 Secretary Local 466.

COLORADO STATE FEDERATION OF LABOR.

AFFILIATED WITH AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR.

DENVER, COLO., May 21, 1915.

To the Labor Unions of America and to all Fair-Minded People:

The recent so-called trial and conviction of John R. Lawson, International Board member for District 15, United Mine Workers of America, has made a positive condition out of what some credulous souls, even in the face of undisputed facts, had been pleased to regard as only a theory.

Figuratively, Southern Colorado has been called the Siberia of America. The charge now becomes literal. It has been proved by this one trial, with others that preceded it and from the general state of affairs, that Las Animas and Huerfano counties really are the Siberia of America, and that Trinidad and Walsenburg constitute its just capital.

We, the members of the Executive Board of the Colorado State Federation of Labor, believe that it is time for every sister union in America to meet and voice its protest against the wanton atrocities, masquerading as legalities, which are being perpetrated in Colorado. When harshest persecution goes disguised as prosecution, we believe it is time to call on all labor and the great general public—the common people who love right and justice—to hear our cause. And when we have spoken we want action—in union and mass meeting—to prove to the country that Southern Colorado method of court procedure is intolerable to the American sense of square dealing and decency. Here is our complaint:

John R. Lawson, whose record for peace and honesty throughout the recent Colorado strike still stands unimpeached, was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment without what is commonly known as due process of law.

Louis Zancannelli, whose trial on a charge of having killed a Baldwin-Felts gunman-detective preceded that of Lawson, was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment without due process of law.

Zancannelli's first jury was drawn from the box in fair manner. It could not agree, standing eight to four for acquittal. He was immediately rushed to second trial, a thing unusual in Colorado jurisprudence, and this time the jury was an open venire. Under this vicious system the court attaches simply go out and bring in anyone they may choose for jury duty.

Under such pernicious method Zancannelli was convicted.

Then came Lawson and, flushed with their success, the prosecution-persecutors tried the open venire again, and Lawson was convicted.

The trial judge refused to allow Lawson's attorneys to ask jurymen the question: "Can you give this defendant the benefit of the usual presumption of innocence?"

One juror was even sworn in after it had been proved that he had a wager on the result.

The law and the evidence were in Lawson's favor. Nine out of ten people predicted his acquittal inside of half an hour after the jury went out.

The jury was out forty-four hours and what malign influence was brought to bear only those jurymen know.

John Lawson was not tried for murder. In reality he was tried for having incurred the en-

FRANK MORRISON
Secretary American Federation of Labor

mity of the Colorado operators. They had threatened often to get him.

The judge who tried him was the result of a bill passed by the recent legislature creating another judgeship in Las Animas and Huerfano counties.

The bill was pushed by the operators for the sole purpose of persecuting the friends of labor and the leaders in the recent strike. The lobbying for the measure in the legislature was notorious, and influence was freely brought to bear.

That judge was an attorney for the coal companies before he received his appointment as judge under the new bill. He had even appeared as special counsel for the coal operators to prosecute striking miners.

He had publicly advocated the denial of the sacred writ of habeas corpus. And yet he refused to call in another judge to try these strike cases, in the very face of affidavits charging that he was prejudiced in favor of the operators because of his previous employment.

These two verdicts should not stand. It is not expected, even by the operators, that they will stand. But they expect to use them while they are in force as a guide for their subsequent juries in other strike cases.

The Colorado Supreme Court is a year behind in its work. Therefore, these verdicts cannot be reversed until that time, and they will have a salutary effect on other trials if something is not done at once. That malicious effect is just what the operators played for with their packed juries and prejudiced courts.

Southern Colorado jails are filled to suffocation with coal miners, held on serious but trumped-up charges. Among these are such well known labor leaders as David Robb and Ben Richardson. Yet no great effort is made to try the cases. The men are really being punished before they have even been granted a hearing. And there are hundreds of other men under indictment. The total indicted is over 500, and bail in most cases is prohibitive.

Not a single private detective, coal-camp guard or company gunman has been tried, although there were more than half a hundred men, women and children on the strikers' side who were shot or clubbed to death, burned or smothered in their tents during the strike.

Zancannelli was charged with a killing alleged to have been committed in November, 1913.

Lawson's charge grew out of an attack by gunmen-guards on the Ludlow tent colony in October, 1913.

Yet Walter Belk, head of the Baldwin-Felts gunmen-detectives in Colorado, has been under indictment for killing Gerald Lippiatt, union organizer, in September, 1913, before the strike was even called, and long before the incidents surrounding the Lawson and Zancannelli charges. Yet he has never been tried. His case has always been continued. And he is the only one of the operators' side ever indicted, and he never spent a minute in jail.

Can American workingmen and women—or any other part of the thinking and fair dealing public—sanction these things or permit them to pass in silence? We do not think so, and we call on you—all of you—to raise a nation-wide clamor that will be heard even by the operators of Colorado and their paid henchmen, ordinarily deaf to the voice of the people, and thus bring complete vindication to Lawson and to those who are being persecuted with him. For nothing but complete vindication will do.

Sympathy is not wanted. Something much more effective must be the answer of the American people to such open disregard of human rights. Plain justice is sought, and that justice you can get for the Colorado miners if you demand it in a voice loud enough.

Fraternally yours,

COLORADO STATE FEDERATION OF LABOR.

JOHN MCLENNEN, President.

W. T. HICKEY, Secretary.

AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR

Cancels and Withdraws the Endorsement of the Label of the Journeymen Tailors' Union of America.

To the Officers and Members of the National and International Unions, State and City Central Bodies.

Dear Sirs and Brothers—At the meeting of the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor, held at headquarters April 19-24, the representatives of the United Garment Workers of America entered a complaint against the Journeymen Tailors' Union of America for using the union label of the tailors upon ready-made clothing and clothing made by the seceding faction of the United Garment Workers of America. Secretary Tracy of the Union Label Trades' Department of the American Federation of Labor also entered a complaint against the Journeymen Tailors' Union for violation of trade union principles in permitting such an unwarranted use of the union label of that organization.

It was called to the attention of the Executive Council that the official journal of the Journeymen Tailors officially confirms such improper and illegitimate use of their label by the seceding faction of the Garment Workers, which is contrary to the laws of the Journeymen Tailors' Union, which forbids the use of that label by any person not a member of that organization.

This being the case where the Tailors' Label has been granted by the Journeymen Tailors' Union and used by the seceders from the United Garment Workers of America in flagrant violation of the declaration and the mandates of the Philadelphia Convention of the American Federation of Labor, the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor hereby cancels and withdraws the indorsement of the label of the Journeymen Tailors' Union of America.

President Gompers was directed to notify the General Secretary of the Journeymen Tailors' Union of America and all Central Bodies, National and International unions that the indorsement heretofore given to the label of the Journeymen Tailors' Union of America is canceled and withdrawn and shall so stand until the Journeymen Tailors' Union complies fully with the decisions of the Philadelphia Convention, to wit, resume by referendum vote their former title, "The Journeymen Tailors' Union of America," and cease to trespass on the jurisdiction of any other union in the clothing industry. Upon proper compliance by the Journeymen Tailors' Union the President of the American Federation of Labor is directed to restore the indorsement of the American Federation of Labor to the label of the Journeymen Tailors' Union of America.

Secretary Morrison was directed to continue to hold in his possession any money forwarded by the Journeymen Tailors' Union and not to credit the same upon the books of the American Federation of Labor until the Tailors comply with the direction of the Philadelphia Convention to resume by referendum vote their former and proper title, the Journeymen Tailors' Union of America, and cease to trespass on the jurisdiction of any other union, and stop all moral and financial support of, or affiliation with the seceding faction of the United Garment Workers of America, and that upon proper compliance by the Journeymen Tailors' Union all monies be placed to the credit of the Journeymen Tailors' Union without prejudice of any kind whatever.

President Gompers was directed to publish in the Weekly News Letter a copy of the several actions taken by the Executive Council of the conditions existing in the Tailors' Union, also in circular to be sent to each National and International Union, State and City Central Body connected with the American Federation of Labor, and also to each local union of the Journeymen Tailors' Union and the United Garment Workers of America.

President Gompers was directed to confer and to meet with the United Hebrew Trades of New York for the purpose of having that body cease its harboring and supporting seceding garment workers located in New York City, and upon failure of that body to comply with the laws of the American Federation of Labor, the decisions and declarations of the Philadelphia Convention of the American Federation of Labor, all International Unions having locals in New York represented in the United Hebrew Trades be required to direct such local unions to withdraw from the United Hebrew Trades.

The above is communicated to you as the official and authoritative action of the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor in regard to the course to be pursued by organized labor in the unfortunate condition in which the tailoring and garment working trades have been plunged by a willful perversion of trade union principles to the great detriment of the workers in the trade.

The Executive Council aims to be of practical and efficient service to all the toilers of America,

JOHN C. DERNELL
Ex-Financier of Cigar Makers' International Union. Chairman Board of Arbitration and, in this instance, to the workers in the tailoring and garment working industry, and holds itself in readiness to do any and every honorable thing to help the organization disentangle itself from the present intolerable situation.

The officers of the central labor unions will please bring this matter to the attention of their respective unions at the next regular meeting.

Trusting that I may hear from you in regard to the above matter at your convenience, I am,

Fraternally yours,

SAMUEL GOMPERS,

President American Federation of Labor.

Attest:

FRANK MORRISON,

Secretary American Federation of Labor.

UNCALLED FOR ATTITUDE.

Certain publications which could be mentioned make considerable ado about the alleged failure of cafes, hotels, saloons and similar catering industry establishments because they do not expend some of their income in advertising. In fact, quite a few of such publications aver that the failure of the so-called WETS to contract for advertising space, prompts the publishers to take up with the DRY'S and advocate sumptuary legislation.

Such an attitude does not by any means indicate that such publishers have any other aim than to get the coin; their support is purchaseable, the highest bidder wins.

Church organizations which lead the DRY movement seldom contract for space in publications, excepted to that statement is a few instances where they contracted for space in order to overcome publicity of the WETS, but they are not regular purchasers of space in publications. If these publishers contend that the failure of the WETS to contract for advertising warrants them to line up with the DRY'S and advocate DRY laws, despite the fact that DRY'S are equally negligent in the matter of advertising, it rather seems to the ordinary observer that the WETS get a shade the worst of the game. If neither the church or the saloon advertises, why pick out the latter as being guilty of neglect and the former as entitled to favors?

PRESIDENTS PAGE

LOS ANGELES, CAL., May 25, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month of May:

On May 2d I visited the city of Syracuse in the interest of Local 76. I was met on my arrival by Brothers Gardner, Yates and Costello of Local 76 and Brothers Libby and Roberts of Local 120, Utica. In the afternoon I attended a meeting of Local 76.

On the 11th I left my office on my journey to the convention city. I stopped off at Cincinnati and went over the arrangements being made for the Eighteenth General Convention with the general secretary.

On the 12th I left for the city of New Orleans and remained there for two days looking over the conditions surrounding our trades in that city, and found them in a deplorable condition. We have made considerable efforts to organize the men and women engaged in the catering industry of that city, but without success. However, I feel satisfied that the time is near at hand when the men engaged in the catering business of that city and the brewers who control the greater portion of the business, will have to start cleaning up and place the business on a reputable basis, otherwise they will find that the people of that city will do the cleaning up for them.

On the 16th I arrived in the city of Houston. Shortly after my arrival I had the pleasure of meeting President Zwerneeman, Secretary Davis and Brothers McClelland and Kinney. After going over the conditions surrounding Local 750, I had the pleasure of enjoying a trip around the city.

On the evening of the 16th I arrived in the city of Galveston, and was greeted at the station by President and Mrs. Sweeney, Brothers Doherty, Fletcher, Rankin and Maxwell of Local 749, Brothers Lusk and Ohnstein of Local 69, and President Davis of Local 752, Texas City. A few moments later I found myself speeding through the "White Way" of that beautiful city, to be landed at a hotel on the Sea Wall, which is one of the most attractive and beautiful places of this great country and worth traveling many miles to see. The following day I visited several of the members of Locals 69 and 749, and after partaking of an excellent dinner at the Snug Harbor Cafe we started out to pay our respects to the boys of Local 752, Texas City. On our arrival there we were met by President Davis, who did the honors in behalf of Local 752.

On the 18th I arrived in San Antonio and was greeted at the station by Vice-President Steffler and Brothers Dau, Hallaumda and Lamm of Local 12 and Secretary Gardo of Local 348. Hustled away in a gasoline car, I soon found myself registered at a hotel, and what happened from that time until I left that city the following day would take too much space to tell about. Every moment of my stay was enjoyed.

On the 20th I arrived at El Paso and was met at the station by Brothers Henry, Moody, McCoy, Dunson, Lewis and Hodge of Local 628, Sister Cupples and Brothers Lowe, Heffelfinger and Skinner of Local 848 and Brother Walker of the C. L. U. After a general handshake I was hustled away in a machine. A visit to the establishments that President Corvajal and Secretary Grant hold forth, and later was joined by them and visited several of the boys and girls that were on duty. In the evening I attended a meeting of Local 848 and the following day enjoyed a trip through their beautiful city, as well as crossing the river to the town of Juarez, and in the evening addressed an open meeting at the Labor Temple.

On the 22d I arrived in the city of Phoenix and I was greeted at the station by Brothers McClintock, Layne, Randell, Skelsey and Miller. Mrs. E. J. Warren, Sister Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Wilkinson, secretary Arizona State Federation of Labor. We were later joined by Brother E. J. Warren and journeyed to Riverside Park where an excellent dinner was served. A trip through their beautiful city was also enjoyed. During my visit I paid my respects to a former member of Local 175, Buffalo, the late Charles Hill, who is laying at rest in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

On the 23d I left for Los Angeles.

My expense account for the month is as follows:

May 2—Syracuse and return.....	$5 96
11—Fare to San Francisco and return	83 50
Pullman services to Los Angeles.....	23 25
Postage	6 00
Houston to Galveston and return.....	2 00
Maricopa to Phoenix and return.....	2 80
Baggage, car fare, phone and checking....	3 00
Post cards and printing.....	2 75
Telegrams and supplies.....	2 90
Traveling expenses	48 00

Total $180 16

Respectfully submitted,

EDWARD FLORE,
General President.

Decision No. 599.

April 26, 1915.

MR. THOMAS GARRITY, Secretary, Local 81, 787 Dwight Street, Holyoke, Mass.:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—I have before me the protest of Local 81 against the membership of Brother Sarafin Kodis on the grounds that section 11 was violated.

In going over the statements and affidavits in my possession, I find that the said Sarafin Kodis left the city of Holyoke January 1, 1912, went to Utica and remained there until June 2, 1913. He then went to Northampton, Mass., and worked there from July 7th to November, 1913, and then returned to Holyoke and started in the barber business. The above is sworn to by Brother Kodis.

OWEN MILLER

General Secretary American Federation of Musicians. Member Board of Arbitration.

I have in my possession statements and affidavits from the president and secretary of Local 120 certifying to the fact that Brother Kodis resided in Utica during the year of 1912.

I have a statement from the man in whose employ Brother Kodis was while in the city of Utica and he certifies to the fact that Brother Kodis worked for him for eight months during the year 1912.

I have three affidavits from Brother Job of Local 81. In the first one made March 29, 1915, he certifies that he knows of his own personal knowledge that Brother Kodis was a resident of Holyoke in and during the year 1912, and that during said year his place of residence was at No. 53 Union street in said Holyoke, Mass.

In the second one made April 13, 1915, he certified along with two other members, that the said Brother Kodis was a resident of Holyoke since 1912.

In the third one made April 23, 1915, he certified to the fact that Brother Kodis was a resident of Holyoke since 1903 up to April, 1912, at the latter date he left the city of Holyoke.

I am frank to admit that in my opinion affidavits submitted by Brother Peter Job are not based upon facts and that in my judgment he is not handling the truth with any regard for his freedom. His affidavits, each and all of them, disagree with each other, hence I am loath to believe any of them; in fact, I am considering the advisability of taking these affidavits made and sworn to by Brother Peter Job up and disposing of them in accordance with Section 168 of the I. U. constitution, but that will be for future consideration.

I have a statement from the secretary of Local 113, Northampton, Mass., certifying to the fact that Brother Kodis deposited his traveling card with him on June 27, 1913; the same was accepted by Local 113 on July 9, 1913, and that to the best of my knowledge, Brother Kodis worked in Northampton about four months following the deposit of his traveling card.

I find that Brother Kodis moved his residence from Holyoke to Utica January 1, 1912, and that he made application for membership and was accepted by Local 120 August 4, 1912; and having resided in the jurisdiction of Local 120 for more than a period of six months and that there being no evidence produced that the said Brother Kodis did with any malicious intent, attempt to defeat the laws of our International Union by securing membership in Local 120, that he was entitled to said membership without the consent of Local 81. Therefore this protest is not sustained and the membership of Brother Sarahin Kodis is held to be legal. With greetings,

Yours fraternally,
EDWARD FLORE, General President.

THE MIXER AND SERVER

Decision No. 600.

April 26, 1915.

MR. CHARLES YATES, Secretary, Local 76, 17 Clinton Block, Syracuse, N. Y.:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—I have before me the protest filed by Local 76 against the membership of Mr. Ed. Davis, who was elected to membership in Local 120 and issued a traveling card within a week.

Local 120 presents the application filed with them by Mr. Davis, which shows his residence and place of employment as being in Oneida, N. Y., and they claim to have had no knowledge that he was from Syracuse, or intended to return there after he had secured his membership. When the subject matter was called to the attention of Local 120, the membership of Ed. Davis was cancelled and he was so notified.

Local 120 erred in accepting Mr. Davis' application. He was not working or living in their jurisdiction, and if there was no local in Oneida and he desired membership in this International Union he should have sought that membership through the general office.

In order that there may be no question as to the legality of the cancellation of Mr. Ed. Davis' membership by Local 120, I do hereby declare the membership of the said Mr. Ed. Davis cancelled in this International Union and the traveling card in his possession null and void. With greetings,

Yours fraternally,
EDWARD FLORE,
General President.

Decision No. 601.

May 5, 1915.

MR. JAMES LEWIS, Secretary, Local 110, 338 Kearney Street, San Francisco, Cal.:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—I have your communication of the 30th ult., wherein you ask for a decision on the following:

"A member of this union was nominated for business agent at our last meeting, April 28th. Our election will be held June 19th and the successful candidate will take office on July 6th. Our by-laws read as follows:

"A member who has not been in good standing in the local for one year shall not be eligible to hold a paying office."

"The said brother became a member of Local 110 on June 16, 1914. Is he entitled to aspire for a paying office in Local 110?"

The member referred to having become a member of Local 110 June 16, 1914, would, in accordance with the section quoted above, be entitled to accept a paying office in the local union after the 16th day of June, 1915. As the member does not assume the paying office until July 6th—if elected—twenty-two days over the one year period provided for by the local by-laws, he is eligible to serve if elected. The fact that the nomination and election is held prior to the expiration of the one year period, does not prevent him from being nominated, nor would it invalidate his election if elected. With greetings,

Yours fraternally,
EDWARD FLORE,
General President.

Decision No. 602.

May 5, 1915.

MR. W. J. BROWNLEE, Secretary, Local 55, Box 1525, Edmonton, Alta.:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—I have before me the charges filed by Local 55 against Brother Nick Alexander, a member of Local 28. The said member is charged with having worked at a house that was unfair to Local 55, after having been instructed by the officers of Local 55 to remain away from the said establishment. Brother Alexander has not replied to the said charges. After waiting the customary length of time for a statement from the defendant and receiving none, I am forced to assume that the said defendant is guilty of the charge and do so adjudge him.

As a punishment for the said violation, I do hereby expel the said Nick Alexander from membership in this International Union and Local 28, of which he is a suspended member, is directed to make note of the said expulsion on their next monthly report to the International Union. With greetings,

Yours fraternally,
EDWARD FLORE,
General President.

Decision No. 603.

May 5, 1915.

MR. ELMER E. OWENS, Secretary, Local 55, Box 1525, Edmonton, Alta.:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—I have before me the charges filed by Local 55 against Brother Jack Williams, a member of Local 592. The said member is charged with having refused to come out of a shop that was declared unfair by Local 55, after having been duly notified by the local union and he having been given a week's time to secure other employment. Brother Williams has not replied to the said charges. After waiting the customary length of time for a statement from the defendant and receiving none, I am forced to assume that the said defendant is guilty and do so adjudge him.

As a punishment, I do hereby expel him from membership in this International Union, and Local 592, of which he is a suspended member, is directed to make note of the expulsion of the said Jack Williams on their next monthly report to the International Union. With greetings,

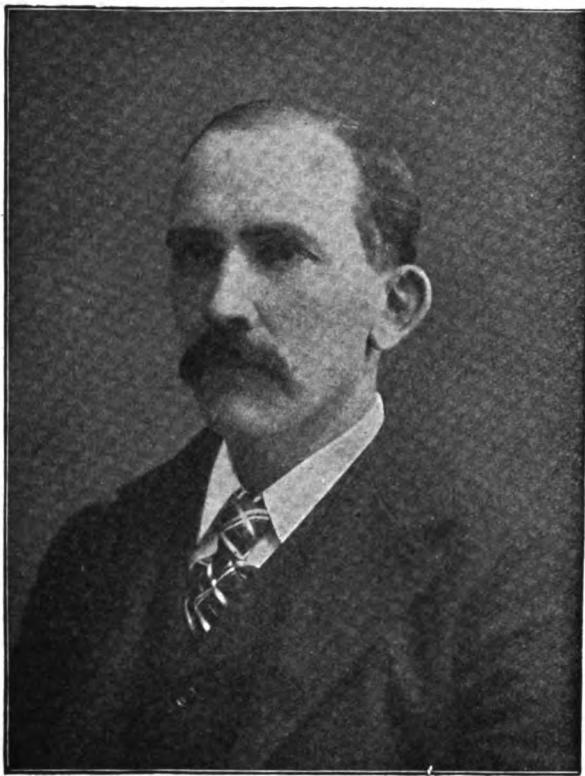

Yours fraternally,
EDWARD FLORE,
General President.

Decision No. 604.

May 10, 1915.

MR. W. A. HOSKINS, Secretary, Local 31, 434 Eleventh Street, Oakland, Cal.:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—I have before me your communication of the 28th ult., requesting an adjustment of the membership of Brother John Donald. I have taken the matter up with Local 18 and they advise me that there is no record on their books of this man's membership in their local union. Therefore, in view of the fact that Local 450 claims him as a suspended member, contending that the traveling card issued by them on August 30, 1913, became null and void after the expiration of sixty days, and as the coupon of the said card was not returned in the time prescribed by law, the said member became a suspended member of Local 450, and there appears to be no other contending parties: I do hereby direct that he make application for reinstatement to Local 450, of Spokane, and if he is working in the jurisdiction of Local 31, that he transfer his membership into the said local union. With greetings,

TOM T. LEWIS
Ex-President United Mine Workers of America.
Member Board of Arbitration

Yours fraternally,
EDWARD FLORE,
General President.

Decision No. 605.

May 10, 1915.

MR. MARTIN MILLER, Secretary L. J. E. B., 167 N. La Salle Street, Chicago, Ill.:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—I have your communication of the 30th ult., wherein you ask for a decision on the following:

"Local 484 voted to enforce Section No. 24 of the International constitution, and notified several of their members that they would have to withdraw from dual organizations that they held membership in or they would be expelled from membership in this International Union. These members refused to withdraw their membership from the dual organizations and were expelled from membership. They are now appealing to the L. J. E. B. from the action of Local 484 in enforcing Section No. 24, and the L. J. E. B. desired to know whether they have a right to handle the said appeal."

Local 484 enjoys the same privilege as any other local union to enforce the provisions of Section No. 24, and it is not within the provisions of the L. J. E. B. to decide whether they were justified in enforcing the said section or not.

The members that were expelled have a right to appeal to the L. J. E. B. from the decision of the local union in expelling them from membership, but when they admit in their appeal that they are guilty of holding membership in a dual organization, there does not appear to be much grounds for their appeal.

The fact that other local unions quoted by them are not enforcing Section No. 24, is not a logical reason why Local 484 cannot enforce the said section. With greetings,

Yours fraternally,
EDWARD FLORE,
General President.

WHAT IT IS.

GERMANY .
RUSSIA
AUSTRIA.
BELGIUM.

FRANCE.
ENGLAND.
SERVIA.
TURKEY.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY-TREASURER FOR MAY, 1915.

Local No.

W	1	New York, N. Y.	Apr., 1915
W	2	Brooklyn, N. Y.	Apr., "
B	3	New York, N. Y.	Mar., "
B	4	Hoboken, N. J.	Apr., "
M	6	Boston, Mass.	Apr., "
B	8	Denver, Colo.	Apr., "
W	10	Hoboken, N. J.	Apr., "
WC	11	New York City	Apr., "
R	12	San Antonio, Tex.	Apr., "
W	14	Denver, Colo.	Apr., "
W	17	Los Angeles, Cal.	Apr., "
C	18	Denver, Colo.	Apr., "
W	19	Kansas City, Mo.	Apr., "
W	20	St. Louis, Mo.	Apr., "
M	24	Cripple Creek, Colo.	Apr., "
C	27	Los Angeles, Cal.	Apr., "
M	28	Vancouver, B. C.	Apr., "
B	29	New York, N. Y.	Apr., "
W	30	San Francisco, Cal.	Apr., "
M	31	Oakland, Cal.	Apr., "
C	33	Seattle, Wash.	Apr., "
W	35	Chicago, Ill.	Apr., "
B	36	Sharon, Pa.	May,
B	37	Decatur, Ill.	June,
B	38	Hammond, Ind.	Apr., "
B	40	Dunkirk, N. Y.	May,
B	41	San Francisco, Cal.	Apr., "
M	43	Pueblo, Colo.	Apr., "
C	44	San Francisco, Cal.	Apr., "
WS	48	San Francisco, Cal.	Apr., "
B	49	Savannah, Ga.	Apr., "
B	51	St. Louis, Mo.	Apr., "
M	52	Colorado Springs, Colo.	Apr., "
M	55	Edmonton, Alta., Canada	Apr., "
M	59	Milwaukee, Wis.	Apr., "
B	60	DuQuoin, Ill.	Apr., "
M	61	Tacoma, Wash.	Jan., "
M	62	Fresno, Cal.	Apr., "
B	64	Milwaukee, Wis.	Apr., "
B	67	Springfield, Mass.	Apr., "
B	68	Cincinnati, O.	May,
M	69	Galveston, Tex.	Apr., "
B	70	Brooklyn, N. Y.	Apr., "
B	71	Connellsville, Pa.	Apr., "
W	72	Cincinnati, O.	Apr., "
B	73	Elkhart, Ind.	June,
B	76	Syracuse, N. Y.	Apr., "
R	77	Boston, Mass.	May,
B	78	Uniontown, Pa.	Mar., "
R	79	Louisville, Ky.	June,
W	80	Boston, Mass.	Apr., "
B	81	Holyoke, Mass.	Apr., "
R	82	Westfield, Mass.	May,
B	83	Woburn, Mass.	Mar., "
B	84	Taunton, Mass.	May,
B	85	Lowell, Mass.	Apr., "
B	86	Lynn, Mass.	June,
B	87	Athol, Mass.	May,
M	88	Louisville, Ky.	May,
B	90	Lawrence, Mass.	Apr., "
B	91	Newburyport, Mass.	May,
R	92	Marlboro, Mass.	Apr., "
B	93	Haverhill, Mass.	Apr., "
B	95	Worcester, Mass.	Apr., "
B	96	Milford, Mass.	May,
B	97	Fitchburg, Mass.	Apr., "
WS	98	Los Angeles, Cal.	Apr., "
B	99	Fall River, Mass.	Apr., "
B	100	New Bedford, Mass.	May,
M	101	Great Falls, Mont.	Apr., "
B	102	Granite City, Ill.	May,
B	104	Guelph, Ont.	May,
W	106	Cleveland, O.	Apr., "
WS	107	Cleveland, O.	Apr., "
B	108	Cleveland, O.	Apr., "
W	109	Newark, N. J.	Apr., "
M	110	San Francisco, Cal.	Apr., "
WS	112	Boston, Mass.	Apr., "
B	113	Northampton, Mass.	May,
B	114	Pittfield, Mass.	May,
B	115	Philadelphia, Pa.	Apr., "
B	116	Chicopee, Mass.	May,
B	117	Belleville, Ill.	June,
B	118	New York, N. Y.	Apr., "
M	119	Silverton, Colo.	Apr., "
B	120	Utica, N. Y.	Apr., "
B	123	Ware, Mass.	Apr., "
B	124	Trenton, N. J.	May,
B	125	North Adams, Mass.	May,
B	126	Oneonta, N. Y.	Apr., "
B	127	Massillon, O.	Apr., "
B	128	Cortland, N. Y.	Apr., "
M	129	Leadville, Colo.	Apr., "
B	131	Newark, N. J.	May,

Local No.

B	133	Geneva, N. Y.	Apr., 1915
B	134	Scranton, Pa.	Apr., "
B	136	Norwich, N. Y.	May,
B	137	London, Ont.	Apr., "
B	139	Lincoln, Ill.	Mar., "
B	141	New York, N. Y.	Apr., "
B	142	Astoria, Ore.	Apr., "
B	144	Batavia, N. Y.	Apr., "
B	147	Greenfield, Mass.	May,
B	148	Thompsonville, Conn.	Apr., "
B	149	Newport, Ky.	Apr., "
W	150	Syracuse, N. Y.	Apr., "
B	151	Gloucester, Mass.	May,
B	152	Minneapolis, Minn.	May,
B	153	Quincy, Ill.	Apr., "
M	154	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	Apr., "
M	155	Reading, Pa.	May,
B	156	Paducah, Ky.	Apr., "
B	157	Woonsocket, R. I.	May,
B	159	Meriden, Conn.	May,
M	161	Brockton, Mass.	Apr., "
B	163	McKeesport, Pa.	May,
B	166	New Britain, Conn.	Apr., "
C	167	Cleveland, O.	May,
B	169	Hamilton, O.	Apr., "
B	170	Lima, O.	Mar., "
B	171	Rochester, N. Y.	May,
B	173	Binghamton, N. Y.	Apr., "
B	175	Buffalo, N. Y.	Apr., "
M	180	San Jose, Cal.	Apr., "
B	181	Easton, Pa.	Apr., "
B	182	Brantford, Ont.	May,
B	184	Ottumwa, Ia.	Apr., "
B	187	Bradford, Pa.	May,
B	188	Pittsburg, Pa.	Apr., "
B	190	Bethlehem, Pa.	Mar., "
B	192	Atlanta, Ga.	May,
B	193	Pawtucket, R. I.	Apr., "
B	194	Warren, Pa.	May,
B	195	Gloversville, N. Y.	Apr., "
W	196	Buffalo, N. Y.	May,
B	197	Hamilton, Ont.	May,
B	199	Jamestown, N. Y.	May,
B	200	Hartford, Conn.	Apr., "
B	202	Canton, O.	May,
C	203	St. Louis, Mo.	Apr., "
B	204	Elmira, N. Y.	Apr., "
B	206	Ft. Worth, Tex.	May,
B	207	Troy, N. Y.	Mar., "
M	209	Pittsburg, Pa.	May,
B	210	Seneca Falls, N. Y.	Apr., "
B	212	Youngstown, O.	Apr., "
B	213	Pana, Ill.	June,
B	215	Wausau, Wis.	Apr., "
M	216	Toledo, O.	Apr., "
B	217	New Haven, Conn.	May,
B	218	Streator, Ill.	Apr., "
W	219	New York, N. Y.	Apr., "
M	220	Eureka, Cal.	Apr., "
B	221	Keweenaw, Ill.	May,
B	222	Dayton, O.	May,
M	223	Des Moines, Ia.	May,
B	224	Erie, Pa.	May,
B	225	Meadville, Pa.	May,
B	227	Collinsville, Ill.	Apr., "
B	228	Albany, N. Y.	May,
B	229	Derby, Conn.	Mar., "
B	230	Auburn, N. Y.	Apr., "
B	231	Newport News, Va.	May,
B	235	Oil City, Pa.	Apr., "
B	236	Olean, N. Y.	Apr., "
B	237	Sudbury, Ont.	May,
W	239	Seattle, Wash.	Apr., "
WS	240	Seattle, Wash.	Apr., "
B	241	Murphysboro, Ill.	May,
B	243	Alton, Ill.	Mar., "
B	244	New York, N. Y.	Feb., "
B	246	South Bend, Ind.	Apr., "
B	248	Birmingham, Ala.	Apr., "
WS	249	St. Louis, Mo.	Apr., "
B	251	Centralia, Ill.	May,
B	252	Mansfield, O.	May,
B	253	Alliance, O.	June,
B	254	Waterbury, Conn.	Apr., "
B	255	Danbury, Conn.	Apr., "
B	256	Bridgeport, Conn.	Apr., "
B	257	Sayre, Pa.	Apr., "
B	259	Edwardsville, Ill.	Mar., "
B	260	Braddock, Pa.	May,
WC	261	Louisville, Ky.	Apr., "
B	262	Newcastle, Pa.	June,
B	263	Camden, N. J.	Feb., "
B	264	Omaha, Neb.	Mar., "
C	266	Kansas City, Mo.	Apr., "
B	269	South Norwalk, Conn.	May,

Local No.

B	272	Clinton, Mass.	Apr., 1915
M	273	Springfield, Mass.	Apr., "
M	274	Marshalltown, Ia.	May,
W	276	Bronx, N. Y.	Apr., "
B	278	New Brighton, Pa.	Apr., "
B	279	Philadelphia, Pa.	Apr., "
B	280	Toronto, Ont.	Apr., "
B	282	Pueblo, Colo.	Apr., "
B	283	Torrington, Conn.	May,
B	284	Los Angeles, Cal.	Apr., "
B	285	Providence, R. I.	Apr., "
B	286	Peoria, Ill.	Apr., "
B	287	St. Paul, Minn.	Apr., "
B	289	Fremont, Neb.	May,
B	292	Wheeling, W. Va.	Apr., "
B	293	Peterboro, Ont., Canada	Apr., "
C	294	Newark, N. J.	Mar., "
M	295	Douglas, Ariz.	Apr., "
M	296	New Bedford, Mass.	Apr., "
B	297	Ridgway, Pa.	May,
B	298	Wallace, Idaho	Apr., "
W	300	Toronto, Canada	Apr., "
B	302	Butte, Mont.	Apr., "
M	304	Hartford, Conn.	Apr., "
B	305	Ft. Wayne, Ind.	Apr., "
M	308	London, Ont., Can.	Feb., "
B	309	Portsmouth, N. H.	May,
B	310	International Falls, Minn.	Apr., "
B	312	Chattanooga, Tenn.	May,
B	313	Little Rock, Ark.	May,
W	315	Montreal, Canada	Apr., "
B	316	Alamosa, Colo.	Apr., "
B	317	Jacksonville, Fla.	Apr., "
B	318	Putnam, Conn.	May,
B	320	Schenectady, N. Y.	Apr., "
B	321	Havre, Mont.	Apr., "
B	322	Racine, Wis.	Apr., "
B	324	Appleton, Wis.	Apr., "
B	325	Breece, Ill.	Apr., "
B	331	Beloit, Wis.	Apr., "
M	332	East St. Louis, Ill.	Apr., "
B	334	Roundup, Mont.	Apr., "
WS	335	Toledo, O.	Apr., "
M	337	Cheyenne, Wyo.	Apr., "
M	338	Knoxville, Tenn.	May,
B	339	Portland, Ore.	Apr., "
B	340	Orange, N. J.	Apr., "
B	341	Logansport, Ind.	Apr., "
W	342	New York, N. Y.	Feb., "
B	343	DeSoto, Mo.	June,
C	344	Syracuse, N. Y.	Apr., "
B	345	Watertown, N. Y.	Apr., "
M	346	San Antonio, Tex.	Apr., "
B	349	Oshkosh, Wis.	Apr., "
B	350	Vincennes, Ind.	Feh., "
B	351	Charleroi, Pa.	May,
WC	353	St. Louis, Mo.	Apr., "
B	354	Burlington, Ia.	Apr., "
B	355	Yonkers, N. Y.	May,
B	356	New London, Conn.	Apr., "
B	357	Sioux City, Ia.	May,
B	358	Wallingford, Conn.	May,
B	360	Mullan, Idaho	May,
B	361	Allentown, Pa.	May,
B	365	Moorhead, Minn.	May,
B	366	Cumberland, Md.	Apr., "
B	367	Norwich, Conn.	Apr., "
B	368	Kalamazoo, Mich.	Mar., "
B	370	Gardner, Mass.	May,
M	373	Shamokin, Pa.	Mar., "
B	376	South Chicago, Ill.	Mar., "
B	377	Plainfield, N. J.	Apr., "
B	378	Bakersfield, Cal.	May,
B	379	Kankakee, Ill.	May,
M	380	Bisbee, Ariz.	Mar., "
C	381	Brooklyn, N. Y.	May,
B	382	Boone, Ia.	Apr., "
B	383	Mt. Vernon, N. Y.	Apr., "
B	386	Hannibal, Mo.	May,
B	387	Evansville, Ind.	Apr., "
B	389	Carnegie, Pa.	Mar., "
B	390	Montgomery, Ala.	Apr., "
B	391	Roslyn, Wash.	May,
B	393	Three Forks, Mont.	Apr., "
B	395	Grand Rapids, Mich.	Apr., "
B	397	Norwalk, O.	Apr., "
B	398	Manchester, N. H.	Apr., "
B	399	Lincoln, Neb.	May,
M	400	Spokane, Wash.	Apr., "
W	402	San Diego, Cal.	Apr., "
B	403	Stockton, Cal.	Apr., "
B	404	Dover, N. J.	Apr., "
W	405	Philadelphia, Pa.	Mar., "
B	406	Eureka, Cal.	Apr., "

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY-TREASURER—Continued.

Local No.		Local No.		Local No.
C 408	St. Paul, Minn.	Feb., 1915	M 550	Bakersfield, Cal.	Apr., 1915
M 411	Muskegon, Mich.	May,	B 551	Akron, O.	Apr., "
B 413	Newark, O.	Apr., "	CC 552	Richmond, Va.	Apr., "
B 414	Lethbridge, Ont., Canada	May,	B 553	Millvale, Pa.	May,
WS 416	Springfield, Mass.	Feb., "	B 554	Newark, N. J.	Apr., "
B 417	Mt. Pleasant, Pa.	May,	B 555	North Yakima, Wash.	Apr., "
B 419	Memphis, Tenn.	Mar., "	B 556	Olympia, Wash.	May,
B 420	Kansas City, Mo.	Apr., "	B 557	Salida, Colo.	Apr., "
B 421	Newport, R. I.	May,	B 558	San Bernardino, Cal.	Apr., "
B 422	St. Joseph, Mo.	Apr., "	B 559	Ft. Smith, Ark.	Apr., "
B 423	Columbus, O.	Apr., "	M 561	Sacramento, Cal.	Mar., "
M 426	Wallace, Idaho	Mar., "	B 562	Detroit, Mich.	Apr., "
C 427	Missoula, Mont.	Apr., "	B 563	Mobile, Ala.	May,
B 428	Washington, D. C.	Apr., "	B 566	Fresno, Cal.	Apr., "
B 429	Portsmouth, O.	May,	M 567	Olympia, Wash.	Apr., "
B 430	Middleton, N. Y.	Feb., "	B 568	Gillespie, Ill.	Apr., "
B 431	East Liverpool, O.	Apr., "	B 569	Harrisburg, Pa.	Apr., "
B 432	Miles City, Mont.	Apr., "	M 572	Stockton, Cal.	Apr., "
M 434	Toronto, Ont., Can.	Apr., "	B 573	Springfield, Ill.	Apr., "
B 435	Nelson, B. C., Can.	Apr., "	R 574	Duluth, Minn.	Apr., "
B 436	Rock Springs, Wyo.	Mar., "	W 575	Jersey City, N. J.	Apr., "
B 437	Indianapolis, Ind.	Apr., "	B 577	San Jose, Cal.	Apr., "
B 438	Poughkeepsie, N. Y.	Apr., "	B 580	Palestine, Tex.	May,
C 440	Montreal, Canada	Apr., "	B 585	Charleston, W. Va.	Apr., "
W 443	Evansville, Ind.	Apr., "	B 587	Bozeman, Mont.	Apr., "
W 444	Peoria, Ill.	Feb., "	B 590	Fond du Lac, Wis.	May,
B 445	Mojave, Cal.	Apr., "	B 591	San Pedro, Cal.	May,
B 447	Pensacola, Fla.	Apr., "	M 592	Winnipeg, Man., Canada	Apr., "
B 449	Altoona, Pa.	Apr., "	W 593	Minneapolis, Minn.	Apr., "
M 451	Everett, Wash.	Apr., "	B 594	Argenta, Ark.	May,
M 452	Salem, Ore.	Mar., "	B 595	Richmond, Cal.	Apr., "
B 454	Everett, Wash.	Apr., "	B 596	Superior, Wis.	Apr., "
B 455	Stamford, Conn.	May,	B 598	East Grand Forks, Minn.	Apr., "
B 456	Chicago, Ill.	Apr., "	C 600	Duluth, Minn.	Apr., "
B 457	Butte, Mont.	Apr., "	M 601	Perth Amboy, N. J.	Mar., "
C 458	Minneapolis, Minn.	Apr., "	B 603	Sacramento, Cal.	Apr., "
M 459	Victoria, B. C.	Apr., "	M 606	Winona, Minn.	May,
R 461	Springfield, Mo.	Apr., "	B 608	Salem, O.	Apr., "
B 462	Shenandoah, Pa.	Feb., "	B 609	Great Falls, Mont.	Apr., "
B 463	Cle Elum, Wash.	Apr., "	B 610	Hazelton, Pa.	Apr., "
B 465	Macon, Ga.	Mar., "	M 612	Helena, Mont.	Apr., "
B 466	Wilmington, Del.	May,	B 613	Lexington, Mo.	Apr., "
B 468	Madison, Wis.	Mar., "	B 614	Marion, Ind.	May,
B 469	Middletown, Conn.	May,	B 616	Barberton, O.	May,
M 470	Ellensburg, Wash.	May,	M 619	Holyoke, Mass.	Apr., "
M 473	Bellingham, Wash.	Apr., "	R 620	Austin, Tex.	Mar., "
B 478	The Dalles, Ore.	Apr., "	M 624	North Yakima, Wash.	Apr., "
B 479	LaCrosse, Wis.	Apr., "	B 625	Cape Girardeau, Mo.	Mar., "
B 480	Henderson, Ky.	Apr., "	M 626	Walla Walla, Wash.	Apr., "
B 481	Sunbury, Pa.	Jan., "	B 627	Cairo, Ill.	Apr., "
B 482	Butler, Pa.	May,	R 628	El Paso, Tex.	Apr., "
W 483	Ottumwa, Ia.	Apr., "	W 631	Phoenix, Ariz.	Apr., "
WS 484	Chicago, Ill.	Apr., "	B 632	Kalispell, Mont.	May,
B 485	Spokane, Wash.	Apr., "	R 633	Nashua, N. H.	May,
B 486	Fulton, N. Y.	Apr., "	B 639	Moline, Ill.	May,
B 488	Jersey City, N. J.	Mar., "	B 640	Corpus Christi, Tex.	Jan., "
M 489	Ft. Wayne, Ind.	Apr., "	B 642	Newburg, N. Y.	Apr., "
B 491	Atlantic City, N. J.	Apr., "	WS 494	Philadelphia, Pa.	Apr., "
WS 493	New York, N. Y.	May,	B 647	Concord, N. H.	Apr., "
B 495	New Rochelle, N. Y.	May,	B 648	Paterson, N. J.	Apr., "
B 497	Brainerd, Minn.	Mar., "	B 649	Chicago, Ill.	Mar., "
B 498	Lewistown, Mont.	Apr., "	B 651	Seattle, Wash.	Apr., "
B 499	Springfield, O.	May,	B 652	Moberly, Mo.	May,
W 501	Yonkers, N. Y.	May,	B 654	Bryan, Tex.	Apr., "
WS 503	Kansas City, Mo.	Apr., "	B 656	Anderson, Ind.	May,
B 504	Terre Haute, Ind.	May,	B 657	Cheyenne, Wyo.	Apr., "
M 505	Columbus, O.	May,	M 659	Dallas, Tex.	Apr., "
B 506	Montreal, Canada	Apr., "	B 661	Roanoke, Va.	Apr., "
B 507	Chicago, Ill.	May,	W 663	Covington, K.	May,
B 513	East Chicago, Ind.	May,	B 664	Glendive, Mont.	Apr., "
B 516	Oelwein, Ia.	Apr., "	M 667	Renton, Wash.	May,
B 517	Nashville, Tenn.	May,	B 669	Helena, Ark.	June,
B 518	Ft. Dodge, Ia.	Apr., "	B 670	Beardstown, Ill.	Apr., "
B 519	Willimantic, Conn.	May,	B 671	Jackson, Mich.	May,
B 520	Peru, Ind.	May,	M 672	Paragould, Ark.	Jan., "
B 523	Kenosha, Wis.	Apr., "	M 673	San Bernardino, Cal.	Apr., "
M 624	Miles City, Mont.	May,	B 674	Winnipeg, Man., Canada	Apr., "
B 525	Oakland, Cal.	Apr., "	B 675	Oswego, N. Y.	Mar., "
B 526	Johnstown, Pa.	Apr., "	B 676	Vancouver, B. C.	Apr., "
R 527	Dubuque, Ia.	Apr., "	B 677	Berlin, N. H.	May,
B 529	Brandford, Conn.	May,	B 679	Kellogg and Wardner	Idaho,
B 531	Jefferson City, Mo.	May,	M 680	Miami, Ariz.	Apr., "
B 532	Baltimore, Md.	Apr., "	B 682	Elizabeth, N. J.	Apr., "
B 533	Helena, Mont.	Apr., "	B 683	St. Thomas, Ont., Canada	June,
B 535	Gary, Ind.	Apr., "	B 684	Monongahela, Pa.	May,
B 536	Keokuk, Ia.	Apr., "	B 685	Eau Claire, Wis.	Apr., "
B 537	Long Branch, N. J.	May,	B 686	Burlington, Vt.	May,
B 542	San Rafael, Cal.	May,	B 687	Bay City, Mich.	May,
B 543	Danville, Ill.	May,	B 689	Passaic, N. J.	Apr., "
B 544	Richmond, Ind.	Apr., "	B 690	Owensboro, Ky.	May,
B 545	Perth Amboy, N. J.	Mar., "	M 692	Virden, Ill.	Apr., "
B 546	Waterloo, Ia.	May,	C 693	Hoboken, N. J.	Apr., 1915
B 547	Dallas, Tex.	Apr., "	B 694	Watertown, N. Y.	Apr., "
B 548	Hudson, N. Y.	May,	B 696	Norfolk, Va.	Apr., "
B 549	Wichita Falls, Tex.	May,	B 697	Temple, Tex.	May,
			B 699	Marysville, Cal.	Apr., "
			W 700	Paterson, N. J.	Apr., "
			B 701	North Walpole, N. H.	"
			B 702	Kensington, Ill.	Mar., "
			B 704	Raymond, Wash.	Mar., "
			B 706	Rockville, Conn.	Apr., "
			B 707	Tacoma, Wash.	Apr., "
			B 709	Lordsburg, N. M.	May,
			B 710	Ashland, Wis.	Apr., "
			B 711	Mingo Junction, O.	Apr., "
			B 713	Mansfield, Ore.	Mar., "
			B 714	Joliet, Ill.	May,
			B 716	Rutland, Vt.	May,
			C 719	New York City.	May,
			B 721	Salt Lake City, Utah	"
			B 722	Berlin, Ont., Can.	Mar., "
			B 723	Port Arthur, Tex.	May,
			B 725	Walla Walla, Wash.	Apr., "
			B 727	Columbia, Ga.	Jan., "
			B 729	Ottawa, Ill.	May,
			M 730	Bremerton, Wash.	Apr., "
			B 731	Great Barrington, Mass.	"
			B 732	Middletown, O.	Apr., "
			B 733	Dover and Somersworth, N. H.	May,
			M 734	Superior, Wis.	Apr., "
			B 735	Manville, R. I.	Mar., "
			B 737	York, Pa.	May,
			B 738	Baton Rouge, La.	May,
			B 739	Brownsville, Pa.	May,
			B 740	South Manchester, Conn.	"
			B 741	Pasco, Tex.	Apr., "
			B 742	Southbridge, Conn.	Apr., "
			B 743	Natick, Mass.	Apr., "
			B 744	Waco, Tex.	May,
			B 745	Prince Rupert, B. C., Can.	"
			B 746	Anaconda, Mont.	Apr., "
			B 749	Galveston, Tex.	Apr., "
			B 750	Houston, Tex.	Apr., "
			B 751	Beaumont, Tex.	May,
			B 752	Texas City, Tex.	Apr., "
			B 753	Sherbrook, Que., Canada	"
			M 754	San Pedro, Cal.	Mar., "
			M 755	Porth Arthur, Tex.	Apr., "
			B 756	Thief River Falls, Minn.	"
			B 757	Porth Arthur, Ont.	May,
			M 759	Crookston, Minn.	Apr., "
			M 760	Monroe, La.	May,
			B 761	Ft. Williams, Ont.	Mar., "
			B 762	Harrison and Kearney, N. J.	Apr., "
			W 763	Rochester, N. Y.	Mar., "
			B 764	Alexandria, La.	May,
			B 765	Tampa, Fla.	Apr., "
			B 767	Westville, Ill.	June,
			B 768	San Diego, Cal.	Apr., "
			B 771	Hoquiam, Wash.	Apr., "
			B 774	Aberdeen, Wash.	Apr., "
			B 784	New Westminster, B. C.	"
			M 791	Aberdeen, Wash.	Apr., "
			B 793	Laird, Pa.	May,
			M 798	York, Pa.	Apr., "
			B 800	Lafayette, Ind.	May,
			B 801	Elma, Wash.	Mar., "
			B 804	Hoquiam, Wash.	Apr., "
			B 805	Covington, Ky.	Apr., "
			B 806	Deer Lodge, Mont.	Apr., "
			B 807	Bingham Canyon, Utah	"
			M 809	Lewisistown, Mont.	Apr., "
			B 810	Witt, Ill.	Apr., "
			B 812	Port Chester, N. Y.	Apr., "
			B 813	St. Cloud, Minn.	May,
			B 814	Victoria, B. C.	Mar., "
			M 815	Salt Lake City, Utah	"
			B 817	Missoula, Mont.	May,
			B 818	Pekin, Ill.	May,
			M 819	Port Angeles, Wash.	Apr., "
			B 820	Sheridan, Wyo.	May,
			B 821	Kittanning, Pa.	May,
			B 822	Boonville, Ind.	May,
			B 823	Ocala, Fla.	Mar., "
			M 824	Raymond, Wash.	Apr., "

THE MIXER AND SERVER

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY-TREASURER—Continued.

Local No.

M	825 Prince Rupert, B. C. Can.	Date.	Local.	Date.	Local.
B	826 Etna, Pa. May, 1915	3	843 Mch., Apr., cash, supplies 22 25	5	864 Apr., stamps 5 05
B	827 Joplin, Mo. Apr., "	3	79 June, buttons 41 05	5	84 May 10 60
B	829 South Bend, Wash. Mar., "	3	219 Apr., supplies 21 50	5	426 Mch. 8 05
B	830 Anacortes, Wash. Feb., "	3	223 Supplies 50	5	507 Bal. due bound M. & S. 1 90
B	832 Sedalia, Mo. May, "	3	236 Apr., bal. due bound M. & S. 9 80	5	677 May 5 80
B	833 Elyria, O. Apr., "	3	253 May 9 00	6	791 Apr. 8 10
B	834 Royalton, Ill. May, "	3	269 Apr. 9 65	6	117 June 50
B	835 Taylor, Tex. May, "	3	274 Apr., stamps 12 60	6	247 Rein. E. Hartman, No. 11 60
B	836 Centralia, Wash. May, "	3	285 Mch., cash 80 60	6	173 Apr., stamps 1 60
M	837 Kemmerer, Wyo. May, "	3	376 Mch., bound M. & S. 27 00	6	198 May 34 55
B	838 Casper, Wyo. May, "	3	440 Apr. 16 10	6	264 Feb., buttons, supplies 20 00
M	839 Herrin, Ill. Jan., "	3	393 Apr., stamp 3 20	6	321 Apr., bound M. & S. 38 20
B	840 Chester, Pa. May, "	3	488 Mch., stamps 52 50	6	449 Apr., buttons, bound M. & S. 9 80
M	842 Casper, Wyo. Apr., "	3	823 Mch. 2 00	6	449 Apr., buttons, bound M. & S. 16 10
WWC	843 Worcester, Mass. Apr., "	3	Rein. J. D. Reilly, No. 579	6	479 Mch., stamp 16 30
B	844 Staunton, Ill. Apr., "	3	Interest 76 00	6	536 Apr. 7 80
B	845 New Kensington, Pa. May, "	3	109 Apr. 64 15	6	684 Apr. 4 40
M	846 Sheridan, Wyo. Apr., "	3	12 Apr. 36 00	6	687 Buttons 3 60
B	847 Fostoria, O. Apr., "	3	620 Mch., stamp 6 65	6	749 Apr., stamps 19 10
M	848 El Paso, Tex. Apr., "	3	169 Apr., stamp 16 05	6	751 May 9 80
B	849 Franklin, Pa. Apr., "	3	427 Supplies 1 00	6	883 Apr. 9 10
B	850 Rock Island, Ill. Apr., "	4	24 Supplies, buttons 1 50	6	77 Apr., May 690 00
B	851 Peekskill, N. Y. Apr., "	4	49 Apr. 4 40	6	259 Mch. 10 25
B	852 Tiffin, O. Apr., "	4	73 May, stamps 8 35	6	312 May 17 20
B	854 Jeannette, Pa. Apr., "	4	153 Apr. 30 45	6	342 Feb. 8 60
B	855 Livingston, Mont. Apr., "	4	221 May 6 40	6	557 Apr., supplies 4 45
B	856 Hot Springs, Ark. May, "	4	297 Apr., May, stamp, bound M. & S. 10 70	6	683 June 4 00
B	857 Laramie, Wyo. Apr., "	4	351 May, stamp 11 30	6	218 Apr. 11 15
B	859 Billings, Mont. Apr., "	4	353 Feb., supplies 8 86	6	298 Apr. 14 05
M	861 Billings, Mont. Apr., "	4	533 Apr. 14 00	6	428 Apr., stamps, balance due bound M. & S. 68 15
B	863 West Warwick, R. I. Apr., "	4	553 May 8 20	6	478 Apr. 5 80
B	864 Lansford, Pa. Apr., "	4	561 Mch. 41 60	6	632 May 5 20
C	865 Chicago, Ill. Apr., "	4	630 Return of funds 55 50	6	72 Apr., stamp 19 10
WWC	866 Springfield, Mass. May, "	4	652 May 6 85	6	447 Apr. 5 20
B	867 Ketchikan, Alaska. Apr., "	4	655 Apr. 41 05	6	83 Mch. 1 60
B	868 Nome, Alaska. Apr., "	4	690 May 6 00	6	499 Supplies, stamps 2 50
B	869 Juncal, Alaska. Apr., "	4	729 May 6 75	6	Rein. C. F. Luick, No. 247 1 60
B	870 Augusta, Ga. Mar., "	4	739 May 7 80	7	90 Apr., supplies, buttons 42 60
M	871 Juncal, Alaska. Apr., "	4	760 Stamp 25	7	223 Apr., bound M. & S. 6 50
C	872 Milwaukee, Wis. May, "	4	793 May, supplies 5 90	7	356 May 11 80
RCEIPTS FOR MAY, 1915.

Date. Local.

1	129 Apr. $ 6 80	4	189 Mch. 7 55	7	503 Error in Nov., Dec., Jan. reports 50
1	H. L. Briggs, M. A. L. 1 00	4	195 Apr., supplies, buttons 4 90	7	505 Apr. 3 50
1	400 Bound M. & S. 2 00	4	411 Apr. 16 45	7	550 Apr., supplies 27 70
1	147 Apr., stamps 8 45	4	523 Apr. 13 55	7	575 Apr. 12 25
1	534 Mch. 10 30	4	745 Charter & outfit, stamps, supplies, buttons 15 25	7	584 Return of funds, F. Morhan, M. A. L. 1 00
1	869 Apr. 9 00	4	784 Apr. 8 05	7	664 Apr. 5 00
3	1 Stamp 50	4	287 Apr. 45 40	7	725 Apr. 14 60
3	2 Mch., Apr., buttons 137 05	4	395 Apr., supplies 45 80	7	733 Supplies 15 00
3	3 Mch. 41 40	4	428 Apr. 25 05	7	857 Apr., cash 3 10
3	10 Mch. 14 30	4	125 May, buttons 9 30	7	Shoe Dealers' Adv. Co. 71 37
3	70 Mch., Bound M. & S. 94 30	4	156 Apr., buttons 11 30	7	72 Supplies 75
3	80 Mch. 110 40	4	150 Apr., cash 18 25	7	102 Stamps 1 00
3	99 Mch. 47 95	4	251 May, return of funds 16 80	7	349 Apr., stamps 10 15
3	100 Apr., stamps 36 40	4	722 Feb., Mch. 10 20	7	587 May 2 80
3	116 Apr., May 24 40	4	854 Apr. 14 20	7	Rein. James Farrell, No. 323 5 10
3	124 Apr. 24 40	4	743 Mch., Apr. 10 00	7	663 Mch. 29 75
3	128 Mch. 5 00	4	68 Apr., supplies 98 20	7	763 Supplies 4 00
3	181 Apr., bal. due Mch. re- port 77 70	4	170 Feb., Mch., stamps 26 30	7	304 Supplies 5 60
3	137 Mch., Apr., cash 29 50	4	428 Mch., bound M. & S. 32 40	7	680 Supplies, buttons 1 50
3	210 Apr. 5 40	5	96 May, supplies, buttons 10 25	8	72 Supplies, buttons 12 05
3	230 Supplies 25	5	157 May, stamp 17 70	8	119 Apr. 12 05
3	A. Thornton, R. Kilpatrick, W. Gegner, M. A. L. 4 30	5	209 Stamps, supplies, buttons 6 00	8	142 Apr., stamp 9 25
3	279 Supplies 50	5	184 Apr. 1 40	8	318 Mch., Apr., stamps 6 70
3	280 Mch. 76 25	5	212 Apr., supplies 39 10	8	339 Supplies 2 50
3	294 Mch., supplies, bound M. & S. 9 60	5	378 May, buttons 28 90	8	398 Apr. 31 10
3	296 Apr. 10 15	5	382 Apr. 5 30	8	518 Apr. 18 05
3	313 Apr., cash 20 20	5	457 Apr. 29 05	8	577 Apr., bal. due Mar. report 26 00
3	338 Apr., buttons 5 30	5	506 Apr., stamps, buttons, cash 47 15	8	J. C. Croarkin, M. A. L. 10
3	844 Apr. 8 50	5	508 Apr., buttons 37 65	8	686 May 4 60
3	402 Mch. 31 15	5	613 Apr. 4 40	8	800 May 18 70
3	487 Apr. 122 35	5	C. Croarkin, M. A. L. 1 25	8	833 Apr., cash 5 30
3	488 Apr. 10 10	5	714 Stamps, supplies 7 00	8	859 Bal. due supplies, bound M. & S. 3 15
3	456 Mch. 31 20	5	732 Apr. 11 80	8	20 Apr., stamp 119 40
3	588 Apr., stamp 3 00	5	813 Apr., May 8 40	8	171 Apr. 77 05
3	590 Apr. 15 10	5	838 Apr. 7 45	8	204 Apr., stamp 14 45
3	598 Apr. 6 80	5	354 Apr. 11 50	8	207 Mch. 10 90
3	619 Mch., Apr., supplies, bal. due bound M. & S. 35 10	5	390 Mch., Apr. 7 60	8	339 Supplies 2 50
3	Geo. Maher, M. A. L. 3 10	5	581 May, supplies 11 95	8	580 Mch., Apr. 8 80
3	659 Supplies 1 00	5	403 Apr. 13 05	8	849 Apr., stamp 2 60
3	651 Mch., supplies 100 30	5	549 May, supplies 14 50	8	C. E. DePoister, M. A. L. 5 00
3	657 Mch., Apr. 16 05	5	Wm. Stull, M. A. L.; buttons 60	8	279 Apr. 38 75
3	760 Apr. 24 20	5	91 May, supplies 8 00	8	687 May 4 60
3	806 Mch. 10 40	5	190 Mch. 8 40	8	676 Apr., supplies, bal. due bound M. & S. 38 15
3	807 Mch. 9 60	5	821 May 8 85	10	61 Jan., supplies 40 65
3	842 Apr. 4 60	5	115 Supplies, bound M. & S. 3 00	10	62 Apr., stamps, supplies, bound M. & S. 35 05

THE MIXER AND SERVER

17

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY-TREASURER—Continued.

Date.	Local.
10 82 May, supplies	8 80
10 93 Apr., stamps, supplies	15 20
10 96 Supplies	1 00
10 104 May, buttons	8 60
10 107 Supplies, buttons	8 00
10 215 Apr.	7 40
10 220 Apr.	7 85
10 229 Feb., Mch.	10 80
10 231 Apr., buttons, bal. due	Mch. report 7 25
10 283 May	7 20
10 304 Apr., stamps	32 95
10 335 Apr.	16 40
10 345 Apr., stamps	22 80
10 403 Supplies	8 00
10 454 Apr., bound M. & S.	13 20
10 458 Mch., stamps	71 30
10 479 Apr., stamps, supplies	17 20
10 482 Apr., buttons	12 65
10 485 Mch.	33 15
10 542 May	3 00
10 566 Apr.	17 05
10 575 Buttons	2 00
10 603 Apr.	42 90
10 625 May	5 40
10 628 Stamps	20 00
10 631 Apr.	19 15
10 633 May	11 25
10 685 Apr., bal. due Jan. report	7 85
10 700 Apr.	9 15
10 711 Mch., Apr., stamps	14 00
10 734 Supplies	2 60
10 757 May, stamps	7 00
10 760 Cuts	1 00
10 765 Apr.	15 80
10 771 Apr.	7 75
10 804 Apr.	5 25
10 822 May	2 20
10 824 Mch., Apr., stamps	8 00
10 848 Apr.	13 90
10 855 Mch., Apr., stamps	11 75
10 Rein. J. K. Markee, No. 414	12 35
10 558 Stamps, supplies, buttons	1 60
10 591 May	7 40
10 592 Apr., supplies, buttons	30 80
10 826 Apr.	9 30
10 872 May, supplies	13 95
10 222 Buttons	3 00
11 14 Supplies, buttons	11 75
11 36 May	12 20
11 48 Apr., supplies	158 25
11 52 Stamps, supplies, buttons	11 45
11 225 May, button	6 60
11 252 May, cash	14 60
11 445 Apr.	2 80
11 466 May, bound M. & S.	24 00
11 498 Apr., supplies	11 75
11 594 May	6 60
11 631 Supplies	2 50
11 855 Bound M. & S., 1913, report	4 50
11 572 Apr., supplies, buttons, bound M. & S.	24 00
11 360 Apr.	1 80
11 609 Apr., buttons	20 65
11 166 Apr., bound M. & S.	24 85
11 812 Mch., Apr., bound M. & S.	12 80
11 840 Apr., buttons	6 25
11 Ben Allen, M. A. L.	1 00
11 706 Apr.	4 80
11 152 Apr.	137 10
11 680 Apr., stamps	13 40
11 Ini. Howard Brown, M. A. L.	10 00
12 17 Apr.	34 25
12 37 Apr., May, June	6 00
12 44 Apr., stamps	235 90
12 151 May, bal. due supplies, cash	7 45
12 206 May, stamps, cut	32 05
12 241 May	8 20
12 353 Mch., Apr.	16 40
12 387 Apr.	42 80
12 406 Apr., button	13 40
12 461 Apr., stamp	14 25
12 491 Supplies, buttons, bound M. & S.	7 00
12 505 Buttons	1 00
12 574 Mch., stamps	46 25
12 744 Apr.	12 15
12 817 May	9 80
12 827 Apr.	11 40
12 852 Apr.	9 00
12 Frank Zebrowitz, M. A. L.	75
Date.	Local.
12 110 Apr., stamp, supplies	198 00
12 195 Stamps, supplies	18 50
12 573 Apr., cash	44 95
12 661 Apr.	11 80
12 670 Stamps	12 50
12 227 Apr.	5 80
12 674 Apr.	29 60
12 84 Supplies	50
12 693 Bound M. & S.	2 00
12 67 Apr., stamps, supplies	44 10
13 161 Apr.	34 00
13 273 Stamps, supplies	6 60
13 429 Apr., supplies	15 80
13 697 May	5 20
13 721 Apr., buttons	54 20
13 739 Supplies	50
13 Rein. Harry C. Bowles, No. 73	12 35
13 866 May	6 20
13 452 Return of funds	87 34
13 Art Artus, M. A. L.	3 00
13 331 Apr., supplies	8 90
13 324 Mch., Apr., stamps	8 10
13 741 Apr., supplies	4 80
13 302 Apr.	33 20
13 537 Charter & outfit, stamps, supplies, buttons	28 00
13 282 Apr., stamps	16 75
13 524 May	18 80
13 493 Charter & outfit, stamps, supplies, buttons, cash	16 50
14 14 Apr.	42 50
14 106 Supplies	1 00
14 107 Apr., stamps	38 40
14 112 Apr.	16 20
14 224 May, supplies, buttons	43 75
14 287 Buttons	3 00
14 427 Apr., supplies, bound M. & S.	14 85
14 469 May, stamps, supplies	6 95
14 523 Buttons	8 00
14 562 Supplies	1 00
14 673 Apr.	5 60
14 684 May	3 40
14 687 May, stamps	16 45
14 699 Apr., stamps, supplies	13 75
14 810 Apr.	2 00
14 751 Supplies, buttons	3 25
14 414 May	4 20
14 Ben Allen, M. A. L.	1 00
14 264 Mch.	35 70
14 391 May	5 80
14 612 Apr., stamps	14 70
14 694 Apr., stamps	7 80
14 746 Apr., stamps	10 70
14 859 Apr., stamps, supplies	21 30
14 381 Apr., May	19 80
14 72 Stamps, supplies	3 00
14 567 Apr., supplies	8 75
15 24 Apr., May, stamps	7 65
15 30 Apr.	470 85
15 99 Buttons	2 00
15 154 Apr., cash	25 50
15 216 Apr.	76 70
15 220 Supplies	1 50
15 276 Apr., stamp	3 45
15 295 Stamps	2 85
15 365 May, stamp	19 45
15 370 May, supplies	5 60
15 397 Mch., Apr.	10 80
15 647 Supplies	50
15 689 Apr.	10 40
15 861 Apr., stamps, supplies	12 55
15 865 Apr.	32 95
15 240 Apr.	66 60
15 734 Apr., stamps, supplies, buttons	4 70
17 1 Supplies	2 00
17 35 Apr.	73 95
17 41 Apr.	253 50
17 81 Apr.	27 65
17 318 May, supplies	4 90
17 436 Supplies	50
17 552 Apr., supplies	4 85
17 556 May	6 60
17 595 Apr., stamps, supplies	11 80
17 610 Apr., stamps	5 00
17 616 May	5 00
17 642 Apr., stamp	6 25
17 654 Apr.	2 20
17 686 Buttons	60
17 716 May, stamps, supplies, buttons	8 40
17 723 May	31 75
17 768 Apr.	31 75
Date.	Local.
17 814 Bal. due bound M. & S.	1 75
17 55 Apr., supplies, buttons	15 50
17 Rein. Angic Galante, No. 686	6 10
17 31 Apr., supplies, bound M. & S.	117 85
17 292 Apr.	6 20
17 749 Supplies, bound M. & S.	5 00
17 806 Apr.	4 00
17 606 Charter & outfit, stamps, supplies, buttons	17 50
17 72 Supplies	50
17 459 Apr., supplies	12 70
18 52 Stamps, supplies	4 88
18 149 Stamps, supplies	17 00
18 278 Apr., supplies, buttons	21 20
18 Rein. John Morgan, No. 50	13 88
18 284 Apr., stamps	126 05
18 656 May	9 40
18 846 Stamps, supplies, buttons, cash	10 90
18 627 Apr., supplies	27 00
18 76 Supplies, buttons	6 00
18 Clem Clemens, M. A. L.	10 10
18 663 Apr., May, buttons	12 40
18 730 Apr., stamps, supplies	9 95
18 404 Apr.	5 65
18 114 May	13 00
18 548 Apr., May, stamps, supplies	7 60
19 60 Apr.	5 80
19 296 Supplies, cash	7 50
19 317 Apr., stamps, supplies	20 60
19 370 Stamp	50
19 387 Supplies, buttons	3 00
19 519 May	5 20
19 760 Apr.	5 40
19 738 May, supplies	3 10
19 760 May, buttons	10 05
19 356 Apr.	11 00
19 310 Stamps, supplies	1 00
19 71 Apr., bal. due supplies and Mch. report	8 85
19 562 Apr.	8 90
19 237 Apr., May, bal. due supplies	11 65
19 358 May	2 80
19 43 Apr.	14 95
19 33 Apr.	59 20
19 825 Re-org. of local	18 00
20 107 Buttons	2 00
20 115 Apr.	188 60
20 260 May	19 50
20 289 May, stamp, bound M. & S.	6 20
20 417 May, supplies, bound M. & S.	10 60
20 482 May, supplies	7 85
20 491 Mch., Apr.	32 60
20 573 Supplies	1 00
20 600 Apr.	11 85
20 628 Stamps	5 00
20 197 May	80 55
20 285 Acct. protested check	82 91
20 322 Apr.	14 25
20 543 May	21 40
20 845 May, stamps	6 90
20 639 May, stamps, supplies	21 20
20 759 Mch., Apr.	13 20
21 85 Apr., buttons	41 65
21 87 May	3 00
21 257 Apr.	4 80
21 421 May	14 05
21 504 May, supplies, bound M. & S., balance due Feb. report	64 40
21 596 Apr., stamps	33 75
21 709 May, supplies, buttons	10 80
21 764 May	4 65
21 E. Schmidtke, M. A. L.	1 50
21 Wm. Chappell, M. A. L.	1 10
21 473 Apr., stamps, supplies, buttons	19 45
21 818 Apr., May, cash	21 95
21 495 May	6 80
21 529 Mch., Apr., May, bound M. & S.	7 40
21 72 Stamps, supplies, buttons	3 50
21 35 Supplies	2 50
21 851 Mch., Apr.	10 00
22 1 Supplies	3 00
22 20 Supplies	2 50
22 51 Apr.	135 05

THE MIXER AND SERVER

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY-TREASURER—Continued.

Date.	Local.	Date.	Local.	Date.
22 80 Supplies	1 00	27 405 Mch., stamps, supplies, cash, bound M. & S.	20 00	5 Harry Overmeyer, defense, L. J. E. B., Toledo, O. 100 00
22 95 Apr., supplies	48 20	27 338 Supplies	6 50	7 Magazine 1 50
22 180 Apr.	21 00	27 379 May	11 25	8 Clerks 57 00
22 194 May	4 20	27 513 May	8 90	8 Frank Hoffman, defense, Winona, Minn. 34 06
22 200 Apr., cash	53 80	27 820 May, supplies	10 70	8 Dan P. Regan, defense, L. J. E. B., San Francisco, Cal. 100 00
22 332 Apr., stamps	74 65	27 H. L. Briggs, M. A. L.	1 25	10 Seals 9 85
22 414 Supplies	1 00	27 563 Supplies	1 00	10 E. Malone, L. S. O., No. 484
22 558 Buttons	1 20	27 67 Bound M. & S.	2 00	10 F. Ebeling, L. S. O., No. 865
22 651 Apr., supplies	93 30	27 118 Apr.	23 85	10 C. W. McCurdy, L. S. O., No. 223
22 856 May	3 40	27 120 Apr.	41 95	10 Thos. P. Woods, L. S. O., No. 593
22 203 Apr., supplies	17 90	27 429 May	14 80	10 Jos. R. Franklin, L. S. O., No. 266
22 767 Stamps, supplies, cash	19 00	27 159 May	17 10	10 Louise Kane, L. S. O., No. 249
22 274 Buttons	3 00	28 6 Apr.	58 15	10 Delia Hurley, L. S. O., No. 112
22 451 Apr., bound M. & S.	14 00	28 216 Bound M. & S.	2 00	10 Leonard Griffith, L. S. O., No. 72
22 426 Supplies	1 00	28 231 May, stamp, bal. due report	6 55	10 Belle Donner, L. S. O., L. J. E. B., New York
22 24 Supplies	8 00	28 266 Apr., stamps	35 25	10 Victor Marot, L. S. O., No. 872
24 59 Apr.	34 55	28 280 Apr., stamps	78 85	10 Loretta Wheeler, L. S. O., No. 180
24 102 Stamps, supplies	1 00	28 366 Apr.	10 10	10 Albert Courtney, L. S. O., No. 734
24 239 Apr.	61 15	28 406 Buttons	3 00	10 Robt. Lyons, L. S. O., No. 51
24 249 Apr., buttons	19 55	28 431 Apr., buttons	11 60	10 Fay Huddleston, L. S. O., No. 203
24 340 Apr.	9 05	28 458 Apr., stamps	72 80	10 J. N. Butler, Def. Org. 100 00
24 517 Apr., May	5 20	28 483 Supplies, bound M. & S.	2 50	11 State insurance 5 34
24 519 Bound M. & S., supplies, bal. due Feb. report.	5 45	28 489 Apr., supplies, buttons	14 80	11 Defense, No. 572 24 00
24 574 Apr., stamps, supplies	46 80	28 740 Apr.	4 20	13 Acct. protested check, No. 285 82 91
24 580 May	4 20	28 833 Bound M. & S.	2 00	13 Robt. Lyons, defense, L. J. E. B., St. Louis, Mo. 100 00
24 598 Supplies	2 25	28 834 Apr., May	8 70	15 Clerks 57 00
24 647 Supplies	2 00	28 859 Button	60	15 F. E. Merryfield, Intl. Org. 100 00
24 836 Mch., Apr., May, supplies, cash	12 75	28 W. W. White, M. A. L.	2 25	15 A. C. Beck, Intl. Org. 100 00
24 624 Apr.	6 70	28 E. Mayer, M. A. L.	2 25	15 L. P. McGinley, Intl. Org. 100 00
24 809 Apr., stamps	10 00	28 Wm. Moore, M. A. L.	No. 247	15 W. E. Reynolds, Intl. Org. 100 00
24 222 May	36 45	28 14 Buttons	1 80	15 A. Martel, Intl. Org. 100 00
24 Rein. R. Nichols, No. 512	4 10	28 101 Apr.	81 85	15 Josh Brady, Intl. Org. 100 00
25 113 May	7 80	28 339 Apr.	87 85	15 T. J. Durnin, Intl. Org. 100 00
25 136 May	5 85	28 175 Apr.	73 85	15 F. B. Hobby, Intl. Org. 100 00
25 188 Apr., supplies	218 00	28 141 Apr.	17 05	15 W. B. Joyce, Intl. Org. 100 00
25 190 Apr., supplies	68 70	28 217 May, stamps, buttons	56 70	15 W. E. Horne, Intl. Org. 100 00
25 252 Supplies	1 25	28 72 Stamps, supplies, buttons	3 75	15 Ben Gorton, Intl. Org. 100 00
25 256 Apr.	27 05	28 805 Supplies	2 00	15 F. Sesma, Intl. Org. 100 00
25 470 May	8 40	28 420 Apr.	138 90	15 Jere F. McCarthy, Intl. Org. 100 00
25 498 Bal. due supplies	2 50	29 4 Apr.	41 85	15 Jas. H. Anderson, Def. Org. 100 00
25 837 Apr., May	9 05	29 40 Apr., May, bound M. & S.	6 40	15 W. F. Kavanagh, Def. Org. 100 00
25 Louis Blume, M. A. L.	3 00	29 108 Apr., buttons	103 75	15 W. H. Foster, Def. Org. 100 00
25 230 Apr.	10 20	29 167 May, buttons	35 45	15 Geo. Hibberd, Def. Org. 100 00
25 133 Apr., stamp, supplies, buttons	6 65	29 223 May	4 6	15 John J. Henley, Def. Org. 100 00
25 526 Supplies	10 00	29 228 May	25 80	15 Robt. L. Dale, Death Claim No. 6656, Local 547 50 00
25 124 May	23 40	29 422 Apr., stamps	30 90	15 A. E. Johnson, Death Claim No. 6654, Local 713 50 00
25 671 May, supplies	13 90	29 550 Bound M. & S.	2 00	15 Frank Normand, Death Claim No. 6718, Local 157 50 00
25 155 May	29 90	29 563 May	10 80	15 Jere Sullivan, Death Claim No. 6739, Local 504 50 00
26 60 Apr., bound M. & S.	35 10	29 693 Apr.	2 70	15 Walter L. Bortz, Death Claim No. 6734, Local 381 50 00
26 70 Supplies	8 00	29 742 Apr., bound M. & S.	4 40	15 Carl Pfeffer, Death Claim No. 6748, Local 248 50 00
26 80 Apr., stamps	102 85	29 147 May	8 80	15 Geo. A. O'Connor, Death Claim No. 6748, Local 800 50 00
26 88 May, cash	7 40	29 525 Apr., supplies	83 65	15 Dennis J. Berrigan, Death Claim No. 6749, Local 77 50 00
26 199 May, supplies, buttons	17 20	29 865 Supplies	1 00	15 Fred Luckner, Death Claim No. 6750, Local 30 50 00
26 213 Mch., Apr., May, June, bound M. & S.	7 85	29 532 Apr.	17 70	15 Harry G. Storer, Death Claim No. 6751, Local 284 50 00
26 295 Apr.	8 25	29 707 Apr.	81 90	15 John H. Stamm, Death Claim No. 6752, Local 70 50 00
26 313 May	19 40	Total	$14,626 87	15 Fred Prentice, Death Claim No. 6753, Local 256 50 00
26 348 Apr., supplies	8 75			15 John R. Roberts, Death Claim No. 6754, Local 573 50 00
26 399 May, stamps, cash	13 40			15 Wilfred Daze, Death Claim No. 6755, Local 81 50 00
26 400 Apr.	34 15			15 Carlo Gianora, Death Claim No. 6756, Local 110 50 00
26 696 Apr.	21 90			15 Fred Rockwell, Death Claim No. 6757, Local 202 50 00
26 762 Mch., Apr.	16 85
26 T. J. Linnane, M. A. L.	3 60
26 8 Apr., stamp	39 90
26 99 Buttons	2 00
26 285 Apr.	80 40
26 747 Charter & outfit, stamps, supplies, buttons, cash	23 65
26 28 Apr.	24 50
26 463 Apr.	7 40
26 Rein. John W. Harghtaling, No. 422	5 10
26 840 May, buttons	8 45
26 92 Apr.	10 55
26 296 Buttons	8 70
26 19 Supplies	1 00
26 193 Apr.	21 20
26 68 May	97 35
27 64 Apr.	40 15
27 86 May, June	64 70
27 246 Apr., buttons	13 60
27 254 Apr., buttons	18 90
27 264 Bal. due Mch. report.	20
27 499 May	21 20
27 534 Apr., bal. due bound M. & S.	11 55
27 649 Mch., stamp, supplies	27 15
27 682 Apr.	9 60
27 733 May	7 80
27 744 May, supplies	12 50
27 835 May, supplies	4 70

EXPENDITURES FOR MAY, 1915.

Date.
1 Rent	$103 50
1 Clerks	57 00
3 E. Malone, L. S. O., No. 223	15 00
3 F. Ebeling, L. S. O., No. 865	15 00
3 C. W. McCurdy, L. S. O., No. 223	15 00
3 Thos. P. Woods, L. S. O., No. 503	15 00
3 Jos. R. Franklin, L. S. O., No. 266	15 00
3 Louise Kane, L. S. O., No. 249	15 00
3 Delia Hurley, L. S. O., No. 112	15 00
3 Leonard Griffith, L. S. O., No. 72	15 00
3 Belle Donner, L. S. O., L. J. E. B., New York	15 00
3 Victor Marot, L. S. O., No. 872	15 00
3 Loretta Wheeler, L. S. O., No. 180	15 00
3 Albert Courtney, L. S. O., No. 734	15 00
3 Maude Mosier, L. S. O., No. 644	30 00
3 Robt. Lyons, L. S. O., No. 51	15 00
3 Safety deposit box	5 00
3 Defense, No. 403	13 05

Digitized by Google

THE MIXER AND SERVER

19

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY-TREASURER—Continued.

Date.		Date.		Date.
15 Edward Mott, Death Claim No. 6758, Local 20.....	50 00	24 Albert Courtney, L. S. O., No. 734	15 00	29 Henry Blodell, Death Claim No. 6810, Local 51.....	50 00
15 Wm. Wells, Death Claim No. 6759, Local 20.....	50 00	24 Robt. Lyons, L. S. O., No. 51	15 00	29 Herbert A. Johnson, Death Claim No. 6812, Local 603	50 00
15 Daniel Rourke, Death Claim No. 6760, Local 85.....	50 00	24 Fay Huddleston, L. S. O., No. 203	15 00	29 Frank Kistler, Death Claim No. 6813, Local 284.....	50 00
15 Geo. Doan, Death Claim No. 6762, Local 85.....	50 00	24 Maurice DeYoung, L. S. O., No. 70	15 00	29 E. Maloney, L. S. O., No. 484	15 00
15 Peter Clarkin, Death Claim No. 6763, Local 495.....	50 00	24 Aloys Cyrys, L. S. O., No. 209	15 00	29 F. Ebeling, L. S. O., No. 865	15 00
15 Frank Wilson, Death Claim No. 6764, Local 548.....	50 00	25 J. L. Bradford	5 00	29 C. W. McCurdy, L. S. O., No. 223	15 00
15 Martin J. Madden, Death Claim No. 6765, Local 95.....	50 00	27 Sub. magazine	2 00	29 Thos. P. Woods, L. S. O., No. 593	15 00
15 Leo A. Wolfel, Death Claim No. 6766, Local 423.....	50 00	27 Supplies	196 91	29 Jos. R. Franklin, L. S. O., No. 266	15 00
15 Max Kahn, Death Claim No. 6767, Local 700.....	50 00	27 W. E. Denning, Org.'s fee, No. 745, No. 825.....	19 45	29 Maude Mosier, L. S. O., No. 644	15 00
15 Chester Builtman, Death Claim No. 6769, Local 387	50 00	29 E. Flore, Gen. Pres., No. 247	247 53	29 Louise Kane, L. S. O., No. 249	15 00
15 Monte Fleming, Death Claim No. 6771, Local 559.....	50 00	29 F. E. Merryfield, Intl. Org., No. 104	24 25	29 Delia Hurley, L. S. O., No. 118	15 00
15 John H. Moss, Death Claim No. 6772, Local 216.....	50 00	29 A. C. Beck, Intl. Org., No. 128	50 50	29 Belle Donner, L. S. O., L. J. E. B., New York.....	15 00
15 James T. Dwyer, Death Claim No. 6773, Local 499	50 00	29 J. P. McGinley, Intl. Org., No. 134	46	29 Albert Courtney, L. S. O., No. 734	15 00
15 Henry Johnson, Death Claim No. 6775, Local 152.....	50 00	29 W. E. Reynolds, Intl. Org., No. 138	48	29 Robt. Lyons, L. S. O., No. 51	15 00
15 Thos. H. Keenan, Death Claim No. 6777, Local 285	50 00	29 A. F. Martel, Intl. Org., No. 111	90	29 Fay Huddleston, L. S. O., No. 203	15 00
15 Andrew Lowery, Death Claim No. 6778, Local 488	50 00	29 Josh Brady, Intl. Org., No. 114	88	29 Maurice DeYoung, L. S. O., No. 70	15 00
17 E. Maloney, L. S. O., No. 484	15 00	29 T. J. Durin, Intl. Org., No. 127	77	29 G. C. Wray, Death Claim No. 6740, Local 206	15 00
17 F. Ebeling, L. S. O., No. 865	15 00	29 F. B. Hobby, Intl. Org., No. 115	50	29 Ben Gorton, Intl. Org., No. 113	28
17 C. W. McCurdy, L. S. O., No. 223	15 00	29 W. B. Joyce, Intl. Org., No. 111	79	29 F. Sesma, Intl. Org., No. 100	00
17 Thos. P. Woods, L. S. O., No. 593	15 00	29 W. E. Horne, Intl. Org., No. 100	00	29 W. F. McCarthy, Intl. Org., No. 120	37
17 Jos. R. Franklin, L. S. O., No. 266	15 00	29 John J. Henley, Def. Org., No. 100	00	29 John H. Anderson, Def. Org., No. 111	55
17 Louise Kane, L. S. O., No. 249	15 00	29 Jas. H. Hibberd, Def. Org., No. 141	40	29 Geo. Hibberd, Def. Org., No. 155	95
17 Delia Hurley, L. S. O., No. 118	15 00	29 J. N. Butler, Def. Org., No. 112	63	29 W. F. Kavanagh, Def. Org., No. 112	63
17 Leonard Griffith, L. S. O., No. 72	15 00	29 W. H. Foster, Def. Org., No. 123	01	29 Clerks	57 00
17 Belle Donner, L. S. O., L. J. E. B., New York.....	15 00	29 Chas. L. Kleeberg, Death Claim No. 6661, Local 175	50 00	29 C. W. McCurdy, acct. Board meeting	150 00
17 Victor Marot, L. S. O., No. 872	15 00	29 W. G. Payne, Death Claim No. 6738, Local 284	50 00	29 W. H. Foster, acct. Board meeting	150 00
17 Lorette Wheeler, L. S. O., No. 180	15 00	29 G. C. Wray, Death Claim No. 6740, Local 206	50 00	29 Jere L. Sullivan, Sec.-Treas.	225 00
17 Albert Courtney, L. S. O., No. 734	15 00	29 Jacob H. Goepfert, Death Claim No. 6761, Local 12	50 00	29 Janitor	12 00
17 Robt. Lyons, L. S. O., No. 51	15 00	29 Robert E. Carrick, Death Claim No. 6768, Local 729	50 00	29 E. Maloney, acct. Board meeting	150 00
17 Fay Huddleston, L. S. O., No. 203	15 00	29 Frank Kelly, Death Claim No. 6770, Local 480	50 00	Total	$14 307 81
17 Maurice DeYoung, L. S. O., No. 70	15 00	29 Wm. T. Pascoe, Death Claim No. 6780, Local 134	50 00	Amount on hand May 1, 1915, $81,915 62
17 Elmer E. Owens, defense, No. 55	100 00	29 John Fagan, Death Claim No. 6781, Local 173	50 00	Receipts for May, 1915	14,626 87
18 Harry Overmeyer, defense, L. J. E. B., Toledo, O..	100 00	29 David Porteous, Death Claim No. 6782, Local 420	50 00	Total	$96 545 49
19 Tax A. F. of L.	899 24	29 Harry Esterman, Death Claim No. 6783, Local 420	50 00	Expenditures for May, 1915	14,307 81
19 Tax on Canadian membership	38 08	29 Patrick F. Gorgin, Death Claim No. 6784, Local 77	50 00	Amount on hand June 1, 1915, $82,237 68
20 Robt. Lyons	100 00	29 Anton B. Amundson, Death Claim No. 6786, Local 707	50 00	In Death Fund May 1, 1915	$29,484 22
21 Printing May M. & S....	2,641 17	29 John Albert, Death Claim No. 6788, Local 585	50 00	Appropriated to Death Fund, May, 1915	4,420 52
21 Acct. protested check, No. 161	34 00	29 John C. Johnson, Death Claim No. 6789, Local 77	50 00	Total	$33,904 74
21 Robert Hesketh, Board meeting	125 00	29 John H. Smith, Death Claim No. 6790, Local 395	50 00	Drawn from Death Fund, May, 1915	3,250 00
22 Clerks	57 00	29 C. L. Linster, Death Claim No. 6791, Local 812	50 00	Balance in Death Fund June 1, 1915	$80,654 74
24 Wm. Wrage, defense, L. J. E. B., Hoboken, N. J....	150 00	29 Michael Kane, Death Claim No. 6792, Local 115	50 00	In Defense Fund May 1, 1915, $16,663 69
24 E. Maloney, L. S. O., No. 484	15 00	29 Anthony M. Cuff, Death Claim No. 6793, Local 420	50 00	Appropriated to Defense Fund, May, 1915	1,894 51
24 F. Ebeling, L. S. O., No. 865	15 00	29 Chas. O'Toole, Death Claim No. 6795, Local 628	50 00	Total	$18,558 20
24 C. W. McCurdy, L. S. O., No. 223	15 00	29 Wm. Glebe, Death Claim No. 6796, Local 381	50 00	Drawn from Defense Fund, May, 1915	3,245 65
24 Thos. P. Woods, L. S. O., No. 593	15 00	29 Thos. R. Hill, Death Claim No. 6797, Local 543	50 00	Balance in Defense Fund June 1, 1915	$15,312 55
24 Jos. R. Franklin, L. S. O., No. 266	15 00	29 Henry Miller, Death Claim No. 6798, Local 44	50 00	In Conv. Assmt. Fund May 1, 1915	$1,204 10
24 Louise Kane, L. S. O., No. 249	15 00	29 Frank Gaby, Death Claim No. 6799, Local 651	50 00	Receipts for May, 1915
24 Delia Hurley, L. S. O., No. 118	15 00	29 Frank A. Green, Death Claim No. 6800, Local 188	50 00	Total	$1,204 10
24 Leonard Griffith, L. S. O., No. 72	15 00	29 Jos. Mulhall, Death Claim No. 6801, Local 41	50 00	Refunds for May, 1915
24 Belle Donner, L. S. O., L. J. E. B., New York.....	15 00	29 Daniel O'Hare, Death Claim No. 6802, Local 41	50 00	Balance in Conv. Assmt. Fund June 1, 1915	$1,204 10
		29 Kilian Weger, Death Claim No. 6804, Local 70	50 00	Amount in General Fund June 1, 1915	$35,066 29
		29 Christ Hansen, Death Claim No. 6806, Local 35	50 00	Amount in Death Fund June 1, 1915	30,654 71
		29 Alex Meyers, Death Claim No. 6807, Local 35	50 00	Amount in Defense Fund June 1, 1915	15,312 55
		29 Mike Merdler, Death Claim No. 6808, Local 59	50 00	Amount in Conv. Assmt. Fund June 1, 1915	1,204 10

WHAT OUR ORGANIZERS ARE DOING

LOS ANGELES, CAL., April 28, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month of April:

Since my last report conditions have not changed any in the city of San Diego. The ranks of the unemployed have increased and business in all lines are at a standstill. Am pleased to state that organized labor in San Diego has been gaining, and more harmony prevails today than has for some time past.

March 26th—At the regular meeting of Local 402, Secretary and Business Agent Claude McClellan and J. O'Brien were elected delegates to our convention, and at the other meetings held during the month of April matters of importance were taken up, an assessment of 25 cents per member was levied to continue the picketing on the unfair restaurants, and with the spirit that now exists in Local 402 they are bound to forge to the front. The only regrettable proposition is that many of the members of our crafts come to San Diego from other cities and they forget their union cards are in their pockets and go to work below the scale of the local. It is sad, but true that many of them will return to their locals and take a very active part.

At the regular meeting of Local 402, held April 16th, Brother I. H. Markwith, secretary of the San Diego Labor Council, was admitted, and in a few, but well chosen words, surprised me when, in the name of the members of Local 402, presented me with a gent's toilet Sterling silver set, which had on the back the emblem of the culinary button and the following inscription: Presented to F. Sesma, by the members of Local 402.

At the regular meeting of Bartenders' Local 768, held March 28th, Brother Earl Hyatt, president of the local, and W. A. Powers were elected delegates to our next convention. At the meeting of April 11th, the local was addressed by Brother E. H. Murphy, who was formerly secretary to Local 403 of Stockton. He and his family went to San Diego to recuperate his health, in which he is very much in need after the strenuous work done for organized labor in Stockton. His wife and charming little girl are very much pleased with pure air of the San Diego Bay, and I sincerely wish that his health would be benefited in the near future.

As I was saying good-bye to Secretary C. E. Kiser, of Local 786, he presented me with a silver handle umbrella. He said: "You are on your way to the city of San Francisco where rain is plentiful, let me present you with this umbrella to protect you from some bad cold showers and so you may remember us in your travels."

April 18th to San Bernardino. Attended the regular meeting of Local 558 and was surprised at the poor attendance. Something is wrong when the meetings of Local 558 are not well attended. As I have always found in Local 558 the best of feelings among its members. Get busy, boys, and get back to the old good fellowship. Forget any differences that may have come between you. Brother J. C. Drysdale was elected as delegate to the convention.

April 19th attended the meeting of Cooks and Waiters' Local 673. They were about to give up the local and send the charter back, though they had plenty of money in the treasury. After a thorough discussion they reconsidered their action and Local 673 took a new lease on life.

April 20th attended the meeting of the San Bernardino Labor Council. The council is wide-awake and all the delegates take a very active part. I addressed the council and requested their assistance for Cooks and Waiters' Local 673. They appointed a committee and will do all they can to keep up the interest in Local 673.

April 26th to San Pedro—Attended the meeting of Cooks and Waiters' Local 754; the meeting was well attended. After a discussion of the conditions the members decided they were entitled to a day off in seven.

Returned to San Pedro on the 27th, and with Secretary Geo. W. McDonald visited all the restaurants and arranged for special meeting on the 28th. Brother J. H. Jackson was elected delegate to the next convention.

The following is my expense account for the month of April:

April 6—Los Angeles to San Diego and return	$ 6 25
18—Los Angeles to San Bernardino and return	2 75
26 and 27—Los Angeles to San Pedro and return.....	1 00
Car fare for the month	1 50
Postage	1 75
Total	$13 25

Yours fraternally,

F. SESMA,
International Organizer.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., May 27, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month of May:

April 28th attended special meeting of Cooks and Waiters' Local 754 at San Pedro, Cal. After a lengthy discussion on many subjects a committee was appointed to devise ways and means to enforce one day off in seven, and no doubt the proprietors will see it in the right light and will grant the just request.

April 29th attended the regular meeting of Waiters' Local 17; the attendance was fairly good, but a little more good will towards one another would do wonders in the local.

May 5th was present at the regular meeting of the L. J. E. B. Matters of interest to all locals were acted upon, and a very good feeling exists among all the delegates, which speaks volumes for the welfare of all.

May 8th to Mojave, Cal. Was met at the depot by a committee of Local 445. A visit was paid to all members on duty, and after lifting quite a few we proceeded to a private residence, but it seems to me that all the bar-boys were at home, especially when the "wish bone" made its appearance. Nuf sed. Had a conference with the officers of the local and advised them on matters to their good and welfare. Although the previous secretary left without leaving his future address, the membership of Local 445, with the true spirit of unionism, rallied together and maintained the local conditions.

Arrived in Bakersfield on the evening of May 8th; found Bro. J. J. Aldridge, secretary and business agent of Local 550, very busy making arrangements for the "Early California Days' Carnival," which lasted three days, and with the amount of boosting by all the members of Local 550, success was written in capital letters. Many prizes were to be given, among them a beautiful silver cup, which was to be presented to the chef awarded first prize for the best display of culinary art.

Bartenders' Local 378 is always on the job; President W. S. Renfro, as usual, is impartial in all his decisions, and Secretary Wm. F. Wood never overlooks a new arrival or delinquent member. Attended the regular meeting on May 10th. A lively and spirited discussion arose, and a large number of the members took a very active part. After the meeting a fine "rabbit lunch," with some ice-cold amber fluid and cigars was thoroughly enjoyed by all. After the spread a few songs and snappy stories by all those present made everyone forget their troubles and tribulations.

May 11th to Fresno. The city was gaily decorated for the entertainment of the Eagles' State Aerie convention. Met many of our members who were delegates or taking part in the drum corps. They sure made Fresno mighty lively during their stay, and will surely be a contrast with prohibition convention which will be held in Fresno on June 1st to devise plans to make California dry. This time, it is said, the prohibs will leave out the wineries, showing their hypocrisy. If it is a sin to sell wine or beer by the glass, why is it not a sin to sell it by the gallon or barrel. Of course they don't want to answer that. All they care is to make money, which they take from many who don't even have enough to buy a new pair of shoes.

May 16th attended the meeting of Bartenders' Local 566. It seems to me that an undercurrent exists among a few members of the local which is not conducive to the good of the local, and all the old-timers should rally to bring back the good feeling that formerly existed in Local 566.

May 16th the L. J. E. B. was formed. Bro. Tom Ryan, president of Bartenders' Local 566, was elected president, and Barney Williams, of Cooks and Waiters' Local 62, was elected secretary-treasurer; and if the same friendly spirit demonstrated in the first meeting exists in the future, good results beneficial to both locals will be the accomplishment of the L. J. E. B.

May 17th attended a meeting of Local 62. The attendance could have been better. Local 62 has improved wonderfully in the last few months.

Business Agent Harry F. Russell, with the assistance of a few old war-horses in the movement, is doing all the time, and before long Bro. Russell will have a good local in Fresno. But he should be careful that some of the home guards, who have done nothing but retard the progress of Local 62, discourage him so that he will throw his hands in the air and say: "I am through with it."

May 18th to Sacramento; Cal., found both of our locals in fair condition, and Locals 561 and 603 working harmoniously. And through their harmony the idea of some of the proprietors, who were trying to do away with the one day off in seven, was frustrated and the conditions obtained by hard work were maintained, thanks to the friendly relations of both locals and the respect our locals command in the labor council.

May 19th attended the afternoon meeting of Bartenders' Local 603, and am glad to say that everything during the meeting goes according to "Hoyle." President Fred Somers and Secretary Jack Reid sure make a fine team. All members of Local 603 were busily engaged in selling tickets for the theatre party for the benefit of the Liberal Council. By the way, communications have been sent out to all our locals in the State, but very little progress has been made. The Liberal Council, started by the president and secretary of Local 603, should receive the hearty co-operation of all our locals in the State, and if conducted properly there is no doubt in my mind that the said Liberal Council would be a nation-wide organization. We need it, we must have it, are you doing your share? I mean, has each local in this State started the propaganda? Well, if the local has not, what is the matter with the individual member? Get busy and see that the local takes a hold of it.

May 19th (evening) attended the meeting of Cooks and Waiters' Local 561. There was plenty of ginger among the members at it was the last night for nomination of officers for the ensuing term. Two members who had scabbed in Stockton were expelled from the local. Some of those members who still carry their cards, and from whom the secretary of their local knowingly accepts their dues, should receive a like dose.

May 20th to Stockton; visited the officials of both of our locals. Considering the trouble and strife that our locals went through, both of the locals are in better shape than I expected they would be, but owing to the business depression quite a few members are out of employment.

May 21st attended the meeting of Cooks and Waiters' Local 572. The waitresses were well represented and took a very active part in all the proceedings, but with the exception of a few male members who do realize the worth of the organization, the whole load is left to the officers.

May 22nd arrived in San Francisco. Waitresses' local held their annual dance on that evening which was fairly well attended, and a very pleasant time was enjoyed by all those present.

May 24th attended the regular meeting of Bartenders' Local 41. The regular routine was promptly transacted.

May 26th, at the request of the business agent of Cooks' and Waiters' Local 31, went to Oakland, and attended the meeting of their executive board. Matters of importance were discussed and acted upon.

THE MIXER AND SERVER

The following is my expense for the month:

April 28—Los Angeles to San Pedro and return	$ 0 50
May 5—Typewriter and supplies.....	5 00
8—Los Angeles to Bakersfield.....	5 15
11—Bakersfield to Fresno.....	3 10
18—Fresno to Sacramento.....	5 05
20—Sacramento to Stockton.....	1 45
22—Stockton to San Francisco.....	2 35
26—San Francisco to Oakland and return	2 00
Car fare and phone.....	2 75
Postage	1 75
Total	$27 30

Yours fraternally,

F. SESMA,
International Organizer.

CHICAGO, ILL., May 28, 1913.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month of May:

April 27 and 28 were spent in Milwaukee with Brother V. Marot, secretary of Local 872. I learned there that Governor Phillips had vetoed the Anti-Tipping Bill, passed by the Wisconsin Legislature.

On the 28th Local 872 held their first smoker, which was a big success. I had visited several members the the Milwaukee Hotel Men's Association, and we were fortunate enough to have several of those gentlemen attending. Mr. Hadfield, president of this association, made a good speech which was loudly applauded. Mr. Sweeney, manager of the Maryland Hotel, was also present, also a representative of the city attorney's office and several head-waiters.

On the 29th I returned to Chicago and attended the meeting followed by a smoker of Local 865.

On May 3, at the meeting of the L. J. E. B., a new set of officers were elected, as follows: President, Phil Hartman, president of Local 456; vice-president, Ches. Corrigan, of Local 865; secretary, M. Miller, of Local 865.

On May 5 I was a guest of Local 456 at their dance.

On May 6 attended a meeting of Local 865.

On May 7 the L. J. E. B. met the Grievance Committee of the Chicago Federation of Labor and discussed the ways and means of organizing the different summer gardens and hotels in which the breweries are directly or indirectly interested. It was decided to call on the brewery workers of this city and ascertain how far they would go in helping us to that end. This same committee also had a meeting with a committee of the Brewery Association, which promises to bring results.

On May 8 I attended a dance given by the Waitresses' Local 484.

On May 11 I journeyed to Milwaukee to attend the cooks' meeting of Local 872. At this meeting a committee was appointed to meet the Executive Board of the Federated Trades Council of Milwaukee, to arrange for a joint meeting of the Hotel Men's Association, the Retail Liquor Dealers' Association and the Brewery Association, to explain to those different organizations the necessity of getting in closer touch with one another.

On May 13 I returned to Chicago and attended the meeting of the L. J. E. B. in the afternoon, and in the evening a meeting of Local 865. The Brewery Workers, through their International Secretary, called a special convention, to which all crafts having an interest in the license question throughout the State were invited. It was held on May 16. Its purpose is to create a new State organization to fight our common foe. This organization was named the Illinois States Trades Union Liberty League. All locals wishing to affiliate will have to pay a per capita tax of 50 cents per year. The following permanent officers were elected: President, Bro. M. McGraw, of the Brewery Workers; secretary, Bro. Wm. Fischer, of the Stationary Engineers; trustees, Sister Elizabeth Maloney and Brothers Ches. Gaudy, of the Brewery Workers, and J. Stahl, of the Cigar Makers. Bro. J. N. Irish, of Local 286, Peoria, Ill., is the vice-president, representing our International Union locals in the State. At this convention I had the pleasure of meeting Bro. W. H. Foster, our third vice-president. There was no further business transacted, and we adjourned at 4 p. m.

On the 17th there was a meeting of the L. J. E. B., which I attended.

On the 20th one of Local 865.

A special L. J. E. B. meeting was called for the 24th to dispose of several local grievances. The same evening I attended, with several members of the L. J. E. B., the meeting of the City Council, to which the so-called Merriam Ordinance was presented for passage. This ordinance forbids the sale of whisky, gin or brandy in the city of Chicago. It got its quietus by being defeated.

On the 25th attended the meeting of Local 35, which was a very interesting one, as the resolutions which will be presented to our next convention were all discussed thoroughly, so as to give their delegates a chance to get the views of the membership. At night I attended the meeting of Local 456, at which Bro. Ph. Hartmann was elected as delegate to the convention.

On the 27th, after the meeting, Local 865 gave an entertainment, which was well attended. With the several committees out working, the situation in this city promises to improve in the near future, as the proprietors, who fear a repetition of 1913, begin to understand that our aim is not to make trouble. When we will have this fear out of their mind, then it will be much easier to approach them; and that is what I am trying to do.

My expense account for the month is as follows:

April 29—Milwaukee to Chicago.....	$ 2 20
May 11—Chicago to Milwaukee.....	2 20
" 13—Milwaukee to Chicago.....	2 20
" 15—Rental for a typewriter for three months	5 00
Carfare for month.....	4 85
Phone for month.....	35
Postage for month.....	94
Total	$17 74

Fraternally submitted.

A. F. MARTEL,
International Organizer.
Digitized by Google

WILLIAM E. MC EWEN

Secretary Minnesota State Federation of Labor.
Member Board of Arbitration

GREAT FALLS, MONT., May 25, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is submitted as my report for the month of May:

I left Lewistown on May 4th and went to Harlowtown and Round Up. Had a meeting with the executive board of the bartenders at Round Up and audited their books, report of which has been filed in the general office.

May 6th went to Billings. While in Billings attended a meeting of bartenders, cooks, waiters and waitresses. Audited the accounts of the bartenders' union and opened a new set of books for them, also arranged a new wage scale, which is in operation at this time. The minimum wage is $120 per month and an eight-hour day.

May 12th went to Great Falls to attend a State conference of bartenders, cooks, waiters and brewery workers, which was held on the 15th and 16th. The meeting was a decided success. A complete report of all business transacted has been filed with the general office.

May 17th went to Havre, Montana, where I remained for three days in the interests of the bartenders, cooks and waiters' union of that city. We had a test case on the 10 o'clock p.m. closing law in the district court. We are carrying the case to the supreme court in an endeavor to have the opinion of Attorney-General Kelly, who held the law to be constitutional, set aside.

May 20th went to Helena to make arrangements for having the case advanced on the calendar of the supreme court. While in Helena held a meeting with the officers of the bartenders' union and the cooks and waiters' union.

May 23rd returned to Great Falls to assist the officers of the various unions in settling up their trouble of seven months' duration. I would have offered lengthy comment upon the State conference which was held in this city, but I am informed that the secretary of that body will cover the conference in a report to the general office. I want to again give warning to our traveling members: If possible give Montana a wide berth. Every day brings hundreds into the State seeking employment that is not to be had. The local unions of the State are doing everything possible to relieve traveling members, but the task is becoming too great, and while it goes against the grain of a Montanan to turn down anyone, yet I fear that is what will soon happen if the influx continues.

The following is my expense account for the month:

May 4—Lewistown to Round Up, via Harlowtown	$4 05
6—Round Up to Billings.....	3 45
12—Billings to Great Falls.....	8 10
17—Great Falls to Havre.....	4 30
20—Havre to Helena.....	7 75
23—Helena to Great Falls.....	3 45
Postage, telephone, one telegram.....	1 20

Total $32 30

J. P. McGINLEY, International Organizer.

Digitized by Google

THE MIXER AND SERVER

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 27, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—My report for the last month is as follows:

The latter part of the month of April and the first day of May was taken up with work in the interests of the affiliated locals of Kansas City. With the representatives adjusted several grievances and complaints, signed agreements with several thirst parlors, which have opened up under new licenses; also assisted in getting a number of delinquents in line.

To St. Joseph May 2nd to attend meeting of Local 422, as per former agreement. We outlined a plan of campaign to get a hundred per cent local of bartenders in that city. Much was accomplished at that meeting which ought to bring good results.

With the campaign committee called on a number of proprietors and met with favorable results; signed up several houses, as well as getting new applications for membership.

Assisted in adjustment of a controversy existing between the bartenders and brewery workers and the Peter Schenk Brewing Company, also attended meetings of various labor organizations, asking for their moral support, which they promised to render us.

To Moberly May 6, where I was met by officers of the Trades and Labor Assembly, President Woods of the State Federation and officers of Bartenders' Local 652, arranged for a special meeting of the Assembly, which was well attended, considering the short notice.

We outlined a plan of organizing the culinary workers in that city, a committee was appointed and we called on the men and women employed in our crafts, as well as the proprietors, and, although this is only a small town and not very many competent men there, I believe we will be able to perfect an organization in a short time.

The bartenders are having a 100% organization, in splendid shape and working under good conditions, and if the culinary workers would only follow their plan they could be in the same position.

For six weeks Moberly was infested with a student of Billy Sunday, holding revivals every night, and although he did not reap a harvest financially, he succeeded in getting up an agitation for a Local Option Election, which in all probability will be called this summer.

To Sedalia Sunday the 9th, where I attended the meeting of Local 832, which is also a 100% local, enjoying best of conditions, but, like Moberly, is also threatened with a Local Option Election.

May 10, to Kansas City to take up some matters pertaining to Local 420.

To St. Joe May 21, to take up matters unfinished, and some very effective work has been accomplished there, and if the boys will keep this gait up and follow the plan as outlined, no doubt Local 422 will eventually become one of the banner locals of our International.

To Kansas City, May 15, where I attended the meeting of Local 420, nomination of officers were held for the ensuing term, and a motion passed that the By-laws be enforced strictly to the letter, pertaining to delinquent members working under Bar Labels.

My time since then has been occupied in the interest of the affiliated locals.

Notwithstanding the fact that this has been the hardest year for our crafts in many a year, our locals have been able to hold their own, although

I must say that it has been a continuous struggle on the representatives' part to maintain the standing of their respective locals.

With the opening of the new Muehlebach Hotel, which is without a doubt the largest hostelry in the West, and several other new catering establishments, where our members are getting employment, we are looking for better prospects in the future.

Local 420, with headquarters at 1815 Grand avenue for the last five years, are now moving into their new, commodious and more centrally located headquarters at 1117 McGee street, in the very heart of Kansas City, which is known through this country as the Heart of America, so consequently Local 420 will have the ideal spot for their headquarters, and good luck to them.

Am sorry to hear through the Press Secretary of Local 631, Phoenix, Ariz., that two of their members are agents for the Tanhauser Near Beer, and that the demand is so great in that city, as the Royal Brewery is the "rattiest" concern in the country, the Tanhauser a "scab product," and I only trust that these brothers may be able to discontinue their agency for this unfair product, and handle some other goods that organized labor has not been barred from helping to produce.

The products of the Royal Brewery, as well as Harvest King whisky and other brands handled by Danziger Bros., owners of the above named Brewery and Harvest King Distilling Company, have been on the unfair list for several years and should not be handled by members, or friends of organized labor. My expense for the month is:

May 2—To St. Joseph.....	$1 24
5—St. Joe to Kansas City.....	1 24
6—To Moberly	2 64
8—Moberly to Sedalia.....	1 48
10—To Kansas City.....	1 92
11—To St. Joseph.....	1 24
15—To Kansas City.....	1 24
Local car fare Kansas City and St. Joseph	2 40
Postage for month.....	80
L. D. Phone to St. Joseph.....	35
Total	$14 55

Fraternally,

JAMES H. ANDERSON,
Special Defense Organizer.

COLUMBUS, O., May 28, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month of May:

Our newly-formed Local 505 of Waiters and Cooks of this city is coming to the front better than we had at first thought possible. They have more than doubled their membership since the charter was issued. After the meeting today they can boast of approximately fifty members, with a sufficient number of applications pending to warrant them to hope for at least better than seventy-five members when they make their report for the month of June. The newly-elected officers, "who are equally as new in the labor movement," are taking hold of the work allotted to them with an enthusiasm that is encouraging to those who are responsible for their selection.

A great deal of credit should also be given to the rank and file of the local, who seem to be putting forth every effort to assist their officers and make the future of their local a success. I wish to compliment them upon the way they conduct the affairs of their local. The diplomacy which they use in keeping their local properly before the public without creating antagonism, which is so often the case in a newly-formed local is commendable.

Local 423 is advancing slowly but surely along the road to success. The little differences of the past are gradually being forgotten, and I am of the opinion that the local is cementing itself together stronger than ever before in its past history. Let us hope that our brothers in Local 423 will continue along these lines, eliminating any and all personal feeling in the future and stand as a solid phalanx.

For the first time in the history of the city of Columbus we have formed a good, strong local Joint Executive Board. They are at this time entering into joint agreements with the employers who are employing both branches of our allied craft. Those of our members and friends who visit the Capital City of the State of Ohio will have very little trouble in finding the union bar label behind the bar, and the union house card in the cafe or dining room of the same establishment. The bartenders wear the blue button, and the waiter who serves you wears the green button; emblems of our International Union. The most harmonious feeling prevails between the members of our locals in this city, each one assisting the other.

In my last report I touched upon the Ohio State Legislature, what our legislators have been doing, and what we expected of them. My report appeared two days late, as I desired to wait until after our legislators returned for the final closing of the comedy, to see if there was not some little thing that I might be able to report in favor of labor. But alas, I am unable to report anything favorable. Our wise legislators have decided that Senate Bill 284, which provides for eight hours a day for women, or forty-eight hours per week, was not the proper thing. House Bill 635, known as the Whitacre bill, providing for one day off in seven, was passed, after it had been juggled, amended and re-amended until all employers of labor who had conducted their establishments seven days a week in the past were exempt from the law. Of course, you understand that all of the members of our International Union who have been working seven days a week will continue to do so until they remedy the evil through their labor union.

I could take up a great deal of space, if I desired, in giving to our readers a review of what our Legislature has done for labor, what they have endeavored to do, and what they have done to undo what labor has done here in the past, as well as to retard our progress. I will not take this matter up, however, as we have a good, strong State Federation of Labor handling the proposition, and upon the Executive Council of that body we have one of the most able labor leaders in the State, Bro. Thomas S. Farrell, of Local 106, of Cleveland, who is also secretary and business representative of the Cleveland Federation. In conjunction with this we have the Home Rule Labor League of the State of Ohio, which is a strong combination of organized workingmen, who are directly interested in our future welfare. We also have an able representative upon the Executive Committee of that League.

I would admonish all waiters, cooks and bartenders who intend to visit Columbus to bring their proper credentials in the form of a traveling card.

The following is my expense account for the month:

Printing for month.....	$2 00
Typewriting for month.....	2 50
Postage for month.....	2 25
Carfare for month.....	.75
Telephone40
Total	$7 .90

Fraternally submitted,

FRED B. HOBBY,
International Organizer.

DECATUR, ILL., May 23, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report from April 25 to May 23, 1915:

My last report was from Terre Haute, Ind. Left there April 25th for Springfield, Ill., to attend a special convention of the Illinois State Federation of Labor on April 27th and 28th.

The convention was called for the purpose of securing action upon the various labor bills before the Legislature affecting all branches of labor throughout the state.

There were in attendance some 1,200 delegates from the different organizations.

No doubt much good will come from the meeting in the future if not at present, as it has been demonstrated that labor is entitled to their portion of its production.

On Thursday the 29th had a conference with some of the waiters relative to forming an organization, but did not have much success, as business is quiet and a good many of the craft are out of employment.

On May 4-5-6 attended sessions of the Legislature and on the 5th all wet and dry bills were to be acted upon in the House.

After defeating the Search and Seizure, Residence district, citizenship, dry zone for military schools, anti-treating bills the drys moved to table the balance of all wet and dry bills, which was carried, leaving the Local Option and Prohibition laws of this state where they were before this session convened.

On the 6th of May made one more attempt to get the culinary workers together, but was unsuccessful; same conditions as the week before.

On May 7 and 8 in Decatur to see the culinary workers. Some are willing, but not enough to warrant sending for a charter; will probably be ready later in the summer.

On May 9 went to Peoria, Ill., where there is a good field for operations, but owing to conditions locally, after investigation, decided to wait until later in the month.

On May 15 left for Chicago per instructions to attend a mass meeting called for the purpose of forming a trades union liberty league to combat Local Option and Prohibition.

The meeting was very well attended considering the short time the various locals had to take action upon the matter. Officers were elected, constitution adopted, and in my estimation it behoves every member of our and other organizations interested to get busy and become members.

The dues are only 50 cents per year and further information can be had by corresponding with the Secretary, William Fisher, 156 West Washington street, Chicago, Ill.

On Monday the 17th to Indianapolis, where I find Local No. 437 in good condition. Members working in harmony with the officers, but the culinary workers do not seem to care for organization.

On the 19th to Danville, Ill., the home of Local No. 543, where a peculiar condition of affairs exists.

The town was voted wet by 1,518 votes and eight of the fourteen aldermen being dry refused to grant license.

There were seventy-three saloons open there before election, but all were closed for three days and then forty-seven saloonkeepers went to the city clerk and deposited one year's license fee in advance, $800 in gold, took his receipts therefor and opened up for business and are still running.

After a conference with President Gohen and Secretary Boyle it was thought best to defer any action towards more complete organization until this matter was settled by the council, which they expect to be between the 1st and 10th of June. Business is a little quiet there and I would advise traveling members to pass up Danville, Ill., at the present as they have thirty-two brothers out of employment.

Will leave here today for Peoria, Ill., and expect to show results from there before long.

The following is my expense account for the period of time covered in this report:

April 25—Terre Haute, Ind., to Springfield,
Ill.	$3 05
30—Springfield to Decatur.....	75
May 3—Decatur to Springfield.....	75
9—Decatur to Peoria, Ill.....	1 65
14—Peoria to Decatur, Ill.....	1 65
15—Decatur to Chicago, Ill.....	3 35
17—Chicago to Decatur, Ill.....	3 35
18—Decatur to Indianapolis, Ind.....	3 85
20—Indianapolis to Danville, Ill.....	2 15
22—Danville, Ill., to Decatur, Ill....	1 50
23—Decatur to Peoria, Ill.....	1 65
Telegrams	85
Telephone	55
Local car fare	60
Total	$25 70

Fraternally submitted.

W. H. FOSTER,
Special Defense Organizer.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 24, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report from April 24 to May 24 : To Newark to headquarters of Cooks' Local No. 294 and with Brother Martens of Local No. 109 and Brother Wickuler, Business Agent of Cooks, went over the situation as far as the Cooks were concerned in that city and forwarded to General Office report as instructed. I might say that if the Bartenders and Waiters there would give them the support they deserve, same would at some future time be reciprocated. In the evening with Brother Joseph Kanzian, Business Agent Local No. 109, Waiters, visited the Hotel Greeley to adjust a grievance there. The proprietress, Mrs. Goldberger, we found to be correct in her contention, in so far as saying that cheap labor is the dearest in the long run. Right you are, madam.

April 26 in the City of Hoboken with Business Agent Rowohlt of Bartenders' Local No. 4 rounding up delinquents.

April 27 in Jersey City at Bartenders' meeting to decide upon a plan of action for organizing the International League ball grounds here, as well as finishing up work with Brothers Murphy and Reilly, Business Agent and President, respectively.

April 28 in Hoboken at meeting of Alliance of Bartenders, Waiters, Cooks and Musicians, with all locals fully represented. A committee was appointed to see Mr. O'Neil, lessee of bar privileges at league ball grounds in Jersey City, and informed this gentleman that strictly union conditions must prevail.

April 29 and 30 in the city of Brooklyn and attended meetings of Locals 2 and 70 and both gatherings were well attended. Brothers Pattberg and De Young will as usual represent Local 70 at this, the eighteenth convention, while I am sorry to report that Local No. 2 and Brother George Hale may be absent, due to a lack of funds, I am told.

May 3 paid a visit to headquarters of Local No. 109, Newark, N. J., and went over the question of giving the cooks such support as would again put them back in the running; with Brothers M. Land, J. Cozzolino, L. Issacs and Business Agent Joseph Kanzian, and received valuable information that may help me in the future to solve this problem.

May 4 to city of Passaic at request of bartenders' secretary, Harry Stryker, to address the meeting of Liquor Dealers on this date and in the evening to meeting of Paterson Local of Waiters, in company with Brother Stryker of Passaic, who is always ready to give a helping hand to any of our sister locals. The culinary workers there were getting discouraged, but I believe Brother Stryker and myself put some new life into them, and with Brothers Bianchi, O'Connor, Gross and Nate Speigelman working together, and Billy Sunday packing up and gone from the Silk City, and by joining hands with the barboys there in making yourselves heard at the meetings of the Trades Council, I feel assured that all will be well.

On May 5 attended meeting of Alliance of Bartenders, Waiters, Cooks and Musicians of Hudson County at Jersey City. Report from league ball grounds matter was received and the bar boys had won their point, but not before we had withdrawn from the parade on the opening day. Prof. J. Emblems' band of forty pieces, who refused to move until Manager Wells of the Jersey team agreed to see that our members were employed, and Mr. O'Neil was indeed a surprised man to see that our boys went so far as they did. I must say that credit is due the musicians, as well as Brothers Cahill and Gibbons, for being on the job at the time most needed and it's up to you, Mr. Wells, as manager of this team, to lay down the law to Mr. O'Neil and keep the patronage of organized labor for your team.

In the evening, with Brother Rowohlt of Local No. 4, Hoboken, we picked up bar labels from the following places: Gabains Cafe, Elm and Spring streets; George Weissgerber, 501 Hackensack plank road, West Hoboken. I expect to see both of those cards back in their places, as the news quickly spread around to the nearby cafes, where our bar cards are displayed while we were in that section. On the same date arranged for the summer season's work for our locals at Union Hill Schuetzen Park.

On May 6, Hoboken: picked up application with Business Agent Rowohlt of bartenders, at Vizzetti's cafe, Hudson and Newark streets. This local has tried for one year to secure this house. Also picked up bar labels at Willshuzen's cafe, 99 Hudson street, and B. Jacobs, 218 River street, and Berkman's Hall and cafe, 228 River street. I intend to get the support of the International Long Shore Men's Unions to have their members keep out of these places until they deserve the patronage of union labor.

On May 7 in Jersey City at meeting of Waiters' Union Local 575 in the afternoon, and in the evening to Essex Trades Council, Newark, N. J. I notice a falling off in attendance of our locals at this body. Wake up, boys; get your delegates to attend.

On May 10 accepted invitation to address the members of St. James Catholic Club in the city of Newark on the present day evil, "Prohibition." Brother Martin Malone, secretary of the Newark Joint Board, is president of this association.

On May 11 in the city of Hoboken, where our crafts are compelled to compete with the culinary workers from the German Steamship Companies, tied up here due to the war in Europe.

On the 12th to Keansburg, N. J., a popular summer resort, with a few hotels and two restaurants. With Brother B. Rowohlt of Bartenders Local No. 4, Hoboken, secured work for some of our membership in Jersey City and Hoboken, which has in previous years gone to non-union labor agencies in New York City.

On the 13th to Red Bank, a city with about ten saloons and something like twelve bartenders, and while not a sufficient number to maintain a local, I reported the following Sunday, on my visit to Long Branch, to be present at the installation of officers of the new Local No. 537 of that city, just what encouragement I got from the boys at Red Bank to Organizer William B. Joyce, who with a number of the bar boys of this local, after the meeting, took me in tow to visit several of the hotels there for the purpose of getting applicants for the new local. With jurisdiction over Red Bank, Local No. 537 is going to make some of our inland locals sit up and take notice. I might mention that Brother James Sheehan of No. 575 of Jersey City and Delegate Tom Mueller of Teamsters, same city, and Brother B. Rowohlt of Hoboken were also visitors, and took part in the talkfest.

On the 18th paid a visit to headquarters of Waiters Local No. 10, Hoboken, to confer with Business Agent Richard Zwahr on matters of interest to Waiters' Local No. 575 of Jersey City, a sister local. In the evening to meeting of Bartenders' Local No. 488 of Jersey City and in time to settle a jurisdiction dispute between this local and No. 4, Hoboken.

On the 19th at meeting of Labor Alliance at Teidiman's Hall, and with their delegates mapped out a plan of action to have every excursion and outing leaving those shores employ only members affiliated with this board.

On the 20th to New York City to attend a conference at Labor Temple at Eighty-second street with joint board of butcher workmen, who have a big strike here in Hudson and Essex Counties. In the evening to Jersey City to take up with Committee of Building Trades and Central Body, having in charge arrangements for the coming state Federation of Labor convention, such places and hotels as are fair to our crafts here in the County of Hudson. I expect to get signed up one of our best hotels in the city of Hoboken before the delegates arrive, which will not be before the first week in August.

On the 21st at meeting of Waiters' Union Local No. 10, Hoboken, and arranged to hold a joint meeting of the five locals here in this vicinity at Brandt's Hall the following Wednesday, May 26, at 118 Hudson street, Hoboken, N. J. All locals will receive due notice.

On the 22nd to North Hudson to Chassmeyer's Hotel and Park at 2162 Boulevard, with Business Agent Rowohlt of Bartenders' Local No. 4, Hoboken. Secured three new members for Waiters' Union Local No. 10 here. This house has been non-union for years, I am informed.

On the 23rd to Weehawken to meet with a Mr. Kaiser of New York City by appointment at a place called Spiegel's Garden, in this city. This gentleman contemplates buying this place and I was anxious to secure his O.K. for employing our membership and this was given me, providing he buys the place.

My expense account for the month:

April 24—Jersey City to Newark and return.	30
May 3—Jersey City to Newark and return..	30
3—Hoboken to Paterson and return...	70
7—Jersey City to Newark and return..	30
10—Jersey City to Newark and return...	30
12—New York to Keansburg via boat...	25
13—Keansburg to Red Bank and return.	20
16—Keansburg to Long Branch and re- turn to Keansburg, bus hire.....	$1 00
17—Keansburg to New York via boat...	25
Postage	37
Phone use	35
Local and intercity car fare.....	3 85
Total	$8 17

WILLIAM F. KAVANAGH,
Special Defense Organizer.

WHEELING, W. VA., May 25, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the past month: April 25 attended a meeting of the Lynn C. L. U. in the interest of our crafts, particularly the wholesale wine clerks' proposition. Held a conference with the organizing council, at which time it was agreed that the matter be held in abeyance until a more opportune time. Attended a meeting of Local 112 and reported on several matters that were successfully adjusted in the best interest of all concerned. Local 112 is progressing nicely, considering being in existence only a short time, and with the opening up of the parks and beaches, we look for further progress in the employment of union waitresses. With the assistance of Vice President Conley and the Grievance Committee of the Boston C. A. U., we anticipate getting the Quincy House straightened out, which means a hundred or more union girls displaying the green button in Boston. Attended a meeting of Local 329, where I found conditions in bad shape. No interest taken in the organization by its members, depending upon a few loyal members to carry on the business of the local. Non-attendance at meetings and refusing to pay dues and at the same time claiming the right to wear the working button of their craft, and no doubt taking advantage of the unsettled conditions existing in the shoe industry at the present time. I also find that Local 329 is not receiving the proper support that it is entitled to, in so far as patronizing union restaurants. I advised those present and outlined a plan of campaign which will try and get the local back in proper form. I also took up the local situation with Vice President Conley. To New Bedford at the request of

THE MIXER AND SERVER

Local 296, and in company with President Coates, and Business Agent Sullivan of the Bartenders, took up the grievance of the Parker House. We were assured that the cooks, waiters and waitresses would have their applications in at the next meeting. We also called on several other houses and met with similar success. Local 296 is going along nicely, building up their organization, and within a short time will have a 100 per cent local. Their meeting was well attended. President A. M. Harreman of the Central Body, and Business Agent Sullivan of the Bartenders, gave the members some good, sound advice along trade union lines. Several new members were initiated. Attended a meeting of Local 112 and was pleased to hear the good reports from the committee in charge of their May party, which was a grand success, socially and financially. To Springfield, with the assistance of committee from the C. L. U., took up the proposition of straightening out the establishment of Forbes & Wallace, but without success. To Wheeling, W. Va., as per instructions from general office. Also visited Bellaire, Bridgeport and Martins Ferry in the interest of establishing locals in those cities. I am pleased to report that I was successful in my efforts, held a well attended meeting and sent for charter and outfit, making one big local covering the three cities, which was in the best interest of all concerned.

The following is my expense account for the month:

Apr. 25 and 27—Boston, Lynn.....	$ 0 60
29—New Bedford	1 35
30—Boston	1 35
May 7—Springfield	2 40
16—Wheeling, W. Va.....	19 65
Bellaire, Bridgeport and Martins Ferry, O. car fare	3 00
Telegrams	62
Phone	1 90
Typewriting and notices.....	2 80
Postage and sending out notices.....	2 25
Baggage transferred	75
 Total	$36 67

THOMAS J. DURNIN, International Organizer.

PITTSBURGH, PA., May 22, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—My report for month follows: The meeting held in Labor Temple on April 25 for the purpose of giving the members of Local 209 an opportunity to voice their grievances as to the status of the organization financially and otherwise. Owing to a severe storm occurring at the hour set for the meeting the attendance was not very large, but what it lacked in numbers was made up by a large enthusiasm that prevailed throughout the meeting. President Schatz and many members present, as well as myself, participated in the heart to heart talks for the betterment, as well as the proper means and methods of conducting an organization along lines that would eventually make of the same, a successful organization.

The result of the meeting was the placing of the affairs of the local in the hands of the officials, including myself, with full power to act for thirty days. After adjournment President Schatz, William Tanser, Treasurer Sulzer and myself immediately took up the matter of providing ways and means to remove the obstacles that confronted us on several sides, and Brother Aloysius Cryns, Business Agent and Financial Secretary, was selected to work on a commission basis, members in arrears three months or more, to pay reinstatement fees of $3, and new members an initial fee of $3. These orders to remain in force for a period of one month. It was also decided to meet one week day each week, as well as the regular Sunday meeting of each month. We have met several times during the month and each meeting has been fairly attended and much good has resulted.

I have instructed the proper officials of the correct methods of keeping their books and have time and again impressed upon them the necessity of living up to and following the laws as laid down by the International, especially so concerning suspensions and other matters of equal importance. In clearing up the books and records of the local I found that the method in existence was the carrying of members over the prescribed time set by our laws—members—two, three, four and five months in arrears were carried along as if there was no law in existence on this point whatever, favoritism crept in under this procedure and the financial secretary possibly, as he stated to me, under instructions from the local, used his pleasure in sending in the names of those in arrears. The books as stated have been straightened out, a clean sheet has been given the present financial secretary and I believe that from this time on the books will be properly kept, whereby monies will be saved to the local and a correct report furnished headquarters.

A mass meeting was held on May 12. The meeting was an open one for the Waiters of Pittsburgh, the object being to discuss not the merits, but the demerits of the so-called Pittsburgh Waiters' Association—an organization of mushroom growth, framed for the purpose of benefiting one or two individuals through the tribute process, wherein 25 cents was to be demanded for each day's work you received. The meeting was a success and the way President Schatz handled the grafters was "a caution to snake."

There is good material in Local 209 and I have no fear, if they will use their material in the right direction, success will surely come. To recuperate the finances, a picnic has been decided upon the first Sunday in July and they expect the same will be a profitable venture. An election will be held Thursday, May 28, for the purpose of filling all vacancies in the official list for the ensuing year.

The Bartenders No. 188 need no praise from my pen, an organization with 1,100 members, with Pittsburgh and the vicinity practically sewed up, speaks for itself in more glowing terms than I could with eulogies a yard long. An up-to-date business organization, steadfastly moving forward to better things. An incident at their meeting of May 9 I recall with pleasure. There were seven applicants in waiting for initiation, five were brought in and were initiated. The other two were then brought in, and after being questioned by Brother Hackett as to their previous record, he informed them that he had a communication from Secretary L. J. Tucker of Local No. 278, New Brighton, Pa., that the applicants, Joseph Grovich and George Oslich, were strike-breakers and consequently 188 did not want that kind of material in their organization, and so they were requested to return their buttons and sign a receipt for the return of the initiation fee of $25, which they did and then retired like two whipped curs. Fifty dollars is quite a sum of money for

THE LATE JOHN F. O'SULLIVAN
Fifth Vice-President International Typographical Union. Member Board of Arbitration

an organization to turn down, but unionism is not measured by dollars in 188—this is as it should be and I am gratified and pleased to record here this incident.

The Bartenders sent two delegates to the Pennsylvania State Federation convention, held at Harrisburg May 11, 1915. Brothers D. Hall and Edwin Ray being the choice of the local. They were instructed to present to the convention a resolution placing that body on record as against Local Option and prohibition measures.

With some minor changes in the resolutions, we have been informed that the same was adopted. I am further informed that only fifteen delegates representing our craft were in evidence at the convention. This was a poor showing for the big State of Pennsylvania, with its forty-eight or fifty locals. We have more reasons for attending State Federation conventions at the present time than any other organization affiliated with the A. F. of L., and I sincerely hope that our members will wake up to the importance of being in evidence when the gavel falls at these yearly gatherings. With best wishes, I am,

JERE F. McCARTHY International Organizer.

DETROIT, MICH., May 25, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The report of my last month's work in the Wolverine State is as follows:

On April 29 I attended the meeting of the Royal Arch and delivered an address on "Organization," and my effort seemed to be appreciated. I found out that this organization has done pretty well towards living up to the contract that exists between the Royal Arch and the Detroit Federation of Labor and there is a most friendly feeling existing between these two organizations.

On May 4th I attended the meeting of Local 562 and we initiated four new candidates and also received several new applications, and this goes to show that Business Agent O'Rourke is always on the job and the "watch us grow" slogan is once more in vogue.

I continued my efforts on behalf of the cooks and waiters in this city, but cannot brag about headway that we have made. One day the outlook is very encouraging, and the next day our hopes seem blasted. But we do not intend to relax our efforts in this city until we have organized an "A No. 1" culinary local, for our persistent efforts are bound to be rewarded with final success.

On May 13 I went to Grand Rapids in response to a request made by Chas. Wagner, district organizer of the A. F. of L. Bro. Wagner had been doing some work on the culinary workers in Grand Rapids and had made arrangements for a meeting on Sunday afternoon, May 16th. I attended the meeting of the Grand Rapids Trade Council on the evening of May 14th, and this honorable body gave me the assurance of their moral support in my work in that city.

EDWARD FLORE
General President

I called on many of the culinary workers on the 14th and 15th, and about 25 of them gave me their promise to attend the meeting to be held on the 16th. I found several that had been members of Local 415 and they told me that they would join if we started a union, but gave me to distinctly understand that they would not accept any office, and as I had heard this song before I knew about what to say to them.

The morning of May 16th I attended the meeting of Local 395. There was a good crowd present and it was a lively meeting. There were no initiations, but several new applications were received, among these being one from an individual bearing the name of Cody, an erstwhile resident of Kalamazoo, who had tended bar in that city for several years and could not see his way clear to join Local 368. How well do I remember the way that he scoffed at the idea of becoming a member of Local 368, for I waited upon this individual about six times in two weeks during the month of September, 1914, while I was working in Kalamazoo. Mr. Cody turned a deaf ear to our overtures at that time. About three months later Local 368 received Cody's application, but he never joined. Cody is now seeking a job in a town where it is pretty hard to light if you are not a member of the B. I. L. of A., and now Mr. Cody wants to join, although he has no job. All I have to say in regard to this man Cody is that Local 395 will reject him, just turn him down cold and hard and let him go back to Kalamazoo.

It will be an object lesson to Cody and others of the same calibre.

Our meeting of the culinary workers was a rank failure, as only one lonesome waiter showed up at the hall, and after waiting about two hours and no one else showed up we called the meeting off until a later date. Bro. Wagner and I talked the matter over and, after a careful review of the situation, we decided to postpone action until a little later in the season. Bro. Wagner says he will keep after them and will land them before he lets up on them. And by the way, dear reader, I want to say for Chas. Wagner, that he is a hard worker and one of the cleanest cut and most conscientious trade unionists that I have ever met; and I desire to thank Bro. Wagner for his splendid effort in our behalf during the past month.

On May 19th I made a request of the Detroit Federation of Labor for the service of the organization committee of that body and gained their consent by a unanimous vote. And from that time on the "flying squadron," comprised of Brothers O'Rourke, Lewis, Schlosser and yours truly, will keep after the culinary workers in Detroit until we get them in line or drive them out of town.

A long and hard struggle between the owners of the Sheemway Garden at Riverview Park and the D. F. of L. finally resulted in a victory for the D. F. of L., and as Brother O'Rourke was one of the adjustment committee in this trouble, he succeeded in placing union bartenders in this place; another victory for Billy. And if we can start a culinary local we can get about forty members at this resort.

My expense account for the past month was as follows:

May 12—R.R. fare Detroit to Grand Rapids	$3 04
May 20—Grand Rapids to Detroit.....	3 04
Printing of notices for meeting.....	1 80
Local car fare for month.....	4 00
Stationery and postage for month.....	1 85

Total $13 73

JOSH BRADY,
International Organizer.

OMAHA, NEB., May 24, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Since my last report things are looking up here. Local 264 is more than holding its own, in fact, they are forging to the front in a manner that is very gratifying to the men who have been trying hard to make Local 264 what it should be in the labor movement in Omaha, and if they will only use a little more judgment in the future, why there is no question but what it will take a place second to none.

We have met with the retail liquor dealers at their regular meetings, also have had several conferences with their executive board, and we believe that through these conferences a better feeling exists between Local 264 and the Retail Liquor Dealers' Association. And to tell the truth, this is as it should be, for are we not all fighting the same enemy? And the mere fact that Nebraska will have a State-wide prohibition fight on its hands in 1916 makes it all the more important that the catering interests should be as one, all fighting under the same banner.

Now this has been no easy task, I want to assure you, that is, getting them together, and why this should be I am at a loss to understand. The writing on the wall is so plain that it seems to me that a blind man could see it. What is more encouraging in this fight is that the trade unions almost to a man are with us, and the central body has been a great factor in bringing about the conferences and there is no use in me saying what that means—just victory.

I have called two meetings of the culinary workers, and while at the present time I have been unable to get sufficient names to send for a charter, I am not at all discouraged. The chefs and cooks at the last mass meeting turned out in a manner that was very gratifying, but they seem to think that a little more time should be given them; that is, that all of the chefs in the better class houses should be represented on the charter. We have sent out postals to them for the cooks' meeting on Wednesday, May 26th, and there is no question but what I will secure enough names to send for a charter. Then I am going to work on the waiters and waitresses and I am in hopes to be able to land them, and my reason: they are working long hours and for pay that would make any wise waiter or waitress ashamed to look at their envelope. Of course the proprietors of Omaha have their same old organizations that put us out of business a few years ago, and they are on the job just as strong as they were then. But our people are waking up to the fact that conditions cannot be any worse than they are at the present time and are willing, I believe, to take a chance. We are having the active support of the Trades Unionist. It's a new comer in the field, but it's on the job. So take it all in all, it looks as if Omaha once more will be where it was a few years ago.

Following is my expense account for the month of May:

May 19—Printing cards cooks and waiters' meeting	$ 2 50
Distributing same	2 00
Hall rent	2 00
Interurban and local car fare.....	3 05
Postage for month.....	1 08
 Total	 $10 63

BEN GORTON, International Organizer.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., May 26, 1915.

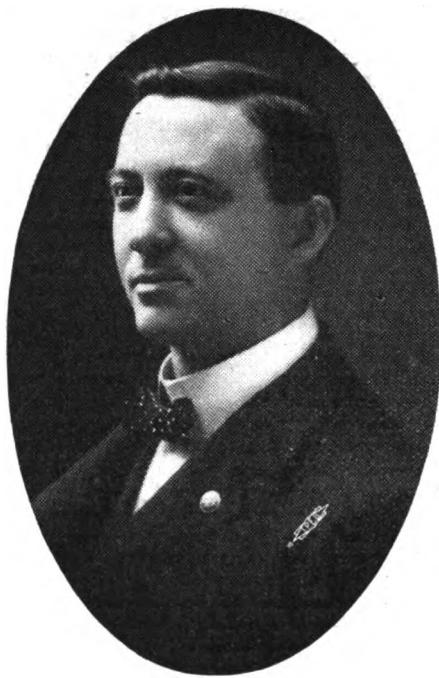

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month of May:

April 29th and 30th visited most of the best restaurants in the business district of New Haven, meeting former members of old Waiters' Union 418 with the prospect of reorganization of the culinary workers. While everyone that I came in contact with was not over-enthusiastic with the proposition, a sufficient amount of encouragement received prompted me to call a meeting for Tuesday, May 4th, at room 24, Insurance Building, Chapel, near Church street.

May 2nd attended meeting of Bartenders' Union 217 in the Eagles' Temple. Meeting was fairly well attended, and at times very poorly conducted owing to the fact that the presiding officer, Brother John Kaniz, lost control of his members. Levying a substantial fine or the suspension of at least three months upon every member that fails to conduct himself in an orderly manner would be the proper tactics to bring the unruly ones to their senses.

At the close of this meeting brought to the attention of the members the absence of the union bar label in their city and the failure of them in wearing the blue button while on duty.

That evening went to Stamford and attended

JERE L. SULLIVAN
General Secretary-Treasurer

the meeting of Bartenders' Local 455, this local having about 25 per cent of their members in attendance. As a presiding officer, Brother James Brennan, of Local 455, has no equal, and will further state has the respect of his members. The boys of Stamford will, in the near future, submit a working agreement to their employers. This local handled considerable business through their meeting, and the writer was pleased to note their liberality towards appeals from other organizations and crafts throughout the country on strike.

May 4th—Mass meeting of the culinary workers of New Haven turned out a fluke. It is alleged that the Hotel and Restaurant Keepers' Association held a meeting the day previous, and in a few hotels notices were placed alongside of the lockers that any employe attending this advertised meeting of cooks, waiters, waitresses would meet with discharge immediately. Circulars distributed at the Garde Hotel were destroyed by a captain by the name of Borrannia, who is a member of the Genevas, and stool-pigeons from the Taft and Cafe Heublein watching those who had nerve to attend. Business Agent George A. Hindley, of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of New Haven called my attention to a number of these spotters who lingered outside the meeting hall carrying out the wishes of their superiors. With only a handful of culinary workers present I readily saw that now was not the proper time to line same up and called the meeting off. Want to thank Brother Frank L. O'Neill of Local 273, Delaney of Local 488, Smith of Local 217, and former member of Local 217, Brother James P. McGearty, for the interest they displayed in trying to bring about a successful reorganization of these workers.

May 5th left New Haven, Conn., for Long Branch, N. J., under instructions. Took up the matter of organizing the bartenders of the latter place at once. The bartenders of this location thought it best to bring in line those who are now employed at Red Bank for the purpose of strengthening their local in Monmouth County. Set out the following day for that purpose, and running up against a former member of Local 131 by the name of Ray Fredenburg and another by the name of Bescher, of Local 3, figured I'd receive a helping hand, but instead both of these men were bitterly opposed, knowing that under no consideration could they be taken up until they would properly reinstate themselves with the local that suspended them. These bartenders are employed at the American Hotel, Red Bank, N. J., and I trust that Locals 3 and 131 will keep a sharp lookout preventing them from affiliating with the organization which was eventually organized and is now known as Bartenders' Union, Local 537, Long Branch, N. J.

THE MIXER AND SERVER

May 9th called a meeting of the bartenders of Long Branch and Red Bank, and after explaining to them the hard fight of our locals in the State of New Jersey on February 2nd and March 22nd to offset the Gaunt Local Option Bill and the immediate benefits they would receive by affiliation with our International Union, and the necessity of them getting out an organization to defeat one of their assemblymen of Monmouth County next election, brought forth almost a sufficient amount of signers to an application for charter affiliation. Brother Frank Garriel, of the Plumbers' Union 263, of Long Branch being present, delivered an interesting address and went on record saying that he and his organization would do everything in their power to support an organization of this kind. Temporary officers were immediately elected, and with more than a sufficient amount subscribed on Tuesday, May 11th, subscribed for a charter.

May 16th held meeting of bartenders and elected the following officers for a period of two years: Frank M. Campbell, president; Alfred Cochrane, vice-president; Alex. Brown, secretary-treasurer; William T. Campbell, recording and corresponding secretary; Thomas West, inspector; William Sheldon, chaplain; Louis Zipp, inner guard; Joseph H. Cooper, outer guard. Instituted Bartenders' Union, Local 537, of Long Branch, N. J., and installed their officers. At once made preparations to place their secretary-treasurer under bond through the National Surety Company in compliance with section 64. A board of trustees, also a grievance committee will be elected at some future meeting.

May 18th appeared before Plumbers' Union 263, of Long Branch, in the interests of our new organization, requesting their members to make a demand upon the bartenders to wear the blue button and their proprietors to display the union bar label. The plumbers went on record to not only do that, but in the future when sending out printed notices to its members to demand of them not to be served unless the bartender has the proper credentials with him at all times. The following day, with the president and secretary of Local Union 537, opened a bank account in the New Jersey Mortgage and Trust Company, 174 Broadway, Long Branch, N. J., in the name of their union.

May 19th final instructions were given the officers of Local 537 as to how to keep their books correctly, also as to how the secretary should make out his monthly reports.

May 23rd attended meeting of Local 537 and had the pleasure of initiating a number of new candidates. President Campbell has appointed a number of his members to seek some place half way between Red Bank and Long Branch for the purpose of obtaining a suitable headquarters at a reasonable rental and report the first Sunday in June. These boys have taken their business up like old masters in the game, and with the same spirit each meeting, it won't be long before they will have the majority of the best mixers organized in Monmouth County.

May 25th left Long Branch, N. J., for Brooklyn, N. Y., to assist our locals in the latter city for a period of a few days.

My expense account for the month of May was as follows:

May 2—New Haven, Conn., to Stamford,
Conn., return	$1 98
5—New Haven, Conn., to Long
Branch, N. J.....	2 87
6, 7, 10, 11—Long Branch to Red Bank,
N. J., return.....	1 20
12—Long Branch to Belmar, N. J.. return	40
14, 15—Long Branch to Eatontown, N.
J., return	40
25—Long Branch to Brooklyn, N. Y....	1 30
Printing as per receipted bill.....	4 25
Distributing circulars	1 00
Postage and typewritten notices.....	3 25
Telegram and telephones.....	1 81
Street car fare.....	2 00
Hall rent	2 00
Total	$22 46

WILLIAM B. JOYCE, International Organizer.

WACO, TEXAS, May 25, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month of May, extending from April 25th to the above date:

My last report left me in Houston, Texas, when I explained matters to you in regard to me organizing a culinary local in that city. We will never have the hotel and restaurant people organized in Houston as long as the present bunch dominates in that city and as long as they have a waiters' club with a State charter. Realizing these facts, and after we had everything in tip-top shape with Local 750, I left that city on the 6th for Waco, where I found a live local of bartenders and good prospects for a culinary local.

I had previously notified our boys in Waco that I expected to arrive in that city in time to attend their regular meeting on May 9th, and asked that all members be notified, as I wanted to meet every member of Local 744 at their meeting on the above date. Upon my arrival, it being at a late hour, in the city and finding none of the members at the train to meet me, it was up to me to find a hotel, which I did in a short time, and prepared to see them next morning.

I visited our secretary, Brother Joe Dushek, and was shown around by that brother until we had visited most of the members on duty, and was promised by all to be present at their meeting the following Sunday.

On Sunday the 9th we assembled at the Trades and Labor Council Hall. I found nearly all of the members present and, after an explanation from myself on the importance of their local having representation on the floor of the next convention, a motion was made that the local send a delegate to San Francisco, which was carried. Now came the tug of war. A number of candidates were nominated for the honor, and after some lively voting Brother Joe Dushek, the local's secretary, was declared elected and a credential was filled out and sent to the general office showing Brother Dushek to be the man who would represent Local 744 at our next convention. Several matters of importance to the local were discussed and many questions were asked and answered, showing that the members of Local 744 are interested in their future welfare. After the meeting adjourned I was informed that just in the next room adjoining the meeting room there was something awaiting me, and upon entering I found as nice a spread of good things to eat and stuff to wash it down with as one would wish to come in contact with. Of course you know I walked right in and turned around and walked right out again. (Nit.) It's not necessary for me to say what I done to about six feet square of that table, to say I done my duty would be putting in a very mild form. Ask the bunch.

During my stay in Waco, I learned that we stood a good chance to organize the waiters of that city, but owing to the fact that I had made previous arrangements to visit our Dallas locals on matters of importance it was necessary for me to journey to that city, as well as Fort Worth, before I made an attempt at organizing in Waco. So on the 10th I left for Dallas, where I found conditions not as we would desire. I found quite a misunderstanding existing in Local 659, which I proceeded to straighten out. I at once realized the only trouble was caused by some misrepresentations, and upon attending a meeting of the above named local I was fully convinced that something must be done or our International would be censured for something it was innocent of and knew nothing of, so it was get busy for me and get all the necessary proof that was needed from the proper authorities, which I did in short order.

At the next regular meeting of Local 659 I had all the necessary proof at hand and had it at this meeting on night of Wednesday the 19th, where I found at least 95 per cent of the members present. We proceeded to land the fault where it belonged, and I fully believe our International has been vindicated, in fact, I know it. Local 659 has always been, in my opinion, one of the best locals affiliated with our International, and after this trouble has been placed where it belonged, I am sure it stands today the same good old loyal local as of yore.

On Sunday the 16th I attended a regular meeting of Local 547, bartenders of Dallas, and found that local one of the best, well officered and their business transacted in a business-like way. President Gaskin, together with Secretary Jimmy Warren, makes a real team and are the right men in the right place. Local 547 has up-to-date headquarters, which goes a long way in maintaining an up-to-date local, and where the members are not ashamed to assemble and transact their business. I was granted the floor and gave the boys a good talk.

Boys of Texas, the prohibitionists are not sleeping in your State. They are collecting ammunition with which to make a stubborn fight, and it's going to come sooner than we wish or even expect. Our International has been good to you in the past, why not show your appreciation by urging your best men to help maintain our splendid and one of the best Internationals on earth? You are surrounded by dry territory and you are going to be found hollowing for help before you hardly realize how it happened.

ROBT. HESKETH
First Vice-President

According to previous arrangements I visited our local in Fort Worth, but it happened to be at a time when they had no meeting and business called me in Dallas, so I had to pay my visit to the city and members on duty, and in the meantime visit some of the restaurants of the city and see what prospects were for organizing a culinary local in Fort Worth. With time and some hard work I believe we can organize that city, and I hope at some future date to see Fort Worth lined up with a cooks and waiters' local. I believe the members of Local 206 realize the importance of organizing the culinary workers of Fort Worth. I had a talk with several saloon men and especially the state secretary of the Texas Liquor Dealers and some of the members of the Fort Worth liquor dealers, and each of them expressed themselves on the importance of organizing every local possible in the State.

Back to Waco on the 24th, where I hope to be able to organize a culinary local in a few days. I know I have the members of Local 744 with me along this line, as well as the saloon proprietors of Waco. I hope in my next report to be able to report an up-to-date culinary local in Waco and I believe I will.

My expense for the month is as follows:
May 6—Houston to Waco and sleeper....	$7 55
10—To Dallas	3 00
22—To Ft. Worth and return, twice..	2 50
24—Dallas to Waco.....	3 00
Two telegrams	75
Street car fare and postage.....	3 50
Typewriter work and supplies.....	3 25
Baggage transferred Houston, Waco, Dallas, Waco	2 25
Bus hire, Houston, Waco, Dallas.....	75
Total	$26 55

W. E. REYNOLDS,
International Organizer.
Digitized by Google

THE MIXER AND SERVER

DOUGLAS, ARIZ., May 27, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month:

I arrived in Phoenix, Ariz., on the night of April 25, as per instructions. I did not have any clear idea what I was sent to accomplish, so I commenced to nose around, and it did not take me many hours to begin to see what Local 631 was confronted with. I find that they are up against a tough proposition; one that will take some time and money and a lot of diplomacy to handle, and one that will need attention in the near future. I stayed there three weeks, and believe that I have a good line on the situation, and have and will report the details of same to General Office.

During my stay in Phoenix I discussed the situation with the officers and members of Local 631, with some of the proprietors and with parties of other crafts, so I believe I have a fairly good line on the situation.

I left Phoenix on the 20th, and arrived in Globe the same night. I found things here in good shape. Conditions are good and wages are good, and the attendance at meetings are above the average. There were twenty-seven out of a membership of sixty at meeting the night I arrived. The officers of Local 680, Miami, are to be highly complimented on the manner in which they are handling the business of the local. There is the best of harmony between the officers and members and between the proprietors and the local. If any of our traveling brothers are coming this way, I would advise them to bring a traveling card, as they will not be many hours in town until Bro. Clancey, business agent, will be on their trail, and he hasn't the greatest respect for a man who does not keep the current month's stamp in his book.

Left Globe on the morning of the 25th, and landed in Douglas in the evening. I found a good, live bunch here, and called a special meeting for the night of the 26th. Twenty-two members out of a membership of thirty-five were present. The boys are furnishing up a hall for themselves, so that they can have a place to call home, where they can meet and talk without going to a pool hall or talking on the street corners.

Took up the matter of bonding their secretary with the local, and they have applied for a bond for him. Also took up the matter of using a duplicate receipt with a serial number, and they have ordered same. The boys in Douglas have suffered on account of the depression in copper, but the outlook for the near future is good.

The following is my expense account for the month:

Telegram to General Office.....	$ 1 00
Local carfare in Phoenix.....	1 05
Fare from Phoenix to Globe.....	10 00
Three round trips from Globe to Miami..	1 50
Fare from Globe to Douglas.....	10 65
Local fare in Douglas.....	25
Postage for the month.....	75
Total	$25 20

With best wishes, I beg to remain

Yours fraternally, J. N. BUTLER,
Special Defense Organizer.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month of May:

May 1st to 5th in cities of Seattle and Tacoma.
On 5th to Spokane by way of Portland, Ore.

At the latter city I found the old war-horse, Bro. Chas. Grassman, a very busy man trying to keep the bartenders lined up. Neither local in Portland will be likely represented at the Frisco convention owing to lack of finances. Secretary Grassman will make a strong effort to go, but he realizes that that money is a very scarce article these days. Still, Charlie has given many years of faithful service to the Portland boys and he is entitled to every consideration at their hands.

On the 7th to Spokane. Found the culinary workers holding their own, but badly handicapped by the enactment of the Anti-Picketing Law, which was passed at the last session of the State legislature. At this writing, the workers of the State are making every effort to get that law, and several others, put before the people via the referendum route. But sorry to say, there is entirely too much apathy shown by a lot of organizations which have not had to use the "picket," and how, on that account, imagine that they have no interest in the fight. But take it from me, if the workers of Washington fail to have success in this fight, it won't take the present legislature long to pass other bills which will directly affect the interests of those organizations which are now unconcerned.

Sorry to report that I found Bartenders' Local 485 in a rather discouraging frame of mind, the boys having expended most of their funds in the recent prohibition fight. Meeting with the executive board, conditions were gone over, plans made for a sort of "revival," and a committee appointed to arrange for a dance on the 27th. Later, at the meeting on the 16th, a special reinstatement fee was offered for a period of two weeks to those members who had fallen in arrears, and who, through lack of employment, might find it hard to meet their obligation.

Attended meetings of culinary workers, and with Secretary Gray to guide, made a round of the houses to shake up the boys and girls to a further effort, even if we can't use the "picket" just now. In one of the largest cafes there is a contemplated cut in wages facing the members unless they show more interest in the union than they have been doing lately. At "Davensports" the conditions are simply too rotten to describe, and the "experienced" European help employed there, if they had an ounce of backbone, would have started something long ago, but instead of getting together, they would rather knock our International Unions and take the crumbs thrown them by the management. Anyway, if those that prefer to pay their dollar a month are "dopes," as called by those "experienced Europeans," they have the satisfaction of knowing that they are on the "long end" when the pay envelope is handed around by the boss.

The following is my expense account:
May 2—Seattle to Tacoma and return....	$ 1 00
5—to Portland and sleeper.....	7 10
7—to Spokane and sleeper.....	13 70
25—to Couer d'Alene and return.....	1 50
Car fare and telephone.....	3 60
Stationery	1 45
Stamps	2 00
Exchange on checks (2).....	50
Total	$30 85

With best wishes,

Fraternally yours,

A. C. BECK,
International Organizer.

THE FORUM

HITTING THE HIGH SPOTS.

The readers of the MIXER AND SERVER who have perused the various articles under "The Forum" heading, which directed attention to the establishment and conduct of The Culinary Craft, the publication, which we have been told, was the property of Local 30, of San Francisco, and the publication which we have rechristened "The Voice of Secession," for, notwithstanding its public utterances to the effect that it advocates segregation, its seven sacred scribes know only too well that there is no such thing possible as legal segregation of our crafts by action of any conference, convention or meeting which may be called under the auspices of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America, and in accordance with its laws. As the undersigned began to say, those of our readers who have perused the articles with reference to the secessionists and their publication have been given but brief references to what has been printed in their publication, therefore there is quite an immense accumulation of matter which has been left for future consideration; and it is with the view in mind of presenting a little journey, which we invite you to participate in, and visit in numerical sequence each monthly issue of The Culinary Craft—call it an analysis, if you will; but whatever name you may finally give this little journey, it seems to the writer it will be well worth your patience and time.

Well, we are off. The first number we stop at is January, 1914, wherein we find the printed statement that, "Commencing with this number, 'The Culinary Craft' will be edited by a press committee appointed by San Francisco Waiters' Union, Local No. 30, which now owns the paper."

In that number we also find the information imparted that the following members were appointed—not elected—but appointed:

"Otto Ziemer, Hugo Ernst, K. Heppe, I. Shenskan, A. C. Rose, J. D. Kirkpatrick, Theo. Johnson," as The Press Committee. Seven; count 'em.

In that same number we found the following: "The main purpose of the union in taking over the paper is to provide a means for interchange of thought and dissemination of interesting information, suggestions and plans for the benefit of culinary workers throughout the United States."

Right from the "first gun" fired they had excluded our Canadian members from their "great, big campaign which was going to revolutionize everything connected with the culinary end of the catering industry." Probably that studied act on the part of the press committee had one of two things in mind: either they recognized the fact that the Canadian culinary workers had a habit or "wanting to know why," or that they might drive those members into the International Genevas, which had made quite a campaign in British North America about that period. That such a conclusion is not far-fetched may be best appreciated by calling attention to the fact that one-sixth of the front page was occupied with the following announcement:

"Don't Forget the Fourth Grand Annual Ball of the International Geneva Association, Tuesday, February 10th, 1914, in the German House, Turk and Polk Sts. Ticket for Gentleman and Ladies, $1."

To further emphasize the conclusion given expression above, we found about one-half a column reading notice on the back inside page, with the heading reading: "Testimonial Geneva Association." And then followed the "Minutes of General Meeting, Held January 14, 1914, Section San Francisco." In those minutes we find that they considered a proposal to subscribe for fifty copies of The Culinary Craft, "formerly owned by our member, J. Karsten," and the glad tidings was made known that Karsten has been retained as manager of The Culinary Craft. As a companion piece to the referred to minutes, we note an article, entitled "The Father of Syndicalism," thus early in the game paving the way for further contributions in advocacy of that idea. To show to their readers that there were quite some celebrities among the press committee, as well as to prove to the "Comrades" that they had at least one of their guardians on the big job, they printed the following bit of news:

"At the convention of the Socialist Party of San Francisco, held on Sunday, January 18, 1914, Brother Hugo Ernst, Secretary of Waiters' Union No. 30, was nominated for State Senator in the Eighteenth Senatorial District. More power."

On the editorial page we found the following illuminating bit of misinformation: "The bakers are 80 per cent organized in the United States." In order to fully appreciate that statement reference to the United States Census for 1910 discloses the fact that there were 89,531 bakers in the United States. Another reference is made to the voting strength of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers' International Union. We find that at the Seattle (Wash.) Convention of the A. F. of L. they cast a vote of 151, and that at the last convention of the A. F. of L., November, 1914, they had a voting strength of 157. The laws of the A. F. of L. on representation at its conventions read in part: "One vote for each one hundred members or majority fraction thereof." The vote is based on the average membership reported for the fiscal year; in other words, according to the laws of the A. F. of L., the Bakery and Confectionery Workers averaged for 1913 a membership of fifteen thousand one hundred members per month, and in 1914 had increased their average membership per month to fifteen thousand and seven hundred. If 15,700 organized bakers are 80 per cent of the reported figures taken from the census, 89,531, then we must admit that our arithmetic is not on straight; it sags rather badly and needs pressing back into place. The Bakery and Confectionery Workers' International Union is exactly what its title implies. They have jurisdiction over candy makers, and if we include them in the total, there would be an army of over a hundred thousand workers. Surely the number organized and contributing to the Bakery and Confectionery Workers, approximately 16,000, are not 80 per cent of 100,000, nor of the lesser figure mentioned in a previous paragraph. We are generous enough to wish the Bakery and Confectionery Workers' organization possessed the membership which would give them the privilege of claiming 80 per cent of their trade organized, but we know that they are not that fortunate, and it seems silly for any writer to put forth extravagant claims which are a manifest injury to the organization mentioned. The Bakers are not boasters, and it is unfair to them to offer data which would place them in such a position. But it will be noted that in later issues of the "Voice of Secession" and despite the editorial policy announced by the Sacred Septette in reserving "the right to edit all articles for publication, to avoid inaccuracies of expression, or publication of statements not easily verified," that the Seven Sacred Scribes permitted one of their contributors to make a statement crediting the Bakers' organization with a membership of 60,000. We repeat, that we hope the day will soon arrive when the Bakers' organization will have over 60,000 members, but the insistence of the editors of the "Voice of Secession" and their contributors of printing numerical exaggerations is to say the least questionable and of negative value to the organization which they use for an example.

FRANK HOFFMAN
Second Vice-President

On the same page with the statement referred to above, appears another which reads: The Hotel Workers' Union of New York, an independent organization, has succeeded in organising 16,000 culinary workers in six months. The International Union has not been able to organise 5,000 in fourteen years in the same city. Can any Cook or Waiter tell us why?

If that statement were true that 16,000 waiters had been organized by the Hotel Workers' Union in New York, we are wondering why they failed to win their strike in 1912; any person at all familiar with the hotel situation in New York will advise you that, if it ever transpires that 16,000 waiters become attached to any union in New York that within 24 hours of that event, every alleged abuse which they could conceive of would be obliterated and the proprietors would be jumping over one another to subscribe to any reasonable agreement.

Our International Union succeeded in organizing a Waiters' Union in New York, and it had the largest membership of any waiters' organization which ever saw the light of day in that city. We also organized a Cooks' Union in New York which had the largest membership of any cooks' organization ever established on Manhattan island, and it may interest the Seven Sacred Scribes and their followers to be informed that both of these magnificent organizations were put on the "skids" by the very persons who later laid claim to organizing the I. H. W. U., aided and abetted by the International Geneva Association, who, to quote Mr. Walter Sharp, the Geneva's spokesman when he was a member of Local 30 and writing for the "Voice of Secession," said about the I. G. A. that "the first Branch in the United States was organized in New York City in 1904. In the face of strong opposition, it was organized by men WHO DESPAIRED OF EVER GETTING ANY HEADWAY FROM THE THEN EXISTING UNION." It was in 1904 that our fine organizations of Waiters and Cooks began to feel the insidious and ceaseless work of these agents of dissent, and who finally succeeded in doing the bidding of their masters, leaving behind the skeletons of two splendid locals to mark the result of their damnable work—work not greatly at variance with that which the Sacred Septette has been doing since the first issue of the "Voice of Secession" made its appearance under their management, January, 1914—work which has seemingly continued under the direction of a wrecker thoroughly acquainted with his task. Supposing for the sake of argument that our International had never succeeded in organizing 5,000 culinary workers in New York; would that fact indicate negligence on the part of officers of our International Union, or would it indicate lack of understanding of the culinary workers of that city. Comparing New York with San Francisco from an organized labor standpoint may seemingly be an appropriate method to win converts to secession, but the reader who is engaged in the catering industry and who has ever spent 48 hours in the two cities need not be advised of the difference nor of the advantages which the Pacific Coast municipality has enjoyed for many, many years. Notwithstanding this splendid advantage, with a labor movement which has accomplished probably more than any municipality in America. Local 30 has not kept step with the advance guard. To prove that statement let us refer to the official files, to correspondence received many years ago and following the establishment of Local 30. Our general office records show that Local 30 was chartered January 25, 1901, and the union installed by the officers of the San Francisco Labor Council January 29, 1901. Frank Strawn Hamilton, who carried on the correspondence with the general office, and who probably more than any other man, was instrumental in putting Local 30 on the map, and who never sought credit for his work to our knowledge, wrote us a letter from which we quote the following:

"One month after beginning the work of organization, we are able to report the existence of a local with 500 members, a paid business agent, and an employment office and headquarters in one of the principal office buildings in the city. We think our showing bears out the contention of San Francisco trade unionists that in matters of organization, our city leads all others in the country. But we don't intend to stop here. Our membership is increasing at the rate of one hundred a week. Within three months we expect to have twenty-five hundred. With the support of the Labor Council and a healthy public sentiment in favor of unionism, we are certain to accomplish substantial results."

Frank Strawn Hamilton was the first business agent of Local 30; in a letter a few weeks later he wrote: "The sentiment in favor of unionism is so strong in the city that hardly any business man cares to wantonly defy it."

In a letter from W. L. Caudle, Secretary of Local 30, he wrote us that on March 29, 1901, when the charter closed Local 30 had a membership of 1,200. Later Secretary Caudle wrote us that on May 22, 1901, the roster of Local 30 showed a membership of 2,462. In the same letter he wrote: "The trades unionists of this city are deserving of great credit for the magnificent help extended to us in a moral and financial way."

The United States census for 1900 show San Francisco to have had a population of 342,782, in the 1910 census that city was credited with a population of 416,912; it is reasonable to suppose that on January 1, 1915, the population had reached the 500,000 mark; the purpose of injecting this bit of information will be apparent presently, for the writer proposes to show that the present-day management of Local 30 have not followed up the advantages left them by the founders of that union.

Local 30 did not take waitresses as members at the outset for reasons best known to the management of the union at that time. Frank Strawn Hamilton wrote us previously to retiring from office: "That the waitresses, too, are asking for an organization, I shall ask the Executive Committee to hold a meeting for them next week."

That was his intention; no doubt it was carried into effect, but the Executive Committee did not seem inclined to take hold of the matter, for it was quite some time subsequent before the waitresses, who continued persistently, were given a chance to become members of Local 30. In the latter part of May, 1901, Local 30 boasted a membership of THREE THOUSAND PAID UP-TO-DATE, out of that number 263 were waitresses. Secretary Caudle writing about that time, said:

"We have fine headquarters, centrally located, thoroughly lit up with electric lights; pool tables and other amusements of a non-gambling kind, besides a cigar stand and other comforts appreciated by those who serve a hungry and

W. H. FOSTER
Third Vice-President

thirsty public." In October, 1901, Secretary Caudle wrote: ".I'm sure that by May 1, 1902, Local 30 will not only be the largest local in the United States, but will be the BEST ORGANIZED UNION BETWEEN THE WATERS."

Refer back to that paragraph covering population in 1900, one year previous to the formation of Local 30 and consider that if the officers in command at that time regarded THREE THOUSAND members "paid up to date," May, 1901, as but the starting point, that they expected to "not only be the largest local in the United States, but the best organized between the (Atlantic and Pacific) waters." Who is at fault for subsequent failure to maintain a similar numerical status?

The cooks left Local 30 in July, 1902; Local 44 was chartered July 8, 1902, therefore their first report to the general office will give one an idea of the proportionate number of cooks in Local 30, and who transferred to Local 44. Our records read:

Local 44, August, 1902, 161 members, 39 initiations, total members 200. Local 48 was chartered February 3, 1906, and their first report was for the month of March, 1906, and our records read:

Local 48, March, 1906, 167 members, 2 initiations, total members 169. That report seems to show that Local 30 did not give great encouragement to the waitresses, for by reference to a previous paragraph it will be noted that way back in May, 1901, there were 263 waitresses in Local 30. The cooks' union made rapid strides for inside of a year they were beyond the 900 mark in membership, their May, 1903, report reading: Local 44, May, 1903, 907 members, 20 initiations, total members 927.

C. W. McCURDY
Fourth Vice-President

In presenting the foregoing figures it will be noted that out of that membership of Three Thousand Paid Up-to-date in Local 30 in May, 1901, there were approximately less than Five Hundred cooks and waitresses, that would seem to leave 2,500 waiters in Local 30 on that date. Let us be generous and assume that the Cooks and Waitresses were one-third the total membership, that would leave 2,000 waiters in Local 30. Without in any way decrying the work of the cooks or waitresses' unions, but in order to grasp matters as they stood January 1, 1913, the following tabulation shows the membership in the following locals in San Francisco:

Local 30—January, 1913, total membership per reports, 1,451.

Local 44—January 1913, total membership per reports, 903.

Local 48—January 1913, total membership per reports, 592.

Total membership, January 1, 1913, 2,946.

In setting before the readers the membership data at the date above during normal conditions, before the opening of the exposition, it gives the reader an opportunity to make comparisons with the period referred to when the total culinary membership in San Francisco was 3,000.

Probably the Sacred Seven will try to direct your attention to the fact that the earthquake occurred between the two periods, but they may conveniently overlook advising you that San Francisco in 1901, and San Francisco in 1913, show the latter period as supporting a greater number of catering industry establishments than ever before in the history of that municipality and the city had added to its population 74,130 souls.

From January, 1901, to January, 1913, covers a period of twelve years, yet in the month of May, 1901, Local 30 boasted of a membership of THREE THOUSAND, whereas after twelve years and with Segregation working to its fullest extent in San Francisco, the total membership of the three culinary locals fell short of three thousand; the membership of Local 30 showing to disadvantage in the comparison, for it will be noted that Cooks' Union started with a membership of 200, including its first month's initiations and had a membership as noted, of 903, January 1, 1913, while the Waitresses' Local 48, who began with a membership of 169 members, which included two initiations, had a membership January 1, 1913, of 592. In other words the Cooks' Union Local 44 showed an increase of 703, and the Waitresses' Union Local 48, an increase of 423 in the interval between segregating from Local 30 and the date mentioned, January 1, 1913. That may be an argument for segregation, if it is, probably it will be discarded, for the excellent reason that it emphasizes the utter incompetence of those in charge of Local 30's affairs.

Local 30 had a membership January 1, 1913, of 1,451, which means that in comparison to its boasted membership of May, 1901, (less the one-third allowed for the cooks and waitresses in the local at that period) 2,500, that under the management of segregation advocates and with absolutely no obstacles confronting them, the best that they could produce was a local union with approximately half the number of their trade union predecessors.

If you who read these lines were placed in charge of a local union of 2,500 members and displayed so little gumption and executive ability as to lose practically half of that membership, would you emphasize your impotency by drawing attention to your failure?

That was a fairly long stop with the January, 1914, number, but it seemed necessary in order to direct attention to several matters which might have been overlooked. In the February number of "The Voice of Secession," the whole outside cover is "occupied" with a half tone cut under which the following appears:

"Fourth Grand Annual Ball, International Geneva Association, February 10, 1914. Section San Francisco."

On the editorial page of that number we read the following chunk of wisdom (?): "One of the most important reasons for segregating the culinary workers from the bartenders is the attitude assumed by nearly all bartenders' unions in demanding a high initiation fee." It required a bright fellow to make that very important discovery, but it will take a still brighter one to explain what connection there is between the entrance fee of a union of bartenders, be it large or small, and the progress of a culinary union. Further along in that wonderful (?) editorial we find emphasized the query: "Did you ever hear of a bartenders' strike?"

That query coming from one who lays claim to being one of the oldest members of Local 30, seems to indicate that perusing "Solidarity" and similar publications does affect the vision as well as the mental equipment. On page 15 of that number we find one column of paragraphs devoted to the affairs of Local 30, another column devoted to a "write-up" of the International Geneva Association's Fourth Annual Ball, while the third portion of that page is divided up between Local 110 and the Pacific Coast Waiters'

Association. Right from the start the boosting campaign for dual organizations flourished.

In the March, 1914, number of the "Voice of Secession," the front page is devoted to a half tone cut of the Dining Room staff of the Portola Louvre Cafe, San Francisco, but there is no foot note following to indicate that the crew are members of Local 30. In that number was printed Local 30's boast of breaking the law and chuckling over "the courage to stand up for what was best for them." On page 6 of that number we are informed that: "In San Francisco there are four organizations of waiters—the Waiters' Union, the Pacific Coast Waiters' Association, the French and Italian Waiters' Club and the Geneva Association;" and that in Los Angeles there are three Waiters' organizations—the Waiters' Union, the Southern Coast Waiters' Association and the Geneva Association." In that number we find the complaint made that the Mixer and Server is purposely ignoring The Culinary Craft, and it was at the conclusion of that complaint that the fateful words appeared, "We shall and will be heard."

On page 15 of that number the minutes of Local 30's meetings and those of the Geneva Association run neck and neck; on page 16 the following items appear: "Waitresses' Union, Local 48, ask for a boycott on the Sutter Hotel;" "Max L. Engel, ex-treasurer of section Seattle I. G. A., well known here, is amongst us;" "Mr. I. Shenkan, contemplating to be absent indefinitely from this city, has tendered his resignation as auditor of the P. C. W. A."

Mr. Shenkan, despite being deprived of membership in our International Union appears to have been carried as a member of Local 30, for it will be noted that his name appears as one of the press committee, appointed by Local 30.

In the April number we find the editorial septette grabs a cap from the Mixer and Server and adjusts it very nicely to the combined heads of the sacred seven. In a part of their editorial in which an effort to get from under was made, they say: "Under no circumstances would a segregationist of the true blood accept office under the Cincinnati machine." An effort to fatten their batting average on the Mentality League, they know only too well that "office" under the administration means selection for intelligence and ability to aid the organization move forward. In the language of the maid on her way to milk the cow: "Nobody asked you, sir, she said." Show us a "Segregationist of the true blood" and forthwith we will show you a reactionary, one whose bible is the official mouth-piece of the I. W. W. and named Solidarity, whose prime motive in living is on a par with the sand fleas which infest the dunes within sight of the Cliff House and Seal Rock—an abomination and irritation combined. Under the heading, "Beauty and Skinning," page 4 of the April, 1914, number we find this interesting bit which may interest you and give you a faint idea of "how well they love some of us": "Beauty is only skin deep: skinning has been a gentle art. Let us stop those who are doing the skinning, by organizing a culinary organization for the benefit of culinary workers, one that will not be an apology for the LIQUOR INTERESTS." The emphasis is ours; the surprise is yours—providing you are not beyond such feeling so far as the utterances of the Sacred Seven. We challenge you to pick up any one of the numerous publications printed by the Anti-

F. SESMA
Fifth Vice-President

Saloon League of America and find a nastier fling, or one more uncalled for and inexcusable, except perhaps on the score of being paid to "turn the trick." It will be noted that notwithstanding the Anti-Saloon fling, that the "The Culinary Craft" is quite willing to accept coin for advertising from saloonmen, wine merchants and beer agents, perhaps on the theory that the more money they take away from the "Liquor Interests," the less they will have to use for protective purposes. The interests of the P. C. W. A. and Genevas were cared for as usual in the April number, the minutes of sessions held being given generous space, while poor old Number 30 had to be content with about a "stick" full of matter.

In the May, 1914 number we find an editorial which attempts to reconcile segregation with industrialism—and does so to the full satisfaction of the Sacred Septette—but rather disquieting to those who imagined that the two terms were opposed to one another. In one part of the referred to editorial we find the following attempt to justify their course or to make it appear that they had delved deep into the subject: "The Knights of Labor, once a very powerful labor organization, was wrecked from the same causes that are now making themselves felt in our own International. The executive committee of the Knights of Labor undertook to centralize an authority; it massed men of various callings into the same assembly. Failing sufficiently to respect the autonomy of the different trades, an opposition to this policy sprang up, ending in a split. This split in turn resulted in the formation of the A. F. of L., which learned from the experience of the K. of L., etc."

In the language of the street urchin, that is some history, and goes to prove how fearfully

MISS ELIZABETH MALONEY
Sixth Vice-President

the events of those days can be twisted to suit those seeking support for a weak case.

What are the facts, not the droolings of a near historian?

The Knights of Labor came into existence December 28, 1869, the Knights of Labor became a National organization on the first day of January, 1878, and the first general assembly or convention was held in the city of Reading, Pa., January 1, 1878. Uriah S. Stephens, a garment cutter of Philadelphia, Pa., was chosen the first Grand Master Workman; Ralph Beaumont, a shoemaker of Elmira, N. Y., was the first Grand Worthy Foreman and Charles H. Litchman, a shoemaker of Marblehead, Mass., was elected as the Grand Secretary. The second general assembly was held at St. Louis, Mo., January 14, 1879. There were twenty-three delegates present. U. S. Stephens was re-elected and Terrence V. Powderly succeeded Ralph Beaumont as General Worthy Foreman.

The third general assembly met at Chicago, Ill., September 2, 1879. The success of the order may be gleaned from the fact that it owed the G. M. W. part of his salary, which was $400 per year. At this meeting T. V. Powderly became the G. M. W. It was not until after the fifth general assembly, which had been held at Detroit, Mich., September 6, 1881, that the name of the order was made public; that gathering ordering such publicity to take place in a general statement bearing date of January 1, 1882. The order did not attain momentum until previous to the convening of the Richmond convention or general assembly, when, according to the records, the membership was 104,335. The Richmond general assembly convened October 4, 1886. That is history which we challenge the Sacred Septette to question. Now let us see how much truth there is in the statement that the A. F. of L. was the result of a "split" in the K. of L. The American Federation of Labor was organized November 15, 1881, and held its first convention at Pittsburgh, Pa., December 15 to 18, of the same year, 1881. The A. F. of L. from the outset assumed no cloak of secrecy, it announced to the public what its mission was, and invited the workers to become members. There was no "split" in the K. of L. when the A. F. of L. was instituted, nor in fact was there internal trouble until almost six years after the American Federation of Labor had been launched, and the A. F. of L. had become an organization of close on to 150,000 members. That also is irrefutable history and a similar challenge is offered to the Sacred Seven to show any record to the contrary.

That the Sacred Septette unwittingly voiced a growing impression when they said that "the same causes that are now making themselves felt in our International," was what "wrecked the K. of L." To make that point clear and easily understood, let me quote a few passages from "Thirty Years of Labor," by Terrence V. Powderly, former General Master Workman of the Knights of Labor printed in 1889.

Observe closely that the following is a quotation from pages 526 and 527:

"The feeling of discontent which became apparent among the working people of the United States in 1886 presented an opportunity to a class of men who affected to be 'leaders of thought and action' to come to the front and take a part in directing the current of industrial affairs into a course which they hoped would bring about a revolution, destroy the governmental structure, and reduce the political affairs of the nation to a condition bordering on chaos. For years prior to 1886, whenever a labor meeting was called in any large city a number of men, calling themselves Socialists, would flock to the gathering, and either attempt to officer it or cause it to break up in disorder. To do either one was considered a victory by the 'radical element,' as they were pleased to term themselves."

From page 533 we take the following:

"A cardinal principle with the rampant Socialist and Anarchist is to propagandize on every occasion that presents itself. If a new society of laboring men is established these extremists become members of it, and attempt to force their ideas to the front. In canting phrase and with mock humility they will insinuate themselves into the good graces of men who would scorn them were they to disclose their real feelings, and once they gain the good will of such, they have inserted a wedge between the members of that society that sooner or later will drive them apart."

Evidently Mr. Powderly was not alone in his views of the injury which was being inflicted by the "political revolutionists," for on page 534 he offers the following:

Quotation from a letter written by Uriah S. Stephens. The letter was written August 19, 1879, while he was G. M. W., and to a member of the Knights of Labor, who had communicated with him on the subject of the interference of Socialists. It reads:

"You must not allow the Socialists to get control of your assembly. They are simply disturbers, and only gain entrance to labor societies that they may be in better position to break them up. You can not fathom them, for they are crafty."

cunning, and unscrupulous. I detest the name of Socialism on account of the actions of the men who profess to believe in it. They rush to every gathering and attempt to man or officer it. Having done that, and having driven all decent men away, they are supremely happy in the delusion that they have spread their ideas still farther. I have had an experience with them that you could not possibly have had, and I warn you against having anything to do with them either individually or as a body. They tear down and very seldom even attempt to build up. They do nothing for the cause of labor, save to do it harm. If the Socialists ever gain control of the K. of L. they will kill off the work of years. If they were sincere they would build up their own societies."

Further along in his discussion of the subject he writes (page 540):

"This is no stretch of fancy, for a lawyer, an official of Utica, New York, while sitting by my side in a car coming from Washington in the early part of 1887, made this statement to me:

"We have succeeded in heading off your order, Mr. Powderly. We do not fear it any longer, for its power is killed through the foolish actions of its members. You may preach to them to be guided by wise counsels, but we have paid anarchists to become members of your assemblies that they might stir up the devil and bring discredit upon your whole movement."

For once we are agreed with the Sacred Septette, they know what is creating discord, for they are part of the discord-creating force for have they not, in the language of Mr. Powderly, succeeded in their mission: "They have inserted a wedge between the members," which is intended to drive them apart? If the reader can find any appreciable difference between the "wreckers" described by Mr. Powderly and the leaders for Segregation inside of our International Union we want to be shown.

On page 14 of "The Culinary Craft" for May, 1914, we find a gleeful article which describes a May-Day celebration from which we cull the following illuminating passages:

"Under the auspices of the International May-day federation, the workers of San Francisco celebrated Labor Day (the workers' Labor Day, not the Labor Day donated to us by the capitalistic class) by marching from Grant Avenue to the German House. There were about 500 workers in the line-up—workers of all shades of radicalism. The Socialist party, with its banner, the Socialist Labor party, I. W. W., German Socialist Singing Society, etc., etc. The feature of the parade was the Chinese Socialist club with its banner.

"The parade was the best ever held in this city, and we hope that the workers of this city will realize that it is May the first, and not in September, when the workers celebrate."

Need attention be called to the fling contained in the foregoing. Five hundred "political revolutionists" say to the fifty thousand or more organized trade unionists of San Francisco, that their Labor Day which occurs in the month of September, is a capitalistic donation, that the only simon pure labor holiday is the one which the Sacred Septette parades in with Socialistic and I. W. W. banners flying. On page 15 the usual courtesy is shown to one of the dual unions, P. C. W. A., of San Francisco, they are given space alongside of Locals 30, 31, and 110. In one of the P. C. W. A. paragraphs

PAUL STEFFLER

Seventh Vice-President

we find the following item: "Under the head of good and welfare, many suggestions were adopted. It was proposed that we hold monthly progressive whist parties, to be handled by a committee of which L. Francoeur is chairman."

L. A. Francoeur one month later, June 25, 1914, was elected as secretary-treasurer of Local 30, San Francisco, Cal. Why comment?

About the only item in the June, 1914, number which was entitled to attention, has been covered in previous articles printed in the MIXER AND SERVER, the exception is one little item which appeared in the minutes of Local 30, printed on page 15, which advises that a resolution from the Twenty-third District Branch of the Socialist party, was unanimously concurred in. A community of interest so to speak. Putting in the high speed clutch for a few moments we will stop long enough with the July, 1914, number to reprint the following: "On account of Wednesday being the day for union meetings, the meetings of the I. G. A., San Francisco, will be held the second Thursday of every month." The reader will recall that the undersigned in previous articles stated that the principal officers of Local 30 were groomed in the dual unions in San Francisco before being permitted to take hold of affairs in that union. The foregoing item simply proves that control might slip from the dual unions if they were to meet on the same date with Local 30, hence a change was made, thus giving an opportunity of better supervision.

Inconsistency seemed to be a virtue with the Sacred Septette, in a previous paragraph we reprinted an extract from one of the S. S., which proclaimed the September Labor Day as a "phoney" wished on the labor movement by the dreadful capitalists, but despite that attitude the Sacred Seven went out after the mazuma and printed their August, 1914, number as a Labor Day number, and what they gathered in for publication is best known by those who happened to secure a copy of that issue. The place of honor was given to "Comrade" Edward Bocklinger, who discussed Segregation. We had waited very patiently for Bocklinger's appearance as one of the "silent partners" of the Sacred Seven; in fact wondered why he had been so backward, but "Bocky" old scout, waded in and emphasized what the MIXER AND SERVER said a number of times, that there was a "connection" between the advocates of Segregation and the "officials" of the I. H. W. U. and the I. W. W. Of course Bocklinger expressed great satisfaction over the alleged progress made by the Segregationists, he slipped over the old stereotyped: "Let me tell you, all who are class conscious" appeal to his fellow "political revolutionists," knowing that by putting the brand on his dope it would be hailed with delight by the "Comrades." Supplementing "Comrade" Bocklinger's full page article was the article of Walter Sharp, President International Geneva Association, Section San Francisco, which we paid our respects to in the October, 1914, number of the MIXER AND SERVER. The Labor Day edition of "The Culinary Craft" also contained a choice bit of Barbary Coast humor under the caption of "The First Smoker," which set a high mark for crude uncouthness which must have been exceedingly pleasing to the literary palates of the Sacred Septette. The September, 1914, number of the "Voice of Secession" came to bat with the front page (cover) devoted to dual unionism, a cut of the Pacific Coast Waiters' Association entertainment, the place of honor in that number was occupied by "Comrade" Ryan, who "worked for years in the business in the East and never heard of a waiters' union until he had traveled 3,000 miles" to Seattle, five years ago. If all the members who were induced to become members of our local unions by "Comrade" Ryan were to hold a conference to be addressed by "Comrade" R. he could continue the habit of talking to himself.

JOHN W. CONLEY
Eighth Vice-President

In the September, 1914, number, page 7, we find the following literary bouquet, which needs little comment:

"Jere L., Bungstarter-General of the Booze Division, has imbibed too freely of his own dope." Jere L. did not have that title hung on him, nor were the bartenders classed as the booze division immediately subsequent to April 18, 1906. At that, the title Bungstarter-General is decidedly more pleasing than to be classed as an ingrate. Let that soak in S. S.

The October number begins with an article (cover) taken from the International Socialist Review. It occupies almost the full page and is accompanied with a write-up of the P. C. W. A. No segregation of those interests; can't keep the "Comrades" from showing loyalty to one another.

On page 8 of that number we find a clipping from the Milwaukee Leader, it covers a trifle over a column; need you be advised that the "Leader" is popular with the "political revolutionists." In this number we noted that the International Geneva Association makes its second bid for subscribers to its official magazine, "Hotel Industry," the first bid appearing in the August, 1914, number, their bid has been offered in every issue since, with the exception noted. In connection with that bit of advertising we are reminded that "The Culinary Craft" has had a similar bid in the "Hotel Industry," and as a piece of encouragement to the "Comrades" in the I. G. A. there has been added the words: "Segregation in San Francisco in 1915."

Gremenintly, we had almost overlooked the monthly contributions in the C. C.! "Observations and Comments," by a Libertarian, the inspiration for which undoubtedly comes from "Solidarity," "The Call," and "The International Socialist Review," the "Comrades" trinity.

In the November, 1914, number, page 2 (cover) reaches out into the political field and lays claim to the olive branch for the Segs in having saved California and other states from the DRYs.

"The Segregationists may also be called the actives for they do not boast, but go ahead and do the work." The readers of the MIXER AND SERVER will recall several articles printed, in which we exposed the S. S. for failure to send a mail list to headquarters; we had two objects in view, one to send the MIXER AND SERVER to each member of Local 30, the other to use the mail list and make a canvas and ascertain how many members of Local 30 were citizens of the United States; how many were registered voters in San Francisco, and finally to force the Sacred Seven to admit if the Wets were depending on the membership of Local 30 to win the campaign last fall. they wouldn't have many voters to depend on. Just to prove that this is not dug up to fill space, we challenge the Sacred Seven to produce evidence that out of a membership of approximately 1,732, there were not an even Five Hundred who were registered and voted November 3, 1914.

There you are, as fine a chance to prove the editor of the MIXER AND SERVER a hot air shooter as will ever come your way—get busy and show him up. As noted in an earlier paragraph we gave the names of the press committee, it was printed in the January, 1914, number, the S. S. threw two or three fits because we pegged the press committee right, and of course after doing so a change—not such a big one—was ordered, as will be observed from the following list taken from the November, 1914, number (received December 5, 1914). The Sacred Seven as revised in that issue consisted of Theodore Johnson, A. C. Rose, J. D. Kirkpatrick, Hugo Ernst, Martin Nebes, J. Weinberger and James Karsten.

James Karsten was the founder of "The Culinary Craft," was and is a member of the I. G. A. His name appeared on their pages as manager until August, 1914, after that number it was dropped from the title page. As to the two other names added to the press committee, our "wireless" does not peg them as yet. There was a M. Nebes, Secretary of the I. G. A., Section Los Angeles; perhaps that is only a co-incidence.

In the November number we also find "Comrade" Ryan attempting a response to the article: "A Half Baked Red Critic," wherein he juggles truth in a wonderful manner. "Comrade" Ryan recites that he was employed in a hotel in New York, and another in Cincinnati, in the former for two years. Inquiry of the management of the New York hotel brings no verification of his claims, there is no such hotel in Cincinnati as the Havlina. So much for "Comrade" Ryan, the boon friend of Big Bill Haywood of the I. W. W.

The December, 1914, number is almost exclusively devoted to discussing the editor of the MIXER AND SERVER. There is a woeful lack of other matter from the pens of the S. S., an exception is noted, the student of Marx continues his "Observations and Comments" and draws heavily on an overcapitalized imagination; like the other members of the Sacred Septette, who just hate themselves and their views, probably after all, self adulation is the only port left open to the Sacred Seven.

After twelve whole months of trying, the Sacred Septette, probably without intent to make the admission, sets forth in the January, 1915, number of "The Culinary Craft," their utter impotency to aid the culinary workers of the United States (they side-tracked the culinary workers of Canada from the outset) to make headway; twelve months of self-imposed leadership produces the following: "The Culinary Craft has carefully looked into and studied the needs of the workers in the industry, etc., etc., and it has come to the conclusion that the primary thing to accomplish is to bring all these workers under one strong International organization of Culinary Workers 'only.'" They began with that professed purpose, they asserted that it would be brought about, and after one whole year of deep thought and "careful looking," they repeat the information with as much vigor as if it had required a year's unceasing effort to make the discovery. After that exhibition of efficiency they really imagine their hold on the culinary workers is growing stronger, they seem to be harveyed around the bonnet, which conditions force ideas to carry boring tools to get inside. Whatever else may be said of the culinary workers, no one can truthfully accuse them of being "bone heads" or minus average intelligence, and the man or men who expects to win their suffrage and confidence must have something on him and in his noddle besides the ability to imitate a parrot.

JOSEPH R. MICHAELS
Ex-President International Union

In these pages the writer has asserted with quite as much emphasis as decent language would permit, that the Sacred Seven do not now, nor have they ever given expressions to convictions held by culinary workers of our International Union. The nasty, contemptible, insinuating flings which the Sacred Seven have hurled at the bartenders of our International Union, finds no sympathetic response in the breast of the cooks, waiters and waitresses of our International Union outside of number 14 Seventh Street, San Francisco. The Blue Button boys of our International Union know that fact, and knowing it decline to swallow the "quince" so artfully sugar coated for them. The Sacred Seven have followed closely the tactics of their predecessors identified with the political revolutionists, their "Comrades" as so excellently described by Mr. Powderly, who become members so that they may "drive the union apart."

On page 8 the Sacred Seven endeavor to wiggle from under in a most amazing manner and the outcome of their mental gymnastics, is an admission that the MIXER AND SERVER served facts, yet because we did not possess mind-reading proficiency, we are prevaricators and know it. In one part of their "mental gymnastics" they say: "The truth of the matter is that there were two members of Local 30 who also happened to be members of the I. G. A. on the committee responsible for 'The Culinary Craft.' One of these had, and has nothing to do with the editorial end; he is, or better, was business manager (for we have no more business manager, all work being done collectively), and the other had been dropped from the committee for inactivity." In the same article further along we find the following: "There is exactly one member of the I. G. A. on the press committee." Query—If there were only TWO members of the I. G. A. on the press committee or connected with getting out "The Culinary Craft," and one of them was deposed as manager and the other dropped, where does this third one come in? Just an interrogation to the reader: If you read in a magazine or paper in January, 1914, a list of seven names, given out as the editors of that paper or magazine, and despite careful perusal of all the monthly issues of that magazine you find no mention made that there has been a change in editorship, that meanwhile an assertion has been made to a specific thing, and no response is made during the intervening months, and finally in the November number of that paper there is an announcement REQUIRED BY THE POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT, and in that announcement the names of the editors are given and which shows that a change has taken place, would you regard yourself as being guilty of careless handling of truth and facts if you persisted in using the names of those persons originally announced in January and the intervening eleven months previous to the announcement with changes? Yet for doing that thing, for not knowing the fact through their negligence to print them, the Sacred Septette crown us Ananias. Being a good "guesser" seems to be one of the main requirements of the S. S. We missed all of this "harsh stuff" printed in the November, 1914, number of "The Culinary Craft." as we were over in Philadelphia, Pa., during the greater portion of the month, and on returning to headquarters had to dig in fast to get the December MIXER AND SERVER off the press on time. It was on December 5th when we got the November, 1914, number of the Voice of Secession and it was not due to any appreciable effort of the Sacred Seven that we did get it then.

T. J. SULLIVAN
Ex-President International Union.

As an example of S. S. thoroughness read the following, also from page 8, January, 1915, number of their paper: "Brother Nebes, whom Jerry L. has not on his list, but whose name appears in the statement, was appointed about the time the statement was filed, but had to be dropped for inactivity." Seven little editors playing with bricks, one dropped on the toe of Nebes, and then there were SIX. Shush, why not go further and advise your readers who the half dozen selected to fill the fearful void, why wait until your neglect has been noted and then use such ugly words to saddle the blame elsewhere. So Brother Weinberger is a member of the P. C. W. A. Thanx for the information.

As a parting shot the S. S., or whatever number there remained after so much "dropping for inactivity" advise us that "Rose, Johnson and Kirkpatrick, are mostly responsible for the segregation end of the paper, and as Jerry L. cannot put the label of the I. G. A., or P. C. W. A. on them, he can not also label the segregation stuff in the paper with same letters as much as he would like to." Wonderful, but we know what you mean, fellers—sure thing, but just between ourselves, was it fear that the I. G. A. or P. C. W. A. would decorate your applications with the old wash-boiler? you know they lay claim to being "polished by European contact."

In the February Culinary Craft "poor" Jere L. comes in for a lot of attention, but positively none is paid to making good on the professed mission of T. C. C. "to provide a means for the interchange of thought and dissemination of interesting information, suggestions and plans for the benefit of culinary workers throughout the United States." Almost the entire number is devoted to a lame effort to find flaws in matter offered for publication by contributors to the pages of the MIXER AND SERVER. The S. S. editorially jump on the idea that citizenship is a necessary qualification for membership in our International Union; they find much fault with the attitude of the General Secretary-Treasurer and his definitions of the aims and objects of our International Union; they say that we are inconsistent because we extend the hand of fellowship in one instance, and in the other express convictions as to what those persons should do once they become members of our International Union. Evidently the Sacred Septette overlook one of the most important sections of our International Union laws. Section 15, which reads as follows:

"Sec. 15. Every member—not a citizen by birth or naturalization—coming from countries other than covered by the name and charter of this International Union, shall be held to make his declaration of intention to become a citizen and perfect his naturalization as soon as he is entitled thereto."

That is one of our laws, it has been in our book of laws for many years, and we predict that it will remain and probably be further strengthened as conditions may warrant. The undersigned has no apologies to offer for that section, he believes it to be one of the very best in our book of laws and would oppose changing it, unless to further strengthen its provisions. What was it we said in the January, 1915, number of the MIXER AND SERVER that "WE SHOULD REGARD THOSE WHO DECLINE TO CO-OPERATE WITH US AS ENEMIES TO OUR FUTURE WELFARE, AND WE SHOULD NOT HESITATE TO EXERT EFFORT TO ELIMINATE THEM FROM THE INDUSTRY BY EVERY LEGITIMATE MEANS AT OUR COMMAND. THEY SHOULD BE MADE TO FISH OR CUT BAIT."

That was our editorial salutation for the opening of the year 1915, and it GOES FOR EVERY WORD IN IT, NOW AND FOR THE FUTURE.

Fearing that, perhaps, the Seven Sacred Scribes may not fully grasp and understand the significance of that portion of our editorial salutation, the writer will make it emphatic and reiterate with added thought for their consumption and others who agree with them on their citizenship ideas. The writer of this article, whose name is signed thereto, is firmly convinced that if any man or any number of men come to America, secure employment at the catering industry, remain here for a sufficient number of years, long enough to secure their first and final papers as citizens; against whom there are no legal restrictions, and who persist in ignoring the provisions of Section 15, such persons should be deprived of membership in Our International Union.

There are no "ifs" or "ands" about that attitude or position. They are quite as plain as Anglo-Saxon permits. Nor do we believe the declaration susceptible of more than one definition. When the officers of a local union or our International Union urge our members "TO REGISTER," IN ORDER THAT THEY MAY BE ABLE TO VOTE AT ELECTIONS, WE DESIRE THE SATISFACTION AND KNOWLEDGE OF KNOWING THAT WE ARE NOT ADDRESSING AND APPEALING TO A BUNCH OF ALIENS WHO HAVE NEITHER LEGAL RIGHT TO REGISTER NOR LEGAL RIGHT TO VOTE. If that attitude, that position is, in the eyes of the Sacred Septette and their followers, a crime, then the Editor of the MIXER AND SERVER, Jere L. Sullivan, is guilty, and he is everlastingly glad of it. If, as the Sacred Septette concludes, that is an "ill considered" declaration, they can make the most of it; for just so long as the undersigned is permitted to carry membership in our International Union, or is honored with election as an officer, he expects to urge on his co-members everywhere that Citizenship is A NECESSARY QUALIFICATION TO RETAIN MEMBERSHIP IN OUR INTERNATIONAL UNION.

Our International Union was not created for the purpose of aiding Aliens to come to America, nor for helping them after their arrival to become competitors of American citizens for a few years, or until such time as they had "cleaned up" enough to return to their native country; and the quicker the Sacred Septette permits that fact to seep into their craniums, the sooner will they be able to understand why Section No. 15 was adopted.

On page 4 of the February number of T. C. C. we find the following bit of news: "Two organizers were kept for over a year located in California for no useful purpose, and only to breed

W. E. HORNE
Ex-First Vice-President

discord and to nullify the efforts of segregationists to establish harmony in the allied crafts." On May 17, 1912, the General Executive Board considered a communication from the California State Federation of Labor transmitting a resolution which had been introduced by a delegate of Cooks' Union, Local 44, of San Francisco, providing for the establishment at San Francisco, Cal., of a Branch Office of the International Union. Official record of that fact was printed on page 98 of the July (1913) MIXER AND SERVER, and in the memorandum of the General Executive Board printed on page 15 of the July (1912) number of the MIXER AND SERVER. Later the Local Joint Executive Board of San Francisco asked for the appointment of TWO GENERAL ORGANIZERS—one a bartender, the other a culinary worker. Vice-President Sesma had been requested by the G. E. B. to take up organizing matters in his State meanwhile. He began work October 12, 1912, and Brother Frank E. Merryfield began March 17, 1913. Brother Merryfield was a member of Cooks' Union, Local 44, of San Francisco, and Brother Sesma was a member of Local 284, Los Angeles, Cal. Notwithstanding the foregoing facts, we find that "Two organizers were kept for over a year located in California for no useful purpose, and only to breed discord and nullify the efforts of segregationists to establish harmony in our allied crafts."

In other words, the Sacred Septette attempt to convey the impression that the Two Organizers were forced on them without the knowledge and consent of the membership in that State. Just wherein the connection can be shown that these Brothers were employed to breed discord, and to nullify the activities of segregationists, when the Sacred Septette had not made its initial bow on the editorial stage until January, 1914, and no campaign for segregation had been started until "The Culinary Craft" made its initial appearance under the auspices of Local 30, is not plain. But being inconsistent and making silly accusations is one of the best things which the Sacred Septette have accomplished since being vested with editorial powers; in fact, it has become a habit, which they exercise frequently to keep it from rusting.

FRED J. SEAMES
Ex-First Vice-President

In the March number of T. C. C. the Sacred Seven attempt to find grounds for their peculiar activities and segregation proclivities by asserting that "for nearly fourteen years" THE MIXER AND SERVER has ignored the general membership of San Francisco and has been harping on their shortcomings as members of our International Union.

The Sacred Septette are exceedingly anxious to shift the burden of responsibility. A few of them have been connected with Local 30 for a number of years and been officers for several terms, yet notwithstanding the fact that the pages of the MIXER AND SERVER are occupied by interesting letters from secretaries and members, they have failed to take advantage and submit matter for publication.

When Local 30 was chartered it had officers who submitted articles for publication, and they were printed. And in all of the years during which that local has been in existence but one letter for publication was denied space, and the denial was for excellent reasons. One of the Sacred Septette, when he was Secretary of Local 560, now defunct, did contribute matter for publication. The last one which we recall occupied a trifle over a page, almost half of which was machine poetry lambasting the authors of legislation which did not seem to please him. That contributor gave expression to the following conviction: "Want of power by mere resolution of the convention to create at the expense of the general membership, or any portion thereof, new or increased sources of revenue for the benefit of the International Union or any of its funds." If, as he contended, the power was lacking to empower the convention to create sources of revenue, how does that contention reconcile with his present views so emphatically expressed in "The Culinary Craft" that the convention has power to abrogate contracts.

In the March number we also find added comment about the uselessness of "The two International Organizers" who are not organizing any new towns or bringing in any results what ever. Possibly there was no trouble at Stockton, nor need for organizers in Sacramento, but the local unions of those cities wanted organizers to aid them. San Diego may have been able to get along without the aid of an organizer, but they didn't say so when they asked us to assign a man to that city. Perhaps, there was no need for these two organizers in a number of other cities, but the local unions didn't think so.

Most, if not all, these unions will be represented on the floor of the Eighteenth General Convention. We hope they will be heard from. The MIXER AND SERVER makes no pretension to control the views or opinions of any of the general officers or organizers. The editor has visited San Francisco twice since he became Secretary-Treasurer of our International Union; the first time in November, 1904, and the last visit was in November, 1913. If in his recital of either trip he said one word in the MIXER AND SERVER which indicated other than friendly feelings for our membership in San Francisco, that word will have to be pointed out.

The Sacred Septette make vigorous effort to direct attention to what they call "the impotency of our General Secretary," and land him on the griddle because he does not possess power enough to control the American Federation of Labor and make it do his bidding.

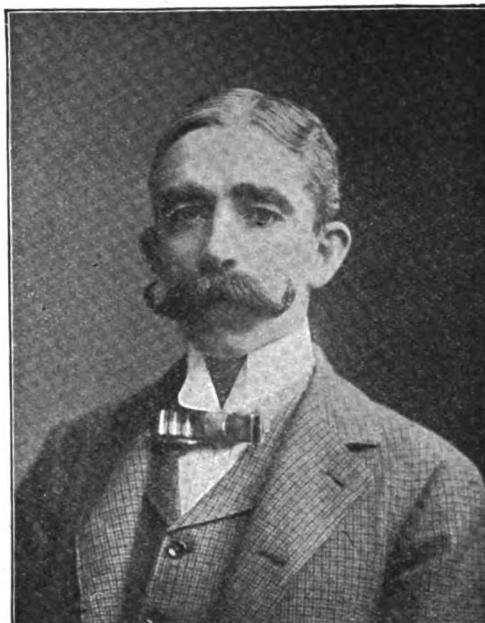

As long as they refrain from accusing me of creating the "cut" or "army worm," perhaps I will be able to worry along somehow, though having passed through Texas once in my time makes me feel expectant about having the ownership of the Boll Weevil wished on me.

The "high spot" in the April (1915) T. C. C. was entitled "Legislation Via the Pie Counter." Our members have, no doubt, perused the May number of the MIXER AND SERVER, and have a pretty good general idea of the character of "pie" doled out by the G. E. B. The editorial page of "The Culinary Craft" for April is turned over to "Comrade" Ryan, supposedly of Chicago, but more recently of Miles City, Montana. "Comrade" Ryan left Chicago with a Traveling Card and a determination to be a delegate to the Eighteenth General Convention. His Traveling Card bears date of April 24, 1915. On May 24, 1915, we were advised by the Financial Secretary of Local 35, Chicago, that the coupon had not been returned. Yet on May 22, 1915, we received from Local 524, of Miles City, Montana, a credential showing that Thos. J. Ryan had been elected as a delegate from that local to represent them at the Eighteenth General Convention. Local 524 holds its meetings the first and third Tuesdays of each month. On May 10, a week after the first meeting of the month, Local 524, through Secretary Condon, forwarded his report for May to headquarters. The report was received on May 13, 1915. We scanned that report with care and failed to locate the name of Thomas J. Ryan as having deposited Traveling Card. Yet, as intimated, on May 22 we receive a "registered envelope" containing the referred-to credential, and the date on same was May 18, 1915, which, if you take note, is the third Tuesday of May. What conclusion can you reach from the foregoing facts? "Comrade" Ryan had not deposited his Traveling Card in time for the May 4th meeting; in fact, had not deposited his Traveling Card when Secretary Condon made out his May report and mailed same to the General Office, which, as has been noted, arrived at headquarters on May 13. Therefore "Comrade" Ryan must have deposited his Traveling Card on one of the four or five days intervening before May 18, and then only after being assured that he could secure the credential from that local and, without cost to them, be THEIR delegate to the convention. We are wondering if the efforts of "Comrade" Ryan are a part of "the class struggle" which he so plausibly injects into his fulminations for publication. "Comrade" Ryan is greatly exercised about the amount of money our International Union spends in fighting Prohibition. That is to be expected. But we wonder, just the same, who paid his expenses to San Francisco, and why.

On page 8 of the April number a contributor takes us to task for printing frivolous items, and in order to prove his point reprints the alleged offending matter and burns up a half page in doing so. Why "Dodge" some of that "poetry" appearing in "The Culinary Craft?" And now we are nearing the close of our rather extensive journey. We have endeavored to show just what has been offered by the advocates of so-called segregation. There is, probably, little use to attempt to conceal the fact that the one great, big thing which the dissatisfied ones seek is the scalp of the men who have in the past refused to be intimidated. If they could but lean heavy enough on the big stick so as to wallop these men out of executive positions, they imagine that they would be better able to direct affairs and make the organization more susceptible to their brand of political propaganda. They are not finished with their campaign, of that you can rest assured. They will keep eternally pestering our membership with their "new unionism" until one or the other thing takes place: they succeed in their aims, or are deprived of further asylum as members of our International Union. Their plans and program for the week of June 14 have been perfected. The delegates may expect to hear and see many things. They may adopt the persuasive, or they may feel arrogant enough to attempt rushing tactics. But ever in mind they will have the old, old plan, to do as Powderly and Stephens said of their kind, "insert a wedge to drive the members apart."

The delegates to this convention will be surrounded with quite an influence which breathes so-called segregation, but in reality means secession; for, unless we greatly err in our conclusions, they propose to win this time, no matter what the cost, and failing to do so, we can expect them to follow the example of their "Comrades" in the clothing industry—hold a rump convention and assume functions of an International organization. In a way, that may merit deep and careful thought; on the other hand, it may prove the thing needful to clarify the situation. From no conflict which will create discord do we expect to see them side-step; in fact, they plan to cause friction, hoping thereby to win their battle. The men and women who come to this convention have a double task imposed upon them; but we have faith in them, and feel confident that they will emerge with the standard of American Trade Unionism held aloft and without smear or blotch. We are confident that the advocates of dissolution will find more than their match on the floor of the convention; that the real working men and women coming from local unions as legitimate delegates will not be carried off their feet by the "rainbow chasers and political propagandists," nor will they accept and swallow the "divide-and-conquer" plank of the so-called Segregationists.

WILLIAM A. DONNELLY
Ex-Second Vice-President

In concluding this journey, it seems necessary to say a word as to the attitude of the MIXER AND SERVER for the last twelve months. The undersigned realizes that the patience of our readers has been put to a severe test. Much of what has been printed in regard to the so-called segregation movement was necessary in order to place before the members the real, and not the fancied, story of events and accomplishments. "The Culinary Craft" has seemed with misleading statements; hardly an issue but what mode comment which was substantially untrue. Our members would not have known differently had the MIXER AND SERVER remained silent. In fact, it seemed to us an imperative duty to correct misstatements purposely sent forth to confuse and confound the rank and file of our International Union. The Seven Sacred Scribes have allowed no opportunity to pass without trying to create distrust of our organization and the men and women who believe in and champion trade unionism. They have persistently tried to belittle the generosity of our general membership, and have sought with vehement language to sow the seeds of discontent by holding up to scrutiny the acts of the general officials and attempting to show such officials neg-lectful of their plain duty. They have appealed to the culinary worker especially, advising him that efforts to organize his fellow workers has ceased, and pointing to the long list of bartenders' unions which are in existence, but carefully concealing the facts that hundreds of culinary unions were formed which, unfortunately, failed to maintain an existence; and because these unions fell by the way side, methods of organization and the general officers are at fault, and not the individuals composing the defunct unions.

JERE F. McCARTHY
Ex-Second Vice-President

This article has grown to considerable proportions. Still, as the reader can well imagine, only the "high spots" have been touched; and for the purpose of reminding the readers that within their fold are those bearing the cloak of friendship who are waiting patiently for the chance to insert the knife of the "operative" and leave behind little besides a memory. The task assigned to the writer has been cared for. It is now up to the delegates whom you and your associate members elected to act.

JERE L. SULLIVAN.

AT THE BARRIER.

In the stories running serially in a number of daily and weekly papers, under the title of "WHO PAYS," the author endeavors to show that it is not always the intended victim that ultimately pays the price. You are now at the barrier; it may prove the beginning of the end.

The thought occurs that after such an aggressive campaign on the part of certain individuals inside of our International Union, who seek to emasculate the organization, and in reality put it out of business, if, perchance, they may not have sold their efforts, and that their activity is due wholly to a desire to deliver the goods to whomsoever paid for it. Members of our International Union peruse the daily press with more or less suspicion as to the accuracy and truthfulness of the matter set before them for absorption, but there are events actually transpiring which, despite their "fairytaleshness," are the solemn truth, and nothing else but positive facts.

Our members are inclined to doubt the stories of "operatives" being employed to enter local unions as members and exercise their influences over such locals to any end for which they have been instructed. In a recent number of the MIXER AND SERVER we printed a copy of a communication which had been received by the general manager of a big coal company in the State of Ohio. The referred to communication had been sent to him by a company which made it a part of their business to furnish strikebreakers and "operatives," the latter to apply for and become members of trade unions, and, according to the letter referred to, were under instructions to "work up to leadership and to dominate that particular organization." From time to time we have printed articles which proved, beyond question of doubt, that these strike-breaking institutions are quite effective in union "busting" and are never without an ample number of "operatives" to send out to do their damnable work of "wrecking" or "busting," as it is usually termed. To assume that it is impossible to find men to enlist in such dirty work is to acknowledge that you have greater faith in mankind than is warranted by actual facts. It was Roscoe Conklin who made popular the expression, "Every man has his price." And what the famed Senator from the Empire State concluded has been verified thousands upon thousand of times since his departure to the great unknown. Some men are higher priced than others; that fact must be evident from incidents which are known to every reader. For illustration, let us recall some of the killings which have occurred in connection with the gambling game in New York City.

Approach the average sensible man, and propose to him that he accept one thousand dollars as a reward for murdering some one in his city or elsewhere. He might be tempted to do a killing stunt on the proposer, but it would take many, many thousands of dollars to even tempt him to consider such a thing as killing some one for the price. Yet we have it on the authority of a "killer" that "murder to order" is possible and a common, every day occurrence with such men.

Here is a United Press dispatch which appeared in a string of papers which take the United Press wire service. Read it carefully and absorb the facts presented.

GUNMAN GIVES LIST OF PRICES FOR ATTACKS.

"New York, May 13, 1915.—'Dopey Benny' Fein, gang leader, whose confession led to the indictment by the grand jury of thirty-four persons, many of them known gunmen, on charges ranging from assault to murder, refused offers of $7,500 to 'double-cross' men who hired him.

"This statement was made today by Assistant District Attorney Beckinridge.

"Authorities declare gunmen offered services in clashes between employers and employees on the East Side at fixed rates.

SCALE OF PRICES..

"Here is the price list, as furnished by Fein:
"For raiding and wrecking small manufacturing plants, $150.

"For raiding and wrecking large manufacturing plants, $600.

"For shooting a man in the leg or 'clipping his ear off,' $60 to $600.

"For throwing factory foreman down elevator shaft or breaking his arm or thumb, $200.

"For 'complete knockout' of any important individual, $200.

"Fein charged manufacturers offered him $7,500, more than he was receiving to use his 'gunmen' against employes for whom he had been hired.

"Fain turned these offers down flatly, Beckinridge declared, adding he substantiated Fein's story by talking to different manufacturers.

"Beckinridge declared certain manufacturers had told him they had tried to hire 'gunmen' to intimidate union leaders. This has stirred union officials of the East Side. They want to know why these manufacturers are not included in the wholesale indictments."

Take that item under the "Scale of Prices," which reads "For raiding and wrecking large manufacturing plants, $600.00."

Such a plant as we imagine would come under the qualifying term "large" would, probably, mean an establishment valued anywhere from fifty to several hundred thousands of dollars; and yet in spite of the value of such a plant, these "gunmen" and "wreckers" agree or are willing to undertake putting such a plant out of commission for less than what such a plant pays annually to one of its employees. "For shooting a man in the leg or clipping his ear off, $60 to $600.00." Need the reader be advised that shooting with such accuracy as to "clip off the ear" of a man is some shooting? Just what would happen if the "gunman" had partaken of a "card of seconds" of an extra session at "snow-blowing," or, perchance, had been deprived of his usual "dope" for any length of time previous to doing the revised William Tell stunt, can only be guessed at, but it is a safe conclusion to reach that the victim might turn over perforated where he stood. District Attorney Beckinridge asserts that he verified this "Scale of Prices" that "Dopey Benny" was not stringing him, but was actually relating facts, and these facts were fully substantiated by different manufacturers in New York City. "Dopey Benny" is not the only professional killer, nor does he pretend to be the only person who would undertake "wrecking" of any description when the price was forthcoming. Another thought in the article printed on page 60 of the May (1915) number of the Mixer and Server is that the location of the Strike-Breaking and Union-Wrecking Company which furnished "operatives" to whomsoever paid the price is not located in New York; hence the conclusion that killers and wreckers are not exclusively an Empire State production, but they may be found anywhere on the map. Our International Union is not so very different from other International Unions in America. It is engaged in trying to reap results for its affiliated members. Some of the things which come under the heading of results are wages, shorter hours and improved conditions; all of which finally mean dollars and cents. In the State of California there has existed for many years so-called Employers' Organizations. They have been known under one title or another, but all of them, irrespective of the name under which they were conducted, had one specific object in view, and that was to eliminate trade unions and trade unionism. It is no exaggeration to assert that as many millions of dollars were expended by these various Employers' Organizations to put trade unions down and out as our International can claim as its total number of thousands of dollars in its treasury at this moment. Let us analyze the situation in that State, that we may the better understand probable conditions.

EVERETT C. ROTE
Ex-Third Vice-President

There are, according to the last U. S. Census, the following number of our allied craftsmen residents and employed at the catering industry in California:

Bartenders	6,097
Cooks, male	15,792
Cooks, female	6,398
Waiters	7,333
Waitresses	4,372
Bellboys	704
Chambermaids	1,143
Other employes—porters, pantry workers and dishers, approximately.....	25,612
Total	67,451

It is no exaggeration to say that since the establishment of local unions of our allied crafts in that State the wages of the skilled workers have been increased at least one dollar per week; and it surely is within the bounds of reason to assume that the other workers have benefited to some extent. But in order that we may remain inside of reasonable bounds, let us calculate that the 67,451 workers connected with the catering industry have benefited to the extent of one dollar per month, or twelve dollars per year, which, if you care to figure it up, means exactly $809,412.00; a real tidy bit of pocket change which is extracted from employers who previous to organization of our crafts unions in that State retained for themselves. Whisper and be sure and get every word of this query: If an ordinary large manufacturing plant which probably does not employ in ex-

RICHARD W. GARRITY
Ex-Third Vice-President

cess of one thousand men and women can be "wrecked" for the sum of SIX HUNDRED DOLLARS, how much coin do you suppose would be exacted by "Union Busters" to "wreck" your International Union? Or to put it in another way: If the employer of one thousand workers finds that the union compels him to pay $12,000 more wages per annum to his employes under trade unionism than he formerly paid under non-union conditions, how much money do you suppose he would be willing to venture in any plan or program which would save all or half of that twelve thousand dollars per year? Now we are getting down to brass tacks and can take a look at this thing from a closer view. The writer does not know the date when the Merchants, Manufacturers and Employers' Association of California came into existence, but he does know that the officers of that organization tied up the entire industrial and commercial business of the city of Stockton for a number of months; and if we are to accept the estimates made by those who pretend to know, the advent and stay of the M., M. and E. caused a loss of several millions of dollars in wages and trade, besides creating friction between the workers and employers which will take years and years to obliterate. Stockton is not the first nor the only city in that State to receive attention. The M., M. and E. have their agents working in other cities, and it will be noted that wherever they are active our locals are one of the first to become involved, for it is taken for granted that the strategy Board of the M., M. and E. have quite as easy access to facts and figures as we have, and, no doubt, calculated long before this date approximately the amount of money which our organizations have forced from unwilling employers. As intimated, we have taken the very modest course; in fact, figured way down below known facts; and yet we show that the sum of over eight hundred thousand dollars goes into the pockets of catering industry workers annually which under non-union conditions the employers retained.

Inasmuch as the M., M. and E. strategy board have discovered that where our crafts are organized there is little chance to beat down wages and lengthen hours of labor, they have, no doubt, taken another look at their book of experience and concluded to "work from the inside"; to do as the Strike-Breaking and Union-Busting Company says of its "operatives" who "work up to leadership and dominate," not with the object of writing history after somebody else has made it, but for the purpose of making history by influencing or dominating that particular organization."

To repeat what Roscoe Conklin said, "Every man has his price," and to invite your continued thought in that direction, let us also remind you of the information printed in the May number of the Mixer and Server, where it was shown that those who seek to disrupt your present International Union employed methods to "pack" your convention with delegates who would follow orders from the guiding spirit and advocate of secession. What reasonable right have we to assume that we are immune from purchasable rascals? Is it not a fact that almost every International Union has at some period in its history been infested with these "gnawing rats" who followed instructions to "wreck," no matter what the cost?

Are you and your co-members carrying the idea that these "inside workers" carry badges to distinguish themselves, and that they must necessarily be newcomers in the organization? Don't overlook the living facts exposed at Los Angeles during the trial of the so-called dynamiters. Don't forget that there have been other exposes quite as astonishing. The "operatives" in many of these cases had been active members of labor unions for years, and none were more dumb-founded than the members of their unions when it was discovered how they had been victimized.

Almost without exception, the National and International Unions which have been "gutted" in the last fifteen years proved to be the work of rascals who had "worked up to local union leadership," and from that point of vantage sent forth their destroying torpedo.

You have a legal and moral right to question the motives of any man, or any number of men, who start periodic campaigns to divide your organization, and who time these campaigns to occur during the term when great headway is being made. You have a legal and moral right to be suspicious of those who proclaim to the world their moral cleanliness, yet secretly connive to control your gatherings by petty larceny tricks which honorable men refuse to use or benefit thereby. You have not only a legal, but a decided moral right; aye, an obligation to protect yourselves and your organization from the attack being made to deprive you of property rights and the faithful carrying out of contractual obligations for the benefit of those who are dependent on your labors.

You have a moral and legal right to doubt the honorableness of those inside or outside of your ranks who urge you to such action as will brand you with the dishonored name of "contract jumpers" or obligation sidestepers.

An organization which, in spite of these "inside workers," these purchased "wreckers," has accumulated such splendid funds, which has organized so many thousands of your co-workers in the catering industry, is, indeed, a brilliant mark for the "operatives" shots; it is a magnificent "scalp" to bring home to the Union-Busting Strike-Breaking Agency. And it will be laid down at their door, UNLESS YOU HAVE DONE YOUR FULL DUTY TO PROTECT WHAT YOU HAVE CREATED—OUR INTERNATIONAL UNION.

JERE L. SULLIVAN.

CHICAGO, ILL.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Accompanying find a short history of our long fight against the Restaurant Keepers' Association and the Chicago Association of Food Exchange, which covers a period of fifteen months. We take this opportunity of thanking the International Union for their financial support in this great battle for our existence. The General Executive Board realized that the Employers' Association was backing the restaurant keepers with money and political influence, and that if our allied crafts did not have the financial and the moral backing of our International we could not stand the terrible war that was waged against us. This battle has shown to the entire labor, as well as business circles, that we are here to stay, for we have established prestige by showing our perseverance in our efforts to better the conditions of the men and women employed in the catering industry.

With best wishes,

Yours fraternally, ELIZABETH MALONEY,
Sixth Vice-President.

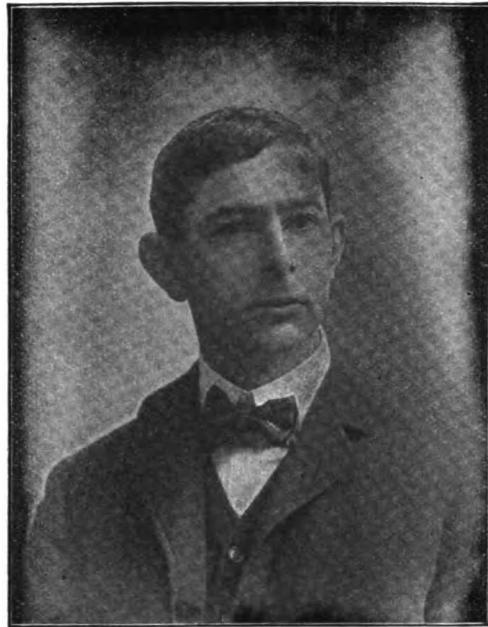

HISTORY OF THE HENRICI, KNAB, POWERS AND EFTING STRIKES.

In the fall of 1913 the cooks, waiters and waitresses' unions carried on an extensive campaign of organization and were successful in securing contracts with one hundred restaurants, gaining for our members a six-day week.

The above named unions called on Mr. Wm. M. Collins of the Henrici Co. and asked him to concede to the same conditions as granted by one hundred restaurants. He asked for a week's time to consider it. At the expiration of that time Mr. Collins informed our committee that he had joined the Restaurant Keepers' Association, and that we would have to see Mr. John Vogelsang as the matter was in his hands. The Illinois and Chicago Federation of Labor and the teamsters' unions appointed committees to try and bring about an agreeable understanding between the association and our allied crafts, but without success. The association paid $1,400 for the following notice in the leading Chicago newspapers:

"Houses of the Chicago Restaurant Keepers' Association shall not be unionized."

Then Mr. Collins of Henrici Co. started war on the waitresses' union, hired detectives to see how many of his waitresses belonged to Local 484, and as soon as they found out who they were they were discharged. So on February 5, 1914, we went on strike in conjunction with the bakers. The morning the strike was called Mr. Collins hired fifty gun-men, who insulted our girls that were doing picket duty. Then Mr. Collins, in company with John Vogelsang and Victor May,

TIM O'NEILL
Ex-Fourth Vice-President

went to see First Assistant-Chief Schuettler, to enlist the services of the city police to stop our girls doing picket duty. That they were successful in their efforts was proven by the fact that there were two hundred arrests, and such brutal treatment at the hands of the police and gun-men that one of our picket's arm was broken and another's collar bone dislocated. Then the club women of our city decided that something must be done to stop this inhuman treatment of working women that were trying to establish a six-day week and an eight-dollar wage, so they held a protest meeting at Hull House, March 1, 1914, and Mr. Collins, of Henrici Co., came to Hull House at 2 p. m., one hour before the time for the protest meeting, and talked with a committee of the club women and tried to induce them not to have the meeting. But he was not successful. They invited him to tell his side of the story, but he refused, saying he would not speak if I was to address the meeting, so he left before the meeting. But he was represented by counsel, ex-Judge McEwen.

At that meeting a committee was appointed to call on the mayor and chief of police to see that our girls were not subjected to vile language and brutal treatment. They met the chief of police and he informed the committee that the police can use as much force as, in their judgment, is necessary to make an arrest, so Miss Ellen Gates Starr, of Hull House, came to Henrici's on Randolph street to watch the pickets and the attitude of the gun-men and police. She was arrested and put in the patrol wagon and sent to Harrison street station along with our pickets. Then Mr. Collins applied for an injunction against us, and we in turn applied for an injunction against the Restaurant Keepers' Association.

It seems it was too big a job for one judge, so it was decided to have three judges sit on the bench in the case, and after three weeks of evidence in court, they rendered a decision, which was: that picketing of a peaceful nature was lawful in Illinois. The picketing in this case was on a crowded street in the Loop district and interfered with the public, and as the public had to be considered, the picketing, although peaceful in this case, should be enjoined, so that the public could have easy access to that street. The fact of the matter was that the constant arrests of our pickets was what attracted the crowds and the police did nothing to keep the crowd moving, in that way lending their assistance to have our girls and boys prohibited from telling our side of the strike to the public in order to get their moral support.

JAMES H. ANDERSON
Ex-Fourth Vice-President

About that time Mr. Knab, who had a closed shop contract with our allied crafts, called on every lunch-room man and invited him to a meeting at the Chicago Athletic Club, and he said at that meeting that something must be done to stop the progress of our organizations. So they arranged to meet at John Vogelsang's restaurant and he advised them to form an association of their own, which they did, and called it the Chicago Association of Food Exchange. They agreed to refuse to deal with our allied crafts, So on May 1st, when our agreement expired, Mr. Knab refused to renew our contract and we reported it to our organizations.

We voted to strike to protect our organization, but before we called our girls and boys on strike the officers of the Chicago Federation of Labor done everything in their power to have Mr. Knab come to an agreeable settlement. But it was evident that they intended to put their program in effect, which was: "We will wipe the unions of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance off the map."

The strike was called on April 30, at midnight, and the cooks, waiters and waitresses responded. The bakers had called their men out at 4 p. m.

of that date and it was agreed by the bakers, bakery wagon drivers and our representatives that no contracts would be signed unless all organizations were given recognition.

The bakery drivers withdrew the delivery of bakery goods from the Knab houses on May 16th, and on May 19th a committee from the bakers' union and the business agent of the bakery drivers called on Mr. Knab and secured the following statement as to what Mr. Knab would agree to do for the waitresses:

"CHICAGO, May 19, 1914.

"Pursuant to your request of my position with respect to the waitresses' union, permit me to say that I will continue in the future as I have heretofore. Namely, give the union waitresses the preference when in need of help, and to pay the following wage scale:

"Steady girls, 6 days, 60 hours or less, $8.00.

"Night girls, 6 days, 60 hours or less, $8.00.

"Dog watch girls, 6 days, 60 hours or less, $4.00.

"To furnish the linen and pay for the laundering of same. I will instruct the managers of my restaurants in the presence of a committee of three to call on the waitresses union when in need of help.

"The business agent of the waitresses union shall have the privilege of organizing the waitresses in my establishments, the visits to be made when the help are not overly busy.

"The help that went out on strike shall be taken back as soon as possible.

"(Signed) GEORGE KNAB."

But Mr. Knab failed to make any mention of the cooks' union, although a particular request was made by them. Then the cooks' union sent a delegation to Mr. Knab, asking him to renew their contract. He refused to sign the cooks' contract, and further stated that he would sign no contract whatsoever, but would run his own business; he also stated that he did not consider his statement to waitresses an agreement.

The bakers and bakery drivers returned to work in Powers' Baking Company and the Knab restaurants, May 20th, because they secured a union shop agreement, which was denied to the cooks, waitresses and waiters' unions.

Proposed Agreements.

On June 13th the Grievance Committee of the Chicago Federation of Labor tried to reach a settlement; Mr. Knab and Mr. Powers were present. After discussing the matter the following proposition was presented by Mr. Knab:

"I am willing to give the unions a preference whenever I need any help. Waitresses, cooks, or whatever I may employ, I am willing to pay them union wages, observe union hours, and live up to the union conditions according to the agreement of their organizations."

Mr. Knab signed this, as did also Mr. Powers; then a Mr. Smith, who said he was representing Mr. Efting, refused to sign, and said that the words "according to the agreement of their organization" had been added in the typewriting of the proposal. Then Mr. Knab withdrew his signature, as also did Mr. Powers, as the said Mr. Smith had argued and persuaded them to do.

The said Grievance Committee of the Chicago Federation of Labor formerly presented the following for consideration of Messrs. Knab, Powers and Efting:

"We, the undersigned members of the Grievance Committee of the Chicago Federation of Labor, submit the following to Mr. George Knab, Mr. Walter Powers, and Mr. Benjamin Efting for the Waitresses' Union, No. 484, Waiters' Union, No. 530, Cooks' Union, No. 865, to give the above named unions the preference when in need of help, and to pay the union scale of wages, grant union hours, and live up to the union conditions during the months of July and August, 1914, and thereafter from September, 1914, the regular agreement of the above named organizations shall be put and carried into operation."

Messrs. Knab, Powers and Smith claimed that owing to the absence of Mr. Efting they wanted further time to submit the matter to Mr. Efting for his consideration.

On the following Monday Mr. Smith stated to the grievance committee that the proposition did not mean anything, and they refused to sign it.

Picketing Resorted to by the Knab Restaurants.

Although Mr. Knab applied for an injunction to prohibit picketing, and on May 9th an injunction was granted against picketing, but allowed peaceful and silent picketing, Mr. Knab resorted to picketing, hiring women who were not waitresses to picket, some of them colored women. They would appear on the street just as soon as the union pickets would arrive and wore signs, stating "I am one of Knab's waitresses and am satisfied." Others of Knab's pickets carried toy balloons and toy nanny goats, and wore signs bearing the words "Knab has got the Waitresses' 'Nanny.'" And at 11:30 each day Knab would place a sign in the window of his lunch rooms containing a large amount of reading matter, purporting to set forth the controversy existing between the waitresses' union and himself. The effect of the sign was to draw a crowd to the window as soon as the waitresses began their picketing. When the crowd would gather the police would arrest the pickets.

Illegal Arrests

The circumstances of the daily arrests of the pickets we believe will be of interest to the public. Just at the noon hour each day the patrol wagon was sent out and went from one restaurant to the other. The appearance of the patrol coming was the signal for the police to arrest the pickets regardless of the fact that the circuit court allowed the waitresses to do the silent and peaceful picketing. This continued until there were one hundred and ninety-eight arrests. The pickets would be crowded into the patrol wagon beyond its capacity and taken to the station. As many as twelve and thirteen girls were crowded into one of the small and filthy cells of the Harrison street station, where they had to stand for hours. It was only when they were fainting that they were taken out and bail was allowed.

Judge Scott was brought to Chicago to hear these cases, and after trying them for one week, hearing six cases, all of which were found not guilty except one, and a motion for a new trial in her case was allowed, the balance of the one hundred and ninety-eight cases were then dismissed.

Preferential Shop Agreement.

On Thursday, October 15, 1914, Mr. Daley, vice-president of the Chicago Association of Food Exchange, of which Messrs. Knab, Powers and Efting are members, held a conference with Mr. John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, at which time the following preferential shop agreement, as outlined at that time

HARRY J. CLANCY
Ex-Fourth Vice-President

and declared to be reasonable by Mr. Daley and Mr. Fitzpatrick, was submitted to the representative unions for adoption or rejection:

Agreement.

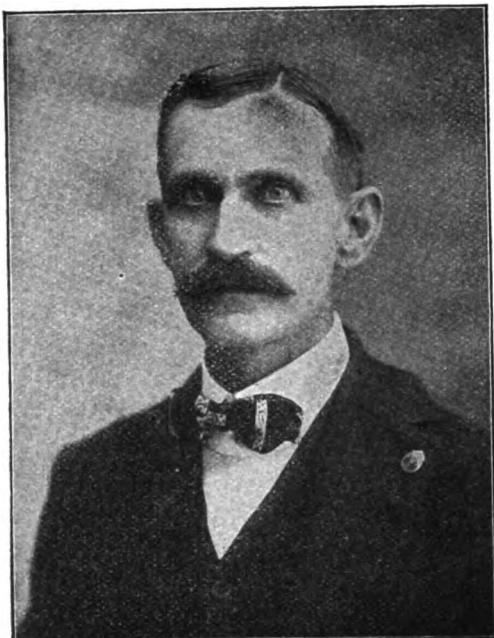

"It is hereby agreed and understood that the right to hire and discharge is clearly within the right of the employer, but for good and valuable reasons in the best interests of the employer and employee the principle of giving preference to the members of the union under the following terms shall be followed out:

"First—Members of the union shall be given preference over non-members, viz: the employer shall call upon the unions for such help as he may need and as far in advance as possible of the time when such help is needed, and if the union can furnish competent help, such help should have preference. In the event of the union being unable to furnish union members then the employer is at liberty to employ such help as he may require.

"Second—Non-members of the union shall be given every opportunity to become members of the union, and the initiation fee shall be made as reasonable as possible, and a reasonable time shall be given in order that they make up their minds as to whether they will or will not become members. In the event of their deciding to remain without the union they shall be denied preference under the terms of this agreement.

"Third—in the event of the employer having to lessen his crew or lay off help, non-members shall be laid off first, and no union members shall be laid off while a non-member is employed; and if it becomes necessary to still further decrease the force, seniority in employment shall apply; that is, the last hired shall be the first laid off, and the first laid off shall be the first one employed if the force is to be increased.

"Fourth—All classes of restaurant and lunch

JOE BRADEN
Ex-Fourth Vice-President

room employees shall be eligible to membership in the union.

"Fifth—Help called for at the union headquarters and for any reason not employed shall receive one hour's pay and carfare (if the same was used) from the employer.

"Sixth—Members must wear their working buttons.

"Seventh—There shall be no reduction in wages on account of disagreement nor increase in hours.

"Eighth—Business agents shall be permitted to interview employees, but not at such times as will interfere with their performing their duties.

Arbitration.

"During the term of this contract, should any differences arise between the parties of the first and second part or any causes which cannot be adjusted between them, it shall be submitted to an arbitration committee of five. Two selected by the party of the first part and two by the party of the second part, and the fifth by the four members of said committee; and while this matter is pending before said committee for adjustment there shall be no lock-out or strike, and the decision of the committee on adjustment shall be final and shall supplement or modify the agreement.

"This contract shall remain in effect until May 1, 1916.

Signed:

"Party of the First Part.

..... "Party of the Second Part.

..... "Submitted October 15th."

The union expected that it was submitted in good faith and adopted the above preferential agreement at their various meetings, but the Chicago Association of Food Exchange did not act in good faith, for upon receipt of accepting the preferential shop agreement they applied to Judge Baldwin to have their injunction amended so as to prohibit picketing of any kind, no matter how peaceful or how silent; that injunction was granted on November 7th and is in force at the present time. And the Powers and Efting restaurants, who had obtained an injunction before Judge Baldwin, which was modified by Judge Windes so as to allow peaceful picketing, when they had cited the waitresses for contempt of court, said that the waitresses were only doing the thing that they had a legal right to do, but when the Knab injunction was granted Messrs. Powers and Efting, together with all members of the Food Exchange, places that had not been picketed and upon whom no strike had been called, went before Judge Baldwin and obtained this same sweeping injunction from him as was granted to Knab, thereby prohibiting waitresses or any other organization from peaceful picketing in order to maintain their six-day week in their efforts to standardize the culinary trades.

Employers' "Closed Shop."

The Chicago Association of Food Exchange, an organization of the firms conducting lunch rooms, including in its membership Messrs. Knab, Powers and Efting, has claimed that the fight is against the so-called closed shop agreement, claiming among other things that it is illegal.

The Chicago Association of Food Exchange and Chicago Restaurant Keepers' Association have the following provision in their by-laws:

"Any member who shall settle a strike or demand of any labor organization whatever affecting the general welfare of the members of this association shall be suspended and not reinstated until he shall have complied with the conditions which this association may impose."

This same association has now organized the Chicago Association of Hotel and Restaurant Employees, with separate departments for men and women, and has opened permanent club rooms in the loop district, with dues of fifty cents per month for women and one dollar for men; and as a matter of fact, this club, so organized, is for the purpose of creating an employers' closed shop by fixing it as a condition of service that waitresses shall belong to the club and pay dues.

Standardizing the Culinary Trade.

The standardization of hours, wages and working conditions of the entire trade is absolutely necessary to prevent the exploitation of the workers. The reasonable demand for one day's rest in seven alone should appeal to all who stand for decent and humane treatment of employers. It is only by organization of the workers and the unionizing of all the restaurants that these conditions can be obtained and the culinary trade standardized.

INJUNCTION.

The WAITRESSES' UNION in striving to establish a SIX-DAY WEEK at a rate of $8.00 PER WEEK, were ENJOINED by JUDGE JESSE BALDWIN. Our purpose now is to furnish you with the ESSENTIAL PORTION of said INJUNCTION so that you will not commit any act which will place you in CONTEMPT OF COURT.

State of Illinois, County of Cook, ss:
 In the Circuit Court of Cook County—In Chancery.
 Barnard J. Efting, et al.,
 vs.
 Waitresses' Union No. 484, et al.
 B. 3532.

GIST OF FINAL DECREE.

Delco Lunch Co.—12 W. Jackson Blvd.; 318 S. Wabash Ave.; 26 E. Adams St.; 26 W. Monroe St.; 31 S. Dearborn St.; 18 N. Clark St.; 54 W. Washington St.; 185 W. Randolph St.; 73 E. 22d St.; 1321 Michigan Blvd.; 520 Rush St., and 4539 Broadway.

Bernard J. Efting.

E. Walter Powers—128 E. 35th St.; 79 W. Randolph St.; 202 E. 31st St.; 3904 Cottage Grove Ave.; 320 E. 47th St., 1314 E. 63rd St.

W. E. Anderson—543 W. Madison St.; 20 W. Harrison St.; 321 W. Madison St.; 949 W. Madison St.

C. E. Reveridge—181 N. State St.

V. L. Brado—188 W. Lake St., and 157 N. Dearborn St.

Brown & McKinnon—22 S. Wabash Ave.

H. H. Burson—3107 Cottage Grove Ave.

E. J. Butler—208 N. State St.

Clark Catering Co.—227 W. Van Buren St., and 543 W. Van Buren St.

Jos. W. Coleman—740 S. Dearborn St.

M. K. Compton—307 E. Garfield Blvd.

T. M. Daley—202 E. 39th St.

John J. Doyle—54 E. 18th St.; 1510 E. 55th St., and 484 E. 31st St.

Congleton & McKinnon—145 N. Wabash Ave.

Geo. W. Gilbert—368 W. Adams St.; 162 W. Adams St., and 2124 S. State St.

C. W. Gilson—119 S. 5th Ave. and 535 S. LaSalle St.

W. A. Grover—329 E. Garfield Blvd.

Daniel Hardy—540 S. Wabash Ave., 9 S. 5th Ave. and 8 N. Clinton St.

J. F. Haslip—72 W. Adams St., 54 W. Van Buren St., 315 S. 5th Ave., 1537 Ogden Ave. and 1050 Argyle.

Henry Heibel—153 W. Lake St., 209 N. Clark St., 305 S. Halsted St. and The Rookery Bldg.

L. F. Heintz—1140 S. Wabash Ave.

Henrici, Inc.—24 W. Van Buren St.

Henrici Cafeteria Co.—318 S. Michigan Ave.

L. E. Hill—813 E. 63rd St. and 1165 E. 63d St.

H. R. Hopkins—307 E. 4th St.

C. S. Jackson—19 E. 18th St., 1552 Wabash Ave., 1350 Wabash Ave., 1150 Wabash Ave. and 7660 Vincennes.

Alfred C. Juhl—1323 E. 55th St.

John I. Kaufman—404 S. Wabash Ave., 411 S. Wabash Ave. and 127 Dearborn St.

Wm. J. Kennedy—58 W. Washington St., 6315 S. Halsted St., 1114 W. Madison St., 33 E. 22nd St., 3205 N. Clark St.

F. J. LeFevour—1146 E. 63rd St.

Liebke & Voight—207 W. 63rd St., 230 E. 31st St., 755 W. 79th St. and 6309 S. Halsted St.

Lieberman & Simon Co.—312 W. Van Buren St.

Mullen Bros.—4655 Broadway, 1933 Milwaukee Ave., 2727 N. Clark St., 786 Milwaukee Ave. and 545 N. Clark St.

Messingers'—237 E. Ontario St., 554 W. Madison St., 206 N. Clark St., 168 W. Washington

HENRY W. ZEIDLER
Ex-Fifth Vice-President

St., 17 Quincy St., 517 S. Wabash Ave., 1063 W. Madison St., 1223 Milwaukee Ave., 357 N. Clark St., 111 Madison St., 1148 S. Halsted St., 802 W. Madison St., 673 W. Madison St., 553 S. Halsted St., 4141 S. Halsted St., 70 W. Madison St. and 9 Van Buren St.

Wm. G. Morden—352 E. 29th St.

J. D. McGregor—64 W. Washington St.

M. R. McKinnon—25 W. Van Buren St.

McKinnon & McDonough—232 W. Madison St.

F. F. Irwin—4303 S. State St.

D. J. Noonan—2446 Michigan Ave. and 2355 Indiana Ave.

O'Donnell & Wilder—2507 W. 12th St., 2202 S. Crawford Ave., 2403 W. 12th St., 3108 S. Michigan Ave. and 5039 Cottage Grove Ave.

Pixley & Ehlers—30 S. Clark St., 32 S. Clark St., 52 W. Randolph St., 180 N. 5th Ave., 425 S. Dearborn St., 31 N. 5th Ave., Jackson & Clark and Madison & Ogden.

Pixley & Wheaton—710 W. Madison St., 312 E. 51st St. and 1606 W. Madison St.

O. A. Reynolds—1807 Indiana Ave.

E. A. Ricketts—10 N. Paulina St., 1232 W. Madison St. and 2203 W. Madison St.

A. G. Sautter—4252 Indiana Ave.

Jos. P. Scallie—48 E. 22nd St.

Schwaegerman Bros.—2605 Indiana Ave., 5854 S. Halsted St., 6057 S. State St. and 1516 W. Madison St.

Seifert & Branum—672 W. Madison St., 1328 W. Madison St. and 429 S. Halsted St.

Frank R. Sykes—1730 S. Wabash Ave.

P. J. Thibodeaux—232 S. LaSalle St.

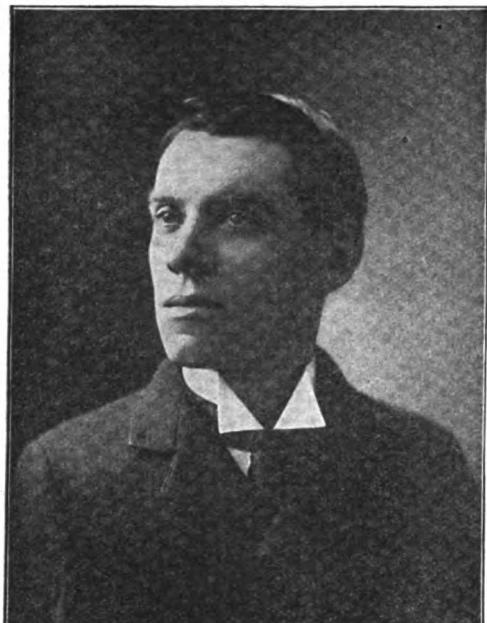

A. L. Tomm—200 E. 22nd St.

Emmett Warden—6310 Dorchester Ave. and 6308 Storey Island Ave.

Harry Washbrough—1157 E. 75th St.

L. P. White—310 E. 43rd St.

Emil Wilkens—1831 Ogden Ave.

THOMAS E. SWEENEY
Ex-Sixth Vice-President

IN ORDER THAT

WAITRESSES' UNION, COOKS' UNION, WAITERS' UNION and ALL ASSOCIATIONS, FIRMS and PERSONS ASSISTING or AIDING THEM, or having KNOWLEDGE THEREOF, be and they are hereby PERPETUALLY RESTRAINED,

From PICKETING or PATROLLING in front of, or in the vicinity of, the premises and places of business of the complainants, or from maintaining any PICKET or PICKETS in front of, or in the vicinity of, the premises and places of business of the complainants, or where the patrons of the complainants, or persons who might ordinarily patronize the complainants, pass in going to and from the place of business of the complainants;

From SPYING UPON, or maintaining a system of espionage upon any of the places of business, or any of the employees, or any of the patrons of the complainants, or upon any persons doing business or seeking to do business with the complainants;

From EXHIBITING or DISTRIBUTING, or causing to be exhibited or distributed, PRINTED or OTHER MATTER in front of, or in the vicinity of, the places of business of the complainants, designating or characterizing the complainants as UNFAIR to UNION LABOR, or designating or characterizing employees or patrons of the complainants as SCABS, or with the effect of subjecting the complainants or the employees or patrons of the complainants, or persons doing business with the complainants, to criticism, censure, scorn, disgrace or annoyance;

From DISTRIBUTING or DISPLAYING any NOTICE, DESIGN or MATTER in front of, or in the vicinity of, the places of business of the complainants for the purpose or with the EF-

ECT of CAUSING a LOSS of PATRONAGE to the COMPLAINANTS;

From ORGANIZING, maintaining, engaging in, or attempting to ORGANIZE, or maintain, any BOYCOTT against the complainants, and from attempting to induce persons to abstain from PATRONIZING the complainants in furtherance of such BOYCOTT;

From threatening to induce, engage in, or maintain, or from inducing, engaging in, or maintaining, any STRIKE or STRIKES against persons or firms because such persons or firms are doing business or seeking to do business with the complainants, or for the purpose of compelling the complainants to employ only such waitresses, waiters, and cooks as are members of one of said defendant unions, or because the complainants employ WAITRESSES, WAITERS and COOKS who are NOT MEMBERS of any of said defendant' UNIONS, or in furtherance of such boycott;

From interfering with, injuring, hindering, obstructing or stopping the business of the complainants, or molesting, intimidating or annoying the employes or patrons of the complainants, or persons doing business with or seeking to do business with the complainants, in furtherance of such boycott; or from interfering with the complainants in carrying on their business in the usual and ordinary way, for the purpose of compelling the complainants to employ only such WAITRESSES, WAITERS and COOKS as are members of one of said defendants' UNIONS.

(Signed) JESSE A. BALDWIN.

To the Mixer and Server:

The article "Between Ourselves" in your Journal April 15th, so impresses me in itself. I have often thought along the same line and I wish to add a little stronger phrase to your remarks by saying the member than can not conform to such is better out than in any union. His or her faith for the up-building of a union is so weak and with such little effect for the good of unionism that it is hardly perceivable to one that is whole soul and body a union worker. We have them in all crafts and unions. We extend our good hand of fellowship to them with that wish of sincerity on their part, when we know that the connection of brotherly love is weak. We perceive an idea of educating them. How? By force.

Is this education the education that makes unions?

Is this education?

An education is backed up by true heart to heart love.

Is this education a protectorate to true unionism?

Crouching beneath the purity of others, with the soul enshrouded with impurity, but through force must accept it as a salvation for existence and livelihood. God forbid that such a man, professing to be a union man, shall ever be judged by the Almighty. For his chances would be of such small consideration that he would not be able to answer the roll-call.

The principles of unionism, combined with the obligation that man or woman takes to become a member of a union, is of such meaning that it debauches civilization to play traitor to them. Even the uncivilized have proven true to their obligation to their brothers. Unionism is made successful by the interest taken by its members. Divided interest is of such a destructiveness to unionism that labor suffers while capital profits.

Guard the interest of unionism and you guard your home; protect unionism in your local organism and you protect the right of laboring men; divulge nothing outside of your organization that should not be divulged. Take your brother workman by the hand outside of your hall with that sincerity of love that will be an object lesson to the unorganized. Prove to your employer that the right of organization is a benefit to them in the way of efficiency. Shirk no responsibility that is imposed upon you, even though your activity may be weak, as it only provides a way of producing good.

Our organization is a vast amount of machinery, each member represents one part; each part has its work to perform. Let any one part of the machinery get weak and it affects the whole organization. There is a responsible part for each piece of this machinery to perform. The same way with your organization, there is a part for each member to perform, a responsibility for each one. Let one member shirk this responsibility and it places that much more of a burden and responsibility upon the other member. If each and every laboring man of this United States took an interest in the right and justice of the laboring man, how easy our task would be; how the conditions would be; how much more our wages would be; how much less suffering there would be among men and their families. The things that have occurred in Colorado, Michigan and West Virginia, that have placed a blot of shame upon this United States, would never have occurred.

T. S. Doud.

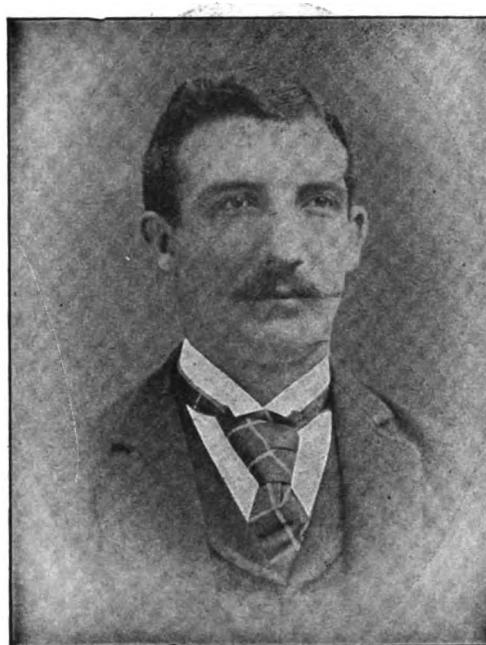

HELENA, MONT.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—I am enclosing you a draft of the resolution that was endorsed by the Montana State Conference Board of Bartenders, Cooks, Waiters and Brewery Workers, at their session held Sunday, May 16th.

We sincerely trust that you can see your way clear to have this resolution published in the next issue of the MIXER AND SERVER, also have names attached thereto published likewise. Following is a list of the delegates who signed the resolution:

Thomas Duffin, Bartenders' Union, Local 498, Lewiston, Mont.; Frank Murray, Bartenders' Union, Local 609, Great Falls, Mont.; Lawrence Nelson, Cooks and Waiters' Union, Local 101, Great Falls, Mont.; John H. Rooney, Bartenders' Union, Local 302, Butte, Mont.; Tom Collins, Bartenders' Union, Local 746, Anaconda, Mont.; Dave Edwards, Bartenders' Union, Local 393, Three Forks, Mont.; John Haggerty, Bartenders' Union, Local 664, Glendive, Mont.; Fred W. Kunz, Bartenders' Union, Local 302, Butte, Mont.; Al G. Gray, Bartenders' Union, Local 321, Havre, Mont.; Wm. G. McKee, Cooks and Waiters' Union, Local 101, Great Falls, Mont.; John R. Daly, Cooks and Waiters' Union, Local 861, Billings, Mont.; Dan Shields, Bartenders' Union, Local 609, Great Falls, Mont.; John F. Miller, L. J. E. B., (Cooks and Waiters' Local 427, Bartenders' Local 817), Missoula, Mont.

This resolution was adopted unanimously and the delegates-elect to the International Union

WILLIAM P. RYAN
Ex-Sixth Vice-President

convention at San Francisco, June 14th to 19th, have been instructed to faithfully carry out its provisions.

Fraternally yours,
LAWRENCE NELSON,
Secretary.

GREAT FALLS, MONT., May 16, 1915.

Resolution No. 6—Introduced by John F. Miller, chairman of the Local Joint Executive Board. Representing Bartenders' Local 817 and Cooks and Waiters' Local 427, Missoula, Mont.

"WHEREAS, The example of organization which presented itself to the catering industry in the year of 1891 through the issuance of a charter of affiliation with the American Federation of Labor, and after nine years' experience of mismanagement, which reduced our ranks to less than 900 members in good standing with the International Union, and our financial condition to upwards of $6,000 of outstanding indebtedness, we were brought to a realization that only through a solidification of our forces, an honesty of purpose and truthful determination could we build an institution of permanent benefit to the workers in the catering industry; and,

"WHEREAS, From August, 1899, our International Union has grown from the membership above quoted, to a membership of more than 60,000, and from an indebtedness of $6,000 to an International surplus of more than $80,000, hours of labor reduced from 12 and 14 to a maximum at present of 10, salaried increases from 25 per cent to 40 per cent, and a rank in the American Federation of Labor as ninth largest International Union affiliated with that body, and still growing, we are now confronted with a disgruntled element, seeking the Segregation of our crafts, with no other object in view than the destroying of this which years of labor has built; and,

CHARLES F. FLEISCHMANN
Ex-Sixth Vice-President

"WHEREAS, The splendid record of our International officers, the magnificent growth of our institution, now being assailed, are records enough in themselves to convince us that the enemies within our ranks is a problem harder to contend with than those on the outside; and with one preaching division, the other complete annihilation, both ably assisted by the overt acts of secessionists, and we, in the State of Montana, recognizing the usefulness of our International Union as at present constituted, having faith and confidence in the administration of our affairs, we do hereby Resolve. To record ourselves as opposed to any change in our constitutional laws which would be the means of dividing our useful and successful forces, and we are unqualifiedly opposed to any change in the form and reading of present Section 5, International laws; and, be it further

Resolved. That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the minutes of our State conference meeting, a copy sent to each local union in the State, a copy to the MIXER AND SERVER, a copy to each member of the General Executive Board and a copy to all delegates elect to the International convention at San Francisco in June from the State of Montana, so that the position of our locals in this State may be thoroughly understood on the question of segregation."

Adopted unanimously.

We, the undersigned delegates, with power and authority to voice the sentiment of our local unions, do hereby affix our signature to Resolution No. 6, placing ourselves on record as opposed to a segregation of our crafts, and reaffirming our previous declarations of confidence in our general officers and our International Union.

Thomas Duffin, Bartenders' Union, Local 498;
Frank C. Murray, Bartenders' Union, Local

609; Lawrence Nelson, Cooks and Waiters' Union, Local 101; John H. Rooney, Bartenders' Union, Local 302; Tom Collins, Bartenders' Union, Local 746; Dave Edwards, Bartenders' Union, Local 393; John Haggerty, Bartenders' Union, Local 664; Peter E. Trudeau, Brewery Workers' Union, Local 152; Wm. Dennis, Brewery Workers' Union, Local 152; Fred W. Kunz, Bartenders' Union, Local 302; Al G. Gray, Bartenders' Union, Local 321; Wm. G. McKee, Cooks and Waiters' Union, Local 101; John R. Daly, Cooks and Waiters' Union, Local 861; Dan Shields, Bartenders' Union, Local 609; Timothy Keefe, Brewery Workers' Union, Local 200; Mike Kroner, Brewery Workers' Union, Local 200; J. H. Bottomley, Brewery Workers' Union, Local 200.

ON THE FIRE AND STILL A SIZZLING. A RED HOT WALLOP FROM ONE ON THE INSIDE.

A Close View of the I. W. W. By One of the Inner Circle.

The readers of the MIXER AND SERVER have had the privilege of perusing some rather "sassy" reading about the work of the leaders of the I. W. W. and how they acted at Lawrence, Akron and Paterson; but seldom have they been permitted to peruse "direct action" from the official mouthpiece of the I. W. W. itself. As many of our members know SOLIDARITY is the official organ of the I. W. W., and anything which that paper prints presumably voices the opinion or policy of the I. W. Ws. In a recent issue of SOLIDARITY there appeared an article signed with the initials "L. C. R." It was printed on the editorial page, there was nothing accompanying same that could be regarded as a disavowal, no criticism or comment preceded or followed the article, which reads as follows:

"If the Industrial Workers of the World are going to organize the working class then we will have to make a great change in our attitude toward the labor movement and in the methods that we are now using. At the present we are to the labor movement what the high diver is to the circus. A sensation, marvelous and nerve thrilling. We attract the crowds. We give them thrills, we do hair-raising stunts and send the crowd home to wait impatiently for the next sensationalist to come along. As far as making industrial unionism fit the everyday life of the workers we have failed miserably. The crowd expects the sensational from our speakers or organizers; the members expect it, and our speakers, if they intend to remain as such, have got to supply them or go out of business. We measure the success or failure of our spreaders by the number of spectacular stunts that they are able to pull off. It is child's play to stand in front of some factory and convince the slaves that they have a grievance. Capitalism is generous in that respect. The speaker sheds tears over the misery, he opens the floodgates of sentiment, and, lo, Mr. Speaker becomes a strike leader. With cheap phrases and flowery language the strike leader appeals to the emotions of the crowd, lashing them into a religious frenzy for he knows well that if he ever allows the strikers to cool down the boasted solidarity will disappear and the men will crawl back into the factory. Take the speaker away from the strike and it will go up in smoke unless the workers or some part of them have been previously organized. Arrest the speaker or strike leader and the crowd will remain firm until another one gets on the job. The new speaker does not have to know anything about the shop conditions to make good. He raves about persecution and the brutality of the police. It is surprising how you can revive the dying enthusiasm of a crowd by a tirade against the police or the army.

"While the crowd is still enthusiastic we take in many members, many of whom would just as soon join the Salvation Army as the Industrial Workers of the World, providing that the S. A. had sense enough to use the cheap weapons that we are forcing our speakers to use. To stampede a bunch of slaves who are working for $1.62 per day is easy, and spectacular. How often do we hear around our halls a conversation like the following:

"Slim (who has just blown in)—'Gee, this town is dead; we got to start something,' meaning, of course, something sensational. What we really need is less of the sensational and more quiet organization. Organizers that can work and a membership that will allow them to work without a brass band. Had we kept as many organizers in Lawrence after the strike as we had during the strike we would have an organization that could carry on the next battle without the aid of press agents or sensationalists. In Akron it was the same story; the members cried for sensation; Haywood was sent for. He filled the bill, but after the strike was over every organizer was called to other points to supply the thrills called for by the rank and file.

"It is getting to be a habit, and the speakers are catering to it. In Pittsburg I heard one of our principal speakers give voice to the following: 'Do you think I am going to come here and talk to two hundred people when I can stay in New York and talk to ten thousand people direct and have my speeches carried to thousands more by the capitalistic press?' The poison of sensationalism had entered his veins; his standard of success was the standard of the rank and file who measure the success of an organizer by the noise he is able to make and by the spectacular stunts he is able to pull off. Let the hated capitalistic press give a front page column to the antics of some organizer and he immediately becomes the God of the leaderless rank and file. The cheapest gallery play, idle threat or giant boast is applauded by the members who would disdain to say a kind word for the men who plod along trying to build up a local union that will stand and fulfill its function without the aid of a 'high diver.' If you dare say a word about the efficient work of our present general secretary around a hall, some one will immediately ask, 'What did he ever do?' The hard and thankless routine of organization work means nothing to them. What does it matter to them if he is the ablest man in the movement? He has failed to monopolize the front pages of the daily press, so he is a failure. If he fails to get the necessary funds to keep the sensationalists in the field, we feel as if we had been cheated out of our just due. How we do howl. What does it matter if we have editors who are able and capable of making our papers real propaganda sheets? We want some one who will feed us scandal, gossip, and, above all, sensationalism. We must have it now that we have developed the taste for it. Give it to us or we will elect some one who will. In the choice between ability and sensation, we pick the latter to win.

"Don't think for a minute that because we are growing numerically our present sensational method is right. Oh, no; we are growing in spite of it. The principles of industrial unionism are mighty strong, and even we have not been able to kill the organization. The fault does not lie with the general officers, but with you, the members of the rank and file, who make gods of the 'high divers' and abuse the men who refuse to sacrifice organization for front page articles in the capitalist press. Unless we can organize the workers without doing the spectacular, we are doomed. It is up to you. The organizers and speakers are what you make them. Demand the straight goods and hard work and you will get it. Keep on as you are doing now and don't whine when you get stung."

PROHIBITION A CALAMITY, SAYS FATHER PAYNE.

Favors Properly Regulated and Licensed Saloons.

Priest Scores Police For Failure to Observe Violations of Excise Laws—Because One Man Gets Drunk, Don't Punish Ninety-nine Others Who Don't, He Reasons—Points to Increased Use of Drugs In "Dry" Territory—Flays Brewery Control of Licenses.

"Prohibition is a calamity, nothing else. What we need most of all is a rigid enforcement of the laws that we have. We want a stop put to the practice of policemen going over their beats with their eyes shut to prevent them from seeing the violations of the law. The sale of liquor should be regulated so that men would not drink themselves to death, but I sincerely believe that prohibition is no cure for intemperance."

That was the statement emphasized by Rev. William Payne in his sermon to his congregation at St. Mary's Church recently. Father Payne devoted his sermon to an explanation of his views on the question of prohibition, and explained what he considered the religious view of the situation. He said that a man should be allowed to exercise his free will to be temperate, but he denounced the method of forcing a man into temperance.

Citing statistics which had been prepared by noted physicians of the country, and saying they were officially recognized throughout the nation, Father Payne declared that prohibition does not prohibit. He illustrated this point by giving figures of the amount of liquor consumed in the "dry" States and the number of arrests for public intoxication in the cities of these States.

Should Make Good Use of Gifts.

"God's church teaches," said Father Payne, "that man shall make good use of the things which are placed before him in this life. If he shall make bad use of these things, he sins. Ever since the world began there has been evil in the world, and since the time of Noah there has been intemperance."

"The Bible tells us that in the Garden of Eden God placed an evil tree. Man partook of the fruit of that tree. Perhaps we might be inclined to criticise our Lord for placing the evil there. Now,

THOMAS S. FARRELL
Ex-Sixth Vice-President

why did He place it there? Only because He foresaw the evils of the world.

"He knew that not all bad would come from the tree of olives. He knew that there would be some good derived from it. He knew that, while many would rebel against him, there would be multitudes who would stand by Him and be loyal to Him. We should be allowed to exercise our loyalty to Him by free will, and not be forced by some one else.

Wine Made By Noah.

"On the question of the use of intoxicating liquors, we find that there was intemperance in the time of Noah. He pressed the juice from grapes and made wine. Then he drank the wine and became intoxicated. Great men have used intoxicating liquors in all time. I do not mean to be understood as intimating that their success was due to the fact that they used intoxicating liquors. People might say that the war in Europe was caused by intemperance, and they might say that the poverty of Mohammedans is due to abstinence. But that is only idle talk.

"Men have used intoxicants and have been successful, but I am not ready to say that their success was due to their use of these intoxicants. But there are many who have drunk to their undoing. However, for the one man who drinks himself to death, there are 1,000 men who eat themselves to death. Is there any one seeking to prohibit men from eating?

"One hundred men will go into a saloon. Perhaps ninety-nine of them will drink moderately and go on about their business. The other man will get drunk and stagger through the streets. Must we forbid the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors because this one man gets drunk? No, I don't think that we have got to do that.

Let Immoderate Drinker Work.

"Let the ninety-nine men drink moderately. Put the other man on some highway. Put the heavy iron ball and chain on him if it is necessary and make him work.

"We can't force men to be virtuous. If we could, I would not be here talking to you. Suppose I am asked to recommend a young man for a position in one of our banks. Suppose that I place him in a cell that is a few feet square with four walls and a ceiling of concrete. In the cell with him I place $10,000. Then I lock the double iron gates with padlocks. I leave him there for twenty-four hours and then return. He is still there and the $10,000 is still there. Then I say, 'Behold an honest man!' Is he an honest man because of that? There is no proof from that experiment to show that he is honest. He has had no chance to get away with the money, even if he had desired to steal it.

"Of all of the men who drink, I do not believe that more than one in 10,000 becomes an habitual drunkard. The prohibition people have been active enough to place a number of our states on the 'dry' list. What is the result of it? How about the increase in the use of harmful drugs?

"I have secured statistics from the World's Almanac, which are official. A noted physician writes that not more than 35,000 ounces of cocaine are necessary for the use of the people in the entire United States. During the last year, records show, more than 200,000 ounces of cocaine were imported into the United States. That would indicate that 165,000 ounces have been sold illegally. The sales of these drugs increase in proportion to the 'dry' territory of the United States.

"Then we have the question of whether or not the amount of sales of liquor are cut down by prohibition. So far, it has been found that the sales have increased. Take, for instance, the City of Topeka, located in Kansas, a dry state. During the month of September there were shipped into that city 90,062 gallons of liquor. This means that a gallon of liquor was consumed by every man in the state on an average.

"If the prohibition forces would see to it that the people of New York State could be supplied in this manner, I believe that every man of you would come to the front and vote for prohibition. The saloonkeepers themselves would stand back of the movement. There is the one thing certain about it: Prohibition does not prohibit.

Bootblack for Bartender.

"When we substitute prohibition for license, we substitute the bootblack for the bartender. If the liquor is not sold at the saloons, it will be sold in the back end of the shining parlor or some other business place of the same character. Prohibition is no cure for the evils of intemperance.

"The liquor dealer who conducts his business within the law and in a legitimate manner asks no favor of the politicians. He obeys the law and there is no chance of his business being drawn into political corruption. It is different, however, with the bootblack. His liquor business cannot be legitimate, and the politicians can use him. It is just a question of the enforcement of the law, and the politicians can find some way in which the law need not be enforced.

"I differ very much with prohibition as a means of curing intemperance. I say that the sale of intoxicants must be regulated. I say that we must have legislation which will properly regulate the sales and this legislation must be enforced.

Should Prosecute Violations.

"What we need most of all is the enforcement of our present laws, which are to regulate the traffic. There are too many saloons in our city that are operated to the demoralization of the community in which they are licensed to sell liquor. It is that to which I object strongly and I believe that something should be done to prosecute their violations.

"No one should be more interested in the respectability of a saloon than its proprietor himself. He has his home, his wife and his children. He does not want anyone to point a finger of scorn at his children, because they are the children of a man engaged in the liquor business.

Opposes Brewery Control.

"Another source of evil are the saloons owned by the breweries. The man who is placed in charge of the saloon, owned by the brewery, is allowed to have side attractions, and there is no regard whatever for the decency of these side attractions. This practice should be stopped. When the proprietor of one of these places is arrested, the brewery should be prosecuted and the license of that brewery should be taken away. It is the brewery that is responsible for such places and the action should be directed against that brewery.

"I have seen those detestable 'beer slingers' who keep men around their places until they have spent their last nickel. The mother and children at home are to suffer for this. When I see this sort of thing, I feel like burning a fire over the heads of the scoundrels who operate such saloons. And I don't believe that I would hurry to draw them out of the fire either.

"Prohibition is a calamity, nothing else. While I wish all men well, I especially wish well to the men who sell liquor and respect the law in operating their business. I honor the wet goods dealer just as much as the dry goods dealer, if his business is conducted in a legitimate manner.

"We want a rigid enforcement of the law. We don't want a policeman going about over his beat, with his eyes shut, so that he will not see the violations of the law. We want these laws enforced right here in Auburn."—The Advertiser-Journal, Auburn, N. Y., Monday, February 15, 1915.

FIRING LINE. NATIONAL SUPPORT FROM PUCK

Of the large general periodicals none has so stubbornly fought against prohibition as Puck, the famous humorous weekly, and hardly an issue appears without some editorial paragraph or cartoon pointing out the utter impracticability of Prohibition. The following, for instance, from the current issue, is food for thought:

"Alabama may be in the market for a loan of from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 before the end of the year, the state treasurer announces. The deficit, which is growing at the rate of $100,000 a month, is now said to total $1,000,000.—New York American.

"Prohibition leaves a train of shattered state treasures in its wake. We would suggest that West Virginia and Alabama put a tax on chocolate sundaes to help them out of their financial difficulties."

Puck is treating the problem of personal liberty in a broad-visioned manner, and deserves the support of the entire industry.

ENGLAND'S GRAND "OLD MAN."

William E. Gladstone, who earned fame and renown among his countrymen, who gave him that loving title, "The Grand Old Man," said:

"How can I, who drink good wine and bitter beer every day of my life in a comfortable room and among friends, coolly stand up and advise hard-working fellow creatures to take the pledge."

We wonder if the present day dry-efficiency shouters in England have among them the equal of William E. Gladstone. Incompetents the world over invariably try to hide their defects or shift their burdens to other shoulders.

TREMENDOUS DEFICITS.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 18.

The convening of the West Virginia Legislature on Tuesday in response to the Governor's call for an extraordinary session to consider tax questions brings West Virginia's financial plight into the limelight again.

In view of the Governor's opposition to the placing of an additional direct tax on property generally, and also in view of the reluctance of the lawmakers to put the additional burden of taxation on the corporations, there is no certainty that this extra session will result in action that will produce revenue to replace the $650,000 yearly revenue forfeited by reason of the adoption of State-wide prohibition.

But unless revenue is provided there is grave danger of a breakdown in the State's governmental machinery.

It is claimed by some of the State officers here that the Governor has the power to borrow money to pay current expenses, but the Governor holds that his power to borrow money can be exerted only in case of a casual deficit, and he says that the present deficit is not "casual." On the contrary, he says, it is an "intentional" deficit, due to the deliberate refusal of the Legislature to pass laws that will raise the needed revenue.

The Governor, in messages to the Legislature, insists that a further increase in direct taxation would be unfair. He thinks that the corporations should pay a special tax, not only for doing business in the State, but also for holding large quantities of land for future development.

Those who are opposed to making the corporations make up the prohibition deficit say that legislation adverse to corporations would tend to drive capital out of the State. The Governor's answer is that persons who make such an argument are not desirable citizens.

Pending action by the Legislature in putting the prohibition tax on the corporations or on the people generally, the situation is going rapidly from bad to worse.

At the close of the fiscal year, ended September 30, 1912, the State had a surplus of $592,475.39. At that time the State had a direct tax of less than one cent on the $100 valuation. Then followed a short fiscal year; a strike that cost the State at least $350,000, and later on came State-wide prohibition.

The State deficit on July 1, 1915, according to Governor Hatfield's figures, will be $624,000, not counting $850,000 of old appropriations not expended.

C. F. KEELING
Ex-Sixth Vice-President

On July 1, 1917, the deficit will be $1,844,000, as estimated by Governor Hatfield, after vetoing new appropriations of $858,000. These figures are based on the supposition that the Legislature will continue to fail to pass tax laws to raise the amounts making up the estimated deficit.

The direct tax is now ten cents on the $100 valuation, and, according to one of the State officials, would have to be about twenty cents to pay the cost of State government. The taxable property in the State is valued close to $1,400,000,000. The present indirect tax is expected to bring in about $1,175,000 a year.

For lack of funds Governor Hatfield has applied the veto ax to numerous appropriations, only some of which follow:

Transportation of prisoners and extradition of criminals, $5,000 a year.

Girls' dormitories and agricultural buildings, State University, $100,000 a year.

State Industrial Home for Girls (buildings and land), $10,000 for next year.

Normal schools (buildings and land), $80,000 a year.

State Tuberculosis Sanitarium (buildings and land), $15,000 a year.

State hospitals (buildings and land), $35,000 a year.

Public Service Commission, $60,000 a year.

Mining extension work, State University, $10,000 a year.

Civil contingent fund, $20,000 for current year.

Rewriting and rebinding Auditor's records, $5,000 a year.

Protection of forests and propagation of fish and game, $10,000 a year.

Prevention foot and mouth disease, $5,000.

State militia fund, $65,000 a year.

Repairs and improvements, State institutions, $5,000.

Hotel Inspector, $1,562.50.

State Colored Orphans' Home (buildings and land), $3,000 a year.

State Librarian, $500 a year.

Point Pleasant monument, $2,500 a year.

King's Daughters and city hospitals, $10,000 a year.

Factory inspectors, $4,000 a year.

The appropriations in most cases were for the period of two years, and the total amount included in the items vetoed amounts to $858,608.09.

An item of general interest is the practical stoppage of the fight on the chestnut tree blight. This blight threatens four billion feet of chestnut lumber in West Virginia alone. Unless checked it will spread to Kentucky, Tennessee and other States. Already it has devastated this class of timber in the East.

Another item of interstate concern is the lack of funds to fight the cattle plague known as the "foot and mouth" disease.

Since the adoption of prohibition violations of the liquor laws have increased enormously.

Bootleggers are busy all over the State. In some of the towns they are hunted down vigorously by the police, but in many communities juries refuse to convict.

Any traveler is liable to arrest and conviction as a bootlegger if he carries more than two quarts of liquor without labeling his baggage as to the quantity of liquor in his possession. It is related that one man, returning from a fishing trip, obeyed the law literally by wearing a placard which read: "I contain one quart of rye and four pints of beer."

On the first Monday in May, 1914, before prohibition went into effect, there were thirty-nine prisoners in the county jail at Charleston. On the first Monday in May, 1915, there were ninety-two prisoners in the same jail. There were twenty felony cases a year ago, and there are twenty-one this year on the jail docket for the dates named.

As indicating business conditions in West Virginia, at least one representative of a big mercantile agency has not made a report on West Virginia's general business condition for several months, his explanation being that he did not desire to make an unfavorable report for publication. He says that collections have been most difficult.

It is true that some of the big factories have closed down in and near Wheeling, and it is also a fact that thousands of employees of the liquor and allied industries lost their jobs when the prohibition law became operative.

It is also true that hundreds of thousands of dollars in legitimate investments were wiped out of existence without compensation.

A banker at Wheeling has made up a detailed statement showing that banks in that city have suffered an average loss of $4,100 in deposits for every day since prohibition went into effect, July 1, 1914.

City tax officials at Wheeling say that they will have great difficulty in collecting the city taxes, and that there is much dissatisfaction over the numerous increases in municipal business licenses and various forms of indirect taxation.

The city of Wheeling owns its waterworks and depends on the revenue from this department for a great part of the city's income. One collector for the city recently took out bills calling for $1,500 in water rents and returned all unpaid except one for $2.86.

SIGNS OF A PROHIBITION TOWN.

No, this is not a scene from Goldsmith's "Deserted Village" it is a house in Los Gatos, California, one of those happy prohibition towns that the "reformers" and hypocrites talk about where peace, plenty and happiness reign. Unfortunately, the photograph does not show the cobwebs inside the building, or the grass growing in the streets.—New York Hotel Register and Review.

The cut from which the above illustration was printed, was loaned to us by Mr. Charles E. Gehring, managing editor of the "New York Hotel Register and Review."

The "New York Hotel Register and Review" is an exception among the hotel papers, it is making, and has been engaged in a campaign to convince the managing end of the hotel business, that the dollars which they expend for supplies should be spent with the friends of the Catering Industry and not with concerns who publicly or otherwise contribute to such organizations as the Anti-Saloon League.

We are in thorough accord with Editor Gehring's campaign of "BUY FROM YOUR FRIENDS," and have repeatedly urged our members to be exceedingly careful as to spending their wages with concerns which manufacture or distribute commodities of any kind or character who are known to be contributors to organizations which devote time, energy and money to creating legislative obstacles to place in the path of the catering industry. We trust that the "BUY FROM YOUR FRIENDS" campaign will become popular and that its logical outcome will be that employers will extend it so as to include "EMPLOY YOUR FRIENDS," the citizen voters, the men who have a recognized voice in the affairs of your country.

ORGANIZED LABOR AND PROHIBITION.

By JOSEPH PROEBSTLE.

Address before the Labor Editors' Convention,
Chicago, Illinois, May 18, 1915.

Labor, and especially organized Labor, of necessity must take a keen interest in all public or political questions, agitating the masses of the people of a State or Nation.

The Labor Press, as the mouthpiece of Organized Labor, therefore must not only be the advocate for Labor's views and rights before the general public, but should be the advance agent for progress, as well as the defender of the rights and privileges of the toilers, even if the toilers themselves see no danger signal.

The recent investigations of the Industrial Commission disclosed such astonishing brutality, cunning and cupidity on the part of the Captains of Industries, that Labor is more than justified to view every proposition coming before the people, supported and advocated by these Captains of Industries, with suspicion and distrust.

In the last few years every big corporation in America advocated and financially supported Prohibition for their employees. Through this means of support the Prohibition Movement has made such rapid gains, that it threatens today the very life and existence of large, and heretofore, powerful International Labor Organizations, such as the Bartenders, Hotel and Restaurant Employees, the Brewery Workers, the Cigar Makers, the Glass Bottle Blowers, the Coopers, and others, and materially weakens a number of other Trades Organizations, including the Printing and Building Trades.

This financial support of the Trusts and Big Industries of the country has developed a special professional Prohibition Agitator, who is turned out by the American Colleges and Universities as a qualified stump orator, and who formerly chose the pulpit, but now finds better paid and more interesting employment in preaching Prohibition to the working class.

There is one phase that these Agitators always hammer upon, and that is that the Prohibition Movement is purely a moral question. They play upon the feelings and emotions of the masses, and so far they have succeeded remarkably well in blinding the people and in hiding their real motives.

If the Big Interests of this country could see nothing but a moral or political question in the Prohibition Movement, they would soon stop supporting it, but the capitalist sees, above all, an economic question in the Prohibition Movement, and this is what every workingman must be taught to see and to understand.

It is not merely the intention of the people who support the Prohibition Movement financially to destroy the Brewery Workers, Bartenders, Cigar Makers and other directly connected trades, who depend upon the Liquor Industry for their livelihood—the Prohibition supporter aims to affect, and is possible, destroy all organized efforts of every trade or calling.

Many employers of Labor regard the use of alcoholic drinks, as far as their employees are concerned, as a luxury, and they do so for purely economic reasons. They do not deny themselves the good things of life—but they endeavor to prevent their employees from enjoying an occasional glass of beer or wine. They say that the money spent for such innocent enjoyment, or at times even necessary stimulant, is squandered, and would far better remain in their own, the employers' pockets.

To gain their end, they look upon the financing of the Prohibition Movement as a good investment, which in time will, if successful, bring good returns.

The claim made that the workingman can, by not indulging in an occasional drink, utilize that part of his wages spent heretofore in the saloon, for other purposes, is hypocrisy. The real object is to deprive the workingman of that part of his wages, which the employers wrongly claim is now spent uselessly and foolishly in the saloon, and to keep it for themselves in order to increase their profits. We have hundreds of examples in localities which voted dry at the behest and influence of big corporations and employers, that reductions of wages followed immediately.

It has been demonstrated in each State in which Prohibition has been established that the Labor Organizations directly involved were completely wiped out, and the other Organizations of Labor were greatly decimated and have never recovered.

In West Virginia, Tennessee and Alabama Prohibition had such a depressing effect on all other business that the towns and cities, and even the States, find themselves facing bankruptcy.

Labor, which was formerly employed directly and indirectly in breweries and saloons, working under agreements with their employers, providing for an eight-hour working day and for wages ranging from $18 to $30 per week and more, finds itself in an unorganized chaotic scramble for work at any price, and at any number of hours, depressing and affecting the wages in all other trades in their fight for an existence.

This is what the Big Corporations supporting the Prohibition Movement want to accomplish. They have been unable to defeat the Trades Union Movement by any other means. The overcrowding of the Labor Market, the disruption of the many militant Labor Organizations and the suppression of the workingmen's social gathering place is worth the price they are paying at present for the professional Prohibition Agitator.

The English Government seriously contemplated recently to deprive the English workers of the right to enjoy themselves as they pleased and tried to put on the working class of England the stigma of drunken degeneracy, but found that by such falsehood the workers of England could not be induced to sell their liberty and the attempt had to be abandoned before the indignation of the working class reached the danger point of sweeping the Government off its feet.

Impartial and unbiased American Journalists are now investigating the conditions and the attempts made by the Big Interests of England to deprive the workers of their liberty and will soon make a report. It is to be hoped that the Labor Press of America will give this report the widest publicity.

There is one more important reason for the Captains of Industries to spend their money in the support of the Prohibition Movement, and that is, as long as they are able to keep the minds of the masses agitated on the Prohibition Question, the people as a whole will not raise their voices in protest against their stealing of natural resources, the Public Utilities, and the milking of the public through the wholesale watering of stock.

All this, and many more facts connected with the Prohibition Movement, should be told to the working class of America, in order to make it see the economic danger which is lurking behind the mask of these moral (?) Captains of Industries, whose sole purpose is to enslave the workers and deprive them of their last semblance of liberty and self-government. This is the work and the duty of the Labor Press, in connection with all their other efforts for the betterment of conditions for the toilers of America. Gentlemen, you who are the Editors, and in many cases the owners, of the Labor Press, have indeed a serious and grand mission to fulfill in the destiny of this Nation! Let us hope that the Labor Press will always be true to the interests, the future welfare and liberty of the toiling masses of this country! Gentlemen, I thank you.

DRY WAVE CAUSES $2,000,000 LOSS IN WHISKY TAXES.

Prohibition Movement May Compel Recasting of U. S. Financial Program.

WASHINGTON, D. C.,

"The revenue from whisky has shrunk over $2,000,000 a year, due to the spread of the temperance movement, and I would not be surprised to see it continue to shrink from the same cause."

That is the statement of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Peters, referring to the falling off of revenues from "wet" goods as one of the shortages which have contributed materially to the treasury deficit.

LOSS OF REVENUE COMING.

The last part of Mr. Peters' statement undoubtedly was based on the fact that nine states from which the federal government derives a total revenue of over $5,000,000 from spirits and liquors will go "dry" next year. Those states and the amounts received from them by the federal treasury are as follows:

	Distilled spirits.	Fermented liquors.
Alabama	$ 108,081 52	$ 49,186 31
Arkansas	55,552 82	17,306 48
Colorado	155,323 14	386,252 90
Idaho	13,788 54	23,062 66
Oregon	381,040 03	218,434 67
Virginia	1,753,353 25	206,397 14
Washington	300,760 64	974,295 87
Iowa	56,105 96	524,339 08
Arizona	21,155 90	23,398 83
Totals	$2,845,161 80	$2,422,673 94
		2,845,161 80

Total liquor revenue.....$5,267,835 74

So noticeable is the reduction of whisky revenues and so great is the prospect of even more material reductions that prohibition people predict a complete revision of the government's financial system will be necessary before many years.

The government revenues from customs last year were $292,320,014, while the taxes on distilled spirits and fermented liquors amounted to $226,-141,356. Spirits and fermented liquors yielded about 30 per cent of the revenues received from all sources.

The year before distilled spirits and liquors yielded $4,000,000 more, so there has been a rapid decline in the income from intoxicants during recent years.

OTHER REVENUE ENDANGERED.

States producing $30,000,000 in liquor revenues have either voted to submit prohibition to a vote or have passed county option laws within the last year. The largest liquor revenue producing states, with their approximate contributions, are as follows:

Illinois, $50,500,000; Kentucky, $31,870,000; Indiana, $28,100,000; New York, $24,800,000; Ohio, $15,700,000; Pennsylvania, $17,200,000.

When the Hobson resolution proposing a constitutional amendment for nation-wide prohibition was under discussion in the House during the last session of Congress, the liquor people laid great stress on the amount of money that would be lost by the federal government if the tax on liquor was eliminated.

Secretary Bryan said recently that about $2,500,000,000 is spent annually in this country for liquor.—The Chicago Sunday Tribune.

March 28, 1915.

A WORLD OF MOLLUSKS.

After prohibition—then what?

Intoxicating liquor is not the only thing that gives pleasure that is abused, that is indulged in to excess, and that sows ruin and desolation in the train of its undue indulgence. It is not the only thing that strews temptation in the paths of the weak and the innocent.

There is dancing, to cite just one of many examples. We have been edified and refreshed by another of the Rev. Billy Sunday's sermons in which he sets forth in lurid and picturesque phraseology the evil that dancing does. It is quite as strong a case, he makes, it seems to us, as can be made against liquor. And it is contrariwise, quite as weak a case. It all depends upon the point of view. But let the Rev. Billy speak for himself.

"The dance is immoral. Every man and woman carries a breast full of passions, and these passions become a tinderbox. On the ball room floor you allow liberties to men that you never would allow them elsewhere. You grant them liberties on the ball room floor that if a man other than your husband would attempt in your home and your husband would find you at it, he would have no trouble in securing a divorce, and if he shot the man no jury in the world would convict him for it.

"Where do you find your most accomplished dancers? In the brothels. The girls in these places come, in many instances, from the upper crust of society.

"I denounce the dance as the most hellish institution that ever wriggled from the depths of perdition. Six saloons do not do as much to rot the morals of girls as one dancing school.

"Oh,' but you say, 'I go to the private dances.' The slums and free-for-all have you beat a mile. Why? Because they wear more clothes than you do.

"The chief of police in New York tells me that three-fourths of the fallen women in that city went wrong first through the dances. There are 500,000 fallen women in the United States, and to think that 370,000 of those lost their virtue through the dance halls!

"But you say: 'Can't a fellow dance with his own wife? Why, you would just as soon husk corn all night by moonlight as dance with your own wife. It's some other fellow's wife or some other fellow's sister you want. You let him hug your wife for the privilege of hugging his. I want to see the color of the buck's hair that dares to put his arms around Nell.'"

It is difficult to make use of the Rev. Billy's language even though it most emphatically lacks one's indorsement, without offering an apology. Mr. Sunday's personal habits and morals may be unexceptional. But it must be said that his mental attitude, his imagination, like his language, is much more to be found in the brothel or the lowest groggery than among educated, clean-minded, and decent men and women. His viewpoint is that of one peering from the mouth of a sewer and declaring that all the world is vile.

But let that be as it may. The point is that it is evident that Sunday regards dancing as even a greater evil than drinking. It is merely a pandering to lust. It is responsible for three-fourths of the prostitutes, and one dancing school does more harm than a half dozen saloons.

Why not, then, abolish dancing? Why not pass a law against it? How can men and women be depended upon to be decent when there is a chance to be vile? Why rely on morality, religion, education, self-respect, public opinion, to do that which can be so much more simply done by a "Be It Enacted?" Why not improve on the plans and purposes of the Almighty, and by legislation remove temptation from the world, remove the opportunity to sin, and to fall, and to struggle, and to refuse to sin, and thus simply and easily make all men and all women moral?

But it would not stop with the prohibition of drinking and dancing. Card playing is dangerous. It is a pit for the unwary. It leads to gambling, and gambling leads to embezzlement and suffering families. While it is true that some men and some women may, and do, play cards and remain respectable, others do not and cannot. Why not, then, for their sake prohibit card playing altogether?

After which there would be many other reforms to espouse. The mingling of the sexes is highly dangerous. Tinder and tow are put together. Some men and some women, truly, can meet each other sociably and remain pure in mind and inclination. But others do not. They are lured, at once or gradually, into the temptation to sin. Many do sin. Why not remove the temptation by a law that will prohibit every man from gazing upon, or speaking to, or coming within reaching distance of any woman but his own wife? And if he have no wife, let the negotiations be conducted by the State, and let the lady, after the manner of the protected Moslem women, wear a veil and be kept at a distance until after the wedding ceremony.

A world without temptation, and so a world without sin. A world inhabited by mollusks instead of vertebrates. Billy Sunday and his kind think it would be more pleasing in the sight of the Lord. But we wonder if they are right.
—Omaha World-Herald.

A LITTLE WISDOM DISPLAYED BY PROFESSOR.

Barkkeepers May Be Respectable and May Not Be Decorated With Horns and Cloven Hoofs.

Professor Reed, of the University of California, must have a little justice in his make-up, for even in a barkeeper he recognizes there may be some good qualities and some genuine talent.

Speaking on "traffic in alcohol," Professor Thomas Reed recently said: "The saloon caters to a genuine demand on the part of a very large proportion of the community who believe it right to drink.

"The bartender does not, as many believe, have cloven hoofs and a sulphuric odor; but he has instead some rough-and-ready qualities that appeal.

"Do not be so obstinate as to believe that because a certain form of amusement was objectionable to your ancestors it is wrong."

Writing on the above, the Sacramento Union says:

"Possibly his defense was designed as a defense in principle rather than an argument for an institution which the wine interests of the country, the beer makers and the wholesale liquor interests have concluded must be banished or 'regulated' close to the vanishing point."

Current gossip has it that the Sacramento Union is, at the present time, deriving its principal source of existence from the Anti-Saloon League, and, perhaps, the editorial, of which part is quoted, was dictated by the business policy of the paper.

There is not perhaps a man in Sacramento or in any other part of the State of California who does not know a bartender from which he has asked a favor. True, the favor may not amount to much, but it is seldom that the bartender will refuse to do a favor for his patrons.

They have no hoofs, and they have no horns. Many of them will eventually graduate into first-class business men; and while they may be working for wages in a business which the Union would like to condemn, those men have souls and families and wives and homes.

Yes, many of them have been prosperous business men, and vicissitudes have come their way and they are forced to work for wages until an opportunity again presents itself.

In support of its contention, the Union quotes from the expression made by a brewery man who, having made his stake, has retired to condemn the business from which he made it:

"I am a brewer, and I want to make money; but I want to make the world brighter and happier, and I do not want to make money in any way that brings misery and degradation."

The pity of the liquor business is that it is frequently damned by men with the caliber of that of the above-mentioned brewer.

But so it is with any other business: "What care I so long as my ox is not gored."—The Yolo Independent, Washington, Cal.

SPEAKING IN PARABLES.

"Pa, what is a retainer?"

"What you pay a lawyer before he does any work for you, my son."

"Oh, I see. It's like the quarter you put in the gas meter before you get any gas."—Boston Transcript.

CHAT OF THE CRAFT

"WEAK SPOTS."

"No progress," writes President George W. Perkins of the Cigar Makers' International Union in the March number of the Cigar Makers Official Journal, "has ever been obtained by self-complacency; nor by moving aimlessly; nor by ignoring the records of experience and history. It is necessary and laudable to dwell upon the achievements of the past, and to explain to the rising generation the efforts and sacrifices made in gaining shorter hours, higher wages, and improved working conditions. It is the mission of the trades union movement to encourage the workers in the agitation for the improvement of the economic and social status of the masses. Moreover, it is of prime importance to point constantly to the necessity of increasing the membership by agitation and education, and by extending the hand of friendship to the men and women outside of our ranks. The organization of the workers, both male and female, skilled and unskilled, must go on and cannot stop till the goal is reached. In this endeavor nothing must be left undone till all obstacles are overcome or eliminated.

"In organizing and building up the trades union movement, we should heed the lessons of the past, the costly experience gained from defeats. If we build, let us build wisely; let us build strongly; let us build upon a foundation that will stand the test of time and the test of defeats. Let us build upon a basis that will enable us to recover lost ground in a brief time after a disastrous defeat; that will enable us to rally our scattered forces in quick order, full of action, of hope and ardor.

"The American trades union movement, with a few exceptions, is full of weak spots. It is lacking in preparation for emergencies, and fails to make provision for conflicts of an extended nature; it is narrow in a constructive sense and ignores the most vital point in caring for the unemployed in periods of business depression.

"It is built upon prosperous times and a continuous period of sunshine; it is not prepared for periods of depression and the fluctuations in trade conditions. Some national unions have failed to make provisions for any strike benefit whatsoever; the members have to depend upon voluntary contributions and donations appropriated by the national executive board. There is no guarantee whatsoever for an adequate support in case of a protracted strike or lockout. This is one of the weakest spots in the financial structure of the American trades union movement; it gives the employers a tremendous advantage at the outset of the struggle. It almost enables them to calculate when the starvation period would set in with all of its depressing influences. It encourages the employers to hold out and to delay settlement based on conciliation, confidence, and arbitration. It gives them the vantage and better position in the field of dispute.

"The employers cannot be deceived by bluster and braggadocio about millions of dollars in reserve which have no foundation in fact; neither can they be brow-beaten with high-sounding resolutions and effusions. It is a well-filled treasury which counts in the final analysis of the situation. The weekly strike benefit paid promptly without reservation and evasion is the ammunition in the industrial field. It is the commissary department distributing the provisions to the families of the members on strike, which bears on the situation with telling effect. It furnishes the endurance and perseverance necessary for the maintenance of a united front. The building up of a powerful and permanent reserve fund is one of the means to eliminate conflicts of a long duration."

"HE THAT IS WITHOUT SIN, LET HIM CAST THE FIRST STONE."

Under the above caption, Bert Taylor, Editor of the Toledo Union Leader, takes the Editor of the Christian Commonwealth over his knee and administers a verbal spanking which should keep that "dusty" individual in his proper place for many months to come; that is assuming that there is a proper place for such fanatical pencil pushers.

Editor Taylor, after quoting from the Christian Commonwealth, responds in part as follows:

"Our contemporary, the Christian Commonwealth, in its fanatical enthusiasm for the "Dry" interests, churches and prohibition, in a recent editorial, makes an attack upon the Central Labor Union for its "official" indorsement of the stand taken by Organized Labor in the city and throughout the state in opposing prohibition.

We deplore the fact that the Christian Commonwealth, in common with other "Dry" organs, sees only what it wants to see and thinks and says only what it wants to think and say, regardless of the FACTS OF THE CASE. We care nothing for its faith in the ranks of Organized Labor—FAITH REPRESENTS ALL THE INTEREST THE CHURCH AND "DRYS" HAVE IN THE LABORING MAN—but we do care that it should state the truth. The resolution in question was adopted unanimously by the Central Labor Union delegates in session assembled, and on the occasion there were an exceptionally large delegation present of ALL CRAFTS, the Bartenders and Brewery Workers being conspicuously absent that night. Actual figures are not on record, but from personal observation we are safe in claiming that the industries representing "labor's own worst enemy" were represented by from SIX TO EIGHT DELEGATES OUT OF NEARLY THREE HUNDRED PRESENT. Where does the Brewery Workers and Bartenders' representatives dominating the Central Labor Union come in? We fail to see it.

In reference to the "proof that labor cannot afford to carry the burden of bartenders unions

J. CHARLES HACKETT
Ex-Seventh Vice-President.

and brewery workers, we reply that unlike the Church and "Dry" elements, we, the workers who comprise organized labor, do not—and never will—shirk our responsibilities or throw in the discard any of our less fortunate brothers and sisters who may meet trouble or have their occupation and livelihood endangered by a band of fanatics or enemies, but we stand by them in asking who supported the poor girls of the General Electric strike, or the teamsters when "Christian Forces" allowed the importation of armed thugs to our city? Did the ministers of Toledo help these oppressed workers? Have the members of the "Christian Forces" ever supported the laborer in Toledo?

We indignantly deny that any force dominates the Central Labor Union. The trouble is the "Drys" would like to do so, and are exceedingly jealous of organized labor in Toledo and the country over coming out openly in defense of the rights of the worker and in support of a class of workers engaged in the brewery industries who are the equal of many members of "Christian Forces" mentioned. The reference to a recent tragedy comes with very bad grace from a paper representing "Christian" men and women, and we will tell our contemporary that man for man the members of organized labor, particularly those employed in brewery industries, catering to the NEEDS OF CHRISTIAN FORCES, and its distributing agencies will compare remarkably well with those said forces. Bartenders and ministers have gone to the gallows and electric chair before now, BUT THE AVERAGE IS FIFTY-FIFTY. In the words of Jesus Christ our Saviour we venture to rebuke our contemporary for its narrow and biased assertions: "He that is without Sin, let him cast the first stone."

A CHICAGO BOOSTER—NOT.

One of the "Windy City" contributors to the Voice of Secession injects the following bit of information:

"Today, the Chicago Waitresses Union is on the ragged edge, and to all intents and purposes is near dissolution. It has fewer members than it has ever had, and I am sorry to state is almost bankrupt." Waitresses Union, Local 484 of Chicago in conjunction with Cooks' Union Local 865, sought to secure agreements with a number of employers, they succeeded admirably and had something like one hundred such establishments under contract. They sought an interview with the manager of Henrici's and the outcome of a conference was a strike called on February 5, 1914, in the Henrici establishment.

The foregoing is offered in order to show how Local 484 stood at the date above mentioned and for the further purpose of proving the correspondent whom we quote as making untruthful statements.

Local 484 of Chicago paid to headquarters on a membership of 191 for the month of November, 1913, and on 313 for November, 1914. After having been on strike from February, 1914, they had shown an actual increase of one hundred and twenty-two members, and this notwithstanding that they were not only called upon to fight their police-protected employers, but a crew of disorganizers headed by a former officer of their union, who had been defeated for office and tried with every device to handicap those who were in command of the strike already referred to. In fact these disorganizers went the employers one better. They had tried to organize a dual union among their strike-breaking employees, while the disorganizers not only tried but succeeded in establishing such a dual organization, and when called upon to surrender membership therein or the local union tried to secure a restraining order through the International authorities and laws.

Local 484, notwithstanding all of the obstacles placed in their path, have put up a battle which few organizations of men or women can boast of. It is today in better shape than it was previous to the strike so far as numerical strength is concerned, the last report on file at headquarters covers the month of March, 1915, and it shows a total membership of 269, in comparison to its March membership of 1911, when it paid tax on 165, it stands 104 members to the good. The similarity of names and addresses which we have on file at headquarters prompts the conclusion that the "Chicago Booster?" and contributor to the Voice of Secession is speaking for the dual unionists, who probably more than any other have prevented Local 484 from winning its contest with the employers of that city.

These near critics have an axe to grind, they have a grudge to satisfy, but in doing their little stunt they emphasize the need of "knowing what they are talking about," and when they refer to Local 484 as being on the ragged edge and about to give up the ghost, the figures submitted emphatically show them to be "barking up the wrong tree." This is another one of those cases where so-called SEGS would like to "wish" a local union out of existence, but inasmuch as Local 484 was in existence long before it was confronted with these peculiar unionists, it is a fair conclusion to reach that it will be able to weather the storm of opposition and work out its salvation without the aid of its so-called one-time friends.

ANOTHER "INSIDE WORKER" UNCOVERED.

Readers of the MIXER AND SERVER may carry the impression that we tote an obsession marked "Operative" and cannot get any distance from it without returning to renew acquaintance. In the language of the street urchin—there are others—who see things and print items about "Union Bust-ers." Here is an item from the Cleveland Citizen of April 10, 1915, which may interest you for a moment:

Quite a sensation was sprung in Butte, Mont., by the arrest of Robert D. Watson, one of the loudest shouters for sabotage, on the charge of robbing the Murray bank. It is also claimed that Watson has been found to be a Burns detective, while an accomplice, named Ricko, is said to have been a sort of pal of Muckie McDonald and Joe Bradley, the I. W. W. leaders who played a prominent part in disrupting Miners' Union No. 1 and forming a dual organization. Watson was a particularly violent fellow and constantly advocated lawless methods to bring about the "revolution." It is claimed that Watson is also guilty of a number of hold-ups that were committed in Butte.

DIRECTING THE GENERAL PRESIDENT.

According to a writer in the May number of The Culinary Craft, the General Secretary-Treasurer sent our General President to the city of Chicago, Ill., to investigate conditions supposedly surrounding Local 484. President Flore is not directed by the general office nor the General Secretary-Treasurer despite statements to the contrary. President Flore went to Chicago as he has gone to other cities in connection with work of the organization and usually reports his findings in his monthly letter in the MIXER AND SERVER.

BACK-HEELING "UNCLE SAMMY."

Reams of paper have been used by the space writers in advising and suggesting what the United States government should do on account of the torpedoing of the giant steamship Lusitania, many of the self-appointed critics are aggrieved with President Wilson because he did not declare in more vigorous terms the position of the United States government and its one hundred millions of people, quite a few of our more or less able statesmen have been interviewed, and with a few exceptions they are for getting into the world scrap, and now comes ex-President Theodore Roosevelt in an article in the June number of the Metropolitan Magazine in which he practically sets forth the necessity of carrying a chip on our shoulders and be ready to scrap. It is not our intention to take exceptions to the attitude of those who feel deeply on the question of so-called "murder on the high seas," but we cannot help recalling the fact that ex-President Roosevelt and quite a number of the advocates for quick and vigorous action have been "back-heeling" your Uncle Samuel by methods quite as drastic as should be imagined.

Last fall when the voters of the state of Ohio were involved in a state election, ex-President Roosevelt made it part of his business to "but in" and he was very much an advocate of dry victory and so far as he could produce results, delivered the goods. Does he and the other advocates of aggressive action imagine that fiery talk will ever whip Germany or any other Nation which may become involved in war with the United States. When he was urging the voters of Ohio to vote dry last fall, did he realize that he was trying to put Uncle Sam in a position where he would be deprived of something like $25,000,000 annually which is paid into the treasury of the United States through the Internal Revenue Department?

Did he realize that had he been successful "Uncle Sammy" would be unable to order several battleships similar to the Nevada and Pennsylvania each year out of that amount of income from Ohio alone?

Did "Teddy" and the "Kissing Bug" Hobson have their way and all the states of the Union become dry, they could join in with "Grape Juice Bryan" and construct "Resolutions" to fire at an invading force. It gives us a great big pain to read about Dry advocates criticising the President and urging him to wade in the pond of trouble clear up to his neck, when all that they have been doing for the last ten or more years is endeavoring to reduce the income of the United States government so that it would be unable to maintain either army or navy. These "mouth shooters" are the brave, cocky guys with tranquility prevailing, but ask them to dig down in their jeans for the good old mazuma to take the place of the deficit caused by their sumptuary legislation campaigns and they will squeal like a stuck pig. Battleships, machine guns, ammunition, aeroplanes, submarines and all the other mechanics of war cost that stuff which some of us call "spondulix" and there is mighty little of it coming into the treasury of the United States from Dry states and saloonless municipalities.

Three hundred millions of dollars annually is the size of the "back-heeling" these mouth patriots are trying to inflict, and if you don't think you can purchase some "killing" machinery with such an amount you haven't kept very close tab on the doings across the pond. Patriotism, which swipes your gun and then asks you to put up a fight, may sound good to Hobson, Bryan, Roosevelt and other dry agitators, but we pleians who never occupy front page space in the press of the country have another name for that sort of thing.

"WAY DOWN EAST."

At the recent election at Lee, Mass., the town voted Dry and shortly after the Selectmen appointed Seven Public Carriers. These Seven Public Carriers, as we understand it, have the right to transport liquors to the citizens of Lee without legal molestation of any kind. Evidently the NO vote in that town meant a change of method, and instead of having four or five saloons under proper and lawful supervision, they are to have seven on wheels, without any restriction of any kind whatsoever. Great is reform in Lee, Mass.

SUNDAY AND RELIGION.

Rev. Dr. Dan F. Bradley, pastor of the Pilgrim Congregational Church, in his address at the Chamber of Commerce this week, told some truths about the "champion swearer" and "defiler of religion," Billy Sunday, that are pleasing to those who have wondered at the obsession in some to see this clown perform, and after what Dr. Bradley has stated, it simply means that the poor fools who gave their hard-earned money and time to this "disruptionist," had merely the satisfaction of seeing what they could better see in a show.

The success of this money-mad performer puts us again in mind of Barnum's saying about the people being willing to be fooled, for of a truth, they never received a word of true religion through his utterances.

Many persons have tried to make the people believe that this man Sunday reaches a class through his vulgar method of delivery that the refined churches cannot meet. If this is true then this class of illiterates that Sunday hypnotizes, judging from those who make it their business to attend his "horse show," are men and women who, in their homes and among their friends, try to pose as the ultra-fine set, for it is few workers or poor to whom his teachings appeal.

We advocated the ignoring of Billy Sunday many years ago, because we considered his language an insult to God, and even too crude for our people to listen to, and we are pleased to see that one pastor has the temerity to tell his people just what this plagiarist and hypocrite really is.

The Cleveland (Ohio) Federationist, May 6, 1915.

Cleveland has it on Garry Herrmann's town by several lengths. In dear "Old Cincy" the Sabatarians and pulpit pounders have been throwing seventeen kinds of conniption fits in an endeavor to land the "champion swearer" and "defiler of religion" for an extended engagement. The lack of genuine originality and gumption put on display by near-preachers of the gospel, who seek to secure the circus performances of the ex-ball tosser in their towns is, to say the least, evidence that some of these churches are getting it where Flossie wore her beads. Harking back to the energetic "Willyum," here is a sample of one of his vocal "in-shoots" offered to the coin-producers at his tabernacle at Paterson, N. J., recently:

"If anything makes me sick, it is to have some beetle-browed, hog-jowled, weazel-eyed, rum-soaked bartender tell me that if it wasn't for the church members voting for it, he wouldn't be in that dirty business." After that blast "Billy" took another hitch in his "pantsies" and glared at his hearers, who probably were unaware of the fact that "Billy" has about lost his number and it has been found. Where did "Billy" ever find a bartender who fitted his mouth-picture as given above. "Billy" better wake up, first thing he knows someone will recall the fact that the kind of "gin butchers" he refers to are only found in the "bad lands" and usually connected with bawdy houses. Does "Billy" mean to insinuate that he "knows that end of the game?" Perhaps after all the Twin City reporter of Minneapolis, Minn., "found 'Bully Billy's' number" when they dubbed him The Immortal B. S.

One of these days the public will get tired of "Sundayism," and they will bestow and bestrew him with ancient hen fruit until he can get a pretty good idea of how sweet he smells to the average sensible plain every day American.

SHAKING THEM UP.

The "Paper City" bartenders are after the employers who persistently seek to secure non-resident, non-voting mixologists as employes, and propose to keep eternally agitating the subject until such time as the abuse is eliminated or it is whittled down to the lowest possible minimum. Bartenders' Union, Local 81, of Holyoke, Mass., feel keenly the need of having nothing but actual registered voters employed under their jurisdiction. The election held recently emphasized the fact that every vote counts, especially the votes of those who are engaged in the catering industry. Local 81 does not object to receiving men who are members of other local unions, but believes that for the protection of the industry in that city, the number of members minus the right of suffrage should be reduced to a negligible factor.

Employers are great shouters for home protection in other things, and they should be made to realize that if they fail to take steps to protect their own investments, they have very little right to expect the citizen voters to be interested in their welfare.

Traveling members, especially those who are members of bartenders' locals ought to see the justice of the claims of locals so situated, that they must fight for the right to engage in their chosen calling annually, and make such necessary provisions as to be entitled to vote in the city where they are employed. There is little doubt but what our organization loses several thousand votes each election by reason of the indifference or neglect of our members to transfer their voting privilege along with their working privilege to the field of their endeavors. The "tourist worker" without a vote must be made to see where his duty lies, and this item is an effort to wake him up to the needs of the times.

WISING UP TO BILLY SUNDAYSM.

In good old Quakertown the Ministers' Association have about concluded their comparisons and discovered that the acrobatic pulpитеr, Billy Sunday, is about as effective to win converts to Christianity as a double-barreled shot gun is to mend a pair of suspenders when the eyelet breaks. The ordinary "plebe," the so-called common people, cannot be expected to depend on their stored up knowledge, but it is different with the men of the cloth, who supposedly spent several years of their lives at college studying theology and all the tricks of the orator's trade; they at least should be the very last ones to admit that they are a bunch of boobs and impotent to take care of the flock over which they assume a measure of direction.

Just imagine what would happen to a chef in a kitchen, who had held his job for years, being reduced to the necessity of calling in an outsider to tell him how to prepare a standard dish. Would his employer keep such a poor stick in his employ, or would be come to the conclusion that inasmuch as he had lost faith in himself and seemed to forget his own trade, it would be better to discharge him and put a real workman on the job. When the ministers of any city take steps to bring Billy Sunday into their midst, just that moment someone in authority should call them into the office, hand them their little pay-roll and tell them to get-the-hell-out-of-here-quick. For they admit that they don't know for what purpose they have entered the ministry, and if they do know, they admit their poor workmanship and impotency to hold down the job, hence should give way to some of the young fellows who really do know what preaching the gospel calls for. Any time you hear of a bunch of sky-pilots hollering their heads off for Billy Sunday to come to their city, put it down right then and there that they are as unfitted to collect the mazuma for so-called ministerial services as a hog is to run an aeroplane.

To use the expression of a "stung" Philadelphian, who attended one of the Sunday Trail-Hitting Jamborees, the more we see of some ministers the more convinced we are that a fine lot of wheelbarrow engineers have missed their calling.

AN ALUM BATH FOR SMOKY CITY CULINARY WORKERS.

Carrying out their usual policy of trying to discredit and belittle any culinary union which records opposition to their views, the Seven Slime Slingers of San Francisco, print the following item in the May (1915) number: "A Mixed Local has been organized in Pittsburgh during the year with a membership of 50."

Local 209 of Pittsburgh, Pa., was chartered March 19, 1914, and not during the year as the S. S. of S. F. aver. Local 209 during its trade union voyage has averaged 105 passengers per month, just a little trifle of 55 members difference between facts and fancies as printed by the Sacred Septette.

The Pittsburgh culinary workers need worry very little over the efforts of the S. S. to belittle and discredit the work which they have performed, they have the satisfaction of accomplishing something which none of the Sacred Septette have to their credit, and that is establishing an organization and conducting it despite efforts made to put it on the rocks. The Smoky City boys did not hide behind the excuse that an Allied Crafts organization prevented them from reaping success. They were men enough to know that organizing meant labor on their part and they willingly performed the labor. The Pittsburgh culinary workers did not send out to San Francisco for inspiration. They had had an experience with one of the "Comrades" of the Sacred Septette, the one who made such a gigantic frost in New York City during the year 1912, and to use the old time expression—once was enough for them.

The supply of alum which the Sacred Septette has been using generously may succeed in decreasing some things, but no matter how anxious they may be to cut the numerical strength of Local 209, that local will somehow manage to get along—it cannot be wished out of existence.

LOOKING FORWARD TO THE FUTURE.

At the annual banquet of the New York City Hotel Association the president of that association gave expression to a conviction which is steadily gaining ground and will manifest itself in change and economies seemingly impossible at this time. During the address the president gave utterance to the following:

"I look forward to the time when we will return to the legitimate and dignified manner of hotel keeping—the time when we will no longer be expected to compete with Hammerstein's or Keith's in order to sell a highball—to the time when we can serve our foodstuffs free from the dust of a dancing floor—to the time when the quality of our food and the excellence of our service will be the magnet which attracts, and not the size of our ragtime orchestra or the condition of our dancing floor."

GRAPE-JUICE BILL.

To many of our members who carried the impression that there was no one anywhere who could match up with the "Boy Orator of the Plate" as a stump speaker and thoughtful and brainy leader, comes something akin to that alleged dark brown taste which is presumed to worry and annoy the absorber of excessive intoxicants next morning after a seance with the subtle God of wine.

The great advocate of 16 to 1 has fallen from his high estate and is now discovered to be consorting with the smug and sleek anti-saloonists and their scrawny-necked brethren, the prohibitionists, and the purpose of such consorting is to drag the Democratic donkey through the narrow gate into the field of promise, which has been specially prepared for a year hence. The present holder of the title Secretary of State, despite conclusions held by some, is still the possessor of a robust bee, which has never ceased to buzz and, like the little boy in the soap advertisement, "will never be satisfied till he gets it." The creator of the verbal "cross of gold" is allowing nothing to chance; he is, if we know our little primer, busily engaged in laying the foundation for a flop the like of which will even make the discoverer of the "River of Doubt" gasp for breath. "Willum of the Common Pepui" wished himself on President Woodrow Wilson, and while we sympathize with the President, we can't help but wonder how long he intends to retain Bryan as a member of his cabinet; for, as we understand matters, the present administration is a Democratic one, and Bryan is many removes from the definition "A Democrat." Come on, Woodrow, you have handled more serious problems thus far in your term as Chief Executive of the United States, put on your square-toed boots and get busy—give "Willie" the gate.

THE CONVICTION OF LAWSON.

On the eve of the anniversary of the massacre at Ludlow, Colo., John R. Lawson, a member of the General Executive Board of the United Mine Workers of America, was found guilty in the first degree of the death of a deputy sheriff by a jury setting at Trinidad, Colo., May 4, 1915. Lawson was charged with the homicide on the ground or theory of the prosecution, that being in charge of the tent colony and in charge of the strikers, he was responsible for the killing of Deputy Sheriff John Nimmo.

We wonder if John R. Lawson's appearance before the Committee on Industrial Relations and his vivid recital of the responsibility of the Rockefellers in connection with the Colorado coal strike had the usual effect, that of emphasizing the fact that he was a dangerous man because he knew too much.

Lawson's penalty is a life sentence, whereas the Rockefellers are still free to continue ruling and directing the course of their hirelings. Judge Granby Hillyer, an attorney for the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, presided at the trial; the jury was put in charge of bailiffs who were Rockefeller mine employees. In fact, the trial was conducted with one end in view: to convict. Lawson may be the victim for a time, but there is little doubt but what public opinion will demand a fair trial. From information at hand, the trial of Lawson was a "frame up," conducted by Rockefeller employees, and with an utter disregard for legal procedure. A "conviction to order" is not a new thing in Colorado; it is about time to determine whether Colorado is a State of the Union or a part of another country, where such tactics are permitted. Money is a powerful thing; it remains to be seen whether it can procure the incarceration of Lawson for the remainder of his life. If Lawson stays in prison then the Rockefellers are the rulers of this country and not the people.

WHY IS BAD AIR.

Experts prove that Overheated rooms without proper ventilation produce serious physiological defects.

Air is bad when it is overheated, when it contains an excess of moisture, and when it is chemically contaminated. This is the conclusion of the New York State Commission on Ventilation, as summarized by Professor C. E. A. Winslow, Chairman, in the official organ of The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, the Journal of the Outdoor Life.

Professor Winslow shows that while it has been a matter of common belief for a long time that stagnant air was bad for the body, until recently no one knew why this was so. The New York State Commission on Ventilation has definitely proven two counts against bad air, one of them for the first time in history, and will probably prove others later on.

The first indictment against bad air shows that an increase in temperature beyond the normal 70 degrees produces serious derangement of the vaso-motor mechanism of the body, resulting in a rise of temperature, increased pulse, and a lowered blood pressure, with a corresponding decrease in efficiency, both physical and mental. In addition to this, overheating conduces to an undesirable congestion of the mucous membranes of the nose, thus, possibly, paving the way for colds, sore throats, and attacks of various germ diseases.

The work of the Commission also proves that chemical accumulations in the air as a result of air stagnation, bring about a decreased appetite for food, which in turn must have an unfavorable effect on the entire body. In the Commission's experiments, the people living in fresh air ate 4½ to 13 per cent more than those living in stagnant air.

"These experiments," says Professor Winslow, "indicate that fresh air is needed at all times and in all places. While we have changed our ideas as to what causes bad air, ventilation is just as essential to remove the heat produced by human bodies as it was once thought to be to remove the carbon dioxide produced by human lungs, and it is now proved also to be essential for carrying away chemical products which exert a measureable effect upon the appetite for food. People who live and work in overheated and unventilated rooms are reducing their vitality and rendering themselves an easy prey to all sorts of disease, such as tuberculosis, pneumonia, grippe, etc."

LADY NICOTINE IN DANGER.

Members of our International Union will recall an article which we printed over ten years ago which predicted that the fanatical aggregation who were then identified with the Anti-Saloon movement would never be satisfied with trying to deprive the liberal public of its beverages, but would in due time endeavor to bring tobacco under the head of prohibited articles.

No-Tobacco Leagues have been formed but failed to make much real headway, but that is no reason to expect that they will fail in the future. The campaign against the use of the cigarette which resulted in the adoption of a law in the state of Indiana, which made it a misdemeanor to vend or use cigarettes in that state will be recalled. West Virginia is the last state to be heard from. Bethany College is located in the town of that name. Professor A. P. Finley, a member of the faculty of Bethany College, has just revived and reorganized "The No-Tobacco League" and avers that with the incoming year said League will become quite as powerful as the Anti-Saloon League. Needless to add that the war on tobacco means its use and its production in any form for use. The Internal Revenue receipts for the United States on tobacco were $79,986,639 for the year 1914. The tax on spirits received during the same period was $159,098,177 and on fermented liquors $67,081,512, making a total of three hundred and six million one hundred and sixty thousand three hundred and twenty-eight dollars. Would the U. S. be "too proud to fight" with a navy which such a sum used annually would produce?

Some of us better smoke up while the going is good.

LUKE MCLUKE SAYS

A Princess is a person who is Shocked if you try to flirt with her and who is Disappointed if you don't.

If married men would wait until they were married and then write their wives their love letters, their wives would divorce the poor dubs on the ground of insanity.

A man celebrates his birthday by taking a day off. A woman celebrates it by taking a year off.

About six months before a Boob makes up his mind whether he likes the girl well enough to take a chance at proposing to her, the girl has decided that the dining room will be paneled with Dutch platters and the color scheme of the bedroom will be a light blue.

Every time Father misses a half-worn necktie he always Indignates and wonders why the fool women around the house do not buy some elastic and make some real garters for themselves.

What has become of the old-fashioned man who used to brag that he had a forehead like a cow?

The lad who is always whining that the world owes him a living never works hard enough to collect it.

When a poor man has a lot of rich relatives he always wonders how the undertakers manage to make a living.

There is to be a complete transformation in the styles of the waists they are to wear next summer. But the elbows will be as soiled as ever.

A girl likes to have a natural complexion because when her best fellow calls on her she doesn't have to take it upstairs to the kalsomine room for repairs every half hour.

A whole lot of women make their husbands buy a piano just because other people have one in the front room.

The old-fashioned woman who slept with the baby for fear the cat might take the baby's breath now has a married daughter who lets the poodle sleep on her bed for fear a cat might take the poodle's breath.

The Greatest Man in the World isn't Roosevelt nor Goethals nor Edison nor Wilson. He is just an ordinary, shabby-looking man whose little tads have their noses flattened against the window pane for an hour before he is due home for supper.

Father's 15-cent eye-opener in the morning and his 15-cent appetizer before supper are all Necessities. But Mother's 25-cent Tango Hairpin is a Luxury.

It doesn't take a bride long to get down out of the clouds and begin calling her lingerie her underwear.

There was a time when girls existed to marry. Now they marry to exist.

A woman will often say what she thinks when she says it without thinking.

A girl will not choose a book by its covers. But she will judge a man by his looks.

If people could live without love and money the jails would be closed and the police forces disbanded.

Too many people are taking Rest Cures when what they need is the Work Cure.

Once in a while a man marries an Heiress and has to support her family.

It does not profit a girl much to have eyes like a dove if she has a neck like an ostrich.

It is no sin to be 30 years old. But you will have a hard time finding an unmarried girl who is that old.

Some men look as though they were healthy only because even a microbe has a little self-respect and uses some care when selecting a home.

It may sound queer, but it is a fact that the girl with the most cheek never blushes.

When a society leader has a face like a brick kiln, the society reporters over-work the words "refined looking" when describing her.

The Princesses have quit wearing the long black dingbats that dangled from their ears. But they are wearing young pie plates instead.

A man will roar about the fool fashions and tell his wife that women have no sense of decency. But if his wife takes his advice and dresses so sensibly that she looks like something left over from the Centennial Exposition and other men won't look at her, he gets mad and wants a divorce.

When they are courting, he likes to hear her sing and she likes to hear him talk about himself. But it is different after they are married.

A miner saved his life because he remained outside a shaft for five minutes to smoke a cigarette. But the Reformers will hold that Providence had nothing to do with his case because the miner didn't remain outside the shaft for five minutes to read a chapter in the Bible.

If you doubt that Love is Blind, look around and see some of the husbands and some of the wives copped out by people who act sanely in other matters.

There are not many sure things in this world. But it is almost safe to bet that an empty gun is loaded.

The scientists who claim that there ain't no such animal as Perpetual Motion have evidently never seen a woman who is raising six small children.

This would be a fine world if we could train the Wolf at the door to bite the bill collectors and scare them away when they call.

The fellow with winning ways may be a king among the girls. But he doesn't make much of a hit in a poker game.

A man would be arrested if he went to a party wearing nothing but his vest above the belt line. But a girl can do it and be fashionable.

A man never thinks of cutting down on his eating until his stomach gets so big that it crowds him away from the table.

Some people waste an awful lot of time trying to save it.

About the only time some married couples agree on anything is when the wife exclaims: "Oh, I wish I had been born a man."

The reasons why a man knows that his wife hasn't any Sense of Humor is because the girl he takes out to dinner always laughs at his jokes and thinks they are Awfully Funny.

Last summer when the girls exposed their knees the men on the rear platform of the street car had downcast eyes when the girl climbed on board. But now that the girls are covering their legs and exposing their wish bones the men are not so downcast and their eyes are hopefully raised to a higher level.

Some men are so suspicious that they won't embrace an opportunity because they do not know who has been embracing it before.

What has become of the old-fashioned man who used to wear a tan Derby?

A man seldom worries about saving time until he finds that he hasn't much left.

The girl may say things she doesn't mean. But the man means things he doesn't say.

When you fight for money you do not have to stay in the ring longer than a half hour. But when you marry for money the battle lasts for years.

The reason a bride is so happy during the Honeymoon is because she imagines that her husband tells her all he knows.

Every husband believes that if his wife got a chance to buy eggs that were once marked 40 cents, now marked down to 14 cents, she would jump at the Bargain.

The world is growing better. For every man who is trying to borrow trouble there are 1,000,000 men ready and willing to lend it.

We laugh at the poor heathen Chinaman who puts rice and chicken on the graves of the departed. But too many of our enlightened Christians go without rice and chicken so they can purchase flowers to put on the graves of the departed.

Some girls are so modest that they blush when an automobile strips its gears.

It doesn't take many years in some cases to have the Romance of Matrimony becomes so humdrum that Friend Husband always gets a whiff of fried eggs, kitchen soap and bad coffee when he thinks of Friend Wife.

A man always has credit enough to get himself into debt.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

CHAIRMAN FRANK WALSH SAYS THAT JOHN D., SR., IS BOSS.

During his brief visit to Cincinnati in the early part of May, Chairman Frank Walsh of the United States Industrial Relations Commission gave out the following interesting statement:

"John D. Rockefeller, Sr., and not his son, is the power that directs every movement connected with the Rockefeller millions, according to Chairman Frank Walsh of the United States Industrial Relations Commission, in a speech in this city, last Sunday.

The federal prober discussed his controversy with Rockefeller, Jr., caused by the former's charge that the young multi-millionaire was fully acquainted with strike conditions in Colorado, despite his statements to the contrary.

Answering the charge that he had made public private correspondence, Chairman Walsh said:

"Nothing which has to do with breaking down the civic organism of the state or country can be called private.

"If these letters that Mr. Rockefeller has sent to this commission are true, and I believe they are true, then I have violated no confidence, inasmuch as the facts in these letters show conditions which have not heretofore been given to this commission and which, I believe, are vital to the understanding of the Colorado coal strike situation.

"But I have nothing but pity for John D. Rockefeller, Jr. He is representing the greatest fortune in the world, and I want to say in doing this he does not do anything without first getting orders from Tarrytown. John D. Rockefeller, Sr., is still managing all the mines in Colorado; he is still building up all of his investments the same as he did when building up the Standard Oil Company.

"Mr. Rockefeller, in his letter to me, stated that it appeared singular to him that I was one to disturb the industrial peace," continued Mr. Walsh. "If the trial of Lawson and the Ludlow massacre is industrial peace, then God forbid that we have peace."

TRULY SPOKEN.

"Most of the advice given to the poor could be followed if they were not poor.—Switchmen's Union Journal.

HOW U. S. GRANT REGARDED WAR.

"Though I have been trained a soldier and participated in many battles, there never was a time when in my opinion some way could not be found of preventing the drawing of the sword."

THE PASSING OF A LABOR VETERAN.

D. Douglas Wilson, the editor of the Machinists Journal, died at his home in Washington, D. C., Monday, May 3, 1915. For twenty years he was editor of the Machinists Journal, and despite the fact that he was stricken blind and unable to leave his home, being also afflicted with locomotor ataxia, he succeeded with the aid of his loyal and loving wife in making the Machinists Journal one of the best trade union magazines in America, if not in the world. The offices of the American Federation of Labor and the International Association of Machinists were closed on the day of the funeral as a mark of respect to the dead veteran.

AN ACT OF JUSTICE.

We are pleased to announce to the liquor trade of Massachusetts that Edward H. Pinkham, secretary Massachusetts Liquor League, has been presented a quill used by His Excellency Governor David I. Walsh in signing House bill 1031—"An Act Exempting Vendors of Intoxicating Liquors from Certain Disqualifying Provisions of the Civil Service Laws." This bill was signed March 18, 1915, with three quills and by direction of the governor one quill was presented to Representative John J. Kearney of East Boston, president waiters' union of Boston, A. F. of L.; one to Secretary Pinkham and the third quill to Richard W. Garrity, business agent, Boston bartenders' union, A. F. of L., who were instrumental in securing the passage of this "act of justice" to the vendors and the thousands of employees who earn their livelihood in establishments where intoxicating liquor is sold or handled. It may come as a surprise to the 12,000 wage earners in Massachusetts employed as bookkeepers, cashiers, shippers, salesmen, collectors, bartenders, brewery workers, clerks in grocery and bottled liquor stores, waiters, waitresses, teamsters, porters, bell-boys, and other hotel help to realize that for thirty-two years they have been barred under the Acts of 1886 from taking the Civil Service examinations for ANY government position under the jurisdiction of any city or the State of Massachusetts. This unjust act has also prevented any dealer or any member of his family who was employed in any capacity in his store or establishment where liquor was sold from leaving the liquor business if he saw fit to aspire to a government position under the Civil Service regulations and pass the examinations.

This matter has been agitated for some time by the Advisory Board of the Massachusetts Liquor League, the Bartenders and Waiters' Unions, and accordingly, Representative John J. Kearney of East Boston filed a bill at the State House in January to remedy this injustice to the persons engaged or employed in liquor establishments.

This bill was heard before the Committee on Public Service which referred same to the next General Court for action.

Representative Kearney, not discouraged at this adverse report, persisted in his worthy endeavor and by his eloquence succeeded in having the House substitute the bill 1031 for the report of the committee. The measure passed the House on February 12, the Senate on February 19, through the efforts of Hon. Senator John F. Sheehan of Holyoke, and was enacted by both branches on March 15 and 16, and signed by the governor two days later.

We are gratified at the action of all the fair-minded Massachusetts Representatives and Senators who voted in favor of this bill and righted a grievous wrong to the liquor trade of Massachusetts which has existed for so many years.—The Bulletin, Boston Mass.

ORIGIN OF THE FREE LUNCH.

Chicago is supposed to have been the first city to adopt free lunches in connection with the saloon business. Joseph C. ("Chesterfield") Mackin, who was a power in Cook County politics about thirty years ago, is credited with originating the idea of serving free lunches in saloons. Joe Mackin's career was well punctuated with excitement and at one time in Chicago it was conceded that he was the power behind which few came to grief. It was during the Cleveland-Blaine Campaign, in 1884, that his power was strongest—yet for complicity in election frauds during that campaign he was tried, found guilty and served a term in the State Penitentiary.

Joseph C. Mackin died March 1, 1914, at the Chicago State Hospital for the Insane.

NOT AN ISOLATED CASE.

Labouchere, writing during the Franco-Prussian war of 1870, said: "I have a great weakness for the American girl. She puts her heart into what she is about." "Labby" was not alone in his admiration at that period, nor does the American girl need to go abroad to receive homage. She can remain on this side of the pond and make all of us jump through the hoop, lay down, roll over, play dead and in fact all of the tricks which Fido is noted for. She is IT and we are glad of the chance to make the admission.

CORRESPONDENCE

This Journal will not be Held Responsible for Views Expressed by Correspondents.

CHICAGO, ILL.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Chicago will unquestionably be a battlefield for the Wets and Drys, from now until the election in April, 1916.

The Tribune of May 24, says that an ordinance will be presented to the City Council by Alderman Chas. Merriam to prohibit the sale of all spirituous liquors over Chicago bars. Attorney Arthur B. McCoid, for the so-called Citizens' committee, will get out injunctions against Hotel Sherman, LaSalle, Palmer House and Congress Hotel, compelling them to close their bars on Sunday.

The hotel keepers have no kick coming, as it was them who taught Henrici Company, and the Delco Lunch Company, the injunction scheme.

Our local union is enjoined from organizing and attempting to organize the workers in these hotels and restaurants.

Alderman Merriam was the only alderman who raised his voice in the City Council when the restaurant and hotel keepers suppressed free speech and free press, and dragged hundreds of our sisters to the Harrison police station in order to keep on paying $7.00 per week for seven days' work.

It is no joke for our girls to wear rubbers and rain coats, walk up and down in front of a scab lunch room, have the scabs and vampires laugh at them, be thrown in a dirty patrol wagon, then in a dirty cell, then hauled into an unsympathetic court before an unsympathetic judge. Under these circumstances, is it any wonder, when an alderman sees these things done, that he will not do everything in his power to eliminate from society obstacles of this kind?

The State legislature has passed one vampire bill which is aimed at head waiters and managers who collect tips from the waiters, commonly called extortion money.

The Illinois Federation of Labor held a special convention on April 27, 28, 1915, and the American Federation Injunction Bill was considered of supreme importance.

The waitresses', cooks' and waiters' strike was cited as evidence by President John Walker to show how far judges can be used in breaking strikes..

The Vogelsang Restaurant Keepers' Association insisted on an injunction and now they got two, and the Drys will now try to use injunction to keep these hotels from doing business.

The Bismarck Garden, which is owned by Eitel Brothers, importers of wines and whiskeys, is strictly non-union, they employ mainly non-citizens, because they work longer hours for less wages.

Confiscation of property whether it be a saloon, a brewery, or a job, is not only fundamentally wrong, but is expensive as well. If we ever hope to have an intelligent solution of the Liquor or any other privately owned question, we must have municipal, state or national ownership, it is cheaper to pay than to confiscate. Had the government in 1863 paid for all the slaves and then set them free, it would have been cheaper. If the liquor question is left in the hands of the workers, and taken out of the clutches of the fanatics, preachers and reformers, we will have some kind of intelligent solution. But before this will happen the workers must be organized.

Fraternally yours,

FRED EBELING.

Secretary Cooks' and Pastry Cooks' Local 865.

TOLEDO, OHIO.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Owing to the great interest being taken by the rank and file of Local 216, it became necessary to obtain larger quarters. Our new headquarters are located at 520 Adams street, and some headquarters, I'll say.

First floor is occupied by offices, reading rooms and parlor; the second floor is the Hall of Justice, with plenty of room for all and then some.

At our last regular meeting, May 19, which was attended by a large and enthusiastic body of men, by the numerous, practically new faces, one would think he were visiting a local in a strange land.

There seems to be greater interest taken in the welfare of the local lately by the members than one could hardly imagine. Members who, until lately, never attended meetings, are attending strong and frequently. Come on, boys, you have a lot of good ideas if you will only come in with them.

We had as visitors, members from the Laundry Workers' Union, and from the Waitresses' Union. It was decided at some date in the near future to have a banquet or house warming. A committee was appointed and I dare say there will be some entertainment and plenty of good things to eat, and I believe every member, and some friends, will attend. It was also decided that every member should take a chair. Also he who does not attend at least one meeting a month should contribute 25 cents for his negligence.

Trouble? Nothing doing, only "St. Clair Hotel," which is still being hammered.

Our meetings have been changed from Sunday to Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock.

Wishing all members of this International success and prosperity, I am

Yours fraternally,

F. T. STOUTENBURG,
Press Secretary, Local 216.

CINCINNATI, OHIO.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—A few lines for the MIXER AND SERVER. Local 72 is still on the firing line and progressing to 100 per cent average, and capturing new applicants every day.

Central Labor Council, on May 4, put one of the largest summer resorts west of New York, on the unfair list because Mr. Martin, the manager of Chester Park, would not recognize union waiters, under any consideration whatsoever. And Mr. Martin stated, don't report back progress, to the grievance committee. Central Labor grievance committee were told to use diplomacy with Mr. Martin and all they received was abuse, and he told them to beat it; nothing doing with union waiters in my park this summer. Seeing that none of the union crafts, who are employed in Chester Park, would go to work in his park on opening day, May 8, unless he would recognize the union waiters, he realized he could not maneuver and use any more tactics, he was guessing. The bill posters stated in Central Labor Council, May 4, that they were going to bill Cincinnati May the 5th, for the opening day of Chester Park, May 8, and they absolutely refused to bill the city of Cincinnati for Mr. Martin's resort for opening day. Mr. Martin wanted an interview immediately with Business Agent Griffiths, and it was granted. Mr. MacManus, president of Central Labor Council, Joseph Cullen, and Business Agent Griffiths, made an appointment with Mr. Martin, and he was on time, and all differences were adjusted. These gentlemen did not say, "beat it," they extended all good feelings toward Mr. Martin, vice versa opinions in regard to union waiters. Now all crafts will "beat it" to Chester Park this summer for a day's outing with their sweethearts, wives and families.

We had Brother L. L. Hilton, of Local 300, Toronto, Canada, address our meeting on Friday, April 23, and he delivered an interesting talk on the monthly button, which we intend to adopt.

Waiters' Alliance, Local 663, Covington, Ky., through the Trades and Labor Assembly of Kentucky, put Joe Stevie's summer resort, Fort Mitchell, on the unfair list May 13, and we informed all our members of Local 72, who went to work in Mr. Stevie's resort, would be fined $25.00.

Our business agent, Leonard Griffiths, is still hustling; new applicants every day, and we are improving and building our local up to 100 per cent average. We initiated 25 new members in the month of May, and new members at every meeting. We expect a very prosperous summer and good conditions for all union waiters in Cincinnati, and brother members who come to Cincinnati. We are having large attendances at our meetings, which we hold every Friday afternoon. All of our brothers are trying to make our local a strong foundation stone for Cincinnati. We invite all brothers who come this way to pay us a visit if they possibly can.

Local 663, of Covington, Ky., signed up the Lagoon Club-house in Kentucky. Mr. Julius Payton, of Cincinnati, a prominent unionist, is in charge of the club-house. We have twenty men working over there on Sundays. Local 663, of Covington, Ky., and Local 72, of Cincinnati, are working hand in hand, and with good success.

Yours fraternally,

W. H. DAY,
Press Secretary, Local 72.

CLEVELAND, OHIO.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—A meeting of the State conference board of the H. R. E. I. A. & B. I. L. A. was held at Toledo last week, for the purpose of selecting a representative to represent Ohio's Labor Home Rule Association. Eighteen locals out of thirty-four were represented by twenty-three delegates. It is the intention of the above association to put up a consistent fight against the prohibition amendment that has again been forced upon the people by the fanatics of the State at the coming fall election. Later, means for financing the fight will be taken up, but it is understood that (or rather suggested) an assessment of about seventy-five cents per member of the locals in the State be made and that a request be obtained from the International for a certain sum to assist in the fight.

The Anti-Saloon League has a very strong foothold in Ohio and it has been predicted by a few that they would win out at the coming election; still with the strength that is in back of us we will either force them to quit or have them using crutches for the next two years.

Our unemployed numbers have gradually decreased and I predict that by the time this letter is put in the MIXER AND SERVER, all our members will have work. In regards to getting naturalization papers for some of our members, I will say we are progressing. The clerk in the U. S. District Court here is aiding all who are not in possession of their second papers, by keeping his office open several nights in the week until June 30, in order that the men may make application for their second papers and receive them in time to be eligible to vote at the fall election.

Luna Park was formally opened Saturday, May 15, fifteen members worked on the opening night. Put-in-Bay and surrounding resorts will be open the second week in June and several of our members are booked, so now that we have passed through the worst depression which has been our lot, I will say that we will strive to overcome any further depression by lining up more places this summer, so that when it is over there will be more chances for our members to secure work the coming winter.

I sincerely trust that harmony reigns supreme at the convention, and that whatever action is taken by the body will be for the best interest of our organization.

Fraternally yours,

E. J. CARTER.
Press Secretary Local 106.

LIMA, OHIO.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—As it has been some time since Lima, Ohio, has been heard from, I thought I would send in a few words before the base ball season opens here.

Things are picking up here and all the boys are working, with the exception of one or two. We are making plans to give our regular summer entertainment and expect by fall to be back among the top-notchers.

We have been arranging to put the names of the cafes in the city, that employ card men, on the base ball program, thus enabling strangers to find out the most up-to-date places in Lima when attending base ball games.

There are still a few bar-men holding out, regardless of any inducement; they simply cannot look at the right side of things.

Digitized by Google

One of our brothers, Harry Kemp, does the advertising for the different programs here, and is to be congratulated for his efforts in making space for union men; he is employed in the Lark Cafe, corner Wayne and Central avenue, and will receive callers at all times and he knows how to mix 'em, too. He also boxes in some of the preliminaries here at Ladden's Athletic Club.

It is hard for us to say that we cannot send a delegate to the convention, but we trust and hope everything that is done will be beneficial to all members and double the membership throughout the country.

Yours in good faith,

CHAS. MAXWELL,
President, Local 170.

COLUMBUS, OHIO.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is a list of officers that were elected: President, John Popp; vice-president, Ross Pennybaker; chaplain, Richard House; recording secretary, Joe Cox; financial secretary and treasurer, Ed. Barrow; inside guard, Albert Frieben; sergeant-at-arms, Jake Howey; trustees, Ed. Ryan, Roy Highland, John Popp.

The following are the officers elected to local joint executive board: President, Ed. Lang; secretary, Ed. Barrow; members of said board, John Popp, Harry Brady, Mike Macklin, A. L. Van Horn.

We also have seven delegates to the Columbus Federation of Labor.

Just a few more words for Local 505, to let you know that we are going some; we got along very nice, with the kind assistance of Mr. Fred. B. Hobby. Our slogan is: "We never sleep and always looking for new members for Local 505." We are 42 strong now, and expect to make it 102 in the near future, and we also expect to be in our new club rooms soon—so watch us grow.

Yours fraternally,

EDWARD BARROW,
Financial Secretary Local 505.

BUFFALO, N. Y.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—We held our meeting last evening and it was well attended; every officer at his post.

The Switchmen's Union convention is being held in Buffalo, and they voted solid for Buffalo as their headquarters and home.

I never saw so many Blue Buttons before in Buffalo; keep the good work up.

Brothers P. J. McGowan and Edward Ehrman, our delegates, will leave for the convention on June 7.

Brother J. Geo. Hofle, our chaplain, has lost his father. He has the sympathy of all members of Local 175. Brothers W. Farr and J. Grabel have passed away, and their many friends will miss them.

We were presented, by Brother Geo. Brennan, ex-president of Local 175, with a beautiful picture of B. I. L., made of monthly buttons and gold and silver.

The following places are where some of our brothers can be found: Brothers W. Watkins and J. McGee are at Carnival Court; Brothers Seames, Zeitler, H. Gregg at the Edward Cafe; Brother Geo. Burgmon is steward at the Orlies; Brother W. Thompson is at Emil Brick's, the Horn Cafe; Brothers R. Fredinberg and J. Eagen at Garvey's Cafe, Michigan avenue; Brother Tom McCormick is at the Emperial Hotel; Brothers N. Falls, H. L. Sayers and C. Stirria at the Hotel Majestic; Brothers V. Stockman, R. Flynn and J. McDonaugh are at Silver Dollar; Brothers C. Webber and F. Towe at the Park Cafe; Brother A. Steck at Swartz's Cafe; Brother J. Kane at Sothern Hotel; Brothers W. Smith, F. Wilhelm at White Bear; Brothers J. Clark and T. Peekinham at Hotel Syracuse.

Hoping that all the delegates will have success and a good time, with greetings to yourself, I beg to remain,

Fraternally yours,
FRANK BROWN,
Press Agent and President of Local 175.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Am sorry to inform you that business for 1915 has never taken a hold as it usually does at this time of the year. Always herebefore at this time everything in a business line is on a hustle and bustle. In other words the mechanical line is doing their active work in building and improvements. I know positively this is the cause of the cafes and buffets doing so poorly. We have some 25 members out of work and that is something we never have had to contend with until this spring.

We sent our worthy president, Brother David Lynch, as delegate to Austin to the State Federation of Labor. Dave was compelled to do all the floor work and the balance seemed to be wall-flowers. We lost the next convention, and as usual, Galveston threw its support to Houston, and Houston gets the next 1916 meeting.

Brother Gastinel was appointed special organizer for Dallas some four weeks ago and we are pleased to state he has done faithful work. Signed up four new houses for us, and one for the bartenders, besides got several reinstatements.

We have had five days of rain. The Trinity River is over its banks and thirty people were drowned at Austin, Texas, on the 24th inst.

Yours fraternally,
CHAS. A. SIMPSON,
Secretary-Treasurer Local 659.

FRESNO, CAL.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Local 62, of Fresno, Cal., wishes fraternally to draw your attention to the fact that we are still in existence, and that we have secured the services of one Julius—yclept Becker—who has transferred his membership from Local 402 to Fresno.

Local 62's third annual ball was a huge success. We found considerable difficulty in selling tickets because everybody wished to know if our ball had the sanction of the Merchants' Association of this town. Emphatically we had not, and yet some of these merchants asked organized labor to participate in their Raisen Day celebration and ignoring the surft of unemployed labor here in Fresno, sent to San Francisco for help to tide them over the festivities. Support your home industries may be a good idea, to enable the capitalist to get outside scab help to get the local union man out of a job.

Conditions in Fresno are still the worst ever. Boys are continually passing through, north to south and vice versa, and all tell a dismal tale of woe. In Frisco and San Diego one would not know that there was a fair on, and west of the Rockies the whole country is one vast mass of unemployed. It seems useless to warn our brothers in the east and the north-west of the present bad conditions. They persist in coming in shoals and only aggravate conditions. 'Tis the days of handouts in California and many a man who is working gets nothing but the honor of staking an unfortunate brother to a coffee and. The headquarters of San Diego, Stockton, Sacramento and Bakersfield are dormitories and Local 62 is seriously thinking of getting larger quarters so that our unfortunate brothers may have room to flop in.

To say that things are rotten is putting it mildly and God only knows what will become of us; so tell the boys to keep away from California.

With best wishes,

Fraternally yours,
JULIUS BECKER.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Just to let the brothers throughout the country know that Local 71 is still doing business in the same old place and getting along fine. Things are looking a little brighter up here.

Local 71 wishes to tender their utmost sympathy through the MIXER AND SERVER of the death of the son of Brother Frank Maloy, of Local 78, of Uniontown, Pa.

Well, brothers, we had some banquet and smoker on Sunday, April 25; some good time and some fat 10-cent union cigars, lots of kraut and wieners and other good things too good to mention. We certainly thank Brothers Lewis and Rogers, of Local 78, and Brother Brouse, of Local 71, for bringing the boys of their local. I must say that the rest had cold feet, but never mind, we held the smoker for benefit of the unemployed members of Local 71, and the boys came out very good. They also thank the brothers who attended, and their friends.

Well, all our hotels were granted licenses on the first of May and we are good for one more year.

The Yough House is about to change hands to Mr. Sam Goodman, a merchant of town. Brother Fred Roar, who has been manager, is going to be tax collector. We wish you good luck, Fred.

Well as I have taken enough space and wishing success to our national officers, I am

Yours fraternally,
TOM EVANS.
Press Secretary 71.

MONROE, LA.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Just a few words from Local 760. We are progressing fine, as we haven't missed a meeting of having from two to three candidates and have two applications for next meeting. Our motto is: "Get one," and we find that the two words "get one" are very beneficial to our local, as we use the words and act accordingly.

I think if all the waiters and bar-boys traveling over the country, when stopping in a non-union town, they would talk to the waiters and bartenders on unionism and see how they feel toward it, that there would be more union towns in the U. S. A.

This town is strictly union, with the exception of the chauffeurs, teamsters and butchers, and we are having them all under way.

Owing to the fact that Bro. D. L. Roper was appointed as a city policeman we will have to give him up as our president. We will miss his ever-readiness and faithful service to our local.

Bro. Billy Kay will succeed him. We have lots of faith in Billy, who is equally as good.

Hoping these few lines will find all the boys enjoying good health, I am,

MAX COUNCIL,
Press Agent, Local 760.

WINNIPEG, MAN., CAN.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—I trust that you will be able to find space for a few lines from the culinary workers of Winnipeg. To begin with I want the membership of the International to know that things are very quiet in this city for work in our line. But with a little hustling on the part of the members we are able to keep our local together and keep conditions as they have been for the past two years.

We have had one or two little fights this winter, which have ended favorable to us in each case, thanks to the assistance sent us by the International. It is the first time in the history of Winnipeg that the culinary workers ever had the nerve to approach the bosses for any kind of conditions, and it came as quite a shock to some of them. But as soon as they found out that we were only out for a fair deal, they met us in a fair way and since have been willing to meet us on our propositions.

We have about eight houses signed up and a few more that are favorable to us, and are now doing our best to get in touch with the hotels.

The closing of the Olympia Hotel of this city, which threw about two hundred hotel workers out of employment, was a very hard blow to us, as several of them were members of the local, and to make it doubly hard they have been unable to secure their wages for the last two months' work while there.

Brother Hibberd, our Canadian organizer, has been with us for the past few weeks, and has been doing some tall hustling. But owing to the state of affairs here all around, it is a very hard fight for any one to make a showing at this stage of the game.

Sorry, indeed, that we shall not be able to send a delegate to the coming convention, but by the time the next one comes along will be in the running.

Will close now, as news is rather scarce for this time, with best wishes,

A. W. SMITH,
Secretary Local 592.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Local 763 has elected its new officers, re-electing Bro. Haffey as business agent and Bro. Tierney as president. Also a brand new press secretary, who, by the way, is an old-timer from Cleveland, O., and has made up his mind to let the outside world know, as often as our Journal goes to print, that Rochester Local 763 is still in existence, and with a fine and ever-increasing membership and able officers, is gaining back the ground it unfortunately lost. We have all set out with new spirit for progress and success.

Working conditions here are not of the very best, although we manage to give the out-of-work boys enough extra work to keep them agoing, and with the lake jobs opening up, we hope to give employment to all right along.

The members of Local 763 have decided on a Local Joint Executive meeting for the purpose of getting our brother bartenders' co-operation, regarding Charlotte, a lake resort. In the past this place has, in the majority of the houses there, employed union bartenders, and as waiters they have taken other craftsmen, such as tailors, shoemakers, finding them cheaper. With the help of Local 171 the boys are looking forward to get these houses this year. I, for one, wish them success.

On the 7th of next month the American Brewing Co. has offered a regular blow-out to all the members of this local, which no doubt serves to show that we are thought of some in this city. As one of the arrangement committee, I sincerely hope it will bring good results.

Hoping segregation will be defeated in our convention and wishing all delegates a royal time out West and a safe return to their respective locals, I remain for an ever-stronger union.

PAUL HENNEBERG,
Local 763.

ATLANTA, GA.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—It has been quite a while since you have received any communication from Local 192, Atlanta, Ga., for publication in the MIXER AND SERVER, therefore beg to submit the following for the perusal of its readers.

Our local is in position to report progress and business conditions gradually improving. A large per cent of our boys have been out of employment for some time, but are now getting some extra work and a few securing regular jobs.

We are to expect another prohibition wrangle at the rapidly approaching legislative meet in this State, but am of the opinion that the wet influence is gaining ground, and that no more drastic measures will be passed than those that are now in force.

Thanking you for all past courtesies, and before concluding, desire to give my personal definition of a "Knocker."

After God had finished making the rattlesnake, the toad, and the vampire, he had some awful substance left with which he made a "Knocker." A "Knocker" is a two-legged animal with a corkscrew soul, a water-soaked brain, and a combination backbone of jelly and glue. Where other men have their hearts he carries a tumor of decayed principles. When the "Knocker" comes down the street honest men turn their backs, the angels weep tears in heaven, and the devil shuts the gates of hell to keep him out.

Wishing every member of the International throughout the universe the best of everything, I am,

E. A. NAYLOR,

Delegate to Georgia State Federation of Labor,
Local 192.

SYRACUSE, N. Y.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Local 150 is always glad to contribute its few lines to the worthy MIXER AND SERVER.

Looking through our last edition I noticed an article entitled: "What the Church May Learn From the Saloon," by Frank Charles Loubach. It was one of the best articles ever written on that subject, and we hope to see another with Mr. Loubach's name in this and every issue of our official journal.

We wish to say our former business agent, Mr. Geo. Carlisle (one of Local 150's best promoters) who has been at the famous health resort, Lake Placid, for the past four months, has returned to Syracuse healthy and with new spirit, putting forth the best of his ability to the welfare of our local.

Brother Wm. Juvenal, our president, was taken sick on duty and was cared for by our local doctor, who, fearing his condition contagious and dangerous to his family, held him for three days, then permitting him to be removed to his residence, and at this writing is about the streets in pleasant weather, wheeling his nine-month-old son, W. Juvenal, Jr.

It pleases me to write at this time that Brother Geo. Kirchner, the man in charge of Karl Risch's famous German Cafe and Kitchen, is again on duty after an illness of 8 weeks.

Our vice-president, Brother Fred Anderson, is considering a proposition offered him by the McAlpin Hotel Co., of New York City.

Brother Bruce Elmore underwent a serious operation at his home on Warren street, and while the doctors awaited at his bedside on the 9th day for the turn of the tide, they pronounced his case splendid and every member here was in hopes of his recovery. And we are glad to say that he has been seen in his sun parlor on warm days, and in his car on several occasions.

It gives us great pleasure to have a member like Brother Thomas Turney, our treasurer, who never misses a meeting and is always for the betterment of organized workers. He is a fellow we should be proud of and demands respect.

Brother Chas. Emmett, of the Getman Hotel, has been confined at his home for several weeks. His place is being filled by the undersigned.

JOE BAKER,
Recording Secretary Local 150.

GALVESTON, TEXAS.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—As it has been quite a while since anything appeared in the MIXER AND SERVER from Local 69, I thought I would write a few lines to let the members of our International know that we are still alive and getting along just fine. Work is fairly good at present, and we expect a good summer season.

In years passed there has been quite a number of the members of our International blown into Galveston and work the summer on the beach, with their book and membership card in their pockets and never came near our secretary or our hall, and never even attempted to deposit their traveling cards. I want to warn all culinary workers and members of our International that when going to work in Galveston to deposit their traveling card in the time allowed by the International law (three days after obtaining work). We are going to keep a lookout for all coming to Galveston.

Local 69 has a charter covering the city of Galveston and intend to exercise our rights, so if any one is headed for this town bring your traveling card and deposit it until you leave town.

Oh, yes, Brother Edward Flore dropped in the other day on his way to Frisco. He arrived on the 16th, at 9:30 p. m., and left on the 17th, 9:35 p. m. Mrs. Flore accompanied him. A committee from Locals 69 and 749 met Mr. and Mrs. Flore at the depot. We put them into an auto and sped them out to the beach to the Beacon Hotel for a night's rest. The next day Brother

THE MIXER AND SERVER

Flore's time was spent in shaking hands with the bar-boys, cooks and waiters. We would like to have Brother Flore call again when he has more time to stay. An International officer is seldom seen in Galveston, and it is quite a treat to us to see one. But just come down when you get a chance and we will try and show you a good time while you are in our midst.

The writer is the delegate-elect to the Eighteenth General Convention. Hoping to meet you there, I am,

M. W. LUSK,
President Local 69.

SPOKANE, WASH.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Believing that business is dull with you, the same as with the most of us, I consider it my duty to furnish you with a little worry.

I know that an Editor wants news, but there is nothing new in this burg except that work is picking up in the woods, but they are only paying from $1.75 to $2.25 per day, "bohunks" preferred.

The farmers are through hiring for a while and the crop promise is great, maybe they can pay more than $10.00 per month next winter. That is what they paid last winter and they stood in with the labor unions last November, or at least they pretended to. Anyhow it scared us business men and politicians, and they have promised to get the government to loan the farmers all kinds of money in the future. It would never do to have the farmer vote with organized labor.

I read Brother Carrick's letter from Danbury and was much surprised that he said nothing about the troubles of the Hatters' Union. It makes me so indignant to think of their difficulties that I don't sleep good at nights, and I often wonder if the honest citizens of any other country in the world are subject to the inhuman treatment that labor unions have to put up with in free America.

I may be thick-headed, but I would like to have any lawyer in the land on the supreme bench, or elsewhere, tell me if the first amendment to the constitution of the United States means anything when it says: Excessive fines, or cruel punishment shall not be inflicted on the people. Again I have wondered if there is a labor union on earth so ignorant or childish as to expect something for nothing, or in other words, recompensation, at the rate of three for one for damages sustained at the instigation of a second party.

It is good odds and a good game, being legalized, and I hope the scab bosses won't get the habit of trying their luck at the supreme court layout.

This may or may not be a democratic move for political purposes, but they will surely get the credit for it unless they protest in Congress.

General Grant—bless his memory—said that the "Democrats can always be depended upon to make the wrong movement at the right time."

There can be no just complaint against so-called German piracy, when American workingmen are robbed of their pitiful earnings and turned loose on the world as paupers, for no crime whatever, except trying to better their conditions by the boycott, which is their only remedy against the greed of capital and has been justified by many courts.

Brother Gray instructs me to thank you for the financial assistance you furnished in name of our International. We used every cent of it carrying on our boycott and in the courts. We are not discouraged at the results. We get lots of free advertising and no fight is lost that is made for humanity.

Enclosed you will find a clipping that answers the question, why the people have no faith in the courts. Last November we knocked out the employment offices by seventeen thousand majority in this State, but in this city they are running about as usual. Some offices give you a job and a meal ticket for three or five dollars and punch accordingly. Others run a pool room or something similar and furnish you a job and a game of pool for say one dollar or more. These men have been arrested time and again, but generally get free, or maybe pay the cost on the ground that they are business men, pay taxes and must not be interfered with.

I don't want to be tiresome, so if this is too long or silly, trim it or cut it out altogether.

W.M. L. THOMASSON,
Local 400.

SELLING OF A SHOVEL GUARD IS NOT VIOLATING EMPLOYMENT AGENCY LAW.

While the State introduced testimony yesterday to show that Charles Lewis charged hundreds of men who secured jobs $1 for a shovel guard, which cost less than 13 cents, a jury in the court of Justice G. W. Stocker found him not guilty of violating the State employment agency law. A number of foreigners testified they were given jobs but were obliged to purchase the shovel guards.

Many witnesses for Mr. Lewis testified the shovel guards doubled the life of their shoes and were valuable inventions. They said they were not forced to buy, but that the purchase was optional.

Lewis testified he had an exclusive right to sell the guards here, even though a big profit was made. He produced records to show he had placed more than 1,600 men and that but 450 had purchased shovel guards.

BALTIMORE, MD.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—At a regular meeting held at Labor Lyceum Hall on May 9, 1915, the Bartenders' Local 532, with acting President Nolan in the chair, have decided to move to Progress Hall, 418 W. Fayette street, as their temporary headquarters until their new headquarters for a new home has been decided upon. The reason for our President Flanagan being absent was that he was appointed to a very prominent position in the St. Patrick's Baseball League, that of being a real umpire. Our president's vocal chords always were strong in all of our past meetings, so with a little of Local 532's persuasion he accepted. But lo, after the first game, arriving at Kalfus', 9 N. Guilford avenue, at 12 m., his great and grand vocal chords vanished. Now he is taking lessons in the deaf and dumb language. But we hope he will turn out all right.

The boosters' committee will hold a grand raffle for a fine Turkish rocker, in July, for the benefit of raising funds for their new home.

Business here is fair. Still taking in new members, as our charter closes January 1, 1916. "Watch us Grow" habit.

BERNARD STERN,
Press Agent, Local 532.

THE MIXER AND SERVER

(Registered.)

(Registered.)

This is the Official Journal of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance
and
Bartenders' International League of America.

Affiliated with the
AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR

Volume XXIV.

Number 7.

CINCINNATI, OHIO, JULY 15, 1915.

Press of
Roessler Brothers.

Commercial Tribune Bldg.,
Cincinnati, Ohio

DRAWING THE LINE

○ ○ ○ ○ ○

ALL the wishing and wanting that you may do will never land you and your desires in the SUCCESS column unless you begin RIGHT. To make a RIGHT start is quite as essential as to KEEP eternally pegging away at your task.

No matter what you may imagine or THINK, it is quite IMPOSSIBLE to make sure enough HEADWAY unless you BEGIN by DRAWING THE LINE and obliterating THE obstacle, which above all others is the most severe handicap, yet it is a mentally created one.

If you sincerely hanker after genuine progress for yourself and your local union, the initial step, the first action positively necessary is to draw a line right through the obstruction in the following manner :

After doing that little stunt, make up your mind that you really mean that you have cut it out of your vocabulary and nothing within reason can prevent moving forward.

VOLUME XXIV.

CINCINNATI, JULY 15, 1915.

No. 7.

AFFILIATED WITH THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR

Published Monthly by the
GENERAL EXECUTIVE BOARD
At Commercial Tribune Bldg., Cincinnati,
Ohio, U. S. A.

Entered at the Postoffice at Cincinnati, Ohio, as second-class matter.

Printed by ROESSLER BROTHERS COMMERCIAL TRIBUNE BUILDING, CINCINNATI, OHIO
Printers & Publishers

SUBSCRIPTION

Per annum $1.50

Matter intended for publication must be at this office by the 25th of the month preceding publication.

Correspondents will please write on one side of the paper only, and address all communications to the Secretary-Treasurer.

EXTRACT FROM CONSTITUTION

Section 140. The Journal shall be issued monthly under the direct supervision of the General Executive Board, who shall act in the capacity of "associate editors." And the Secretary-Treasurer shall have the power to censor all matter for publication.

Section 152. The General Executive Board shall hold the right to refuse the publishing of any article of a personal or other nature inimical to the interests of the International Union.

JERE L. SULLIVAN, Editor
Commercial Tribune Building, Cincinnati, O.

GENERAL EXECUTIVE BOARD

EDWARD FLORE	President 875 Oak street, Buffalo, N. Y.
ROBERT HESKETH	First Vice-President P. O. Box 594, Seattle, Wash.
FRANK HOFFMAN	Second Vice-President 239 Second avenue, South Minneapolis, Minn.
W. H. FOSTER	Third Vice-President 339 South Franklin street, Decatur, Ill.
C. W. McCURDY	Fourth Vice-President 305 Youngham Building, Des Moines, Ia.
F. SESMA	Fifth Vice-President P. O. Box 522, San Francisco, Cal.
ELIZABETH MALONEY (MISS) ..	Sixth Vice-President Room 418 South Dearborn street, Chicago, Ill.
PAUL STEFFLER	Seventh Vice-President 626 Victoria street, San Antonio, Tex.
JOHN W. CONLEY	Eighth Vice-President 188 Court street, Boston, Mass.
JERE L. SULLIVAN	General Secretary-Treasurer Commercial Tribune Bldg., Cincinnati, Ohio, U. S. A.

Every member of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League being interested in its welfare, inasmuch as the proceeds are part of the International funds, it therefore follows that, being the "servers" of condiments, liquors, etc., their good will would be of marked advantage to purveyors of articles of consumption, either in Hotels, Clubs, Cafes, Buffets, or Bars. The membership of the International Union consists of the very highest class of bartenders, cooks, waiters and hotel employees generally.

The Eighteenth General Convention of our International Union convened in the city of San Francisco, Cal., as per schedule Monday morning, June 14th, 1915. The attendance was in many respects a big surprise to our members in California and probably caused some of our members from other sections of America to gaze with astonishment at such a large number of representatives from almost every point under the jurisdiction of our International Union. The reader may grasp the significance of the foregoing when it is stated that we had delegates on the floor of the convention from such widely separated sections as Boston on the Atlantic Coast, Galveston on the Gulf Coast, Toronto on the great fresh water lake, Ontario, Salt Lake City on the great Salt Lake in Utah, San Diego on the Pacific, Minneapolis on the great Father of Rivers, Great Falls on the river of that name, St. Louis on the Big Muddy and Mississippi combined, Seattle on Puget Sound, from Ketchikan in far off Alaska and from the Sunny South where Lookout is bathed in the fragrance of the magnolia.

In between as well as on the outer edges, delegates from well-known municipalities were in attendance, making up as the ex-Mayor P. H. McCarthy of San Francisco wisely said, "An immense aggregation, cosmopolitan in its truest sense and intensely intelligent to the needs of the hour." A splendid lot of men and women, truly representative of that greater number, the men and women who sent them as ambassadors to endeavor to legislate for the good of our organization as a whole. Our convention was credited by the leading labor men of San Francisco as being the largest which has met in their city so far this year, and they express the conviction that few conventions of any kind will make ours look small in comparison.

As to measures considered and legislation adopted, our members will find in this number a record of the work of the convention, by carefully perusing same they will be quite as able to judge the value of the adopted proposals as any officer. Time devoted to a reading of the minutes of the convention will be rewarded by first hand knowledge, that you may know what occurred, for an effort has been made to compile the convention record so as to make it as complete as our resources warranted.

The question occupying considerable attention from our convention was the one which had been promised would attract attention—there was ample evidence offered that those who advocated a division of our organization had planned and prepared with minute care, but the majority willed otherwise and our International Union remains solidly on its foundation with all its parts intact.

THE MIXER AND SERVER

The officers and members of our San Francisco unions, in co-operation with all of the Bay Cities' locals, offered for the acceptance of the delegates, their wives and friends, lavish entertainment, and so far as the writer was able to discern, very few if any of our delegates but what accepted and enjoyed to the uttermost the generous hospitality. A very noticeable feature of the convention was the very small number of absenteers; in fact, with few exceptions those recorded as being absent were unable owing to illness to be present and participate, a record which not only pleased all in attendance but which indicates that despite the immense magnet, the wonderful exposition and beautiful and interesting San Francisco, our delegates were "on the job" from start to finish. Judging from the expressions of the delegates from all parts of America, each returns home with a determination to put his own shoulder to the wheel and induce all of his associates to do likewise, to the end of making our beloved International Union the biggest and best trade union organization on the North American continent if not of the world. Our members are urged to read the convention minutes in this number. By so doing they will be able to appreciate that the Eighteenth General Convention was a live conclave with energetic men and women doing their full duty as the light was given them. They will gain knowledge such as they can use in their local unions and will be better prepared to join in and push forward the work which is necessary for our future advancement and prosperity.

The industrial situation in America does not warrant the view that advancement can be made without persistent endeavor and constant attention to the unorganized workers of the catering industry. Vigorous efforts along organizing lines have been carried on in the past. These have been renewed and a determination exists that we are going to move forward with greater speed, enlisting the live men and women of the industry who seem to have been waiting the outcome of the last general convention. We are disinclined to attribute lack of progress to any cause but temporary cessation of activity on the part of our own army. The cause for that condition having been removed it is fondly hoped that lost ground will be regained and a general campaign for numerical strength and trade efficiency started which will bring our International Union up to the position rightfully ours—that of being the greatest and best International Union on the continent of North America.

Our International "boat" has been "rocked" sufficiently. We are due for a season of steady, unruffled sailing, with few if any serious obstacles which cannot be overcome, in sight. A strong, steady pull—and all hands at the oars—will land us in a haven such as will satisfy the most exacting and obliterate for all time the thought that our splendid International Union has outlived its usefulness.

Every member of our International Union is called to do his or her share toward making up for lost time and results; let each regard the invitation as a personal appeal, and the call to "Our Colors" one which cannot be ignored by true trades unionists.

We are going into the Nineteenth General Convention with the greatest and best aggregation of Catering Industry Employees the world has ever seen—and that goal is to be reached with your help and generous co-operation.

BETWEEN OURSELVES.

You would indeed be a rather peculiar individual if you saw your employer's home burning down and failed to inform him of the fact, providing, of course, the imparting of such information could be taken advantage of and he could aid in putting out the conflagration and saving property or perchance the lives of those whom he loved.

There are innumerable proprietors in America who haven't become aware of another kind of fire which has been burning for some years and which has become something decidedly fierce to put out. The Anti-Saloon League and kindred fanatical organizations are in reality a fire. They have been and continue to be a devastating conflagration. They have left a trail of "burned up" investments in almost one-half of the states of the Union. They have succeeded in hobbling the catering industry in Canada to such an extent that investment in the catering industry is a hazard few care to take. But, notwithstanding these facts, we find thousands of employers of our allied crafts just "setting around" doing absolutely nothing to prevent business disaster for themselves and obliteration of the industry for all engaged therein as investor or employe.

Is there an appreciable difference between "burning up" one's money invested in a home and doing the same thing with reference to an investment in the catering industry?

In either case it means loss, irreparable loss, and it all comes out of the bank roll.

Losing one's home by fire is a serious loss, but there is the satisfaction that one can renew effort and rebuild.

But it is different with a business investment, that is to say an investment in the catering industry—the fire which confronts the catering industry cannot be extinguished by any fire apparatus which is usually used on burning homes or buildings. It takes something different to extinguish the fanatical flames which have been rolling from one end of this great continent to the other, and that something is plain every-day horse sense and activity on the part of every man and woman with capital invested or who is employed by concerns in the catering industry.

The terrific blaze kept going by the energy and money of the fanatical aggregations coming under the head of Anti-Saloonists or Prohibitionists means much more to the men and women employed in the industry than it does to those with invested capital; the worker in the industry can't use his knowledge with similar results as those with money invested in the industry; the moneyed men of the industry can divert their money into other channels with some measure of safety and expectation, but with the worker who has devoted years to gaining knowledge and skill in the preparation of food and beverages, the outlook is anything but pleasing and far from encouraging.

Almost if not all of our allied crafts are losers under fanatical legislation which revolutionizes the conduct of the catering business and diverts untold numbers of patrons to other avenues for sustenance and entertainment, which seldom employ any of our catering industry employees.

Every member of our International Union should endeavor to convince his employer that "doing nothing" is the most serious offense which they can commit against their own investment as well as against the men and women whom they employ; the day has long since passed when the so-called "long haired shouters" ceased to be a joke. They have demonstrated that they are the most serious "joke" ever inflicted on any industry, and the man or firm conducting either hotel, cafe, restaurant or saloon who has not awakened to the menace confronting them are indeed asleep and need waking up and that quickly.

Instead of taking time to laugh about what the so-called "long-haired" aggregation are pulling off, it might be well to take some of their stunts seriously. The "Good Old Summer Time" has no terrors for the Antis. Their big convention is billed for this month; in fact, it will be over by the time this is being read by our members. The very much advertised "Water Wagon Tour" started July 4th, and will take in every prominent city along the Lincoln Highway. Its promoter, Howard H. Russell, is the founder of the Anti-Saloon League and the Lincoln-Lee Legion. He and his associates are not waiting for the mountain to come to them. They are off for the mountain.

In this number of the MIXER AND SERVER will be found the undersigned's report to the Eighteenth General Convention, under the caption, "Sumptuary Legislation—An Ever-Growing Obstacle," will be found what the writer believes to be food for deep reflection and thought. It is suggested that you peruse that part of my report and after doing so take it to your employer and ask him to read that portion of the article which deals with the voting power of states; or if he is too busy to read the matter, condense the information and tell him the facts. Tell him and all other employers as well as those who are engaged in the catering industry that it is past the time when any of them can afford to "just set around" and let things care for themselves.

In closing this brief but important monthly talk, let me warn all of our members that UNLESS THEY ARE REGISTERED VOTERS they CAN'T very well aid in putting out the Anti-Saloon and Prohibition fire.

JERE L. SULLIVAN.

SOMETHING FOR BILLY SUNDAY'S ADMIRERS TO CONSIDER.

February 1, 1915.

Rev. William A. Sunday,
1814 Spring Garden Street,
Philadelphia, Pa.

Dear Sir:

During the past four weeks, I have heard and read a number of your sermons. You are endeavoring to preach the religion which Jesus Christ summed up in the two commandments—"Love thy God with all thy heart," and "love thy neighbor as thyself." People are flocking to hear you. They weigh your words and believe them. Would you inspire them with the true spirit of Christ? Let me suggest one aspect of the neighbor problem in Philadelphia which offers you an unusual opportunity for service.

You are preaching in a winter almost without parallel for the frightful amount of distress and suffering among the poor, yet you have directed your invective against the churches mainly. Why? Are the churches the chief culprits? Is not the world beginning to realize that today the most sinister crimes against the ideals of Christ's religion are committed by the system of industry for profit—a system which pays wages so hideously low that if the poor were made spiritually and morally perfect, they would still be abjectly poor. Interpret your doctrine of salvation in terms of modern life! Would not Jesus, if he were face to face with a multitude of ten-dollar-a-week men, feed their bodies before he attempted to save their souls?

You have declared your interests in the salvation of Philadelphia. Look around you and ask yourself what salvation means here. The city is filled with unemployment and poverty; multitudes are literally starving; thousands of little children toil in the city's factories and stores; its workers, a third of a million strong, have no workmen's compensation law for their protection; meanwhile the railroad interests which control the hard coal fields are reaping exorbitant profits; the traction company exacts the highest fares paid by the people of any American city; the manufacturers, entrenched at Harrisburg, are fighting tooth and claw to prevent the passage of up-to-date labor laws; and the vested interests are placing property rights above men's souls. These monstrous offenses against humanity—this defiance of the spirit of Christ's gospel—exist today in the city which hears your message.

And further! The well fed people, whose ease and luxury are built upon this poverty, child labor and exploitation, sit in your congregation, contribute to your campaign funds, entertain you socially, and invite you to hold prayer meetings in their homes. These are they that bind grievous burdens on men's shoulders, that make clean the outside of the cup and the platter—the devourers of widows' houses against whom Christ hurled his curses. Here is Dives; yonder is Lazarus, and it is Dives who has made your campaign financially possible.

Make no mistake! The chief priests, scribes and pharisees of Philadelphia will never crucify you while you deal in theological pleasantries. Has it occurred to you that their kindness is a return for your services in the helping them to rivet the shackles of economic servitude upon the bodies of those who do their bidding? The employers of labor have always welcomed anyone who could divert men's minds from worldly injustice to heavenly bliss. Turn your oratorical brilliancy for a moment against low wages, over-work, unemployment, monopoly, special privilege and the other forces which "grind the faces of the poor" and watch them show their fangs.

Before you leave Philadelphia, will you speak these truths? Dare you preach them from your pulpit? Will you champion the cause of the poverty-stricken, the underpaid, and the exploited? Dare you tell the masters of industry and the takers of profit that they have no right to enjoy ease and luxury while their fellow men suffer the pangs of hell on earth?

We pray "Thy Kingdom come on Earth." While men are underpaid, while women are overworked; while children grow up in squalor; while exploitation and social injustice remain, the Kingdom of God never can come on earth and never will.

Yours truly,

SCOTT NEARING.

Scott Nearing is Professor of Economics in the University of Pennsylvania. He has made careful investigations of the plight of working people. Pearson's Magazine.

April, 1915.

Did "Billy" Sunday take heed and act favorably on the suggestions of Professor Nearing?

He did—not.

Digitized by Google

OFFICIAL

Section 141. All official announcements printed on the Official Pages of the Mixer and Server shall be read at the first meeting after the journal has been received by the Secretary and a copy posted at the local union headquarters for the benefit of all those who may have been absent from meetings.

INTERNATIONAL AUDITORS.

In accordance with the provisions of Section 119 of the International Constitution and laws, local unions are hereby requested to present the name of one member for a position as International Auditor. Nominations which may have been offered previous to this notification may be offered again. In fact, no nomination which does not come in response to this notice will be presented to the General Executive Board for consideration. This rule is imperative, for it would be quite possible for a previous nominee to either become suspended or withdrawn from the local union which offered the nomination. Nominations must be in the general office by August 15, 1915. All nominations MUST be attested by the President and Secretary of the local union and the seal of said local attached in order to be entitled to official recognition.

SECRETARY'S ROSTER.

One of the provisions of the International constitution reads:

Duties of Secretary-Treasurer, Section 104, last paragraph: "He shall publish semi-annually in the MIXER AND SERVER the addresses of all locals in good standing with the International Union."

In order that such roster of addresses may be as accurate as it can be made, secretaries are urged to co-operate and forward to the general office similar information as has been published in the past.

For the benefit of such officers as have forgotten, as well as new officers, we desire the following information:

Number of local union.

Location.

Meeting days.

Meeting place.

Secretary and his permanent address.

By referring to the February issue of the MIXER AND SERVER for this year, 1915, an idea of what is done with the information obtained may be gleaned.

Semi-annual elections usually occur during the month of June, hence we should have up-to-date information by the date of closing up forms for the August number of the MIXER AND SERVER, which will be July 25, 1915. Retiring secretaries are respectfully requested to bring this matter to the attention of their successors; an accurate secretaries' list is an essential to the proper conduct of the business of the International Union.

LOST MEMBERSHIP BOOKS FOR THE MONTH OF JUNE, 1915.

- | | |
|-------|---|
| Local | Name |
| 17 | W. C. Booth. |
| 20 | Frank Bianco, Gustave Wilton. |
| 27 | Mathew Craevich. |
| 35 | Frank Lillinger. |
| 51 | Wm. Welz. |
| 55 | T. Goodwin, Jack Smith, John Precerik. |
| H. | Cranshaw, Mary Star, Herbert Pickler, J. A. Morrison, R. McPherson, Mrs. Bart Barg. |
| 95 | John J. McDonough. |
| 115 | Patrick McGuigan, Wm. Bush, Jas. Gilbert. |
| 131 | Chas. Nester. |
| 189 | Bert Corthill, Arthur B. Johnson. |
| 207 | Chas. Buckley. |
| 224 | Dan Sullivan. |
| 248 | Ed. McGrail. |
| 284 | Coleman Flood, H. Liebig. |
| 295 | Walter O'Connell. |
| 300 | Frederick Ward, Peter A. Petril. |
| 310 | Frank McMahon. |
| 318 | Isadore Beamegard. |
| 357 | J. W. Scoggin. |
| 367 | Frank Bliss. |
| 378 | Fred Francis. |
| 420 | Chas. R. McGrew. |
| 427 | Oliver Head. |
| 438 | Joseph Weeks. |
| 484 | Anna C. Botwinis. |
| 495 | Andrew Welsh. |
| 499 | Chas. Horn. |
| 504 | L. Waggoner. |
| 506 | Paul St. Pierre. |
| 525 | J. J. O'Brien. |
| 533 | A. W. Eklund. |
| 659 | J. E. McElwee. |
| 676 | M. Lumberg. |
| 707 | Fred Brendall. |
| 721 | P. J. Browne. |
| 737 | M. B. Baker, A. Aldinger. |
| 760 | Fagan Steele. |
| 764 | J. R. Stone, L. F. Ingouf. |
| 768 | W. J. Louk. |
| 850 | F. B. McCullom, C. A. Richardson, Mike Driscoll. |

HOW THEY STAND.

New York	50	119 :—Jas. P. Sullivan.
Pennsylvania	47	129 :—Otto Paasch.
Illinois	41	131 :—Frank Heller, Wm. J. Lockhart.
Massachusetts	39	134 :—Wm. Pascoe.
Washington	33	141 :—Nathan Wittenstein.
California	33	149 :—Wm. Dignan.
Ohio	32	155 :—Joseph Fleig.
Canada	29	173 :—John Fagan.
Montana	23	188 :—P. F. Dunn, Frank A. Greene.
Connecticut	22	199 :—Harry Hall.
Texas	21	202 :—Julius Piero.
New Jersey	21	212 :—Walter Collins.
Missouri	19	224 :—Chas. H. Mattimore.
Indiana	19	243 :—Carl Pfeffer.
Wisconsin	17	252 :—Ed. Quinn.
Minnesota	14	253 :—Fred W. Holder.
Iowa	12	284 :—Frank Kistler, B. W. Rogers.
Colorado	11	285 :—Thos. H. Keenan.
Kentucky	9	286 :—J. A. Newbury.
Wyoming	9	298 :—Claud Adams.
New Hampshire	7	300 :—G. O'Connor.
Rhode Island	6	312 :—C. L. Linster.
Arkansas	5	322 :—Theo. W. Bost.
Michigan	5	355 :—Ed. Kavanaugh, P. McGroggan.
Oregon	4	376 :—Wm. Rochford.
Arizona	4	395 :—John Smith.
Georgia	4	421 :—Michael J Horan.
Idaho	4	438 :—Edwin Mudge.
Virginia	4	479 :—Wm. F. Niebel.
Florida	4	480 :—Frank Kelley.
Alaska	4	491 :—Wm. Horton.
Tennessee	4	504 :—Joe Thornberry.
Utah	3	525 :—John Albert.
Alabama	3	559 :—Monte Fleming.
Nebraska	3	596 :—G. S. Andrews.
Louisiana	3	603 :—Herbert A. Johnson.
West Virginia	2	628 :—C. R. O'Toole.
Vermont	2	704 :—Ora Berger.
Maryland	2	707 :—John D. Conley, Anton B. Amundson.
Delaware	1	710 :—Thos. Budkley.
District of Columbia	1	749 :—Chas. E. Schmauch.
New Mexico	1	866 :—James E. Cassidy.
		869 :—Sam Williamson.

NEW CHARTERS.

The following charters were issued during the month of June, 1915:

Local	Location	Organizer
B	797—Ironton, Ohio.....	Wm. Abrahams
B	816—Bridgeport, Ohio.....	Thos. J. Durnin

DEATHS FOR THE MONTH OF JUNE, 1915.

Local	Name
3	—Wm. E. Sullivan.
30	—Fred Luckerath.
35	—Al. Meyers, Chr. Hansen.
41	—A. Sauerman, J. Mullhall, D. O'Hare, H. Henning.
44	—Henry Miller, Jas. H. Snowden.
51	—Henry Bloedel, Mich. Kreig.
59	—M. Merdler.
70	—H. Severn, J. Stamm.
76	—Wm. J. Fitzgerald.
81	—Wilfred Daze, Jos. Donohue.
85	—Peter M. Clancy.
90	—Stephen J. Mahoney, John J. Collins.
95	—M. J. Madden.
99	—Peter Moriarty.
100	—Geo. Snow.
108	—Lawrence McGraw.
115	—Mich. Kane.
116	—John W. Gorman.

A WORD ABOUT NEW CONSTITUTIONS.

The laws which the Eighteenth General Convention adopted will not become effective until "sixty days after the adjournment" of the convention. That substantially means the first day of September, 1915.

For the foregoing reason it will be unwise for secretaries to seek to secure new constitutions and membership books until the middle of the month of August, and then only to enable secretaries to fill in and properly make out such books for issue by the first of September. Orders for the new constitutions can be filed at headquarters, but the requisitions will not be filled until the time indicated in the foregoing.

PRESIDENT'S PAGE

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., June 21, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month of June.

May 23 I arrived in Los Angeles and was met at the station by Mr. and Mrs. Hassel, Mr. and Mrs. McKone, Mr. and Mrs. Malter and Brothers Peterson, Palmer and Bluemthal. Attended a meeting of Local 284 and a joint meeting of Locals 17, 27 and 98, as well as a meeting of the Local Joint Executive Board. On the 26th I had the honor of attending a banquet given by the Local Joint Executive Board at the U. S. Hotel. Was the guest of Brother Palmer on a visit to Universal City, and was also the guest at dinners given by Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hassel, Mr. and Mrs. E. Malter and Mr. and Mrs. B. McKone. On the 28th I attended a meeting of the Central Labor Council, and what spare time I had after fulfilling those engagements was spent in the company of Secretary Hassel, Local 284, visiting the members. One never wears out his welcome in good old Los Angeles. Space will not permit me stating in detail my appreciation of the hospitality extended, hence I will conclude by saying thanks.

On the 30th I arrived in San Diego and was met by Brothers Powers, Hyatt, Kaiser, Sachs and Wade, of Local 768, and Sisters Wade and Smith and Brothers McClellan and Stewart, of Local 402, and last but not least, Brother and Mrs. E. Murphy. An auto ride to point Loma, Mission Gardens and Ocean Beach, a dinner given by the Local Joint Executive Board, and a theater party completed my first day's visit. On the 31st addressed a joint meeting of our locals, and on the 1st of June I visited several of the members on duty. Every minute of my stay was enjoyed. Thanks, boys.

On the 2d I arrived in Bakersfield and was met by Mr. and Mrs. Renfro and Brothers Goodwin, Richards, Harges and Hanley, of Local 378, and Brother Aldridge, of Local 550. In the afternoon I enjoyed an auto ride through the oil fields and a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Renfro. In the evening I had the honor of attending a banquet given by the Local Joint Executive Board, over which Brother Goodwin presided. It was a very excellently arranged affair, and an elaborate menu was served. Several good talks were heard, and at an early hour in the morning toastmaster Goodwin declared the banquet closed, amid cheers for the International Union. The honor was all mine, and I will endeavor to call again.

On the 4th I arrived in Fresno and was met at the station by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ryan and Brother Pomeroy. An auto ride through the beautiful parks and drives of the city was enjoyed, and after partaking of dinner I proceeded to the Labor Temple, where I attended a joint meeting of our locals and addressed a meeting of the Central Labor Union. Later, in company of Brothers Meyers, Grace, Ryan and others, visited several of the boys on duty.

On the 5th I arrived in Stockton and was met by Brothers Chase and Stiemer, of Local 403, and Brothers Redenbaugh and Noone, of Local 572. After enjoying a banquet given in my honor, I attended a joint meeting of our locals. The meeting was addressed by Brothers Perrin, Madison, Chase, Woods, Vitaich and Lamroux. Stockton is gradually recovering from its recent trouble with the M. and M., and will soon take its rank again among the leading organized cities of the Pacific Coast. They have the men who know how to do things, and they do them.

On the 6th I arrived in Sacramento and was met by Brother Reid. It being Sunday, a dinner and theater party was the order for the day. Monday I attended a meeting of the Local Joint Executive Board and enjoyed a trip through the orange groves and hops fields, and later left for San Francisco. We have a fine bunch of boys in Sacramento and, with Brothers Somers, Reid, Eddy and Drake in charge, they are making fine progress.

On the 7th I arrived in San Francisco. I will give a review of my stay in that city in my next report. Our convention was a grand success, and our boys and girls in San Francisco and Oakland saw to it that all the delegates and visiting ladies were well taken care of during their stay.

My expense account for the month is as follows:

Lathrop to Stockton.....	$ 0 30
Stockton to Sacramento.....	1 45
Sacramento to Port Costa.....	1 75
Pullman service	6 05
Postage	4 00
Baggage, car fare, telegrams, phone.....	6 17
Traveling expenses	141 00
Total	$160 72

Respectfully submitted,

EDWARD FLORE,
General President.

WITHOUT MALICE.

Selected From Everywhere.

A good foot rule—"Don't kick."

A lazy man's clothes soon become as threadbare as an empty spool.

A man is apt to feel put out when he isn't able to pay his board bill.

Few men can refrain from boasting of the good acts they do by mistake.

A woman never forgets her first love—nor forgives herself if she marries him.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY-TREASURER FOR JUNE, 1915.

Local No.

W	1	New York, N. Y.	May, 1915
W	2	Brooklyn, N. Y.	May, "
B	3	New York, N. Y.	May, "
B	4	Hoboken, N. J.	May, "
M	6	Boston, Mass.	May,
B	8	Denver, Colo.	May,
W	10	Hoboken, N. J.	May,
WC	11	New York City	July,
B	12	San Antonio, Tex.	June,
W	14	Denver, Colo.	May,
W	17	Los Angeles, Cal.	May,
C	18	Denver, Colo.	May,
W	19	Kansas City, Mo.	May,
W	20	St. Louis, Mo.	June,
M	24	Cripple Creek, Colo.	Apr.,
C	27	Los Angeles, Cal.	May,
M	38	Vancouver, B. C.	May,
B	29	New York, N. Y.	May,
W	30	San Francisco, Cal.	May,
M	31	Oakland, Cal.	May,
C	33	Seattle, Wash.	May,
W	35	Chicago, Ill.	May,
B	36	Sharon, Pa.	June,
B	37	Decatur, Ill.	June,
B	38	Hammond, Ind.	Apr.,
B	40	Dunkirk, N. Y.	May,
B	41	San Francisco, Cal.	May,
M	43	Pueblo, Colo.	May,
C	44	San Francisco, Cal.	May,
WS	48	San Francisco, Cal.	May,
B	49	Savannah, Ga.	May,
B	51	St. Louis, Mo.	May,
M	52	Colorado Springs, Colo.	"
M	55	Edmonton, Alta., Canada	"
M	59	Milwaukee, Wis.	May,
B	60	DuQuoin, Ill.	May,
M	61	Tacoma, Wash.	Jan.,
M	62	Fresno, Cal.	May,
B	64	Milwaukee, Wis.	May,
B	67	Springfield, Mass.	May,
M	68	Cincinnati, O.	May,
M	69	Galveston, Tex.	May,
B	70	Brooklyn, N. Y.	May,
B	71	Connellsburg, Pa.	May,
W	73	Cincinnati, O.	June,
B	73	Elkhart, Ind.	July,
B	76	Syracuse, N. Y.	June,
B	77	Boston, Mass.	May,
B	78	Uniontown, Pa.	June,
B	79	Louisville, Ky.	July,
W	80	Boston, Mass.	May,
B	81	Holyoke, Mass.	May,
B	82	Westfield, Mass.	June,
B	83	Woburn, Mass.	Apr.,
B	84	Taunton, Mass.	June,
B	85	Lowell, Mass.	May,
B	86	Lynn, Mass.	June,
B	87	Athol, Mass.	June,
M	88	Louisville, Ky.	June,
B	90	Lawrence, Mass.	June,
B	91	Newburyport, Mass.	Aug.,
B	92	Marlboro, Mass.	May,
B	93	Haverhill, Mass.	May,
B	95	Worcester, Mass.	May,
B	96	Milford, Mass.	June,
B	97	Fitchburg, Mass.	May,
WS	98	Los Angeles, Cal.	May,
B	99	Fall River, Mass.	May,
B	100	New Bedford, Mass.	June,
M	101	Great Falls, Mont.	May,
B	102	Granite City, Ill.	June,
B	104	Guelph, Ont.	June,
W	106	Cleveland, O.	May,
WS	107	Cleveland, O.	May,
B	108	Cleveland, O.	May,
W	109	Newark, N. J.	May,
M	110	San Francisco, Cal.	May,
WS	112	Boston, Mass.	Apr.,
B	113	Northampton, Mass.	June,
B	114	Pittsfield, Mass.	June,
B	115	Philadelphia, Pa.	May,
B	116	Chicopee, Mass.	June,
B	117	Belleville, Ill.	June,
B	118	New York, N. Y.	Apr.,
M	119	Silverton, Colo.	May,
B	120	Utica, N. Y.	May,
B	122	Ware, Mass.	June,
B	124	Trenton, N. J.	June,
B	125	North Adams, Mass.	June,
B	126	Oneonta, N. Y.	June,
B	127	Massillon, O.	June,
B	128	Cortland, N. Y.	June,

Local No.

M	129	Leadville, Colo.	June, 1915
B	131	Newark, N. J.	June,
B	133	Geneva, N. Y.	May,
B	134	Scranton, Pa.	May,
B	136	Norwich, N. Y.	June,
B	137	London, Ont.	June,
B	139	Lincoln, Ill.	May,
B	141	New York, N. Y.	May,
B	142	Astoria, Ore.	June,
B	144	Batavia, N. Y.	May,
B	147	Greenfield, Mass.	June,
B	148	Thompsonville, Conn.	June,
B	149	Newport, Ky.	June,
W	150	Syracuse, N. Y.	May,
B	151	Gloucester, Mass.	June,
B	152	Minneapolis, Minn.	May,
B	153	Quince, Ill.	June,
M	154	Wilkes Barre, Pa.	May,
M	155	Reading, Pa.	June,
B	158	Paducah, Ky.	June,
B	157	Woonsocket, R. I.	June,
B	159	Meriden, Conn.	June,
M	161	Brockton, Mass.	May,
B	163	McKeesport, Pa.	June,
B	166	New Britain, Conn.	Apr.,
C	167	Cleveland, O.	June,
B	169	Hamilton, O.	June,
B	170	Lima, O.	Mar.,
B	171	Rochester, N. Y.	June,
B	173	Binghamton, N. Y.	May,
B	175	Buffalo, N. Y.	May,
M	180	San Jose, Cal.	May,
B	181	Easton, Pa.	May,
B	182	Brantford, Ont.	June,
B	184	Ottumwa, Ia.	June,
B	187	Bradford, Pa.	May,
B	188	Pittsburg, Pa.	May,
B	190	Bethlehem, Pa.	May,
B	192	Atlanta, Ga.	June,
B	193	Pawtucket, R. I.	May,
B	194	Warren, Pa.	June,
B	195	Gloversville, N. Y.	May,
W	196	Buffalo, N. Y.	June,
B	197	Hamilton, Ont.	June,
B	199	Jamestown, N. Y.	June,
B	200	Hartford, Conn.	May,
B	202	Canton, O.	June,
C	203	St. Louis, Mo.	Apr.,
B	204	Elmira, N. Y.	May,
B	206	Ft. Worth, Tex.	June,
B	207	Troy, N. Y.	Apr.,
M	209	Pittsburg, Pa.	May,
B	210	Seneca Falls, N. Y.	May,
B	212	Youngstown, O.	May,
B	213	Pana, Ill.	June,
B	215	Wausau, Wis.	May,
M	216	Toledo, O.	May,
B	217	New Haven, Conn.	June,
B	218	Streator, Ill.	May,
W	219	New York, N. Y.	Apr.,
M	220	Eureka, Cal.	May,
B	221	Kewanee, Ill.	July,
B	222	Dayton, O.	June,
M	223	Des Moines, Ia.	May,
B	224	Erie, Pa.	June,
B	225	Meadville, Pa.	June,
B	227	Collinsville, Ill.	May,
B	228	Albany, N. Y.	June,
B	229	Derby, Conn.	May,
B	230	Auburn, N. Y.	May,
B	231	Newport News, Va.	June,
B	235	Oil City, Pa.	Apr.,
B	236	Olean, N. Y.	June,
B	237	Sudbury, Ont.	May,
W	239	Seattle, Wash.	May,
WS	240	Seattle, Wash.	May,
B	241	Murphysboro, Ill.	June,
B	243	Alton, Ill.	May,
B	246	South Bend, Ind.	May,
B	248	Birmingham, Ala.	June,
WS	249	St. Louis, Mo.	May,
B	251	Centralia, Ill.	May,
B	252	Mansfield, O.	June,
B	253	Alliance, O.	July,
B	254	Waterbury, Conn.	May,
B	255	Danbury, Conn.	May,
B	256	Bridgeport, Conn.	Apr.,
B	257	Savre, Pa.	June,
B	259	Edwardsville, Ill.	May,
B	260	Bradlock, Pa.	June,
WC	261	Louisville, Ky.	May,
B	262	Newcastle, Pa.	Aug.,
B	263	Camden, N. J.	Mar.,
B	264	Omaha, Neb.	Mar.,

Local No.

C	266	Kansas City, Mo.	May, 1915
B	269	South Norwalk, Conn.	"
			June, "
B	272	Clinton, Mass.	Apr., "
M	273	Springfield, Mass.	May,
M	274	Marshalltown, Ia.	May,
W	276	Bronx, N. Y.	Apr.,
B	278	New Brighton, Pa.	May,
B	279	Philadelphia, Pa.	June,
B	280	Toronto, Ont.	May,
B	282	Pueblo, Colo.	May,
B	283	Torrington, Conn.	June,
B	284	Los Angeles, Cal.	May,
B	285	Providence, R. I.	May,
B	286	Peoria, Ill.	May,
B	287	St. Paul, Minn.	May,
B	289	Fremont, Neb.	June,
B	292	Wheeling, W. Va.	May,
B	293	Peterboro, Ont., Canada	"
			June,
C	294	Newark, N. J.	May,
M	295	Douglas, Ariz.	May,
M	296	New Bedford, Mass.	June,
B	297	Ridgway, Pa.	May,
B	298	Wallace, Idaho	May,
W	300	Toronto, Canada	May,
B	302	Butte, Mont.	May,
M	304	Hartford, Conn.	June,
B	305	Ft. Wayne, Ind.	Apr.,
B	309	Portsmouth, N. H.	July,
B	310	International Falls, Minn.	"
B	312	Chattanooga, Tenn.	June,
B	313	Little Rock, Ark.	May,
W	315	Montreal, Canada	Apr.,
B	316	Alamosa, Colo.	Apr.,
B	317	Jacksonville, Fla.	May,
B	318	Putnam, Conn.	June,
B	320	Schenectady, N. Y.	May,
B	321	Havre, Mont.	May,
B	322	Racine, Wis.	May,
B	324	Appleton, Wis.	Apr.,
B	325	Breese, Ill.	May,
B	331	Beloit, Wis.	May,
M	332	East St. Louis, Ill.	May,
B	334	Roundup, Mont.	May,
WS	335	Toledo, O.	Apr.,
M	337	Cheyenne, Wyo.	May,
M	338	Knoxville, Tenn.	June,
B	339	Portland, Ore.	May,
B	340	Orange, N. J.	May,
B	341	Logansport, Ind.	May,
W	342	New York, N. Y.	Mar.,
B	343	DeSoto, Mo.	July,
C	344	Syracuse, N. Y.	May,
B	345	Watertown, N. Y.	May,
M	348	San Antonio, Tex.	May,
B	340	Oshkosh, Wis.	June,
B	350	Vincennes, Ind.	May,
B	351	Charleroi, Pa.	July,
M	353	St. Louis, Mo.	June,
B	354	Burlington, Ia.	May,
B	355	Yonkers, N. Y.	June,
B	356	New London, Conn.	May,
B	357	Sioux City, Ia.	June,
B	358	Wallingford, Conn.	June,
B	360	Mullan, Idaho	May,
B	361	Allentown, Pa.	May,
B	365	Moorhead, Minn.	June,
B	366	Cumberland, Md.	Apr.,
B	367	Norwich, Conn.	May,
B	370	Gardner, Mass.	June,
M	373	Shamokin, Pa.	May,
B	376	South Chicago, Ill.	May,
B	377	Plainfield, N. J.	July,
B	378	Bakersfield, Cal.	July,
B	379	Kankakee, Ill.	June,
M	380	Bisbee, Ariz.	May,
C	381	Brooklyn, N. Y.	June,
B	382	Boone, Ia.	June,
B	383	Mt. Vernon, N. Y.	Apr.,
B	386	Hanibal, Mo.	July,
B	387	Evansville, Ind.	May,
B	389	Carnegie, Pa.	May,
B	390	Montgomery, Ala.	May,
B	391	Roslyn, Wash.	June,
B	393	Three Forks, Mont.	May,
B	395	Grand Rapids, Mich.	May,
B	397	Norwalk, O.	Apr.,
B	398	Manchester, N. H.	May,
B	399	Lincoln, Neb.	June,
M	400	Sookane, Wash.	May,
W	402	San Diego, Cal.	May,
B	403	Stockton, Cal.	July,

THE MIXER AND SERVER

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY-TREASURER—Continued.

Local No.	Local No.	Local No.
B 404 Dover, N. J. June, 1915	M 550 Bakersfield, Cal. May, 1915	M 692 Virden, Ill. June, 1915
W 405 Philadelphia, Pa. Apr., "	B 551 Akron, O. Apr., "	C 693 Hoboken, N. J. May, "
B 406 Eureka, Cal. May, "	CC 552 Richmond, Va. May, "	B 694 Watertown, N. Y. Apr., "
C 408 St. Paul, Minn. March, "	B 553 Millvale, Pa. May, "	B 696 Norfolk, Va. May, "
M 411 Muskegon, Mich. June, "	B 554 Newark, N. J. June, "	B 697 Temple, Tex. June, "
B 412 Newark, O. June, "	B 555 North Yakima, Wash. Apr., "	B 699 Marysville, Cal. Apr., "
B 414 Lethbridge, Ont., Canada	B 556 Olympia, Wash. June, "	W 700 Paterson, N. J. May, "
B 417 Mt. Pleasant, Pa. June, "	B 557 Salida, Colo. May, "	B 701 North Walpole, N. H. June, "
B 419 Memphis, Tenn. June, "	B 558 San Bernardino, Cal. June, "	B 702 Kensington, Ill. March, "
B 420 Kansas City, Mo. May, "	B 559 Ft. Smith, Ark. June, "	B 704 Raymond, Wash. March, "
B 421 Newport, R. I. June, "	M 561 Sacramento, Cal. May, "	B 706 Rockville, Conn. May, "
B 422 St. Joseph, Mo. May, "	B 562 Detroit, Mich. May, "	B 707 Tacoma, Wash. May, "
B 423 Columbus, O. June, "	B 563 Mobile, Ala. June, "	B 709 Lordsburg, N. M. June, "
M 426 Wallace, Idaho May, "	B 564 Fresno, Cal. May, "	B 710 Ashland, Wis. May, "
C 427 Missoula, Mont. June, "	M 567 Olympia, Wash. Apr., "	B 711 Mingo Junction, O. June, "
B 428 Washington, D. C. June, "	B 568 Gillespie, Ill. June, "	B 713 Mansfield, Ore. June, "
B 429 Portsmouth, O. June, "	B 569 Harrisburg, Pa. May, "	B 714 Joliet, Ill. June, "
B 431 East Liverpool, O. May, "	M 578 Stockton, Cal. Apr., "	B 716 Rutland, Vt. June, "
B 439 Miles City, Mont. May, "	B 578 Springfield, Ill. May, "	C 719 New York City. June, "
M 434 Toronto, Ont., Can. Apr., "	B 574 Duluth, Minn. May, "	B 721 Salt Lake City, Utah
B 436 Nelson, B. C., Can. Apr., "	W 575 Jersey City, N. J. May, "	B 722 Berlin, Ont., Can. May, "
B 437 Rock Springs, Wyo. May, "	B 577 San Jose, Cal. May, "	B 723 Port Arthur, Tex. June, "
B 438 Indianapolis, Ind. Apr., "	B 580 Palestine, Tex. May, "	B 725 Walla Walla, Wash. May, "
B 439 Poughkeepsie, N. Y. June, "	B 585 Charleston, W. Va. May, "	B 729 Ottawa, Ill. June, "
C 440 Montreal, Canada May, "	B 587 Bozeman, Mont. May, "	M 730 Bremerton, Wash. May, "
W 443 Evansville, Ind. Apr., "	B 590 Fond du Lac, Wis. June, "	B 731 Great Barrington, Mass.
W 444 Peoria, Ill. May, "	B 591 San Pedro, Cal. June, "	B 732 Middletown, O. June, "
B 445 Mojave, Cal. May, "	M 592 Winnipeg, Man., Canada	B 733 Dover and Somersworth
B 447 Pensacola, Fla. May, "	W 593 Minneapolis, Minn. May, "	N. H. May, "
B 449 Altoona, Pa. May, "	B 594 Argenta, Ark. June, "	M 734 Superior, Wis. May, "
M 451 Everett, Wash. May, "	B 595 Richmond, Cal. May, "	B 735 Manville, R. I. Mar., "
B 454 Everett, Wash. May, "	B 596 Superior, Wis. May, "	B 737 York, Pa. June, "
B 455 Stamford, Conn. May, "	B 598 East Grand Forks, Minn. June, "	B 738 Baton Rouge, La. June, "
B 456 Chicago, Ill. May, "	C 600 Duluth, Minn. May, "	B 739 Brownsville, Pa. June, "
B 457 Butte, Mont. June, "	M 601 Perth Amboy, N. J. Mar., "	B 740 South Manchester, Conn. Apr., "
C 458 Minneapolis, Minn. Apr., "	B 603 Sacramento, Cal. May, "	B 741 Pasco, Tex. May, "
M 459 Victoria, B. C. Apr., "	M 604 Winona, Minn. May, "	B 742 Southbridge, Conn. May, "
B 461 Springfield, Mo. May, "	B 608 Salem, O. May, "	B 743 Natick, Mass. June, "
B 463 Cle Elum, Wash. May, "	B 609 Great Falls, Mont. May, "	B 744 Waco, Tex. May, "
B 465 Macon, Ga. May, "	B 610 Hazelton, Pa. Apr., "	B 745 Prince Rupert, B. C., Can. June, "
B 466 Wilmington, Del. June, "	M 612 Helena, Mont. June, "	B 746 Anaconda, Mont. May, "
B 468 Madison, Wis. June, "	B 613 Lexington, Mo. June, "	B 749 Galveston, Tex. June, "
B 469 Middletown, Conn. June, "	B 614 Marion, Ind. July, "	B 750 Houston, Tex. June, "
M 470 Ellensburg, Wash. June, "	M 618 Barberston, O. June, "	B 751 Beaumont, Tex. June, "
M 473 Bellingham, Wash. May, "	M 619 Holyoke, Mass. Apr., "	B 752 Texas City, Tex. June, "
B 478 The Dalles, Ore. June, "	B 620 Austin, Tex. Mar., "	B 753 Sherbrook, Que., Canada
B 479 LaCrosse, Wis. May, "	M 624 North Yakima, Wash. May, "	M 754 San Pedro, Cal. May, "
B 480 Henderson, Ky. June, "	B 625 Cape Girardeau, Mo. June, "	M 755 Port Arthur, Tex. Apr., "
R 482 Butler, Pa. June, "	B 626 Walla Walla, Wash. May, "	B 756 Thief River Falls, Minn. May, "
W 483 Ottumwa, Ia. May, "	B 627 Cairo, Ill. June, "	B 757 Port Arthur, Ont. July, "
WS 484 Chicago, Ill. May, "	B 628 El Paso, Tex. May, "	M 759 Crookston, Minn. Apr., "
B 485 Spokane, Wash. May, "	W 631 Phoenix, Ariz. May, "	M 760 Monroe, La. June, "
B 486 Fulton, N. Y. May, "	B 632 Kalispell, Mont. May, "	B 761 Ft. Williams, Ont. June, "
B 488 Jersey City, N. J. Apr., "	B 633 Nashua, N. H. June, "	B 762 Harrison and Kearney, N. J. Apr., "
M 489 Ft. Wayne, Ind. May, "	B 639 Moline, Ill. June, "	W 763 Rochester, N. Y. Apr., "
B 491 Atlantic City, N. J. Apr., "	B 640 Corpus Christi, Tex. Apr., "	B 764 Alexandria, La. June, "
WS 493 New York, N. Y. May, "	B 642 Newburg, N. Y. May, "	B 765 Tampa, Fla. Apr., "
R 495 New Rochelle, N. Y. June, "	WS 644 Philadelphia, Pa. Mar., "	B 767 Westville, Ill. May, "
B 497 Brainerd, Minn. Mar., "	B 647 Concord, N. H. June, "	B 768 San Diego, Cal. May, "
B 498 Lewiston, Mont. May, "	B 648 Paterson, N. J. May, "	B 771 Hoquiam, Wash. May, "
B 499 Springfield, O. June, "	B 649 Chicago, Ill. Mar., "	B 774 Aberdeen, Wash. June, "
W 501 Yonkers, N. Y. June, "	B 651 Seattle, Wash. May, "	B 784 New Westminster, B. C. May, "
WS 503 Kansas City, Mo. May, "	B 652 Moberly, Mo. June, "	M 791 Aberdeen, Wash. May, "
B 504 Terre Haute, Ind. June, "	B 654 Bryan, Tex. May, "	B 793 Latrobe, Pa. June, "
M 505 Columbus, O. June, "	B 656 Anderson, Ind. June, "	B 797 Ironton, O. June, "
B 506 Montreal, Canada May, "	B 657 Cheyenne, Wyo. May, "	M 798 York, Pa. June, "
B 507 Chicago, Ill. May, "	M 659 Dallas, Tex. May, "	B 800 Lafayette, Ind. June, "
B 513 East Chicago, Ind. June, "	B 661 Roanoke, Va. May, "	M 801 Lima, Wash. May, "
B 516 Oelwein, Ia. April, "	W 663 Covington, Ky. June, "	B 804 Hoquiam, Wash. May, "
B 517 Nashville, Tenn. June, "	B 664 Glendale, Mont. May, "	B 805 Covington, Ky. May, "
B 518 Ft. Dodge, Ia. June, "	M 667 Renton, Wash. June, "	B 806 Deer Lodge, Mont. May, "
B 519 Willimantic, Conn. June, "	B 669 Helena, Ark. June, "	B 807 Fingham Canyon, Utah
B 520 Peru, Ind. May, "	B 670 Beardstown, Ill. May, "	M 809 Lewistown, Mont. Apr., "
B 528 Kenosha, Wis. May, "	B 671 Jackson, Mich. May, "	B 810 Witt, Ill. July, "
M 524 Miles City, Mont. June, "	M 673 San Bernardino, Cal. May, "	B 812 Port Chester, N. Y. Apr., "
B 525 Oakland, Cal. May, "	B 674 Winnipeg, Man., Canada	B 813 St. Cloud, Minn. June, "
B 526 Johnstown, Pa. May, "	B 675 Oswego, N. Y. March, "	B 814 Victoria, B. C. Mar., "
B 527 Dubuque, Ia. May, "	B 676 Vancouver, B. C. May, "	M 815 Salt Lake City, Utah
B 529 Branford, Conn. May, "	B 677 Berlin, N. H. June, "	B 816 Bridgenort, O. June, "
B 531 Jefferson City, Mo. July, "	B 679 Kellogg and Wardner, Idaho. Apr., "	B 817 Missoula, Mont. June, "
B 539 Baltimore, Md. May, "	M 680 Miami, Ariz. May, "	B 818 Pekin, Ill. May, "
B 533 Helena, Mont. June, "	B 682 Elizabeth, N. J. May, "	M 819 Port Angeles, Wash. May, "
B 534 Gary, Ind. May, "	B 683 St. Thomas, Ont., Canada	B 820 Sheridan, Wyo. June, "
B 535 Keokuk, Ia. May, "	B 684 Monongahela, Pa. June, "
B 537 Long Branch, N. J. May, "	B 685 East Claire, Wis. May, "
B 542 San Rafael, Cal. June, "	B 686 Burlington, Vt. July, "
B 543 Danville, Ill. June, "	B 687 Bay City, Mich. June, "
B 544 Richmond, Ind. May, "	B 689 Passaic, N. J. May, "
B 545 Perth Amboy, N. J. June, "	B 690 Owensboro, Ky. July, "
B 546 Waterloo, Ia. July, "
B 547 Dallas, Tex. May, "
B 548 Hudson, N. Y. May, "
B 549 Wichita Falls, Tex. June, "

THE MIXER AND SERVER

9

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY-TREASURER—Continued.

Local No.	Date.	Local.	Date.	Local.
B 821 Kittanning, Pa.	July, 1915	2 737 May	21 60	7 259 Apr.	10 50
B 822 Boonville, Ind.	June, "	2 195 Supplies	12 60	7 784 May, supplies	13 90
B 823 Ocala, Fla.	May, "	2 76 May	60 90	7 815 Mar., Apr., stamps, sup-
M 824 Raymond, Wash.	May, "	2 376 Apr., supplies	25 85	plies, buttons, cash, bound
M 825 Prince Rupert, B. C., Can.	May, "	3 51 May	137 05	M. & S., bal. due Nov.
		3 350 Mar., supplies	9 10	report	100 60
B 826 Etna, Pa.	May, "	3 438 May	11 10	7 398 May, stamp	3 30
B 827 Joplin, Mo.	May, "	3 498 Stamps, supplies	90	8 78 Apr., May	29 05
B 829 South Bend, Wash.	May,	3 593 Supplies	2 50	8 96 June, supplies	5 25
B 830 Anacortes, Wash.	May, "	3 594 June	6 90	8 156 May	11 20
B 832 Sedalia, Mo.	May,	3 761 Apr.	5 80	8 221 June	6 40
B 833 Elyria, O.	June, "	3 869 May, stamps	10 70	8 351 June, stamp	10 10
B 834 Royalton, Ill.	May,	3 Frank Wilson, M. A. L.	4 50	8 353 May	7 00
B 835 Taylor, Tex.	June, "	3 812 Supplies	1 00	8 546 June, stamps, supplies	23 40
B 836 Centralia, Wash.	May,	3 518 May	13 50	Bal. due rein. Thos. Speake, Local 247
M 837 Kemmerer, Wyo.	June, "	3 545 Apr., May, June, sup-	24 25	8 647 May	8 45
B 838 Casper, Wyo.	June, "	plies, buttons		8 690 June	6 25
M 839 Herrin, Ill.	May,	3 598 May	7 30	8 739 June, supplies	8 25
B 840 Chester, Pa.	June,	3 756 May	4 80	8 750 Supplies	1 00
M 842 Casper, Wyo.	Apr.,	3 12 May	34 60	8 798 May	4 00
WWC 842 Worcester, Mass.	Apr.,	3 284 May	7 80	8 833 May	5 00
B 844 Staunton, Ill.	May, "	4 Rein. Daniele Pontremoli.		8 852 May, stamp	9 25
B 845 New Kensington, Pa.	June,	Local 717	12 35	8 468 Apr., May, stamps	21 25
M 846 Sheridan, Wyo.	Apr.,	4 88 Supplies	1 00	8 344 May	8 20
B 847 Fostoria, O.	June,	4 127 May	9 85	8 444 Mar., Apr., May	3 00
M 848 El Paso, Tex.	May,	4 173 May, stamps	33 65	8 538 May, stamps, supplies	21 65
B 849 Franklin, Pa.	June,	4 212 May, supplies	35 55	8 427 Supplies	5 85
B 850 Rock Island, Ill.	June,	4 223 Supplies	50	8 101 May	31 30
B 851 Peekskill, N. Y.	Apr., "	4 408 May, stamps	34 05	8 457 May	32 40
B 852 Tiffin, O.	May,	4 Rein. Chas. H. Hansen.		8 860 May, stamp	43 45
B 854 Jeannette, Pa.	May,	Local 707	12 35	8 204 June, supplies	7 80
B 855 Livingston, Mont.	Apr.,	4 524 June	17 10	8 293 May, June, buttons, sup-	10 00
B 856 Hot Springs, Ark.	June,	4 749 May, stamps	19 90	plies	10 85
B 857 Laramie, Wyo.	May,	4 754 Apr., supplies	14 10	8 858 June	2 80
B 859 Billings, Mont.	May,	4 805 Supplies	1 00	8 370 Stamps	10 00
M 861 Billings, Mont.	May,	4 838 May	7 20	8 449 May	13 25
B 862 West Warwick, R. I.	May,	4 844 May, supplies	18 95	8 486 May, supplies	6 80
B 864 Lansford, Pa.	May,	4 Rein. John Brideau, Lo-		8 581 June, supplies	14 90
C 865 Chicago, Ill.	May,	cal 551	12 35	8 763 Apr., supplies, buttons	31 50
WWC 866 Springfield, Mass.	June,	4 153 May	30 65	8 72 May, stamps, supplies	28 80
B 867 Ketchikan, Alaska	May,	4 544 Apr., stamps	17 25	8 294 Apr., stamp, buttons	8 30
B 868 Nome, Alaska	May,	4 229 Apr., May	10 90	8 361 May	30 50
B 869 Juneau, Alaska	June, "	4 190 Apr., buttons	8 80	8 240 May, supplies	70 70
B 870 Augusta, Ga.	May,	4 309 June	7 40	8 243 Apr., stamps	15 95
M 871 Juneau, Alaska	Apr., "	4 829 Apr., May, stamp	3 20	8 801 Apr., May, cash	10 10
C 872 Milwaukee, Wis.	June, "	4 Interest	75 26	8 20 May	123 10
		5 77 Button	1 00	9 420 Supplies	143 20
		5 157 June	17 65	9 48 May	2 00
		5 420 Supplies	1 00	9 91 June	1 00
		5 436 Apr., May	13 75	9 107 Supplies	11 75
		5 558 May, stamp	11 65	9 119 May	16 00
		5 614 June, stamp	2 00	9 199 June	80
		5 659 May	38 70	9 308 Stamps
		5 721 May	52 35	9 841 May	12 00
		5 767 Supplies	5 00	9 846 May, supplies, buttons	18 15
		5 T. J. Linnane, M. A. L.	60	9 882 June	2 45
		5 248 May	24 15	9 882 May	5 25
		5 107 Buttons	1 00	9 575 May	14 70
		5 426 Apr., stamp	6 45	9 626 May, buttons	13 45
		5 478 May, stamps	7 40	9 685 May, supplies	6 21
		5 725 May	14 60	9 734 May	6 20
		5 816 Charter and outfit, stamps, supplies, buttons	13 85	9 833 May, stamps	15 80
		7 30 Supplies	11 25	9 822 June	3 20
		7 59 Supplies	2 00	9 856 June	184 50
		7 90 May, supplies, buttons	45 40	9 110 May	12 00
		7 120 May	6 85	9 384 May, supplies	3 00
		7 139 Apr., May	15 65	9 568 May	4 20
		7 142 May	7 80	9 688 July
		7 149 Stamps	10 00	I. P. Duggin, C. L.
		7 204 May	15 20	Bloomgren, M. A. L.	6 00
		7 274 Buttons	4 00	9 671 Supplies	50
		7 290 May	15 90	9 804 May	32 25
		7 315 Apr., supplies, buttons	6 10	9 390 May, bound M. & S.	5 60
		7 378 June	26 80	9 72 Stamps	1 25
		7 428 May, stamps	63 80	10 3 Apr., cash	43 00
		7 440 Supplies, buttons	3 00	10 109 May, stamps	63 85
		7 504 Supplies	1 00	10 192 June	20 20
		7 506 May, supplies, buttons	43 00	10 Ini. E. W. Rodgers.	5 00
		7 542 June, supplies	3 01	10 227 May	5 05
		7 561 Apr.	41 80	10 395 May	46 45
		7 577 May, supplies, bal. due	28 35	10 404 May	11 20
		7 Apr. report		10 479 May, stamps, supplies	20 55
		7 603 May	41 50	10 692 May, bal. due Apr. report	10 05
		7 619 May, supplies	15 80	10 886 June	4 80
		7 628 Stamps, supplies	20 60	10 700 May	8 80
		7 664 May	5 00	10 709 June	4 00
		7 673 May	5 00	10 805 May	10 90
		7 813 June	4 20	10 835 June, stamps, buttons, supplies	5 95
		7 857 May	4 20	10 308 Apr., stamps	58 20
		7 J. Greenwald, M. A. L.	3 20	10 528 May	16 80
		7 169 May, stamps	16 35	10 557 May	3 00
		7 28 Stamp	90	10 Rein. W. F. Williamson, Local 589	1 60
		7 83 Apr.	1 60

THE MIXER AND SERVER

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY-TREASURER—Continued.

Date.	Local.	Date.	Local.	Date.	Local.
10 751 June	9 05	16 Rein. Hugo Wilbrandt	5 10	21 337 May, supplies, buttons.
10 283 June	7 00	16 188 May	204 95	cash	11 55
10 279 May	87 05	16 206 June	30 85	H. Pierce, M. A. L.	6 25
10 447 May	5 20	16 278 Supplies	13 50	21 768 May	80 10
10 386 June	11 80	16 284 May	123 70	22 163 June	11 00
10 738 June, supplies	2 58	16 466 June, cash	23 55	22 230 Supplies	25
10 81 May	27 40	16 495 June, buttons	7 04	22 348 May	8 55
11 24 June, stamps	4 95	16 569 May, stamps, buttons	15 50	22 400 May, stamp	31 25
11 55 May, stamps	23 25	16 616 June, stamps, supplies	5 55	22 417 June	8 00
11 241 June, supplies	7 75	16 710 May, stamps	6 00	22 483 May	4 80
11 263 Feb., Mar., stamps	85 25	16 Rein. Petrus Peers, Local	816	22 670 May, stamps	12 50
11 349 May	9 20	16 470 June	1 85	22 684 June, stamp, buttons	4 20
11 411 Bal. due May report	50	16 525 May, stamps, bal. due	3 00	22 749 Stamps, supplies	4 00
11 389 Apr., May, stamps, supplies	24 48	16 Apr. report	82 75	22 872 June, supplies	14 90
11 625 June	5 45	16 056 June	9 40	D. T. Hand, M. A. L.	3 00
11 640 Feb., Mar., Apr.	9 05	16 857 June	16 10	22 432 Stamps, supplies, cash	13 50
11 716 June, supplies, cash	5 20	16 859 May	15 40	Rein. D. T. Brown, Local 410	12 35
11 733 Buttons	1 25	16 C. A. Olsen, M. A. L.	1 60	22 825 June, stamps, supplies
11 821 June, supplies	8 90	16 549 June, stamp	12 55	cash	11 90
11 863 May	9 55	16 370 June, buttons	6 65	22 689 May	10 40
11 287 Supplies	1 00	16 84 June	10 60	22 708 May, stamp, bound M. & S.
11 400 Supplies	1 50	16 210 May	5 05	7 05
11 298 May, stamps	14 20	16 148 May, June, stamp	8 45	22 340 May, stamp	9 10
11 661 Ma. supplies	11 50	16 33 May	59 70	22 293 Bal. due supplies	1 00
11 398 May	30 45	16 J. Conely, M. A. L.	4 25	22 556 June, stamp	7 80
11 784 Supplies	1 00	16 72 Supplies	50	22 569 Button	1 00
11 674 Supplies, stamps	36 10	16 373 Apr., May	5 65	23 85 May, supplies, button	41 05
11 239 May	59 70	16 Sub. M. & S.	1 50	23 97 May	8 20
11 669 Feb., Mar., Apr., May, June	11 80	16 144 June, stamp	13 05	23 260 June	20 85
11 774 May, June, supplies	10 95	17 82 June	8 80	23 338 Buttons	3 00
11 791 May, stamp	7 30	17 134 May, stamps, buttons	47 15	23 387 May, buttons	44 55
11 824 May	2 20	17 220 May, stamps	8 85	23 870 Apr., May, buttons, supplies
12 93 Ma., stamps	15 25	17 482 June	7 25	23 834 Supplies	50
12 154 May	24 00	17 547 Supplies, bal. due Apr. report	1 00	23 568 June	3 00
12 216 May	54 80	17 595 May	6 65	23 606 Stamps, supplies	9 25
12 405 Apr., May	8 40	17 837 Buttons	3 60	23 845 June, buttons	7 80
12 491 Supplies, buttons	1 60	17 Rein. Edw. Meyers, Local 473	1 60	23 72 Stamps	1 25
12 551 Dec., Jan., Feb., Mar., Apr., supplies, rein. of local, cash	123 85	17 822 May	13 80	23 652 June	6 40
12 729 June, stamps, supplies	13 25	17 498 May	8 60	24 60 May	5 85
12 771 May	7 45	17 609 May, supplies, cash	18 75	24 115 May, supplies	185 55
12 800 June	18 40	17 820 June, supplies	10 00	24 149 Stamps, supplies	10 50
12 806 May, supplies	4 30	17 527 May, supplies	18 15	24 151 June	7 60
12 849 May	2 40	17 741 May	8 90	24 399 June, supplies, buttons	14 89
12 757 June, stamp	6 40	17 Rein. V. F. Graham	3 35	24 513 June	9 50
12 C. A. Galbreth, M. A. L.	15 09	18 88 Stamps	1 50	24 613 May, June	8 80
12 427 Ma. supplies	14 00	18 365 June	18 00	24 680 Supplies, cash	4 70
12 676 May, supplies	37 30	18 552 May	4 60	24 764 June	4 40
14 17 Supplies, buttons	4 75	18 573 May	39 20	24 816 Supplies, buttons	11 00
14 30 May	451 45	18 686 July	4 60	24 133 May	6 75
14 44 May	228 00	18 823 Apr., May	8 80	24 161 May	34 35
14 215 May	8 40	18 826 May, bound M. & S.	4 80	24 592 May, supplies	28 00
14 218 May, stamps	12 00	18 356 May	11 55	24 128 May, June, stamps, supplies
14 295 May	7 95	18 817 June	10 00	24 155 June	29 05
14 445 May, supplies	2 30	18 722 Apr., May, supplies	10 15	24 367 May, stamps, supplies	12 15
14 485 Apr.	83 50	18 519 June	5 20	24 526 May, stamps	35 00
14 591 June, supplies, buttons	10 15	18 562 Supplies	1 00	H. S. Foote, M. A. L.	1 50
14 600 May	12 80	19 41 May	257 50	24 193 May	20 80
14 631 May	17 75	19 289 June	4 00	24 408 Mar.	11 25
14 680 May	15 60	19 440 May, stamps	18 90	24 282 E. O. Parker, M. A. L.	4 85
14 743 May	5 00	19 502 May	87 20	25 88 June	7 40
14 793 June	5 60	19 285 May	80 25	25 95 May	47 45
14 848 May, stamps, supplies, buttons	20 65	19 714 Supplies	1 00	25 200 May	53 00
14 871 Apr., May, stamp, supplies	18 00	19 745 Stamps	25 25	25 469 June	5 80
14 280 Stamps	5 00	19 454 May, stamps	11 35	25 488 Apr., stamps	49 20
14 Rein. Edward Deacon, Local 28	21	19 730 May, stamps	9 00	25 499 June	23 20
14 Rein. W. M. Spencer, Local 597	12 35	21 14 May, buttons	43 60	25 504 June	57 35
14 Rein. Chas. A. der Beruff, Local 628	5 00	21 43 May	12 45	25 558 Buttons	5 00
14 Rein. R. G. Ipswich, Local 579	1 60	21 49 May	4 20	25 816 June	12 55
15 36 June	12 00	21 257 May, June	9 60	25 246 May	12 85
15 71 May, buttons	7 80	21 287 May	44 30	25 298 Supplies	1 00
15 217 Buttons	2 00	21 318 June, stamp, button	1 00	25 590 June	14 20
15 224 June	39 75	21 517 June	2 60	25 639 June, stamps	20 80
15 225 June, buttons	6 20	21 587 May, bound M. & S.	2 60	25 659 Supplies	1 25
15 380 Apr., May, stamps	16 75	21 654 May, supplies	2 80	Rein. Chas. Betson, Local 434	1 60
15 550 Supplies	2 50	21 804 May	15 70	25 28 May, supplies	23 35
15 627 May, supplies	28 70	21 839 Feb., Mar., Apr., May, stamp, supplies, bound M. & S.	4 60	26 107 May	39 05
15 847 May, June, supplies	13 70	21 807 Apr., May, stamps	2 87	26 123 May, June	12 30
15 Warren Wolcott, M. A. L.	2 00	21 837 June	2 80	26 197 June	30 45
15 292 May, stamps	15 60	21 849 Mar., Apr., May, stamp, supplies, bound M. & S.	2 80	26 309 Stamps	1 00
15 806 June	4 60	21 851 June, stamp, supplies	15 70	26 381 June, stamp, supplies	10 65
15 104 June	5 40	21 857 June	2 60	26 459 Supplies	1 00
15 842 Mar., bal. due Feb. report	9 40	21 858 June	2 60	26 626 Supplies	1 00
15 677 June, supplies, buttons	7 20	21 864 June	2 60	26 628 Supplies	50
15 633 June	10 60	21 872 June	11 70	26 692 May, June, supplies	19 45
		21 819 Mar., Apr., May	8 25	26 719 June	9 85
				26 807 Apr., May, stamps	16 40
				26 837 June	4 95
				26 18 May	17 75
				26 35 May	80 60
				26 126 May, June	18 65

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY-TREASURER—Continued.

Date.	Local.	Date.	Local.
26	421 June, stamps	16	05
26	Rein. R. Kilpatrick.....	1	60
28	8 May	39	30
28	4 May, supplies, cash.....	45	10
28	189 Jan., stamps, supplies, bal. due bound M. & S. 45 55
28	52 Stamps	4	00
28	93 May	10	25
28	180 May	20	35
28	207 Apr.	9	60
28	266 May, supplies, buttons	38	90
28	339 May	P.	81 25
28	405 Apr., cash	4	05
28	480 May, stamps	189	55
28	667 June	8	80
28	723 June, supplies	8	80
28	810 May, June, July	6	00
28	827 May, cash	12	40
28	Rein. L. W. Eisenhardt, Local 368	1	35
28	867 May	4	80
28	Howard Brown, M. A. L. 1	50
28	Daniel Hart, M. A. L. 3	00
28	H. G. Foote, M. A. L. 85
28	865 May, stamps	34	30
28	E. Talbot, M. A. L. 3	25
28	316 Stamp, supplies, button	2	50
28	463 May	7	65
28	547 Stamps	2	00
28	707 May, stamp	21	85
28	732 May, June, stamp, sup- plies	18	60
28	196 June	65	75
28	398 Supplies	50
28	485 May	34	50
29	127 June	10	05
29	128 Supplies, bound M. & S. 6	25
29	325 May	6	00
29	262 July, Aug.	4	80
29	331 May, stamp	8	65
29	379 June, stamps	12	35
29	429 June, stamps	15	40
29	461 May	14	10
29	614 July, supplies	8	55
29	624 May, stamps, supplies	8	05
29	714 June, stamps	23	90
29	854 May, stamp, cash.....	14	20
29	W. G. Stewart, M. A. L. 8	00
29	363 Cash	50
29	427 Supplies	1	50
29	457 June, stamp, supplies	36	10
29	230 May	10	20
29	473 May	4	90
29	700 Seal L. J. E. B. 3	50
29	120 May, stamps	42	70
29	182 June	5	00
29	194 June	4	00
29	217 June, stamps	58	20
29	693 May	8	60
29	19 May	35	65
29	116 June	11	20
29	141 May	17	20
29	181 May, stamp	14	25
29	320 May, button, cash	22	00
29	532 May, supplies	18	70
29	709 Supplies	2	25
29	731 May, June, cash	7	10
29	733 Stamps	7	50
29	742 May	2	40
30	3 May, supplies, buttons	41	05
30	6 May	58	25
30	27 May	8	00
30	98 May	2	05
30	29 May	46	00
30	90 June	40	10
30	108 May	98	25
30	184 May, June	5	45
30	202 June, supplies	28	15
30	278 May, stamps	19	25
30	280 May	79	50
30	317 May, stamps, supplies	17	70
30	415 May, June, stamps, cash	38	10
30	423 May, June, stamp	79	30
30	489 May, supplies	16	60
30	503 May	13	45
30	559 May	9	45
30	559 June, supplies	9	60
30	563 June	10	70
30	628 Supplies	50
30	642 May	5	60
30	696 May, supplies	23	35
30	760 June	8	25
30	850 June	42	65
30	78 June, stamps, supplies	34	95
	Total		$11,356 38
EXPENDITURES FOR JUNE, 1915.
Date.
1	Rent	$103	50
1	Paul Steffler, acct. Board meeting	100	00
1	Tax A. F. of L.	399	24
1	Tax on Canadian membership	32	08
3	Labor Press	1	00
3	Robert Lyons, defense, L. J. E. B., St. Louis, Mo.	100	00
3	Account protested check, Local 431	13	50
3	E. L. Hiles, defense, L. J. E. B., Kansas City, Mo.	200	00
5	Clerks	57	00
5	E. Maloney, L. S. O., Local 484	15	00
5	F. Ebeling, L. S. O., Local 865	15	00
5	C. W. McCurdy, L. S. O., Local 223	15	00
5	Mrs. Maud Mosier, L. S. O., Local 644	15	00
5	Louise Kane, L. S. O., Local 249	15	00
5	Delia Hurley, L. S. O., Lo- cal 112	15	00
5	Belle Donner, L. S. O., L. J. E. B., New York	15	00
5	Albert Courtney, L. S. O., Local 734	15	00
5	Aloys Cryns, L. S. O., Local 209	15	00
5	Mary Harrison, L. S. O., Local 434	15	00
12	Clerks	76	00
12	Louise Kane, L. S. O., Local 249	15	00
12	Delia Hurley, L. S. O., Lo- cal 112	15	00
12	Belle Donner, L. S. O., L. J. E. B., New York	15	00
12	Albert Courtney, L. S. O., Local 734	15	00
12	Aloys Cryns, L. S. O., Local 209	15	00
12	Mary Harrison, L. S. O., Local 434	15	00
26	Belle Donner, L. S. O., L. J. E. B., New York	15	00
26	Aloys Cryns, L. S. O., Local 209	15	00
28	Minnie Andrews, Intl. Org., Local 87	100	00
28	Seals	10	49
29	Supplies	481	88
29	Printing June M. & S.	2,622	09
30	Clerks	5	00

THE MIXER AND SERVER

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY-TREASURER—Continued.

Date.	Date.	Date.
30 Robert Lyons, defense, L. J. E. B., St. Louis, Mo.... 200 00	30 Wm. Nelson, Death Claim No. 6844, Local 485..... 50 00	30 Janitor 12 00
30 E. Flore, Gen. Pres..... 380 16	30 Chas. Haycraft, Death Claim No. 6845, Local 378..... 50 00	Stamps received and used. 6 15
30 F. E. Merryfield, Intl. Org. 78 33	30 Chas. Crochier, Death Claim No. 6846, Local 286..... 50 00	Postage 66 00
30 A. C. Beck, Intl. Org. 109 18	30 George Snow, Death Claim No. 6847, Local 100..... 50 00	Towel Supply Co. 90
30 J. P. McGinley, Intl. Org. ... 32 80	30 Chas. Boucher, Death Claim, No. 6848, Local 647..... 50 00	Office supplies 7 00
30 A. F. Martel, Intl. Org. 117 74	30 Claud Adams, Death Claim No. 6850, Local 298..... 50 00	Telegrams 87
30 Josh Brady, Intl. Org. 92 06	30 Wm. E. Sullivan, Death Claim No. 6851, Local 3.. 50 00	Expressage 23 17
30 T. J. Durnin, Intl. Org. 115 00	30 Geo. Price, Death Claim No. 6852, Local 139..... 50 00	Revenue stamps 5 00
30 W. E. Horne, Intl. Org. 100 00	30 Wm. F. Nibbel, Death Claim No. 6853, Local 479..... 50 00	Expressage not prepaid.... 15 01
30 W. E. Reynolds, Intl. Org. ... 104 88	30 Nathan Wittenstein, Death Claim No. 6854, Local 141..... 50 00	Total $14,401 91
30 F. B. Hobby, Intl. Org. 86 23	30 Fred Titus, Death Claim No. 6855, Local 188..... 50 00	Amount on hand June 1, 1915 $82,827 68
30 W. B. Joyce, Intl. Org. 100 79	30 Dell Jeffries, Death Claim No. 6858, M. A. L..... 50 00	Receipts for June, 1915..... 11,856 88
30 Ben Gorton, Intl. Org. 88 96	30 Peter Moriarty, Death Claim No. 6859, Local 99..... 50 00	Total $98,594 06
30 F. Sesma, Intl. Org. 140 55	30 Henry Schlott, Death Claim No. 6860, Local 381..... 50 00	Expenditures for June, 1915. 14,401 91
30 Jere F. McCarthy, Intl. Org. 78 33	30 Chas. E. Butz, Death Claim No. 6861, Local 8..... 50 00	Amount on hand July 1, 1915. $79,192 15
30 John J. Henley, Def. Org. ... 78 33	30 Julius Picro, Death Claim No. 6862, Local 202..... 50 00	In Death Fund June 1, 1915. $30,654 74
30 Jas. H. Anderson, Def. Org. 78 33	30 Fred W. Holder, Death Claim No. 6863, Local 253..... 50 00	Appropriated to Death Fund June, 1915 3,475 99
30 J. N. Butler, Def. Org. 88 98	30 John J. Collins, Death Claim No. 6864, Local 90..... 50 00	Total $34,130 08
30 W. F. Kavanaugh, Def. Org. 68 09	30 Louis Conners, Death Claim No. 6865, Local 437..... 50 00	Drawn from Death Fund June, 1915 8,100 00
30 Ora Berger, Death Claim No. 6898, Local 704..... 50 00	30 John Gorman, Death Claim No. 6866, Local 116..... 50 00	Balance in Death Fund July 1, 1915 $31,030 08
30 Carl Klaflie, Death Claim No. 6725, Local 305..... 50 00	30 Edw. L. Quinn, Death Claim No. 6870, Local 252..... 50 00	In Defense Fund June 1, 1915 $15,812 55
30 Fred Erzinger, Death Claim No. 6785, Local 379..... 50 00	30 Edward Shannon, Death Claim No. 6871, Local 573..... 50 00	Appropriated to Defense Fund, June, 1915 1,489 41
30 Conrad Carl, Death Claim No. 6809, Local 228..... 50 00	30 G. C. Russell, Death Claim No. 6874, Local 674..... 50 00	Total $16,801 96
30 Thos. E. Buckley, Death Claim No. 6823, Local 710..... 50 00	30 Ernest Ragotte, Death Claim No. 6875, Local 398..... 50 00	Drawn from Defense Fund, June, 1915 2,020 62
30 Harry McLeod, Death Claim No. 6824, Local 562..... 50 00	30 Timothy Madden, Death Claim No. 6876, Local 395..... 50 00	Balance in Defense Fund July 1, 1915 $14,781 84
30 Wm. J. Fitzgerald, Death Claim No. 6825, Local 76..... 50 00	30 Albert F. Johnson, Death Claim No. 6877, Local 30..... 50 00	In Convention Assessment Fund June 1, 1915. $1,204 10
30 Chas. J. Justin, Death Claim No. 6827, Local 248..... 50 00	30 Jos. Fink, Death Claim No. 6878, Local 286..... 50 00	Receipts for June, 1915.....
30 Jacob Hoering, Death Claim No. 6828, Local 77..... 50 00	30 Samuel R. Dowse, Death Claim No. 6879, Local 30..... 50 00	Total $1,204 10
30 Maurice Hefferman, Death Claim No. 6829, Local 77..... 50 00	30 Fred W. Heisler, Death Claim No. 6882, Local 224..... 50 00	Refunds for June, 1915.....
30 John Olsen, Death Claim No. 6830, Local 152..... 50 00	30 Jere L. Sullivan, Sec-Treas. 225 00	Balance in Convention As- sessment Fund July 1, 1915 $1,204 10
30 Jas. P. Sullivan, Death Claim No. 6831, Local 119..... 50 00	30 Jere L. Sullivan, Conven- tion expenses 398 78	Amount in General Fund July 1, 1915 $32,176 68
30 Harry O. Whitbeck, Death Claim No. 6832, Local 171..... 50 00		Amount in Death Fund July 1, 1915 31,030 08
30 Henry Henning, Death Claim No. 6833, Local 41..... 50 00		Amount in Defense Fund July 1, 1915 14,781 84
30 Chas. Parrello, Death Claim No. 6835, Local 77..... 50 00		Amount in Convention Assess- ment Fund July 1, 1915. 1,204 10
30 Chas. H. Mattimore, Death Claim No. 6836, Local 224..... 50 00		Total $79,192 15
30 Jos. M. Thornberry, Death Claim No. 6837, Local 504..... 50 00
30 Otto Zulkie, Death Claim No. 6838, Local 650..... 50 00
30 Stephen Mahoney, Death Claim No. 6839, Local 90..... 50 00
30 Wm. M. White, Death Claim No. 6840, Local 256..... 50 00
30 Fred Campbell, Death Claim No. 6842, Local 835..... 50 00

PUT YOUR CUE IN THE RACK, THE GAME IS OVER.

Some few men carry the impression that they are heavier mentally than they really are, and consequently seek to impress with what vigor they may command their ideas on their fellow men. We have had a surfeit of that sort of person running amuck for the last sixteen months; what they knew about managerial functions would fill a book, and another could be filled with what they called ideas on organization. Possibly by this time they have woken up and discovered that their near wisdom was a drug on a market attuned to something the very opposite of practicable.

They were trying to foist on "white table cloth" workers the crudeness and policies which they absorbed on sawdust floors and oil-cloth tops, but they couldn't "foist" worth a tinker's cuss word.

It is about time for them to return their cue to the rack, for the game, so far as they are concerned, is over. They have left behind them a record which they need have no fear will ever be stolen by any worker who follows the catering industry for a living. As a cloak to cover up their efforts to destroy it served its purpose none too well, hence something different must be originated and it must be carried forward by others than those who identified themselves with the "elimination" machine in the recent past.

There is "balm in Gilead" for the first offender, providing he truly sees the light and retraces his steps to first principles.

WHAT OUR ORGANIZERS ARE DOING

ALBANY, N. Y., May 29, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month of May.

April 28 I went to the city of Cohoes, as suggested by the general office. Called on Mike Higgins, former president of Local 369, and after talking with him for some time and getting his idea on the prospects of the reorganization of Local 369, I found that he did not seem to think that the bartenders wanted a local union, but that he was willing to do everything in his power to bring about the desired result. I then called upon the secretary of the liquor dealers, who, by the way, is a brother of former President Higgins, and a man whose word can be depended on. I made arrangements to appear before the meeting of the liquor dealers on May 5, but owing to a hearing before the governor on a very important labor bill, I was unable to attend the meeting, and wired him to that effect. But I attended a meeting of the liquor dealers of Cohoes on the 19th. This meeting was very well attended, and the gentlemen present seemed to think that the people interested in the liquor traffic should be in closer relation. The best of feeling seemed to prevail among the dealers of Cohoes, and they told me they would do what they could to bring about an organization in their city.

On May 2 I attended a meeting of Local 320, Schenectady. While things are not really as they should be with this local, they have no fault to find, as all of their members are at work, with the exception of one or two. The meeting was well attended, and the question of sending a delegate to the convention was taken up. This made the third time that the matter had been before the local. Finally they decided to send a delegate, and the result was that your humble servant was elected without opposition. As they had several places that the officers and members could not do anything with, I made arrangements to take up the matter for them, as well as some bills that were before the governor, one of which he approved, that of increasing the liquor tax 25 per cent.

On the 14th I went to Mechanicville. Our International had a local in that town, or I should say city now, as it has become a city since the legislature adjourned. I think that a good, live local can be had in Mechanicville, as it is a hustling little city.

On the 17th I went to Glens Falls. While we had a local here at one time, I do not know what the trouble was, but think that a local should be there now. As the workers of the State are after the New York State Federation of Labor, and the Federation is not in the habit of letting the convention of that body go to cities where our crafts are unorganized, it is up to the interests to get their men in line, and I feel that results will come from my visit there.

On the 20th I attended a meeting of the Central Labor Union of Cohoes. It surely was some pleasure to appear before this body, for they are much interested in the labor movement. They promised to assist me in reorganizing the local in that city.

In the meantime a very urgent call came from Local 195, Gloversville. From the way things look it seems as though this local is going to stick, for they have a bunch of officers who are on the firing line at all times. It seems that the main trouble there is that some of the members of the local think that they are just a bit better than the rest, so on the 21st I took up the matter with the officers of the local and advised the calling of a meeting as soon as possible. The meeting was held on Sunday afternoon, May 23, and was very well attended. The trouble was thoroughly gone over, and a plan of action decided on. A note was sent to the secretary, with thirteen signatures, of men who wanted to resign from the local on the grounds that they were violating the constitution. Some idea, to resign in place of trying to right the wrong, if there should happen to be any. Not only that, but some of the men whose names were on the list were not yet members of the local. The local, on advice, appointed a committee to visit the insurgents and find out the main cause of their action. The committee was Grant Van Patten, financial secretary, William Busse and myself. We visited most of the gentlemen on the 26th and found that they knew nothing about the matter, only what one or two had told them. After getting them to promise that they would stick to the local, I made arrangements to go to Gloversville again and take the matter up with the proprietors and the Trades Assembly of that city. I also advised them to take in the boys in Johnstown, which is only three miles away. The president of Local 195 is working there, and he being of that hustling nature, Joseph J. Dugan by name, will bring quite a membership from that city, for I do not think there is room for two locals in that locality.

Will have to thank Brothers Dugan, Van Patten, Busse, Crauson, Grimstead, Cohen, Dorsey, Staks, Conover, Griffis, Allen, Pisot, Stoorder, Masher, McFeeley, Sheedy, Gerard, Fry, Costello, Van Trump, Sanders, Gill, Morton, Brice, Kelsey, Geabauer, Yambenisk, Bandlow and several others whose names I have forgotten. There is a local in Gloversville, and take it from me, it is going to stay, regardless of the pressure that is being brought to bear to disrupt it.

On the 27th went back to Cohoes, where I had called a meeting of the bartenders through the press. Was not disappointed when no one attended this meeting, for I had been told before hand not to expect anyone. If the bartenders of Cohoes do not want to organize, then it is up to themselves, for I am going to pick up the charter and they can not work under the bar labels that are in nine-tenths of the saloons of Cohoes, for I will see that all signs are taken out. That is one of the labor laws that the powers forgot to touch, the one protecting the labels and buttons. While the liquor interests of New York State have had a narrow escape this session of the legislature, it does not mean, by any means, that they are free from danger, for the antis are still active and will continue to be, so it is up to the men that depend on the traffic to get busy and see that their employees are in the organization; if not, I fear for them.

A constitutional convention is in progress in the Empire State at the present time, and no one can tell what they will try to put over. So I say watch out, organize, get on the firing line, and be ready.

The following is my expense account for the month:

Apr. 28—Schenectady to Cohoes and return	$ 0 70
May 3—Schenectady to Albany and return	50
14—Schenectady to Mechanicville and return	50
17—Schenectady to Glens Falls and return	1 60
19—Schenectady to Cohoes and return	70
21—Schenectady to Gloversville and return	1 40
23—Schenectady to Gloversville and return	1 40
24—Schenectady to Albany and return	50
25—Schenectady to Cohoes and return	70
26—Schenectady to Gloversville and return	1,40
27—Schenectady to Cohoes and return	70
 Total	$10 10

All of which is respectfully submitted,

Fraternally yours,
JOHN J. HENLEY,
Special Defense Organizer.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 24, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—My report from May 24 to June 24 is as follows.

May 25, Jersey City, attended a meeting of Bartenders' Local 485. Nomination of officers and other business of importance was transacted. Bro. John Murphy declined a re-nomination for business agent, having accepted a position as manager at a summer resort at Far Rockaway, N. Y. Good luck, Johnnie, me boy, there is nothing too good for a good trade unionist.

On the 26th, at Hoboken, I presided at a meeting of Locals 4, 10 and 236, Hoboken, and Locals 488 and 575, Jersey City, called for the purpose of getting our locals to stop their jurisdiction disputes, as well as to create a better feeling among them and to bring about such cooperation as will mean an increase numerically. The Aschbock Agency question came up for action, as this gentleman's place of business in the city of Hoboken has been a bone of contention here for years. Mr. Aschbock promised me that he would attend this joint meeting if given the privilege of the floor, and would promise our locals that in the future all orders received through his agency for cooks, waiters or bartenders would be turned over to such locals as were entitled to them in their respective jurisdictions. I received word at the last moment that it would be impossible for him to attend this meeting as promised, but that he would meet a committee at any time we could call at his place of business. A committee was appointed to meet him on the following Friday evening.

On the 27th I addressed the Labor Council here in Hudson County in the interest of our crafts' buttons and labels.

On the 28th I attended a meeting of Waiters' Local 575 Jersey City. In the evening I went to Hoboken to meet with the committee that was to visit Mr. Aschbock, as arranged and reported on the 26th. We were received very cordially and assured by this gentleman that he would keep his promise to do nothing to hurt our locals here. Jersey City has now to contend with a new strike-breaking agency, called the Schwarz Company. With the assistance of the Central Labor Council we have hopes of driving this vampire out of here.

June 1, to Paterson, as instructed, to take up matters referred to me by the general office.

On the 2d to Hoboken to address the Atlantic Coast District Convention of International Longshoremen, who were assembled at Bischoff's Hall. I informed the delegates that their local arrangements committee had steered them into Meyer's Hotel, an unfair hotel to our crafts. The result of the action taken was to move bag and baggage out of the unfair hotel to a union house.

On the 3d to Passaic, N. J., to attend a special meeting of the bar boys, and in the evening to Paterson, to organize a joint board of waiters and bartenders, very much needed here to overcome the damage done by Billy Sunday. This place has lost 23 saloons in the last month, and business in our line is at a standstill at this writing.

On the 4th to Jersey City, where I attended a well-attended meeting of the culinary workers. This local is progressing nicely.

On the 5th to Hoboken, where, with Business Agents Rowohlt, of Bartenders' Local 4, and Zwahr, of Waiters' Local 10, I went to Stevens' Institute to replace non-union men with four bartenders and eight waiters from our locals.

The following is my expense account:

June 1—Jersey City to Paterson.....	$ 0 70
3—Hoboken to Passaic and return..	55
3—Passaic to Paterson and return..	24
Postage	36
Phone use and stationery.....	70
Local and inter-city car fare.....	2 65

Total $ 5 20

Fraternally yours,

W. M. F. KAVANAGH,
International Defense Organizer.

BAKERSFIELD, CAL., June 12, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month.

My last report left me in the town of Douglas, Ariz. I spent one more day with the boys in Douglas and helped them get their books in shape.

On the night of the 27th to Bisbee, where I found the local in good shape. All the members were working and enjoying good, harmonious conditions. It is a 95 per cent town.

On the 29th to Tucson, as per instructions. I found some members of the Bartenders Union that was there before the town went dry working in soft drink parlors. No liquor is being sold openly as has been reported, but there is no denying that some is being sold, for I never saw a town with more drunks to the number of population. I did not see any of the ex-blue button boys have any liquor for sale, nor did I hear anyone accuse one of them either directly or indirectly, of bootlegging. It is being handled by a rough, disrespectful set of men that are no credit to any town at any time. As to the culinary workers here, there is room for a local and they can be organized, but it will take time.

On June 2 I proceeded to Mojave, as per instructions, and landed there on the 4th. There are eight bars in town, with fourteen bartenders. They are in good shape so far as conditions are concerned. They have not got very much money and business is very poor, but they are 100 per cent organized. They have a wage scale of 50 cents per hour, regardless of the number of hours they work, but most all of them are working eight hours. The letter that was sent out from that local asking for finances was not approved by the membership, and the officers that sent it out have resigned and the ex-president and secretary that built the local up at first are back in harness again, and I feel assured that the same thing will not occur again. All the bar boys in Mojave need is some business. There is no culinary local here, for there are not enough culinary workers to support a local.

Not seeing anything to do in Mojave, I went to Bakersfield, where I found a good, live bunch in good shape conducting things in a business-like manner that makes one feel like they want to stay there.

The following is my expense account since my last report:

Douglas to Bisbee.....	$1 25
Baggage	25
Bisbee to Tucson.....	4 45
Baggage	25
Tucson to Mojave.....	22 45
Pullman.....	3 75
Baggage	25
Postage for month.....	75
Telephone	1 00
Total	$34 40

With best wishes, I remain

Yours for Organization,
Education and Amalgamation,
J. N. BUTLER,
Special Defense Organizer.

CHICAGO, ILL., June 28, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month of June:

The situation in the city of Chicago, complicated as it is, greatly improved in the last month. The injunction against our culinary locals here, instead of hurting us is beginning to do us a lot of good. We have spread them broadcast at convenient places and the results are coming in slowly but surely. Before I go any further, I wish to say that the street car strike that broke loose here on June 14th, helped us a great deal; it showed what organization means, and also what it can accomplish by sticking together. The men employed on the elevated road stuck like real brothers to the ones of the surface lines and completely paralyzed traffic. The public, at first, took it as a joke on account of the fun brought about by the great variety of transportation methods employed, but on the second day they realized the seriousness of the situation and demanded that the city authorities interfere. When the city council passed an ordinance which made it impossible to bring in strike-breakers to work the cars, it proved to be the beginning of the end, and an arbitration was agreed to, the cars resuming their runs on the third day at 10 a. m.

We at once got busy on all the lunch rooms and restaurants in the vicinity of the car barns, with gratifying results. I went the rounds of the car barns and addressed the men at different hours of the day, and they all promised not to patronize any place that refused to line up. At the Crawford avenue barns they even put pickets out so no one should go in, and that particular place is now wondering what happened, as we dare not go near it since it is on the injunction list. But we expect to see them soon at our office, as other have already done.

We had one experience at 77th and Vincennes avenue, when the manager came to see us; he asked us to organize his place, but we found out that the proprietor of that place was also the owner of four other places, all of which were on the injunction list. We promptly notified him that we would not organize that one unless he would agree to organize all of them; and after some pour parlez he agreed and they are now union houses.

The bait is on the hook and it starts to bite, we'll send you the fish as soon as we get it. The trouble in Chicago is that you loose so much time traveling around—one place being so far from the other—but we will have to make the best of it.

On June 3d, I attended the meeting of Local 865; the same day a committee, consisting of Sister Alexander, M. Miller and myself, went to the Riverview Park to settle some difficulty that had arisen there, everything being settled to our satisfaction.

On June 4th, I went to the depot to see Sister Elizabeth Maloney off on her trip to the convention, but I was unable to find her. I thought some segregationist had kidnapped her, but I received word that she alighted safely in Minneapolis. That same day I met Brothers Wheeler and Dillon, members of the Grievance Committee of the Chicago Federation of Labor, and we talked over the waiters' situation; they promised they would let me know when to meet them again, but although I went to see them on several occasions, I could never find them. I have heard since that they have sent a report to Sister Maloney.

On June 8th, I attended the cooks' picnic, which was a success. Brother J. Bliss, president of Local 872 of Milwaukee, and his family, honored us by their presence.

On the 7th, I attended the meeting of the L. J. B. The same day I had the pleasure of meeting Brother Hobby and also Brother Ed McEachern, and later, Brother Whissmore, of Cleveland, all on their way to the convention.

THE MIXER AND SERVER

The same night I attended an open meeting of Local 456 at which Brother Hobby was also present.

On the 8th, Sister C. Alexander and I met Mr. Jackson, owner of four lunch rooms, and made arrangements to sign them up. We returned there a few days later with Brother Ullmark, business agent of Local 35, and Mr. Jackson signed up. The next day the three of us went to see the manager of Father Dearborn's Lunch Room, but as one of the proprietors is soon going to retire, we will have to wait.

June 10th, I attended the meeting of Local 865; the same morning, Brother M. Miller and I went to Riverview Park to look after the interests of the cooks there. In the afternoon I journeyed to South Chicago to attend the meeting of Local 376, where I had the pleasure of meeting the boys from that live local. On my return I visited the chef and the cooks of the Midway Gardens. Brother Adamski, international organizer of the garment workers, having called on us to help him in having Mr. Marcus Ruben put the union label in cooks' clothes, we went there with a committee of Local 865, and I think it will bring the desired results.

On the 17th, attended a meeting of Local 865 at which nomination of officers were in order.

On the 21st, I attended the L. J. B. meeting; on the 22d, I journeyed to Milwaukee and met Brother Marot, business agent of Local 872. We went the rounds of the kitchens together and I found that that local is doing very nicely; they have sent many cooks to the summer resorts and had but one member out of work, which speaks well for that local.

On the 23d, I attended the meeting of their local at which I complimented them on their success.

On the 24th I returned to the Windy City, and in the evening attended the meeting of Local 865; this was election day, and I am giving you the results of it further down.

On the 25th I had the pleasure of meeting Bro. T. Farrell, of Cleveland. Today I went to see Mr. Hiler, who runs a lunch room, and he agreed to sign up tomorrow afternoon.

The following is the result of the election of Local 865: President, Martin Miller; vice-president, Jas. M. Haggerty; second vice-president, Martin Hanson; third vice-president, Chas. Zeitvogel; recording secretary, Aug. Palitsh; financial secretary and business agent, Al Stewart; treasurer, N. P. Christenson; trustees, Jas. M. Haggerty, Aug. Hegar, Martin Hanson; inspector, Frank Zeitvogel; inside guard, C. W. Marshall; press agent, Fred Ebeling; delegates to L. J. E. B., Jas. Haggerty, S. S. Stevens, Martin Miller.

The following is my expense account for the month:

June 22—Chicago to Milwaukee.....	$2 20
24—Milwaukee to Chicago.....	2 20
Jitney in Milwaukee (union).....	40
Telegram to headquarters	52
Telegram to Minneapolis	76
Phone for month.....	1 30
Postage for month.....	1 20
Car fare for month.....	8 10

Total.....$16 68

Fraternally submitted,

A. MARTEL
International Organizer.

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, June 25, 1915

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month:

May 30th, attended a meeting of Bartenders' Union of Bellaire.

June 2d sent to general office for charter and outfit for Bartenders' Union, Bridgeport and Martin's Ferry.

June 6th, attended a meeting of Local 350; addressed the meeting in the interest of buttons and labels and assisted the officers in their work.

My expense account for month:

June 4—To Cincinnati	7 66
5—To Vincennes	4 73
Telegrams	87
Baggage transferred	1 00
Car fare	1 50
Phone	80
Postage, typewriting, etc.....	2 72

Total$19 28

Yours fraternally,

THOS. J. DURNIN,
International Organizer.

COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO., June 26, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report from May 26th:

The latter part of May was taken up with work in Kansas City, working in conjunction with the representatives of the affiliated locals. Signed up several houses attended meetings of several trade unions, asking for their moral support, by refraining from patronizing such houses that did not display the house or bar card. I will say that this support was assured me in every instance.

June 3d, attended meeting of the L. J. E. B., where several matters of importance were transacted. Some of the restaurants in connection with bar-rooms have been very negligent in living up to their signed agreements, but with the co-operation of Bartenders' Local 420, these differences are being adjusted.

June 5th, attended meeting of Local 420, where a good many of the delinquent members were being reinstated.

On June 7th, with Delegates Hiles, Bailey, and Norton, left for San Francisco to attend the Eighteenth General Convention as delegate from Local 420.

On our way to the convention city, stopped off in Los Angeles and attended the meeting of Bartenders' Local 284. Short talks were made by Vice-President Steffler, Lyons, Schrimpf Wieseman and Baird of Local 51, also your humble servant.

On my return, stopped off at Salt Lake City, where I met representatives of Locals 721 and 815. Conditions in the city of the latter-day saints are better than in many other cities, notwithstanding the fact that Local 815 has to contend with a waiters' association, which I must say, Local 815 is doing its best to keep in the background. They have 52 restaurants and cafes signed up and displaying the card, and as for the bartenders' local, No. 721 has always been going to the front.

Fraternally yours,

JAS. H. ANDERSON,
International Organizer.

Digitized by Google

THE MIXER AND SERVER

17

LOS ANGELES, June 24, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—My report for the month follows:

I attended an interesting meeting of Bartenders' Local 188 Sunday, May 23, at which provisions were made for an outing, an annual affair of the organization. Considerable time was given to the discussion of union labels and the patronage of houses only fair to organized labor.

On the 27th I attended the meeting of the Cooks and Waiters, Local 209. This organization, which I was sent here to especially look after, is making progress slowly; its record for the month being 16 reinstatements and 15 new members. The meeting though slightly attended, was an enthusiastic one; so far the prospects are encouraging and we are hopeful that our next report will show greater gains.

The following Thursday, June 3, I spoke at the Iron City Central Trades Council, along trade union lines and again requested the support of all affiliated bodies in the building up of a culinary union co-equal with the Bartenders' Union, Local 188.

I left with the Pittsburg delegates June 6th and arrived at San Francisco June 12th.

The convention from my viewpoint was not only a success but also an important one for the preservation of the International Union.

The story of the proceedings will appear in this issue of the MIXER AND SERVER, and will be more interesting than any comment of mine on the same.

The delegation from Local 188 introduced several resolutions and they were favorably reported on by the committee and passed by the convention. The same will have a bearing in our efforts to better organize our crafts in the Smoky City.

With best wishes, I remain,

Fraternally yours,
JERE F. McCARTHY,
International Organizer.

CHICAGO, ILL., June 29, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month.

My last report left me in Columbus, where I remained for some time to complete, as far as possible, the work started. I have every reason to believe that henceforth the members of our allied crafts in Columbus will continue to strengthen their organization, until they are numbered among the strongest organized cities covered by the charter of our International Union.

From Columbus to Chicago to assist in the campaign of education and organization as mapped out by our General Executive Board at their last meeting.

The following is my expense account for the month:

Transportation, Columbus to Chicago....	$9 45
Transferring baggage	1 00
Postage	1 25
Car fare and telephone.....	1 00
Typewriting	1 50

Total $14 20

Yours fraternally,
FRED B. HOBBY.
International Organizer.

CINCINNATI, OHIO.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—In accordance with instructions, journeyed to San Francisco. After completing my work there, went to Bakersfield and San Bernardino.

The following is my expense account:
 June 8—Cincinnati to San Francisco
 (round-trip ticket) $70 25
 Sleeper to San Francisco 14 50
 Sleeper to Bakersfield (June 23) 2 00
 San Bernardino to Cincinnati (June 27). 12 75

Total $99 50

Respectfully submitted,
W. EDWARD HORNE,
International Organizer.

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, June 24, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month of June. My last report was written in the City of Waco, Texas, where I had just paid a visit to our local in that city.

On June 6th I went to Temple and met with our boys of Local 697 in that city. Having been elected as a delegate to our International Convention from my local, I left the city of Temple for the convention city, arriving there the evening of June 12th, where I met many representatives from the various locals of our International.

Realizing that all proceedings of the convention will be published in full in the next issue of the MIXER AND SERVER, I will refrain from entering into any of the details of the convention which is now a matter of history.

I left San Francisco on the 22d and, realizing the fact that it is now time for me to write my report for June, I am doing so from this city. But you will note that my report is short owing to the fact that most of our present month's stewardship was turned in at the convention.

Hoping that much good will result from the convention just closed and that we will be able to double our membership before our next convention, I am, with best wishes

Yours fraternally,

W. E. REYNOLDS,
International Organizer.

OAKLAND, CAL., June 26, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month of June:

From the 1st to the 5th, in the city of Spokane, Wash. Attended meetings of Culinary Workers' Local 400; Bartenders' Local 485, and the Central Labor Council. Culinary Local 400 is enjoying fairly good conditions, although the attendance at meetings is not what it should be. Bartenders' Local 485 is having a tough time keeping lined up; trade is simply fierce, and work is, of course, very scarce.

Other trades affiliated with the Central Council are meeting with as much trouble as our crafts are; in fact, a "labor revival" would do Spokane a lot of good. Bartenders' Local 485 are making strong efforts to stimulate interest among their members, and will no doubt succeed.

June 5th, left for Seattle and Tacoma, Wash. The Seattle bartenders are having a tough time keeping going. That city is already feeling the effects of the prohibition victory. The culinary locals are holding their own, but their officials are kept on the jump every minute of the day.

THE MIXER AND SERVER

Tacoma bartenders are also feeling discouraged, and the members are not giving their officers the assistance they should. The culinary boys and girls are in very good shape, in fact, the recent "Labor Forward Movement" conducted in Tacoma the past few months has benefited our crafts to a great extent.

June 12th, to San Francisco to attend the convention as a delegate of Culinary Local 400 of Spokane. Members of the International Union should secure a copy of the July MIXER AND SERVER and read the proceedings with care, especially the reports of the general president and general secretary-treasurer.

The following is my expense account:

June 5—Spokane to Seattle.....	$11 40
Sleeper	2 50
Car fare and telephone.....	2 65
Total.....	$16 55

Fraternally yours,

A. C. BECK,
International Organizer.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 27, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month of June:

May 28th, attended meeting of Waiters' Union, Local 2, of Brooklyn, N. Y. This session was packed to the doors. About September 1 Local 2 will be housed in an elaborate home on Cook street.

Went over to Bartenders' Union Local 70, to attend their meeting, but misfortune confronted us, owing to the fact that no quorum was present. However, we went over a few matters with the officers of Local 70.

May 29th, learned from Secretary A. W. Krause of Cooks' Union No. 381, that his organization, although not the largest in the United States, is enjoying the best of conditions and has no idle members. This fall Cooks' Union No. 381 will enter into an active organizing campaign.

June 4th, attended meeting of Bartenders' Union Local 3, of New York City. Local 3 will be on the top rung of the ladder before many moons.

June 6th, left this vicinity for San Francisco, to attend convention in that city, returning on June 27th.

The following is my expense account for the month:

Stationery and postage.....	$1 50
Telephone	1 20
Local and suburban car fare.....	2 00
Telegram	69

Total	$5 39
-------------	--------

Fraternally yours,
WILLIAM B. JOYCE,
International Organizer.

RENO, NEVADA, June 26, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—I beg to submit the following report:

Continued working in Sacramento, assisting the business agents of Locals 561 and 603. Attended regular meetings of both locals and of the Sacramento Labor Council; also assisted in advancing the organization of the Liberal Council (anti-prohibition).

Left Sacramento June 12th, to attend the Eighteenth General Convention in San Francisco. After adjournment of convention, under instructions from the general secretary, left San Francisco for Reno, Nevada by way of Sacramento, arriving in Reno June 24th.

My expense account is as follows:

June 12—Sacramento to San Francisco...	$2 50
23—San Francisco to Sacramento...	2 50
24—Sacramento to Reno.....	6 75
Baggage transfer	1 00
Telephone and telegrams.....	2 60
Postage	1 00

Total.....	$16 35
------------	---------

Yours fraternally,

F. E. MERRYFIELD,
International Organizer.

GREAT FALLS, MONT., June 25, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is submitted as my report for the month of June:

On the 1st, went to Havre to attend court hearing on 10 o'clock closing and local option law; 2d, returned to Great Falls; 3d, went to Helena to meet with the officers of Cooks' and Waiters' Union. Evening of 3d, went to Butte to attend a special meeting of Bartenders' Union No. 302; 4th, addressed mass meeting of brewery workers of Butte; 5th, with M. M. Donoghue, president of Montana State Federation of Labor, went to Missoula. We interviewed hotel men regarding employment of our members. Night of the 5th, addressed a special meeting of Cooks' and Waitresses' Union of Missoula; 6th (morning), addressed a joint meeting of cooks, waiters, bartenders and brewery workers; 9th, went to Sand Point; 10th, to Spokane. From Spokane, went to San Francisco, Cal., to attend our national convention, where I was employed during the session as assistant secretary; 22d, returned to Spokane; 23d, to Helena; 24th, to Great Falls. Business in this section is very quiet and we have our own army of unemployed to contend with, consequently, I would advise members contemplating a visit to Montana, to prepare themselves for disappointment if they come seeking employment.

Following is my expense account for the part of month reported:

June 1—To Havre	$4 30
2—To Great Falls	4 30
3—To Helena	3 40
3—To Butte	2 90
5—To Missoula	4 25
9—To Sand Point	5 30
10—To Spokane	2 10
23—Spokane to Helena and sleeper.	12 85
24—To Great Falls.....	3 40
Postage, street car fare and telephone....	1 80

Total.....	$44 60
------------	---------

Fraternally yours,

J. P. McGINLEY,
International Organizer.

OMAHA, NEB., June 27, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Find enclosed my report for the month of June.

I have been working on the culinary workers.

and am in hopes that I will be able to secure enough names to send for a cooks' charter next week. My last meeting was not as well attended as I had every reason to expect, but then this is Omaha.

Following are my expenses for the month of June:

Printing for mass meeting of cooks.....	$ 2 50
Distributing same	1 50
Hall rent for three meetings.....	3 00
Local car fare and phone.....	1 00
Postage for month.....	60

Total..... $8 60

Yours fraternally,
BEN GORTON,
International Organizer.

DETROIT, MICH., June 29, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—My report for the last month is as follows:

On May 25th I attended the meeting of Local 526; we initiated four new candidates and I made a short talk on "The Attendance of Meeting."

Wednesday, May 26th, I attended the meeting of the Detroit Federation of Labor.

On Sunday, May 30, went to Toledo on the boat excursion given under the auspices of Local 562, and while in Toledo I visited the headquarters of Local 216 and was informed that Local 216 was holding its own in their battle with the Hotel and Restaurant Keepers' Association, and organized labor in Toledo is backing our boys in good shape; our boys expect to come out victorious.

On June 1st I attended the meeting of Local 562, and we initiated five more candidates; officers were nominated at this meeting and will be elected on June 29th.

June 3d, I visited the meeting of Beer Wagon Drivers, Local 38, and delivered an address on the union label and the monthly working button.

June 5th I attended the convention of the Michigan Labor Anti-Prohibition League, held in Bay City, and I am pleased to state that it was a very enthusiastic gathering and feel confident that this league will do some good work in the big wet and dry fight that is to take place this fall. The next convention of this organization will be held two days prior to the opening of the convention of the Michigan State Federation of Labor, which will be held in Traverse City during the third week in September, 1915.

My expense account is as follows:

June 5—Detroit to Bay City and return..	$ 4 60
Local car fare.....	1 50
Stationery and postage.....	1 40

Total..... $7 50

Yours fraternally,
JOSH BRADY,
International Organizer.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., June 24, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month of June:

May 28th, attended the meeting of the San Francisco Labor Council.

June 1st, to San Rafael; meeting of Local 542 was held in the afternoon and had adjourned on my arrival.

June 3d, to Oakland, and with business agent of Local 31, tried to unionize a cafeteria.

June 5th, to Richmond. Attended meeting of Local 595; attendance was fair.

June 9th, with General President Edward Flore and Vice-President John W. Conley, attended the regular meeting of Waitresses' Local 48.

The following is my expense account for the month:

June 1—To San Rafael and return.....	$ 50
3—To Oakland and return.....	20
5—To Richmond and return.....	50
Car fare	2 50
Phone	1 75
Postage	1 75

Total $7 20

Yours fraternally,
F. SESMA,
International Organizer.

BY A HAIR.

She had run down to New York for a week to get ideas and material for the work she had taken up when a turn of fortune's wheel had changed her over night from a petted girl to a penniless woman. Her business completed, she found time for a little visit with a woman friend.

"Last night," she laughed, "I had a narrow escape from a serious attack of the blues. You know what a nasty, drizzly day it was. It was just dinner time, and I was tired out with the day's shopping, when I found myself in front of the Uppertendom on the avenue. In our palmy days father and I were fond of dining there when we were in the city, and I was seized with an uncontrollable longing to have my dinner in the familiar place, to sit down to a well-appointed table and be served.

"I had very little money left. I was shabby and bedraggled, and I know I didn't belong there; but before I knew it I found myself seated inside. I ordered a Spanish mackerel, rolls and coffee—I knew I couldn't have much. As the waiter carved the fish and handed me a portion I noticed a hair on one end of it, trailing off on the platter, but I was too downcast and disheartened to make a fuss, and meekly accepted the situation.

"I ate and enjoyed it. My spirits began to rise in the comfortable room, among well-dressed, well-bred people, and the well-cooked food and delicious hot coffee gradually restored my self-esteem. By the time I was ready for more fish I felt like a different person.

"The waiter sprang forward to uncover the platter when I caught sight of the hair which I had entirely forgotten, and I asked him what he meant by serving such a dish in such a condition. He was very apologetic, but said he could do nothing about it.

"Call the head waiter," I commanded.

"He came, and was apologetic and obsequious to the last degree. He begged me to allow him to bring me something else; but I said no, I could not wait; I had ordered only that because I was pressed for time. The two men retired to a respectful distance, and I coolly drew on my gloves while I waited for the check. Neither man made a move, so I got up. Both rushed forward to help me with my coat and bowed me out with renewed apologies. I walked out and was not asked to pay a cent.

"Well, I laughed all the evening over my escapade, and the blues receded to such a distance that I don't think they will trouble me again for a long time."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

THE FORUM

THE KICK.

The energy, persistence and enthusiasm with which the boy invests his act of pedal force in propulsion of the tin can will recall to his elders their own joy in this exercise in their youth, and even lead them to sly renewal of the fun—say, just for one kick or two.

The kick comes naturally to us. The infant is more likely to use the foot than the hand in earliest aggressive action and to display more energy in getting the big toe to the mouth than a finger to the eye. In this use of the feet we merely follow an instinct come down to us through the ages from our ancestry in the hairy, furry, gorilla-faced quadruman who used the toes as much as the fingers in grubbing for a living and in contention with other animals that could not stand erect to combat his powerful hands and horny feet.

As our species commenced wearing sandals, ages after sloughing off the anthropoid, our feet lost much of their original toughness, and so the inclination to thrust things out of the way by the kick must have lessened and gradually reached a minimum, until, in Acts ix, 5, we note the early figure of speech diverting thought from the actual physical kick to that of the mentality and verbal expression in opposition to conditions.

With the introduction of boots in later centuries man, no doubt, re-acquired the habit of the kick, either for convenience or for mere sport, as in football, or in the fight. In many ways the word has been adapted to synonymy in our colloquialisms upon life—upon actions from the cradle to the grave. Thus we have to "kick the bucket," the word bucket in this application meaning a wooden skewer passed behind the tendons of the slaughtered pig's hind legs in suspension. Devotees of ardent spirits, yearning for the "kick" to come from drink, may hark back to the recoil of the fowling piece against the tender armpit.

Coming down, or ascending, to the kick as a form of thought and expression against conditions we may deem adverse to our comfort or our financial or political environments, we find kickers frequently referred to with contempt, even by those who themselves might be so classed; and we often hear it said of a person that "he's got no kick comin'."

Now, the fact is that we all at times have a kick coming and a good right to it. But for the kick and the kicker there would be no progress in our conditions in many ways, physical or intellectual; in our day and country there would be no court of last resort in the ballot box—no chance to arrest outrageous taxation in the present or overwhelming bond issues for the future to suffer. As we look around and listen, with these thoughts at hand, we will find that it is the grafting politician more than any other class of people who object to the kick. And so, let us keep on kicking.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

PROHIBITION PHANTASIES.

By E. D. SKINNER.

My attention has been called to a recent psalm of thanksgiving offered up by one of the tribe, because "prohibition is putting the liquor dealers out of business." The author quotes a table of figures showing how much spirituous liquor was distilled last year, compares this with the year before, shows a decrease for last year, and then jumps up and claps his hands and cries, "Hurrah! Prohibition is putting the liquor dealers out of business."

It's a wonder that nobody thought of anything like this regarding the diamond industry, many years ago, when there was such a startling decrease in the visible supply of those precious gems immediately following the famous consolidation of the various independent companies of South Africa by Barney Banato and Cecil Rhodes.

Now it so happens that I was "back there" when the national distillers' association met in Louisville, Ky., and ordered a curtailment in production "for the purpose of equalizing the visible supply with the prevalent demand, for the benefit of the trade." Exact statistics were presented at this meeting showing that considerable more liquor was being distilled each year than was being consumed, and that this overproduction must eventually glut the market and destroy it, unless something was done, but there was certainly nothing said at that meeting about the "prohibitionists putting the liquor dealers out of business." There was a little row following this action of the convention and for a time some of the distillers refused to obey its arbitrary order to cut down their yearly production, but, eventually they "saw the light" of their own personal interests, and all obeyed.

Prohibitionists are such a sanctified lot of mortals that it would be something akin to actual sacrilege to accuse one of them of intentional dishonesty, so I must presume that my friend has not read or heard of the last government report regarding the amount of liquor consumed during the past year in the United States. If he had, his heart might have been gladdened by the knowledge that there was a small decrease in the per capita consumption of the heavier spirituous liquors, but his prohibition fanaticism would have found little consolation in the accompanying fact that there was also a proportionate increase in the per capita consumption of the lighter wines and beers.

Again, my friend rehashes the time-honored statement that "the licensed saloon enveiles the youth of our land within its doors and teaches him the habit that ruins his life and forever damns his soul, so that the liquor dealers' family can wear diamonds."

"Now, please, mister, don't!" I was born in a prohibition town; I took my first drink in a prohibition town and I know that it wasn't any "licensed saloon" that started me on the "road to ruin." In fact, I don't really know that I am on the road to ruin, for I haven't "got there" yet, although I am confident that I would have been finished long ago if I had remained there, for that prohibition "whiskey" was certainly the deadliest poison that I have ever tackled.

And then, there is the prohibition State of Maine! I had a long talk once, with a man who had been in the business in that State and he told me some wonderful tales about the amount of "bootlegging" that is going on there. Now, how in the world do you suppose those people ever succeeded in getting a taste cultivated for the "poison" without a licensed saloon to "enveigle" them into it?

If my friend can discover a people, civilized or savage, who have no taste for any kind of an intoxicating beverage, he can get a medal from the Smithsonian Institute and become famous.

Is there a reason? Many years ago my stomach, which was naturally weak, went on a strike. At that time I had been for about eight years the next thing to a total abstainer. For the next year and a half I "petted" my recalcitrant stomach according to the latest revised, amended and improved laws of hygiene, and during that time I never tasted any kind of intoxicating liquor. Then I lost a fair opportunity to get on in the world. I was physically "down and out" and absolutely unfit for anything. Like many another blamed fool, I turned to "the cup that cheers, to drown my sorrow." Then I discovered that I could eat a hearty meal without discomfort if I was properly "loaded." For a long time I never ate a meal without my beer, and my stomach trouble disappeared. For fifteen years I have been physically able to do a man's daily labor. No one deprecates the real evils of actual intemperance more than I do; but whenever any fanatic attempts to forbid me that which was life to me, then I "get hostile." These are facts, and I didn't get "them out of the almanac," either.

Is there a reason? Bob Burdette was one of four or five of the world's greatest humorists until he discovered that he could get along just as well without his morning "eye opener." After that he was a very lovable old preacher, but he didn't disturb the mental equilibrium of the civilized universe to any startling degree.

It is recorded that Daniel Webster drank a pitcher of whiskey while he was delivering his famous "reply to Hayne" and this supreme effort of our greatest parliamentarian still ranks as the world's forensic masterpiece. The thought of the two succeeding days that were required by him in recovering from his "souse" are not particularly inspiring, but the question arises: Would even his great brain have been capable of that master effort if it had not been driven by a powerful stimulant?

Of course, my prohibition friend will tell me of men who have been mentally active all their lives and who have been total abstainers. I will go him one better: I was once somewhat acquainted with a man whose name was known throughout the civilized world and I believe that that man had never known even the taste of liquor. But I also learned that there was a difference between his nervously active mind and some of those heavier brains that must be driven to get results. His somewhat excitable brain had to be soothed and restrained to prevent its "flying off at a tangent," but the weightier parts of some of the heavier brains have to be driven at top speed or they fail to act. What is one man's meat is another man's poison.

The vast empire of our great West was conquered, tamed and given to us by a race of notoriously hard drinkers. History records no such achievement for any race of "grape juice fanatics." Is there a reason?

Too much can not be said against the real evils of actual intemperance. The evils are very real and the demand for a remedy very urgent. Let's fight the real evils with might and main. But let's make it a sane fight for real temperance rather than a fanatical agitation for a manifest absurdity.

Let's have mental temperance as well as liquid temperance.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., June 25, 1915.
Jere L. Sullivan, Secretary-Treasurer International Union, Cincinnati, Ohio:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Inclosed you will find a copy of editorial in this week's Labor Clarion. In this section it will pave the way for better harmony and co-operation between the members of our allied crafts. If you can use it in the MIXER AND SERVER, it may serve the same purpose among our friends in the East.

After a time I hope to see that all who formerly set their hope in segregation will realize the futility of further efforts in that direction. The prohibition issue will force us all to get together for mutual and effective self-preservation.

Permit me to take this opportunity to express my personal thanks for the skill and consideration shown by the present administration in avoiding unnecessarily to wound or offend those who differed with it in the convention regarding the best policies to be pursued by our organization. This will go a long way to re-establish the mutual confidence and friendly relationship that the movement for segregation threatened to destroy.

You won a clean-cut and decisive victory, and I hope in achieving it you may acknowledge that you have had fair antagonists who knew when they were beaten and yielded gracefully to the will of the majority. That, in fact, was all that the segregationists here in the West wanted—a chance to submit their case to the general membership. With the changed attitude of former advocates of segregation, it is now apparent that if submitted now the question of segregation would be defeated by the general membership.

It follows that if all who participated in the recent convention are sincere in their wishes to further with all their might the interests of the allied crafts, it will be their first duty to forget past differences and henceforth work unitedly to achieve the fundamental objects of our movement, organization and efficiency.

In the sincere hope that mutual confidence and better co-operation be established and that a real get-together spirit may result as the main achievement of the Eighteenth General Convention, I remain,

Fraternally and sincerely,
THEODORE JOHNSON,
Delegate of Local 30.

THE ALLIED CRAFTS' CONVENTION.

It is seldom that organized workers of the West have had such good opportunity to study and understand the methods of the leaders of our great international organizations as during the convention of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees and Bartenders, which came to a close last Friday evening in the Civic Auditorium in this city.

It was a convention replete with sharp and decisive parliamentary combats, lavish social entertainment, and the final enactment of substantial legislation in the interest of the allied crafts.

After a splendid ceremonial opening, there followed one day of storm and excitement, after which the rest of the convention was spent in earnest work, winding up with a perfect shower of good feeling and expressions of mutual esteem.

When Chairman Michael Canny presented President Edward Flore with a gavel of California redwood, neither he nor the opposition delegates expected immediately to receive a warning that unless the minority bowed completely to the will of the majority as personified in the presiding officer, short shrift would be made of the opposition.

Under such conditions, it need occasion no surprise that no segregation delegate was appointed on either the committee on credentials or on the committee on rules and order of business. Nor need one wonder why the president refused to recognize delegates raising points of order, or why he ignored requests for information concerning the methods of transacting business. It seemed that on the main question before the convention, relating to segregation of the allied crafts into separate internationals, the majority was very reluctant to be put on record. According to the rules of the convention, it required a majority vote of the delegates to obtain a roll-call. An entire day was used up in establishing this fact. After the minority understood the situation it subsided gracefully, and the rest of the time of the convention was devoted to the consideration of the various proposals for legislation affecting the vital interests of the membership.

The following is a brief resume of the action of the convention on important propositions, which in cases of adoption become the law of the international union sixty days after the adjournment of the convention.

Committee on Asiatics recommended adoption of a resolution fining members for patronizing any establishment owned or operated in part by Asiatics, forbidding members to work with Asiatics, and that no house card, button or emblem be displayed in places where Asiatics are working. After lengthy debate the resolution was adopted, but leaving the enforcement of the provision relating to working with Asiatics in the hands of the local union involved and the local joint executive board.

Convention adopted a resolution establishing minimum monthly dues as follows: Male members, $1; female members, 75 cents.

Convention approved the method of employing legislative agents to oppose attempts to enact sumptuary legislation.

Convention went on record in favor of local unions establishing a sick benefit fund, under the principle of an equal amount of dues entitling a member to an equal amount of benefits.

Section 24 of the International constitution, relating to dual clubs and unions, occasioned an extensive debate. It was the general sense that the section should remain on the books; that its enforcement is a local question, and that locals enforcing it are entitled to financial assistance from the International union.

The convention refused to change the system of voting on local joint boards.

A resolution was adopted compelling local unions to audit their books quarterly and to file a copy of the audit with the general president within thirty days after the expiration of each quarter.

Holders of traveling cards failing to deposit same within sixty days after issue may be fined instead of being suspended.

Convention went on record forbidding any higher initiation fee than $50.

Convention refused to adopt a resolution interpreting the constitution as offering no obstacle to segregation, whenever accomplished in conformity with the laws of the A. F. of L.

Salaries of the general president and the general secretary-treasurer were increased from $200 and $225 to $225 and $250, respectively.

Convention went on record as opposed to the licensing of cooks or other crafts affiliated with the International union.

On recommendation of the committee on resolutions, the general executive board was instructed to make a special effort to organize all the crafts in Chicago.

A resolution, introduced by delegates from Seattle, sought to instruct the delegates to the A. F. of L. convention to put that body on record in favor of securing the shorter workday by legislative enactment. After some fireworks by delegates from Washington, the secretary moved to amend the resolution by instructing the delegates to support the declaration on the subject adopted by the Seattle convention of the A. F. of L. The convention adopted the amendment by a vote of 97 to 82.

A number of resolutions were adopted in the interest of the crafts in opposition to prohibition, and numerous suggestions made to enlist the support of the labor movement on the question.

The committee on ways and means recommended, and the convention adopted, a suggestion that local unions set aside a part of their income as a convention fund, for the purpose of sending delegates to the conventions.

The officers submitted voluminous reports covering all matters of general interest, and containing numerous proposals for legislation, which latter were presented and favored by the respective committees to which they were referred. The convention concurred in all such proposals.

The incumbent officers were all re-elected. The only opposition manifested was in the case of a vice-president from California and the woman vice-president from Chicago. Local dissatisfaction accounts in each case for the said opposition, but the result was never in doubt, as the said officers had the united support of the administration.

It is apparent that the segregation sentiment has received its final quietus. This is due mainly to a change of sentiment among the bartenders, who at previous conventions have been the mainstay of that movement. At this convention the policy was favored mainly by culinary unions, who are but recent converts, and who favored it simply from motives of sympathy for bartenders who claim to have been roughly handled by the men at the helm. Of course, if the bartenders have experienced a change of heart in regard to segregation, it is manifest that there is no longer any inducement for culinary workers to sacrifice themselves and their own best interests for the sake of the bartenders. Hence, it is expected that future conventions of this international union will become a unit on matters of fundamental policy, and that there exists no longer any divided sentiment on the subject of segregating the allied crafts.—Labor Clarion, San Francisco, Friday, June 25, 1915.

LOYAL CITIZENSHIP AND PROHIBITION FANATICISM.

(Places, dates and people mentioned in this editorial are taken from real life. The principal characters are honored and respected citizens of Cincinnati, Ohio, and have contributed materially to her prestige.—Editor.)

The United States is fast becoming a country of tragedies.

In spite of the fact that the writers of the Constitution thought they were safeguarding the rights and privileges of the present and generations to come, tragedies in the lives of its citizens have been occurring with greater frequency in more recent years.

Salem, Mass., made a world-wide reputation for itself when it burned women upon the plausible plea of avowed "agitators" and straight-laced Puritans.

The Puritans and their followers thought they were right, but civilization and the bone and sinew of the United States have proven conclusively to the world that they were a coterie of poor, benighted souls who would ride to kingdom come in the proverbial fiery chariot.

Even today we find that, while burning on the funeral pyre and the use of the gibbet for witchcraft are no longer practiced, there is another form of murder quite as rampant as in those days when superstition and bigotry held full sway in benighted districts.

It is difficult, indeed, to tear aside the coverings of one's heart and show the innermost secrets, the ambitions, the love, the hate and the inevitable love of life to the gaze of a busy people.

And yet, in this twentieth century, tragedies which would put the witch burners to shame are being enacted in the guise of better living and the suppression of the traffic in liquor.

We herewith give to the world the life-story of one single man; we give to the world, the love, the hate, the ambitions and the accomplishments of a single atom which has gone to make up the cosmopolitan population of the United States for nearly a century.

A century of citizenship which has not cost the government of the United States, the state or the municipality one cent insofar as it applies to furnishing correctional institutions or maintaining homes for paupers.

Some seventy-five years ago one of the houses of McManus, long established in the beautiful isle of Ireland, listened to the call of the western world, and there was a transplanting of a branch of that family upon the hospitable shores of the Land of the Brave and the Home of the Free.

A master in woodcraft, his art at once became useful to those who had gone before. Versed in the making of casks for the containing of manufactures, he at once became a valued citizen, and his progeny thrived and multiplied.

For almost four score years has this branch of McManus contributed to the wealth of the land.

No occasion for the building and maintaining of institutions to take over any imbeciles or criminals in the McManus family. They were all loyal and valuable component parts of a government which has grown to be the greatest upon which God's sunshine smiles.

In that isle noted for its shamrock and known as the Emerald Isle the McManuses were skilled artisans. As father, so the son: coopers and hewers of the stave. All became masters in their chosen work. Each branch became the head of his own home.

In 1866 there was born to two of the earlier pioneers a son, and in time he became quite as skilled as his father before him in the art of cooperage, when cooperage was an art and not so much a question of machinery.

In due course of time there came to bless a union of himself and a pretty lass nine children, six of whom are still living, honored and respected citizens of this great commonwealth. Three have passed to that country from whence no traveler returns.

The sweetheart of many decades ago placed her trust and love in the keeping of a McManus, believing that an artisan skilled in the making of barrels and casks would surely be able to care for her and theirs.

The remuneration for the skilled cooper was not the equal of many other professions or trades, and yet it sufficed to give those children with whom they were blessed the benefits of the schools and institutions maintained by coopers and other artisans.

Like millions of other workers, McManus hated that the children born to his household should become useful citizens.

With the advent of each little one the burden became heavier. With the demand upon his labor ever on the increase, did McManus or his sweet-heart of younger days falter and stumble?

No! They were of a stock which never knew the word fear or cowardice. They were of such which has prevailed to hold the great institution of the United States intact. They paid their taxes, they paid their rent, they paid every penny which the government demanded.

Today the house of McManus is faced with a problem such as confronted those poor women burned for witchcraft in Salem. Today they are confronted with a condition which tries the souls of men and women.

Confronted with the alternative of becoming dependents of charity, objects of derision, and placed in the category of down-and-outers, the voices of the wife and husband may well become husky and tinged with a grieving sorrow.

After having given nine children to society and to the material welfare of the land of their choice, the land in which their all has its existence, they rightfully are entitled to ask: What have we done that we should be martyrs to the cause of fanaticism?

Has not the house of McManus done its full share toward society; have not the pains and tribulations of the mother of nine earned at least some consideration from humanity? Has not the father who toiled at a pittance in early day and later for a wage which would barely bring in the necessities of life, the right to query, as he glances in the mirror and sees the silvery hair: What have we done that we should be placed in the pillory or placed upon the funeral pyre?

THE MIXER AND SERVER

And yet such is what hundreds of thousands of God-fearing men and women are facing today. Taking away their means of livelihood guaranteed under the Constitution to which they have been loyal and faithful subjects for all these decades.

In the sere and yellow time of life, what can this expert cooper turn his hand to? Who is there to minister to the wants of that sweetheart of all these years?

Let their children supply the home?

Let their progeny assume the care of father and mother?

You might quite as well say that the state or the municipality should pay into the hand of the house of McManus a pension sufficient to give or supply all their reasonable wants and necessities until they pass to the Great Beyond.

The advocates of the temperance question fail to use the periscope of humanity; they glue their eye to the periscope of fanaticism and blindly begin to destroy. They fail to see the wreckage and loss of life which their wantonness brings to millions.

Spending their all for education and a better life, the house of McManus has not laid up that "nest egg" for the proverbial rainy day. No, the apples of their eye had all the love, affection and privileges lavished upon them, that they might continue the house of McManus when the patriots and workers of decades ago have gone to their forefathers.

The heartstrings of McManus may be tuned to the key of desperation; those heartstrings may be keyed to the breaking point, and those who would put on a tension which would reach the breaking point have up to the present time failed most ignominiously to suggest how the lives of the house of McManus and millions of others may continue to be numbered among our most industrious and honored citizens.

It is all very well to take a man and woman who have reached the ripe and sere years of a well-spent life, transplant them into the middle of a great industrial desert, and then prayerfully and sanctimoniously inform them that they are at liberty to eat their fill of cactus and sage brush.

What has been said of the house of McManus applies equally to many kindred crafts. There are millions of houses of sorrow and worry, where there should be sunshine and gladness.

Those who would take the life of McManus have no solution and have nothing tangible to suggest when they cut down the trees which have been the sustaining power in our civic, industrial and church life.

Like the burners of women at Salem, Mass., they are obsessed with but a single idea, and that idea has made them monomaniacs upon a single subject.

Iconoclastic to the last degree, they fail to build where they wreck. Millions of men and women today owe their well-being to the house of McManus.

McManus, as a cooper, never did an injury knowingly or wittingly to a human being, much less to the life of those who depend upon civilization for an existence.

The tragedies of life do not come from the committing of crime quite as frequently as they emanate from the fanatics.

There is one all-powerful motive back of taking the life-bread from the house of McManus.

That has to do with the same motives which prompted the burning of women by the same kind of fanatics, who would now starve millions of men and women.

The house of McManus will go down, and millions of others will go the same way, so long as the advocates of the "dry" propaganda have their way.

Sumptuary laws come from the classes, and witchcraft today is being practiced by the men who would force upon the workers a law that would add to the distress of millions and put witchcraft and its believers in power.—The Chronicle.

Cincinnati, May 22, 1915.

THE GROWING NEED OF ORGANIZING FROM THE BOTTOM UP.

The following article is by John Bookjans, Local 106, Cleveland, Ohio.

This international union has as yet attained but comparatively meager success in the organization of catering employees in large cities and especially of those working in large, corporatively-owned hotels and restaurants. The bulk of our membership is still being recruited from the employes of small, privately-owned saloons, lunch counters, and restaurants; from the employes of parks and summer resorts; and from such other catering workers as eke out a living from casual employment at dances, weddings, dinners, and similar affairs. Even in towns where we have succeeded in establishing some sort of a scale of hours and wages, we only, in rare instances, control hotels and restaurants under corporate management. The same reason which accounts for the lack of organization among employes of large, corporatively-owned hotels and restaurants serves as an explanation for the unorganized condition of what have been called "culinary workers" and for the preponderance among the members of this international union of bartenders. The lesser difficulty encountered in organizing bartenders results from the fact that the whole make-up of our International Union reflects the primitive needs of this class of catering workers and that it largely ignores the needs of cooks, waiters, and other employes of large hotels and restaurants, such as in a growing measure are being regarded as representative of the workers in our industry. But what has been said here of bartenders is true in an equal degree of other catering employes working under no less primitive conditions, provided no other circumstances, such as youth, for example, intervene to modify the application of this principle.

How otherwise can we explain, for instance, that in cities like New York and Chicago, where many years ago we succeeded in establishing the nuclei of cooks' and waiters' unions, the membership of which is almost exclusively composed of workers depending for a living upon extra jobs, we make no progress in organizing the employes of large hotels and restaurants. Our organizations of cooks and waiters in these two cities seem to be in a stagnant condition, unable as well to die as to grow.

The trouble lies with the fact that the tactics and methods of organization employed by this international union no longer conform to the needs of the vast majority of catering workers. The conditions of the catering workers are no longer what they used to be and they continue in a constant process of change. One may reasonably assume that not even its pioneers will dispute this International Union to have come into existence with the employes of small, privately-owned saloons and eating places. Before corporations and trusts entered the field, the entire catering business was being conducted on a small scale. In recent years, however, both hotels and restaurants, low-priced as well as high-priced, are being conducted on an ever-growing scale. Thus we have today chains of hotels and restaurants under corporative control.

How changes in the catering business affect the conditions of the workers and their susceptibility to organization may perhaps best be illustrated by the history of some local union of waiters. Waiters are in many respects typical of the entire group of catering workers because of their being employed for the most part in larger number than any other craft and because of their working often under the most advanced capitalist conditions. The employment of large numbers of workers in one establishment tends to efface individual peculiarities of character, and thus to make for solidarity. By co-operating with one another in large numbers the workers unconsciously develop a sense of their own importance and power. In the case of waiters, however, these advantages are partially counteracted by the tipping system, which has a tendency to undermine every scale of hours and of wages, as well as all other restrictions placed upon proprietors for the protection of the workers.

For nearly fourteen years the writer has more or less continuously held membership in the Cleveland Waiters' Union, Local 106. This organization came into existence some four or five years previous to my becoming a member of it. During the fourteen years of membership in Local 106, I have had ample opportunity for observing the great changes that have gradually insinuated themselves not only into the conditions of a waiter's employment, but also into the organization.

Fourteen years ago the Cleveland Waiters' Union, Local 106, was yet practically in its swaddling clothes. Its membership, which was less than half what it is today, found employment for the most part in small, privately-owned restaurants, such as now employ girls, so far as they have withstood the brunt of competition with the more economically managed serve-self lunch rooms. Others, again, worked in parks in the summer, and at dances, dinners, banquets, etc., in the winter. Yet, it is the type of restaurant which now employs girls, that gave employment to the bulk of our membership throughout the year.

The conditions prevailing in this class of restaurants gave rise to the problems which this organization was called upon, from time to time, to solve. The nature of these problems shaped the form and the policy of the organization. The form and policy of the organization at that time were correct because of their sufficiency to cope with the problems calling them forth. They remained correct as long as they reflected the needs of most of our members. The needs of our members are determined by the conditions of their employment. The conditions of our employment, then, serve us as a criterion from which to judge whether or not an organization is abreast of the times. Let us try to ascertain the relationship between the conditions of our employment and our methods of organization in the past.

The restaurants that gave employment to the bulk of members in former years were conducted for the most part on a small scale, by persons who, more often than not, had themselves risen from the ranks of the wage-workers, upon whom also they depended for patronage. In many cases the proprietor himself worked either in the kitchen or on the floor and did not disdain to chum with his employees. The proprietor had not yet forgotten how it feels to work, and his employes hoped, with more reason than we today, of some day becoming proprietors themselves. This state of things made it possible for employer and employee to look upon one another as fellow human beings.

The nucleus of an organization once formed, it was comparatively easy, under these circumstances, to organize the waiters or any other craft affiliated with the local joint executive board, by merely appealing to the proprietor. The owners of restaurants had a few reasons themselves that partially, if not fully, compensated them for trifling concessions made by way of an increase in wages or a reduction in working hours. An employe, for instance, who through sickness or other causes, failed to report for duty, could be replaced with comparative ease by a mere telephone call to the union headquarters. Also, a union house card lent some luster to the reputation of a restaurant patronized largely by working people. Because of this fact it was possible, in case where the proprietor was slow in comprehending that his interests consisted in conducting a union house, to help on his process of thinking considerably by a veiled hint at the boycott.

When the stubborn refusal of a restaurant-keeper to treat with the union resulted in an open break between the two parties, the organization in the ensuing struggle attached more importance to the boycott than to the strike, inasmuch as the few employes of such an establishment could be replaced with comparative ease, while much could be gained by an appeal to the patrons, because of their being either workers themselves or people who, by reason of their traditions or their position in society, were capable of sympathizing with the cause of the workers.

One thing, however, was certain, namely, that no matter whether an employer willingly consented to conduct a union house from the moment it was proposed to him, or whether he had to be persuaded, coerced, threatened, or even forced by a boycott into doing so, his employes, as a rule, were not consulted in the deal. The officers of the union presented the agreement, the employer signed (if it were not a mere verbal understanding), and directly or indirectly imparted to the men and women in his employ the information that henceforth their job would depend upon their joining the union. The employes of such a restaurant were thus led to look upon the affair as a sort of conspiracy between the boss and the business agent to levy upon them a tribute for the privilege of working. Instead of seeing a causal connection between membership in a union and higher wages, shorter hours, and improved working and living conditions, cooks, waiters, waitresses, bartenders, and other employees of restaurants inclined rather to regard the organization as a means to provide sinecures for officers, however, little further investigation might have borne out such an assumption.

It is not my purpose to palliate the misdeeds of some local union officers. If we assume that all men are selfish, the wrongs of individuals in the labor movement must be explained from the apathy of the rank and file. Owing to the apathy of the rank and file—an apathy that was born from the still paternal relations existing between employer and employee—it fell upon the shoulders of the chief officer of an organization, assisted by a few others at times, to settle all differences with employers. If he succeeded in securing from employers terms that favored the organization, he was lauded to the skies, where otherwise, he met with universal condemnation. Besides the officers, but very few took an active interest in the organization, for the all-sufficient reason that the members had had no share in its making. The average worker is interested, not in an organization that has been forced upon him and the purpose of which he does not understand, but in such a one as has sprung from his own needs and the building of which has been partly his own work. But the need for organization in former years was less apparent because of the more personal and harmonious relations existing between employer and employee.

(To be concluded in a future number.)

HOW BILLY SUNDAY BRINGS RELIGION AND REASONS WHY.

In the "Salvation Circus," George Creel Analyzes the Speaker's Motive as Well as Methods.

"HOW GOD WAS BROUGHT TO COLORADO"

Assuming That All Poverty and Distress Was Caused By Liquor, Sunday Was Able To Divert Attention From the Industrial Issue and Help the Operators "Put One Over."

"Salvation Circus," an estimate of Billy Sunday, is the title of a remarkable article in Harper's Weekly by George Creel. Mr. Creel not only describes the methods employed by Sunday but dissects and defines some of the motives for these sensational revivals in a way that presents many questions for careful consideration.

Here are a few excerpts from the "Salvation Circus":

In the summer of 1914, "Billy" Sunday went to Colorado and conducted a series of revivals that "brought religion" to thousands. The whole State swam in glory.

At the time of his coming, a coal strike was in progress. Some twenty-four thousand men, women and children were huddled in tents on the mountain side, enduring cold and hunger as a protest against low wages, broken laws, swindling tricks and unbearable living conditions. A few months before, mine guards had attacked the colony at Ludlow, and among those who lost their lives were nursing mothers and helpless little ones.

The people of Colorado were aroused as never before. An election was to be held in November, and the strike was the one big issue. By stubborn refusal to confer with the strikers, even informally, the operators had cost Colorado over $25,000,000, while their importation of machine guns and gun-men had stained the state with blood and shame. It seemed a certainty that the voters would destroy the coal oligarchy.

Billy's Moral Backers.

The men who invited "Billy" Sunday to come to Colorado, who raised the money for his revivals, were the men whose lawlessness had precipitated the strike, and whose arrogance was responsible for the policy of extermination adopted toward the strikers by the operators.

Not once throughout his stay in Colorado did "Billy" Sunday denounce the greeds and injustices that had made despairing rebels of thousands of working men. He did not mention Ludlow. He went entirely upon the assumption the source of all poverty and all distress was to be found in "booze." Morning, noon and night he attacked the Demon Rum, even while using every art to stir the people to a state of emotional frenzy.

As a result of his revivals, the industrial issue fell from sight. Prohibition became the one great, overwhelming importance. The operators gave unstintedly to the "dry" campaign, and sent the word down the line that every controlled vote must be cast for the "dry" candidates. Everything was forgotten except the "horror of the grogillery."

Out of nowhere came a Republican lawyer named Carlson. He had nothing to say about the strike, or about industrial issues of any kind, but he was vehement in his support of prohibition. He hated Booze and he hated the Devil, and he asked everybody to believe that God is love.

Operators "Put One Over."

Carlson, the Prohibitionist idol, was elected. No sooner had he taken office than the fact became apparent that he was a "coal company man." The operators chuckled. They had "put one over," thanks to the aid of "Billy" Sunday. They had used the prohibition mania to sneak in their governor and their legislators.

The strike was smashed. The thousands of men, women and children were left starving on the mountain sides. Carlson rammed a bill through the legislature providing for a special judge to try strike cases. He appointed a coal company attorney. Every union leader was indicted on trumped-up charges. Carlson sent the attorney general to prosecute them, assisted by the high-priced attorneys of the coal companies. Law was set aside. Man after man was found guilty of murder, and sentenced to the penitentiary for life.

That was how "Billy" Sunday brought God to Colorado.

Cure for "Social Unrest."

Many may have read John Reed's article on Sunday's Philadelphia revivals in the Metropolitan Magazine. Mr. Reed asked Mr. Baldwin why Sunday had been brought to Philadelphia.

"Social unrest," said the large prosperous head of the establishment where men work ten hours at 15 cents an hour, and are shot down when they rebel, "is largely due to the workingman's envy of those who make a little more money than he does. Now Billy Sunday makes people look to the salvation of their own souls; and when a man is looking after his soul's good, he forgets his selfish desire to become rich."

The workers in the Baldwin Locomotive Works were herded to the Sunday meetings in droves. Mr. Wanamaker's store was favored by a special visit, and so powerfully did "Billy" work upon the employes that sixty-eight agreed to think of Christ instead of wages. Mr. Johnson and Mr. Wanamaker vied in entertaining the evangelist, and so admirably did he assimilate their point of view that he incorporated this paragraph in a sermon:

"There's a lot of good-for-nothing lobsters think they are called by God to go up and down the country harping for a limitation of wealth and cussing and damning the rich man for every dollar he has, while they sit around and cuss and damn and never work."

Christliness of South.

"Billy" Sunday is much impressed with the Christliness of the south. He praises the southern states for starting the fight against the saloon. They are doing God's work.

One looks in vain through his utterances for any word about the child labor conditions that make many of the southern states so cruel. In Alabama, South Carolina, Georgia and Mississippi little ones of 12 years are allowed to work ten and twelve hours in the cotton mills, trading their futures for wretched pittances.

FIRING LINE

ADDRESS OF EDW. M. TIERNEY AT A. H. P. A. CONVENTION.

Retiring President of H. M. M. B. A. Takes "Reciprocity vs. Retaliation" for His Topic in Eloquent Address in Cleveland on May 26, 1915.

"We believe the time is opportune to impress upon the public mind that religion and society and government were established for some better end than to afford perpetual employment to the destructive powers of visionary reformers and professional religious agitators, who very often wear the livery of heaven to serve his Satanic majesty.

"We will look forward to the dawn of the day when we can find constancy and stability in governmental affairs, exempt from this intolerant disorder of mentality that makes men and women grovel in the darkness of despair and destruction, instead of opening their eyes to that equalizing spirituality that moves men to love their neighbor as themselves.

"The term 'philanthropy' has been so shamefully abused of late years, by being applied to the empirical schemes of hired adventurers and social and business disorganizers, that you cannot say a much worse thing of a man than that he is a so-called philanthropist—one who is contributing his tainted money to foster prohibitory measures that threaten the security of business and jeopardizes property investments and is a menace to personal liberty.

"The name 'reformer' ought to designate one of the noblest representatives of the unselfish side of human nature; but, to my mind, in this latter day, it describes a sallow, hatchet-faced, whining fellow, who has taken up the profession of loving all men in general that he may better enjoy the satisfaction of hating all men in particular, and that he may the more effectually prey upon the credulity and purse of his susceptible neighbors.

"He is a mono-maniac, yet with sufficient madness in his method to make it pay a handsome profit, an agitator whose telescopic vision magnifies the spiritual destitution of the hypocrite; and who sees nothing wanting to complete our modern civilization but a willingness on our part to contribute to the evangelical work which he advocates; and whose commissions for disbursing the accumulated funds are unreasonably disproportionate to the amount collected and the work done.

"With all our blowing about liberty, we Americans are abject slaves to a theory of government, which we feel bound to defend at all hazards and under all circumstances, right or wrong; but we could very well dispense with some of this boasted liberty of ours to secure a little more wisdom in making laws and a good deal more determination in executing them.

"It is high time that men who are engaged in hotel keeping should intelligently comprehend their precise position with respect to the commerce of supplying the public, and more particularly their guests, with wines and liquors, to suit their convenience and their wants with the same freedom that one might enjoy in his own home—for a man's hotel is today synonymous with his home of yesterlay.

"The hotel keeper who considers himself 'too good' to be ranked as a 'license holder' by the paid reformer is certainly too good to associate with his fellows, either on the level of social or business equality, as his ethical consciousness is too near the bursting point to admit of any intimate relationship with his own kind of folk, for fear the balloon of hypocrisy might be punctured by the spear of reason and honesty.

"Out upon the weak-kneed and spineless subjects who will permit themselves and their business to be vilified and condemned by any set of hirelings and property wreckers, who care no more for our vested rights, under the sanction of law, than if we were a band of outlaws!

"The old axiom of fighting fire with fire can well be now applied to our enemies. We cannot quench a conflagration of fanaticism by expectorating from the housetop. We must employ the chemical extinguisher of common sense to put out the fire; otherwise the edifice that we have spent long years to erect will be destroyed and nothing but the ashes of regret left to offer solace for the remainder of our declining years.

"The continuous assaults made upon those engaged in our business are doing more to foment strife and ill-will, and to create discontent among men and their families and their employers, with the most damaging effect on normal business and industrial conditions, than any other sociological or industrial question or influence confronting us today.

"Some people think they need only touch the hem of the garments of the 'two Billys' to be saved from the perdition of their own weaknesses.

"When we witness the fantastic orgies and acrobatic incantations of a somersaulting political disturber, who holds an exalted position in the United States Government, dancing attendance upon a howling religious zealot and charlatan, on a paid public platform, where each measures his grotesque antics and the length of his weird bel-lowing by the gross proceeds of the cash box, isn't it about time for intelligent and sane men who are competent to think and reason for themselves to denounce such demonstrations of frenzy that are an insult to true American manhood and grossly subversive of the cardinal principles of our Constitution, which guarantees life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness and the protection of private property to every American citizen, whether he preaches the Gospel or makes our laws, or upholds our National greatness, or runs a hotel, according to modern invention and the latest scientific methods for the comfort and entertainment of the public?

"How will superficial morality and skin-deep propriety and selfishness be diminished, and how will mutual good will and domestic peace be increased? These are things for the blatant Chautauqua money-getter to dwell upon, and then mind his own business, or perhaps more properly, the business of the Secretary of State, instead of spreading his propaganda of nation-wide prohibition and its consequent confiscation and destruction of millions upon millions of real and personal property.

"Mr. Bryan always seems to hold in his hand only a torch for burning, and never a hammer for building.

"It would be well for him to harken to the philosophy of Dr. Eliot: 'Business is the most important thing in the world, because it is through business that we secure food, shelter and the manifold luxuries and necessities of life. Business is not only earning a living, but it is living a life.'

"If such demagogues as Bryan and Hobson had their way, we would soon see only a nation of hypocrites and double-dealers, instead of a nation of men who are proud of their heritage of individual freedom and equality, which have come down to us, with the approval of such patriotic Americans as Washington, Jefferson, Hamilton, Adams, Jackson, Clay, Webster, Lincoln, Grant, Cleveland, McKinley, Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson.

"It is the duty of every business man henceforth to take a lively interest in political affairs, in order that he may have a voice in selecting sane and safe men for public office; who, when they place their feet on the pedestal of power, will not lose their head through the inflation of their own conceit, which often impels them to attempt to revolutionize fixed conditions of government to the detriment and discontent of their fellow countrymen.

"We have recently discovered a new species of twentieth century moralists and better-than-thou money bags, who only a few short years ago, were trying with might and main to induce us to patronize them as consumers of their wares and commodities.

"Many of us bought their goods for use in our respective hotels and paid our good cash for them. We thus contributed materially toward building up colossal fortunes for those merchants and dealers who are today, in their turn, contributing our moneys toward a fund that is created for the purpose of supporting a crusade of oppression and destruction, in the hope that they may eventually drive us out of business.

"Unless we take a united and determined stand against every such enemy of ours, by flatly refusing to purchase or use their goods, of whatever kind and description, and wherever found in the future, we will be weaklings and untrue to ourselves, and entitled to no sympathy when the heavy hand of financial reverse is laid upon our shoulder to forever crush our hopes and destroy our business aspirations.

"Our hotel newspaper friends could not do a better service to our profession than to uphold the hands of every hotel keeper and allied tradesman and owners of business properties, in their attitude of retaliation against the dealers who belong to the class above referred to.

"Publicity is the one thing needed to successfully combat our enemies, by exposing the hollowness and sham of their proclamation of righteousness, which is measured altogether by the amount of cash that is paid to them by well-meaning and honesty-disposed persons, who accept their veneer of hypocrisy as being the genuine timber of sincerity.

"The day is near at hand when the blindfold will be removed from the eyes of every reasonable man, who will then see that every reform which is made by force must, sooner or later, be made over again.

"In other words, you cannot legislate morals for the people.

"The only way you can reach their consciences is through education and regulation, and any attempt to coerce the whole people, through restricted legislative enactment, will be construed as an invasion of their personal rights, which they will not long tolerate, even though the foundation stone of society may be shaken to its very centre.

"I will refrain from touching on the relative moral and social conditions prevailing in localities and states where prohibition exists, as compared with similar conditions where men are permitted to exercise their God-given rights without the fear of offending some dyspeptic or hypocritical individual, who will be a long time dead, and over whose grave the weeds of oblivion will have completely covered up the flowers of remembrance.

"These comparisons will be presented to you from another source for your general information, upon the matters I have but feebly touched upon.

"They are of vital interest to every liberty-loving citizen, who believes in his own ability to regulate his own morals and control his own appetite without the intervention of any quack doctor of reform, whose sole purpose in life is to scatter the poisoned seeds of distrust and vilification in every community, so that the minds of men may be inoculated with a hate for their neighbors that only breed strife and enmity, instead of weaving a fabric or reciprocity upon which all true Americans can stand for the protection of the liberty of every citizen against the oppression of every other citizen.

"We here find ourselves securely intrenched behind the stonewall of defense now set up by the A. H. P. A. to safeguard our personal interests against the inroads of malicious and designing persons, who, through many devious ways, attempt to defraud us from within and assail our inherent business possessions from without.

"The A. H. P. A. offers to us a forum for the open discussion of public questions that should attract the brightest minds among our members, to evolve, out of their experiences, many subjects of grave importance to themselves and of nation-wide interest to the lawmakers of this 'land of the free and the home of the brave.'

New York Hotel Register and Review.

SUMMER SALADS.

By S. J. ADAIR FITZ-GERALD, In London (Eng.)
Caterer.

"Salad," exclaims Sir John Falstaff, "was born to do me good," and the bibulous old knight had a fine taste for many things besides canary and sack. We all know Sydney Smith's recipe for a potato salad, and his neat little poem thereon promised many joys if his directions were followed:

Then though green turtle fail, though venison's tough
And ham and turkey are not boiled enough,
Serenely full the epicure may say,
"Fate can not harm me, I have dined today."

At one time the English were accused of not only being unable to mix a salad, but, worse of all worsts, of not being able to prepare one. The French and Italians have for ages been extolled beyond all reason for their aptness in the preparation of what, after all, is one of the simplest dishes in the wide world. Over-elaboration is its direst enemy. "We swear," says one rather cynical writer, "by plain cookery; we turn up our noses at elaborate sauces; we profess to eschew messes, and to care only for simples; and yet we have no idea, like the French and Italians, how to turn to splendid account a dinner of herbs. There is a proverb which identifies such a dinner with meanness of fare; but it is not mean. It is quite certain that the majority of epicures agree with Sydney Smith that a really good salad will glorify any dinner, and make up for the lack of turtle and the rarest of dainties."

Let us cast pessimism to the winds. Every country, according to its vegetation, has its own particular ingredients for salads, and it is true that, though we have more variety of herbs and green and other meats suitable for "herbaceous treats," we neglect to make use of them, and indeed ignore them. As E. S. Dallas says, "Of the infinite variety of salads which can be made from wild plants—the salad burnet, the ladies' smock, the stonecrop, the sea bind-weed, the sweet Cicely, and the oxeyed daisy—our people know nothing, and they allow quantities of food to be wasted on the cattle. The dandelion, which is a favorite salad in France, and a herb renowned for its virtues, we should be halfashamed to see on our tables." We certainly largely depend upon the lettuce, which is of two sorts—the cabbage lettuce, known in France as the LAITUE POMMEE, and the cos lettuce, which the French term LAITUE ROMAINE. Of these—and there are endless varieties of either—the latter is generally preferred, with its long leaves, because, perhaps, it can be eaten by itself, though, wisely, numbers prefer the former. Then, of course, there is the endive in three classes: the broad-leaved or Batavian, the curly leaved, and the wild endive or succory, which is Old English for chicory. Next in order comes the celery. As a rule we only use the stalk, while the French, wiser in their generation, put the whole plant into the salad-bowl, from the root at one end to the leafage at the other. But better still is the celeriac, but this can only be obtained towards the latter end of October. However, there are salads in all seasons—for many seasons abound—tomato salad, potato salad, salads of cold dried cooked vegetables, mustard and cress, beetroot salad, and so on, used singly more or less, but better still in various combinations. Charles

Herman Senn says of a summer salad that it is "prepared with lettuce, cucumber, artichoke bottoms, all cut into thin slices, seasoned with ordinary salad dressing and garnished with radishes and pickled red cabbage." This, I must confess, I have never tried. A Queen Salad is thus described: White celery stalks, whites of hard-boiled eggs, finely shred, seasoned with tartare sauce, finely chopped parsley and truffles, and garnished with slices of Brunswick sausage and yolks of hard-boiled eggs.

George Augustus Sala strongly recommended tomatoes dressed with oil and vinegar and a little chopped shallot. As for green salads he wrote: "Some hold with simple lettuce, just moistened all over with vinegar and dusted with sugar. Another method that has been dogmatically insisted upon as the orthodox one is to wipe each leaf of lettuce dry; then to bring plenty of oil in contact with every part of the surface, finishing with the smallest dash of vinegar and a dust of salt. This, minus the salt, is my own dressing for lettuce salad; but when I have guests I allow fantasy to have some slight sway in the salad-bowl." A favorite Parisian top-dressing is to place a few fresh-water crayfish on the summit of the verdure. Crayfish form a very pretty garnish indeed for all fish salads, but when the crayfish are dear and scarce, shrimps or prawns can be used instead. Personally, in making that which we term a green salad, I invariably use a little sugar and anchovy sauce at the bottom of the bowl. Some people like a spring onion or two, but I think only the sterner sex really appreciate or tolerate them.

One very emphatic writer, quoting "IL Y A SALADE ET SALADE," goes on to declare the obvious truth that there is salad for the million and salad for the few. This is LA SALADE, and belongs to France; no other country makes it and no other country grows it. It stands alone in perfection, knowing no variety. Ernest Augustus, the one real King of Hanover, was won't to say 'that salads were grass, but there was one salad that it was worth going from the world's end to Paris to eat.' Three kinds of lettuce only can furnish this: the long-leaved ROMAINE, the broad-leaved ESCAROLE (endive), and the curled endive (or CHICOREE FRISEE); but of the three, one stands supreme—namely, the ROMAINE—between May and August." Here is the recipe: A sufficient number of the hearts of the ROMAINE, and a sufficient quantity of fresh-gathered chervil, tarragon, and burnet, well cut (not chopped), mixed with the proper dressing; this is supposed to be a perfect salad. But it is recognized as the work of a culinary genius only, to achieve grandeur. Now let me present the genius in his Herculean—no Epicurean—labor. To quote in full would be to court tediousness, so with apologies to my unknown friend I take the liberty to abbreviate. That which we all know is patent. The outer leaves of the lettuce are very green—they are the covering and protect the interior. These external wraps are coarse; the winds of heaven have visited them too roughly; they are to be totally discarded. It is with the heart-of-hearts that we have to deal—with that dainty, sweet, finely tinted substance, tender in the stalk, crisp in the leaf, which is the innermost center of the plant. There are times when twenty lettuces may be required for six persons. When about to be dressed a soft linen cloth should be used to lightly separate each leaf, the innermost heart remaining whole. When all the leaves to the extent that they are straw-colored, but no further, are laid out on a clean dish, a bed of chervil, tarragon, and burnet (all these are now easily obtainable in England) nicely cut should be spread over the bottom of the bowl. It is a mistake, by the way, to chop herbs, and the herbs should always underlie the lettuce and absorb the dressing last, when it is already well distributed amongst the leaves that are above. The best oil of all, if possible, to get, is olive oil from Aix—if not, well, one must use what is at hand. Then, of course, come salt and pepper, and then follows the mode of dressing, and this entirely depends upon the lightness of touch and alertness of the dresser himself. Some are born salad-makers—some are not; and the worst of it is you can not teach anyone how to make a salad unless the necessary deftness is inherent. It is like making pastry—one never knows why one woman succeeds in the matter, and a dozen otherwise estimable women and cooks absolutely fail.

Francatelli the Great could never see anything in English cookery, though it is said that one of his particular dissipations was a porterhouse steak prepared by somebody else. Therefore he dismisses the salad of Britain by ignoring it. Yet Thomas Walker, the author of "The Original" (I am not referring to Hookey of that ilk), who flourished exceedingly in 1835 and paid much attention to the subject, gives a recipe by his friend Sir Charles Forbes, a well-known physician in his time. Take the finest lettuces you can get; strip off the leaves with the hand, using only those which are well blanched. Put them into the bowl whole, and, if wet, wipe each with a napkin. Put a sufficient quantity of salt and pepper into the salad-spoon, and mix them with a little tarragon vinegar. Throw the mixture over the lettuce, and add vinegar and oil in the proportion of rather more than two spoonfuls of oil to one of vinegar. Stir the salad very well. It is best when not prepared until wanted. . . . It is only by experience that the proper quantities of the ingredients for dressing can be accurately measured; but there should be great liberality of oil, and the quantity of vinegar depends upon its sourness. This could not be very well improved upon at this day. Walker himself says, "One of the best and most elegant salads at this season of the year is composed of well-blanchend endive, beetroot and fine celery."

Endless, indeed, are the recipes for salads and salad-making. The majority of the writers on the subject declare for the "ideal lettuce"—hearts only. Still, although we mostly rely upon the lettuce for our salads, there is a large variety of other vegetables available for this purpose. The flower of the cauliflower, for instance. It should be divided into small pieces, which, after having been carefully washed, are thrown into boiling salted water and cooked till tender. "When perfectly cold the pieces are groped together in a glass dish and dressed with mayonnaise, green sauce, or an impromptu accompaniment of vinegar, oil, pepper, salt, and mustard. French beans prepared in a similar way are equally good, but they must be carefully freed from their stringiness that is their characteristic. They may be dressed with cruel additions while still hot, and then left in a cool place. Delicious salads may be made in the French fashion of white or red cabbages. Use only the inner leaves. Boil in salt and water. Cut up in pieces while still hot and dress, but do not, of course, send to the table until quite cold. Watercress is usually looked upon as only a garnish, but with mustard and cress and tomatoes or beetroot a capital salad is easily evolved. Indeed, watercress of the pungent kind is an excellent addition to any salad. By the way, the bowl should always be rubbed with an onion just to give a piquancy to the whole. It is supposed to be

Rose among roots, the maiden fair,
Wine-scented and poetic soul of every salad. "You may rub with it the bowl, you may chop it up fine and sprinkle with it the lettuce, as you might sprinkle an omelet with herbs. But there in one form or another it must be."

Of celery salad I have already spoken. It is excellent if the whole plant is used, and, like the lettuce, it is full of medicinal properties. For instance, the root itself is serviceable in repelling attacks of rheumatism. The roots should be boiled in salt and water and dressed in the usual way. Or they may be allowed to cool first and then served with a dressing composed of the yolks of four hard-boiled eggs, made into a paste with four tablespoonfuls of Lucca oil and a dessertspoonful of mustard. A shallot, a little parsley, and a handful of watercress leaves chopped small should be added to the mixture with pepper, salt, a teaspoonful of brown sugar, and vinegar to taste. Cold boiled potatoes, too, mingle very pleasantly with sliced celery roots in a salad. Cold artichokes likewise make palatable salads dressed with cream sauce, or the contents, in season, of the hardy cruet. Tomatoes come in at all times, and an original salad may be composed of cucumber and radishes and watercress. The two former should be sliced very thin, covered with salt, and allowed to stand for an hour. Another dish is cold asparagus heads appropriately dressed.

It has been fitly said that every lady ought to be her own salad-maker, for a clean hand and delicate is a first essential in the art. Salads certainly should be touched by nothing but dainty fingers and a wooden spoon and fork. But many men make salad-preparing quite a hobby, and in some homes it is their prerogative on special occasions. It visit many friends where the head of the house is almost invariably the salad-maker. The knife must never be used, and all the leaves should be deftly separated by hand and carefully wiped with a linen cloth. Never let any of the component parts soak in water. There is an old saying and an old way often quoted, though seldom rightly adhered to, which tell the right way of the salad. It is believed that it takes four people rolled in one to make a salad properly. A sage to put in the salt, so that only a soupcon is secured. With the mustard and pepper suppression should also be observed. A miser is required for the vinegar. Vinegar is, of course, a strong solvent; while oil is the reverse. Therefore dissolve the mustard and pepper and salt in the vinegar and add the oil the last of all, with prodigal freedom, for a prodigal indeed is necessary for the introduction of the Lucca or olive oil. Two spoonfuls of oil or a little more to one of vinegar is a good principle to go upon. Next, and last of all, the maniac steps in to mix, to fatigue, as the French say, and it is the fatiguing that gets the right effect. When sufficiently mixed garnish with the yolks of hard-boiled eggs, beetroot, and tomato sliced, and watercress. Then it is fit to set upon the table. In this and other salads a few leaves of sorrel add a little bitterness that many appreciate.

As I have said more than once, a salad can be made of almost any vegetable that is not too watery. Spinach is delightful, but is taboo in a salad, and so is marrow, but other green meats, vegetables, and semi-fruits are all of agreeable and palatable utility.

WALSH, A GREAT TRIBUNE.

When the Congress of the United States authorized the creation of a Commission on Industrial Relations, to inquire into the causes of industrial unrest, it put upon that Commission responsibilities for a stupendous undertaking. Now investigation has become a modern expedient for relieving enlightened consciences from an unpleasant feeling of responsibility, while the investigation under "wise," judicial guidance steered safely past undesirable conclusion and entangling relations. Investigations were generally regarded as harmless intellectual and ethical calisthenics. Occasionally they were enlivened by "sensational" developments—always affecting the workers. Experienced and safe commissioners knew how to avoid fundamental issues or matters that vitally concerned existing conditions.

As the hearings of the Commission on Industrial Relations were held in many sections of the country, the nature of its work and the caliber of its members became apparent; it became evident that members of the commission really intended to conduct an investigation into the underlying causes of industrial unrest; that they were ignoring conventional platitudes; that they wanted facts and that they were impatient of repression, evasion or misrepresentation.

The nation was aroused to interest in this new kind of commission that took seriously its mission to investigate.

But even this commission, in the brief period for which it was created, could not inquire into all conditions causing industrial unrest; it could only throw the light of general information upon a few serious situations. There is no situation more potential for industrial injustice and all the wrong attending arbitrary power than that which has obtained in Colorado for years. It was fitting that the commission devote much time to consideration of the recent strike in the coal fields of Colorado. All the factors concerned, the persons involved, the principles at issue, were fundamental in importance, and of absorbing interest and potential influences. The miners were helpless victims of exploitation—foreigners unaware of their rights and power, reduced to serf-like relations through the monopoly power and privileges exercised by the mine owners. The richest man in the world was concerned in the policies and conditions that took from other men industrial and political rights and freedom, and even their lives.

The hearings of the Industrial Commission brought out in strong relief these great contrasts between individuals who as human beings revealed no natural causes for the great irregularities.

In the early hearings, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., tried to establish for himself a normal and intellectual alibi for responsibility for industrial injustice and destruction of life in Colorado. He assumed the exalted ground of the "champion for a great principle." But when proof from his own office developed that shattered Mr. Rockefeller's alibi, the commission, under the fearless leadership of its chairman, still continued an honest inquiry in the causes of industrial unrest. Then the forces of opposition gathered; all of the agencies in the control of great wealth were brought to bear upon the chairman, Frank P. Walsh, to restrain him from "injudicious" investigation into matters that might locate responsibility. But Frank P. Walsh remained steadfast in his simple interpretation of his duty—to investigate the causes of industrial unrest.

To the last day of the hearings for that purpose and the policy remained unaltered; that honest, fearless leadership performed a great service for those denied justice.

Because Frank P. Walsh refused to be turned from the purpose of the investigation, because he did not yield to the great pressure brought to bear upon him, because he refused to permit subterfuge, evasion, repression, technical quibbling to deter him from obtaining information which he, with his associates, was commissioned to obtain, he was subjected to as grilling criticism as the dollar-wise press has ever directed against a single individual.

But Frank P. Walsh remained the staunch unwavering seeker of justice and truths. He has performed a great and worthy service for those who toil—work that can not fail of constructive results, though even now corrupting influences are at work trying to poison the sources of information and to discredit in advance future statements and recommendations in which Mr. Walsh may participate. Perhaps one of the most significant developments of the Washington hearing was the concerted, deliberate, persistent efforts on the part of all witnesses for the Rockefeller interests to create the impression that they were unfairly treated.

The masses of the people are not deceived—they know the power of great wealth and they value rightly the courage, the character and the services of Frank P. Walsh. The great service Mr. Walsh has already rendered to not only the working people, but to all our people—to the Republic itself, will live and receive the highest commendation long after the dollar-loving dominating influences which seem now so potent in the affairs of our country have been eliminated.
—American Federationist.

BEVERAGES WITH MEALS.

Here is a good rule for serving beverages: Appetizer, dry, pale sherry, plain or with a dash of bitters; vermouth, plain or a cocktail. With oysters: Rhine wine, Moselle, dry sauterne, chablis or capri, cool. With soup: Sherry, Madeira or Marsala, cool. Fish: Sauternes, chablis. Rhine wine, Moselle or capri, cool. With roasts: Claret, Burgundy or Chiante, cool. Pastry: Madeira, cool. Cheese: Port, at the temperature of the room. Fruit: Tokay, Malaga or Muscat, temperature of the room. Coffee: Brandy or cordial, at the temperature of the room. If you do not wish to serve such a variety, use the following: Either sherry or sherry bitters, vermouth or vermouth cocktail as an appetizer; Rhine wine, Moselle, sauterne, chablis or capri with oysters and fish; sherry, Madeira or Marsala with soup; champagne, claret, Burgundy, Chiante or whisky highball throughout the meal; brandy, cordial or port after dinner; ale or stout with oysters, fish, cold meats, steaks, chops or bread and cheese.

CHAT OF THE CRAFT

WHERE DID IT GO TO?

Pensively Patrick gazed into the pigsty and fixed his eye on the fat little object that snugly snorted to itself.

"M'm," he muttered, as, shifting into a different position, he viewed the piglet from another angle.

Along came Betty O'Hoyle, but not even her pretty face could lure Patrick from his contemplations.

"An' how's the pig, Pat?" she asked, slightly piqued by his indifference.

"He's a livin' wonder!" came the emphatic answer.

"Shure, an' how's that, Pat?" inquired Betty, drawing nearer the sty.

"He's just guzzled two pailfuls of milk, and then I put him in the pail and he didn't half fill it."—Kansas City Times.

IN THE GOOD OLD SUMMER TIME.

Mop off your brow and quit asking whether it is "hot enough for you" of your friends and acquaintances for just a few moments of your spare time. Now that your attention has been secured, may we inquire how you expect that new arrival who is working at the trade is going to discover that you and your associate members desire him to become a member of your local union? Some men are great at reading the thoughts of their fellow-men; perhaps that new man in the trade may be the lucky possessor of such a faculty, and again he may not. Therefore, it seems both wise and business-like for you, who are the nearest to his place of work, to approach him with a friendly greeting and tell him what your union is organized for, and invite him to become a member of your local. You never can tell from the cut of a fellow's "jib" whether he is a duke or a dummy, whether he knows beans or bumpers, hence the necessity of getting acquainted, and the method suggested is both appropriate and permissible.

Just a little ordinary gumption and some persuasion is what makes struggling locals healthy and numerically strong. Don't allow the stranger in your midst to get the impression that he is "butting in where he is not wanted," make him a friend of your union, you need him and he needs you.

There are men who are so well acquainted with themselves that they are suspicious of everyone else. Men who go to sleep with the light burning for fear that they might be caught picking their own pockets or rifling the baby's bank. Such fellows look as if they had pulled one over on Solomon when they say, "Every man has his price." Those fellows are in the thirty-cent class.—Miners' Magazine, May 6, 1915.

AFTER THE BUCKEYE STATE WITH A VENGEANCE.

The New Republic, with "Pussyfoot" Johnson as its editorial commander, gives one great gulp of glee over the acceptance of an invitation tendered to William Jennings Bryan to come to Ohio and aid in making Ohio one of the DRY column by State constitutional provision, an amendment for that purpose being groomed for use in the very near future. "The Boy Orator of the Platte" has an ingenious method to attract converts to the Dry idea; he agrees to secure the "Abstinence Pledges" from voters by adding his own signature to the pledge, thus permitting the person subscribing to same to carry Bill's signature away with them as a souvenir. The curiosity of the average voter will be excited and the acquisitive collector of curios will, by the simple process of asking for an "Abstinence Pledge," obtain "Willyums" John Hancock on a bit of paper which can be added to one's collection or show to those less favored so to speak. We have all along held the view that "Bill" Bryan made a big mistake in his vocation, he is cut out for a ballyhoo side-show owner and spieler, and the show game lost a valuable asset when "Bill" wished himself on the political game. We are anxiously awaiting the result of "Bill's" autograph campaign, and expect to see several thousands of his pledges exhibited by the DRYs as an indication of what a great victory they will achieve if given another chance. In the election of November 3, 1914, the Prohibition amendment received 504,177 votes in favor, and 588,329 voters voted against the amendment, that means that the "Autograph Campaign" must convert the 84,152 who voted WET, besides hanging on to what they had, a nice little task which will necessitate an expenditure of more than $187,512, which is the amount they reported to the Secretary of State (as provided by the Ohio laws) as having spread among the faithful in the last campaign. At that the Ohio WETS have no reason to feel safe, for it is a well-known fact that the Buckeye Drys are an unbeatable bunch, for they never know when they are licked. Will the wet voters of Ohio stand for Bryanizing the State? Wait and see.

DEMONSTRATION ECONOMICALLY PRODUCED.

One of the advantages which the Anti-Saloon League forces enjoy, is the services of a "Board of Strategy," consisting of a small army of paid officials and professional sumptuary legislation agitators. This aggregation seldom overlooks a chance and takes advantage of "things going and coming," as is evident from plans being perfected at this time. There is to be a big convention of the Antis at Atlantic City, N. J., during the week of July 5, 1915. It is the intention of the promoters of the Anti convention to take advantage of the "stop-over" allowed on all trains passing through Washington, D. C., and on Saturday, July 10th, when they adjourn, they propose to go down to Washington five thousand strong, more or less, but in goodly numbers you can rest assured; they will call at the White House and present to President Wilson an appeal which they have in the meantime endorsed. It is further proposed that sufficient cars be chartered so as to reach Washington as near simultaneously as possible, and then to parade down Pennsylvania avenue, in order to emphasize that they have the strength to command attention. Washington has quite a population of political eunuchs who are as "dusty" as you can find in any municipality which permits its citizens to cast a vote; they will swell the ranks of the visitors and thus inflate the procession so as to convey the impression that literally the contemplated five thousand petitioners has increased to double that number.

No doubt if "Grape Juice Bill" Bryan has not been decorated with the "can" before the usual "fire cracker" day, he will be on watch for his good, kind friends, the DRY'S, and will deliver one of his orations which will advise the "brethren" where he stands and where he wants to land. The idea of taking advantage of a privilege such as a "stop-over" at Washington and at no expense, is what proves the value of that "Strategy Board." Did you ever hear of the WETS trying to pull off any such stunt? Certainly not, they prefer to be hung separately; it's more classy than "pulling together" and being hung that way if it comes to a show-down. Some day the WETS will wake up, but it won't happen until they get a good trimming meanwhile.

LOSES HIS BEST FRIEND AND COMPANION.

Few members of our International Union but what have had the privilege of calling Thomas S. Farrell of Local 106, Cleveland, Ohio, acquaintance or friend, and all will, we feel, regret to hear of the death of his estimable and loving wife Monday, June 7th, 1915, at their home in the city of Cleveland, O. Mrs. Farrell had been ill but a few days when a sudden turn for the worst was noted. Every effort of skilled medical men was employed to bring her back to health, but it was not to be. Tom was to lose his best friend, the one who shared his joys and sorrows, his true partner.

We know that his burden is great, but we feel that the knowledge that his countless friends and well wishers mourn with him in his hours of bereavement will help him to bear his loss with strength and fortitude. In behalf of all of your friends and acquaintances in our great big International Union, we place our hand in yours and say—We are sincerely sorry, Tom.

POWER OF KANSAS WHISKEY.

As in previous plagues the war on grasshoppers in Ford County has resulted in many "camp-fire" stories by the veterans. But one farmer has silenced all his rivals with his yarn.

The farmer said he lost his can of syrup while taking his poisoned bran to the field. He had a full quart of whisky which he mixed with the bran in place of the syrup.

He said an old hopper would come along, take a bite of the bran, jump about four feet in the air, spit a stream of "tobacco juice," light down, take another bite, and then start out to lick the first hopper he met. In this way all the hoppers in the field were soon fighting each other. As soon as one hopper killed another he sought a new opponent, and in this way there was soon but one big hopper left. Soon a rooster came along and made a dive for this hopper, but Mr. Hopper, instead of allowing himself to be eaten, jumped up and kicked the old rooster in the face, spit "tobacco juice" in his eyes, and chased him under the barn.

This farmer now plans to feed whiskey to his chickens should there be another hopper invasion.—Dodge City (Kans.) Correspondent Kansas City Times.

The ammunition your International needs most is your generous and hearty co-operation. Give it your best effort and "watch us grow."

GIANT MIRROR TO COOK IN CALIFORNIA.

Boston, June 17, 1915.—Progress in the exact determination of the amount of heat received by the earth from the sun, which has been the object of experiments recently conducted by C. G. Abbot, F. E. Fowle and L. B. Aldrich of the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, is described in the June number of the Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences.

They have found that the amount of heat is 1.93 calorics a square centimeter a minute. That is to say, enough heat is received from the sun on each square yard to boil a pound of water in $2\frac{1}{2}$ minutes.

The academy has recently made an appropriation of $250 to Dr. Abbott for the purpose of enabling him to complete and test, on Mount Wilson, in California, an apparatus consisting of a concave cylindrical mirror of about 100 square feet surface for concentrating the sun's heat on tubes containing oil, which is then made to circulate through a reservoir containing ovens and water pipes, so as to utilize solar radiation for cooking and heating water.

SUNFLOWER PHILOSOPHY.

You can do more for yourself than any one can do for you.

A man enjoys petting for a time, but after awhile he hates it as he hates the devil.

After a man has whipped two men at one time, is the proudest moment of his life.

Did you ever hear of a woman who tired of society? Did you ever hear of a man who did not?

An apology is like giving charity to one who has seen better days. Hard to give, and hard to accept.

It is believed that voting will never become popular among the women so long as elections are held Tuesday; Tuesday is ironing day.

When photographs of mother, as she appeared when young, are shown the children, they begin to regard her wrinkles and gray hairs as a proof of father's mean treatment, instead of the work of time.—Atchison (Kan.) Globe.

LUKE MCLUKE SAYS:

You may have noticed that the fellow who whines that the world owes him a living usually owes everybody in his neighborhood.

The trouble with the man who has a Skye Terrier mustache is that he takes his fingers and makes a toothbrush of his microbe strainers every time he drinks anything.

And the High Cost of Living wasn't such a much in the old days when a boy came home from school and chopped wood instead of seeing how many balls he could run at pool.

The Piledriver and the Pneumatic Hammer are in a class by themselves. They can do a great deal of work and yet make a lot of noise about it.

Father tries to be a good fellow. But when father is treating he takes beer at 5 cents per beer, and when the Other Fellow is treating father takes squirrel milk at 15 cents per copy.

In winter when there isn't anything doing, the fellow who is driving the auto can't wait to pass a street car and goes around it on the left side when the car stops. But in summer when the high step is on the job, the auto man is in no hurry and hangs around in the rear of the car until the last Corn-Fed has hoisted.

Anyway, the woman who marries a deaf-mute gets a good rest every night. She knows that he isn't going to talk in his sleep.

When a Princess learns that in telephone language 1,000 is not one thousand but one-O-double-O, she likes to ask for numbers that contain lots of ciphers so she can impress the operator with her wisdom.

A wise man writes an article in a stock paper headed: "What Should Be Done With Calves?" If he would leave it to us we would tell the wearers to either pad them or hide them.

Some of the feminine fads have their merits. A girl can't help looking sloppy when she wears the heel of her shoe where a man wears his, instead of the hollow of her foot.

After a man marries one shape he begins to notice how much better shapes other women have.

The cheapest things at a bargain sale in a department store are the men who are standing in the aisles of the Ladies' Underwear Department waiting for their wives.

You never saw a lazy man who didn't have a busy mouth.

There isn't anything wrong with Marriage as an institution. But, when a male hunk of cheese and a female lemon try to live together as man and wife and can't make a go of it, half the world will say: "See! I told you so! Marriage is a failure!"

The Pure Food law hasn't reduced the stock of unadulterated nerve so you could notice it.

The scientists have worked many wonders. But, thus far, they havn't been able to make a three-pound near-gold locket take the place of a one-pound bar of soap. But a lot of the girls are not interested in Science, anyway.

It isn't any trouble for a Princess to learn how to run an automobile. But it is different when it comes to peeling potatoes.

Plain duties and plain girls have few wooers.

A man hasn't a very good religion when he regards Sunday as the longest and dreariest day in the week.

Even the man who gets married on the Fourth of July has a hard time remembering his wedding anniversary.

There may be a surprise in store in the next world for the Reformer who knows that we are all going to Hell because we won't do as he wants us to do.

Blessings may come in disguise. But Trouble never bothers about putting on any make-up.

There is something human about the Nightingale. As soon as he gets a family he quits singing and begins croaking.

There are mighty few sure things in the world. But you can always bet that a girl's shoes are not too large for her.

Some men say they are Broad Minded when they mean they are Ornery.

In the game of life a man likes to see his hits and runs printed in big type, but he hollers murder every time one of his errors is recorded.

A woman can sit down and worry herself into a sweat because if they ever purchased a piano it might not match the furniture in the front room. And then she will get mad all over because her husband refuses to get excited and worry with her.

The man who can't even Catch Up is always whining because he can't Get Ahead.

There isn't much difference between a man and a dog. You may have noticed that a dog can run twice as fast when he is chasing a rabbit as he can when he is chasing a wolf.

Why is it that the man who argues that the Government is Crooked and that the Trusts have the Common People by the Throats is always a guy who needs a bath?

There is Profit and Loss in other things. But after a poker game breaks up every man is a Loser, if you leave it to him.

Being Sociable means that you have to stall around and think up pleasant things to say when you would rather tell the other fellow to Go to Halifax.

The old-fashioned bully who used to whip his wife now has a son who is afraid to go home for fear his better half will take a wallop at him.

You can have things your own way in this world. But you are going to be mighty lonesome.

Safety First also means that a young man should get around to the girl's house about breakfast time and get a good look at her when her hair and her complexion and her hips are upstairs on her bedroom dresser.

After a Princess has waited around for the Handsome Prince to fly away with her, she usually marries an ordinary two-legged mutt who chews tobacco and eats raw onions.

Why is it that a motorman usually has Eskimo ideas about ventilation?

Father always indignates because the children don't want to go to bed at night and don't want to get up in the morning. But Mother knows that the children inherited it from the Male side of their parentage.

What has become of the old-fashioned Grandma who used to wear white caps and who told us Bible stories?

Everything that transpires happens for the best. A long siege of tough luck makes a man more considerate of others.

The old-fashioned man that used to burn the candle at both ends now has a son who goes to bed and forgets to turn out the electric light.

Marriage is something that changes a sweet-heart into a sour-heart.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A WALLINGFORD DREAM.

DEAR SIR—Knowing that you are interested in the fur business I take the liberty of presenting to you, with what seems to be a most wonderful business proposition, and which, no doubt, you will take a lively interest in, and perhaps wire us the amount of stock that you wish to subscribe towards the formation of this company.

The object of this company is to operate a large Cat Ranch in, or near Cheyenne, Wyo., where land can be purchased for this purpose.

To start with, we collect, say about one hundred thousand (100,000) cats. Each cat will average twelve (12) kittens per year. The skins run from ten cents each for the white ones to seventy-five for the pure black ones. This will give us twelve million (12,000,000) skins for a year, to sell on an average of thirty cents each, making our revenue, about ten thousand ($10,000) dollars a day.

We will feed the cats on rats, and will start a Rat Ranch next door. The rats will multiply four times as fast as the cats. Therefore if we start with one million rats, we will have four rats a day for each cat, which is plenty.

Now we will feed the rats on the carcasses of the cats from which the skin has been taken, giving each rat a fourth of a cat.

It will thus be seen that the business will be self-sustaining and automatic all the way through. The cats will eat the rats, and the rats will eat the cats, and we will get the skins.

Awaiting your prompt reply, and trusting you will appreciate the opportunity that I give you, and that you will grasp same and get rich quick, I am.

Respectfully,
G. R. Q. WALLINGFORD,
Richburg, Pa.

You might put this in the MIXER AND SERVER for the bartenders to try out after their State goes dry.

CLYDE HACKNEY,
Local 657.

IT SOMETIMES HAPPENS.

His wife's away and every night
We see him trudging down the street,
The same time that he always does
When she's at home to cook his meat.
He sits upon his porch till nine
And then goes silently to bed;
It sometimes happens a man does this
In spite of all that has been said.

Before he leaves the house at morn
He waters every plant and flower;
He feeds the bird and mows the lawn
And works around for half an hour;
And through the windows we can see
Him washing dishes every day;
It sometimes happens that a man
Will do these things when she's away.

When she comes home, she'll find the place
As neat as when she went away;
No dirty dishes will she see,
No room will be in disarray
He swept and dusted Sunday morn,
And washed the windows, I declare;
It sometimes happens this way, though
Such incidents, perhaps, are rare.

—Detroit Free Press.

THE SALARIED MAN.

He gets his "twenty-per" each week, enough to pay his way,
He doesn't own a country home, a yacht out in the bay;
Three children romp about his door, that self-same door is rented,
But still he smiles his way along, with all the world contented.
He meets his bills as they fall due, at night sleeps like a top,
And, resting sweetly, never fears that copper stocks will drop.
He plods along right faithfully and when his work is done,
He calls his children round him for the evening hour of fun;
His weary wife looks through the door and smiles to see them there,
And in her heart there's gentle peace, her soul is free from care.
She hums a little song of love and kisses one and all,
She fears no market crash to drive her husband to the wall.
Great wealth has never scared their souls or spoiled their simple lives,
And on their hearth rank envy's weed seldom, aye! never thrives;
Modest their dress and plain their food, the greatest of their joys,
The love they bear each other and the love they bear their boys.
Theirs is a struggle, sometimes hard, but all the odds they face
With calmness, for they have no fear of ruin or disgrace.
Go forth today and tread your way along the city street,
Who is the happiest man of all that you may chance to meet?
Not he whose wealth uncounted is, not he of splendid fame,
Not he who boasts a world of power, not he of public name;
But he, the unassuming man, whose face is homeward turned
To greet his wife and little ones, his daily wage well earned.

—Detroit Free Press.

Just on the eve of starting for San Francisco for the convention we had the pleasure of a brief chat with Brother Joe Patterson, formerly of Local 14, Denver, Colo., and who probably has had his card in every live local in the middle west, for Joe does not believe in confining his splendid work to any one municipality or section of America. Joe is a booster, one of the men who has tried his level best to make our organization the success its best friends wish it, and is never quite so content as when winning converts to trades unionism. Joe is taking a pleasure trip back east, just to see how things are going in that section of the land as well as to renew acquaintanceship with a number of "old timers" who have ceased to do much traveling. Joe asks to be remembered to Bob Hesketh, Tom Farrell, Charles McKee and a host of others whose names would fill the remainder of this column. Joe by the way is one of the Spanish War veterans, having seen service in the Philippines, and looks good for another tussle should he be called upon.

Visitors to the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco are urged to visit the exhibit of the American Federation of Labor, where they will find one of the most interesting and instructive exhibits ever attempted by the labor movement of any land. The history and achievements of the International Unions affiliated with the A. F. of L. have been compiled, and according to visitors who have visited the exhibit, offers to the student of economic affairs ample evidence of care and serious research worth seeing.

The exhibit is in charge of C. O. Young, a representative of the A. F. of L., who will be pleased to meet trades unionists and those who may be making a study of the advancement and progress of trades unionism in America. Make a memorandum of the foregoing and when in the exposition be sure and see the exhibit, for it is worth while. C. O. "Dad" Young will say "howdy" during July and August, and "Dad" Young knows how to say it and mean it.

ASSORTED CORKSCREWS. By Arthur Brooks Baker.

The corkscrew is a crooked thing of devious design, the greatly curved corruption of a straight and simple line; and many folks whose mental stuff is solid and obtuse are fans about the corkscrew and adepts in its use; they work the famous implement to modify their health and bring a swift reduction of their fat and flabby wealth.

Now, tribulation often hides serenely in its den, and doesn't waste its precious time in wild pursuit of men; but people hunt for trouble when it isn't 'round about, and if it crawls into its hole they fiercely dig it out; and of the many handy tools with which the work is done, it is but fair to mention that the corkscrew's only one.

For pen and ink and printing press, and cannon, sword and spear, may open founts of trouble as a corkscrew opens beer; the frying pan, the motor bike, steel trap and wedding ring—each has a private brand of woe which it delights to spring. So every fellow to his taste, and each to his belief, and to his chosen means of seeking out his chosen grief.—Commercial Tribune.

THE REFILLED BOTTLE BLACKMAIL.

During the recent past certain hotel and restaurant men have been browbeaten into making more or less heavy settlements with an organization which sends out men to investigate and bring back evidence that bottles containing different brands of liquors are being refilled; in other words, that substitution is being practiced. These people call on the hotel or restaurant and after the visit a letter from the attorney arrives fixing a certain amount for settlement.

The hotel or restaurant proprietor, who is probably as innocent as an unborn babe, rather than have the accusation made public has, in many instances, effected a settlement. It appears that the organization splits the amount it collects with the house engaging it. It is also learned that one of the leading houses in this country, with main offices in this city, without warning of any kind, through a so-called inspector, held up a resort house for $750.

This is one of the most damnable instances of blackmail yet brought to our attention. The subject should be taken up by the Hotel Association and the Society of Restaurateurs. No responsible and honest proprietor will stand for the substitution of trade-marked goods. If it is practiced by dishonest employees the importer or distiller should work with the hotel or restaurant proprietor to establish that fact. If it is fairly established that the proprietor is guilty, there can be no objection to his demanding redress, but that redress should not be sought through blackmailing the proprietor.

If the proprietor is guilty he should be publicly exposed. Any importer, distiller or manufacturer who accepts hush money in the manner referred to is even more dishonest than the person who would refill a trade-marked bottle.

DO WE CONGRATULATE? WE DO, MOST HEARTILY.

From the Free Lance, printed at Butte, Mont., we clip the following interesting bit of news:

Congratulations.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Murray of Great Falls, on May 11, a son. All doing well, Frank being especially happy over the first-born. Frank is one of the old-time union men of the electric city; has taken an active interest, not only in the union affairs, but in the general welfare of Great Falls. He has represented Cascade County in the legislature and is a worthy citizen of our State. The Free Lance extends to Frank and Mrs. Murray its heartiest congratulations, and hopes that the young heir will live to do credit to his progenitors.

The friends of Mrs. and Brother Frank Murray, and they are legions, tender sincere congratulations over the advent of an heir to the house of Murray; if Murray Junior will but follow in the footsteps of his Daddy he will make a record for himself of which he can well feel proud. Brother Frank Murray has been identified with Local 609 of Great Falls, Mont., from its inception, and has filled the position of secretary with splendid satisfaction to himself and the members of that local union.

WHAT THE GOVERNMENT DOES WITH ITS COIN.

The average reader of the daily press has been offered considerable information as to what various governments have accomplished in the way of aiding and planning for the advantage of its respective citizens. Americans somehow forget the fact that the two principle governments on the continent of North America are quite as energetic and thoughtful as any of the governments mentioned in recent press dispatches. To illustrate the point here is an item from an article by Gus J. Karger, staff correspondent of the Times-Star, Cincinnati, Ohio, which contains information of value to all the people of the United States:

Don't Tease the Engineer.

If you chance to run across a gentleman of thoughtful appearance, with a telephone receiver at his ear, leaning over the railing of a bridge, intently watching the river, kindly refrain from disturbing him. He is not trying to talk to the fishes, and the services of an alienist will not be required. He is probably a government engineer, working for the U. S. Geological Survey, measuring the amount of water passing under the bridge. This is done by lowering an instrument known as a current meter, which determines the speed of the water and measures the depth. From such information, gathered at various points, measurements can be computed, such, for instance, as that the average flow at the mouth of the Tennessee river, for a period of 19 years, was 63,000 cubic feet a second—which is equivalent to 40,-

700,000,000 gallons of water a day. Having the information in question, just made public by the Survey, you may be at a loss what to do with it or what anybody in the wide, wide world might want to do with it. But the Geological Survey knows. "No one starts to build a house without knowing how much room is wanted or how many people are expected to occupy the house," the bulletin which conveys the information referred to, is at pains to explain. "The same thing should be true of power plants, water-supply systems, sewage-disposal plants, levees, flood-control works, and land-drainage systems. If such construction work is to be done economically and successfully, a knowledge of the amount of water involved is essential."

Hence the value of the paper dealing with the work in question in the Ohio valley and along the Tennessee river. Besides the record of river height and flow, the report gives a table of areas drained by important rivers in the basin. The drainage area of the Ohio river is estimated at 204,000 square miles; of the Allegheny, 11,700; the Monongahela, 7,340; the Kanawha, 12,200; the Miami, 5,140; the Wabash, 32,900; the Cumberland, 17,900, and the Tennessee 40,700 square miles.

No better time than now to arm yourself with an application blank and begin to take part in the campaign for a greater membership. Every new member secured during "sun-bonnet" weather will develop into a "vet" by the time winter comes.

WAGES.

Wages are a perpetual reminder of man's inferiority to man. When all men are equal there will then be no necessity for them.

Wages are in reality a blind, introduced by the party in control to fool the party not in control into the belief that they are free.

Formerly the vassals of an over-lord gave their allegiance to him and supplied him in kind with everything that they could make for him. Now they are just as much bound to him only they don't know it, because he pays them wages. But these wages that he pays them he gets directly from them. What it amounts to is that, as they work for him, they take only a small part of the product for themselves—or, rather, he allows them only a small part. He takes the rest, puts it in the bank or buys securities with it, or anything else by which he can double his money in a given time. Thus he is enabled to control more, because he can pay more wages.

The only difference between the old system and the new is that in former times men were frankly slaves. They were called slaves and known as such. Now they are also slaves, but it is more expedient to give them the delusion that they are free.

When they strike they are condemned for interfering with the "rights of property."

Thus the whole system is complete even to the voting power. For men vote only for those who are "sanctioned" by the party in control.

When anybody kicks and tells the truth he is put down as a fanatic or dreamer. If the kick is strong enough and attracts the attention of the "plain people," Mr. Harriman, Mr. Hill, Mr. Rockefeller, Mr. Gould and other lofty patriots come out with interviews in the papers, in which they say that an era of prosperity is bearing down so hard on us as to bring the tears of joy to all eyes.—Life.

THE TIME TO BOOST IS NOW.

Last November our International Union was the NINTH in point of numerical strength of the International Unions affiliated with the A. F. of L.; whether we go forward or fall back depends on your personal effort quite as much as it rests with your general officers and the officers of your local union. There is one and only one way to maintain and improve our position from a numerical point of view, that consists in having you and your fellow members everywhere getting busy and keeping busy urging and convincing your non-union co-workers that they should become members of your union. Just for a moment think what a boost in membership our International Union would enjoy if each local could show one member increase for the next twelve months. Just one member per local—that does not sound big, does it? Surely we should be able to make that average—what do you think about it?

USE OF THE SOFT PEDAL.

Laws and rules created for the guidance of men and women in labor organizations usually direct attention to the need of "keeping one's mouth shut" about the plans and program of an organization after one has left the meeting room. The warning does not by any means convey the impression that unions are engaged in any unlawful acts or propose to be engaged in such; the need of silence so far as proposed activities are concerned, must appeal to the sound thinker, for it is a fair conclusion to reach that if, for instance, a wage scale or reduction of hours were contemplated by the union, it would be very unwise to warn employers in advance, for they might assume an attitude of contrariness which would prevent carrying out reasonable plans for sane progress.

Discussing before non-members the business affairs of your union is both uncalled for and unnecessary. Non-members without knowledge of your union's plans may overhear part of your discussion and draw therefrom conclusions which all the facts seldom warrant. The reason why unions hire halls to meet in is to enable the members to meet at stated periods and discuss the welfare of the union, make such plans and perfect such arrangements as will produce whatever result the majority seek. If it was the intention that the members were to discuss union matters indiscriminately and at any place, then the need of wasting money for halls to meet in is doubtful business tactics, it is a useless waste of good money.

There is no law to prevent one or two members in the privacy of their homes and between themselves discussing proposals which the union has under consideration, but the moment they permit their conversation to be overheard by non-members, just that instant are they treading on dangerous ground and probably making unnecessary trouble for their union or creating obstacles which will prove hard to overcome.

Free and frequent discussion of any subject which your union may have up for solution is urged, but make sure to put the Soft Pedal on your conversation when non-members are within hearing. If you have reasonable doubts as to whether outsiders can hear you, then Safety First is a good warning. DON'T TALK ABOUT THE BUSINESS OF YOUR UNION outside of your meeting rooms.

During the editor's visit to San Francisco he had the pleasure of meeting Fred Manning, editor and publisher of Punch, a semi-monthly publication which made many friends during its career, but an insufficient number ready to supply the mazuma to warrant Brother Manning to continue his tremendous task of championing the cause of the beverage trades. The barboys, hotel and saloon men of the Pacific Coast were guilty of a serious blunder when they permitted such an aggressive live wire to become the victim of their lack of support. But Fred Manning is one of those crusaders who never give up or cry quits, and we won't be surprised to see him launch another champion for the cause to which he has devoted a very busy life. We understand Fred contemplated making Los Angeles his stamping ground in the future. We congratulate our folks in that city, for if Fred becomes one of them, they will find they have profited at the expense of their sister city, for Manning is a little gentleman worth knowing and calling friend.

A WHOLESOME PRAYER.

Teach me that sixty minutes make one hour, sixteen ounces one pound, and one hundred cents one dollar.

Help me to live so that I can lie down at night with a clear conscience, without a gun under my pillow, and unhaunted by the faces of those to whom I have brought pain.

Grant, I beseech Thee, that I may earn my meal-ticket on the square, and in doing thereof that I may not stick the gaff where it does not belong.

Deafen me to the jingle of tainted money and the rustle of unholy skirts. Blind me to the faults of the other fellow, but reveal to me mine own.

Guide me so that each night when I look across the dinner-table at my wife, who has been a blessing to me, I will have nothing to conceal.

Keep me young enough to laugh with my children and lose myself in their play.

And when comes the smell of flowers, and the tread of soft steps, and the crushing of the hearse's wheels in the gravel out in front of my place, make the ceremony short and the epitaph simple: "Here Lies a Man."

—Homer McKee.

If your fellow worker has so far resisted your urgings to make out an application to become a member of your local union, don't get discouraged. Just sit down and think over a new plan of attack. Perhaps your powers of persuasion haven't been exhausted—if they have, don't hesitate to call for help from your fellow members. You can't afford to allow non-union workers to work beside you indefinitely.

LUXURY IN A DRY TOWN.

The Newton, Ill. Press, in describing an event which happened in that town some time back, says that "A pleasant surprise was tendered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. G. in honor of their daughter's 19th birthday. Refreshments were served, consisting of pie, cake, bananas, candy, pickles, beans, and onions."

Some day a real meal will be served in the presence of the newsgatherer of the Press and we predict that he will throw something akin to a coniption fit. Pickles, beans, onions and pie—a pleasant surprise—huh!

PALACE OF NERO HAD ELEVATORS.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 5.—The palace of Nero had three elevators.

In the year 6 A. D. an income tax was established in Rome on all incomes in excess of $4,000.

The hobble skirt was one of fashion's decrees in the days of Moses.

These and many other interesting facts going to show that life among the ancients was not so different from that of today were brought out by Prof. Camden M. Cobern, explorer and archaeologist, who has just returned from a trip to Palestine.

Prof. Cobern pointed out that the Jews had three different systems of shorthand reporting in the first century and that in every Jewish court a shorthand reporter, or clerk, sat on each side of the judge. Many of the Roman aristocrats took "stenographers" with them upon their travels.

As to homes, the ancients made the New York millionaires look like "pikers."

Prof. Cobern says he has read in manuscripts dug from ancient tombs and houses of a Roman who spent $12,000,000 upon decorations for his houses.

Another plutocrat spent $90,000,000 in one year. Even Nero was no slouch when it came to "burning money." On one occasion he spent $175,000 for roses on his banquet tables. The roses were brought from Egypt.

Some of the other advantages enjoyed by the ancients, according to Prof. Cobern, follow:

In St. Paul's time there were 70 labor unions in Rome.

There were several great monopolies in the first century, the greatest of all being the oil business.

The "trust" had not cornered kerosene, which was unknown at that period, but dealt in olive oil and the like.

There also were monopolies in eggs, perfumes and bricks.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

ALWAYS ON THE JOB.

Hardly had the roll-call of law-makers down at Washington been finished and the fate of the Hobson Bill known, before a conference of the Anti-Saloon advocates was well under way to perfect plans and carry on a persistent agitation without appreciable interruption. Even during the remainder of the session of Congress it was noted that every chance for an utterance which could be used by the Antis was gotten into the Record, so that their spell-binders could point to the Record and prove upon their statements.

Hobson and his associate DRY advocates took advantage of the privilege accorded to members of Congress, had their DRY speeches printed in pamphlet form and mailed them out to thousands upon thousands of voters in disputed territory. As late as May 15, 1915, Congressman Hobson was still sending his speech to editors, and in the following language calling their attention to parts therein: "In my Temperance speech you will note that I urge federal constitutional prohibition only against the "sale" for "beverage purposes," and leave to the taxing power of Congress and to the reserved rights of the States the whole question of controlling personal use and the question of use for other than beverage purposes." May we inquire what our folks are doing to prevent the Antis from winning success?

LIQUOR QUESTION.

The liquor question is in no sense political except as politicians, more or less unscrupulous, have sought to and succeeded in making it such. Viewed either as an economic question or as a sumptuary measure interfering with individual rights, there is no good reason why opinion should be bent and swayed by the powerful influence of party politics.

If ever there was occasion to make appeal to the voter of Ohio for his honest, unbiased and uninfluenced opinion, to find expression at the polls, the time therefor will have arrived next November. Whatever of political influence has heretofore been brought to bear; whatever wiles of the politician have had their bearing upon the liquor traffic issue, these should be forgotten and the bare wet and dry cause be fought out upon the clear cut issue of individual liberty versus unlimited restriction, confiscation versus the rights of property.

We assume that the forces of prohibition will resort, as heretofore, to the inflammation of individual prejudices, to the don't care and don't think characteristics of some electors. Such appeals to these classes are un-American and violate all concepts of liberty, in its higher sense. Restrictive legislation very properly has attempted and has succeeded largely in eliminating abuses which unlimited freedom of the traffic in former years had given birth to. Further legislation and execution of the laws may, in time, become necessary to place the manufacture and sale upon a still higher plane. Real lovers of their kind have always advocated that in this case, as in all others, business should be conducted decently and in order. But the grand body of Ohio citizenry has heretofore refused to acknowledge the principle and practice of absolute prohibition deeming the same a sham, incapable of enforcement and vividly illustrating the futility of laws which are observed, at best, only in letter but not in spirit.

It is the privilege and duty of each person to help create honest, healthy sentiment. Every good citizen will aid in the same. No community is better than a majority of its people want it to be and will assist in making it. We may blind ourselves, if we will, to social conditions, we may speciously argue that the only way to do a thing is to "do it," yet the task which confronts the reformer, real or other, must be susceptible of accomplishment at the time and in the manner proposed.

It is needless to say that prohibition never did prohibit. The history of the last fifty years is full of evidence on that point. The traffic has, however, been placed upon a plane, immeasurably higher, through the enactment and faithful execution of latter-day restrictive measures, and by them only.—Cincinnati Record, April 9, 1915.

HIS DEFENSE.

"Your wife alleges that you were cruel to her," charged the Judge; "that you first insulted her, then knocked her down and trod upon her. How about it?"

"Dis about it," responded Elder Berry, "dis much, an' den some."

"Me an' dat woman been trappelin' double 'bout leben days. I done tuk her to be de wife o' mah buzzum, an' fudehmo':

"Day befo' yistiday evenin' I come moseyin'

'long homewards 'bout supeh time. I has a quarteh's worth o' po'k chops under mah arm, an' peace an' satisfaction in mah soul. I stepped into de house, an' she riz up offen her cheer, picked up dat cheer an' hung it roun' mah neck same's a crate roun' turkey gobbler.

"Den, youh honah, not satisfied wif so much, she slammed me smack in de stummick wif a chunk o' stove wood an' knocked me sittin' flat in de corner. Den she flung de dishes at me, an' dat cheer, den she come busin' me fust on one side, den on t'other, wif dat stove wood again.

"De cheer an' me dodged de bes' we wuz able, but we bofe got sawt o' in one anuddah's road, an' ebbery now an' again de chunk hit de cheer an' de cheer hit me. An' all de while dat female kep' usin' de mos' insultin' langwidge herself.

"Po'k chops—smack!—niggeh—smack!—got po'k chops, ain't you?—smack! Wha's dat two bits I sent you to colled' f'um Miss Annabelle fo' dat white washin' I done laboher over? Po'k chops—smack! Dat two bits I wuz gwine to spend fo' de decoratin' fo' de new hat I wuz gwine to wear to de Sistehs of John de Baptists's sociable. Po'k chops—smack!—dat's wha' it am!"

"An' ebbery time she say 'smack!'—laik dat—she lamm me annudeh one wif dat chunk.

"Jedge, youah honah, dat jes' seemed to be mo' dan I could endure, specially f'um a strange nigga I ain't known mo'n two weeks at the mos'es.' Me an' dat cheer got up in de corner, an' I sez: 'Is you all gwine to continue dis bizniz?' An' she sez: 'Smack!—po'k chops, nigga—smack!'

"An, den all I sez wuz: 'Stand outen mah way, woman, stand outen mah way, I'se gwine to git onmarried right now!'

"An', ef she done got sawt o' spiled about some as I wuz passin', dat ain' no fault o' mine." —New York Times.

STRONG MAN.

He proudly shows his biceps grand
And gives his friends to understand
That he's a miracle of strength,
Explains the laws of health at length
And names a diet that will give
The feeblest man the force to live.

He spends whole evenings at the gym
In exercise to keep him slim,
Then hurries home at half past ten
And eats enough for two strong men.
Soon, noting in his weight a gain,
He says from food he will abstain.

He talks about his measurements
As if he hadn't any sense,
Apollo if compared with him
Would seem deformed in every limb;
Venus de Milo, you'd have guessed,
Had a curved spine and hollow chest.

This perfect man, this Hercules,
Is intellectual as a cheese;
He does not dare to work, I've found,
For fear 'twill make him muscle bound.
One thing you find, as you inspect him,
He's good for—doctors might dissect him!

—Chicago News.

THE PROFESSIONS.

The Census Report Has Decided Just Who Are In That Class.

The census has provided us a definition of "the professions." A good many folk have wondered a good many times what the "professional classes" were. The census has decided. They constitute:

- Actors.
- Architects, designers, draftsmen, etc.
- Artists and teachers of art.
- Clergymen (including religious and charity workers).
- Dentists.
- Journalists.
- Lawyers (including abstractors, Notaries and Justices of Peace).
- Literary and scientific persons.
- Musicians and teachers of music.
- Physicians and surgeons (including non-medical healers).

School teachers and professors in colleges, etc. Next to the satisfaction of knowing who may be referred to as professional people the census bulletin brings striking information in regard to the numbers of these professional individuals. Thus, in the decade from 1900 to 1910 there was an increase of 95 per cent in the number of men and 88 per cent in the number of women actors. The number of male architects, etc., increased 110 per cent, and of women in this profession 200 per cent. "Literary and scientific persons" increased, the men 103 and the women 126 per cent. Lawyers are actually at the bottom of the list; the number of men increased 6.5 and of women 33 per cent. The number of clergymen increased in the aggregate rather little, the men in the profession 15 per cent and the women 184 per cent. In school and college teaching men's numbers grew 14 and women's 48 per cent.

The "professions," it will be observed, are very comfortably keeping up with the general growth of the country, and then some. Notwithstanding, there are great numbers of people that believe in shutting out immigrants and deporting the colored people, the two classes which, decade by decade, do increasingly large proportions of the mere despised "work" of the country. Without them we should surely be in a bad way.—New York Press.

THE KAISER'S INCOME.

He Gets $500,000 a Year From a $100,000,000 Estate.

Thanks to the advice of financiers who, for obvious reasons, he admitted to his friendship, the Kaiser's private fortune has increased to such an extent of late years that it was estimated a short time ago by the eminent German authority, Herr Rudolph Martin, that he is easily the richest man in Germany, having an annual income of £1,000,000 derived from possessions valued at approximately £20,000,000.

Apart from the Kaiser's fortune, his son, the Crown Prince, has a separate income of £50,000 drawn from property valued at nearly £1,000,000, while the Kaiser's brother, Prince Henry, enjoys some £30,000 a year on account of an estate worth half a million. Altogether the principal members of the Hohenzollern family own property valued at approximately £25,000,000.

The Kaiser's fortune has been mainly built up by investments in many businesses. He has some very large holdings in the big German steamship lines, is extensively interested in the diamond-mine enterprises of German West Africa, owns forests and lands to the value of three and a half millions, carries on a large lumber business, and has a horse-breeding establishment in Western Prussia which brings him in a handsome revenue. Furthermore, he has great financial interests in a municipal lager-beer brewery at Hanover, and founded an extensive pottery factory on his private estates at Cadeninen.

Altogether the Kaiser owns about 40 castles and country houses, valued at £2,000,000, and various property in Berlin, approximately worth £1,000,000. In seven different provinces he owns 74 estates, comprising close on half a million acres.

It is interesting to note that ever since Germany began to make preparations for a great war the Kaiser has been investing immense sums of money on the other side of the Atlantic. He is one of the largest landowners in the Western States—not in his own name, of course—and owns a considerable section of property in the West of Canada. So notorious is the fact that it was at one time a standing joke at Vancouver that, although the Kaiser was a large owner of property in a certain district, he declined to join the local ratepayers' association, which would have been materially assisted in its propaganda by the use of his name.

According to financial experts, the Kaiser's numerous investments in America can only mean one thing. To quote the words of one of these experts: "They indicate very plainly that the Kaiser, at the time when he was preparing to stake the fortunes of his dynasty upon an attempt at the conquest of Western Europe, was also preparing for the possibility of failure by consolidating huge financial resources in the United States and the neighboring Dominion, in case he had to escape to that part of the world."

FIGURES TO THINK ABOUT.

The distillers of Peoria, Ill., the largest producers of distilled spirits in the world, have paid the national government in the last thirteen years enough money to build the Panama Canal. These figures became public with the retirement of Percival G. Renick, collector of internal revenue since 1901. In that period he collected $408,524,861.

A RAP AT JOHN BULL'S WATER WAGON.

If the Prinz Eitel has taken on 50,000 bottles of beer, it is an act of gross disrespect toward King George and Lord Kitchener.—New York World.

WAKE THE BOSS UP.

If perchance you are employed by a man or firm which fails to appreciate the intensity of the campaign being waged against the catering industry, lead them to a copy of THE MIXER AND SERVER and ask them to read some of the firing line items about the two antis. Plenty of employers are as dense on the protection of their investment as some of the fellows which they employ.

CORRESPONDENCE

This Journal will not be Held Responsible for Views Expressed by Correspondents.

JEANETTE, PA.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Pennsylvania State Federation of Labor convention was held in Harrisburg, May 11 to 15.

Representatives of the bartenders, brewery workers, cigar makers, and other trades directly or indirectly affected by the prohibition movement, held a special convention prior to the session of the main organization at which time was organized the Trades Union Liberty League of Pennsylvania.

The purpose of this new league is to oppose legislation which will throw the members of these trades out of work, and also to support any legislation which affects any other labor organization. At all times the league will be in the service of the general organized labor movement. It is earnestly requested that all of the bartenders' local unions and others interested in the State, affiliate.

The following officers of the new league were chosen to serve for one year:

President, Frederick C. Kuebler, brewery workers, of Philadelphia; first vice-president, Edward Ray, bartenders, of Pittsburgh; second vice-president, Wm. J. Krombelbein, brewery workers, of Wilkesbarre; third vice-president, George Ullrich, cigarmakers, of Philadelphia; fourth vice-president, J. Gordon McLean, musicians, Reading.

Peter Bollenbacher, brewery workers, of Pittsburgh, was elected secretary-treasurer.

The next regular convention will be held at Beaver Falls, two days before the convention of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Labor.

Resolution adopted by the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor:

WHEREAS, Our forefathers, in their first declaration of principles saw the wisdom of incorporating therein a guarantee to every citizen of this great United States, the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; and

WHEREAS, Any action of the General Assembly of this State that could be construed as to restrain, suppress or stop the sale of malt or spirituous liquor in any county of this commonwealth, would be contrary to the fundamental principles incorporated in the above mentioned declaration, and would be striking at the very foundations of the true principles of Americanism, and as such action would be an abridgement of personal liberty; therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the delegates to the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor convention, in regular session assembled, stand unalterably opposed to any action of the General Assembly of this State in enacting any legislation that would in any county of this commonwealth.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year for the Pennsylvania State Federation of Labor:

President, James Maurer, Reading; secretary-treasurer, C. F. Quinn; first vice-president, Harry W. Semple, Philadelphia; second vice-president, A. P. Bower, Reading; third vice-president, John F. Meyer, Jeanette; fourth vice-president, W. Kelly, Wilkesbarre; fifth vice-president, Theo. Eichhorn, Erie; sixth vice-president, R. F. Kirchner, Scranton; seventh vice-president, Wagaman, McSherrystown. For auditors, Frank Snyder, Philadelphia; Henry Steinacker, Allentown. Delegate to A. F. of L. convention at San Francisco, D. A. Post.

The next regular convention will be held at Beaver Falls in May, 1916.

It is important that every B. I. L. local in the State be represented inasmuch as quite a number have not been represented heretofore.

I remain,

Respectfully yours,

JOHN McDEVITT, Chairman,
Local 115, Philadelphia.

JOHN F. MEYER, Secretary,
Local 854, Jeanette, Pa.

COLUMBUS, OHIO.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Local 505 is pleased to inform the readers of our excellent official magazine, the MIXER AND SERVER, that we are making steady headway and gaining a fair share of new members. Trade conditions in our city are far from encouraging; some attribute this slowness to the turmoil going on across the ocean, but whatever is the underlying cause, we trust it will get a move on itself and depart.

Quite a few of our members are without steady employment, and we are putting forth every bit of energy in order to make room for them and give them a chance to keep going forward.

This city is now, and has been for years, afflicted with a rather shiftless aggregation of colored waiters, who seem satisfied to work for board and lodgings; needless for me to say, that the hotel and restaurant owners are glad of that fact, but we propose to energize things to some extent and endeavor to do one thing or the other—organize these colored men and make them seek wages equal to what we receive, or make it pleasanter for them in some other section of the country. We are not drawing the color line, but we do believe they should stick up for the principle of "a fair day's wage for a fair day's labor," and they are not doing that now.

Brother Lee of Local 216 of Toledo, paid us a visit and urged us to keep our union going and win results.

We are especially fortunate in having Brother Edward Barrow acting as our secretary-treasurer; he never misses a meeting and is always hustling for the benefit of our union.

Trusting that all affiliated locals are making the best progress, I am, with greetings to all members of our International Union,

Yours fraternally,

JOHN POPP,
President Local 505.

TOLEDO, OHIO.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The big event has happened. On the evening of June 23rd the house warming or opening occurred at 8 o'clock. President James Overmyer gave an address of welcome to about 200 members and friends. Jodie Johnson presided at the piano and rendered some very fine selections throughout the evening. Singing by Bro. Earl Parker and quartette was greatly enjoyed. There were several boxing bouts; to tell which was the most enjoyed would be difficult—even Johnnie Wahl laughed. Bro. Komrofsky vs. Bro. Smith, 3 rounds, Smith lost; Sullivan vs. McFadden, 2½ rounds, interfered with by Policeman Bro. Frank White, and he is one of the finest. I'll say, he is some policeman.

Bros. "Dunkhorst" McCauley and Spider Bell, 1½ rounds, Bell lost on a foul. Ollie Pecord was referee, so everyone knows they were on the square. At 9 p. m. our spacious hall was crowded. Bro. Alex Miller was the chief dispenser, assisted by several waitresses of 335, and waiters of our local, who served plenty of the good things to eat and to drink.

Bro. P. J. Soper was the first to be arrested by Officer White, charged with working without wearing the union button while on duty.

A very large and handsome bouquet of flowers decorated the head of the table, presented by Waitresses Local 335.

John A. Scott & Co. presented a bouquet which was very fine. I think perhaps about 12 years would be a fair guess at the age. He knows what we like.

Bro. Louie Kohler assisted by Bro. Jim Ridley had an entertainment of their own and they were kept busy. After midnight the tables were loaded again, and a cabaret entertainment put on so that the boys who worked late were not slighted. Tickets Overmyer was stationed at the first landing with tickets to sell. Bro. Stankord was inside to receive them.

This was one of the most enjoyable functions ever pulled off by 216, and great thanks are extended to the committee which consisted of Bros. Smith, Komrofsky, Asche, H. Overmyer, J. Overmyer, Thomas, Baum, Porter and Flynn.

We dare say every one who attended was well pleased and heartily satisfied with the entertainment and those who missed it have lost an opportunity never to be regained.

With fraternal greetings, I remain,

Yours truly,
FRED T. STOUTENBURG,
Press Secretary, Local 216.

VANCOUVER, B. C.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Owing to circumstances over which I had no control, I have been unable to contribute to the MIXER AND SERVER for the past two or three issues, and, as I am still on the injured list, my contribution to the official Journal this month will, therefore, be the soul of brevity. We have just been through the turmoil of our semi-annual election of officers, with the result that the following brothers and sisters will guide the destinies of Local 28 for the ensuing six months: President, W. T. Lines; vice-president, John Cumming; business agent, A. Graham; chaplain, Chas. Davis; recording secretary, Thos. G. Crombie; inspector, Wm. McWhirter; executive board, John Cumming, Wm. McWhirter, Ed Cosgrove, W. G. Johnston, W. T. Lines; local joint board, A. Graham, Blanche Cosgrove, W. G. Johnston; trades and labor council, A. Graham, M. A. Martyn, Thos. G. Crombie, Blanche Cosgrove, Ed Cosgrove, press agent, John Cumming.

At the close of our installation a vote of thanks was tendered Bro. Chas. Davis, the retiring president, a similar tribute being accorded Business Agent Graham for his excellent services during the past term.

Business conditions in this city and vicinity are still in a state of coma with no immediate prospect of any improvement, so I hope that traveling members who find time during their wanderings to read the MIXER AND SERVER will govern themselves accordingly.

As I have no doubt that this issue of the MIXER AND SERVER will contain a mass of much more valuable and interesting reading matter than that which is likely to be submitted by local press agents, I will not take up any more of your space.

With best wishes to yourself and the general membership, I am,

Fraternally yours,
JOHN CUMMING,
Vice-President and Press Agent, Local 28.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Fine, great, bully, class, real class, that's the proper way to describe our fifteenth anniversary celebration given on Sunday, May 16, in Musicians' Hall.

The members of the local and their many friends gathered expecting a big time, and from the final report we learn that there was not one disappointed. Words are inadequate to describe the glorious time we had. A fine musical program was prepared and rendered under the able leadership of Mr. Harry Moran of the Musicians' Union. Mr. John W. Altman made a splendid address, touching on the importance of organization and the duties we owe every brother. His address was well received.

After the business session was concluded President John Horan presided over the session in a masterly manner. Fine speeches were made by R. W. King of the Trades Council, W. D. Friedman of the Musicians' Union, R. B. Kelly and others. An elegant dinner in courses was served, and to say it was enjoyed would be putting it mildly. The following committee arranged and put through this grand affair: John Horan, chairman; Hugh Connecke, Claude E. Pearson, Horace Keenan, Roy Lochrie.

This affair was the farewell and last celebration before the close of the saloons in Alabama on July 1st, but we will retain our organization, as there will be enough of the true and tried to make it heard from in the future.

Alabama, Alabama, with thy blazon motto: "Here We Rest," inscribed on flaming streamers held in the beak of the king of fowls, the eagle, the bird of birds, how grand it once appeared to the eyes of the stranger and citizens alike, but now a change has come over all and in a cloudy sky filled with flying clouds we see a ragged bird, a half-starved woodpecker clinging to a rotten, worm-eaten persimmon tree. In its sharp beak a ragged streamer flops in a polluted breeze and inscribed on the streamer is the words: "Here We Rot." Around this tree we see a motley crew of birds, each has two heads or two faces, and across the breasts of each is a little card inscribed, "Members of Legislature."

Under the mud-smeared wings are pledges made to the people. Each pledge splattered with the mud and slime that clings to their boney toes. As we turn our eyes upward, we see that noble bird, the king of the air, has torn himself loose from the star-bedecked shield, and as he flies over the motley crowd of lesser birds he gives forth one cry, the warning cry, but the bedraggled company dare not take their eyes off the wood-pecker.

The eagle flies on and on, behind him waves the beautiful streamer, but the words are changed, standing out in bold relief are the words: "No Rest Here." And to a sane and glorious country he turns his head, leaving behind the hypocrites and public falsippers—leaves them to the horrors of their own making, the blind tiger, the home saloon where women and children deal out the goods to the same birds that drove the eagle away.

Very truly yours,
CHARLES KUHN.

MARSHALLTOWN, IOWA.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—I have just returned from the convention of the Iowa State Federation of Labor, which was a success. Marshalltown gets the convention in 1916.. I was successful in behalf of Cooks' and Waiters' Local 274 in getting the two following resolutions passed for the benefit of the women workers of Iowa, and I also hope to have them passed by the next legislature:

"Be it Resolved by the State Federation of Labor of Iowa, in convention assembled at Cedar Rapids, Ia., June 8, 9, 10, 11, 1915, that the Legislative Committee be instructed to draft a bill and present the same to the next session of the Iowa legislature. Said bill to provide for an eight-hour day for all women employees, except those engaged in domestic service or nurses, except those in training; to provide a prison penalty, only, for the violation of the provisions of such bill by any employer."

"Be it Resolved by the State Federation of Labor, in convention assembled at Cedar Rapids, Ia., June 8, 9, 10, 11, 1915, that the incoming Legislative Committee be instructed to draft a bill to establish by law a minimum wage scale for women wage workers, except those engaged in domestic service and women engaged as nurses, except those in training."

Brother Sweeney, the hardest worker Local 274 ever had, is attending the convention at San Francisco.

Yours fraternally,
W. C. GANTT, Local 274.

FRED FULCHER,
President Local 196, Buffalo, N. Y.

JERSEY CITY, N. J.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Kindly insert in the MIXER AND SERVER the following poem:

TAFT'S KNOCK.

Again Bill Taft got his hammer out,
And swats poor labor another clout;
Labor leaders breed discontent,
Is that what Bill really meant?
Bill was counted a very bright man,
Now he's amongst the also ran.
Was it because he got in a tangle?
By not looking at things from every angle.
We the common people really expect,
Men whom we vote for and elect;
To look at things in the proper light,
And give to labor only what is right.
Labor has had leaders that went wrong.
Politicians and bankers joined that throng.
Bill was lenient with a banker named Morse.
Who was he? Why a big financier of course.
Now with some politicians we can't agree,
Because they try to hand us number twenty-three.
There's bills in the legislature that should be passed.
Even in child labor bills we are harassed.
Big financiers in their greed for gold,
Work children in factories twelve years old.
If some politicians would cease being tools.
These children could be kept in schools.
Our State prisons would not be so full,
If they would only quit the bull.
Let those children's fathers get square pay.
Then labor leaders won't have a word to say.
Then we'll have a generation,
That will be an honor to our nation,
After our kids get a little education.

Yours fraternally,

FRANK BURNS,
Corresponding Secretary, Local 575.

Digitized by Google

EL PASO, TEXAS.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Just a few lines to let the membership of the International Union know what is going on in this semi-western city and also in Local 848.

Trade conditions in this community are only fair. Most all of our members are working. We have a membership at present of 72, but there is room for many more who are working at the culinary craft here. With the number of houses we have signed up, it should only be a matter of a short time until we have a 100 per cent organization.

We have witnessed the closing of another Chinese restaurant. While there were nothing much but Chinese restaurants a few years ago, the people have seen the handwriting on the wall, and now only about five such places remain that cater to the American trade. If any one doubts the fact that Local 848 has not been the case of the demise of these Chinese places, all they need to do is to ask any well informed citizen of El Paso, and the members are reinvigorating the movement to do away with them entirely, which we hope will not be many months off.

On May 17 Local 848 decided to send a delegate to the Eighteenth General Convention and appointed a committee to devise ways and means for defraying the expenses, the result of which was the arranging and giving of a dance on May 29, which was well attended and considered a success, morally, socially, and exceptionally so financially, considering the time the committee had to pull it off. But we were not successful in the undertaking of sending a delegate, and consequently Bro. Doc Eastwood, who was elected delegate, was very badly disappointed, as was also the local in not being represented at San Francisco.

On May 31, Bro. O. F. Heffelfinger, our secretary and business agent, resigned, and Bro. R. A. Goodding was elected to fill out the term of one month. Brother Heffelfinger expected a good position in this vicinity, but the job failed to materialize, and he left for his old home in Cincinnati, O., with the good will and best wishes of the local.

At our meeting on June 7 nominations were in order for a few of the more important offices, and resulted as follows: Bros. E. D. Skinner and J. C. (Doc) Eastwood for president; Sister Bessie Cupples, first vice-president; Bro. Tobe Miller, second vice-president; R. A. Goodding, financial secretary and business agent; Bros. John Guiden and E. F. Gilbert for recording secretary. The lack of opposition for some of the offices seems to show the harmonious spirit of the meeting and the confidence of the members in the men and women nominated.

The proposition of a headquarters or social club is being talked of by the membership, and travelers coming this way a few months hence will probably be able to find the secretary without going to his place of employment, as well as a place to spend their idle time other than on the streets.

Begging pardon for taking up so much time and space, believing it pardonable at this pre-convention and semi-annual election time, I remain

Fraternally yours,

R. A. GOODDING, Local 848.

BOSTON, MASS.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following resolutions were adopted by Bartenders' Local 131, Newark, N. J., forwarded to Local 77, and ordered sent you for publication.

Yours truly,
THOS. H. GERRAUGHTY,
Acting Secretary Local 77.

To the Officers and Members of Bartenders' Local 77, Boston, Mass.:

DEAR SIRS AND BROTHERS—At the regular meeting of Bartenders' Local 131, Newark, N. J., held Sunday afternoon, May 23, 1915, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, Almighty God, in His wisdom, has summoned from earth our esteemed brother and comrade, WILLIAM DALY WILSON, who traveled into Bartenders' Local 131, Newark, N. J., a few years ago; and

Whereas, Those of us who knew him, loved and respected him for his sterling qualities and upright character in all walks of life; and

Whereas, We cherish in memory his noble manhood and his loyalty and faithfulness to his principles of justice and fair dealing to all; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the sympathies of Bartenders' Local 131, Newark, N. J., be extended to the bereaved family and relatives, and to Bartenders' Local 77, Boston, Mass.; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the International for publication.

(Signed) PHIL J. WARSHAUER,
AUGUST MEISTER,
WILLIAM C. GREEN,
Committee on Resolutions.

CLEVELAND, O.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Owing to a recent order from police headquarters, we are to lose our bar on June 26. This means the loss of much revenue. The bartenders, printers and many other organizations will suffer likewise, although we are trying to find a loophole whereby we will be able to continue the bar. There seems to be some discrimination shown in this matter of closing up the clubs, and the mayor served notice on the chief of police that these discriminations must stop, the interpretation of which means that all social clubs must close, or those clubs that have been ordered closed will reopen.

We are to hold the nominations for our officers later this year than last, owing to the fact that our delegates to the convention are all eligible to office, thus making the election a little later and giving them an opportunity to do some campaigning. Nominations will be held Friday, July 23; election on Friday, July 30, and the installation of the new officers on Friday, August 6, 1915. This year promises to bring forth many candidates for the various offices, and much interest is already being manifested by the members as to the probable candidates, hence we look forward to a spirited contest.

At our last regular meeting we initiated two new members, and some of our former members have returned with traveling cards, with the result that the situation remains as formerly, a larger supply of waiters than there is a demand for. Tourist waiters are again advised not to make a too lengthy stay when they arrive in this city, for work is none too plentiful for our present members. Eight members worked at Luna Park Saturday night, and eight more will be booked for the coming Wednesday for the same place. We sent a few members to Lorain last week during the Eagles' convention, and the P. O. C. Brewing Company used three men at their "blow out" last week.

Monday, June 7, we were shocked upon receiving news of the death of Mrs. Jennie Farrell, wife of our president, Bro. Thomas S. Farrell. Mrs. Farrell was an able assistant to Brother Farrell in the labor movement. She was well known by many members of Local 106, and of other labor organizations, all of whom paid her their last tribute. Funeral services were held at the home of Brother Farrell on Wednesday, June 9. A large number of members of Local 106 turned out in a body to pay their last respects to the departed and to express their sympathy to Brother Farrell in the hour of his bereavement. Immediately after the services at the residence the body was taken to Ravenna, O. to be placed in its last resting place.

Fraternally yours,
E. J. CARTER,
Press Secretary Local 106.

BALTIMORE, MD.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—One of the most interesting meetings in the career of Local 532 happened Sunday, June 13, 1915, at Progress Hall, 416 W. Fayette street, the new temporary headquarters of the local, with President Flanagan in the chair. The chief topic was the reorganization of the Boosters' Committee, of which Bro. Morris W. Baseman is chairman. Brother Baseman asked the co-operative help of all members of Local 532, to which there was numerous contributions. I wish to state that the Boosters' Committee has been working hard for their new home, and if all members help the home will be one of the finest in the South.

Some praise should be given to Bro. Irvin S. Pentz for the able manner in which he has handled the business affairs of Local 532.

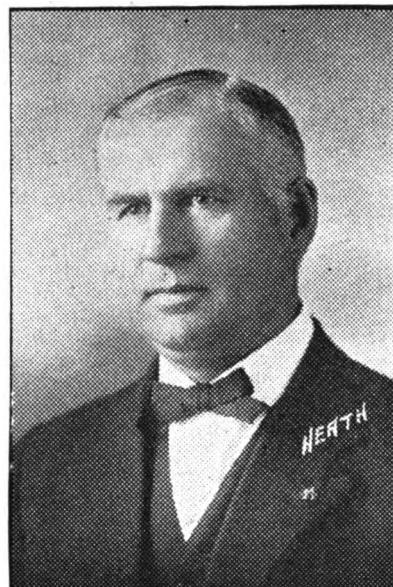

Business is fair at present, but look out for the charter, as it closes January 1, 1916. By that time Local 532 will have a home of its own.

Fraternally yours,
BERNARD STERN,
Press Agent Local 532.

CLEVELAND, OHIO.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—As Local 107 has not been heard from for some time I thought that I would drop a few lines. When I got back from the convention I was surprised to hear of the death of Sister Harriet Plotner, she having been sick for some time, although her death was not expected. As our local has not any local death benefit and have to bury on the $50 from the International, our sisters saw to it that Sister Plotner had the best that could be procured. The funeral was well attended by the sisters and brothers. We want to thank Mr. Gross, superintendent May Co., and waiters and cooks for their assistance in our behalf.

Yours fraternally,
KITTY DONNELLY.
Business Agent Local 107.

E. J. WARREN,
President Local 631, Phoenix, Arizona.
President Arizona State Federation,
President Trades and Labor Council, Phoenix,
Arizona.

KEMMERER, WYO.

The Mixer and Server, Cincinnati, Ohio:

GENTLEMEN—I am enclosing herewith a copy of a resolution that was adopted by the labor locals here the other evening, which we respectfully submit for your kind consideration and publication, if you deem it advisable.

Trusting that you will give this matter your kind consideration and that you are in sympathy with us, I am,

Very truly yours,

FRED HANCEY,
Secretary and Treasurer, Local 688, A. F. of M.,
Box 457, Kemmerer, Wyo..

MEETING OF DELEGATES OF LABOR UNIONS FOR THE PURPOSE OF MAKING PROTEST.

June 7, 1915.

Thomas R. Jones elected chairman unanimously.
Fred Hancey elected secretary unanimously.

The chairman stated the object of the meeting as being to formulate and edit a protest to the governor of the State of Colorado, and the American people at large, against the indictment and conviction of John R. Lawson, David Robb and Louis Zaccanelli, and other labor leaders who took an active part in the recent coal strike in the State of Colorado.

The following resolution was adopted:

FRONTIER, Wyo., June 7, 1915.

WHEREAS, We, the members of Frontier Local No. 2360, U. M. of A., and members of Kemmerer Local Union No. 837, B. I. L. of A., and Kemmerer Local No. 668 of A. F. of M., in meeting conjointly assembled, do hereby unanimously and most vigorously protest against the un-American methods of the Judicial Department, and that life-destroying agency, the greedy coal barons of Southern Colorado, in their use of such unfair methods in railroading to prison by their concocted schemes, our beloved brothers and emancipators of labor, viz.: John R. Lawson, Davie Robb and Louis Zaccanelli; and,

THE MIXER AND SERVER

WHEREAS, We deem it difficult to believe that such methods and conditions would be perpetrated or tolerated in Siberia, much less in this land of the free and home of the brave, the State of Colorado; and,

WHEREAS, We view the prostitution of the courts of justice with an alarm which causes the red American blood to chill in our veins to think that in Ludlow, Colorado, under the shadow of the stars and stripes, our brothers with their wives and children were shot down like wild beasts, and the torch applied to their habitations while they were under fire of machine guns, with the result that nineteen helpless women and innocent children were burned to death at the behest of the selfish and brutal coal barons; and,

WHEREAS, We believe that Justice and Right are the true foundations of Liberty, and that no nation or State can long exist where these conditions do not prevail; and,

WHEREAS, We believe that the system of jurisprudence in our land is as good or better than that of any other country of the world, when free and uncontaminated by predatory and corrupt outside influences, but that they become a menace to the welfare of our nation when dominated by entrenched capital, as we believe has been done in the courts of the State of Colorado; now, therefore, be it

Resolved. That we protest against the aforesaid facts and conditions; that we earnestly direct the attention of the Honorable Governor of the State of Colorado and the American public at large, of our regret of the illegal and unjust methods of those who in a legal capacity and also those who are corrupting the instruments of the law and justice in that State. That we ask of Governor Carlson to use the great talents with which he is endowed, and that he exercise the great powers bestowed upon him as chief executive of the State for the benefit of and in justice to these, our brothers, who stand in danger of their lives and liberties by reason of the aforesaid conditions; and, be it further

Resolved. That we call upon all honest and liberty-loving men and women to demand a halt of such dark age methods; and, be it further

Resolved. That we each and all pledge our loyal support, both financially and morally, in behalf of the aforementioned brothers who have been denied a fair and impartial trial by an American jury, selected in an American fashion; and, be it further

Resolved. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Governor of Colorado, and the District Office of District No. 15, and one each to the Mine Workers' Journal, Wyoming Labor Journal, International Musician, THE MIXER AND SERVER, Kemmerer Republican and Kemmerer Camera, for publication.

JNO. CAMERON.
T. F. EYNON.
THOMAS R. JONES.
FRED HANCEY.
JOSEPH MOTTO.
M. GROSSO.

CHICAGO, ILL.

DEAR SISTERS AND BROTHERS—Now that the convention is over and difference, "imaginary" and real, settled until 1917, when the next convention will meet in St. Louis, let us all go to work again.

The convention acted consistently when it passed the resolution to organize all bartenders and hotel and restaurant workers in the city of Chicago. On behalf of the thousands of workers, organized and unorganized, we take this opportunity to thank the delegates to the Eighteenth Convention for their action, and we feel that we can best show our appreciation when we show our hearty co-operation with the officials and organizers who will be on Chicago's battlefield for the next two years.

The Chicago Association of Food Exchanges, or what may better be known as the Anti-Union Food Trust, will give a "ball game" Tuesday, June 29, at Ward's non-union Federal League Baseball Park; tickets $1. This game is for the purpose of raising money with which to pay the injunction lawyers. I already have two tickets, and will be at the game to give each member of the association a copy of their own injunction, reminding them that union houses, with union house cards, need "not" hold up their friends to help pay injunction framers.

The 14,000 street car and elevated railroad employees, who went on strike for three days, returned to work when Mayor Thompson assured them a fair arbitration and after two aldermen, Kennedy and Rodriguez, demanded the enforcement of the law "that no motorman be permitted to run a street car who has not had thirty days' training by an experienced motorman who has been employed on a street car for one year prior to undertaking such training." This forced all the aldermen either to go on record as law-breakers themselves or prohibit strike-breakers from coming to town. A politician does not like to go on record, for political reasons, as a law or strike-breaker.

Some of our non-union houses will soon be forced to quit business for lack of customers, and there is no donkey standing in front of the places either, as we assume that Chicago judges would not give the same liberty to donkeys that judges do on the Pacific Coast, where the people have given their judges some kind of trade union education, especially on election day. It seems that in California donkeys have more liberty than working girls have in Chicago. It is claimed by Chicago lunch room keepers that trade unions would break up their business; that six days' work and one day's rest would destroy efficiency, and that a ten-hour day would drive cooks to drinking. On the contrary, San Francisco has the best, cleanest and most up-to-date lunch rooms and restaurants in America. They give the best service; the food is cooked the best, and the workers are sober and industrious. It would certainly do our Chicago lunch room keepers good to go to the Panama Exposition and learn the lunch room business at its highest development. The many cooks represented at the Frisco convention would have given new life to them, and we hope that at least double the number will be represented at St. Louis two years hence.

Wishing all the delegates, their locals and friends a successful missionary year, I remain
Fraternally yours, FRED EBELING, Local 865.

BUFFALO, N. Y.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—We held our regular meeting June 18th, and had a large attendance. When the news of Brother Flore's election was read the brothers went wild with joy and also at the defeat of segregation. We had with us Brother Fred Faulcher, president of Local 196, and I can tell you he was one happy man.

Brothers H. D. Kheln and Al Steck are now proprietors of Swartz's Cafe, Tupper and Washington streets. Brother L. Moorhouse is with them. Chas. Basset is at Eimer's Cafe. Tom McCormick is at the Emperial Hotel, Little Falls, N. Y. J. W. Cramer and J. W. Hanvey at Long-John's Cafe. Chas Lytle and J. Riley at Dude Walter's Cafe, Eagle street. W. Watkins and J. McGee are with Neames and Zeitler's at Carnival Court. B. Merlink and Gene Flore are at Flore's Cafe. J. Burns, J. Shea, Joe Harrison and M. J. Crosson at Shea's Buffet. Al Bentzam and Geo. Smith at Empire Hotel. H. Byganay and N. Burns at Lundy's Cafe. Chas. Barth and A. Zilch at Kumph's Cafe. J. Homer, L. J. Herman, Jr., and F. M. Hyer at Alamo Hotel. L. Ward at the Elk's Club. C. Girard, J. Coretti and J. A. Detine at Smith and Maharg's. L. Roth, L. Kaiser and T. Haas at Offerman's. Al Mains is at Steingoeter's Cafe.

With greeting, I remain,

Yours fraternally,

FRANK BROWN,

Press Agent and President, Local 175.

BUFFALO, N. Y.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Just a few lines from Local 196:

On or about July 1st Buffalo Waiters' Alliance will be located in their new headquarters, 48 East Eagle street. Our new club rooms will be second to none in the East. All members passing through Buffalo with a paid-up-to-date card are cordially invited to call at our new club rooms, and you will be well entertained by our officers and members; and the business agent and financial secretary will welcome you, for there isn't anything that pleases a business agent and financial secretary more than to meet a brother with a paid-up-to-date card.

War or no war, Buffalo Alliance is progressing very nicely. We initiated and reinstated seventy-one members since January 1st, although business in our line is not as good as in previous years. Cheer up, brothers, the best is yet to come. Don't knock, boost.

Fraternally yours,

MICHAEL HEALEY,

Business Agent and Financial Secretary,
Local 196.

JEANNETTE, PA.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Bartenders' Union, Local 854, of Jeannette, Pa., celebrated their tenth anniversary on Sunday, June 13th, in the L. O. O. M. Hall. Jeannette Local 854 was organized in this same building on May 5, 1905, at that time known as the Belvedere Club, and we only had about fourteen members at that meeting, the most of us being members in either Local 188, Pittsburgh, and some from other cities. But we soon came to the front, and we have at present, or at our last report, seventy-one members, or nearly a one hundred per cent organization, which is certainly a credit to the ones who have put their shoulder to the wheel and put this local in the

MICHAEL HEALEY,

Business Agent and Financial Secretary Local 196,
Buffalo, N. Y.

condition that it is in at the present time. We certainly are proud to say that we have a very good scale and we do not accept any applicant who is not a voter or a naturalized citizen. So we are composed of men who are a credit to any local union.

Here is the way we celebrated our tenth anniversary, by having a banquet under the direction of Bro. John F. Meyer, our secretary, who was the chief chef.

The committee who assisted to make this affair a success was: Brothers Dunn, Musick, Breining, Wilson, Weisbrecker, Davis, Fagan, Meehan, Gerheim.

The menu was one of the finest, composed of the following: Chicken salad, potato salad, roast beef, roast veal, pickled tongue, sliced ham, home baked beans, pickled eggs and beets, sliced tomatoes, olives, pickles, cole slaw with French dressing, green onions, raddish, strawberries and cake and plenty of suds to rinse down the eats, and good smokes on the side.

Music furnished by Mr. Maxwell as pianist, Grant Hughes, violinist, and a double quartet with all of the latest songs, W. Farrel as comedian, and a fine exhibition of clog dancing.

As guests we had our ex-president, Harry Robinson, of New Kensington local, and Frank Matko, of Ligonier, Pa.

Everyone enjoyed themselves and said that they wish these anniversaries could be held oftener. And it certainly was a credit to all and to organized labor in general the way that our papers boosted the affair. Everything went along smoothly. Brother John Whirlow closing in speaking along the lines of success of our local.

I remain,

Fraternally yours,

JOHN F. MEYER
Secretary Local 854.

CINCINNATI, OHIO.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Local 72 is still making some wonderful strides and everything is going along successfully.

Our worthy business agent, Leonard Griffiths has resigned his office as business agent of Local 72. Brother Griffiths was a sincere unionist, and we are very sorry to see him resign his office, as he was the right man in the right place.

Brother W. H. Day and Thomas Pugh was nominated for business agent June 11; the election was held June 18 and W. H. Day was elected temporarily until September 1, 1915. Our general election for officers is in September.

Every member of Local 72 is acting as individual business agent and we are working in harmony with one another to build Local 72 to a high standard.

The managers of the summer resorts around Cincinnati have no complaints about our men, and our members are working diligently and successfully to make Local 72 one of the best.

All our members are on the firing line for new members and are not sleeping in the trenches. We have plenty of ammunition and we are firing round after round, and every meeting night we are taking in new recruits.

Fraternally,

W. H. DAY.

Business Agent, Local 72.

SYRACUSE, N. Y.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The summer season, now in its height, offers few men employment on account of the coolness of the weather. Any boys figuring on getting employment in Syracuse should change their expectations, as we have men on the out-of-work list and business is quiet in our line at present.

The New York State Fair, to be held here in September, will be larger and better than ever this year, and some cafes are making alterations and preparing for a banner year.

Fraternally yours,

JOE BAKER.

Recording Secretary Local 150.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Again the angel of death has visited our ranks and cut down another brother, one that was weighed in the balance and not wanting.

In the death of Bro. Chas. J. Justin, our local has lost a tried and true brother, the community has given up a loyal citizen. Our loss is felt more than one can realize, and in days to come we will hear his name called and our thoughts will go to his memory, his genial smile full of the sunshine of good fellowship and his manly voice never tiring of giving a kind and helping word, his strong handshake that was given to one backed up by the true force of loyal fidelity—all these and more will be missed. Brother Justin died on May 28th after a long illness that he bore with manly fortitude and was buried with all the honors on May 29th.

Brother Justin was 52 years old, and leaves a good wife and five children to mourn his sad leaving. He was a member of B. I. L. about four years. His funeral was largely attended and the floral offerings were many. The following members of Local 248 acted as pallbearers: James Foster, Date Williams, Fred Consaint, John Wabble, Frank Coffee, Scotty Bryant, Philip Wolf, J. C. Kuhn. The interment was at Elmwood Cemetery.

Fraternally yours,

CHARLES KUHN,
Local 248.

JERSEY CITY, N. J.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—At the annual election of officers of Local 488, held Tuesday, June 4, the following officers were elected: Bro. James Reilly, president; Bro. George Mulligan, vice-president; Bro. John Brown, inspector; Bro. John Gibbons, business agent and financial secretary; Bro. James Trisnan, treasurer; Bro. Thomas Westcott, corresponding and recording secretary; Bro. Harry Herrlein, chaplain; Bro. Henry Wooge, inside guard; Bros. John Cahill, Sr., Edward Degan, Thomas Fleming, board of trustees.

The conditions in our city are very bad at present, and we have over seventy members out of work. The seashore resorts are not hiring any of our men on account of the weather conditions, which is pretty hard on our members just at present. We hope and trust that conditions will be better in the near future.

Fraternally yours,

JOHN T. GIBBONS,
Financial Secretary Local 488.

THE FIRST ELECTION.

Polls Were Kept Open For Three Weeks In Some Counties.

Things were different at the first election of Congressmen 125 years ago. Madison told Washington that over in Jersey they kept the polls open for three weeks in some counties.

Nearly everywhere the voting continued for many days. The law didn't set a time limit and voters argued and delayed. Fancy what some of our more skillful political managers might have accomplished at the past election could they have had the ballot boxes available for a fortnight!

Some men whom we now look back upon as important characters of the Revolutionary period were defeated for Congress at that first trial. Thus old Samuel Adams "fell outside the breastworks."

New York State didn't cast a vote for the first President of the United States, and during most of the original session of Congress she had no Senator. In nearly every respect that initial presidential and congressional election was far less satisfactory and represented a much smaller percentage of the men of voting age than will the election held yesterday.

Although Washington was chosen President, the voters didn't know they were electing him. What they did was to choose uninstructed electors who were free to name any man they favored. But the sentiment of America was such that without direct orders from the voters every one of the 69 electors gave his ballot for him, who 10 years afterward, was designated by a fellow Virginian as first in war, first in peace, first in the hearts of his countrymen.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Proceedings of the Eighteenth General Convention Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America.

HELD AT SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., U. S. A., JUNE 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 AND 19, 1915.

FIRST DAY—MORNING SESSION, JUNE 14, 1915.

The Eighteenth General Convention of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America convened in Hall "C" of the Civic Auditorium in the city of San Francisco, Cal., Monday morning, June 14, 1915. Brother Michael Canny of Local 44, Chairman of the Convention Arrangements Committee, called the gathering to attention, after which he bid them welcome to San Francisco and assured the delegates and visitors that no effort had been spared to make their sojourn in San Francisco and the Bay cities memorable and pleasing. Chairman Canny then presented the Honorable James Rolph, Jr., mayor of San Francisco, and his honor proceeded to tender such a welcome that there was little doubt but what our delegates and their families, as well as friends, were convinced that their stay in San Francisco would be of a pleasant character. Mayor Rolph's address was received with favor and generously interrupted with applause by delegates and visitors. At the conclusion of his honor's welcoming address a motion, by Cozzolino, Local 109, and Cordes, of Local 20, that the convention attest its appreciation by a rising vote, was carried; the delegates following out the suggested action.

Chairman Canny, with appropriate felicitations, then introduced Hon. P. H. McCarthy, ex-mayor of San Francisco and president of the California State Building Trades Council. The honorable ex-mayor is a splendid platform speaker and is at his best when tendering to fellow trades unionists a welcome to the city over which he presided as its chief executive with such gratifying satisfaction to the people of the Golden Gate city.

The former mayor briefly recited some of the early struggles of the pioneer trade union men and women, and was unsparing in bestowal of compliment to the boys and girls of our several locals in San Francisco and laid generous measure of approval on the activity of our allied crafts throughout the State of California. The witty comments of the ex-mayor were greatly appreciated; he concluded his address amidst applause which surely indicated that Brother McCarthy delivered the goods.

Chairman Canny in a few nicely chosen words presented Brother Daniel Haggerty, president of the California Federation of Labor.

President Haggerty welcomed the delegates in behalf of the trades unionists of the State and expressed pleasure in having the opportunity of doing so; he wished us all the good things, including a successful convention.

Brother Paul Scharrenburg, secretary of the California State Federation of Labor, was the next speaker introduced by Chairman Canny. Secretary Scharrenburg made a brief but interesting address and caused the delegates to open their eyes over a recital of the numerous buildings owned and operated as trade union meeting rooms and business quarters.

Chairman Canny next introduced Daniel Murphy, president of the San Francisco Labor Council. President Murphy tendered to the gathered delegates and visitors a cheering and hearty trade union welcome; his address was brief but generous in scope and fully absorbed by all in attendance.

Chairman Canny in introducing the next speaker, Secretary John O'Connell, of the San Francisco Labor Council, paid Brother O'Connell the compliment of attributing to him and his efforts more adjustments for our allied crafts than any member or official of the trade union movement of the city.

Secretary O'Connell modestly declined to bear such a pleasing burden and generously distributed the honors evenly among the men and women of the labor movement of San Francisco—"for without the hearty co-operation of the men and women of organized labor, no official can hope to reap any great measure of success," was the emphatic conclusion expressed by Brother O'Connell.

The next speaker, Brother Alfred Greenbaum, president of the San Francisco Musicians' Union, according to Chairman Canny, represented a union which was working hand in hand with the unions of our International in San Francisco.

At the conclusion of Brother Greenbaum's address, Chairman Canny introduced to the convention Brother Edward Flore, general president of our International Union, and immediately following the introductory, presented to President Flore a beautiful redwood and ebony gavel; attached to the gavel was a plate whereon was suitably engraved date and donors. President Flore made response to the addresses of welcome, thanked the mayor and ex-mayor, the president and secretary of the State and city federation and council, and the president of the Musicians' Union, Chairman Canny and his colleagues on the Convention Arrangements Committee, and the membership of the Bay cities whom they represented in their labors. President Flore also urged the delegates to the convention to co-operate with one another to the end of completing the work of the convention with proper regard to time allotted and efficiency; he dwelt upon the importance of the convention and requested all members of committees to attend the meetings of their respective committees. He laid special stress on absenteeism, urged the chairmen of committees to insist on attendance and report those delegates failing in their duty on the score of attendance. He also requested the chairmen of the various committees to submit their reports as quickly as conditions permitted and thus give the delegates ample opportunity to discuss the findings of each committee. President Flore then declared the Eighteenth General Convention opened for such business as might legally be brought to its attention.

By motion of Delegates McGowan of Local 175, and Graney of Local 212, the convention arose as a token of thanks to the officers of unions of State and city who had tendered us a welcome to the State and city.

President Flore, for and in behalf of Brother Harry Swift, a former member of Local 77 of Boston, presented to Eighth Vice-President Brother John W. Conley, a magnificent basket of fragrant flowers. Vice-President Conley was so surprised that he blushingly confined himself to a few words of thanks.

President Flore announced the following convention appointments: Brothers John P. McGinley of Local 3, New York, and W. E. Horne of Local 827, Joplin, Mo., as assistant secretaries of the convention. Brother A. D. Little, Local 525, Oakland, Cal., sergeant-at-arms, and Brother F. W. Smith, Local 31, Oakland, Cal., messenger.

President Flore also announced the following committee appointments, subject to the action of the Committee on Credentials. He also informed the convention that the Rules and Order of Business of the Seventeenth General Convention would prevail until such time as the Committee on Rules and Order of Business made its report and same was accepted by the convention.

The committee appointments follow:

COMMITTEE ON CREDENTIALS.

C. W. McCurdy, Local 223, Des Moines, Iowa, Chairman.
 J. P. McGinley, Local 3, New York, N. Y.
 James J. Sheehan, Local 10, Hoboken, N. J.
 A. S. Duquette, Local 67, Springfield, Mass.
 Kitty Donnelly, Local 107, Cleveland, Ohio.
 Whinda Gigrich, Local 152, Minneapolis, Minn.

E. L. Ehrman, Local 175, Buffalo, N. Y.
 William Kelly, Local 224, Erie, Pa.
 Agnes Adamack, Local 240, Seattle, Wash.
 Barney McKone, Local 284, Los Angeles, Cal.
 James Riley, Local 312, Chattanooga, Tenn.
 O. D. Norton, Local 420, Kansas City, Mo.
 W. E. Horne, Local 827, Joplin, Mo.

COMMITTEE ON RULES AND ORDER OF BUSINESS.

John J. McDevitt, Local 115, Philadelphia, Pa., Chairman.
 George Hale, Local 2, Brooklyn, N. Y.
 Charles E. Baird, Local 51, St. Louis, Mo.
 Arthur Just, Local 106, Cleveland, Ohio.
 James Hartnett, Local 134, Scranton, Pa.

James Bell, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.
 Oscar Bickerdt, Local 286, Peoria, Ill.
 Frank Bradley, Local 574, Duluth, Minn.
 A. M. J. Prichard, Local 721, Salt Lake City, Utah.

COMMITTEE ON LAW.

Frank Hoffman, Local 152, Minneapolis, Minn., Chairman.
 William Lehman, Local 1, New York, N. Y.
 James N. Butler, Local 43, Pueblo, Col.
 Alfred E. Steiner, Local 44, San Francisco, Cal.
 Robert Lyons, Local 51, St. Louis, Mo.
 Charles Sorweid, Local 64, Milwaukee, Wis.
 Edmund Raleigh, Local 67, Springfield, Mass.
 Thomas J. Durnin, Local 81, Holyoke, Mass.

Michael Goldsmith, Local 108, Cleveland, O.
 A. J. Cozzolino, Local 109, Newark, N. J.
 Ed. McEachern, Local 167, Cleveland, O.
 Frank Madden, Local 200, Hartford, Conn.
 Ida Levi, Local 240, Seattle, Wash.
 Arthur O' Leary, Local 280, Toronto, Ont.
 William F. Kavanagh, Local 575, Jersey City, N. J.
 Charles McKee, Local 815, Salt Lake City, Utah.

COMMITTEE ON RESOLUTIONS.

Robert Hesketh, Local 33, Seattle, Wash., Chairman.
 Harry Kleinman, Local 1, New York, N. Y.
 Conrad Schott, Local 20, St. Louis, Mo.
 Al Condrotte, Local 41, San Francisco, Cal.
 Joseph E. Laycock, Local 80, Boston, Mass.
 Lawrence Nelson, Local 101, Great Falls, Mont.
 Thomas S. Farrell, Local 106, Cleveland, O.

P. J. McGowan, Local 175, Buffalo, N. Y.
 J. Chas. Hackett, Local 188, Pittsburgh, Pa.
 John J. Graney, Local 212, Youngstown, O.
 Alice M. Lord, Local 240, Seattle, Wash.
 W. S. Renfro, Local 378, Bakersfield, Cal.
 A. C. Beck, Local 400, Spokane, Wash.
 Josh Brady, Local 562, Detroit, Mich.
 Fred Somers, Local 603, Sacramento, Cal.
 Fred Ebeling, Local 865, Chicago, Ill.

COMMITTEE ON GENERAL PRESIDENT'S REPORT.

E. Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.,
Chairman.
Fred Wessel, Local 8, Denver, Colo.
E. L. Hollingsworth, Local 33, Seattle,
Wash.
Daniel Regan, Local 41, San Francisco, Cal.
Jacob Schrempf, Local 51, St. Louis, Mo.
Charles Bente, Local 68, Cincinnati, O.

M. W. Lusk, Local 69, Galveston, Texas.
Otto Pattberg, Local 70, Brooklyn, N. Y.
Ernest O'Brien, Local 152, Minneapolis,
Minn.
Thomas Tarrant, Local 196, Buffalo, N. Y.
Mrs. Libbie Messer, Local 220, Eureka, Cal.
Charles Specht, Local 437, Indianapolis, Ind.

COMMITTEE ON GENERAL SECRETARY-TREASURER'S REPORT.

Will L. Bork, Local 312, Chattanooga, Tenn.,
Chairman.
Harry Cordes, Local 20, St. Louis, Mo.
W. W. Levi, Local 33, Seattle, Wash.
F. W. Steinkamp, Local 41, San Francisco,
Cal.
George C. Weiseman, Local 51, St. Louis,
Mo.

Charles Gallagher, Local 68, Cincinnati, O.
E. A. Whissemore, Local 106, Cleveland, O.
Edward Dentinger, Local 171, Rochester,
N. Y.
F. J. Sullivan, Local 204, Elmira, N. Y.
A. B. Hassel, Local 284, Los Angeles, Cal.
E. L. Hiles, Local 420, Kansas City, Mo.
Joe Lane, Local 721, Salt Lake City, Utah.

COMMITTEE ON GENERAL EXECUTIVE BOARD'S REPORT.

James W. Clark, Local 188, Pittsburgh, Pa.,
Chairman.
Lena Hopper, Local 48, San Francisco, Cal.
Fred B. Hobby, Local 106, Cleveland, O.
John A. Schiffert, Local 361, Allentown, Pa.

Claud McClellan, Local 402, San Diego, Cal.
Larry L. Chase, Local 403, Stockton, Cal.
C. S. Rhodes, Local 449, Altoona, Pa.
Joseph Dushek, Local 744, Waco, Texas.
H. H. Edwards, Local 832, Sedalia, Mo.

COMMITTEE ON ORGANIZATION.

Ed. Levi, Local 239, Seattle, Wash., Chairman.
Laura Molleda, Local 48, San Francisco, Cal.
Fred Funk, Local 403, Stockton, Cal.
Timothy Curran, Local 437, Indianapolis,
Ind.
Herman Loorz, Local 525, Oakland, Cal.

J. L. Pauley, Local 585, Charleston, W. Va.
Loretta Wheeler, Local 180, San Jose, Cal.
Thomas Dolan, Local 77, Boston, Mass.
T. H. Wright, Local 31, Oakland, Cal.
W. E. Reynolds, Local 559, Ft. Smith, Ark.
J. E. Green, Local 436, Rock Springs, Wyo.

COMMITTEE ON PROHIBITION AND ANTI-SALOON QUESTION.

J. Jere Dwyer, Local 67, Springfield, Mass.,
Chairman.
Hugo Ernst, Local 30, San Francisco, Cal.
L. A. Pomeroy, Local 62, Fresno, Cal.
Jere F. McCarthy, Local 188, Pittsburgh, Pa.
E. N. Fletcher, Local 603, Sacramento, Cal.

Michael Doyle, Local 867, Ketchikan, Alaska.
John H. Rooney, Local 302, Butte, Mont.
Adolph Berger, Local 458, Minneapolis,
Minn.
Irene Dahl, Local 48, San Francisco, Cal.
W. A. Hoskins, Local 31, Oakland, Cal.

COMMITTEE ON DELEGATES TO THE CONVENTION OF THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR.

John W. Conley, Local 77, Boston, Mass.,
Chairman.
W. B. Joyce, Local 3, New York, N. Y.
Joseph Alge, Local 68, Cincinnati, O.
John T. Collins, Local 108, Cleveland, O.
J. C. Morris, Local 110, San Francisco, Cal.
Ben Gorton, Local 115, Philadelphia, Pa.
Frank McDonnell, Local 134, Scranton, Pa.

Hugh O'Hare, Local 188, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Charles Beyers, Local 196, Buffalo, N. Y.
W. A. Polk, Local 206, Fort Worth, Texas.
George Peterson, Local 284, Los Angeles,
Cal.
Thomas P. Woods, Local 593, Minneapolis,
Minn.

COMMITTEE ON GRIEVANCE.

W. H. Foster, Local 37, Decatur, Ill., Chairman.
V. E. Chapman, Local 30, San Francisco,
Cal.
John Kennedy, Local 110, San Francisco,
Cal.

Patsie Taylor, Local 403, Stockton, Cal.
V. W. LaBelle, Local 651, Seattle, Wash.
Daniel P. Shields, Local 609, Great Falls, Mont.

COMMITTEE ON ASIATICS.

Charles Fleischmann, Local 44, San Francisco, Cal., Chairman.
Frank E. Plate, Local 41, San Francisco,
Cal.
Lettie Gardener, Local 48, San Francisco,
Cal.
Matt Williamson, Local 110, San Francisco,
Cal.

William T. Scully, Local 406, Eureka, Cal.
J. J. Aldridge, Local 550, Bakersfield, Cal.
J. C. Drysdale, Local 558, San Bernardino,
Cal.
E. J. Warren, Local 631, Phoenix, Ariz.

COMMITTEE ON LABELS AND BUTTONS.

Elizabeth Maloney, Local 484, Chicago, Ill.,
Chairman.
Rose Jack, Local 180, San Jose, Cal.
Alex. Blumenthal, Local 17, Los Angeles,
Cal.
Michael H. Canny, Local 44, San Francisco,
Cal.

Maurice DeYoung, Local 70, Brooklyn, N. Y.
Matthew V. Gilbert, Local 76, Syracuse, N. Y.
W. C. Eddy, Local 561, Sacramento, Cal.
Herman Zahn, Local 800, Lafayette, Ind.
Leslie Sinton, Local 458, Minneapolis, Minn.
Philip Hartman, Local 456, Chicago, Ill.

COMMITTEE ON "MIXER AND SERVER."

Fred Schwenker, Local 79, Louisville, Ky.,
Chairman.
A. Zimmerman, Local 41, San Francisco, Cal.
Daniel E. Ford, Local 77, Boston, Mass.
T. F. Vigneux, Local 81, Holyoke, Mass.
A. W. Fraser, Local 110, San Francisco, Cal.
J. A. Kaehn, Local 152, Minneapolis, Minn.

Michael T. Foley, Local 173, Binghamton,
N. Y.
J. A. Eichhorn, Local 222, Dayton, O.
James Redenbaugh, Local 572, Stockton, Cal.
E. H. Lincoln, Local 577, San Jose, Cal.
Jack Reid, Local 603, Sacramento, Cal.
J. F. Gibbons, Local 820, Sheridan, Wyo.

COMMITTEE ON STATE AND DISTRICT BRANCHES.

F. Sesma, Local 284, Los Angeles, Cal.,
Chairman.
Samuel Taback, Local 30, San Francisco,
Cal.
C. P. Hibbard, Local 31, Oakland, Cal.
Thomas Garrity, Local 81, Holyoke, Mass.
S. T. Brent, Local 108, Cleveland, Ohio.

John E. Long, Local 175, Buffalo, N. Y.
George Hibbard, Local 197, Hamilton, Ohio.
Hunter Keith, Local 332, East St. Louis, Ill.
B. Callahan, Local 527, Dubuque, Iowa.
W. P. Burtz, Local 572, Stockton, Cal.
J. L. Feudener, Local 595 Richmond, Cal.

COMMITTEE ON DEFENSE FUND.

James Anderson, Local 420, Kansas City,
Mo., Chairman.
A. C. Rose, Local 30, San Francisco, Cal.
A. A. Mayer, Local 35, Chicago, Ill.
James E. Nelson, Local 376, South Chicago,
Ill.

L. S. Kimball, Local 523, Kenosha, Wis.
Fred C. Schroeder, Local 525, Oakland,
Cal.
S. E. Keenan, Local 699, Marysville, Cal.

COMMITTEE ON REFERENDUM.

P. L. Grace, Local 566, Fresno, Cal., Chairman.
B. K. Steward, Local 14, Denver, Colo.
Theo. Johnson, Local 30, San Francisco,
Cal.
E. R. Abbott, Local 38, Hammond, Ind.
Owen Reynolds, Local 95, Worcester, Mass.

Henry F. Corcoran, Local 77, Boston, Mass.
James Maroney, Local 147, Greenfield, Mass.
Adam P. Hentges, Local 287, St. Paul,
Minn.
W. A. Price, Local 577, San Jose, Cal.
F. E. Merryfield, Local 561, Sacramento, Cal.

COMMITTEE ON FINANCE.

John J. Henley, Local 320, Schenectady, N.
Y., Chairman.
Cecil Givens, Local 14, Denver, Colo.
Ben Parker, Local 35, Chicago, Ill.
Steven R. Bishop, Local 76, Syracuse N. Y.
John J. Griffin, Local 86, Lynn, Mass.

Francis W. Farrell, Local 116, Chicopee,
Mass.
F. Huddleston, Local 203, St. Louis, Mo.
Fred W. Bard, Local 525, Oakland, Cal.
Stephen P. Drake, Local 561, Sacramento,
Cal.
W. A. Powers, Local 768, San Diego, Cal.

COMMITTEE ON SICK AND DEATH BENEFITS.

Paul Steffler, Local 12, San Antonio, Texas,
Chairman.
J. C. Scott, Local 17, Los Angeles, Cal.
Chas. C. Olson, Local 31, Oakland, Cal.
Arthur H. Dodge, Local 44, San Francisco,
Cal.
Nida R. Pangle, Local 335, Toledo, Ohio.

Charles O. Bailey, Local 420, Kansas City,
Mo.
Thos. J. Ryan, Local 524, Miles City, Mont.
Earl Hyatt, Local 768, San Diego, Cal.
John C. Hickey, Local 77, Boston, Mass.
James J. O'Donald, Local 20, St. Louis, Mo.

COMMITTEE ON CONVENTION ATTENDANCE, AND WAYS AND MEANS.

George Ringler, Local 20, St. Louis, Mo.,
Chairman.
J. D. Kirkpatrick, Local 30, San Francisco,
Cal.
F. P. Battles, Local 44, San Francisco, Cal.
Charles Sands, Local 273, Springfield, Mass.

William Sweeney, Local 274, Marshalltown,
Iowa.
Harry Corcoran, Local 292, Wheeling W.
Va.
John P. McGrath, Local 573, Springfield, Ill.
Fred McCallum, Local 567, Olympia, Wash.
Gus Trenkle, Local 859, Billings, Mont.

COMMITTEE ON PRESS.

Michael Goldsmith, Local 108, Cleveland, Ohio. Fred Schwenker, Local 79, Louisville, Ky.

Delegate H. Corcoran of Local 292, Wheeling, W. Va., advised convention that he had been appointed as custodian of the West Virginia Building at the Exposition and tendered an invitation to all delegates and visitors to visit the building, promising them a hearty welcome.

Delegate Dan Regan, Local 41, presented, on behalf of the Convention Arrangement Committee, the following memorandum of entertainment for the delegates, their families and visitors:

Monday, June 14, 1915—"A trip to the Exposition grounds at 7:30 p. m. Municipal cars will be provided."

Tuesday, June 15, 1915—"Families of delegates will be entertained by the Ladies' Entertainment Committee."

Wednesday, June 16, 1915—"A trip around the bay on the Steamer Gen. Frisbie. Boat leaves Clay street wharf at 9:30 a. m. sharp; returning at 9 p. m."

Thursday, June 17, 1915—"Banquet at German House, Turk and Polk streets, 7 p. m. Ball at German House, 9 p. m."

Friday, June 18, 1915—"Families of delegates entertained by Ladies' Entertainment Committee."

Adjourned at 12:15 noon.

MONDAY AFTERNOON SESSION, JUNE 14, 1915.

Session called to order with General President Flore presiding, at 2:45 p. m.

Chairman C. W. McCurdy, for the Committee on Credentials, made their report as follows:

"We, your Committee on Credentials, beg leave to report that we find the following delegates entitled to a seat in this convention and the number of votes which we have set opposite their name and local union.

(The following report of the Committee on Credentials includes the names of all delegates who arrived subsequent to the time of making the first report to the convention; all, however, were passed on by the convention at later sessions, but are made a part of this report in order to facilitate keeping of complete records.—EDITOR MIXER AND SERVER.)

Report of Credential Committee to the Eighteenth General Convention, San Francisco, California, June 14, 1915:

1 New York City, 12 votes.	31 Oakland, Cal., 10 votes.
Henry Kleinman.....	C. P. Hibbard.....
William Lehman	W. A. Hosking.....
2 Brooklyn, N. Y., 7 votes.	T. H. Wright.....
George Hale	Charles C. Olson.....
3 New York City, 4 votes.	33 Seattle, Wash., 6 votes.
W. B. Joyce.....	Robert B. Hesketh.....
John P. McGinley.....	W. W. Levi.....
8 Denver, Colo., 4 votes.	E. L. Hollingsworth.....
Fred Wessel	35 Chicago, Ill., 7 votes.
10 Hoboken, N. J., 2 votes.	A. A. Mayer.....
James J. Sheehan.....	Ben F. Parker.....
12 San Antonio, Tex., 3 votes.	37 Decatur, Ill., 1 vote.
Paul Steffler	W. H. Foster.....
14 Denver, Colo., 4 votes.	38 Hammond, Ind., 2 votes.
Cecil Givens	Edward R. Abbott.....
B. K. Stewart.....	41 San Francisco, Cal., 15 votes.
17 Los Angeles, Cal., 4 votes.	Dan P. Regan.....
Alex Blumenthal	Al Condrotte
J. C. Scott.....	A. Zimmermann
20 St. Louis, Mo., 11 votes.	F. W. Steinkamp.....
George Ringler	Frank E. Plate.....
Harry Cordes	43 Pueblo, Colo., 1 vote.
Conrad Schott	James N. Butler.....
James J. O'Donald.....	44 San Francisco, Cal., 15 votes.
30 San Francisco, Cal., 18 votes.	Chas. F. Fleischmann.....
V. E. Chapman.....	Arthur H. Dodge.....
Hugo Ernst	Michael H. Canny.....
Sam Taback	Frank P. Battles.....
Theo. Johnson	48 San Francisco, Cal., 12 votes.
A. C. Rose.....	Laura Molleda
J. D. Kirkpatrick.....	Lena Hopper

51	St. Louis, Mo., 12 votes.
	Jacob Schrempf	3
	Robert Lyons	3
	George C. Wiesemann	3
	Charles E. Baird.....	3
62	Fresno, Cal., 2 votes.
	L. A. Pomeroy.....	2
64	Milwaukee, Wis., 4 votes.
	Charles Sorweid	3
67	Springfield, Mass., 4 votes.
	Edmond Raleigh	1½
	John Jere Dwyer.....	1½
	Albert S. Duquette.....	1½
68	Cincinnati, O., 10 votes.
	Charles Bente	3
	Charles Gallagher	3
	Joseph Alge	3
69	Galveston, Texas, 3 votes.
	M. W. Lusk.....	3
70	Brooklyn, N. Y., 10 votes.
	Maurice De Young.....	3
	Otto Pattberg	3
76	Syracuse, N. Y., 5 votes.
	Steven R. Bishop.....	2½
	Matthew V. Gilbert.....	2½
77	Boston, Mass., 18 votes.
	John W. Conley.....	3
	Henry F. Corcoran.....	3
	John C. Hickey	3
	Daniel E. Ford.....	3
	Thomas Dolan	3
79	Louisville, Ky., 4 votes.
	Fred Schwenker	3
80	Boston, Mass., 10 votes.
	Jos. E. Laycock.....	3
81	Holyoke, Mass., 3 votes.
	Thos. J. Durin.....	1
	T. F. Vigneux	1
	Thomas Garrity	1
86	Lynn, Mass., 3 votes.
	John J. Griffin.....	3
95	Worcester, Mass., 5 votes.
	Owen J. Reynolds.....	3
101	Great Falls, Mont., 3 votes.
	Lawrence Nelson	3
106	Cleveland, Ohio, 9 votes.
	Thomas S. Farrell.....	2¼
	Arthur F. Just.....	2¼
	Edw. A. Whissemore	2¼
	Fred B. Hobby.....	2¼
107	Cleveland, Ohio, 3 votes.
	Kitty Donnelly	3
108	Cleveland, Ohio, 10 votes.
	Michael Goldsmith	3
	S. T. Brent	3
	John T. Collins.....	3
109	Newark, N. J., 6 votes.
	A. J. Cozzolino	3
110	San Francisco, Cal., 12 votes.
	Matt Williamson	3
	A. W. Fraser	3
	John Kennedy	3
	J. C. Morris	3
115	Philadelphia, Pa., 12 votes.
	John J. McDevitt.....	3
	Ben Gorton	3
116	Chicopee, Mass., 1 vote.
	Francis W. Farrell.....	1
134	Scranton, Pa., 4 votes.
	Frank McDonnell	2
	James Hartnett	2
147	Greenfield, Mass., 1 vote.
	James Moroney	1
152	Minneapolis, Minn., 12 votes.
	Frank Hoffman	3
	Whinda Gigrich	3
	Ernest O'Brien	3
	J. A. Kaehn.....	3
167	Cleveland, Ohio, 3 votes.
	Ed. McEachern	3
171	Rochester, N. Y., 8 votes.
	Emanuel Koveleski	2½
	Edward A. Dentinger.....	2½
	James Bell	2½
173	Binghamton, N. Y., 3 votes.
	Michael T. Foley.....	3
175	Buffalo, N. Y., 7 votes.
	Patrick J. McGowan.....	2½
	John E. Long.....	2½
	Edward L. Ehrman.....	2½
180	San Jose, Cal., 2 votes.
	Loretta Wheeler	1
	Rose Jack	1
188	Pittsburgh, Pa., 15 votes.
	J. Chas. Hackett	3
	Hugh O'Hare	3
	James W. Clarke	3
	Jere F. McCarthy	3
196	Buffalo, N. Y., 5 votes.
	Thomas A. Tarrant	2½
	Charles Beyers	2½
197	Hamilton, Ont., Can., 3 votes.
	George Hibberd	3
200	Hartford, Conn., 5 votes.
	Frank J. Madden	3
203	St. Louis, Mo., 2 votes.
	Fay Huddleston	2
204	Elmira, N. Y., 1 vote.
	F. J. Sullivan	1
206	Ft. Worth, Texas, 3 votes.
	W. A. Polk	3
212	Youngstown, Ohio, 4 votes.
	John J. Graney	3
220	Eureka, Cal., 1 vote.
	Mrs. Libbie Messer	1
222	Dayton, Ohio, 3 votes.
	J. F. Eichhorn	3
223	Des Moines, Iowa, 1 vote.
	Chester W. McCurdy	1
224	Erie, Pa., 4 votes.
	William Kelly	3
239	Seattle, Wash., 6 votes.
	Ed. T. Levi	3
240	Seattle, Wash., 7 votes.
	Alice M. Lord	2½
	Ida L. Levi	2½
	Agnes Adamack	2½
273	Springfield, Mass., 3 votes.
	Charles E. Sands	3
274	Marshalltown, Iowa, 1 vote.
	William Sweeney	1
280	Toronto, Ont., Can., 7 votes.
	Arthur E. O'Leary	3
284	Los Angeles, Cal., 12 votes.
	F. Sesma	3
	A. B. Hassel	3
	Geo. Petersen	3
	B. McKone	3
286	Peoria, Ill., 6 votes.
	Oscar Bickerdt	3
287	St. Paul, Minn., 3 votes.
	Adam P. Hentges	3
292	Wheeling, W. Va., 1 vote.
	Harry Corcoran	1
302	Butte, Mont., 4 votes.
	John H. Rooney	3

312	Chattanooga, Tenn., 2 votes.
	W. L. Bork.....	1
	James Riley	1
320	Schenectady, N. Y., 2 votes.
	John J. Henley.....	2
332	East St. Louis, Ill., 7 votes.
	Hunter B. Keith.....	3
335	Toledo, O., 2 votes.
	Nida R. Pangle.....	2
361	Allentown, Pa., 3 votes.
	John A. Schiffert.....	3
376	South Chicago, Ill., 2 votes.
	James E. Nelson.....	2
378	Bakersfield, Cal., 3 votes.
	W. S. Renfro.....	3
400	Spokane, Wash., 4 votes.
	A. C. Beck.....	3
402	San Diego, Cal., 3 votes.
	Claude McClellan	3
403	Stockton, Cal., 4 votes.
	Larry L. Chase.....	1½
	Fred Funk	1½
	Patsie Taylor	1½
406	Eureka, Cal., 1 vote.
	William T. Scully.....	1
420	Kansas City, Mo., 12 votes.
	James H. Anderson.....	3
	E. L. Hiles.....	3
	Chas. O. Bailey.....	3
	O. D. Norton.....	3
436	Rock Springs, Wyo., 1 vote.
	J. E. Green.....	1
437	Indianapolis, Ind., 12 votes.
	Chas. Specht	3
	Timothy Curran	3
449	Altoona, Pa., 1 vote.
	Craig S. Rhodes.....	1
456	Chicago, Ill., 3 votes.
	Philip Hartman	3
458	Minneapolis, Minn., 7 votes.
	Leslie Sinton	3
	Adolph Berger	3
484	Chicago, Ill., 6 votes.
	Elizabeth Maloney	3
523	Kenosha, Wis., 2 votes.
	L. S. Kimball.....	2
524	Miles City, Mont., 1 vote.
	Thos. J. Ryan.....	1
525	Oakland, Cal., 8 votes.
	Herman Loorz	2½
	Fred W. Bard.....	2½
	Fred C. Schroeder.....	2½
527	Dubuque, Iowa, 2 votes.
	B. Callahan	2
550	Bakersfield, Cal., 3 votes.
	J. J. Alldridge.....	3
558	San Bernardino, Cal., 1 vote.
	J. C. Drysdale.....	1
559	Ft. Smith, Ark., 1 vote.
	W. E. Reynolds.....	1
	Total vote, 505.
	Necessary for choice, 253.
	Number of delegates, 213.
	Locals represented, 124.
	Membership represented, 33,057.
	Total membership (April report), 58,886.
	In connection and as a part of our work we find the credentials of several delegates with protests filed against them and suggest that the delegates from the following locals appear before the committee at its session immediately after adjournment of this afternoon's session: Locals 62, 542 and 561.
561	Sacramento, Cal., 4 votes.
	Stephen P. Drake.....	1½
	F. E. Merryfield.....	1½
	W. C. Eddy.....	1½
562	Detroit, Mich., 8 votes.
	Josh Brady	3
566	Fresno, Cal., 2 votes.
	Patrick L. Grace.....	2
567	Olympia, Wash., 1 vote.
	Fred McCallum	1
572	Stockton, Cal., 2 votes.
	James Redenbaugh	1
	W. P. Burtz	1
573	Springfield, Ill., 4 votes.
	John P. McGrath.....	3
574	Duluth, Minn., 5 votes.
	Frank Bradley	3
575	Jersey City, N. J., 1 vote.
	Wm. F. Kavanagh.....	1
577	San Jose, Cal., 3 votes.
	E. H. Lincoln.....	1½
	W. A. Price.....	1½
585	Charleston, W. Va., 1 vote.
	J. L. Pauley.....	1
593	Minneapolis, Minn., 3 votes.
	Thos. P. Woods.....	3
595	Richmond, Cal., 1 vote.
	J. C. Feudener.....	1
603	Sacramento, Cal., 4 votes.
	Fred Somers	1½
	Jack Reid	1½
	E. N. Fletcher.....	1½
609	Great Falls, Mont., 2 votes.
	Dan P. Shields.....	2
631	Phoenix, Ariz., 2 votes.
	Edward J. Warren.....	2
651	Seattle, Wash., 11 votes.
	V. W. LaBelle.....	3
699	Marysville, Cal., 1 vote.
	S. E. Keenan.....	1
721	Salt Lake City, Utah, 5 votes.
	Joe Lane	2½
	A. M. J. Prichard.....	2½
744	Waco, Texas, 1 vote.
	Jos. Dushek	1
768	San Diego, Cal., 3 votes.
	W. A. Powers.....	1½
	Earl Hyatt	1½
800	Lafayette, Ind., 2 votes.
	Herman Zahn	2
815	Salt Lake City, Utah, 4 votes.
	Charles McKee	3
820	Sheridan, Wyo., 1 vote.
	J. F. Gibbons.....	1
827	Joplin, Mo., 1 vote.
	W. Edward Horne.....	1
832	Sedalia, Mo., 1 vote.
	H. H. Edwards.....	1
859	Billings, Mont., 2 votes.
	Gus Trenkle	2
865	Chicago, Ill., 2 votes.
	Fred Ebeling	2
867	Ketchikan, Alaska, 1 vote.
	Michael Doyle	1

Motion by Parker, Local 35, and Koveleski, Local 171, that the report of the Committee on Credentials be accepted, the delegates against whom no objection or protest has been filed be seated.

Brother Stephen P. Drake, delegate-elect from Local 561, Sacramento, desired information as to why he was denied a seat as no protest was filed against him nor was his continuous membership questioned.

Secretary of the committee, W. E. Horne, imparted the information that Local 561 was indebted to the International Union for supplies, hence not entitled to representation until said account was liquidated.

The motion to adopt the report of the committee was carried.

First Vice-President Robert B. Hesketh presiding, General President Edward Flore read his message to the convention as follows:

Report of the General President

OPENING.

*To the Officers and Delegates of the Eighteenth General Convention, Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America.
Greetings:*

The pleasure of again meeting with you and presenting to you my bi-annual report and recommendations, is an honor that is keenly appreciated. I have endeavored throughout my administration to deal with the subject matters coming under my jurisdiction, with fairness and impartiality, to advance our organization and its ideals, to maintain harmony and tranquility within our ranks, to encourage a better feeling of good-fellowship between our trades, to elevate the standard of our craft, and to induce the yet unorganized, to become members of our International Union.

I have endeavored to visit our membership as much as it has been consistent with the duties of my office and while those visits in the past two years have been less frequent than before, that was due to the fact that the correspondence carried on with my office has increased to such a large extent, that it has required a great deal more of my time than formerly.

The depression in business in the past year has caused a number of our members to be out of employment; however our locals have stood the strain and held their membership together without any serious losses. While we have not made as much progress as we would wish for, yet we have made substantial gains. Our membership is enjoying fairly good conditions; in many instances agreements were reached with our employers without any struggle, symbolizing the virtues of our demands; however there were some cases where we found it necessary to take issue with our employers, and in nearly every instance of that character our locals were successful.

It is exceedingly gratifying to report that we have made a fairly healthy and substantial growth in point of membership in the past two years, notwithstanding the fact that we were hemmed in on every side by legislation of an inimical character. Our organizations have been active in their efforts to defeat this legislation, and to some degree were successful, but the tremendous odds and unlimited finances of our opponents, has in a great measure curtailed their efforts, with the result that much legislation inimical to our trades was enacted in the various states and provinces.

Each year brings to our organization new tests and new problems, and the fact that our International Union has made progress under the most trying times and circumstances, with sumptuary legislation and State-wide Prohibition making rapid strides, is proof that our policies and methods are practicable and effective. We have advanced our position among the organizations affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and on account of our numerical strength, we now hold a position of influence in the trade union movement and this is material fact to show that our present form of organization is a success, and it also sets forth the reasonableness and practicability of our methods and aims.

Our organization gives to the worker in the catering industry, freedom, choice, individuality. It enables them to protect themselves, to solve their own difficulties and to order their own lives. With organization they can establish in the catering industry their own ideals of their own welfare. With organization they can do for themselves without the assistance of benevolent guardianship. Organization eliminates necessity for paternal legislation, by enabling employees and employers to determine upon working conditions mutually gratifying.

As it has been, and is my privilege and duty, I shall now present for your consideration, some of the various phases of the activities and needs of our International Union.

CONVENTIONS.

We are now assembled in the Eighteenth General Convention. This convention is distinct to be one of the most important conventions in the annals of this International Union, it being a LAW-MAKING CONVENTION, it behooves the delegates to pay strict attention to its business and that of its committees, as all laws adopted become laws of the International Union sixty days after its adjournment.

There is no doubt but what all the delegates in attendance will desire to visit the Exposition; that desire should be gratified without it interfering with the work of the convention. In the past some delegates would appear at the opening of a session, deposit their attendance card and then disappear. Some method should be adopted prohibiting that practice and requiring delegates to remain throughout the session, in order that the business of the convention may be more expeditiously handled.

ORGANIZATION AND ITS GROWTH.

It is exceedingly gratifying to report the increase in membership of our International Union in the past two years.

Our membership at the last convention was 53,553 and at the close of this fiscal year—February 28, 1915—we had a membership of 61,923, an increase in numerical strength of 8,370 members.

We have had many obstacles to overcome, foremost of which was the legislation of a pernicious character that was being enacted in many states and provinces, and in connection with that there has been a general depression in business, which has caused a large decrease in the number of men and women employed in our allied trades.

FINANCES.

A statement of the finances will be found in the report of the Secretary-Treasurer to this convention.

The state of our finances on March 1, 1915, was as follows:

General Fund	$32,047 70
Death Fund	27,389 77
Defense Fund	17,959 17
Convention Assessment Fund.....	1,204 10
Total	$78,600 74

BONDING OF OFFICERS.

I hold in my possession the bond of the General Secretary-Treasurer for the amount of $80,000.00.

In my report to the last convention, I recommended that a law be enacted, to-wit: That no financial officer be permitted to have in his possession more than $25.00 of the funds of the local union, and all over the said amount should be deposited in some bank designated by the local union and in their name, and to be drawn only upon the signatures of the President and Treasurer of the local union. I believe then and now, that by making this mandatory on the part of our locals, it would greatly minimize the danger of any financial losses, and I do again recommend its enactment into law.

While our present law makes the bonding of the financial officers of our local unions compulsory, yet I have found in a number of incidents where this provision has not been complied with. I have also found cases where a local union, whose officers were bonded, had failed to comply with the conditions under which the bond was issued—by auditing their books quarterly—thereby causing a forfeiture of the said bond. To avoid that as much as possible, I herewith make the following recommendation: That it be compulsory for our local unions to make an audit of their books quarterly and to file a copy of the said audit with the General President within thirty days after the expiration of each quarter.

The financial condition of an organization is the foundation upon which that organization rests, hence too much care cannot be given to the proper handling of its funds. It is to be regretted that some of the financial officers of our local unions, so far forget their honor and pledge as to abscond with the funds entrusted to their care. I am pleased, however, to report that only a small percentage are placed in that class, and that we have in our organizations men and women holding positions of trust whose honesty, integrity and ability are beyond question, and whose efforts and watchfulness have guided our organization to prosperity.

DUES AND INITIATION FEE.

There is only one way to accumulate funds in a local union, and that is by the payment of adequate monthly dues—high dues increase the financial resources of a local union and give it increased prestige, increased ability to secure better wages and working conditions and increased ability to provide against threatened dangers.

There is no investment that our members can make that will bring them greater returns than their union dues. With high dues the efficiency of the union increases proportionally and better wages and working conditions are acquired. The power of the local union to promote and safe-guard the interest of its members becomes increasingly effective.

As union dues are increased it is possible to extend the system of union benefits. These benefits supplement the wages earned and enable unionists to live better and more comfortable.

High dues should not be accompanied with high initiation fee. The initiation fee of our local unions should be so regulated as to permit of the yet unorganized to become members. I believe that this convention should fix the maximum amount that a local union can charge for initiation fee, when their local union is over seventy per cent organized, and that fee should not exceed $50.00.

I would suggest that the following be added to Section 62 (c):

No local shall exact a fee in excess of $50.00.

AGREEMENTS.

The agreements made by and between our local unions and their employers are binding on both parties, and our local unions should, at all times, maintain an honorable position in defense of the same.

AUDITORS.

The work of the auditors selected to audit the books and accounts of the General Secretary-Treasurer has been well performed, and the knowledge assimilated by them has been conducive of a great amount of good to their local union. The practice of selecting new auditors for each audit by the General Executive Board is to be commended. It gives a greater number of members an opportunity to learn the system and policy and the manner of conducting the finances of the International Union.

The system of a General International Auditor is provided for by our laws, but the advisability and practicability of placing the same in operation is very remote; the expense incurred in trying to cover the field, would be out of proportion to the results that could be achieved.

SECRETARIES.

The office of secretary in a local union carries with it much power and responsibility. A member, before accepting a position of that importance, should first take counsel with himself and decide whether he is able and willing to carry the burdens of that office, and if he concludes he is, then it becomes his duty to serve the organization that honors him faithfully and efficiently.

Secretaries should not permit their work to pile up and then endeavor to dispose of it in a hurry; this causes many errors to occur. Plenty of time should be given to their work, and pride should be taken in the neat appearance of their books.

The correspondence with the International Union and the local unions should be given prompt and careful consideration; care should be exercised in writing plain and distinct. This will minimize the possibility of any misunderstanding and cause the business to be carried on with dispatch.

ORGANIZERS.

Much credit for the success that we have achieved in the past two years is due, in a large measure to the work of our organizers and the assistance given them by the rank and file of our membership. Their duties at times are not of the most pleasant character, yet with the co-operation of the officers and members of our local unions they have been able to accomplish much for our membership. Their work is of a peculiar nature and requires considerable knowledge, patience and ability; they must be active and possessed of courage and personality. Their work not only takes them into the field of the unorganized, but they are also called upon to adjust matters of various kinds in the interests of our local unions.

Every member of the International Union gives purpose and character to our movement; some have more influence, some less. Those who have most give most. There are those who, after their day's work is done, visit the unorganized and try to make them understand the benefits of organization. Who can estimate the value of the work of these members? Who can estimate the personal influence of a life or a character? Quietly, purposefully, they have been doing that work which makes the history of this International Union. They are meeting the concrete needs of the individuals—the practical part of putting every plan into execution.

GENERAL EXECUTIVE BOARD.

The General Executive Board met after the adjournment of the Denver convention and again during the week of June 15, 1914, at the general office in Cincinnati, and disposed of several important matters. I will not attempt to enumerate them in this report, as they will be thoroughly covered in their report to this convention.

One of the important matters that was disposed of by the board, and which affected the office of General President, was the adoption of the following resolution:

"WHEREAS, Some confusion has resulted in endeavoring to reconcile the provisions of Section 102 with Section 172, the General Executive Board hereby reiterates the following definite procedure: In the case of charges against a member or members by a member or members of another local or locals the said charges shall be filed in duplicate (preferably typewritten) with the General President, who shall review the case and render judgment in accordance with the facts presented."

In explanation of the foregoing action the board presents the following:

"Section 102 reads in part: 'The President shall decide all questions of law, or regulate any controversy or difficulty that may arise, subject to an appeal to the General Executive Board, etc.'

"If it were not the manifest intention of the framers of that law to bestow on the President powers of a lower court, why were provisions injected in that section for an appeal from that authority?

"Section 172 would seemingly deprive the individual of the right to appeal to a higher court. The section provides for General Executive Board judgment exclusively, and that board, in the case of individuals, is final.

"Other provisions of our book of laws grant the privilege to the individual to appeal to three courts: the Local Joint Executive Board, the General President and the General Executive Board. Hence the conclusion reached and the action relative to procedure reiterated."

I do respectfully ask the concurrence in the above by this convention and the necessary changes made in our laws, in order that our membership may more readily understand the proper procedure necessary to be followed in the case of charges against a member or members by a member or members of another local or locals.

LOCAL JOINT EXECUTIVE BOARD.

Much of the success of our local unions in cities where more than one local exists, depends upon the activity of the Local Joint Executive Board. With a real live progressive Joint Board, much good work can be accomplished and better conditions of labor maintained.

In a number of instances where Local Joint Executive Boards exist, I find that they have no regular schedule for meetings; in some cases meetings are not held except when absolute necessity compels such meeting, thereby causing a lull in the progress of its affiliated locals. I believe that better results can be achieved by making it mandatory that Local Joint Executive Boards meet at least once each month, failure to so meet to be punishable as provided for in Section 97.

The city of Chicago presents a condition that I consider worthy of special mention at this time and for such action as this convention may deem advisable.

A protest has been made against the right of our locals in South Chicago and Kensington being permitted representation on the Local Joint Executive Board of Chicago. South Chicago is fourteen miles from the city hall and Kensington is twenty miles from the city hall; they are in a measure cities in themselves, yet they are part of the municipality of Chicago. Both of these suburbs have Central Federated Councils of their own, chartered by the American Federation of Labor, and our organizations in these suburbs are affiliated with those federations and not with the Chicago Federation.

Section 85 says: "Wherever more than one local exists in any one city or vicinity a Local Joint Executive Board must be formed, etc., etc. Failure to affiliate with said Local Joint Executive Board shall be punishable by revocation of charter of said local, etc., etc."

The question is: shall we recognize the political sub-divisions of a community, or the sub-divisions as designated by the American Federation of Labor?

AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR.

The American Federation of Labor is now on its way to the Three Million mark. There are affiliated with the Federation 110 National and International Unions; 21,480 local unions; 570 local trades and federal labor unions; 647 city central bodies; 343 local department councils; 43 State federations and 5 departments.

The voting strength of this International Union has gradually increased and at the Thirty-fourth Annual Convention held in November, 1914, our delegates were entitled to 590 votes. The International Union now holding NINTH position in numerical strength in the Federation.

The following organizations have a larger membership and their voting strength in the Federation convention:

United Mine Workers of America.....	3,345
United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners.....	2,128
International Association of Machinists.....	754
Brotherhood of Painters of America.....	744
International Ladies' Garment Workers.....	699
United Garment Workers of America.....	607
American Federation of Musicians.....	600
International Typographical Union.....	594
Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America.....	590

Our relations with the Federation have been harmonious and they have always responded to our call. Our affiliation with them and their affiliated bodies, has been beneficial to our organization and I take this opportunity of extending to them and their affiliated organizations our sincere gratitude.

I also desire to convey to the organizers of the federation our appreciation and thanks for the valuable services rendered to our International Union.

STATE FEDERATIONS AND CENTRAL FEDERATED COUNCILS.

Our constitution makes it mandatory for our local unions to affiliate with State Federations and Central Federated Councils. In a large measure that law is being observed, however there are some locals that have failed to affiliate with the State Federations. To those locals I desire to urge the necessity of their immediate compliance with our law. We owe much to the State Federations for the good work they are doing in our behalf through their legislative committees and otherwise, and it is showing ingratitude on the part of our local unions not to contribute their small mite through their affiliation, in order to assist them in their efforts to bring about better legislation for the toiling masses.

As individuals we merit little support at the hands of the law makers, but as a component part of the trade union movement of a state, united in one state organization, we can command and receive their consideration and support.

Much credit is due Local Federated Councils for the success that we have achieved. They have been untiring in their efforts to advance our local unions and have done much to bring about organizations in unorganized territories, for all of which we are deeply grateful.

TRADES AND LABOR CONGRESS OF CANADA.

Our affiliation with the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada has, in a measure, been beneficial to our Canadian membership; but more good could be accomplished if our Canadian locals would take a more active part in the work of the Congress. They were instrumental in bringing about the affiliation of the International Union with the Congress, and the duty devolves upon them to avail themselves of all the benefits that may or can accrue from that affiliation.

DUAL ORGANIZATIONS.

Dual organizations of culinary workers have done much to retard the progress of a number of our local unions. They being no more nor less than "Mutual Admiration Societies," yet they appeal to the employer because they have nothing in common with the principles of trade unionism, nor do they deal with any of the economic conditions surrounding the industry.

Some of our local unions have found it necessary to enforce Section 24. One organization in particular, who, on account of the threatening attitude displayed on the part of a few of its members, who admitted their membership in a dual organization and who hurled open defiance at the local union and its laws, as well as the International Union, found it necessary after serving notice that they would have to sever their connections with the said dual organization or stand expelled from membership in the International Union, to expel several of them. The expelled members immediately took an appeal from the decision of the local union to the Local Joint Executive Board and demanded that they be admitted to the meetings of the local pending their appeal. The local union wired me for advice and I sent them the following telegram:

"Members who have failed to file affidavit withdrawing their membership from the Waitresses' Association in accordance with resolution adopted, are not entitled to attend local meetings."

Having given the matter my personal attention, and having advised these former members that if they continued in their dual organization it meant the forfeiture of their membership in the International Union, and knowing of the determined attitude on their part to cause further dissension in the local union, I concluded that if their plan of conquest carried with it the destruction of the local union, that plan would have to be operated from the outside and not in the meetings of the local; hence my decision denying them admittance.

RITUAL.

Our laws make the use of the ritual mandatory; but to use it in a perfunctory manner, is equivalent to not using it at all. Therefore much care should be exercised in its use. Officers should endeavor to memorize their parts, in order that they may deliver them with more freedom and impressiveness, thereby having a more lasting effect upon the candidate and embodying into his very soul the principles and teachings of our International Union.

LABOR FORWARD MOVEMENT AND ORGANIZATION.

The aim of the Labor Forward Movement campaigns are to rouse the members to renewed activity and zeal, to develop more militant enthusiasm and to disseminate more widely information of the principles of trade unionism among all citizens. These efforts have met with success, both in a practical and beneficial manner, and have assisted in building up our local unions and engendered new life and activity among the members.

Organization gives bone and sinew to the labor movement. It is the life-giving power. The movement can be no greater than the energy, the spirit, and the resourcefulness that create the organization. Nothing can continue to exist without food, nourishment. The paramount importance of planning for the work of organization is beyond dispute. In addition to regular methods there must be special endeavors to arouse enthusiasm and to renew desire to work for the extension of the movement. These efforts must be made along the most effective lines.

CITIZENSHIP.

The question of citizenship of our members is one worthy of careful study by this convention. We are continually confronted with Local and County Option and State-wide Prohibition elections, which threaten the very foundation of our organization, and yet we find some of our members indifferent as to the status of their citizenship. Absolute necessity compels us to say to those of our membership, who are entitled to perfect their citizenship, that they do so at once, in order that they may assist their fellow workers in the protection of the industry in which they are engaged.

COMPULSORY LAW TO MAKE MEMBERS EXERCISE THEIR RIGHT OF SUFFRAGE.

Our members who are entitled to exercise their right of suffrage, should be made to realize the importance of them exercising that right whenever the opportunity presents itself, and should always be in a position by exemplification, to ask of their co-worker in the trade union movement, their support and co-operation in our fight against oppression and annihilation.

I believe that our locals should make it compulsory for their members to pay their poll tax (where such tax exists), and avail themselves of their right of public franchise.

TRAVELING AND WITHDRAWAL CARDS.

The traveling card has been the source of much discussion between our local unions, and mostly on account of the failure of the secretaries to return the coupon to the issuing local union when the card is deposited with them. The depositing of a traveling card with the proper officer of a local union makes that member a bona fide member of that local union—the local union reserving the right to accept said card under protest and to file their protest with the General President. If the secretary fails in his duty and the coupon of the card is not returned to the issuing local, the member would be recorded upon the books of the local issuing the card as a suspended member. It is unfair to discipline a member for the neglect of a secretary of a local union, and I therefore recommend that our laws be so amended, as to provide a penalty of $5.00 for the failure of a local union to properly return the coupon of a traveling card accepted by them to the issuing local within the time specified by the constitution.

Another phase of the traveling card that merits the attention of this convention is where a member takes a traveling card with his dues paid six months in advance. He fails to deposit his card within the sixty-day limit, and under our present law becomes a suspended member, notwithstanding the fact that his dues are paid four months beyond the sixty-day period. It is my judgment that Section 68 should be amended and the following substituted in place of the word "suspension": "a fine not to exceed $5.00."

Our system of withdrawal cards has been giving fairly good results. However, locals when receiving withdrawal cards for deposit, should make an investigation to ascertain whether any of the conditions under which the card was issued had been violated; whether the holder thereof had at any time accepted regular or temporary employment at the craft in or out of the jurisdiction of the local union that issued the said card without depositing it in accordance with our laws. If the conditions under which the card was issued had been violated, the card should be cancelled and the member recorded as a suspended member.

MIXER AND SERVER.

The MIXER AND SERVER is the official organ of the International Union. In it can be found a monthly report in detail of all the receipts and expenses of the International Union; reports and decisions of the general president; reports of organizers and all other news of an official character. It is sent to the membership of our local unions free of charge. It has kept our membership better advised of the work, aims and purposes of our organization, thereby creating a closer bond of unity and sympathy.

Our magazine is regarded and used as an authoritative means of recounting the past and present reviews of matter affecting our organization from a trade union standpoint, as well as on matter affecting legislation and agitation against the interest of the catering industry.

It declares for higher ideals and aspirations for a higher and better life. These advantages are of a far greater value than can be computed in mere money terms.

Its progress should be carefully guarded as its need becomes more apparent as years go on, not only from a trade union standpoint, but through the necessity of having some paper or magazine that with truthfully and fearlessly defend the interests of our craft and unhesitatingly attack those so-called organizations that are parading under the cloak of religion and reform.

LABOR PRESS.

The Labor Press has a great work to perform and it is performing that work well. Its business is to get before the people the real news of life—the truth about living and working. These truths have power to move men and government. It aims to give publicity to the cause of those who contend for reform or humanitarian purposes. It is free from domination and has been steadily growing in influence and number. The number and character of the labor papers published today are most gratifying. Every effort helps the ultimate purpose—the freedom and the welfare of humanity.

The labor press must have support and opportunities in order to accomplish its purpose. Every member should feel the duty devolving upon him to support financially and morally the labor press, it has done much for our cause and can be enabled to do infinitely more. Every effort should be made on the part of our members to advance the interest of the labor press. We owe them a debt of gratitude for the good work they are doing and we should demonstrate our appreciation by becoming subscribers.

The weekly news letter issued by the American Federation of Labor is of an inestimable value to the trade union movement. Through its columns we are able to keep in touch with the progress that is being made and get accurate accounts of the affairs affecting labor.

DUTIES OF THE GENERAL PRESIDENT.

The duties of the general president as prescribed in Section 102, do not permit of sufficient latitude for the proper exercise of authority that should be vested in one whose duty it is to see that the laws of the International Union are properly enforced and to maintain discipline among its members.

The General Executive Board recognized the need of extending the duties of the general president and adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas, Some confusion has resulted in endeavoring to reconcile the provisions of Section 102 with Section 172, the General Executive Board hereby reiterates the following definite procedure: In the case of charges against a member or members by a member or members of another local or locals, said charges shall be filed in duplicate (preferably typewritten) with the general president, who shall review the case and render judgment in accordance with the facts presented."

I therefore recommend to this convention that the following be added to Section 102:

In the case of charges against a member or members by a member or members of another local or locals, said charges shall be filed in duplicate (preferably typewritten) with the general president, who shall review the case and render judgment in accordance with the facts presented. His decision shall be enforced, subject to an appeal to the General Executive Board.

He shall have authority to enforce discipline upon local unions and members thereof who violate the International Constitution and to render judgment on cases appealed to him.

LABELS AND BUTTONS.

Our labels and buttons are registered and our local unions should see to it that none of the advantages to be gained through said registration are forfeited. Great care should be exercised in the protection of our label and it should not be given to any one, unless all of the conditions surrounding its use are complied with.

Our label should not be given to any employer, unless that employer is a passive member in good standing with our International Union, or employs a member or members of the International Union. A proprietor not a passive member (proprietors cannot be elected to passive membership) and doing his own work, is not entitled to the use of our label and a local union has no authority to issue one under those conditions.

Our labels remain the property of the International Union and our local unions cannot charge a rental for the use of the said label.

The system of the monthly working button approved of by the Denver convention—in connection with the regular button—has proven a valuable asset to a number of our local unions and much success has been achieved through their use.

SODA FOUNTAIN EMPLOYEES.

This branch of the catering industry has grown in leaps and bounds in the past few years and today there are several thousand men engaged in this branch of the industry, both in the mixing and serving; their work is of a character that does not make them eligible for membership in either our bartenders' or waiters' local unions, but requires organizations especially designated and composed of men engaged exclusively in that branch of the industry.

I present this matter to you with the recommendation that you authorize the General Executive Board to issue charters to organizations composed of Soda Fountain Employees.

WHOLESALE WINE CLERKS.

Since the last convention the General Executive Board has issued charters to local unions of wholesale wine clerks. They are composed of clerks and rectifiers engaged in wholesale liquor houses. They have made fairly good progress since they have been organized and they now request that the International Union adopt a special design button designating their particular trade. I present their request to this convention for your consideration.

PROHIBITION AND OPTION LAWS.

Prohibition in its many phases has made rapid progress in the past two years. Several States have gone over to the Dry column and the area of Dry territory has increased with remarkable rapidity. Today we find the following States governed by prohibition laws: Arizona, Georgia, Kansas, Main, Mississippi, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Tennessee and West Virginia; Alabama, July 1, 1915; Colorado, Arkansas, Idaho, Iowa, Oregon and Washington, January 1, 1916 and Virginia, November 1, 1916.

Minnesota, Kentucky and Delaware have County Option laws and South Carolina has no license law, liquor being sold by County Dispensaries under control of the State government.

Our opponents are now going into the legislative halls of our States and provinces and enacting State-wide and county option laws by legislative action, taking away from the people their right to express their choice by ballot.

On December 22, 1914, the Hobson resolution proposing Nation-wide Prohibition, through an amendment to the federal constitution, was defeated by a vote of 197 for and 189 against—it requiring a two-third vote for its adoption.

If ever prohibition prohibited there would be intelligent reason, if not justification, for those who believe that the morals of the people may be and ought to be regulated by act of legislature and who do not believe in the right of each man to pursue life, liberty and happiness according to his conscience.

But nowhere has prohibition prohibited. Its effect is, and has always been, to promote hypocrisy and encourage lawlessness, whilst substituting contraband and adulterated drink for drink that at least pays taxes and is what it pretends to be.

The methods used in the past to fight this fanatic propaganda, are becoming obsolete and newer methods must be brought forward. A campaign of education must be inaugurated that will show to the people the fallacy and hypocrisy of prohibition.

CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS.

Under this caption I desire to set forth briefly various questions that I believe should be presented to this convention and which to enumerate separately in this report, would consume too much of your valuable time.

Has a secretary of a local union or the local union, a right to give out the names and addresses of its members to others than the International Union?

I have ruled that they have not that authority.

How many working proprietors shall be recognized in any one establishment?

I have held that no more than two working proprietors should be recognized in any one establishment.

Are cashiers eligible to membership and can we insist upon their membership in union houses?

I have held that we cannot insist upon their membership in union houses.

Can a local union or the International Union compel a member to appear as a witness and testify before a trial committee or the organization?

I have ruled that they have the right and authority and can compel their members to appear as witnesses and testify.

For what length of time shall a local union have a right to debar a member entering by traveling card or otherwise, from holding office in the said local union?

I have held that they cannot deny them that privilege for a period in excess of six months.

Are members in good standing for twenty-four hours after the two calendar months have expired?

I have held that a member two calendar months in arrears, becomes suspended, automatically. I believe however, that a member who pays his dues within twenty-four hours after the expiration of the two calendar months, should be considered as having been in continuous good standing and I ask this convention to place their interpretation on this question.

A number of cases have been called to my attention, where members' names appeared upon licenses and I have been called upon to define the status of their membership. In such cases I have always held that where a bona fide ownership or proprietorship did not exist, that the said member remained an active member and was not entitled to a withdrawal card.

It has been brought to my attention where men of other trades become members of our International Union in order that they may follow our trades during their slack seasons; in most cases seeking the extra work that is at the disposal of our local unions.

I have held that our International Union was not organized for the purpose of furnishing employment to members of other trades during their slack seasons, that we have members who follow our trades for a livelihood and it is our duty to take care of those men and give them the benefit of whatever extra work there may be, when they are out of regular employment.

It has come to my notice where members of our International Union were working at other trades and did not become members of the organization having jurisdiction over the said trade.

I have always insisted that if a member of our International Union was engaged at some other trade, that he would have to become a member of the organization having jurisdiction over the said work, or forfeit his membership in our International Union.

The question of whether our members who become members of a "Profit Sharing Co-partnership," are entitled to withdrawal cards, was also brought to my attention.

I held that this International Union did not recognize members of a "Profit-Sharing Co-partnership" as employers; therefore they were not eligible to receive withdrawal cards.

In the enforcement of Section II, I have held that if an applicant had worked within the jurisdiction of a local union for a period of six months, that he was eligible to become a member of that local union, and that the consent of the local union in the city from which he came was not necessary, unless it was shown that the said applicant did, with malicious intent, attempt to defeat the laws of our International Union.

In approving the by-laws of local unions, I have permitted them to insert as a penalty for a violation of Section 17, that members can be fined, suspended or expelled. I have assumed that it was not the intent of this law to expel a member for a minor infraction of the same, hence I felt that a wider latitude should be allowed in administering the punishment.

Has a Local Joint Executive Board the authority to penalize a local union or members thereof?

I have held that there was no authority in the law that gave them that right other than the constitutional fines provided for by the constitution; therefore they had no right to exercise that authority.

Can a local union, having over seventy per cent of their jurisdiction organized, charge an initiation fee of $100.00?

I held that while there was no law that fixed the maximum fee that could be charged where a local union was over seventy per cent organized, yet, in my judgment, that sum was unjust and exorbitant, and I refused to approve of a fee in excess of $50.00.

Can an expelled member work at the craft pending the outcome of an appeal?

To that I rendered the following decision, and ask for its concurrence by this convention:

"I have carefully looked over Section 167 covering the question of appeals, and I do not find anything in this section governing this question. However, there are no provisions therein which allow an expelled member the privilege of working pending an appeal, and in the absence of that provision it must be assumed that an expelled member, making an appeal, is considered under expulsion until such time as his appeal has been disposed of. Therefore he would not be entitled to any of the rights or privileges accorded a member in good standing."

While I took into consideration the fact that Section 87 says: "If an appeal is taken, the judgment shall not be enforced until the appeal has been acted upon by the General Executive Board." Yet I felt to allow an expelled member to participate in an organization as an active member pending a final disposition of his appeal—which ordinarily would take from three to four months before it could be disposed of—would prove very injurious to the welfare of the local union and minimize the effect that the said punishment would carry with it. There may be some cases where this might prove a hardship, but they would be largely in the minority and possibly would regulate themselves.

CONCLUSION.

In my report to the Denver convention, I requested that the General President be given authority to assign a member of the General Executive Board to take up special work, if, in his judgment, conditions warranted that action. I am renewing that request to this convention and ask for its approval. There are times when immediate action is necessary, and, if a Vice-President is in the vicinity, the General President should be clothed with the authority to assign said Vice-President to investigate and, if possible, adjust whatever difficulty may exist.

Since our last convention we have had the sad misfortune to lose from our midst the late Vice-President James J. English and the late ex-Vice-President William H. Robinson. Their souls have passed to the great beyond, from which none return, but the memories of their loyalty to the cause of their fellow man will remain with us forever. As a token and mark of respect to their memory, I shall request this convention, before its adjournment, to stand in silence for one minute.

To my colleagues on the General Executive Board, I desire to extend my sincere thanks for the courtesy and hearty co-operation that they have extended to me. Their counsel and advice has been appreciated, and has greatly aided me in my work.

To the officers and members of our local unions, I desire to convey my deep sense of gratitude for the hearty support given me and heartfelt thanks for the many courtesies shown me.

It is with much pride and honor that I submit this report, and I earnestly pray that our International will continue in the future as it has in the past, to grow and prosper and bring greater achievements to our membership.

Permit me to subscribe myself.

Fraternally yours,

EDWARD FLORE,
General President.

The report of President Flore was listened to with attention and was frequently interrupted with applause.

Motion by Lehman, Local 1, and Riley, Local 312, to refer the report to its proper committee.

Motion adopted.

President Flore presiding.

President Flore referred the following portions of his report to the indicated committees: Matter relating to our official magazine, the MIXER AND SERVER, to the committee bearing that title. That portion dealing with labels and buttons to the Committee on Labels and Buttons. Those paragraphs dealing with the probable formation of unions of soda water fountain employees were referred to the Committee on Organization. The matter in his report under the caption of "Prohibition and Option Laws," was referred to the Committee on "Prohibition and Anti-Saloon Question."

Next order of business was the report of General Secretary-Treasurer Jere L. Sullivan, which he proceeded to read as follows:

Report of General Secretary-Treasurer, Jere L. Sullivan

CINCINNATI, OHIO, MARCH 1, 1915

To the Officers and Members of the Eighteenth General Convention of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America, Greeting:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—In conformity with the laws of our International Union and the accepted usage of many years, which we are advised creates precedent, you require from your General Secretary-Treasurer an exhaustive report, which shall cover not only the financial transactions of our organization, but shall include therein such recommendations and suggestions as may appeal to that official as being worth your serious consideration and probable action. Of the seventeen previous conventions held under the auspices of our International Union the records will show none of them confronted with quite as many and as serious problems as will no doubt come before you for disposition, yet it is equally true that our International is in a better condition numerically, financially—and without detracting from the qualifications and ability of those who preceded you in those conclaves—better equipped mentally to thresh out the referred to problems and reach definite advantageous conclusions to the men and women who send us here to legislate for them. Time and experience is the teacher which is entitled to credit for the mental and educational qualifications that you will use in reaching conclusions, and being unusually endowed it is expected that the ultimate of your deliberations will greatly enhance the value of our organization and its affiliated unions and membership.

Many of you have traveled great distances in order to be in attendance at this convention and care for the interests of your constituents at home as well as the membership of such locals as for good or otherwise reasons are minus delegates to co-operate with you and aid in reaching conclusions beneficial to the greater number. May you regard your mission as a delegate as of greater importance than the natural desire to see this great and magnificent city, county, state and the wonderful exposition situated at your very hand, and that you will hold in proper check your appetite for speed to the end that what is offered to you for judgment and decision shall be weighed carefully before it has been disposed of with your stamp of approval or rejection. If you keep ever in mind the thought that you are under positive obligation to the men and women who honored you with credentials, and that they will look to you for representation such as you promised to give, you will be able to resist the innumerable pleasing temptations which surround you until the convention has finished its labors and you will the more gratefully enjoy the magnificent attractions which this great state of California generously offers.

Realizing that brevity is quite a consideration under existing conditions, it shall be my aim to offer my report in as compact a form as the subjects treated will permit, and your thoughtful attention will be quite ample reward for my efforts.

Of course it is a foregone conclusion that our locals in the Bay Cities have made extensive arrangements for your comfort and entertainment, that you will be expected to participate in and should, for it would be unfair to them and not very complimentary to yourself if you declined to accept their generous hospitality. A big, successful convention will be quite as pleasing to them as it will be to you, and in taking part in whatever may be offered in the shape of entertainment you show appreciation and thanks for their labor, time and energy spent in your behalf, that is the reward which they seek to secure.

Since we met in convention in the city of Denver, our International Union has passed through quite as strenuous a period as has been offered to us in several years, but in spite of rather depressing experiences, we have gone forward numerically, and at this convention offer a larger membership than has ever been reported to any convention in the history of our International Union.

Financially our funds are in splendid shape; while perhaps we may have expended large amounts in carrying on the affairs of our organization, yet you will find by reference to the audits and financial resume that we have added somewhat to our status as a substantial institution.

Our conventions are held for a definite and serious purpose, that of endeavoring to legislate for the men and women engaged in the catering industry. They have commissioned us to set in council, to review the work of the past and make provisions for future advancement. Each of us has placed on our shoulders honor and responsibility; honor in being called by our men and women to represent them; responsibility in being required to say the last word on laws and regulations for their united benefit. Such a mission is yours to perform. If you carry into effect their expectations, they will feel satisfied; you cannot afford to give them less than your very best time, effort and ability. If this, the Eighteenth General Convention, is the success we all hope for, your return to your associate membership will be greeted with pleasure and satisfaction. If there be lack of success, you cannot shift to other shoulders your share of the responsibility.

You will find in the report which follows, considerable data covering every phase of our efforts for the term, no effort having been spared to make this report comprehensive and easily grasped, and under separate captions there have been collected such facts as seemed necessary to the subject discussed. It does not require many moments to peruse the entire report, such mastery may be had by that process that you will readily understand the purpose of recommendation or suggestions.

AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR.

True to its record of many years the American Federation of Labor has, through its affiliated membership, accomplished gigantic results for our allied crafts, in every instance which can be recited where our membership has shown anything resembling continuous activity, we have reaped the hearty co-operation and good will of the workers in trades and callings attached to the A. F. of L. This co-operation has produced exceptional rewards which our membership fully appreciate and in their own way and by such methods as seem best are illustrating their thankfulness by active participation in the general labor movement, helping others to achieve their aims.

President Gompers, Secretary Morrison, and the entire Executive Council of the A. F. of L., have been quite as generous as heretofore in tendering their services and good offices when and wherever called on to do so.

The general and voluntary organizers carrying commissions from the A. F. of L., have enlisted in our behalf and have aided us materially in going forward to a greater and better position in the procession of organized toil. The officers and representatives of City, Central, and State Federations have shown increased activity in our behalf; in fact many of these organizations are notable by reason of the fact that our own members occupy executive positions which were given them in recognition of service to the cause of labor. Central Labor bodies and State Federations have made wonderful strides in the last few years, and the stronger they become the greater their endeavors for our allied crafts. We should show, by constant attendance and interest, that we are grateful for their kindly efforts, by doing as suggested we increase our prestige and benefit the rank and file not only of our own organization, but all others affiliated with the A. F. of L. The opportunity is taken advantage of in tendering to the officers and members of the Executive Council of the A. F. of L., its general and deputy organizers and the officers and members of Central Labor and State Federations and to the vast army which goes to make up that splendid aggregation, sincere and hearty thanks for the generous work and activity bestowed on us and our unions. We re-iterate our promises of previous years and shall exert every effort to place our union-earned wages where they will do the most good to the men and women who by their membership in the A. F. of L., are our brothers and sisters in the army of wage-earners, the one army which seeks to make today a better day than yesterday, that aims to build up a finer citizenship and opportunity to exercise those functions which make for a more equitable distribution of the rewards of well done toil.

THE LABOR PRESS OF AMERICA.

Probably no feature of the American Labor Movement presents so serious a phase as that which is offered and which appears to indicate intolerable indifference and lack of tangible support of its Labor Press. For years the workers were the victims of criminal mis-representation and biased news distribution, they suffered until they saw the need of combating their opponents with similar weapons, a press owned and controlled by organized labor. Unfortunately for the workers and for the greater advancement of the Labor Press, they did not appreciate that it required capital to establish and continue to print the news; the workers refrained from looking deep into the subject before reaching unjust conclusions; they were willing to peruse the editorials and articles which championed their side of the bread and butter question, but were listless and backward in digging up the required financial support. They made critical comparisons between the daily-business-supported-press, and the weekly-business-boycotted-Labor Press; they subscribed for the former and called the publishers of the latter every name on the calendar but honest and honorable men for presuming to solicit what they were entitled to, financial support to the extent of generous co-operation by way of subscribing individually or collectively as unions. As a consequence the Labor Press has never recovered from early inattention and unearned abuse, and while the attitude of the business-controlled press is less rabid in its utterances against the organized labor movement, there is no good reason to hope for equitable consideration from that source until organized labor recognizes its duty and strengthens the labor press by contributing a fair share of patronage through subscribing and favoring those who occupy space to advertise their wares. Circulation is created by the readers of the press, be that daily, weekly or monthly, without readers advertising space is worthless to the vender or maker of usable products, and it is advertising which maintains the average publication. Therefore it follows that, if organized labor expects to make proper headway it must have its vehicles for the dissemination of news and educational articles and it cannot expect a few men here and there to make sacrifices of time, talent and money, in order that the millions of wage-workers, organized and unorganized may benefit. Organized Labor must have its own press, and there is but one way for it to make its wants possible of realization—support what they have by a fair share of patronage and encourage the editors and publishers to steadily improve, which they would be gratified to do with assurance of proper support.

Our International Union should be one of the most consistent and zealous supporters of the Labor Press of America, with so few exceptions as to make them almost negligible, The Labor Press of America has stood valiantly by us and advocated our cause; they have written miles of editorials opposing fanatical and sumptuary legislation, and in instances quite numerous enough to attract attention, have occupied the lecture platform in an endeavor to convince the citizen-voters that prohibitory laws are injurious to the well-being of the community as they are a menace to the liberty of the people. These labor publishers and editors are entitled to our co-operation and genuine support, especially when that can be given them with so little cost. An average of a penny a week set aside for your labor paper, one lonely dollar for each one hundred members, would brace up and encourage the hard-working labor editors to double their efforts and give them the long-looked for chance of getting out a paper such as they desire to offer to their readers. Accepting the suggestion and acting on it would in a measure show to these friends of ours that we mean something worth while when we say Many Thanks for your unceasing labors.

ORGANIZERS AND ORGANIZING.

During the term we have had practically the same number of general representatives under our direction; during the last few months of the term we saw fit to add to the number in order that we might take advantage of and try to overcome conditions produced by the steadily decreasing amount of territory where all of our crafts may find remunerative employment.

From March 1, 1913, to January, 1915, the corps of organizers under the direction of the writer of this report, have truly accomplished exceptional work, which, by the way, they have been denied the privilege of injecting into their reports for publication for reasons innumerable and unnecessary to enumerate. They have brought to the ailing union the necessary stimulant which we frequently call business methods, as well as gingering up the rank and file of such unions with gratifying results. In adjusting internal and trade differences they have been invaluable and it has been seldom necessary to record failure after a visit. The work of an adjudicatory character has increased to such an extent that the title of organizer hardly applies to the work of these representatives; in fact they are not granted time for that class of work. Organizers have developed into adjusters of differences by reason of the persistent demand made of headquarters for the services of these representatives, and while the rank and file look to the heading "New Charters" to determine whether or no the traveling representatives are making good, we, at the general office, have a different scale where upon their work is weighed. The talent necessary for a successful traveling representative is not possessed by all members, and when we do discover a member possessed with ability and fortunate mental balance to accomplish the task assigned to him, we would be doing the general membership an injustice if we did not try to retain such in your service. To the inexperienced the work seems pleasing and tolerable, but a few months on the road and working under conditions of an exacting nature, with one's suitcase or trunk as the only evidence of "Home," the glamor fades and they're face to face with the knowledge that they are paid wanderers, trouble adjusters, sumptuary legislation posers, ginger slingers, enthusiasm excitors and organizers with something like 65 to 70,000 immediate employers to please and the most exacting of all the one at general headquarters who passes on their work, the officer who wears no medal bestowed on him by their individual or collective contributions.

The steady encroachment by our unions and their insistent demands for the services of these International organizers has practically prevented the carrying out of plans for general organizing campaigns; you have by enactment of law made the general secretary-treasurer the director of your field officers, but you also created precedent which your insistence makes mandatory and it is you and your local unions which really direct the traveling representatives the major portion of the term. That may sound like dissent, but it is fact nevertheless. It is therefore unfair to the director as well as the directed, to summarize results by excluding all effort and work done excepting actual organization of new unions. It is true that our organizing expense sheet looks like a formidable outlay of money, yet when fully understood and properly analyzed it will be discovered that the greatest portion of that expense was incurred for other than purely organizing purposes.

Unless you direct and insist that present methods be changed, whomsoever you may install at your general headquarters as the directing official, will be compelled to heed the call of our local unions or suffer the consequences. Either make provisions for a tribunal of adjustment or withhold unjust censure of the traveling representatives and their directing.

CHARTERS.

The following charters were issued since March 1, 1913:

Local	Location	Organized	Organizer
135	Pittston, Pa.	Mar., 1913.	Fred B. Hobby
94	New York City, N. Y.	Apr., "	William B. Joyce
205	Milwaukee, Wis.	" "	Ben Gorton and Henry Lange
276	New York, N. Y. (Bronx)	" "	William B. Joyce
307	New York City, N. Y.	" "	William B. Joyce
628	El Paso, Tex.	" "	A. M. James
654	Bryan, Tex.	" "	W. W. Finch
705	Petaluma, Cal.	" "	W. M. Boyd
709	Clifton, Ariz.	" "	V. E. Duncan
809	Lewistown, Mont.	" "	{ C. L. Van Horn, Frank Gimatis, J. C. Querengesser
810	Nokomis, Ill.	" "	Charles H. Pierson
811	Marion, Ill.	" "	John Holland
55	Edmonton, Alta, Canada.	May,	A. Farmilo
271	Jamestown, N. Y.	" "	Louis Ruden
413	West Frankfort, Ill.	" "	General Office
513	East Chicago, Ind.	" "	J. B. Solomon
636	Terre Haute, Ind.	" "	Josh Brady
691	Metropolis, Ill.	" "	T. J. Durnin
699	Marysville, Cal.	" "	George E. Gee
708	Terre Haute, Ind.	" "	Josh Brady
795	New Westminster, B. C., Canada.	" "	Herman Knudson
815	Salt Lake City, Utah.	" "	W. M. Knerr and A. C. Beck
869	Juneau, Alaska	" "	C. A. Gray and Thomas Gaffney
870	Augusta, Ga.	" "	Wm. Strauss
392	Houston, Tex.	June,	W. E. Reynolds
613	Lexington, Mo.	" "	R. T. Wood and W. B. Douglas
713	Marshfield, Ore.	" "	C. B. Wells
722	Berlin, Ont., Canada.	" "	Fred Ackerknecht
813	St. Cloud, Minn.	" "	John D. Chubbuck
73	Elkhart, Ind.	July,	J. O. Vance
122	Sioux City, Ia.	" "	Fred B. Hobby
132	Corsicana, Tex.	" "	C. F. Barnes
162	Trinidad, Colo.	" "	Ben Gorton and J. W. Wolff
264	Omaha, Neb.	" "	Thomas J. Durnin
322	Racine, Wis.	" "	Fred E. Maley
352	Flagstaff, Ariz.	" "	Frank Grabb
712	New Rochelle, N. Y.	" "	Wm. B. Joyce
170	Lima, O.	Aug.,	T. H. Fox
295	Douglas, Ariz.	" "	C. M. Feider and F. B. Aaron
357	Sioux City, Ia.	" "	F. B. Hobby
385	Trinidad, Colo.	" "	J. P. McGinley
418	Douglas, Ariz.	" "	C. M. Feider and F. B. Aaron
439	Toronto, Canada	" "	A. O'Leary and H. W. Brooker
819	Port Angeles, Wash.	" "	C. F. Briley
43	Pueblo, Colo.	Sept.,	J. P. McGinley
201	Corpus Christi, Tex.	" "	George P. Blevins
242	Port Jervis, N. Y.	" "	Wm. B. Joyce
289	Fremont, Neb.	" "	T. J. Durnin
430	Middletown, N. Y.	" "	Wm. B. Joyce
829	South Bend, Wash.	" "	Local 704
233	Trenton, N. J.	Oct.,	Wm. B. Joyce
301	Trenton, N. J.	" "	Wm. B. Joyce
321	Havre, Mont.	" "	J. J. Cummings
324	Appleton, Wis.	" "	Josh Brady
348	San Antonio, Tex.	" "	Paul Steffler
610	Hazleton, Pa. (re-organized)	" "	Ben Gorton
837	Kemmerer, Wyo.	" "	James Morgan
843	Worcester, Mass.	" "	Wm. H. Haskins
848	El Paso, Tex.	" "	F. C. Standish
862	Steubenville, O.	" "	A. C. Johnston
863	West Warwick, R. I.	" "	Geo. N. Paguette and James J. English

Local	Location	Organized	Organizer
864	Lansford, Pa.	Oct., 1913	Ben Gorton
866	Springfield, Mass.	" "	H. H. LeClair
867	Ketchikan, Alaska	" "	Michael Doyle
871	Juneau, Alaska	" "	Chester A. Gray
349	Oshkosh, Wis.	Nov., "	Josh Brady
363	Jerome, Ariz.	" "	A. Lankard and W. Anglin
372	Shreveport, La.	" "	T. J. Greer
373	Shamokin, Pa.	" "	Ben Gorton and D. J. McCullion
377	Plainfield, N. J.	" "	W. B. Joyce
391	Roslyn, Wash.	" "	J. R. Montgomery
396	Anaconda, Mont.	" "	Harry A. Denny and J. P. McGinley
404	Dover, N. J.	" "	W. B. Joyce
407	Indianapolis, Ind.	Dec., "	Cal Wyatt
408	St. Paul, Minn.	" "	A. F. Martell
424	Mt. Carmel, Pa.	" "	Ben Gorton
428	Washington, D. C.	" "	Jere F. McCarthy
460	Waterloo, Ia.	" "	Fred B. Hobby
481	Sudbury, Pa.	" "	Ben Gorton
693	Hoboken, N. J.	" "	Wm. B. Joyce
374	Hamilton, Ont., Canada	Jan., 1914	W. P. Rollo
393	Three Forks, Mont.	" "	J. P. McGinley
592	Winnipeg, Man., Can. (re-org.)	" "	F. W. McGill
872	Chicago, Ill.	" "	Arthur E. Halm
35	Chicago, Ill.	Feb., "	{ Amalgamated Locals 336 and 530, as per sanction of General Executive Board
274	Marshalltown, Ia.	" "	Fred B. Hobby
303	Cedar Rapids, Ia.	" "	Fred B. Hobby
433	Jerome, Ariz.	" "	Marcus D. Markham
440	Montreal, Que., Canada	" "	T. J. Durnin
499	Springfield, O.	" "	T. J. Creager
503	Kansas City, Mo.	" "	J. H. Anderson
506	Montreal, Que., Canada	" "	T. J. Durnin
683	St. Thomas, Ont., Canada	" "	Wm. Stokes
685	Eau Claire, Wis.	" "	Josh Brady
687	Bay City, Mich.	" "	F. Finnegan
689	Passaic, N. J.	" "	Wm. B. Joyce
694	Watertown, Wis.	" "	Josh Brady
697	Temple, Tex.	" "	J. A. McCalmont
787	Coshocton, O.	" "	E. P. Miller
209	Pittsburg, Pa.	Mar., "	George Neesham
472	Calgary, Alta., Canada	" "	A. C. Beck
489	Ft. Wayne, Ind.	" "	Ben Gorton
671	Jackson, Mich.	" "	Frank Finnegan
698	Battle Creek, Mich.	" "	Frank Finnegan
710	Ashland, Wis.	" "	Josh Brady
711	Mingo Junction, O.	" "	Owen O'Connor
828	Marshfield, Ore.	" "	Theo. Meyer
830	Anacortes, Wash.	" "	Charles Perry Taylor
831	Walsenburg, Colo.	" "	J. P. McGinley
873	Waco, Tex.	" "	B. F. Shearod
183	Paris, Tex.	Apr., "	J. J. Cunningham
548	Hudson, N. Y.	" "	J. J. Henley
714	Joliet, Ill.	" "	Josh Brady
715	Marysville, Cal.	" "	F. E. Merryfield
841	Traverse City, Mich.	" "	Frank Finnegan
310	International Falls, Minn.	May, "	Edw. LaPage
619	Holyoke, Mass. (re-organized)	" "	Joseph H. Ross
718	Austin, Tex.	" "	W. E. Reynolds
720	Boise, Idaho	" "	H. P. Cummock
838	Casper, Wyo.	" "	W. W. Gildroy
840	Chester, Pa.	" "	Julius Sebastian
337	Cheyenne, Wyo.	June, "	J. P. McGinley
364	Pendleton, Ore.	" "	C. O. Young
443	Evansville, Ind.	" "	John Howe
600	Duluth, Minn.	" "	A. F. Martel
724	Ottumwa, Ia.	" "	Fred B. Hobby

Local	Location	Organized	Organizer
726	Ottawa, Canada.....	June, 1914.....	T. J. Durnin
727	Columbus, Ga.	" "	C. H. Ray
728	Englewood, N. J.	" "	Wm. B. Joyce
743	Natick, Mass.	" "	John J. Kearney
834	Royalton, Ill.	" "	Hugh Willis
835	Taylor, Tex.	" "	W. E. Reynolds
842	Casper, Wyo.	" "	J. P. McGinley
751	Beaumont, Tex.	July, "	W. E. Reynolds
752	Texas City, Tex.	" "	P. F. Ripley
753	Sherbrooke, Que., Canada.....	" "	Thomas J. Durnin
754	San Pedro, Cal.	" "	C. W. McDonald
756	Thief River Falls, Minn.	" "	Albert Hurst
336	Cumberland, Md.	Aug., "	G. C. Van Dornes
759	Crookston, Minn.	" "	Albert Hurst
839	Herrin, Ill.	" "	Hugh Willis
857	Laramie, Wyo.	" "	J. P. McGinley
444	Peoria, Ill.	Sept., "	John R. Huber and John M. Irish
760	Monroe, La.	" "	L. M. Hudnall
846	Sheridan, Wyo.	" "	W. W. Gildroy
644	Philadelphia, Pa.	Oct., "	Ben Gorton and Wm. B. Joyce
729	Ottawa, Ill.	" "	John M. Irish
762	Harrison and Kearney, N. J.	" "	Michael Herzog
730	Bremerton, Wash.	Nov., "	Charles Perry Taylor
732	Middletown, O.	" "	W. E. Horne
526	Johnstown, Pa.	Dec., "	Jere F. McCarthy
733	Dover and Somersworth, N. H.	" "	Thomas J. Durnin
103	Worcester, Mass.	Jan., 1915.....	Thomas J. Durnin
149	Newport, Ky.	" "	W. E. Horne
338	Knoxville, Tenn.	" "	G. F. Parker
112	Boston, Mass.	Feb., "	J. W. Conley and T. J. Durnin
195	Gloversville, N. Y.	" "	John A. Flett
296	New Bedford, Mass.	" "	J. W. Conley and T. J. Durnin
308	London, Ont., Can.	" "	H. G. Edsall
416	Springfield, Mass. (re-organized) ..	" "	T. J. Durnin and D. I. Casey
872	Milwaukee, Wis.	" "	A. F. Martel

CITIZENSHIP.

For years the writer of this report has urged on our general membership, greater care in carrying out the provisions of our general laws; there is one section in our book of laws which we regard as being of greater importance than is usually credited to said section and that very indifference has caused and will continue to furnish innumerable obstacles to our proper advancement.

Section 15, which reads: "Sec. 15. Every member—not a citizen by birth or naturalization—coming from countries other than covered by the name and charter of this International Union, shall be held to make his declaration of intention to become a citizen and perfect his naturalization as soon as he is entitled thereto;" was constructed by far-seeing members. They early recognized that the continued opposition of fanatical aggregations would never be overcome without the co-operation of members who were prepared and legally entitled to oppose, by their vote, proposed encroachment of a legislative character. When the provision was before one of our general conventions for discussion, efforts were made to make it drastic in operation, but calm judgment prevailed and it was conceded that the section as it reads today, is not injurious to, nor does it impose on applicants an unnecessary burden. We believe that we are fully within our rights to exact from those who desire to become members of our International Union that they shall agree to place themselves in a position wherein they may co-operate with us in preventing freakishly inclined legislators from increasing the obstacles to a sane and business-like conduct of the catering industry, and are convinced that the most effective method which we can employ to that desired end, is to insist on carrying into effect the provisions of the quoted section.

The catering industry of America is constantly menaced by the activities of fanatical organizations with an aim which has for its ultimate goal such restrictions as would positively revolutionize said industry and cause untold losses not only to the men who have their money invested but create a condition which would decrease the number of positions which wage-earners occupy. In seeking to encourage citizenship among our members we have but one object and that is to add to our power of suffrage every possible unit which we can command, so that when occasion arises, which is fairly frequent, we may so conduct ourselves as to make less easy of accomplishment the aims of sumptuary legislationists.

Section 15 is a protective measure, it seeks to press home the necessity of being prepared to repulse the onward rush of so-called reformers, from permitting them to take from our allied crafts the privilege which we have enjoyed, of working at our chosen vocations whenever and wherever food and beverages are prepared and dispensed.

It must be apparent to any reasonable person that in seeking to make more effective that particular section of our laws, we have no so-called patriotic motives as usually prevail with advocates urging their fellowmen to become citizens; our organization is an International Union, and the enforcement of Section 15 has no special country in mind, it applies to all governments on the continent of North America. We believe that our Canadian workers should be voters of that country; we believe that the Mexican workers should be citizens of that country, and we also hold that catering industry employees of the United States should be citizens and voters of the United States.

It is manifestly unfair for catering industry workers who hold allegiance to and citizenship in "countries other than covered by the name and charter of this International Union" to continue employment in any country of America and refuse to place themselves in a position to co-operate with their fellow trades unionists in protecting themselves and the industry which supplies them with the means of subsistence—to in a few words—become citizens and voters.

The writer has long held the opinion that we are justified in seeking out and demanding of those who have been employed under our jurisdiction, that they shall conclude the "intention" by becoming citizens of the country where employed, so that they may aid in protecting the men and women of the catering industry by the means which only citizens can exercise.

IS IT INSURMOUNTABLE—CAN IT BE OVERCOME?

Non-attendance at our local union meetings, as well as non-attendance of our local unions at conventions, is one, or may we say two, of the most stubborn obstacles in our path. It seems that we can discuss the subject under two headings or one just as suits our fancy. It is doubtful that any member of our International Union who has been elected to fill an executive position in one of our Locals, but what was confronted with the dread disease—non-attendance of members, and probably devoted time and thought in trying to solve the big problem. Labor organizations seem to be destined to wrestle with that question, they have wrestled with it for years and years and none of them so far as we have knowledge of, have succeeded in finding a remedy. Without attempting to advance the impression that the writer has discovered something where others failed, it may be possible to overcome some of the indifference and it is with that idea in mind that the following old, but not very well tried-out plan be given at least a tryout. In order to illustrate the idea, let us recall the methods which we used when we were youngsters, on the old lot where we played baseball. When we wanted to start a game, two of the boys began the doings by taking a base ball bat and alternately grasped the bat, the boy whose hand covered the top of the bat had first "choose" and then from the crowd of lads present they took turns and selected their "nine," then the fun grew fast and furious.

Let us transfer that picture to our meeting rooms, turn the process around somewhat and have the members select two men, who in turn were to select from the membership two members each, these six members to constitute two sets of debaters, the union to determine the subject for debate, and the teams given until the next regular meeting to prepare for the battle.

The subject having been selected, and it should be one which concerned the catering industry or the conduct of our unions—a fine field to select from—the next step would be to determine which side should take the affirmative and which the negative, for there would be little interest secured if all were for or against a subject; the idea being to force each side to dig up reasons and argument as to why they favored or opposed the proposition, and thus force the contending debaters to view questions from both sides—the affirmative and negative—and offer opportunities for summarizing problems which unfortunately we persist in overlooking, seldom taking the trouble to get the other side's viewpoint, and thus in innumerable instances find ourselves unprepared to repel attack.

At the next regular meeting, under heading of Good and Welfare, the teams selected to debate the question or subject selected by the union; the "captain" winning the toss to determine whether his side were to open or close the debate, that point being settled the debaters sail in, the time allowance being determined by the total time set apart for the debate—if it was one hour, that would mean ten minutes to each individual of the debating teams.

The rules should provide for a ballot, each member in attendance to have the privilege of voting—secret ballot—as to which side made the most points, and the result announced before adjournment.

The announcement of the result might create unfriendly feeling between the opposing sides, but such differences exist now, therefore this suggestion brings nothing relatively new to the organization, but it does bring something which in most of our locals is lacking, and that is interest in matters of vital value to us as workers.

It seems to the writer that giving the idea a tryout for a fair period of time, would truly enhance its value, for it would help to improve the members participating in the debates as well as serve to brush up greatly the latent judicial and reasoning powers of the attending membership. The value of such debates can best be appreciated when it is known that few if any educational institutions but what arrange debating contests, they are a real factor in teaching pupils to think and give expression to thought while on their feet. Many of the great colleges and universities employ this method and find it decidedly advantageous, hardly a week passes by without communications from educational institutions in which debates are to be held and the students of which are seeking information to employ in sustaining their side of a proposed debate on economics. Trades unionism, the closed shop, the union shop, the value of the union label, collective bargaining and similar subjects are discussed by college debating societies, and surely the men and women identified with the labor movement ought to seriously discuss such subjects, for it means their bread and butter, their future well-being as workers. At the outset it might appear that such discussions would exhaust the patience of the members, but that, we think, is an error, for it appeals to the writer that once such debates were given leeway, the anxiety to participate and to help those who were to debate for or against any given subject would enlist the attention of a larger number than now attend meetings, it would so develop the participants and membership that they would find themselves studying up on all questions which were likely to come before the meeting, they would gain material knowledge which would aid them considerably in argument relative to unionism and legislation.

The writer has faith in the idea, it can be elaborated upon and improved by the occasional reading of prepared papers by one or several members, and then general discussion on the topics covered by such compositions. As an outline for consideration the following subjects might be given over for debate: Is restrictive legislation harmful or beneficial to the catering industry? What benefit can be derived from beneficial features connected with our unions? Are craft examinations and licenses advantageous or injurious to the worker? Is the working button or the display card of our union an advantage to the employer—which of the two is best for our union?

In connection with legislative matters, there are many points which are rather vague to our membership. City, county, state and national laws, which deal with the catering industry, are seldom understood, and the suggested debates would prompt contestants to delve for every bit of information in order that they might offer conclusive argument for their side of a question.

As stated in the opening paragraphs, the suggestion is presented as a possible solution to bring about better attendance at meetings, and, to be quite frank, we are convinced that in spite of its age, if given half a chance the accruing results will be gratifying, for it will help to educate our members in the very things which are useful to them as workers and citizens; it will encourage them to read and think, to study and reflect and finally weigh and appraise facts for their tangible value and render judgment in accord therewith.

Should the suggestion be carried out by any of our locals we trust they will make known the fact and describe the results in communications for publication, for if it proves the success which we hope, all of our members should be advised.

The other half of the subject—non-attendance of our local unions at conventions—is quite as serious as the first half, unless this convention breaks all previous records, and we hope that it will—we will see our convention recording the absence of more than half of the local unions, locals which more than likely impose a penalty on their members for non-attendance at meetings, yet offer a glaring example of inconsistency by refraining from being represented by delegates on the floor of this and preceding conventions. An effort was made several years ago to bring about compulsory attendance by local unions at our general conventions; it did not prove acceptable, in fact, measures of a more or less coercive character generally prove of negative value, if not wholly injurious, to the tranquility of our unions. Sound reasoning should prompt every affiliated union to be represented, but as long as they find our conventions willing to bear the burdens and assume the responsibility of creating ways and means for the general good of all, it is unlikely that we shall find persuasion of an acceptable nature strong enough to produce pleasing results. It is a problem which we may solve, the quicker it is the more satisfying will be the results of convention efforts.

PROGRESS OR RETROGRESSION—WHICH?

In my last report to a general convention some attention was paid to the comparative results secured in the matter of establishing new local unions; an effort was made to show that, using the "Charters Issued" as a thermometer to indicate the rise or fall of our numerical increases was not always the best guide to accurate facts; yet it is a fact that during periods of activity among our members, when they are steadily employed, we have been able to point to a greater number of charters issued than when unemployment prevailed. While that may seem to go contrary to the usual trend in labor union circles, the following tabulation showing the number of charters issued in each year, during the incumbency of the author of this report as secretary-treasurer, is offered for perusal and comparison, which we believe will bear out the statement made:

Charters Issued From August, 1899, to March, 1915.

	Jan.	Feb.	Mar.	Apr.	May	June	July	Aug.	Sept.	Oct.	Nov.	Déc.	Total
1899.....	2	4	5	2	13
1900.....	9	8	12	7	12	11	10	3	8	10	8	9	107
1901.....	9	8	13	9	12	11	8	13	12	17	8	10	130
1902.....	23	23	17	16	17	26	19	19	28	39	16	21	268
1903.....	31	22	27	18	23	25	28	32	18	15	12	17	268
1904.....	8	12	10	9	14	9	6	8	11	3	5	5	100
1905.....	2	10	5	4	8	10	4	3	7	9	6	7	75
1906.....	2	6	2	5	4	7	2	8	4	9	10	6	65
1907.....	6	7	9	9	5	4	8	13	6	7	5	5	84
1908.....	12	15	12	14	11	7	11	9	5	6	6	6	114
1909.....	4	7	8	7	5	4	..	2	6	3	6	4	56
1910.....	4	6	7	11	8	17	1	9	2	7	6	10	88
1911.....	5	8	5	5	10	4	5	5	3	6	3	7	66
1912.....	8	3	8	4	3	5	13	8	7	15	6	6	86
•1913.....	13	9	1	11	12	5	8	7	6	15	8	7	102
1914.....	4	14	11	5	6	12	5	4	3	3	2	2	71
1915.....	3	6	9

A total of Sixteen Hundred and Ninety-eight charters (1,698). In my report to the last convention, June, 1913, we had a credit of 1,538 until March 1st, 1913, which means that beginning March 1st, 1913, and ending February 28th, 1915, we have issued 160 charters, an average of a fraction over three charters a week, which, considering the effort to divert attention and discourage the formation of unions, is a record which speaks for itself. The writer nor his colleagues on the General Executive Board pretend to assume that this fortunate record was produced unaided; they are sufficiently generous to bestow credit where it belongs: to the men and women of the labor movement generally, and particularly to our own members who have aided in making our organization a go-ahead institution, despite all obstacles which have or may be placed in its path. Need we say that we sincerely hope our members will continue their splendid co-operation?

SUMPTUARY LEGISLATION—AN EVER-GROWING OBSTACLE.

At the outset the writer desires to make the statement quite as emphatic as the use of decent language will permit, that he here and now declares that he owes neither apology or excuse for what he has endeavored to accomplish in connection with trying to prevent the Anti-Saloon League and similar fanatical organizations of America from destroying the Catering Industry and re-casting said industry along lines which would be agreeable to them and those whom they represent. And the writer takes advantage of the occasion to assert that he neither seeks or desires the friendship nor the suffrage of those inside of our International Union, who take the position or presume to occupy it, that the duty of the General Secretary-Treasurer does not require him to oppose with every ounce of energy and what ability he may possess, legislation which even remotely proposes to further restrict the vending of beverages which have been part and parcel of the catering industry from its very inception. There is a reason, and a live throbbing reason, for injecting that declaration herein; it consists of vicious attacks made by persons, who evidently are dissatisfied with our methods of doing what we conceive to be our plain duty, and these attacks have been couched in such language and with such persistency, that one is prompted to inquire if there is a direct or indirect connection with the agency which has expended millions of dollars to overthrow and destroy the beverage end of the catering industry.

The campaign carried on inside our International Union for several years to create dissatisfaction among our allied crafts, is not a craft-inspired program, nor is it conducted with aims beneficial to any part of the catering industry; that is a conviction which grows stronger and stronger the closer and deeper we investigate.

The sumptuary legislation advocates need not be informed that the greatest efforts, which could be conceived by them, have been operating inside our International Union; they are fully aware of that pertinent fact, and they admit with reluctance that the largest and most active handicap which confronts them to-day is our International Union. If they can in any way weaken it, you can well believe they are making the effort. Need your attention be called to the immense sums of money being collected by the Anti-Saloon League and used by them in every political unit in America to-day? Are you so obsessed with your own views that you are unable to appreciate that generalship and management which succeeded in winning such unquestioned victories as were shown in the fall elections of 1914? Surely such overwhelming evidence is not lost or wafted aside with a wave of the hand. Need you be informed that such results were the rewards of well laid plans plentifully surrounded with lubrication of the sort described as "filthy

"lucre," and that the distribution of that lubrication was in the hands of political experts second to none on this continent, campaigners accustomed to every trick known whereby the voters could be reached and stay put? The evidence is sufficient to convince the most obstinate, who heretofore regarded the opposition as silly shouters for the unobtainable.

The purpose of this portion of my report is twofold: first, to specifically direct your attention to the efforts made to weaken us from the inside; secondly, to offer a resume of what has been taken from you on the outside.

So far as the writer has any recollection there has never been presented for perusal in our official paper a record showing the status of Dry States and by what method they were changed. Here is the record:

States	Law Passed	Law in Effect	For	Against	Majority
Alabama	Jan. 14, 1915	July 1, 1915	By act of Legislature
Arizona	Nov. 3, 1914	Jan. 1, 1915	25,887	22,743	3,144
Arkansas	Feb. 6, 1915	July 1, 1915	By act of Legislature
Colorado	Nov. 3, 1914	Jan. 1, 1916	129,589	118,017	11,572
Georgia	Aug. 8, 1907	Jan. 1, 1908	By act of Legislature
Idaho	Feb. 1915	Jan. 1, 1916	By act of Legislature
Iowa	Feb. 1915	Jan. 1, 1916	By act of Legislature
Kansas	Nov. 2, 1880	Nov. 23, 1880	92,302	84,304	7,998
Mississippi	Feb. 1908	Dec. 31, 1908	By act of Legislature
Maine	Sept. 11, 1911	Sept. 11, 1911	60,853	60,090	758
N. Carolina.....	May 1908	Jan. 1, 1909	113,612	69,416	44,196
N. Dakota.....	Oct. 1, 1889	Nov. 2, 1889	18,552	17,393	1,159
Oklahoma State Constitution ...		Nov. 16, 1907	Popular vote
Oregon	Nov. 3, 1914	Jan. 1, 1916	136,842	100,362	36,480
Tennessee	Jan. 1909	July 1, 1909	By act of Legislature
Virginia	Sept. 22, 1914	Jan. 1, 1916	94,251	63,886	30,365
Washington	Nov. 3, 1914	Jan. 1, 1916	189,840	171,208	18,642
W. Virginia	Nov. 8, 1912	July 1, 1914	164,945	72,603	92,342

As will be noted, there are eighteen States in the foregoing list; those under prohibition laws are so designated and the tabulation also shows when the others become Dry. The number is rather more significant than the average member imagines, for it is exactly half of the required "three-fourths" of the States to amend the constitution and bring about nation-wide prohibition. The subject of prohibitory legislation is a large one; it would require many printed pages to even begin to give the question casual presentation. Notwithstanding the knowledge that your time is limited, the writer proposes to direct your attention to one phase of the question which, it seems to me, has been overlooked: Generally speaking, the Government of the United States is based on majority rule, yet an effort will be made to show that an active minority may legislate the Catering Industry, or for that matter trades unionism, out of lawful existence. A minority of the voters can amend the constitution of the United States, and by such amendment make labor organizations unlawful; they could amend the same instrument and make the manufacture and sale of intoxicating beverages unlawful. In fact, so far as amendments to the constitution of the United States are concerned, they could, to use a slang expression, "Go so far that it would take 'em a long while to get back." An outline of what could be accomplished will be set forth for your careful perusal.

As is well known, it requires two-thirds of the States to concur in an amendment before it becomes law; in other words, thirty-six States, irrespective of their citizen-voting strength or population.

The State with a small population has equal power as the State with large population in deciding the proposition of amending the Federal Constitution. Arizona, with its three hundred thousand population cuts quite as big a figure as the Empire State with its approximately ten millions of people. In the 1912 election the following twenty States cast the vote opposite their names:

Utah	112,385	Mississippi	64,319
Arizona	23,722	New Hampshire	87,961
Delaware	48,694	New Mexico	49,376
Florida	51,891	Alabama	117,888
Nevada	20,115	Maine	129,637
Louisiana	79,372	Georgia	121,533
South Carolina	50,348	Idaho	105,755
Montana	79,826	Oregon	137,040
Vermont	62,807	South Dakota	116,325
Wyoming	42,296
Rhode Island.....	77,894		1,579,184

In that same year the Empire State rolled up a vote of 1,587,983, which means that it had EIGHTY-SEVEN HUNDRED AND NINETY-NINE VOTES (8,799) in excess of the twenty States recorded in the foregoing tabulation. Let me say to those who have any doubts as to reliability of any figures quoted: that the election results are printed in several publications; in this instance the World Almanac furnished the information.

In the matter of amending the Federal Constitution, New York State with its Eighty-seven Hundred and Ninety-nine votes in excess of the total vote of the twenty States mentioned, would have exactly ONE vote to these twenty States' Twenty Votes. Can you appreciate the real significance of that undeniable, living fact? Can't you see that in the question of trade unionism or prohibition, or any other question, the disparity and the immense possibilities of such a condition. Take those twenty States and add thereto the vote cast in 1912 by North Dakota, which was 86,580, and it will make a total of 1,665,764. Compare that vote with the following five largest States and note the result; it will astonish you if you have overlooked the comparison heretofore:

New York	1,587,983
Illinois	1,146,193
Ohio	1,033,557
Pennsylvania	1,220,201
Missouri	698,562
	<hr/>
	5,686,496

That group of five States cast Four Million Twenty Thousand Seven Hundred and Thirty-two (4,020,732) votes in excess of the total vote of the twenty-one States referred to, yet in the matter of amending the Federal Constitution, and despite the immense multitude of voters in those five States, they would be able to muster exactly five votes as against twenty-one votes cast. If that is not sufficient evidence to prove that the Catering Industry is confronted with a real cause for worry we inquire what more is needed to convince any reasonable person?

To still further grasp the significance of the situation let us recall the fact that it requires a two-third vote of the States to amend the Federal Constitution. To many the impression prevails that the strength of a State is in accordance with its population; that may be measurably true, but in the question of amending the Federal Constitution population fails to figure. The voting population assumes importance in popular votes, and if the popular vote of the citizens were possible on a question of nation-wide prohibition, it is safe to conclude that the Anti-Saloon League would be whipped to a finish, for the liberal States, as they are usually called, have a voting strength larger than near-prohibition or total prohibition States. For example, the following thirty-six States cast the vote opposite their names in the 1912 elections:

Utah	111,876	South Dakota	116,325
Arizona	23,722	North Dakota	86,580
Delaware	48,694	Arkansas	123,589
Florida	51,891	Connecticut	190,398
Nevada	20,115	Colorado	266,871
Louisiana	79,372	Maryland	231,978
South Carolina	50,348	North Carolina	243,918
Montana	79,826	Oklahoma	254,389
Vermont	62,807	Tennessee	247,821
Wyoming	42,296	Virginia	136,976
Rhode Island	77,894	West Virginia	268,828
Mississippi	64,319	Nebraska	249,861
New Hampshire	87,961	Texas	305,120
New Mexico	49,376	Washington	322,799
Alabama	117,888	Kansas	365,444
Maine	129,637	Minnesota	334,219
Georgia	121,533	Wisconsin	388,814
Idaho	104,203		<hr/>
Oregon	137,040		5,594,998

The remaining twelve States cast the vote following their name in the same election:

New York	1,587,983	Indiana	654,474
Illinois	1,146,193	Iowa	492,356
Ohio	1,033,557	Kentucky	453,698
Pennsylvania	1,220,201	Massachusetts	488,056
Missouri	698,562	Michigan	550,776
California	673,527	New Jersey	432,534

Total vote cast by the above twelve States

Total vote cast by the thirty-six States

Majority of the twelve States over the thirty-six States.....

3,836,919

From the foregoing it will be observed that there is more real truth than fiction in the declaration relative to a minority of the voters imposing on the majority sumptuary legislation of a character which is almost impossible to overcome. Further analysis is possible, but sufficient has been offered to prove that the Catering Industry is confronted with a serious menace, one which must be given heed by the workers in the industry, as well as those who have their money invested therein. You who give the situation in your own section of the country attention, but who seldom keep in touch with events transpiring in other sections, have before you ample food for serious reflection. Very few of our members realize the enormous number of men and women, organized and unorganized, who are ceaselessly advocating the elimination of the so-called drinking establishment, nor do they fully grasp the meaning of all the planning of fanatical organizations, which are growing stronger and stronger, and whose ramifications extend to such lengths that are positively astounding. The writer of this report has endeavored to offer in our official magazine facts and figures relative to the number of paid representatives of the Anti-Saloon League and other prohibition organizations. There seems to be little need to repeat those facts and figures, but it does seem imperatively necessary to call your attention to one of several incidents in order that you may the better understand and appreciate that these fanatical organizations are managed and directed by quite as slippery and shrewd manipulators and quite as unprincipled as any aggregation of ballot-box stuffers ever driven to the wall and exposed. As far back as March, 1909, one of the State superintendents was caught in the act of colonizing voters in the State of Michigan; and those of you who have been members for any considerable length of time will recall that we printed in the MIXER AND SERVER, April, 1910, a fac-simile of the letter sent by that wily pulpit politician, Rev. G. W. Morrow, to E. J. Brower, of Grand Rapids, Mich., in which the colonizing proposition was set forth. Other incidents and quite as significant could be recited, but that one seems sufficient for the purpose of putting you on your guard, to warn you in advance to beware of those who parade as your friends and well wishers; and who seek to emasculate your organization and make it an easier prey to the fanatical hordes seeking the elimination of "you" and the industry in which "you" are engaged.

If you have been carrying the idea that your organization is immune from the attack of fanatical Anti-Saloon advocates, it is high time that you submerge your brain-box in a well of unquestioned facts and thus clear it of all variation of clouds. You and the men and women whom you represent need a clear brain to decide your future, you must think, and think hard and well, for a few weeks hence will be too late to consider over what road you shall travel; it will be too late to amend your action; see that you so act that your members back home will call you blessed and compliment your judgment and wisdom.

INTERNATIONAL UNION DEATH BENEFIT FUND.

Our membership will recall that for several years the writer had unceasingly directed special attention to the conditions which surrounded our Death Benefit Fund; article after article had been prepared and printed in reports to our general conventions in the hope, that those who gathered at our conventions would see the absolute necessity of protecting that fund from obliteration and place our organization in a position which would have been decidedly injurious. That such a view was not without excellent foundation can best be grasped by a careful analysis of the tabulations which are part of this report, which will show that beginning April 1, 1910, the gradual decrease in the balance kept pace with the excess paid from the fund, so that in spite of numerical increase in our general membership, we were not even keeping the fund balanced with the added tax obtained from that membership increase.

With the foregoing reminder of conditions as they were, it is satisfying to be able to advise you, that with the slight increase in tax afforded by the action of the Seventeenth General Convention, the Death Benefit Fund seems to have taken on a new lease; and as will be noted from compilations covering income and expenditures is, today, in a condition which it has never enjoyed since its adoption by the Tenth General Convention held at Louisville, Ky., May 12-17, 1902, and ratified by a general vote immediately subsequent to that conclave. As will be recalled, in my report to our last general convention, there was offered a complete monthly record of the income and disbursements from that fund, the great length of that tabulation made more and more formidable as months were added thereto, therefore it was deemed wise in the interests of economy to condense the record into annual form excepting therefrom the interval covering the present fiscal term, March 1, 1913, to March 1, 1915.

As will be recalled, the payments of tax into the Death Benefit Fund began with the month of August, 1902, and from that date up to the first day of February, 1903, the fund accumulated a foundation which amounted to $6,820.85 before a single death benefit claim had been allowed.

As intimated, the following statement offers the income and expenditures therefrom beginning August 1, 1902, for each fiscal term up to the present, and from March 1, 1913, to March 1, 1915, monthly.

DEATH BENEFIT FUND
Comparative Yearly Statement

	Income	Expense	Balance
August 1, 1902, to February 1, 1903.....	$6,820.85
February 1, 1903, to March 1, 1904.....	28,770.72	$20,150.00	*$15,441.57
March 1, 1904, to March 1, 1905.....	26,436.37	25,050.00	16,827.94
March 1, 1905, to March 1, 1906.....	19,324.91	20,050.00	16,102.85
March 1, 1906, to March 1, 1907.....	19,600.24	19,750.00	15,953.09
March 1, 1907, to March 1, 1908.....	22,023.70	24,300.00	13,676.79
March 1, 1908, to March 1, 1909.....	21,809.40	24,100.00	11,386.19
March 1, 1909, to March 1, 1910.....	21,742.43	21,250.00	11,878.62
March 1, 1910, to March 1, 1911.....	23,032.66	25,300.00	9,611.28
March 1, 1911, to March 1, 1912.....	26,737.73	27,200.00	9,149.01
March 1, 1912, to March 1, 1913.....	29,392.30	28,550.00	9,991.40
March 1, 1913, to March 1, 1914.....	40,106.84	35,150.00	14,948.24
March 1, 1914, to March 1, 1915.....	50,041.53	37,600.00	27,389.77

Total income Death Benefit Fund..... $335,839.77

Total expense Death Benefit Fund..... $308,450.00

Total amount in Death Benefit Fund on March 1, 1915.....

$27,389.77

*Thirteen months' tabulation.

	Income	Expense
1913—March.....	2,501 36	2,550 00
April.....	2,905 53	2,850 00
May.....	2,849 63	3,700 00
June.....	2,479 95	2,100 00
July.....	2,796 36	3,150 00
August.....	2,749 05	2,250 00
September.....	3,404 87	3,150 00
October.....	4,082 70	2,800 00
November.....	3,789 03	3,100 00
December.....	3,991 13	2,600 00
1914—January	4,335 58	4,050 00
February.....	4,221 65	2,850 00
March.....	4,475 35	3,800 00
April.....	4,084 31	3,750 00
May.....	3,838 94	3,100 00
June.....	4,228 16	3,550 00
July.....	4,424 44	2,550 00
August.....	4,147 66	2,900 00
September.....	4,126 22	2,400 00
October.....	4,381 83	3,300 00
November.....	3,962 86	2,400 00
December.....	4,566 77	3,300 00
1915—January	3,896 08	3,900 00
February.....	3,908 91	2,650 00

Totals $50,041 52 $37,600 00

To our last convention the report was made that the total number of death benefit claims paid called for 4,714. To this convention we are reporting the number increased to 6,169, or, in other words, since March 1, 1913, to March 1, 1915, we have paid out death benefit claims on account of Fourteen Hundred and Fifty-five deceased members, practically two members every day which has intervened in the time noted. Few of our vast membership at this time fully appreciate what our death benefit fund has accomplished. Perhaps they will the better grasp the immensity of our membership losses, by death, when their attention is called to the fact that we have paid out in benefit claims a larger number than the total membership of our International Union reported to the Eighth General Convention.

As has been stated time and time again, if our International Union had no other achievement than helping the bereaved families of the small army of deceased members recorded in the foregoing, it would have fully justified its existence. It has been, and we trust will continue to be, the splendid beneficence which its institutors sought to establish; and, we should look with decided suspicion on any person or persons who pretend our well being and future success, yet urge us to weaken or obliterate that benefit by any process, no matter what name the attempt sails under. We express no joy over the decease of our members, but we have reason to feel gratified that we have such a fund which enables us to bring into the homes of sorrow, some measure of relief in the hours of distress, thus showing, as best we can, that we try to practice genuine fraternalism as the light is given us.

UNREDEEMED PLEDGES.

When our International Union became a fact, when it began to do business as one of the units of the American Federation of Labor, it offered as an inducement to those whom it sought as members, that it would abide by whatever obligations it assumed and would endeavor to carry out its contractual obligations to the last letter.

At the very beginning there was offered to the petitioners for affiliation an obligation which in substance set forth, that each party to the agreement would so far, as laid in their respective powers, use all legitimate means to foster and protect one another; that obligation has been transmitted, handed down to each succeeding applicant and every legal member of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America has accepted and obligated himself to carry out his part of that contract. There were no exceptions at the beginning, there have been none since the issue of charter by the American Federation of Labor; and so long as that charter prevails there can be no legal exceptions to the taking of the obligation, for it is the very foundation stone of the organization. The applicant was required to subscribe his name to a petition or application form, setting forth his or her desire to become a member. The said petition or application read substantially as follows:

*Officers and Members of Local No.....
Greeting:*

I, the undersigned, having read carefully all the laws of this International Union, and being of sound mind and personally interested in the success of the H. & R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A., and having followed the business of a.....for the space ofyears, and desiring to become a member of your respected Union, I herewith make application, with accompanying fee and vouchers, agreeing, if elected thereto, to conform to its rules, abide by its regulations, and extend sympathy, aid and relief to the needy, distressed or persecuted members thereof, as in my ability lies, and to the end of attaining membership in said Association, I hereby answer the following questions, all of which I affirm to be true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

And I furthermore promise, that I shall consider it mandatory for me to secure the application of at least one good, capable craftsman to become a member of this local union.

The following questions must be answered, and full name written plainly, by applicant.

Following the foregoing space was provided for the name of the applicant, residence, age, where employed, where employed last, in what city worked last and vouchers. Added queries were also printed on the form relative to membership in trade unions and other occupations followed if any. A minimum fee was established and after paying said amount to the local union, the applicant was referred to a committee appointed to investigate and report on the capability and character of the applicant; if acceptable to the union said applicant became a candidate for initiation. The initiation consisted of taking an obligation before the members of the local union, which obligation called upon God and the members of the union to witness and hear declarations of loyalty to the cause of organized labor, and especially to the protection and perpetuation of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America.

The Local Union obtained its right to obligate such candidates by and through the possession of a charter issued by petition, and the following is a copy of that petition:

(CITY AND STATE).....19....

We, the undersigned.....believe it to be well calculated to improve our intellectual and social condition, and promote our industrial well-being and advancement, respectfully petition the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America, to grant a Certificate of Affiliation to us as representatives of:

Name of Organization.....

Holding Regular Meetings at No.....

in the City of.....

State or Province.....

We hereby pledge ourselves, individually and collectively, to be governed by the Constitution, Rules, and Usages of the International Organization, with the reserved right to preserve the autonomy or self-government of our own organization, subject to such rules and regulations as may be made, or are now established in the International Organization as above named.

Pledging themselves collectively and individually as set forth in the petition, the petition became the primary step toward entering into contractual relations with the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America. When the charter was issued in response to that petition, the relations between the chartered body and the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America were set forth in its book of laws, and certificate of affiliation or Contract read as follows:

Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America.

Affiliated with American Federation of Labor.

Do Grant this Charter

70

To Local No. of and to their successors legally qualified, to constitute a Local, to be known as No. of for the purpose of effecting a thorough organization of the trade. And the said local being duly formed, is hereby empowered and authorized to initiate into its membership any person or persons, duly proposed and elected according to the Constitution adopted by this International Union, and to enact By-Laws for the government of the same as a local.

Provided, That the said local do conform to the Constitution, Laws, Rules and Regulations of this International Union, and provided also, that said local be located in , and not removed therefrom without the consent of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America, and in default thereof, or any part, this Charter may be suspended or revoked, according to the laws of the International Union. And should the said local No. be dissolved or forfeit this Charter, then all property, books, papers and money shall become the property of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America.

And further, in consideration of the due performance of the above, the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America, does hereby bind itself to support the said No. in the exercise of all rights and privileges as a subordinate local.

In Witness Whereof, WE have ordered the SEAL of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America to be affixed this day of A. D., one thousand.....

Int. President.	2nd Vice-Prest.	5th Vice-Prest.	International Executive Board.
SEAL Int. Sec'y-Treas.	3rd Vice-Prest.	6th Vice-Prest.
1st Vice-Prest.	4th Vice-Prest.	7th Vice-Prest.

(The addition of the Eighth Vice-President began July 1, 1911.)

A CONTRACT is an AGREEMENT between competent parties upon a legal consideration, to DO or to ABSTAIN FROM DOING some lawful act.

This definition involves the consideration of four distinct topics, called the Elements of a Contract, which are as follows:

First—Offer and acceptance.

Second—Capacity of parties.

Third—Consideration.

Fourth—Legality of subject matter.

A certificate of affiliation, a CHARTER, issued by the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America, is a CONTRACT, for there will be found in said CHARTER ALL of the FOUR ELEMENTS provided for under legal requirements: Offer and acceptance; Capacity of parties; Consideration, and, finally, Legality of subject matter.

Every legal member of our International Union is a party to the CONTRACT, and as an individual has a proprietary interest to the full extent of all of the resources of our International Union; that being unquestioned, it therefore logically follows, that such individual is legally responsible, and shall bear proportionately his or her share of any attempt to abrogate or violate its provisions. The CONTRACT is EXECUTORY in its fullest meaning, it cannot be EXECUTED until those who are parties thereto have fulfilled every obligation which it stands for, and those who are beneficiaries under said CONTRACT should understand that pertinent fact.

AN EXECUTORY CONTRACT is a LIVE instrument; it does not comprehend that its abrogation may take place at the behest of any one or several persons, no matter how anxious they may be to produce that result.

As an organization we persist in teaching our membership to respect their obligations, to adhere strictly to CONTRACTS which may have been entered into. We frown down upon contract-breakers, whether they be employers or collective individuals in our unions; we say to our members in as emphatic language as we can employ: "MAY I BE AS CAIN AND AS AN OUTCAST with every man's hand against me, should I ever wilfully violate this my OBLIGATION to GOD and HUMANITY."

Any attempt to lessen the weight of our responsibilities in respect to that agreement, that CONTRACT, must be regarded as evasion with ultimate intent to avoid—to class ourselves as CONTRACT JUMPERS—men and women without honor or honesty.

Our CONTRACT being a LIVE instrument, executory in its nature does not and cannot become an EXECUTED CONTRACT until every promise, every obligation made, down to the payment of the Death Benefit has been carried into effect, has been executed.

then, and ONLY THEN, does the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America make good to its fullest extent the EXECUTED CONTRACT.

To assume that an AGREEABLE RELINQUISHMENT can be obtained by and from ALL THOSE HAVING PROPERTY INTERESTS in our International Union is to occupy a position approaching the impossible. An agreeable relinquishment is not only an impracticable proposition, but it is one fraught with such an immensity of involved tasks that the millennium would arrive before it had been fairly begun.

"In every system of organization there is a body of rules intended to organize government, mark out departments of service, designate the orbit and limitations of its power." That is exactly what the founders of our International Union struggled to accomplish, and that they succeeded is evident from what has been secured by general co-operation of those who became affiliated. The founders had ever in mind the greatest good for the greatest number, they set forth in understandable, simple language, the aims and objects of our organization. That was a fundamental idea; it has not lost any of its weight on account of the passing years, nor is it susceptible to weakening by the approach of years to come; it is the life throb, when it ceases dissolution will have taken place.

The wisdom of the founders caused them to create rules which had equality as its chief concern. Despite protestations to the contrary, nothing less than absolute equality has manifested itself in the years intervening. The founders believed that "When fundamental law is to be changed, it should not be the act of a minority, however wise or however noisy." And in consonance with that belief they surrounded our International Union with ample safeguards, one of which is the instrument referred to previously—the CONTRACT by and between them and the local unions seeking affiliation as an integral—binding them and their successors to perform certain specified acts, thus creating a CONTRACT as indicated, EXECUTORY in its fullness and impossible of EXECUTION until every obligation made had been carried to its ultimate.

The founders took the lowest possible number upon which to base rule by the majority. With that provision as a keystone they constructed the arch with the full knowledge that tampering therewith invited dissolution.

In patterning after the tested and tried constitutional provisions of other labor organizations, they displayed far-sightedness, for which we should feel grateful. They sought to create confidence in the CONTRACT which they entered into, and they endeavored successfully to construct one which would stand the ravages of time and the trickery of selfish exploiters. Our charter is such an instrument which the proponents of constitutional government aver protect the fundamental rights of all those holding legal membership thereunder.

Are we at this late date going to seriously consider the advisability of informing the thousands upon thousands of mothers, wives and children of our members that we shall not redeem the pledges which we have made during the almost twenty-five years of our existence as an International Union; that the monthly contributions in the form of per capita tax which their sons, husbands, brothers and sisters have paid into our general funds are about to be frittered away in useless and costly litigation; that because within our ranks there are some who are dissatisfied for one reason or the other, or for no reason at all, yet who are urging with every bit of strength which they possess and can command, that we jeopardize the interests of all and forswear and obliterate all outstanding CONTRACTS, thus leaving UNREDEEMED PLEDGES unsatisfied. Let those who advocate that process speak up and show us why we should consent to abrogate those contracts and satisfy us that in doing so we are acting as honorable men and women; that we will not, if we follow their lead, finish with "every man's hand against us," crying "unclean" the meanwhile.

We are advised by the advocates of a division of our International Union that any provision of our laws is susceptible of amendment or obliteration, and by the same token they would quite as heartlessly attempt to amend your honor as men and women, to make you go forth from this convention heralding to the world that your heretofore honorable word and reputation as honest men and women had been ruthlessly thrown away, discarded; and that henceforth those who would enter into agreements with you would do so at the risk of a repetition of "abrogation of contract," without so much as sensible cause or reason for such action. There are many things which we may do, some of which we should not do—one of those is breaking faith.

The advocates of ignoring agreements made and pledges given are not the friends of honorable government, their protestations to the contrary notwithstanding.

We have a right to question the motives of men inside or out of our organization who plan and manoeuvre to bring about violation of our integrity, no matter under what banner they may march, nor for whatever alleged purpose they seek to attain.

We have a right to doubt the sincerity of those who pose as friends of our crafts, yet who would urge us onward to commit such acts as are contemplated and which would inevitably mean limitless litigation and possible confiscation of what little world's goods each of you may be the possessor of.

Whether you realize it or not, you are urged to do that which governments expressly forbid:

"Impairing the Obligation of Contracts."

Tamper with your contractual relations if you will, but before doing so weigh well the responsibilities, morally and financially.

THE MIXER AND SERVER.

From its very inception our official monthly journal aimed to reach the men and women of the catering industry with a message of encouragement and good cheer; it sought and persistently so, to inculcate a desire to read and reflect, and the conviction is here expressed that no other trade union publication has succeeded in accomplishing more along that particular line. At the outset the MIXER AND SERVER seemed to prove an unwieldy burden, one which the organization, in its weakened condition, could hardly bear; but before many numbers were printed and circulated it had proved itself one of the most valuable assets of our International Union, and it has grown more and more valuable as the years appear and pass on. Few of our membership truly realize the immense number of readers which our official magazine can truly lay claim to, and in order that they may obtain a better understanding of that point there has been compiled data which can be readily absorbed.

Newspaper and magazine circulation experts calculate that an average circulation of 100,000 represents 400,000 readers, in other words, each paper printed and circulated is read by an average of four persons. Basing our circulation on the number of copies actually printed each month is an easy task, for we seldom retain extra copies. Excepted from that rule is the number of copies held over for annual binding, and they do not represent a total of 1,000 per month. During the last twenty-four months we have printed 1,339,500 copies of the MIXER AND SERVER; deducting therefrom 24,000 copies for binding and reference purposes, leaves us a total of 1,315,500 for the two years referred to, or an average monthly of 54,812½ copies, or an actual reading clientele of 219,250. Therefore on the basis of that number of readers the MIXER AND SERVER has been read by 5,262,000 persons in the last two years.

To still further emphasize the quantity of our official paper printed and circulated, the held-over copies, and which are bound to the number of local unions in good standing, are being continually referred to by our members; in fact, they become a valuable book of reference, which our membership prize very highly.

Our official monthly Journal enjoys what is known as "pound rates," that is to say, all copies mailed to addresses, excepting those mailed to members residing in the city of publication and copies mailed to our members in Canada, are paid at the rate of one cent per pound; those going to members in Canada must bear postage stamps, one cent for each four ounces or fraction thereof. A similar rate is required for Journals mailed to the address of members in the city of publication. The weight of our official Journal may interest those who give such matters thought: for the two years ending February, 1915, the total weight of the MIXER AND SERVER mailed to addresses was 345,978½ pounds, one hundred and seventy-five tons less 22 pounds, or, in other words, 174 tons and 1,978 pounds. The average weight per month during the two years was 14,582 5-12 pounds, over seven tons of printed matter each month.

As to the quality of the matter presented each month the members of our organization are the final judges, for when the last word has been uttered, it is the rank and file who determine what they desire; if the MIXER AND SERVER has failed in any respect they will be heard from and with emphasis sufficient to satisfy that a change is imperative. Judging from the reception our official Journal meets, the rank and file is in accord with the policy and agreeable to its editorial expressions.

One of the noticeable and pleasing features which no doubt commends itself to our membership, is the increasing number of splendid original articles and newsy letters coming from our officers and members of affiliated local unions. These contributions give the official paper prestige wherever it may be read. As in the past, we have endeavored to offer the best thought of the best brains which America can boast of; some of these articles would probably never have come to the attention of our membership without the aid of our official paper. All in all, the tone of our official paper has been such as to make it an acceptable visitor to the homes of our membership; in fact, that is one of its strongest recommendations of which we feel some measure of satisfaction. There has never been any real effort to cover trade matters from a technical viewpoint, for the excellent reason that to do so with success would necessitate similar financial outlay as is borne by catering magazines and a greatly augmented corps of special contributors and illustrators.

The writer takes advantage of the chance to offer to our own members and many kind friends sincere thanks for their generous co-operation during the two years which this report covers; without their kindness and labor we fear that our official Journal would hardly measure up to the fine standard which it has maintained. We trust that they will continue their co-operation and keep the MIXER AND SERVER at the head of the procession.

Accompanying this will be found statement of expenses for the MIXER AND SERVER for the fiscal term, and as a final word on the subject is a reiteration of what has been said heretofore:

"No greater agent for good exists than your official Journal. It had a mission to perform and has filled it many hundred fold, hence its continuation means still greater returns for you and your organization."

March, 1913.

MIXER AND SERVER—72 pages and cover in two colors.....	$1,695 00
Five halftone cuts.....	7 50
Changes in mail list.....	24 00
Addressing and mailing.....	67 05
Stamps and postage.....	141 44

Total $1,934 99

April, 1913.

MIXER AND SERVER—72 pages and cover in two colors.....	$1,712 50
Four halftone cuts.....	6 00
Changes in mail list.....	26 00
Addressing and mailing.....	67 81
Stamps and postage.....	152 59

Total $1,964 90

May, 1913.

MIXER AND SERVER—80 pages and cover in two colors.....	$1,920 00
Six halftone cuts.....	9 00
Changes in mail list.....	22 50
Addressing and mailing.....	69 56
Stamps and postage.....	157 20

Total $2,178 26

June, 1913.

MIXER AND SERVER—72 pages and cover in two colors.....	$1,795 00
Four halftone cuts.....	6 00
Changes in mail list.....	26 50
Addressing and mailing.....	71 10
Stamps and postage.....	155 94

Total $2,054 54

July, 1913.

MIXER AND SERVER—264 pages and cover in two colors.....	$5,660 00
Changes in mail list.....	24 50
Addressing and mailing.....	72 32
Stamps and postage.....	522 68

Total $6,279 50

August, 1913.

MIXER AND SERVER—48 pages and cover in two colors.....	$1,294 50
Four halftone cuts.....	6 00
Changes in mail list.....	22 00
Addressing and mailing.....	72 80
Stamps and postage.....	103 62

Total $1,498 92

September, 1913.

MIXER AND SERVER—48 pages and cover in two colors.....	$1,306 00
Changes in mail list.....	22 50
Addressing and mailing.....	73 80
Four halftone cuts.....	6 00
Stamps and postage.....	108 37

Total $1,516 67

October, 1913.

MIXER AND SERVER—48 pages and cover in two colors.....	$1,317 50
Two halftone cuts.....	6 00
Changes in mail list.....	22 50
Addressing and mailing.....	74 53
Stamps and postage.....	112 96

Total $1,533 49

November, 1913.

MIXER AND SERVER—48 pages and cover in two colors.....	$1,317 50
Two halftone cuts.....	4 75
Changes in mail list.....	21 50
Addressing and mailing.....	74 79
Stamps and postage.....	111 26

Total $1,529 80

December, 1913.

MIXER AND SERVER—56 pages and cover in two colors.....	$1,584 00
One halftone cut.....	1 50
Changes in mail list.....	24 00
Addressing and mailing.....	78 45
Stamps and postage.....	133 34

Total $1,821 29

January, 1914.

MIXER AND SERVER—64 pages and cover in two colors.....	$1,782 00
Changes in mail list.....	26 50
Addressing and mailing.....	78 81
Stamps and postage.....	142 12

Total $2,039 43

February, 1914.

MIXER AND SERVER—72 pages and cover in two colors.....	$1,980 00
Two halftone cuts.....	3 00
Changes in mail list.....	28 00
Addressing and mailing.....	80 38
Stamps and postage.....	166 39

Total $2,257 77

March, 1914.

MIXER AND SERVER—64 pages and cover in two colors.....	$1,846 00
Changes in mail list.....	27 50
Addressing and mailing.....	82 21
Stamps and postage.....	155 47

Total $2,111 18

April, 1914.

MIXER AND SERVER—64 pages and cover in two colors.....	$1,854 00
Changes in mail list.....	26 00
Seven halftone cuts.....	10 50
Addressing and mailing.....	82 45
Stamps and postage.....	160 01

Total $2,132 96

May, 1914.

MIXER AND SERVER—64 pages and cover in two colors.....	$1,862 00
Changes in mail list.....	24 50
Addressing and mailing.....	82 80
One halftone cut.....	1 50
Stamps and postage.....	163 22

Total $2,134 03

June, 1914.

MIXER AND SERVER—64 pages and cover in two colors.....	$1,902 00
Changes in mail list.....	24 00
Two halftone cuts.....	3 00
Addressing and mailing.....	84 49
Stamps and postage.....	171 66

Total $2,185 15

July, 1914.

MIXER AND SERVER —72 pages and cover in two colors.....	$2,070 00
Changes in mail list.....	26 00
Two halftone cuts.....	6 50
Addressing and mailing.....	84 70
Stamps and postage.....	189 60

Total $2,376 80

August, 1914.

MIXER AND SERVER —80 pages and cover in two colors.....	$2,390 00
Changes in mail list.....	26 50
One halftone cut.....	2 50
Addressing and mailing.....	86 94
Stamps and postage.....	208 23

Total $2,714 17

September, 1914.

MIXER AND SERVER —64 pages and cover in two colors.....	$1,910 00
One stereotype	75
Changes in mail list.....	26 00
Addressing and mailing.....	86 93
Stamps and postage.....	169 50

Total $2,193 18

October, 1914.

MIXER AND SERVER —72 pages and cover in two colors.....	$2,085 00
Two halftone cuts.....	3 00
Changes in mail list.....	26 00
Addressing and mailing.....	86 93
Stamps and postage.....	193 13

Total $2,394 06

Grand total

COMPARATIVE GROWTH OF OUR INTERNATIONAL UNION.

It is a source of considerable satisfaction to the writer, and should secure similar response from our general membership, to note the continued stability of our International Union in comparison to other National and International Unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. To maintain an even keel, so to speak, and successfully overcome innumerable trying obstacles, not the least of which have been originated and placed in our path by some of our own members, and notwithstanding such impediment to make fair to excellent headway is neither child's play nor the effect of studied negligence. It has taken some of these National and International Unions many, many years to produce the results which they can well feel proud of, yet despite our youth as an organization and the early handicap of insufficient income, we have no reason to feel ashamed of our combined efforts.

In the subjoined list you will find the International Unions which have a larger voting strength than our International Union on the floor of the American Federation of Labor conventions. These figures are taken from the official roll-call of the last convention of the American Federation of Labor held at Philadelphia, Pa., November 9 to 21 inclusive, 1914. It will be recalled that in my report to the Seventeenth General Convention held at Denver, Colo., June 9 to 14 inclusive, 1913, our International was reported as occupying the tenth position; in my report to the Boston convention four years ago, we occupied the eleventh position, making, as the following list will show, two points upward in the four years intervening:

VOTE OF THE A. F. OF L. CONVENTION, 1914—THE FIRST NINE IN NUMERICAL STRENGTH.

	Votes
1. United Mine Workers of America.....	3,345
2. United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America.....	2,128
3. International Association of Machinists.....	754
4. Brotherhood of Painters and Decorators, etc.....	744
5. International Ladies' Garment Workers.....	699
6. United Garment Workers of America.....	607
7. American Federation of Musicians.....	600
8. International Typographical Union.....	594
9. Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America.....	590

When it is recalled that there are or were, when that vote was recorded, One Hundred and Ten National and International Unions in the American Federation, being one of the first nine, counts for considerable, both as respects prestige and perseverance. The one hundred and one remaining National and International Unions, as well as the eight besides our organization, are quite as active, agitating and organizing, and to retain our present position or improve it to a similar extent as we have during recent years, means that you and every member of our great big family of members must keep boosting and working to convert those who are employed at the catering industry and make them see the necessity of affiliation.

As intimated, being one of the great labor organizations of America is something worth while boasting about; it remains with you and your associate delegates to this convention as to whether we shall retain the privilege or surrender and go backward.

In order that you may have before you all the facts connected with this particular topic, we have, as heretofore, taken the liberty to reproduce that portion of Secretary Frank Morrison's report, which shows the voting strength of all of the National and International Unions affiliated with the A. F. of L. for a period of several years. If you have the time to peruse the tabulation carefully, it will enable you to follow the progress of the various organizations from year to year; you will also find the tabulation valuable for reference, especially when would-be critics attempt offering data at variance with actual facts.

VOTING STRENGTH.

The following table shows the voting strength of the affiliated unions of the American Federation of Labor for the years 1906 up to and including 1914. This table is based upon the average membership reported or paid upon to the American Federation of Labor by affiliated organizations:

ORGANIZATIONS	1906	1907	1908	1909	1910	1911	1912	1913	1914
Bakery & Confectionery Wkrs. Intl. U. of A.	106	110	105	107	127	138	146	151	157
Barbers' International Union, Jour.	231	241	255	255	265	285	299	318	343
Bill Posters	14	14	14	14	14	14	14	14	14
Blacksmiths, Intl. Brotherhood of	82	98	100	100	100	100	98	90	96
Boilermakers and Iron Ship Builders	128	157	152	126	161	199	167	162	167
Boot and Shoe Workers' Union	321	320	320	320	325	327	333	343	381
Bookbinders, Intl. Brotherhood of	68	89	79	71	78	79	85	91	94
Brewery Workmen, International Union	360	*	400	400	400	450	450	450	520
Brick, Tile and Terra Cotta Workers	64	43	28	25	38	34	34	39	32
Broom and Whisk Makers' Union, Intl.	10	9	8	8	6	7	7	7	7
Brushmakers' International Union	5	5	4	2	2	2	2	2	2
Carpenters and Joiners, Amalgamated	43	58	81	73	71	78	*	*	*
Carpenters and Joiners, United Bro. of	1637	1929	1796	1640	1904	1946	1923	2107	2128
Carriage, Wagon and Automobile Workers	31	31	15	15	11	20	27	29	35
Carvers' Union, International Wood	16	16	13	13	12	12	10	10	11
Car Workers, International Association of	49	50	44	50	50	46	*	*	*
Cement Workers	42	58	73	90	90	90	90	90	73
Chainmakers' National Union	6	6	6	3	2	c	c	c	c
Cigarmakers' International Union	391	399	409	398	432	436	415	402	400
Clerks, Bro. of Railway	56	50	50	50	50	50	50
Clerks, Bro. of Railway Postal	15
Clerks, Intl. Protective Asso. Retail	500	500	500	150	150	150	150	150	150
Clerks, National Post-office	9	12	13	14	16	18	22	22	28
Cloth Hat and Cap Makers, United	21	23	13	15	21	22	28	38	36
Commercial Telegraphers	20	35	19	10	10	10	10	10	10
Compressed Air and Foundation Workers	13	13	13	8	6	6	6	8	10
Coopers' International Union	55	53	49	41	41	43	45	46	45
Cutting Die and Cuttermakers, Intl. Union	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3
Diamond Workers' Prot. Union of A.	3	3	3
Electrical Workers, International Bro.	210	302	321	138	160	189	196	227	308
Elevator Constructors	22	23	25	20	21	21	23	26	27
Engineers, International Union of Steam	175	175	168	161	160	160	177	200	203
Express Messengers of A., Bro. of Railway	2	1	†	†
Firemen, International Bro. of Stationary	123	125	173	107	81	80	114	160	160
Fishermen's National Prot. Asso., Lobster	6	6	†	†	†	†	†	†	†
Freight Handlers, Bro. of Railroad	32	63	78	46	47	40	25	10	29
Flour and Cereal Mill Employees	7	7	8	8	3	*	*	*	*
Foundry Employees, International Bro. of	10	10	7	5	7	5	5	5	6
Fur Workers, International Association of	4	4	4	2	2	c	c	c	c
Fur Workers' Union of U. S. and Can., Intl.	8
Garment Workers of America, United	240	334	439	534	542	525	464	585	607
Glass Bottle Blowers' Asso. of U. S. & Can.	78	80	88	98	100	100	100	100	100
Glass Workers' International Asso., Amal.	16	14	12	11	12	12	11	13	12
Glass Workers of America, Amal., Window	58	61	**	**	**	**	**	**	**
Glass Workers, American Flint	*	*	*	*	*	*	*	91	99
Glass House Employees' International Asso.	2	††	††	††	††	††	††	††	††
Glass Snappers, Window	10	6	*	*	*	*	*	*	*
Glove Workers	8	8	8	8	8	9	11	13	11
Gold Beaters' Protective Union, National	3	5	5	†	†	†	†	†	†
Grinders' National Union, Table Knife	3	3	3	2	2	†	†	†	†
Grinders and Finishers, Pocket Knife Blade	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3
Granite Cutters' International Asso. of A.	113	126	180	131	134	135	135	135	135
Hatters of North America, United	85	85	85	85	85	85	85	85	85
Heat Frost, Genl. Insulators, and Asbestos	5	5	8	6	5	8	8	8	10
Hodcarriers and Common Laborers	50	97	112	88	114	127	125	221	256
Horseshoers of United States and Canada	41	44	61	72	72	49	52	53	57

ORGANIZATIONS	1906	1907	1908	1909	1910	1911	1912	1913	1914
Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America.	345	363	386	368	370	430	476	539	590
Iron, Steel and Tin Workers' Amal. Asso.	100	100	100	60	80	45	45	55	64
Iron Workers, Bridge and Struc. Intl. Asso.	100	100	100	100	100	100	100	100	102
Jewelry Workers' International.	4	6	4	3	4	3	2	††	††
Lace Operatives, Amal.	8	8	8	8	8	9	10	11	12
Ladies' Garment Workers, International.	13	23	16	18	187	668	584	788	699
Lathers, Intl. Union of W. W. and Metal.	40	40	58	50	50	50	50	50	55
Laundry Workers, International Union.	55	31	40	35	29	26	26	26	28
Leather Workers on Horse Goods.	40	40	40	40	37	26	20	19	18
Leather Workers of America, Amal.	10	10	8	8	8	6	6	c	c
Lithographers' Intl. P. and B. Asso.	30	23	11	13	17	21	24	26	28
Lithographic Pressfeeders	10	9	9	9	9	10	†
Longshoremen's Association, International.	340	320	315	213	208	250	235	220	250
Machinists, International Association of.	500	560	621	484	569	671	598	710	754
Machine Printers and Color Mixers.	5	5	5	5	5	5	5	5	5
Maintenance of Way Employes, Intl. Bro. of	120	132	135	100	87	100	91	80	65
Marble Workers, Intl. Association of.	17	20	22	24	27	28	28	30	41
Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen.	50	53	63	63	54	31	40	54	62
Metal Workers' Intl. Alliance, Amal. Sheet.	129	153	161	160	162	172	166	169	178
Metal Polishers, Buffers and Platers, etc.	109	100	100	100	100	100	100	100	100
Mine Workers of America, United.	2379	2549	2525	2670	2337	2504	2670	2708	2345
Miners, Western Federation of.	513	506	485	369
Mine Managers and Assts. Mutual Aid Asso.	4	†	†	†	†	†	†	†	†
Molders' Union of North America, Intl.	450	500	500	500	500	500	500	500	500
Musicians, American Federation of.	354	375	375	394	400	500	500	546	600
Painters of America, Brotherhood of.	555	624	648	596	635	676	685	709	744
Paper Box Workers, International Union of	7	†	†	†	†	†	†	†	†
Papermakers, United Brotherhood of.	35	31	43	10	16	24	28	40	44
Patternmakers' League of N. A.	40	50	55	50	52	56	60	65	67
Pavers and Rammermen, Intl. Union of.	12	15	15	15	15	15	15	15	16
Paving Cutters Union of U. S. of A. & Can.	15	18	20	26	32	32	35	35	35
Photo-Engravers' Union of N. A., Intl.	22	28	29	32	35	37	40	44	47
Piano and Organ Workers' Union of A., Intl.	80	50	50	40	40	40	20	10	10
Pilots' Association of the Great Lakes, Lake	10	†	†	†	†	†	†	†	†
Plasterers' Intl. Asso. of U. S. & Can. Oper.	145	152	147	157	173	180
Plumbers, Steamfitters, etc.	150	160	180	184	200	200	260	290	297
Powder and High Explosive Workers.	6	5	5	2	2	2	2	2	2
Potters, Natl. Brotherhood of Operative.	56	58	59	59	58	59	65	65	77
Printing Pressmen, International.	166	166	172	178	186	190	190	190	193
Printers, Plate, of U. S. A., Intl. S. and C.	12	12	12	12	13	13	12	13	13
Print Cutters' Asso. of A., Intl.	4	4	4	4	4	4	4	4	4
Printers, Machine Textile.	4	**	**	**	**	**	**	**	**
Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers.	10	7	28	35	31	35
Quarry Workers, International.	38	41	45	45	50	35	40	40
Railway Carmen of A., Bro.	228	269	287	280	287
Railway Employees' Amal. Asso., St. & Elec.	300	320	320	338	367	393	402	457	545
Rooters, Comp. Damp & Waterproof Wrks.	...	10	10	10	11	12	12	12	12
Sawsmiths' National Union.	3	3	3	3	3	1	1	1	1
Seamen's Union of America, Intl.	194	248	255	168	160	160	160	160	160
Shipwrights, Joiners and Calkers.	20	19	16	16	9	†	†	†	†
Signalmen, Bro. R. R.	7
Slate and Tile Roofers.	5	6	6	5	5	5	5	6	6
Slate Workers.	18	30	27	21	14	7	4	3	3
Spinners' International Union.	22	22	22	22	22	22	22	22	22
Steam and Hot Water Fitters and Helpers.	54	55	56	56	56	56	d	d	d
Steel Plate Transferre's Asso. of America.	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
Stereotypers & Electrotypes' Union of N. A.	28	29	31	35	40	42	43	45	45
Stonecutters' Association, Journeymen.	...	85	83	89	80	86	89	66	60
Stove Mounters' International Union.	15	15	14	10	9	11	11	11	11
Switchmen's Union of North America.	81	92	93	80	80	87	87	96	98
Tailors' Union of America, Journeymen.	166	167	161	132	117	120	120	120	120
Teamsters, Chauffeurs, etc., Intl. Bro. of.	402	366	377	320	358	382	415	469	511
Telegraphers, Order of Railroad.	150	150	150	150	200	250	250	250	250
Textile Workers of America, United.	100	114	129	100	100	100	109	162	180
Theatrical Stage Employes, Intl. Alliance.	60	60	62	80	91	98	110	132	150
Tile Layers and Helpers, Intl. Union.	19	21	19	17	19	21	24	27	30
Timber Workers.	17	18	17	18	18	15	15	31	25
Tin Plate Workers, Intl. Protective.	14	14	14	15	8	3	3	f	f
Tip Printers.	2	1	2	2	2	2	2	2	†
Tobacco Workers' Intl. Union of America.	55	51	46	43	41	40	37	36	37
Travelers' Goods & Leather Novelty Intl.	9	7	5	5	6	8	9	9	9
Tunnel & Subway Constructors, Intl. Union	13	17	18	19	17
Typographical Union, International.	438	428	440	455	491	518	547	564	594
Upholsterers, International Union of.	26	26	28	28	28	28	28	31	35
Watch-case Engravers, International.	2	2	2	2	2	2	c	c	c
Weavers, Elastic Goring.	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
White Rats Actors' Union of A.	11	11	11	11	11	66	110	110	110
Wire Weavers' Protective, American.	3	3	3	3	4	4	3	3	3
Woodsmen and Saw Mill Workers.	12	10	3	7	6	†	†	†	†
Wood Workers, Amalgamated.	150	93	40	41	32	31	e	e	e
Centrals.	588	574	606	594	632	631	560	621	647
Locals.	759	713	616	608	647	680	590	659	570
State Branches.	36	37	38	39	39	38	41	42	43
Total vote of Unions.	15639	16425	16892	15880	16737	18643	18499	20976	21185

* Charter revoked.  Withdrawn. † Suspended for non-payment of per capita tax. †† Disbanded.

c Surrendered charter. d Not recognized. e Merged with Carpenters. f Merged with Iron and Steel Workers.

COMPARATIVE GROWTH OF OUR INTERNATIONAL UNION - - -

Local No.	1913											1914
	MAR.	APR.	MAY	JUNE	JULY	AUG.	SEPT.	OCT.	NOV.	DEC.	JAN.	FEB.
1	669	653	656	628	629	633	628	653	647	663	665	666
2	323	326	325	324	319	325	327	340	346	335	336	342
3	288	282	273	260	256	247	248	251	250	260	251	245
4	207	211	220	227	230	235	238	229	234	231	229	226
6	445	475	495	445	428	413	386	375	377	397	396	384
8	181	189	192	186	191	197	191	196	193	191	188	181
10	89	92	101	104	101	89	89	90	94	103	105	107
11	24	25	25	25	25	25	25	25	25	25	25	25
12	167	159	162	162	162	162	161	163	155	158	157	156
14	195	202	182	192	211	280	226	202	180	181	180	203
15	43
17	297	296	291	279	278	270	258	263	266	275	280	272
18	85	80	77	76	81	81	77	83	77	71	72	78
19	156	147	151	143	158	177	169	176	174	171	166	168
20	407	466	518	739	726	702	637	589	557	538	538	509
24	44	45	49	49	46	52	47	47	42	37	31	34
27	82	84	65	61	61	53	46	40	48	53	56	47
28	64	62	64	61	63	67	63	60	60	64	63	68
29	211	212	212	209	208	206	202	200	198	198	196	195
30	1359	1358	1332	1321	1317	1407	1505	1597	1697	1724	1754	1721
31	491	477	469	473	478	473	464	478	473	470	460	474
33	286	292	289	291	296	301	328	338	335	343	339	341
35
36	50	46	46	41	41	41	40	40	40	37	37	39
37	92	96	96	99	93	96	100	103	100	101	102	101
38	58	61	64	64	64	66	69	69	64	66	68	71
40	17	18	18	17	17	15	16	16	15	15	15	14
41	774	810	823	835	869	880	917	930	964	991	1032	1023
43	36	71	66	33	34
44	874	904	863	828	820	838	822	857	871	896	918	908
46	15	15	15	16	16	16	16	16	16	16	17	17
48	595	599	591	595	607	610	617	620	645	647	643	646
49	25	24	24	20	20	20	17	17	17	16	15	15
50	28	26	27	32	33	34	34	35	35	33	34	33
51	603	614	625	631	633	643	641	658	679	681	678	680
55	30	130	128	134	157	150	148	120	120
59	114	120	114	121	127	127	128	126	137	116	121	120
60	23	26	26	23	24	24	24	26	25	25	25	25
61	189	180	188	195	199	200	188	180	194	211	212	223
62	82	91	88	85	77	74	80	80	86	82	90	78
63	51	53	44	41	35	37	39	42	41	49	49	57
64	182	178	198	203	202	185	177	177	192	197	193	197
67	182	182	187	188	193	194	191	195	194	192	194	196
68	491	496	512	522	550	566	579	577	538	538	529	504
69	147	151	154	146	154	147	156	157	147	153	148	142
70	509	503	495	497	501	494	498	496	497	506	511	513
71	48	36	36	37	36	36	36	37	37	38	38	37
72	14	15	14	14	14	14	14	14	14	14	18	17
73	14	14	17	17	19	22	22
76	211	237	257	261	252	236	238	244	245	248	240	253
77	1605	1613	1606	1627	1633	1645	1651	1657	1679	1683	1686	1706
78	68	68	73	72	71	71	73	74	75	75	71	71
79	192	207	216	215	212	214	216	212	208	210	199	197
80	526	512	498	504	505	479	502	521	506	504	489	501
81	142	143	137	136	134	138	141	148	144	147	143	143
82	37	38	37	38	35	35	36	40	38	38	38	38
83	7	7	7	7	7	7	7	9	7	7	7	7
84	51	51	51	54	53	53	53	52	51	55	55	55
85	202	205	204	207	209	207	204	203	205	204	205	212
86	10	10	10	10	10	10	10	10	10	10	10	10
87	11	11	11	11	11	11	10	10	10	10	10	10
88	21	21	30	36	41	32	34	22	22	22	22	19

The following table represents a complete record of our local unions' membership, beginning Mar. 1, 1913, and closing Feb. 28, 1915. This is a valuable compilation, one that appeals to every member, as it places in their possession an official record such as no other international union attempts to offer.

Local No.	1914										1915
	MAR.	APR.	MAY	JUNE	JULY	AUG.	SEPT.	OCT.	NOV.	DEC.	JAN.	FEB.
1	669	663	655	656	661	675	684	681	685	685	668	671
2	343	343	336	327	329	338	342	354	357	340	351	353
3	242	251	240	232	238	237	229	235	213	213	211	207
4	224	222	223	221	193	194	193	194	196	191	189	194
6	365	366	300	289	301	278	278	285	296	281	280	299
8	185	193	206	218	232	232	239	238	241	230	219	200
10	113	113	107	106	98	93	87	85	85	80	73	69
11	25	25	25	25	25	25	25	25	25	25	25	25
12	158	156	157	159	159	157	163	166	166	166	165	169
14	199	202	207	199	212	213	233	222	210	217	216	196
15
17	281	297	306	318	281	248	211	213	219	206	198	162
18	87	93	98	94	110	111	93	89	80	85	87	87
19	172	136	134	136	139	170	175	163	145	146	149	157
20	473	471	487	529	554	573	564	560	543	541	549	532
24	37	43	39	38	36	36	23	22	17	17	15	14
27	43	85	76	82	82	70	62	57	56	48	46	40
28	47	90	86	126	101	92	111	111	109	96	107	118
29	192	186	187	186	189	192	204	210	213	218	224	216
30	1725	1725	1676	1682	1634	1603	1608	1608	1644	1662	1699	1798
31	487	501	490	498	506	517	508	519	506	514	515	469
33	333	319	320	326	320	325	330	333	329	322	316	310
35	346	366	353	471	488	424	383	333	313	311	303	296
36	39	42	50	52	53	54	55	55	58	58	59	58
37	95	99	27	11	13	13	13	11	10	11	12	12
38	71	76	80	79	83	83	86	84	86	84	88	87
40	14	14	15	15	15	15	15	1	1	10	10	11
41	1040	1073	1074	1080	1099	1105	1121	1132	1166	1176	1193	1198
43	43	39	46	63	68	65	70	70	68	70	64	65
44	898	886	882	948	971	975	986	989	999	1019	1031	1037
46	17	17	17	17
48	623	631	628	619	622	641	653	642	653	657	661	674
49	20	20	18	19	19	21	22	22	23	19	19	18
50	33	33	31	31
51	696	710	717	714	704	696	690	708	701	703	688	679
55	127	143	161	164	156	116	93	77	62	81	73	60
59	126	127	114	117	117	128	129	125	112	118	128	132
60	25	25	26	32	34	32	32	32	32	28	27	27
61	228	248	222	226	216	202	200	198	196	182	177	...
62	84	85	107	106	108	116	142	107	101	92	100	98
63	53	52	55	54	59	61	66	63	58	56	48	...
64	181	180	193	191	202	203	205	204	194	196	196	184
67	196	194	194	194	200	200	200	200	207	210	215	208
68	494	494	502	494	490	495	493	485	487	476	479	469
69	139	142	146	140	144	148	154	144	156	149	135	140
70	509	507	498	492	493	498	486	493	486	478	466	463
71	36	36	38	38	38	38	39	40	37	43	42	40
72	17	17	16	15	15	69	104	113	116	90	79	72
73	24	26	29	31	33	39	39	40	39	39	39	38
74	242	259	265	272	277	284	280	275	272	272	261	276
77	1691	1678	1658	1676	1702	1704	1706	1706	1707	1722	1712	1718
78	70	69	70	70	70	70	70	70	70	70	70	72
79	196	194	192	197	181	187	189	196	194	197	197	192
80	476	481	489	472	477	498	512	528	548	567	518	534
81	141	139	137	135	137	139	139	136	136	134	131	131
82	40	40	40	42	39	43	43	44	45	45	45	44
83	7	7	7	7	7	8	8	8	8	8	8	8
84	55	57	57	53	52	51	56	58	59	59	57	57
85	210	213	205	206	201	203	202	203	200	198	197	194
86	10	10	47	141	157	154	155	159	162	167	166	166
87	10	10	13	12	10	16	15	15	16	18	17	17
88	18	16	16	40	49	51	32	22	21	19	17	16

Local No.	1913											1914
	Mar.	Apr.	May	June	July	Aug.	Sept.	Oct.	Nov.	Dec.	Jan.	Feb.
90	188	194	197	196	183	190	188	188	190	191	194	190
91	11	11	11	15	15	16	20	19	13	14	14	15
92	47	48	48	48	48	48	48	50	49	48	47	47
93	76	74	70	76	77	77	77	76	77	76	75	75
94	...	18	30	42	49	41	41	33	26	20	20	20
95	229	225	229	236	235	234	235	236	235	241	242	247
96	30	30	30	30	30	30	30	28	28	29	29	29
97	42	43	44	44	44	47	46	47	48	50	50	49
98	18	18	22	22	29	27	19	20	18	18	23	20
99	235	231	233	231	233	237	237	240	236	234	231	241
100	173	175	173	177	176	178	183	184	181	182	180	177
101	139	147	152	143	140	141	129	119	128	134	132	140
102	80	75	82	89	90	94	91	97	97	93	98	100
104	28	30	30	31	30	30	31	34	28	29	29	29
105	68	68	66	64	75	63	67	54	54	48	61	45
106	500	515	492	462	448	464	475	478	480	478	477	453
107	93	89	92	85	85	80	84	78	85	86	85	91
108	445	463	463	469	479	467	471	471	445	458	464	446
109	326	320	319	319	322	326	319	319	318	304	306	305
110	548	598	582	620	623	615	621	624	627	643	675	649
113	58	55	55	54	54	53	53	54	54	54	53	53
114	64	66	63	62	64	65	68	61	63	63	60	60
115	502	534	556	569	576	587	604	630	653	657	665	661
116	45	45	47	53	51	52	54	55	54	58	59	58
117	83	84	82	81	86	87	88	81	73	69	67	68
118	158	151	154	142	136	130	129	128	132	134	129	128
119	84	84	88	82	84	88	95	99	101	91	81	79
120	195	207	218	213	209	207	203	210	213	205	207	208
121	15	15	15	15	15	16	16	10	10
122	20	20	8
123	30	30	30	29	29	28	22	23	23	23	22	21
124	93	94	101	105	107	107	118	121	121	121	116	111
125	35	35	35	42	42	42	41	41	41	37	37	38
126	39	40	40	40	40	41	41	42	42	42	42	42
127	45	47	48	48	46	46	46	45	48	47	47	45
128	26	25	23	25	28	28	28	27	26	26	24	22
129	69	64	63	63	49	48	51	52	38	43	43	41
131	400	399	409	410	425	418	423	432	426	424	408	407
132	15	17	16	17	13	13	14
133	28	28	25	28	27	26	26	26	24	25	27	27
134	219	221	221	219	220	217	214	217	220	221	218	220
135	...	18	50	50	47	54	48	55	42	37	37	35
136	33	35	36	36	34	33	33	29	29	29	29	29
137	62	61	61	61	63	62	62	65	65	64	.66	66
139	34	34	34	34	34	33	35	35	35	35	34	35
140	63	65	56	57	56	56	53	56	56	31	31	31
141	52	53	57	62	59	66	67	69	72	66	70	75
142	51	56	63	61	69	73	68	69	73	73	72	69
144	31	29	29	29	29	29	29	29	30	30	33	33
145	40	41	41	40	40	40	40	40	40
147	32	32	32	32	33	33	33	33	33	34	31	33
148	24	24	24	24	25	26	26	26	27	28	23	24
149
150	25	32	44	46	64	60	66	77	69	74	72	73
151	37	37	36	35	37	39	40	40	40	41	41	39
152	559	562	599	615	614	623	617	620	621	628	635	629
153	108	119	126	131	138	143	147	150	154	152	155	155
154	113	121	118	123	115	117	114	115	109	114	104	110
155	95	101	99	96	97	97	96	97	96	97	94	93
156	66	65	65	63	65	66	65	65	62	67	75	73
157	105	106	106	104	103	105	102	102	102	104	101	99
158	10	10
159	90	88	91	91	90	83	83	81	80	88	90	88
161	163	166	170	153	172	161	189	185	187	197	184	194
162	12	41	48	52	55	61	56

Local No.	1914											1915
	Mar.	Apr.	May	June	July	Aug.	Sept.	Oct.	Nov.	Dec.	Jan.	Feb.
90	197	195	188	192	197	201	203	198	199	199	194	195
91	15	15	11	10	10	9	9	10	10	10	10	10
92	47	46	44	42	41	42	42	42	43	47	49	51
93	75	70	70	70	65	65	67	66	66	63	61	71
94	18
95	251	252	249	244	245	242	235	232	229	233	241	234
96	30	30	29	22	21	18	17	18	17	16	18	17
97	49	52	51	47	45	44	44	46	45	44	43	43
98	18	29	24	32	31	21	18	22	19	16	10	7
99	238	236	233	239	239	233	236	235	236	234	235	237
100	178	176	175	178	180	179	174	177	184	184	186	183
101	141	133	128	129	134	129	135	142	141	139	140	143
102	94	93	98	95	95	96	91	86	85	86	84	84
104	28	27	24	24	25	25	25	25	23	25	25	26
105	45	41	45	45
106	445	467	484	478	465	476	472	474	461	458	449	446
107	98	98	90	103	108	116	123	138	144	147	153	158
108	445	420	445	462	478	472	485	494	477	486	498	480
109	301	286	285	296	300	307	302	305	305	315	319	322
110	628	635	626	653	640	639	659	662	730	769	765	741
113	52	53	52	53	52	57	57	56	56	55	55	51
114	58	60	60	60	67	67	68	66	63	65	66	68
115	690	704	777	786	805	787	783	791	804	828	888	896
116	59	59	61	60	60	56	57	58	58	55	58	58
117	67	70	70	71	71	69	61	64	64	64	62	62
118	132	138	117	115	110	113	113	116	108	112	109	108
119	78	79	78	73	67	65	70	69	70	67	68	66
120	207	212	215	213	215	198	203	201	205	197	202	204
121
122
123	23	23	24	25	26	26	23	23	26	26	26	25
124	115	104	107	109	114	115	117	121	123	127	127	128
125	36	36	37	37	34	33	33	33	34	34	33	32
126	42	44	39	39	42	43	45	44	47	49	50	47
127	46	50	49	51	47	49	50	46	47	46	47	49
128	24	25	25	23	23	23	23	23	23	23	23	25
129	37	36	37	40	42	41	43	43	37	37	29	30
131	407	403	403	405	404	411	405	396	395	392	387	381
132	11
133	29	27	27	27	28	29	30	28	28	29	29	28
134	218	215	214	212	215	220	217	213	214	195	202	203
135	32
136	27	26	25	25	26	25	25	26	26	27	28	29
137	69	69	69	70	71	71	71	67	66	66	67	67
139	36	37	36	37	40	39	42	40	39	40	35	35
140	31	30
141	78	80	74	76	79	81	82	87	90	82	77	73
142	56	54	48	53	52	56	59	62	52	42	48	48
144	34	33	33	33	34	34	34	34	34	32	29	29
145
147	35	32	36	39	40	39	39	41	43	42	41	41
148	24	23	21	20	20	20	20	21	20	20	20	21
149	10
150	61	63	62	65	61	70	74	63	76	80	84	89
151	36	36	36	37	36	38	38	37	37	38	37	37
152	615	611	617	627	617	625	672	702	721	728	728	713
153	155	157	155	152	153	154	157	157	155	155	153	153
154	108	108	113	114	116	120	117	115	115	119	110	121
155	98	117	123	124	132	133	135	135	139	145	142	142
156	75	71	69	69	67	64	64	62	62	61	59	58
157	98	95	96	103	103	103	100	100	100	92	90	87
158	88	86	87	86	84	86	88	87	90	90	87	84
159
161	180	183	179	195	211	188	192	199	202	188	175	170
162	69	61	51	52	52	48	47	44	44	44	44	38

Local No.	1913										1914
	Mar.	Apr.	May	June	July	Aug.	Sept.	Oct.	Nov.	Dec.	Jan.	Feb.
163	43	43	43	40	43	44	44	44	45	43	47	46
166	128	128	129	129	133	135	123	127	125	126	126	122
167	158	156	153	153	151	151	154	151	154	158	156	154
169	88	90	86	85	87	86	89	90	88	86	81	82
170	26	36	47	51	55	63
171	331	325	341	355	330	359	335	357	344	352	359	378
173	104	109	118	118	122	126	126	125	129	134	136	137
175	445	457	454	481	481	388	395	399	413	396	393	399
178	78	71	76	76	76	76	1	39	46	63
180	71	68	68	67	71	71	74	82	84	77	89	87
181	83	83	80	79	81	81	81	81	75	75	71	73
182	22	26	26	27	26	26	25	25	26	26	25	25
183
184	39	31	30	30	30	23	22	22	21	22	24	22
187	30	29	31	31	30	30	30	30	30	30	32	31
188	807	827	841	819	860	906	920	951	983	992	1,075	1,074
189	139	152	144	132	138	129	146	146	182	192	184	188
190	38	38	37	38	39	39	39	39	39	39	38	36
192	91	91	91	91	93	90	91	88	90	96	96	96
193	102	104	105	101	101	101	102	103	100	96	90	91
194	20	21	20	19	20	19	20	20	21	22	21	20
196	260	236	241	251	283	273	273	260	290	291	302	289
197	140	139	140	143	158	159	168	172	169	174	171	171
199	60	67	68	73	81	84	86	86	84	86	86	85
200	261	255	254	258	258	262	262	264	264	268	267	269
201	26	12	14
202	72	70	71	73	70	73	74	68	68	66	66	66
203	79	86	92	100	102	113	116	100	122	122	105	97
204	51	51	50	50	51	57	55	54	55	52	55	59
205	16
206	155	148	145	157	146	143	144	141	137	135	138	123
207	36	44	44	42	42	42	42	42	41	42	42	36
208	38	38	38	38	33	33	33	33
209
210	29	30	31	31	36	36	32	34	30	29	32	32
212	162	164	163	162	169	163	165	178	178	174	168	168
213	46	47	30	37	26	25	27	25	25	24	26	26
214	9	9	9	9
215	38	36	35	34	34	37	38	34	35	35	33	34
216	279	328	315	342	354	357	243	244	243	267	286	309
217	242	240	246	249	260	272	281	276	264	258	258	254
218	49	52	52	48	39	40	41	38	38	38	39	42
219	100	102	99	100	98	101	98	94	98	96	97	97
220	36	37	32	32	31	31	33	32	35	33	42	44
221	40	41	42	45	45	44	42	45	47	47	47	48
222	85	88	88	88	102	112	112	124	128	124	127	124
223	26	26	26	52	63	72	62	56	51	43	37	34
224	169	172	176	180	188	192	196	201	202	196	200	194
225	36	36	35	35	35	35	30	30	33	34	34	34
226	28	28	29	29	29	29	28	28	30	29	29	20
227	28	29	32	33	33	33	31	33	33	25	28	28
228	182	175	178	172	171	174	177	183	181	177	180	171
229	30	30	30	29	29	29	29	32	35	29	29	30
230	17	13	13	13	13	13	13	12	12	10	10	10
231	27	27	26	27	29	31	31	33	34	37	37	37
232
233	12	12	9	14
234	17	17	17	17	17	17	20	19	17	18	17
235	31	31	33	34	35	36	35	36	38	37	36	36
236	45	44	43	45	46	48	47	45	45	47	47	45
237	31	33	30	33	30	33	31	30	31	31	30	33
239	258	270	276	292	310	316	312	302	294	294	292	303
240	244	240	249	240	247	261	269	288	326	337	336	327
241	37	36	37	37	36	36	39	39	39	37	37	38
242	11	13	13

Local No.	1914											1915
	MAR.	APR.	MAY	JUNE	JULY	AUG.	SEPT.	OCT.	Nov.	DEC.	JAN.	FEB.
163	50	44	40	41	41	41	39	39	43	42	44	44
166	126	126	126	126	126	124	118	120	122	110	111	111
167	155	152	158	161	163	165	166	172	173	173	170	170
169	89	92	88	89	88	87	85	89	77	75	75	74
170	72	77	79	80	74	74	77	77	76	55	64	66
171	371	381	391	380	391	387	397	404	389	402	386	374
173	139	139	139	138	140	143	155	159	162	159	164	170
175	407	414	421	419	424	368	370	378	352	346	348	352
178
180	81	80	87	91	86	87	87	90	99	100	97	93
181	79	77	77	77	76	79	80	74	74	76	75	73
182	26	25	24	25	25	25	25	25	25	25	25	25
183	18	21	10	15
184	22	22	14	14	15	15	16	16	15	14	14	12
187	31	29	30	32	32	31	31	32	32	31	31	31
188	997	952	938	944	949	961	971	993	994	968	980	985
189	151	144	124	131	110	137	142	145	143	146
190	37	38	40	40	40	38	39	42	40	41	38	38
192	93	93	94	98	98	95	100	99	101	101	100	91
193	96	105	104	101	101	104	107	109	107	105	105	105
194	20	20	21	21	21	21	21	21	22	22	22	21
196	283	273	265	262	266	258	239	228	212	223	229	238
197	165	164	153	154	155	152	157	157	157	157	152	152
199	86	84	88	89	88	89	89	88	85	82	79	75
200	267	264	264	268	268	269	270	280	260	258	258	264
201
202	65	72	76	75	80	84	87	96	100	103	101	104
203	98	99	95	93	95	90	91	72	73	71	76	87
204	63	68	69	65	66	67	69	70	75	68	68	70
205
206	136	138	136	134	136	134	137	139	142	141	140	143
207	36	53	53	55	58	52	55	55	56	58	52	54
208
209	...	40	51	37	45	60	119	154	184	185	206	194
210	32	31	32	31	32	33	32	32	25	26	29	29
212	174	165	170	183	191	191	192	191	187	190	181	183
213	25	24	24	24	24	21	20	9	9	9	9	9
214
215	34	34	35	37	38	32	32	31	36	39	39	39
216	298	311	311	314	358	382	397	400	413	382	385	382
217	256	253	261	266	277	281	281	276	277	278	280	270
218	43	42	41	41	45	47	47	50	54	51	51	51
219	100	100	106	103	98	97	96	95	97	98	100	102
220	40	39	37	38	38	38	39	39	39	40	41	42
221	47	48	46	42	43	43	42	39	38	35	34	33
222	128	130	136	139	134	142	136	139	137	135	135	136
223	38	36	35	40	24	18	19	27	32	36	23	24
224	187	183	179	180	187	184	186	188	192	197	199	201
225	28	29	30	29	29	29	29	28	28	27	27	28
226	25	20	20	20	21	21	21	22	21
227	28	23	23	25	26	26	26	26	26	27	26	26
228	158	153	147	124	121	135	128	127	130	117	121	116
229	30	30	30	30	30	30	29	29	30	32	32	...
230	10	10	11	11	11	11	11	11	11	11	50	51
231	37	36	34	34	34	34	34	32	34	34	32	32
232	22	19	20	20	20	20
233
234	16	15	11	7	8	9	9
235	37	29	26	26	25	23	23	23	23	23	23	22
236	45	45	45	45	47	48	46	46	45	45	45	45
237	32	30	30	31	31	32	32	33	28	27	27	27
239	303	296	295	301	311	329	331	327	329	323	320	403
240	339	347	345	345	352	351	354	347	352	344	334	315
241	40	37	36	38	40	40	34	34	37	37	37	40
242

Local No.	1913											1914
	MAR.	APR.	MAY	JUNE	JULY	AUG.	SEPT.	OCT.	NOV.	DEC.	JAN.	FEB.
243	65	62	67	63	73	75	71	73	74	78	81	80
244	83	81	74	76	84	78	75	73	80	84	81	81
246	60	62	54	55	57	56	56	56	56	58	61	59
247	207	200	205	204	207	212	220	225	228	193	196	182
248	167	159	152	148	147	151	155	160	162	158	155	155
249	39	38	37	36	50	54	55	59	60	59	58	60
251	54	52	51	51	53	54	52	50	47	48	45	45
252	64	68	65	66	68	74	75	72	73	72	73	72
253	43	44	43	47	50	48	48	45	41	41	41	39
254	86	90	90	88	95	93	92	95	99	103	103	98
255	73	73	76	78	79	83	82	82	82	82	80	80
256	178	174	184	184	179	186	183	188	177	176	174	174
257	27	27	28	29	29	29	28	26	24	24	25	25
259	52	51	51	55	54	57	56	57	57	55	54	53
260	69	76	76	74	81	81	82	84	81	78	78	78
261	60	61	57	60	60	58	59	59	59	59	57	53
262	27	26	26	26	26	26	26	19	13	13	13	13
263	68	69	74	77	71	83	75	72	75	70	75	82
264	22	58	94	105	107	125	129
266	61	63	54	59	54	55	53	56	59	65	60	68
267	29	21	21	21	21	21	21	14	14	12	18	20
269	50	50	52	53	56	57	57	57	55	57	58	58
271	15
272	17	16	15	13	13	15	15	13	13	13	14	14
273	138	136	137	77	87	88	84	63	70	92	101	104
274
276	...	2	47	62	57	58	33	22	22	26	31	38
278	80	80	76	73	76	76	69	81	80	80	78	80
279	81	75	76	72	73	75	74	70	76	79	81	85
280	391	395	376	389	392	290	306	313	332	343	351	334
282	110	110	107	106	106	102	101	103	97	99	96	94
283	25	25	25	27	27	27	26	26	27	27	28	29
284	628	637	643	653	652	661	674	692	707	712	713	690
285	378	382	388	389	404	409	407	414	414	408	409	412
286	234	236	235	253	259	265	279	281	278	275	283	290
287	106	116	116	119	118	122	132	138	141	144	151	163
289	13	14	12	15
290	68	55	55	58	59	50	45	25	25	25
292	201	204	204	201	198	199	199	200	204	205	207	207
293	24	28	28	28	30	31	31	28	28	29	29	29
294	24	26	34	34	35	19	26	27	28	25	25	25
295	31	32	34	34	38	39
297	24	25	24	25	26	26	27	27	27	27	25	25
298	61	59	57	58	59	63	66	63	63	64	66	67
300	140	140	143	124	134	139	145	144	128	132	145	132
301	10	10	8	...
302	203	203	216	214	218	229	227	215	230	226	229	241
303
304	149	145	126	114	110	117	114	122	137	133	142	152
305	110	118	137	140	150	150	126	116	118	113	122	133
307	10	12	12	11	12	12	12	12	12	12
309	54	49	49	51	52	52	52	52	53	51	50	50
310
312	104	108	110	115	117	117	118	110	107	104	95	93
313	105	104	99	100	100	103	98	92	94	97	91	95
314	12	13
315	100	73	77	77	79	49	41	27	29	34	36	33
316	19	19	19	19	17	17	17	16	15	15	14	14
317	124	116	115	115	117	82	85	88	100	110	113	118
318	25	27	27	27	27	27	27	27	27	26	25	25
319	10
320	99	98	99	103	106	107	104	103	111	116	125	128
321	25	50	45	45
322	13	13	30	41	35	35	35
323	158	161	142	137

Local No.	1914										1915
	MAR.	APR.	MAY	JUNE	JULY	AUG.	SEPT.	OCT.	NOV.	DEC.	JAN.	FEB.
243	77	77	76	74	76	81	81	81	80	75	75	78
244	83	82	76	77	78	76	76	74	71	71	76	71
246	62	62	62	64	62	62	63	62	62	61	60	60
247	181	184	183	183	175	189	195	187	187	192	178	120
248	151	150	150	149	150	145	144	144	141	139	136	136
249	59	57	53	50	43	42	47	50	49	47	46	41
251	46	47	48	50	44	43	45	44	44	44	45	44
252	73	72	70	76	79	82	82	87	89	86	86	82
253	39	40	42	40	38	40	38	40	40	42	44	47
254	94	94	86	87	84	85	85	83	83	79	80	80
255	82	74	73	73	73	75	76	76	77	79	79	77
256	176	163	157	145	135	130	135	140	141	141	141	139
257	24	24	24	24	24	23	23	23	23	23	23	23
259	53	52	53	55	52	53	53	50	51	51	51	50
260	82	82	86	82	78	76	74	86	92	93	91	91
261	55	56	56	52	38	38	38	38	39	41	41	42
262	13	13	12	12	12	12	12	12	12	12	12	12
263	83	84	89	84	84	83	83	72	78	79	80	...
264	138	157	162	168	168	175	180	182	173	171	175	176
266	69	68	97	107	119	116	121	128	140	154	165	172
267	27	27
269	55	54	52	53	53	55	48	54	54	55	51	50
271
272	14	14	10	11	11	11	11	11	11	11	11	11
273	121	166	162	152	138	117	141	151	150	142	148	145
274	15	30	48	53	57	64	69	60	61	57	55	58
276	29	30	23	22	19	19	20	15	16	16	10	11
278	74	73	76	84	85	88	93	91	86	88	87	89
279	88	91	94	97	127	130	133	146	184	198	199	202
280	344	343	353	343	332	366	374	377	387	389	395	396
282	92	90	87	89	86	89	91	90	82	86	83	83
283	30	30	28	28	30	29	29	27	27	27	26	27
284	688	684	686	681	679	689	680	675	660	656	658	645
285	415	400	409	410	412	372	384	376	388	388	381	387
286	293	295	299	315	320	321	331	317	306	312	310	310
287	165	166	107	111	115	119	122	125	159	181	203	218
289	20	18	15	13	13	11	11	15	17	17	19	20
290	27	26	20	20	15	15	13	13
292	193	184	176	66	54	52	46	39	40	36	33	29
293	30	29	29	29	28	28	28	27	27	27	25	23
294	25	23	27	22	29	29	29	29	30	29	28	29
295	36	37	13	14	23	32	34	35	33	33	30	26
297	21	21	21	22	22	21	21	22	21	20	20	19
298	67	67	69	68	70	70	69	70	71	72	78	74
300	135	127	132	106	126	117	96	97	95	99	99	101
301
302	254	264	260	262	258	250	243	220	212	201	190	180
303	17
304	146	148	117	117	124	133	143	144	150	143	141	140
305	158	166	179	172	188	199	208	215	219	219	192	192
307	12
309	52	53	51	51	48	53	53	53	53	53	49	40
310	53	58	61	64	63	65	66	66	64
312	95	91	92	92	93	93	91	92	91	91	91	89
313	98	99	97	101	102	100	104	102	105	104	99	96
314
315	31	25	24	18	23	45	49	47	34	24	25	26
316	14	14	14	14	13	13	13	13	13	15	14	15
317	113	113	105	101	95	99	101	105	105	104	103	100
318	23	25	23	23	24	24	26	27	27	26	28	26
319
320	126	123	128	128	133	135	119	117	112	113	117	109
321	42	42	43	43	46	45	46	49	46	47	46	44
322	22	22	23	22	22	20	20	20	19	48	65	71
323

Local No.	1913											1914
	MAR.	APR.	MAY	JUNE	JULY	AUG.	SEPT.	OCT.	Nov.	DEC.	JAN.	FEB.
324	14	20	23	25
325	27	28	28	27	28	28	30	27	33	34	33	37
329	118	110	94	83	82	87	89	67	68	72	67	70
331	33	33	33	34	35	35	35	35	35	31	31	32
332	294	293	298	300	313	320	311	305	305	293	294	296
334	13	13	13	14	13	24	14	18	22	22	27	23
335	45	52	50	56	60	48	45	49	52	49	48	70
336	162	152	171	223	240	238	211	201	194	189	188	194
337
338
339	653	645	642	639	628	617	625	619	614	601	613	618
340	41	41	43	44	46	47	42	40	42	43	38	38
341	31	52	52	49	48	52	54	55	53	51	49	49
342	72	76	82	78	79	78	71	75	77	87	76	80
343	14	16	15	16	16	16	17	17	17	16	19	19
344	11	22	24	25	25	20	21	24	24	30	32	38
345	65	88	109	115	112	115	120	92	93	92	90	89
346	29	34	39	45	43	38	38	29	30	34	34	33
347	23	25	46	60	60
348	21	25	27	32
349	35	35	37
350	34	34	45	45	47	52	54	55	55	52	52	52
351	52	55	55	55	55	51	49	48	50	51	50	52
352	13	14	15	15	18	15	15
353	42	42	33	26	50	50	46	40	40	40	41	43
354	59	61	61	59	61	59	59	62	61	60	58	58
355	77	74	75	76	74	74	74	69	69	70	70	70
356	53	55	55	54	56	55	56	56	55	58	57	55
357	74	125	128	130	131	135
358	17	17	18	18	18	17	17	17	18	18	18	16
360	16	14	14	17	17	18	18	19	24	23	22	22
361	135	136	136	133	134	130	131	130	122	127	127	130
362	60	46	51	58	44	36	26	18	12
363	1	17	25	27
365	83	84	81	83	83	86	84	88	90	90	91	86
366
367	37	37	38	38	38	38	38	38	38	38	36	36
368	61	57	60	58	58	58	60	60	60	48	48	48
369	39	39	39	37	30	30	30	31	29	28	30	29
370	26	26	20	21	20	20	20	20	20	19	18	18
372	10	10	...
373	11	27	32
374	9
376	100	97	105	107	107	113	108	113	112	104	109	111
377	22	26	26
378	160	155	160	158	157	160	164	167	166	171	159	157
379	45	46	46	46	45	45	50	50	52	52	53	59
380	75	80	92	96	128	103	100	110	110	110	110	63
381	41	41	41	43	43	43	39	43	43	44	41	40
382	23	23	23	23	22	24	26	24	24	25	24	25
383	17	18	18	18	18	21	21	22	22	23	24	25
385	13	29	34	37	21	22
386	59	59	59	59	57	58	58	57	61	61	57	57
387	181	186	192	194	207	208	202	204	209	205	207	200
389	45	45	46	50	35	36	46	50	46	45	48	48
390	27	26	26	25	25	26	27	27	30	30	30	28
391	10	26	29
392	10	14	19	15
393	13	19
394	22	24	26	31	32	30	30	30	31	21	14	13
395	202	207	207	211	214	208	214	209	214	211	205	202
396	20	25	31
397	23	23	24	24	24	24	25	25	25	21	21	21
398	137	140	142	140	137	137	137	134	136	138	137	139
399	71	71	69	70	74	77	67	69	72	73	74	67

Local No.	1914											1915
	MAR.	APR.	MAY	JUNE	JULY	AUG.	SEPT.	OCT.	NOV.	DEC.	JAN.	FEB.
324	25	28	29	29	25	26	25	25	25	21	21	18
325	36	36	34	38	37	38	38	38	39	39	34	34
329	73	73	84	85	99	95	105	93	91	84
331	35	36	35	35	36	37	41	42	43	43	44	43
332	302	308	312	322	334	330	341	339	342	350	349	351
334	25	20	20	20	20	20	20	19	19	23	31	28
335	77	85	90	91	79	75	73	87	78	79	79	82
336
337	13	30	36	30	36	42	41	49
338	18
339	601	592	587	599	599	582	585	562	557	520	509	463
340	39	40	41	42	41	36	37	39	39	39	40	42
341	51	55	54	56	57	56	58	59	63	65	63	62
342	76	82	64	41	46	43	39	34	29	34	37	...
343	18	16	16	16	16	15	14	14	14	14	14	14
344	30	31	33	35	35	36	34	29	30	35	36	37
345	89	84	85	87	87	89	91	74	74	81	82	80
346	33	33	20	20	20	20	21	10	10	10
347
348	37	31	30	31	36	38	40	32	34	30	31	52
349	41	41	40	38	39	38	44	45	40	42	44	46
350	54	45	45	45	45	45	43	43	43	43	43	43
351	50	53	54	56	54	55	52	53	54	53	52	53
352	15	16	15	17	18	19	19	19
353	45	45	45	47	52	52	41	41	41	41	41	41
354	58	56	58	59	61	61	61	61	59	59	57	55
355	69	71	70	70	70	68	68	68	68	67	70	68
356	54	56	55	56	55	55	55	54	58	57	59	56
357	132	132	144	149	153	156	152	155	151	155	152	153
358	17	15	13	14	15	15	15	15	15	14	14	14
360	19	20	20	21	21	18	18	13	13	10	9	10
361	134	136	145	149	153	154	155	157	158	158	158	158
362
363	28	29	29	29	26	26	25	25	25	25	25	...
365	87	87	88	90	91	93	91	90	92	98	96	98
366	14	22	40	38	40	37
367	36	37	33	34	33	33	33	33	32	32	32	33
368	57	57	58	62	53	53	56	58	58	57	57	51
369	30	32	33	33	30	30	30
370	18	18	19	20	25	26	25	22	24	24	27	27
372
373	33	38	38	26	26	26	12	12	12	12	13	13
374
376	109	113	114	120	119	115	118	115	115	118	118	118
377	23	23	23	25	25	24	25	23	23	25	26	26
378	156	155	159	161	160	154	156	163	165	159	146	142
379	59	62	66	66	66	66	66	66	57	57	57	57
380	73	80	80	51	41	34	32	24	14	16	18	20
381	44	43	44	48	48	48	49	46	48	48	48	49
382	25	26	28	25	25	24	25	25	24	24	24	22
383	26	26	26	26	26	27	28	30	29	28	27	24
385	25	19	15	15	5
386	56	54	57	59	59	57	57	57	59	61	62	62
387	197	206	205	210	217	220	226	231	229	192	187	196
389	48	48	48	49	52	52	56	55	53	56	52	52
390	28	27	27	27	25	25	21	20	20	20	19	20
391	29	30	29	32	33	29	27	31	29	32	30	29
392
393	19	21	20	17	17	17	17	19	20	20	19	17
394	13	13	13	13	13	12	12	12
395	207	206	209	213	220	215	212	212	219	220	224	225
396	35	35	35	41	41
397	25	25	28	28	26	26	26	26	28	27	27	27
398	141	143	138	142	146	150	145	148	146	146	148	148
399	66	68	66	65	69	69	68	70	70	69	63	63

Local No.	1913											1914
	MAR.	APR.	MAY	JUNE	JULY	AUG.	SEPT.	OCT.	NOV.	DEC.	JAN.	FEB.
400	47	44	41	46	50	50	45	42	51	53	53	53
401	214	221	220	228	241	198	189	170	157	157	162	163
402	167	172	167	161	148	126	127	145	143	160	160	152
403	170	168	172	177	179	187	187	193	196	203	203	205
404	21	20	19
405	54	54	60	52	54	52	55	49	51	52	51	51
406	39	43	46	54	55	53	57	53	57	59	63	64
407	31	173
408	39	49
409	63	71	71	76	77	77	77	76
410	45	44	47	49	49	49	55	58	57	52	52	60
411	69	65	63	63	66	71	75	75	75	73	74	75
412	88	93	92	95	95	99	100	80	80	78	83	83
413	27	27	28	29	29	30	32	32
414	39	41	40	35	12	16
415	9	45	67
416	25	27	14	20	20	20	20	14	10	10	10	10
417	36	36	39	39	40	40	40	38	39	38	38	38
418	-1	24	26	25	22	23	25
419	66	69	72	80	87	92	109	120	123	123	124	100
420	586	603	589	593	590	577	576	570	564	577	577	586
421	60	58	61	66	71	75	72	73	70	69	67	67
422	160	167	163	164	164	163	163	165	165	168	167	170
423	124	126	131	140	140	150	158	166	170	169	162	160
424	18	18
425	32	32	33	31	30	23	24	25	25	25	25	25
426	29	39	30	36	39	39	38	38	39	42	42	42
427	62	53	55	55	50	49	46	42	42	48	46	45
428	1	181	270
429	41	40	38	47	46	53	54	56	56	50	52	65
430	10	20	27	29	32
431	43	40	43	45	46	45	44	44	44	45	44	40
432	43	43	44	44	45	47	50	55	54	57	47	51
433
434	29	29	29	29	27	33	31	32	31	30	31	30
435	42	40	40	39	39	36	37	36	28	36	32	32
436	37	36	37	36	35	36	35	36	37	38	38	41
437	410	421	439	450	471	479	486	498	521	551	596	616
438	50	51	54	55	55	55	57	57	57	58	59	60
439	15	21	31	39	53	54
440
441	28	29	26	22
443
444
445	16	16	16	15	15	16	17	17	18	18	18	17
447	32	31	32	33	34	33	32	29	29	27	28	29
448	95	95	93	94	92	89	87	89	90	88	88	87
449	14	34	45	45	44	53	52	52	57	56	57	59
450	75	63	65	60	75	85	91	98	102	95	97	100
451	57	59	58	61	65	72	79	75	72	72	72	70
452	12	20	25	24	14	16	4	4	9	14	18	20
454	64	65	69	69	73	77	68	68	76	77	81	80
455	39	37	38	37	41	40	40	40	40	40	38	38
456	175	170	161	156	172	178	163	164	169	185	189	200
457	371	362	369	374	336	284	260	256	239	237	229	246
458	152	162	170	177	194	199	217	236	242	254	251	264
459	125	127	116	112	152	141	121	115	117	120	119	126
460	15	15	15
461	60	62	63	62	60	62	63	66	64	64	63	68
462	21	21	14	14	14	14	14	14	14	12	12	12
463	31	33	29	30	30	35	39	37	42	41	42	41
465	29	32	34	37	40	39	36	34	34	34	25	24
466	77	70	71	72	73	71	71	72	74	79	76	82
467	17
468	43	39	53	53	55	52	55	50	52	51	53	46

Local No.	1914											1915
	Mar.	Apr.	May	June	July	Aug.	Sept.	Oct.	Nov.	Dec.	Jan.	Feb.
400	47	47	49	36	26	25	30	34	28	27	28	164
401	164	168	171	184	175	175	159	149	147	143	142	...
402	147	130	137	146	134	134	130	134	137	141	136	133
403	209	198	192	186	184	188	189	180	177	177	175	164
404	20	19	19	19	21	20	20	20	22	23	25	25
405	51	51	61	62	66	67	69	62	60	58	52	53
406	61	58	60	60	61	62	60	56	55	55	56	60
407	204	221	227	241	136	153	73	64
408	62	71	76	83	86	88	87	101	106	100	108	106
409
410	59	57	5
411	74	72	73	77	81	82	82	82	82	81	80	81
412	94	94	92	86	90	90	89	97	100	92	84	85
413	32
414	17	16	16	14	11	10	10	10	10	10	10	10
415
416	17
417	38	38	38	38	37	36	40	40	42	42	41	41
418	24	25	22	24	25	29	28	29	26	24
419	103	79	46	31	23	22	28	27	30	27	27	27
420	566	582	583	587	612	668	674	678	669	690	701	676
421	66	66	68	68	67	65	66	70	69	68	66	65
422	173	174	167	167	174	175	171	171	162	162	161	156
423	163	169	167	176	178	178	183	158	158	165	168	172
424	18	18	14	14	15	15	15	15	15	5	5	...
425	25	25	25	26	26	26	25	23	23	22
426	36	38	41	41	35	35	40	40	38	40	39	36
427	42	45	45	31	31	24	23	30	34	50	52	52
428	294	309	349	299	299	310	315	317	334	327	338	346
429	65	70	71	73	73	74	74	74	77	75	75	73
430	32	32	32	40	44	44	48	49	48	35	38	38
431	45	45	49	49	51	51	54	56	57	57	54	54
432	49	49	48	54	54	55	56	53	53	52	56	53
433	14
434	30	29	27	25
435	32	29	.28	30	30	30	29	29	29	28	27	25
436	41	42	41	45	46	47	45	46	45	37	38	38
437	618	629	629	616	622	618	631	625	628	613	596	596
438	60	58	58	55	55	59	55	54	54	55	55	55
439	54	54	60	62	62	11	11	11	11	11
440	19	43	53	63	71	47	42	36	*51	51	53	55
441
443	1	16	18	16	13	14	16	16	14
444	11	18	14	14	8
445	17	17	17	17	18	18	19	19	19	18	18	17
447	27	28	28	28	28	29	28	29	29	29	30	30
448	87	90	87	46
449	59	61	58	65	72	72	63	63	65	66	66	66
450	103	101	98	88	87	93	88	99	100	103	99	...
451	75	76	69	75	71	80	67	62	62	61	59	54
452	24	23	19	20	23	19	25	31	32	...	1	1
454	80	74	71	70	68	70	70	70	68	60	65	68
455	39	39	40	37	37	41	41	41	37	40	41	41
456	187	192	190	198	192	180	173	174	157	152	148	147
457	255	224	247	257	279	238	192	150	158	141	150	156
458	279	283	301	317	323	333	337	344	350	340	342	342
459	125	120	106	93	91	89	90	93	76	83	63	59
460	10	6
461	65	62	66	68	70	72	71	73	74	72	71	67
462	12	12	12	12	12	12	12	12	12	12	11	11
463	36	36	41	41	41	43	47	47	47	47	44	40
465	23	26	26	27	27	29	31	31	30	30	24	24
466	84	87	89	92	88	93	100	101	107	113	115	108
467
468	49	51	47	49	43	41	45	46	46	52	49	46

Local No.	1913											1914
	MAR.	APR.	MAY	JUNE	JULY	AUG.	SEPT.	OCT.	NOV.	DEC.	JAN.	FEB.
469	24	23	23	23	23	23	23	24	27	27	28	28
470	15	15	13	15	16	18	18	18	18	19	17	20
472
474	19	22	22	23	21	22	23	23	23	22	14	14
475	17	17	17	17
476	50	47	39	39	45	49	45	40	44	44	44	...
478	34	34	33	33	34	37	37	37	37	35	35	35
479	69	65	64	63	65	67	69	71	75	80	82	82
480	33	34	33	30	32	33	32	29	21	21	25	27
481	10	25
482	14	14	13	13	16	16	16	16	16	16	16	16
483	21	19	20	23	25	25	23	23	21	23	24	24
484	188	192	204	200	201	192	195	194	191	186	201	392
485	291	289	289	277	274	277	281	298	300	293	293	285
486	24	25	27	27	27	27	34	32	32	29	32	32
487	17	16	14	14	14
488	279	283	272	277	277	270	280	261	254	254	255	249
489
491	36	38	39	40	38	32	31	33	30	28	28	26
495	29	30	29	29	33	34	35	31	30	32	32	32
497	34	32	32	33	33	32	35	34	32	30	30	30
498	39	40	38	44	44	42	46	53	55	56	51	50
499	14	111
501	25	26	22	23	26	26	28	13	13	11	11	11
502	10	10
503
504	219	226	232	242	243	236	259	261	265	266	275	280
506
507	88	97	100	105	114	113	118	115	101	100	101	101
509	16
511	17
512	48	48	48	49	47	54	56	57	64	65	63	67
513	21	22	22	31	41	44	46	46	47
515	61	66	55	53	62	63	68	62	63	56	53	49
516	15	15	15	15	15	15	15	15	15	15	11	11
517	84	73	82	85	89	81	90	76	74	73	25	25
518	50	51	53	54	51	53	54	57	59	59	60	59
519	29	28	27	27	27	27	28	28	28	29	27	27
520	12	...	43	42	46	47	47	43	43	44	42	43
521	25
522	18	18
523	67	67	69	71	72	74	75	75	75	73	78	82
524	17	13	18	27	28	27	29	38	39	47	53	51
525	376	372	375	389	393	402	413	426	412	410	407	395
526
527	85	84	85	83	84	82	80	76	79	78	80	76
529	11	13	13	13	13	12	13	13	12	12	12	12
530	60	71	91	100	104	79	71	56	62	73	78	142
531	46	45	45	45	43	44	45	45	45	47	49	48
532	73	76	74	70	66	67	71	70	73	77	77	75
533	78	78	79	79	78	77	77	81	80	72	67	70
534	52	51	54	55	56	56	58	60	56	60	58	56
535	52	52	53	53	52	53	53	52	52	47	47	47
536	20	20	21	22	22	28	25	28	31	27	30	32
539	13	13	13	13	15	15	14	9	9	9	9	9
542	17	20	19	19	18	19	19	19	19	19	18	17
543	104	97	94	96	103	103	108	104	105	101	104	100
544	82	80	81	82	82	83	79	79	80	77	79	79
545	37	42	45	45	45	45	45	46	46	50	48	51
546	69	69	52	44	38	38	21	20	20	20	19	19
547	176	177	183	175	178	181	187	206	203	208	207	207
548
549	45	44	46	46	46	46	43	48	53	55	53	57
550	143	150	152	160	160	158	164	168	166	183	187	154
551	137	124	143	143	142	142	142	99	106	98	98	94

Local No.	1914										1915
	MAR.	APR.	MAY	JUNE	JULY	AUG.	SEPT.	OCT.	NOV.	DEG.	JAN.	FEB.
469	31	30	27	27	26	26	28	25	26	25	27	28
470	20	21	20	23	23	25	24	20	21	22	19	19
472	...	18	26	15
474	13	14	14	14	14	14	14	14	14	14	14	14
475
476	41	39	44	43	40	43	43	51	51	51	51	51
478	34	33	30	30	30	30	32	32	32	32	30	29
479	81	82	82	82	84	83	78	80	82	84	85	79
480	27	25	25	25	28	25	25	23	25	25	26	27
481	26	26	26	26	26	26	25	25	24	25	26	26
482	17	24	36	37	35	36	35	35	37	37	36	36
483	23	26	26	23	26	24	23	23	24	25	25	27
484	434	409	368	365	351	325	321	314	308	278	268	263
485	277	271	286	287	272	267	272	272	265	260	202	164
486	30	30	33	36	37	33	30	31	32	31	31	29
487
488	239	244	238	241	245	249	254	261	258	247	243	244
489	...	26	46	56	58	59	62	73	67	64	52	52
491	28	29	30	32	41	43	53	54	54	52	59
495	31	34	33	30	34	34	36	35	28	27	28	31
497	31	29	29	30	30	28	30	30	30	30	32	31
498	48	44	49	44	44	44	50	51	45	46	45	45
499	14	111	109	104	109	111	110	102	97	100	99	100
501	11	11	10	10	10	10	10	10	10	6	10	10
502
503	16	42	66	61	59	58	57	56	68	94	97	93
504	286	279	287	306	316	334	340	334	343	353	349	343
506	42	117	165	183	195	200	209	211	215	217	213	215
507	102	99	99	97	111	113	114	115	108	108	99	100
509
511
512	66	67	63	71	71	76	79	77	70	57
513	53	53	53	50	47	47	46	48	48	48	45	43
515	35
516	11	11	11	11	12	12	12	12	13	13	13	13
517	17	17	17	15	14	16	14	14	14	14	16	15
518	58	58	59	58	60	64	66	69	69	68	69	67
519	27	26	26	27	27	25	25	24	25	23	23	23
520	46	44	44	44	46	43	43	45	46	44	42	44
521
522
523	81	83	84	82	83	84	85	85	85	84	84	83
524	50	43	52	53	57	64	80	76	64	71	71	67
525	394	394	391	400	407	396	401	408	406	408	410	413
526	92	131
527	78	77	79	83	79	76	82	84	85	85	85	87
529	12	12	12	12	12	12	12	12	12	8	9	9
530
531	48	49	49	53	54	54	54	55	55	56	57	58
532	77	78	75	74	74	74	79	83	85	83	84	84
533	72	70	74	77	74	77	76	80	71	70	67	68
534	54	59	58	55	54	51	48	48	44	47	49	48
535	45	43	43	44	43	42	43	41	38	36	39	39
536	31	29	30	28	29	28	30	32	23
539	9	9	9	9	9	9	9	9	1	1
542	17	12	15	16	16	17	18	18	15	13	15	15
543	100	97	94	96	99	103	103	108	106	104	105	104
544	81	81	82	84	84	84	84	85	82	83	83	85
545	48	49	46	46	45	45	45	45	45	43	48	48
546	19	19	19	19	19	19	19	19	12	12	12	12
547	207	216	219	220	218	217	228	234	245	239	233	226
548	...	13	14	15	18	16	18	18	18	16	16	16
549	56	62	63	60	64	64	62	63	69	58	55	56
550	178	162	165	165	154	149	136	149	141	124	132	110
551	104	109	110	115	115	121	113	115	115

Local No.	1913											1914
	Mar.	Apr.	May	June	July	Aug.	Sept.	Oct.	Nov.	Dec.	Jan.	Feb.
552	28	28	28	28	28	28	28	28	28	26	29	28
553	18	17	16	15	15	15	15	15	17	20	20	20
554	16	16	16	16	12	15	14	15	15	15	13	13
555	44	42	43	46	46	45	42	44	43	45	39	39
556	32	31	30	31	33	35	34	35	34	34	35	35
557	19	20	21	21	21	24	24	25	26	25	26	25
558	51	50	46	44	48	48	51	52	53	59	60	60
559	83	83	81	81	82	82	82	82	84	85	86	83
561	172	164	165	228	194	214	238	224	223	224	239	252
562	144	165	186	214	230	261	278	299	313	316	322	336
563	68	67	67	66	69	73	74	75	67	68	68	68
566	84	82	80	83	89	94	94	89	88	92	92	93
567	27	25	31	29	22	30	32	37	35	37	43	38
568	17	17	17	15	17	17	19	20	21	15	16	17
569	32	34	34	31	31	31	29	24	27	25	25	27
572	160	171	164	181	164	149	169	165	178	178	154	150
573	209	204	200	205	200	203	213	213	207	206	202	198
574	175	178	181	180	178	176	174	170	165	164	165	177
575	60	62	60	58	55	55	54	56	57	59	60	61
576	23	17	16	18	18	15	15	15	15	15	15	15
577	119	118	121	123	121	126	127	136	136	134	138	138
579	71	64	65	69	67	69	75	86	86	87	77	76
580	21	21	21	21	23	23	14	13	14	14	14	14
582	44	41	41	45	40	40	40	25	26	25	23	24
583	12	12	12	12	12	12	12	12	12	12	12	12
584	8	8	8	8	8	8	8	8	8	8	8	8
585	59	58	58	63	62	59	54	56	56	50	52	48
587	14	14	14	14	14	15	17	17	17	17	15	12
590	73	73	75	76	79	81	73	76	72	74	74	74
591	37	38	37	39	40	38	42	42	46	44	45	45
592	1	112
593	135	152	162	154	152	156	149	142	146	137	139	135
594	34	34	35	34	36	36	39	40	40	41	46	43
595	44	43	44	46	46	46	34	36	38	37	34	36
596	114	114	115	120	123	122	121	115	114	115	120	121
597	75	78	81	84	89	80	80	81	87	92	96	99
598	51	49	50	50	50	51	51	54	53	52	54	53
600
601	27	27	28	36	37	36	37	37	23	31	37	43
603	107	117	121	124	117	115	111	117	155	153	168	170
606	29	21	21	21	21	21	21	21	21	21	21	15
607	55	55	55	57	58	58	62	63	63	65	54	54
608	21	22	24	23	23	24	25	25	24	21	22	26
609	104	107	111	110	118	125	122	132	132	126	128	133
610	12	28	29	30
611	10	9	9	9	9
612	41	37	40	35	45	50	58	62	57	57	59	51
613	10	21	23	23	23	23	23	23
614	7	7	7	7	7	7	7	7	7	7	7	7
615	17	17	17	17	17	17	17	17	17	17	17	17
616	19	22	26	25	28	29	28	28	28	23	25	25
617	63	63	59	58	61	60	61	60	53	49	54	50
618	17	15	14	14	14	12	12	17	18	14	16	15
619
620	28	28	28	28	28	28	28	27	29	30	27	27
621	44	46	41	42	42	41	42	46	48	50	35	35
622	12	10	10	9
623	14	12	13	13	13
624	24	12	32	40	44	36	22	19	27	34
625	42	42	42	42	42	42	42	42	42	43	37	35
626	37	38	41	41	53	40	39	47	55	51	44	44
627	90	86	85	87	90	90	91	93	95	97	88	101
628	33	45	54	63	63	64	63	69	71	76
630	32	31	24	24	24	21	21	20	26	24	26	27
631	97	98	109	88	76	74	80	85	94	99	109	114

Local No.	1914										1915
	MAR.	APR.	MAY	JUNE	JULY	AUG.	SEPT.	OCT.	NOV.	DEC.	JAN.	FEB.
552	28	27	25	26	24	24	21	20	20	20	20	20
553	20	20	20	19	19	18	17	17	17	16	16	16
554	14	15	14	14	13	13	13	13	13	12	12	12
555	39	39	38	40	42	43	45	48	45	44	42	40
556	35	35	35	33	35	34	34	34	34	35	34	33
557	24	23	20	19	20	20	18	16	18	16	16	16
558	59	55	54	52	55	54	52	56	56	55	56	54
559	80	81	79	78	77	57	49	47	44	42	51	48
561	252	232	235	206	223	208	209	204	205	206	204	178
562	342	352	361	362	382	390	396	414	408	420	418	423
563	68	68	66	70	70	69	69	73	73	67	66	66
566	91	87	88	85	85	91	88	87	86	80	85	80
567	42	26	31	34	29	25	29	29	29	35	36	41
568	17	17	16	17	19	18	19	19	20	17	15	15
569	28	27	26	27	30	34	34	37	37	47	52	55
572	176	165	168	145	120	100	101	102	124	126	117	107
573	195	195	199	202	205	214	218	211	214	218	216	219
574	202	218	223	224	224	222	225	225	229	230	230	229
575	58	59	58	57	56	54	61	62	62	59	62	63
576
577	134	129	124	125	131	130	133	138	133	136	136	137
579	77	80	67	67	66	73	76	78	78	70
580	14	18	22	22	22	21	20	20	22	22	22	23
582	25	27	30	34	34
583
584	8	8	9	12	12	11	11	12	12	13	14	14
585	49	41	41	33	26	28	25	20	20	20	20	15
587	12	14	14	12	14	14	14	14	14	14	14	14
590	74	74	72	73	72	76	76	76	73	76	73	71
591	44	40	39	39	41	44	41	42	41	41	40	36
592	123	145	173	186	185	144	130	112	111	99	107	130
593	133	129	139	132	142	149	154	143	107	111	119	128
594	43	43	43	43	40	37	37	37	35	33	33	32
595	38	38	41	38	33	33	37	34	34	35	35	34
596	126	126	143	148	128	129	137	142	151	151	152	159
597	99	102	95	96	95	91	91	81
598	52	53	53	54	54	54	54	55	48	48	44	44
600	29	60	77	77	63	57	55	55
601	43	43	41	41	41	41	9	11	21	23	24	24
603	180	188	195	203	202	201	202	206	206	209	208	207
606	15	15
607	50	49	49	39	26	15
608	26	25	24	23	22	25	28	29	32	33	39	40
609	131	133	138	135	133	132	125	119	118	120	111	100
610	32	31	32	29	34	34	36	36	31	32	27	27
611
612	64	60	66	65	66	70	65	62	62	77	68	76
613	23	23	23	24	24	25	25	25	25	25	24	24
614	7	7	9	9	10	10	12	8	10	9	7	9
615
616	28	23	23	27	28	26	25	25	25	26	27	28
617	55	54	54	53	49	41	41	43	35	22
618	16
619	100	100	116	90	79	79	85	72	72
620	28	28	29	30	28	28	30	28	28	29	31	32
621	35	37	39	39	39	39	39	39	39	39
622
623
624	34	38	50	37	41	31	42	44	53	39	35	27
625	34	30	28	28	29	29	29	30	30	29	30	27
626	38	46	51	53	55	58	54	43	43	44	36	39
627	103	106	106	107	108	114	113	111	100	98	98	102
628	78	80	82	82	85	84	84	89	98	107	107	110
630	29	28	32	25	35	33	29	29	29	25	21	20
631	107	117	110	108	102	106	112	112	103	89	77	63

Local No.	1913										1914
	MAR.	APR.	MAY	JUNE	JULY	AUG.	SEPT.	OCT.	Nov.	DEC.	JAN.	FEB.
632	33	33	35	36	36	35	35	35	35	35	31	28
633	48	48	48	52	51	53	53	55	53	51	50	53
637	10	10	10
638	23	27	...	21	22	22	23
639	95	97	95	94	97	103	105	110	101	108	101	107
640	10	10	10	10	10	10	10	8	12	16	16	13
642	29	28	26	26	26	27	33	30	30	30	31	33
644	11
646	44	48	41	38	38	38	34	33	33	33	20	20
647	43	42	43	43	44	46	45	47	48	48	44	44
648	146	158	157	157	160	160	159	173	177	176	170	151
649	138	145	153	131	135	141	136	145	141	140	146	137
651	451	468	455	454	500	523	535	552	556	553	575	580
652	22	23	25	25	26	27	26	26	26	30	32	31
654	19	19	17	18	19	16	16	16	15	14
656	39	39	29	39	39	41	41	39	40	41	41	44
657	38	36	37	36	37	38	38	37	33	33	33	46
658	22	23	19	19	25	20	20	28	28	28	27	29
659	127	151	161	161	174	173	182	154	161	182	176	183
660	39	38	38	32	32	32	30	30	30	30	30	30
661	49	48	48	49	52	53	57	60	61	61	62	63
662	20	20	20	20	20	21	21	20	20	20	20	19
663	11	11	11	10	10	12	12	12	12	12	11	12
664	23	24	23	23	23	24	28	28	28	28	28	24
665	15	19	23	25	21	21	21	11	10	11
666	98	51	54	53	35	33	37	32	27	26	27	37
667	20	20	20	20	20	20	13	24	26	30	30	41
668	20	20	24	24	24
669	19	19	19	20	20	20	21	18	22	23	21	21
670	39	35	35	35	35	39	38	37	37	37	34	32
671	73
672	15	18	21	20	17	28	27	25	23	23	19	16
673	29	30	23	23	19	34	32	32	32	34	32	33
674	161	160	163	172	249	300	300	266	269	264	270	273
675	39	40	43	42	42	42	41	42	43	43	28	29
676	269	270	281	287	282	282	275	272	267	258	249	249
677	15	13	13	11	10	10	11	12	11	10	10	11
678	47	48	48	55	58	58	59	69	63	62	62	60
679	18	25	25	25	25	24	24	25	25	21	20	20
680	52	50	55	63	63	65	64	78	71	80	73	70
682	30	31	32	32	32	29	31	30	30	30	32	38
683
684	21	21	21	21	21	21	20	22	22	22	22	22
685
686	20	20	20	20	20	20	21	21	22	22	22	22
687
689
690	41	39	40	41	42	42	38	42	40	40	43	47
691	3	9	15	15	13	13	13
692	27	32	30	31	37	42	45	45	44	46	42	46
693	15	20
694
695	13	15	16	12	12	12	11	14	14	13	14	14
696	118	122	123	124	117	115	116	117	124	125	132	136
697
699	26	26	38	54	53	58	59	60	69
700	21	23	25	25	28	32	31	30	31	24	24	33
701	12	12	12	12	12	12	12	13	13	13	13	13
702	54	65	68	73	80	82	70	68	68	73	74	79
703	11
704	26	27	27	27	27	27	27	31	31	29	29	26
705	16
706	23	23	24	24	24	23	22	22	23	23	24	23
707	166	172	161	187	182	189	197	191	185	198	204	186
709	...	1	16	17	24	32	32	33	37	36	35	41

Local No	1914											1915
	MAR.	APR.	MAY	JUNE	JULY	AUG.	SEPT.	OCT.	NOV.	DEC.	JAN.	FEB.
632	26	26	26	26	21	21	25	26	22	22	23	23
633	52	50	50	49	49	48	50	53	53	52	55	52
637
638
639	101	100	101	99	106	101	101	97	100	102	98	97
640	16	16	16	14	14	11	12	12	15	16	16
642	33	32	33	33	33	33	33	30	30	30	29	30
644	10	10
646	20	20
647	40	40	40	42	42	41	41	42	43	45	44	42
648	161	149	149	137	138	143	140	141	134	137	137	130
649	139	140	125	139	136	139	142	120	120	121	121	121
651	581	590	578	576	568	564	562	570	572	545	526	471
652	31	31	32	33	33	33	34	35	34	34	34	34
654	14	14	13	13	13	12	12	12	13	12	11	11
656	42	43	43	43	45	45	44	47	48	48	47	46
657	45	46	44	46	37	37	38	38	37	37	36	38
658	29	29	29
659	178	177	166	159	173	180	194	208	216	219	211	218
660	30	30	30	30	30	30	30
661	62	62	59	59	60	59	58	58	60	58	57	54
662	19	19	18	16	17	17	11	9	10	10	10	10
663	11	13	13	17	35	41	39	35	34	29	28	29
664	25	26	26	29	28	27	28	30	30	28	33	32
665	51	61	58	69	57	51	40	32	21	1
666
667	41	40	38	38	38	38	32	33	30	30	30	30
668
669	20	20	20	20	11	13	13	12	13	13	13
670	26	25	23	24	26	31	30	33	37	36	38	32
671	12	23	31	33	45	50	57	64	66	65	62
672	17	14	12	11	14	17	23	16	14	14	13
673	38	33	33	35	31	32	30	35	36	36	32	35
674	275	268	287	318	298	297	300	295	295	249	242	223
675	30	24	25	30	30	32	32	36	35	37	25	25
676	251	254	253	243	242	220	232	223	221	207	207	205
677	15	13	12	22	26	25	26	26	28	27	28	29
678	60	57	54	39	39
679	21	21	22	25	26	26	24	24	25	26	25	26
680	75	85	69	68	76	69	63	44	36	36	27	30
682	43	41	42	42	43	43	46	46	47	49	50	51
683	16	16	16	16	15	20	19	19	20	19	19	20
684	22	22	22	21	21	22	22	23	25	25	23	23
685	27	31	38	38	38	36	34	36	36	34	34	34
686	21	20	20	20	19	19	19	20	20	22	22	22
687	32	54	62	62	61	68	71	67	71	73	78	79
689	24	40	42	46	50	53	53	53	53	53	51	52
690	45	46	46	38	35	33	33	33	34	31	30	33
691
692	43	44	42	43	44	47	49	51	56	58	51	53
693	24	27	24	13	12	12	12	16	9	10	11	12
694	9	9	17	18	18	15	15	15	15	15	15	15
695	15	15
696	126	125	128	124	131	138	140	138	139	132	132	124
697	11	11	23	26	25	25	23	23	22	23	24	24
699	62	53	51	51	60	60	60	61	64	65	66	62
700	60	51	48	51	53	54	51	50	43	44	45	40
701	13	12	10	9	9	10	11	12	12	12	12	12
702	78	73	49	51	52	52	41	41	37	37	37	36
703
704	26	26	25	28	24	24	24	24	23	23	21	24
705
706	20	22	22	21	22	23	23	23	23	22	23	23
707	180	166	165	161	168	167	167	156	158	154	143	118
709	43	41	42	43	41	41	41	40	35	34	27	23

Local No.	1913											1914
	MAR.	APR.	MAY	JUNE	JULY	AUG.	SEPT.	OCT.	Nov.	DEC.	JAN.	FEB.
710
711	12	13
712	14	14	29	37	35	37	33	33
713
714
715
716	25	25	23	25	27	27	27	27	27	26	30	31
717	15	15	15	14	12	12	14	13	15	15	15	15
718
719	36	38	38	31	30	32	30	28	28	29	28	27
720
721	212	228	239	244	250	258	261	264	263	267	267	274
722	17	18	24	24	21	23	22	22
723	45	43	46	47	46	46	44	45	46	47	48	50
724
725	63	63	60	63	66	68	66	67	70	69	71	69
726
727
728
729
730
731	16	16	13	19	19	18	18	18	18	18	18	18
732
733
737	105	107	108	108	110	109	108	107	106	107	108	108
738	10	10	10	17	17	17	16	16	17	17	17	18
739	37	37	39	37	39	39	39	40	39	37	39	40
740	20	20	21	22	22	22	20	20	18	19	19	20
741	33	29	26	26	29	29	25	25	25	24	24	26
742	13	13	13	14	14	14	13	13	13	13	13	13
743
744	60	65	54	57	59	54	54	54	60	61	75	73
746	40	41	43	42	43	44	43	44	44	44	42	43
749	67	62	62	65	65	71	56	64	64	64	63	63
750	116	121	124	121	127	112	122	122	107	115	119	122
751
752
753
754
755	22	25	27	28	31	17	18	19	22	22	24	15
756
757	48	50	53	52	54	51	47	50	46	46	47	47
759
760
761	52	48	53	60	60	57	58	59	59	55	59	57
762
763	195	202	213	223	242	230	145	146	150	152	164	148
765	69	71	69	69	64	65	69	72	78	80	81	85
766	36	45	43	46	39	38	37	37	27	30	26	23
768	119	122	126	130	138	137	112	115	126	117	124	118
771	30	32	34	39	38	38	39	38	40	44	48	41
774	64	63	66	62	58	62	64	64	62	59	63	65
784	52	53	54	52	51	49	53	53	50	49	46	47
787
791	64	70	61	63	66	58	62	63	71	72	63	75
793	25	26	26	26	26	26	26	26	26	27	28	28
795	14
798	35	35	35	39	36	33	30	30	31	31	33	32
800	77	82	83	83	85	84	91	88	86	91	92	90
801	14	15	15	14	13	14	15	15	17	17	18	22
802	32	32	33	36	37	34	30	34	37	28	28
804	27	23	21	34	31	31	34	35	31	36	35	26
805	47	47	48	47	47	47	49	50	50	48	51	48
806	23	23	23	22	21	20	21	23	23	23	21	23
807	39	39	40	41	41	45	45	45	42	42	43	46

Local No.	1914											1915
	MAR.	APR.	MAY	JUNE	JULY	AUG.	SEPT.	OCT.	NOV.	DEC.	JAN.	FEB.
710	11	22	27	31	32	37	40	35	35	31	33
711	2	26	30	34	36	36	35	34	36	37
712
713	29	30	21	24	27	30	36	35	40	40	38	34
714	16	81	93	104	104	114	117	116	117	120
715	17
716	31	31	28	26	25	27	28	28	27	27	28	28
717	14
718	10	9
719	26	29	31	33	37	38	32	32	33	39	39	37
720	26	19	25	24
721	271	273	276	272	270	275	272	275	282	270	269	261
722	24	30	30	30	30	32	32	31	30	30	30	30
723	50	50	51	50	38	38	40	38	39	39	39	41
724	15
725	70	74	69	70	71	73	76	77	78	77	77	75
726	27	37	43	47	51	54	54	54
727	10	17	26	24	24	25	24
728	11
729	45	45	49	49
730	13	40	40
731	18	18	17	18	18	18	18	18	18	18	18	18
732	11	40	48
733	36	36
737	106	106	107	106	105	105	103	105	104	107	108	109
738	18	18	17	17	17	17	17	17	17	14	12	12
739	38	38	36	37	37	34	35	37	37	37	37	39
740	21	21	21	21	2	21	22	22	23	22	21	23
741	23	22	18	23	18	19	21	20	20	21	22	22
742	13	15	11	11	11	11	12	12	12	12	12	12
743	10	23	25	25	26	27	27	27
744	72	66	63	65	68	64	61	65	67	70	71	66
746	42	44	45	49	52	52	50	46	44	49	47	52
749	67	66	77	76	81	86	80	81	83	87	87	86
750	128	130	127	127	127	130	132	134	134	114	123	127
751	11	15	34	35	33	37	35
752	11	11	13	19	19	16	16
753	16	16	16	15
754	37	41	35	41	39	34	35
755	15	15	15	14	14	12	12	12	13	10	12	11
756	10	20	29	29	35	33	30
757	48	44	45	47	49	49	46	45	47	47	41	35
759	19	32	34	36	34	33
760	21	34	34	32	35
761	56	51	46	51	51	49	49	46	45	42	39	36
762	19	32	31	38
763	140	146	143	142	149	166	174	141	152	140	144	137
765	83	83	81	83	85	79	78	80	80	84	84	83
766	31	34	31
768	117	124	122	106	101	110	116	136	144	156	158	161
771	38	39	39	37	37	39	41	39	37	36	33	35
774	64	67	70	68	69	65	61	62	58	57	58	56
784	47	48	47	47	46	47	42	43	42	42	41	41
787	32	23
791	72	65	65	71	77	80	74	66	70	59	50	44
793	28	29	28	27	26	25	24	24	26	25	26	27
795
798	35	38	39	37	35	34	36	36	33	33	30	29
800	90	92	94	95	97	91	91	91	91	98	98	90
801	22	23	24	24	24	23	23	22	21	20	17	17
802	25	25	25	7	7	7	7
804	24	30	27	27	24	30	29	32	30	29	24	22
805	45	48	46	49	55	57	59	61	65	67	67	63
806	24	25	20	21	23	23	24	23	22	22	22	22
807	46	48	50	51	51	52	52	51	53	53	48	48

Local No.	1913											1914
	Mar.	Apr.	May	June	July	Aug.	Sept.	Oct.	Nov.	Dec.	JAN.	FEB.
808	17	18	15	20	18	17	17
809	13	31	42	41	43	32	35	37	52	29
810	10	16	20	20	20	20	22	22	22	26
811	10	13	23	26	26	28	29	29	26	24
812	31	35	35	36	35	34	31	32	32	32	32	29
813	17	10	22	20	21	24	21	21
814	100	106	109	102	103	109	98	103	108	110	105	88
815	59	76	138	166	219	190	170	186	145
816	37	37	37	38	38	35	41	44	45	46	45	41
817	73	73	65	70	68	65	69	69	70	67	62	60
818	44	44	42	42	45	44	49	46	46	50	45	47
819	18	19	34	30	28	26
820	38	36	36	35	35	37	36	34	36	38	35	37
821	31	32	30	33	34	35	36	35	34	39	40	40
822	12	12	12	12	12	12	12	10	10	14	14	14
823	11	12	12	12	12	12	12	14	14	13	13	13
824	24	17	22	23	31	29	34	30	25	21	24	22
826	14	14	14	12	13	13	13	9	12	11	14	14
827	60	61	58	59	57	59	60	64	70	70	68	66
828
829	13	14	15	14	15
830
831
832	48	49	48	49	49	49	51	51	53	52	52	50
833	21	20	20	21	21	21	21	22	22	23	23	20
834
835
836	21	28	26	32	35	37	36	35	35	35	35	36
837	24	31	37	36
838
839
840
841
842
843	22	23	28	32
844	79	80	73	63	72	72	74	74	72	72	64	71
845	23	24	25	28	32	32	31	29	36	34	34	34
847	27	27	27	28	28	29	27	30	29	32	33	33
848	20	47	56	69
849	19	20	19	20	20	20	20	21	21	19	22	23
850	165	167	157	163	170	177	176	183	180	183	175	178
851	25	26	27	25	27	27	27	27	27	28	28	27
852	32	32	32	32	32	32	32	32	32	33	35	35
854	67	67	69	69	70	71	70	76	73	73	67	67
855	27	26	26	24	27	27	27	26	27	28	29	26
856	29	23	25	26	27	29	30	28	35	40	41	42
857	8	8	8	8	9	8	8	8	8	8
858	36	35	38	35	35	35	38	39	37	37	34	34
859	90	89	89	89	89	88	88	87	85	85	85	85
861	17	24	31	31	32
863	16	37	39	40
864	10	33	41	41
865	74	63	59	52	51	49	44	48	42	44	76	100
866	32	26	26	26
867	12	18	20	21
868	26	26	22	26	26	26	26	26	19	19	21	20
869	62	61	62	66	66	65	58	59	65
870	12	12	12	12	12	12	23	25	27
871	28	44	55	58
872	15
873

Local No.	1914											1915
	MAR.	APR.	MAY	JUNE	JULY	AUG.	SEPT.	OCT.	NOV.	DEC.	JAN.	FEB.
808
809	37	34	40	36	38	37	33	34	35	34	32	29
810	26	26	27	20	18	18	18	19	17	13	14	14
811	25	24	12	6
812	30	32	31	33	32	30	31	31	31	29	30	30
813	24	25	26	26	24	22	24	25	25	25	25	25
814	89	93	94	84	81	80	78	80	81	74	62	55
815	125	169	135	106	110	120	139	148	191	218	228	241
816	41	35	35	35
817	59	59	58	61	58	58	58	63	62	59	56	56
818	46	48	47	48	53	52	50	49	53	49	50	52
819	22	25	21	18	16	18	18	22	24	16	16	17
820	38	37	36	39	40	42	40	42	37	40	38	39
821	47	53	47	47	46	45	46	46	44	43	42	42
822	14	15	14	14	14	13	11	11	13	13	14	12
823	12	10	10	9	9	9	9	9	9	9	10	10
824	24	24	22	23	26	22	24	27	28	27	26	21
826	14	18	19	20	20	20	20	20	18	17	16	16
827	65	64	61	59	59	55	54	56	57	51	53	51
828	14
829	12	13	11	13	12	10	10	10	10	9	8	8
830	17	18	52	57	59	60	67	67	63	47	41
831	5	5	5	5	5
832	49	48	47	49	48	49	49	49	44	44	47	49
833	20	19	22	22	22	23	25	27	27	26	26	24
834	16	24	24	19	19	19	20	20
835	10	13	13	13	13	18	20	20
836	38	37	37	33	34	31	32	34	34	30	12	13
837	30	30	30	26	24	24	24	24	24	24	22	22
838	22	35	37	41	41	38	28	37	38
839	10	17	31	36	36	36	36
840	15	21	21	21	21	21	24	24	26
841	17	16	18	14
842	1	30	30	35	28	35	35	18	20
843	32	47	54	59	59	61	59	58	59	59	54	55
844	71	75	67	67	70	67	66	60	59	62	57	53
845	32	32	32	31	30	26	26	30	31	31	31	29
847	32	33	32	32	34	32	34	35	34	35	35	36
848	64	59	62	65	66	69	54	61	54	62	58	58
849	21	17	15	15	15	14	13	12	12	12	12	12
850	180	185	185	192	198	205	204	211	201	204	209	214
851	27	27	27	27	27	27	25	25	25	25	25	25
852	42	43	42	42	43	45	43	43	43	45	45	45
854	67	67	66	64	65	67	66	70	71	71	70	70
855	27	25	27	27	30	29	29	28	27	27	28	26
856	34	39	37	35	31	32	28	28	29	29	30	28
857	11	15	19	18	19	20	20
858	31	31	34	34	34	35	35	35	33	32	29
859	77	78	80	75	76	78	81	80	85	84	83	83
861
863	52	53	47	47	47	49	49	50	49	45	44	45
864	44	42	42	40	15	15	10	10	10	10	10	10
865	110	106	104	106	101	100	113	119	131	136	133	131
866	26	26	19	26	32	32	32	32	32	32	31	32
867	29	28	28	27	26	28	23	25	24	25	24	24
868	20	20	21	21	23	22	24	17	18	17	17	17
869	65	57	58	61	56	56	58	58	50	57	51	49
870	30	35	33	33	34	36	36	*36	37	42	44	45
871	54	51	52	52	50	53	58	42	36	38	27	24
872	15	15	14	14
873	32	24	20	20

THE CONDITION OF THE INTERNATIONAL UNION FEBRUARY 28, 1913.

Our roster showed 564 local unions in good standing. These were situated in 416 towns and cities in 42 States, the District of Columbia, British North America and Alaska. Our paid-up membership was FIFTY-THREE THOUSAND FIVE HUNDRED AND FIFTY-THREE, an increase over the report made to the Boston convention in May, 1911, of 10,902 members. In the Defense Fund there was $19,284.19; in the Death Benefit Fund there was $9,991.40, and there was $24,735.36 in the General Fund, which made a grand total of funds belonging to our International Union of $54,010.95. We also held in trust for our locals the sum of $1,356.60, which sum had been paid in by them for convention purposes and was known as the Convention Fund. With that amount added to the funds of our International there was deposited to the credit of our International Union the sum of $55,367.55.

CONDITION OF THE INTERNATIONAL UNION TODAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1915.

As is generally known, our fiscal year closes February 28th, therefore the status of the organization, its funds and conditions and comment with relation to same do not pretend to cover a later date. On February 28, 1915, we had 596 local unions in good standing, situated in 39 States, the District of Columbia and British North America. That roster represents 475 cities in the territory mentioned and fully set forth in what we call the Long List printed monthly in our official Journal.

Our membership on the date of closing this report was SIXTY-ONE THOUSAND NINE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-THREE (61,923), which, as you can easily calculate, shows an increase over what was reported to the Seventeenth General Convention, Denver, Colo., June 9-14, 1913, of exactly EIGHT THOUSAND THREE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY (8,370).

When you take into consideration the vigorous opposition of organized fanatics, the losses which their victories forced us to swallow, as well as the decidedly questionable campaign started inside of our International Union, the record made is indeed a splendid one. As predicted to our last convention, as well as the previous gathering: "If you and your associate members continue the good work we shall quickly pass the highest point in membership ever attained by our International Union." We have reached that point. This, too, in spite of obstacles such as no other organization to our knowledge has had to overcome. For that reason you and every member of our International Union has excellent reasons for generous felicitation. In other respects our International Union has made advances which are quite as satisfying as its numerical position. At the date of this report we had $32,047.70 in the General Fund; there was $17,959.17 in the Defense Fund, while the Death Benefit Fund had to its credit the sum of $27,389.77, which makes a total amount of funds the property of our International Union of $77,396.64. In addition we have on deposit money belonging to our local unions which they have paid into the Convention Fund amounting to $1,204.10, making a grand total of $78,600.74. A comparison of the funds with the amount on hand February 28, 1913, may interest our members: the General Fund is larger by $7,312.04, the Defense Fund is less by $1,325.02, and the Death Benefit Fund is stronger by $17,398.37.

To give our membership further information on our finances, we herewith reproduce the audits of the expert accountant in conjunction with your International Auditing Committees. The suggestion is made that you peruse these reports and thus obtain a better grasp of the affairs of our International Union. In the past it has been the privilege of the author of these comments to make predictions; and while advantage is being taken once more, the outlook is not as encouraging and rosy as in the recent past. There are innumerable reasons for expecting decreased advancement, reasons other than the unfortunate conflicts abroad, something closer to home, so to speak, and which will be made evident from a careful analysis of the situation. Whether you fully appreciate the immense injury being done to you and your associate membership by these "inside workers"—who manage to retain membership for no other apparent purpose than to create dissension and dissatisfaction—timing their insidious campaigns to occur when our organization is making its best strides; eternally striving to cause our allied crafts to look with suspicion on one another; perpetually undermining and sapping the energies of our unions by diverting their efforts along lines which cannot possibly benefit them, is a question for you to answer and answer for all time.

Unless you face this problem here and now, solve it and solve it without fear or favor, your organization, no matter whom you may elect to executive positions, will never attain the ends which your platform of principles so succinctly set forth. Temporizing with an enemy within the ranks simply invites them to persist in their efforts to obliterate your organization; in fact, you wilfully close your eyes to danger, which is ever present, while they are permitted asylum. Allowing these members to propagate their self-styled "new unionism" without restraint, marks the early dissolution of your organization, for after all that has been written and said, that is their aim, their ultimate object. That declaration is made with a full knowledge of its significance, aye with the further knowledge that these wreckers have succeeded in enlisting some of the genuine able and capable trades union craftsmen who, unfortunately for all concerned, have swallowed the unsound doctrine that division bespeaks future advancement. These advocates who have been identified with similar campaigns in the past, have nothing to which they can point as achievement of benefit to those whom they desire to lead into the meshes of their cleverly hidden net, and to all of their intended victims, as well as those who wish to see our International progress and prosper, we say, and emphatically: get rid of the sore or the sore will get rid of you.

REPORT OF THE INTERNATIONAL AUDITING BOARD, AUGUST 30, 1913.

HOTEL AND RESTAURANT EMPLOYEES' INTERNATIONAL ALLIANCE AND BARTENDERS'
INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE OF AMERICA.

CINCINNATI, O., September 18, 1913.

*To the Officers and Members of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance
and Bartenders' International League of America:*

GENTLEMEN—Complying with Section 119, of your Constitution, examination has been made of the books, records and accounts of your Secretary-Treasurer, in conjunction with your Auditing Committee, for six months ended August 30, 1913, and we submit herewith statements of Income and Expenditure, Cash Balance and Reconciliation of Bank Accounts, all of which have been duly verified.

Respectfully submitted,

GUY H. KENNEDY,
Certified Public Accountant.

CINCINNATI, September 30, 1913.

*To the Officers and Members of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance
and Bartenders' International League of America:*

FELLOW MEMBERS—In accordance with Section 119 of the International Laws, we, the undersigned, composing the International Auditing Committee, together with the accountant named by the Bonding Company, have examined all Receipts and Disbursements, for the six months ended August 30, 1913.

Receipts from locals have been checked in detail and have been properly entered on books and deposited in bank.

Disbursements have been audited, and we find same represented by receipts and checks on file.

We find the business affairs of the organization conducted in a thorough and efficient manner.

We desire to thank the General Executive Board for the honor of being selected as the International Auditors, as the work we have done has given us a broader conception of the conduct of the business in the General Secretary-Treasurer's office.

The attention of the Local Secretaries and the Membership-at-Large is called to the efficiency of the General Office, but we as the International Auditing Committee, suggest that same be increased by the employment of additional clerks, and also that the matter of Death Claims is in itself of sufficient importance to require the sole attention of one man.

The attention of the Local Secretaries is again called to the method of filing death claims. By following the instructions printed on page 43 of the Constitution, you will readily receive these claims and hereby avoid much criticism and facilitate the work in the General Office of the Secretary-Treasurer.

R. D. MATTICE, Local 320, Schenectady, N. Y.
ERNEST STABENOW, Local 8, Denver, Colo.
THOS. P. Woods, Local 59, Milwaukee, Wis.

STATE OF OHIO, HAMILTON COUNTY, ss.:

Be it remembered that on the 20th day of September, 1913, personally appeared before me, the undersigned, a Notary Public, in and for said County, R. D. Mattice, Ernest Stabenow and Thos. P. Woods, who being duly sworn, declare the foregoing statement to be their voluntary act and deed, and for the uses and purposes therein mentioned.

Sworn to and before me subscribed this 20th day of September, 1913.

My commission expires April 1, 1916.

ALFRED F. DECKEBACH,
Notary Public, Hamilton County, Ohio.

STATEMENT OF CASH AND RECONCILIATION OF BANK ACCOUNTS

At AUGUST 30, 1913

Balance at Fifth-Third National Bank, August 30, 1913 (open account)..... $36,087 57
Less outstanding checks:

No. 13008.....$100 00	No. 13060..... $50 00	No. 13073..... $50 00
" 13012..... 50 00	" 13061..... 50 00	" 13074..... 50 00
" 13024..... 50 00	" 13062..... 50 00	" 13075..... 50 00
" 13030..... 50 00	" 13063..... 50 00	" 13076..... 50 00
" 13040..... 100 00	" 13064..... 50 00	" 13077..... 50 00
" 13046..... 100 00	" 13065..... 50 00	" 13078..... 50 00
" 13047..... 15 00	" 13066..... 50 00	" 13079..... 50 00
" 13050..... 200 00	" 13067..... 50 00	" 13080..... 50 00
" 13051..... 100 00	" 13068..... 50 00	" 13081..... 50 00
" 13055..... 113 10	" 13069..... 50 00	" 13082..... 50 00
" 13056..... 211 54	" 13070..... 50 00	" 13083..... 50 00
" 13057..... 150 00	" 13071..... 50 00	" 13084..... 50 00
" 13059..... 50 00	" 13072..... 50 00	" 13087..... 14 19 — 2,553 83

Available Balance	33,533 74
Balance at Fifth-Third National Bank (American National Bank)	16,129 79
Balance at Fifth-Third National Bank (Special Account)	2,721 64
Petty Fund	62 05

Total Cash	$52,447 23
------------------	-------------

MONTHLY STATEMENT OF RECEIPTS AND DISBURSEMENTS.

SIX MONTHS ENDED AUGUST 30, 1913.

	Receipts	Disbursements
March	$9,530 62	$10,149 82
April	11,152 87	10,169 32
May	11,403 03	12,860 76
June	9,927 46	11,328 54
July	10,805 95	13,478 50
August	11,181 73	8,935 04
Cash Balance at February 28, 1913.....	55,367 55	52,447 23
Totals	$119,369 21	$119,369 21

STATEMENT OF CASH AND CONDITION OF FUNDS.

At AUGUST 30, 1913.

Cash Balance	$52,447 23
General Fund	$17,096 19
Death Fund	9,673 28
Defense Fund	24,436 41
Convention Fund	1,241 35

$52,447 23

STATEMENT OF RECEIPTS AND DISBURSEMENTS.

FOR SIX MONTHS ENDED AUGUST 30, 1913.

RECEIPTS.

Per capita tax.....	$48,881 69
Initiation	2,734 30
Reinstatement	1,866 90
Miscellaneous	3,660 60
Supplies	2,835 30
Charters and Outfits	596 00
Buttons	1,344 20
Bulletin	767 36
Interest on bank deposits	758 54
Convention assessments	23 75
Refund—Premium bond, Secretary-Treasurer.....	157 55
Protested checks	375 47
 Total Receipts	 $64,001 66

DISBURSEMENTS.

Death benefits	$16,600 00
Defense	4,616 91
Organizers' salaries and expenses.....	14,173 41
Supplies	3,106 75
Bulletins	15,911 11
Buttons	91 38
Charters and outfits.....	107 01
Edw. Flore, salary and expenses.....	1,879 89
Jere L. Sullivan, salary	1,350 00
Jere L. Sullivan, expenses.....	204 81
Office salaries	1,089 00
Office rent	591 00
Office expenses	141 61
Postage	374 60
Expressage and telegrams	346 50
Tax to American Federation of Labor.....	2,372 31
Tax to Trades and Labor Congress.....	177 39
Assessment of 1 per cent levied by A. F. of L., account United Hatters..	554 62
Auditing books	422 75
General Board meetings	1,449 90
Furniture and fixtures.....	67 25
Bond, Secretary-Treasurer	300 00
Refund, convention assessments	139 00
Convention proceedings and expenses.....	432 56
Miscellaneous	46 75
Protested checks	375 47
 Total Disbursements	 $66,921 98
Excess Disbursements over Receipts	$2,920 32
Balance at February 28, 1913.....	55,367 55
 Balance at August 30, 1913.....	 $52,447 23

REPORT OF THE INTERNATIONAL AUDITING BOARD, FEBRUARY 28, 1914.

HOTEL AND RESTAURANT EMPLOYEES' INTERNATIONAL ALLIANCE AND BARTENDERS'
INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE OF AMERICA.

CINCINNATI, O., March 26, 1914.

To the Officers and Members of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America:FELLOW MEMBERS—In accordance with Section 119 of the International laws of our order, we have, with a certified public accountant representing the bonding company made an examination of the receipts and disbursements of the Secretary-Treasurer for the six months ended February 28, 1914.

Receipts from locals have been checked in detail and have been properly entered on books and deposited in bank.

Disbursements have been audited, and we find same represented by receipts and checks on file.

We find the business affairs of the organization conducted in a thorough and efficient manner.

JACOB BRAV, Local 342, New York City.
T. F. VIGNEUX, Local 81, Holyoke, Mass.
JOHN J. KEARNEY, Local 80, Boston, Mass.

STATE OF OHIO, HAMILTON COUNTY, ss.:

Be it remembered that on the 26th day of March, Nineteen Hundred and Fourteen (1914), before me, a notary public in and for said county and State, appeared the persons who signed the foregoing document, and severally made oath that their names are Jacob Brav, T. Fred Vigneux and John J. Kearney, and that the statements of said document are true, as they verily believe.

Sworn to and subscribed before me on said date.

FRED W. HINKLE,
Notary Public, Hamilton County, Ohio.

CINCINNATI, O., March 26, 1914.

To the Officers and Members of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America:

GENTLEMEN—Complying with Section 119 of your Constitution, examination has been made of the books, records and accounts of your Secretary-Treasurer, in conjunction with your Auditing Committee, for six months ended February 28, 1914, and we submit herewith statements of Income and Expenditures, Cash Balance and Reconciliation of Bank Accounts, all of which have been duly verified. Respectfully submitted,

GUY H. KENNEDY,
Certified Public Accountant.

MONTHLY STATEMENT OF RECEIPTS AND DISBURSEMENTS

FOR SIX MONTHS ENDED FEBRUARY 28, 1914

	Receipts	Disbursements
September, 1913.....	$12,487 73	$ 9,143 09
October, "	14,441 49	13,542 19
November, "	13,189 42	9,695 40
December, "	14,702 37	14,234 57
January, 1914.....	15,004 76	12,307 16
February, "	14,743 83	12,878 27
Cash Balance at August 30, 1913.....	52,447 23
Cash Balance at February 28, 1914.....		65,216 15
 Totals	 $137,016 83	 $137,016 83

STATEMENT OF CASH AND CONDITION OF FUNDS

AT FEBRUARY 28, 1914

Cash Balance	$65,216 15
General Fund	$20,604 44
Death Fund	14,948 24
Denfense Fund	28,447 12
Convention Fund	1,216 35
 Total	 $65,216 15

RECEIPTS AND DISBURSEMENTS
FOR SIX MONTHS ENDED FEBRUARY 28, 1914

RECEIPTS

Per capita tax.....	$68,071 07
Initiation	2,920 15
Reinstatement	2,010 68
Miscellaneous	1,806 25
Supplies	6,366 90
Charters and outfits.....	743 00
Buttons	1,402 79
Bulletins	396 48
Interest on deposits.....	825 18
Protested check	27 10
 Total Receipts	 <hr/> $84,569 60

DISBURSEMENTS

Death benefits	$18,550 00
Defense	6,200 00
Organizers' salaries and expenses.....	21,207 55
Supplies	3,219 11
Bulletins	10,606 63
Buttons	291 55
Charters and outfits.....	105 53
Edw. Flore, salary and expenses.....	1,826 21
Jere L. Sullivan, salary.....	1,350 00
" " expenses	411 00
Office salaries	1,331 00
Office rent	599 33
Postage	429 86
Expressage and telegrams.....	817 10
Tax to American Federation of Labor.....	2,287 58
Tax to Trades and Labor Congress.....	190 35
Auditing books	366 74
Furniture and fixtures.....	416 00
Bond Secretary-Treasurer	350 00
Refund Convention Assessments.....	25 00
Delegates to American Federation of Labor Convention.....	1,092 50
Miscellaneous	100 54
Protested check	27 10
 Total Disbursements	 <hr/> 71,800 68
Excess Receipts over Disbursements.....	$12,768 92
Balance at August 30, 1913.....	52,447 23
 Balance at February 28, 1914.....	 <hr/> $65,216 15

STATEMENT OF CASH AND RECONCILIATION OF BANK ACCOUNTS

AT FEBRUARY 28, 1914

Balance as per pass-book, Fifth-Third National Bank, February 28, 1914 (open account).....	$31,279 77
Less outstanding checks.....	5,523 68
 Balance at Credit.....	 $25,756 09
Balance at Fifth-Third National Bank (American National).....	36,635 56
Balance at Fifth-Third National Bank (special account).....	2,762 44
Office Cash Fund.....	62 06
 Total Cash	 <hr/> $65,216 15

REPORT OF THE INTERNATIONAL AUDITING BOARD, AUGUST 31, 1914.
HOTEL AND RESTAURANT EMPLOYEES' INTERNATIONAL ALLIANCE AND BARTENDERS'
INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE OF AMERICA.

CINCINNATI, O., September 18, 1914.

To the Officers and Members of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America:

FELLOW MEMBERS—In accordance with Section 119 of the International laws of our order, we have, with a certified public accountant, representing the bonding company, made an examination of the receipts and disbursements of the Secretary-Treasurer for the six months ended August 31, 1914.

Receipts from locals have been checked in detail, and have been properly entered on books and deposited in bank.

Disbursements have been audited, and we find same represented by receipts and checks on file.

We find the business affairs of the organization conducted in a thorough and efficient manner.

T. J. LINNANE, Local 247, Des Moines, Ia.

J. H. LAMM, Local 12, San Antonio, Tex.

ALICE M. LORD, Local 240, Seattle, Wash.

STATE OF OHIO, HAMILTON COUNTY, ss:

Be it remembered, that on the 18th day of September, Nineteen Hundred and Fourteen (1910), before me, a notary public in and for said county and State, appeared the persons who signed the foregoing document, and severally made oath that their names are Timothy John Linnane, John Henry Lamm and Alice M. Lord, and that the statements of said document are true, as they verily believe.

Sworn to and subscribed before me on said date. NICHOLAS P. SMITH,
 Notary Public, Hamilton County, Ohio.

CINCINNATI, O., September 18, 1914.

To the Officers and Members of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America:

GENTLEMEN—Complying with Section 119 of your constitution, examination has been made of the books, records and accounts of your Secretary-Treasurer, in conjunction with your Auditing Committee, for six months ended August 31, 1914, and we submit herewith statements of Income and Expenditures, Cash Balance and Reconciliation of Bank Accounts, all of which have been duly verified. Respectfully submitted,

GUY H. KENNEDY,
 Certified Public Accountant.

MONTHLY STATEMENT OF RECEIPTS AND DISBURSEMENTS
 SIX MONTHS ENDED AUGUST 31, 1914

	Receipts	Disbursements
March	$14,886 55	$12,441 36
April	14,042 38	12,941 42
May	13,424 02	12,885 45
June	14,964 59	15,436 61
July	15,455 18	11,894 78
August	14,732 65	14,899 60
Cash Balance at February 28, 1914.....	65,216 15
Cash Balance at August 31, 1914.....		72,222 30
Totals	$152,721 52	$152,721 52

STATEMENT OF CASH AND CONDITION OF FUNDS

AT AUGUST 31, 1914

Cash Balance	$72,222 30
General Fund	$27,661 61
Death Fund	20,497 10
Defense Fund	22,859 49
Convention Fund	1,204 10
	72,222 30

STATEMENT OF RECEIPTS AND DISBURSEMENTS
SIX MONTHS ENDED AUGUST 31, 1914

	RECEIPTS
Per capita tax.....	$17,996 75
Initiation	2,745 65
Reinstatement	2,021 45
Miscellaneous	3,912 31
Supplies	2,980 68
Charters and outfits.....	608 50
Buttons	1,214 40
Bulletins	1,039 83
Interest on deposits.....	925 11
Protested checks	33 49
Charters (See contra).....	27 20
 Total Receipts	 $87,505 37
	DISBURSEMENTS
Death benefits	$19,650 00
Defense	16,387 16
Organizers' salaries and expenses.....	18,346 72
Supplies	2,090 79
Bulletins	13,654 28
Buttons	44 20
Charters and outfits.....	117 00
Edward Flore, salary and expense.....	1,500 54
Jere L. Sullivan, salary.....	1,350 00
" " expenses	65 60
Office, salaries	1,324 00
" rent	621 00
Postage	407 76
Expressage and telegrams.....	248 28
Tax to American Federation of Labor.....	2,384 68
Tax to Canadian Trades and Labor Congress.....	210 86
Auditing books	360 00
Refund Convention Assessment.....	12 25
General Executive Board meeting.....	894 00
Assessment American Federation of Labor, account Women Workers.....	570 90
Miscellaneous	110 51
Protested checks	121 49
Refund on charters.....	27 20
 Total Disbursements	 $80,499 22

STATEMENT OF CASH AND RECONCILIATION OF BANK ACCOUNTS

AT AUGUST 31, 1914

Balance as per pass-book, Fifth-Third National Bank, Aug. 31, 1914 (open account)	$36,980 73
Less outstanding checks.....	4,806 25
 Balance at credit (open account).....	 $32,174 48
Balance at Fifth-Third National Bank (special account)	2,802 58
Balance at Fifth-Third National Bank (on deposit)	37,183 18
Office Cash Fund.....	62 06
 Total Cash	 $72,222 30

REPORT OF THE INTERNATIONAL AUDITING BOARD, APRIL 24, 1915.

THE HOTEL AND RESTAURANT EMPLOYEES' INTERNATIONAL ALLIANCE AND BARTENDERS'
 INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE OF AMERICA.

CINCINNATI, April 24, 1915.

To the Officers and Members of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance
 and Bartenders' International League of America:

FELLOW MEMBERS—In accordance with Section 119 of the International Laws of our Order, we have, with a Certified Public Accountant, representing the Bonding Company, made an examination of the Receipts and Disbursements of the Secretary-Treasurer for the six months ended February 27, 1915.

The detailed statement submitted herewith includes all receipts from locals, and disbursements are represented by receipts and vouchers on file, showing organization expenses, general expenses and death claims, which have been properly approved and vouchered.

All expenditures have been carefully examined by us, and the statement as submitted, in our opinion, correctly shows the receipts and disbursements for six months ended February 27, 1915.

We wish to commend the General Office upon the excellent condition in which the books and records are kept.

Respectfully submitted,

E. L. HILES,
Local 420, Kansas City, Mo.

W. W. HINTON,
Local 300, Toronto, Can.

D. C. POTTER,
Local 286, Peoria, Ill.

STATE OF OHIO, HAMILTON COUNTY, ss:

Be it remembered that on the 24th day of April, Nineteen Hundred and Fifteen (1915), before me, a Notary Public, in and for said County and State, appeared the persons who signed the foregoing document, and severally made oath that their names are E. L. Hiles, W. W. Hinton and D. C. Potter, and that the statements of said document are true, as they verily believe.

Sworn to and subscribed before me on said date.

GEO. W. WELCH,
Notary Public, Hamilton County, Ohio.

CINCINNATI, April 23, 1915.

*To the Officers and Members of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance
and Bartenders' International League of America:*

GENTLEMEN—Complying with Section 119 of your constitution, examination has been made of the books, records and accounts of your Secretary-Treasurer, in conjunction with your Auditing Committee, for six months ended February 27, 1915, and we submit here-with statements of Receipts and Disbursements, Cash Balance and Reconciliation of Bank Accounts, all of which have been duly verified.

Respectfully submitted,

GUY H. KENNEDY,
Certified Public Accountant.

STATEMENT OF RECEIPTS AND DISBURSEMENTS.

FOR SIX MONTHS ENDED FEBRUARY 27, 1915.

RECEIPTS.	DISBURSEMENTS.
Per Capita Tax..... $71,179 12	Death Benefits $17,950 00
Initiation 2,055 26	Defense 15,683 20
Reinstatement 1,822 45	Organizers' Salaries and Ex-
Miscellaneous 3,304 30	penses 17,071 39
Supplies 2,439 60	Supplies 1,577 42
Charter and Outfits 277 00	Bulletins 14,293 44
Buttons 862 85	Buttons 440 75
Bulletins 689 14	Charters and Outfits 38 43
Interest on Deposits 1,003 83	Edward Flore—Salary 1,200 00
Protested Checks 217 55	Edward Flore—Expenses 365 20
Fine (in escrow) 5 00	Jere L. Sullivan—Salary 1,350 00
	Jere L. Sullivan—Expenses 138 87
	Office Salaries 1,547 00
	Office Rent 621 00
	Postage, Revenue, Stamps, etc. 492 54
	Expressage and Telegrams 390 18
	Tax to A. F. of L 2,440 26
	Tax to Canadian Trades and Labor Congress 204 54
	Delegates to A. F. of L Convention 422 20
	Auditing Books 512 28
	Miscellaneous 172 88
	Bond—Secretary-Treasurer 350 00
	Protested Checks 216 08
 <hr/>	 <hr/>
Total Receipts $83,856 10	Total Disbursements $77,477 66
Cash Balance, August 31, 1914. 72,222 30	Cash Balance, February 27, 1915. 78,600 74
 <hr/>	 <hr/>
$156,078 40	$156,078 40

MONTHLY STATEMENT OF RECEIPTS AND DISBURSEMENTS.

FOR SIX MONTHS ENDED FEBRUARY 27, 1915.

RECEIPTS.	DISBURSEMENTS.
September, 1914..... $13,994 48	September, 1914..... $12,595 61
October, 1914..... 14,527 65	October, 1914..... 13,517 35
November, 1914..... 13,306 51	November, 1914..... 11,600 43
December, 1914..... 15,152 85	December, 1914..... 12,878 29
January, 1915..... 13,134 95	January, 1915..... 13,441 67
February, 1915..... 13,739 66	February, 1915..... 13,444 31
Cash balance at August 31, 1914. 72,222 30	Cash Balance at February 27, 1915 78,600 74
Total $156,078 40	Total $156,078 40

STATEMENT OF CASH AND CONDITION OF FUNDS AT FEBRUARY 27, 1915.

Cash Balance	$78,600 74	General Fund	$32,047 70
		Death Fund	27,389 77
		Defense Fund	17,959 17
		Convention Fund	1,204 10
Total	$78,600 74	Total	$78,600 74

STATEMENT OF CASH AND RECONCILIATION OF BANK ACCOUNTS.

AT FEBRUARY 27, 1915.

Balance as per Pass Book, Fifth- Third National Bank, February 27, 1915 (Open Account).....	$43,450 72	Balance at Fifth-Third National Bank (Special Account).....	$2,844 86
Less Outstanding Checks.....	5,498 85	Balance at Fifth-Third National Bank (On Deposit).....	37,741 95
 		Office Cash Fund.....	62 06
Balance at Credit (Open Ac- count)	$37,951 87
		Total	$78,600 74

ORGANIZATION FACTS AND HOW OBTAINED.

Almost from the day of beginning to work for our International Union as a paid official, the need of securing trade facts and figures prompted me to employ every known method to secure reports of conditions surrounding our local unions. After a number of experiments the present annual report form was evolved; it contains quite an array of important interrogations, which if replied to with care and accuracy would prove of immense value to our organization as well as those interested in the study of economics. Statistics are valueless unless they are approximate of the conditions which they pretend to cover, that needs little elucidation to be understood, for if what we gather from our local union officials is based simply on individual judgment without regard to actual facts, as they exist in each locality, the compilations become useless. On the other hand, if the facts gleaned are approximate of actual conditions, the tabulations which follow are fully worth the labor and expense of collecting.

We have refrained from asking of our locals unnecessary work, and for that reason we believe we have a right to expect their hearty co-operation on the occasions when requests are filed with them.

We are reproducing the tabulations collected for the year 1913, and following them with gleaned facts for the year 1914.

Some of our local union officials respond promptly and furnish us with all available facts; others appear to regard our solicitations as an infringement on their time. To the former officers we tender sincere thanks, to the latter we urge compliance in the future, for when all unions respond an accurate estimate can be made, which under present incomplete returns is impractical.

ORGANIZATION STATISTICS AND THEIR VALUE

Beginning way back in the year 1889 we endeavored to induce the officers and members of our affiliated local unions to pay close attention to our requests for information. In order that there might be compiled data which every member of the organization could turn to with a feeling of confidence that what was compiled for general perusal was the final word on the real status of the International Union.

We mailed, on December 15, 1918, a duplicate set of Annual Report blanks to every affiliated local of our International Union, and urged that these blanks be filled in and returned to the central office within a reasonable time. After waiting patiently for a few months, we reminded the local unions which had failed to respond: In fact, kept up a perpetual bugging, until finally we realized that there was no further use to ask.

Accompanying the tabulation here offered will be found the number of each local union which, despite frequent urgings, as intimated, failed to return a report. The total number of those absent from the compilation is 188. To the locals who have made the following tabulation of facts possible we tender sincere thanks; to those who neglected or refused to co-operate we the knowledge that they are only injuring themselves and preventing their co-workers of our International from securing data of value.

STATISTICAL TABLE COMPILED FROM CONDENSED REPORTS BY OUR LOCAL UNIONS FOR THE PERIOD JAN. 1, 1913, TO JAN. 1, 1914.

Strikes Since Jan. 1, 1913	Persons Involved	Number Member Won Compromised Lost	Number Member Worsted Benefited	In Wages per Member per Week	In Hours of Hours Benefited	Any Redundancy in Wages Since Jan. 1, 1913	Benefits Accruing as Result of Organ- ization	Cost of Strikes since Jan. 1, 1913 1913, Exclusive of Appro- priations by Interim Com- mittee		Officers Bonded in Wages	Average Wages Paid
								Total Gains	In Wages
Quincy, Ill.	10	7	Yes	* 40.00	* 60.00	85	58	502.00	350.00	203.00	1	15.00
Wilkesbarre, Pa.	10	6	Yes	10-00-15.00	12-00-17.00	36	10	31.00	28.00	200.00	2	5.25
Pendleton, Ky.	10	6	Yes	12.00-16.00	15.00-20.00	49	10	40.00	38.50	200.00	2	5.00
Patterson, N. J.	10	6	Yes	10.00-12.00	17.50-20.00	49	10	100.00	100.00	25.00	12.50	9.00
Woonsocket, R. I.	10	6	Yes	12.00-18.00	15.00-18.00	66	10	100.00	105.00	25.00	9.25	1.75
Meriden, Conn.	10	6	Yes	10.00-12.00	18.00-20.00	75	10	250.00	225.00	155.00	12.50	1.75
Brockton, Mass.	12	7	Yes	6.00-15.00	* 35.00	65	12	127.48	127.48	127.48	1	2.00-15.00
Trinidad, Colo.	10	6	Yes	12.00-15.00	15.00-18.00	40	7	50.00	50.00	50.00	2	5.00
McKeesport, Pa.	10	6	Yes	12.00-15.00	15.00-18.00	90	10	270.00	270.00	270.00	10.00	10.00
Cleveland, O.	140	00	11.00-16.00	12.00-16.00	21	10	100.00	100.00	100.00	1	10.00
Hamilton, O.	9	6	Yes	12.00-15.00	14.00-16.00	58	10	40.00	40.00	40.00	6.00	6.00
Lima, O.	8	6	Yes	13.00-16.00	16.00-18.00	20	10	95.00	95.00	95.00	5.00	5.00
Rochester, N. Y.	10	6	Yes	14.00-16.00	18.00-20.00	85	15	75.00	75.00	75.00	10.00	10.00
Binghamton, N. Y.	10	6	Yes	* 50.00	14.00-16.00	100	15	100.00	200.00	200.00	6.00	6.00
Buffalo, N. Y.	10	6	Yes	15.00-16.00	15.00-18.00	55.00	10	50.00	55.00	55.00	7.00	7.00
San Jose, Cal.	12	00	Yes	8.00-18.00	8.00-18.00	24	10	100.00	100.00	100.00	2	5.00-5.00
Brantford, Ont., Can.	10	6	Yes	12.00-16.00	18.00-20.00	9	10	100.00	100.00	100.00	10.00	10.00
Outumwa, Ia.	9	6	Yes	12.00-15.00	15.00-18.00	3	10	100.00	100.00	100.00	10.00	10.00
Pittsburgh, Pa.	2	10.00-16.00	19.00-21.00	475	30	745.00	745.00	1,165.00	400.00	8
Portland, Ore.	10	6	Yes	13.00-16.00	15.00-18.00	50	10	100.00	100.00	100.00	10.00	10.00
The Bethelheims, Pa.	10	6	Yes	* 14.00	14.00-16.00	24	30	75.00	75.00	75.00	5.00	5.00
Atlanta, Ga.	9	6	Yes	10.00-12.00	15.00-18.00	44	75	150.00	150.00	150.00	11.00	11.00
Buffalo, N. Y.	11	7	Yes	9.00-12.00	10.00-12.00	54	75	20.00	20.00	20.00	2.50	2.50
Hamilton, Ont., Can.	11	7	Yes	9.00-15.00	15.00-22.00	43	10	45.00	384.00	50.00	25.00	9.00
Danemontown, N. Y.	9	6	Yes	14.00-16.00	17.00-22.00	43	5	250.00	300.00	150.00	3	25.00
Hartford, Conn.	12	6	Yes	* 60.00	* 75.00	169	75	575.00	575.00	600.00	1	25.00
Carlton, O.	10	6	Yes	14.00-16.00	18.00-20.00	49	20	260.00	260.00	260.00	3.00	3.00
St. Louis, Mo.	10	6	Yes	20.00	18.00-20.00	5	50%	28.00	28.00	28.00	2	2.50
Albion, N. Y.	13	00	13.00-15.00	15.00-18.00	50	40	100.00	100.00	100.00	10.00	10.00
Worth, Tex.	18	00	18.00-18.00	20.00	100	15	400.00	400.00	630.00	7	15.00
Youngstown, O.	300	18	Yes	9.00-12.00	12.00-15.00	303	31	300.00	300.00	300.00	5	15.00
Pana, Ill.	10	6	Yes	12.00-15.00	17.00-21.00	21	30	100.00	100.00	100.00	1.00	1.00
New Haven, Conn.	10	7	Yes	9.00-12.00	18.00-20.00	300	12	750.00	750.00	200.00	4	25.00
Streator, Ill.	12	1	Yes	9.00-12.00	12.50	42	35	18.50,000	18.50,000	18.50,000	1	20.00
New York City, N. Y.	10	6	Yes	8.00-10.00	10.00-12.00	17	100	100.00	100.00	100.00	1.00	1.00
Eureka, Cal.	10	6	No	6.25	8-10	18	80%	55.00	55.00	55.00	2	15.00
Keweenaw, Mich.	No	9.00-12.00	10.00-12.00	17	100	100.00	100.00	100.00	1.00	1.00
Dayton, O.	9	Yes	3.00	9.00-12.00	12	300	100.00	100.00	100.00	1.00	1.00
Des Moines, Ia.	No	11.00-12.00	10.00-12.00	10	6	100.00	100.00	100.00	1.00	1.00
Irvine, Pa.	1	1	2	10	6	100.00	100.00	100.00	1.00	1.00
Manville, Pa.	1	1	2	10	6	100.00	100.00	100.00	1.00	1.00
Coalville, Ill.	No	* 15.00	15.00	* 29.00	29	100	100.00	100.00	100.00	1.00	1.00
Derby, Conn.	No	9.00-12.00	* 65.00	65	42	100.00	100.00	100.00	1.00	1.00
Auburn, N. Y.	No	11.00-12.00	12.00-15.00	11	24	100.00	100.00	100.00	1.00	1.00
Central City, Ky.	No	5.00	12.50	10.00-15.00	10.00-15.00	45	5	50.00	50.00	50.00	1.00	1.00
No	5.00	12.50	10.00	9.00-12.00	11.00	15	15.00	15.00	15.00	1.00	1.00

Olean, N. Y.
Sudbury, Ont., Can.
Seattle, Wash.
Murphysboro, Ill.
Alton, Ill.
South Bend, Ind.
Dubuque, Iowa
Birmingham, Ala.
St. Louis, Mo.
Centralia, Ill.
Mansfield, O.
Alliance, O.
Danbury, Conn.
Sayre, Pa.
Louisville, Ky.
New Castle, Pa.
No.	*30 00
No.	2 00-4 00
No.	5 00
No.	6 00
No.	7 00
No.	8 00
No.	9 00
No.	10 00
No.	11 00
No.	12 00
No.	13 00
No.	14 00
No.	15 00
No.	16 00
No.	17 00
No.	18 00
No.	19 00
No.	20 00
No.	21 00
No.	22 00
No.	23 00
No.	24 00
No.	25 00
No.	26 00
No.	27 00
No.	28 00
No.	29 00
No.	30 00
No.	31 00
No.	32 00
No.	33 00
No.	34 00
No.	35 00
No.	36 00
No.	37 00
No.	38 00
No.	39 00
No.	40 00
No.	41 00
No.	42 00
No.	43 00
No.	44 00
No.	45 00
No.	46 00
No.	47 00
No.	48 00
No.	49 00
No.	50 00
No.	51 00
No.	52 00
No.	53 00
No.	54 00
No.	55 00
No.	56 00
No.	57 00
No.	58 00
No.	59 00
No.	60 00
No.	61 00
No.	62 00
No.	63 00
No.	64 00
No.	65 00
No.	66 00
No.	67 00
No.	68 00
No.	69 00
No.	70 00
No.	71 00
No.	72 00
No.	73 00
No.	74 00
No.	75 00
No.	76 00
No.	77 00
No.	78 00
No.	79 00
No.	80 00
No.	81 00
No.	82 00
No.	83 00
No.	84 00
No.	85 00
No.	86 00
No.	87 00
No.	88 00
No.	89 00
No.	90 00
No.	91 00
No.	92 00
No.	93 00
No.	94 00
No.	95 00
No.	96 00
No.	97 00
No.	98 00
No.	99 00
No.	100 00
No.	101 00
No.	102 00
No.	103 00
No.	104 00
No.	105 00
No.	106 00
No.	107 00
No.	108 00
No.	109 00
No.	110 00
No.	111 00
No.	112 00
No.	113 00
No.	114 00
No.	115 00
No.	116 00
No.	117 00
No.	118 00
No.	119 00
No.	120 00
No.	121 00
No.	122 00
No.	123 00
No.	124 00
No.	125 00
No.	126 00
No.	127 00
No.	128 00
No.	129 00
No.	130 00
No.	131 00
No.	132 00
No.	133 00
No.	134 00
No.	135 00
No.	136 00
No.	137 00
No.	138 00
No.	139 00
No.	140 00
No.	141 00
No.	142 00
No.	143 00
No.	144 00
No.	145 00
No.	146 00
No.	147 00
No.	148 00
No.	149 00
No.	150 00
No.	151 00
No.	152 00
No.	153 00
No.	154 00
No.	155 00
No.	156 00
No.	157 00
No.	158 00
No.	159 00
No.	160 00
No.	161 00
No.	162 00
No.	163 00
No.	164 00
No.	165 00
No.	166 00
No.	167 00
No.	168 00
No.	169 00
No.	170 00
No.	171 00
No.	172 00
No.	173 00
No.	174 00
No.	175 00
No.	176 00
No.	177 00
No.	178 00
No.	179 00
No.	180 00
No.	181 00
No.	182 00
No.	183 00
No.	184 00
No.	185 00
No.	186 00
No.	187 00
No.	188 00
No.	189 00
No.	190 00
No.	191 00
No.	192 00
No.	193 00
No.	194 00
No.	195 00
No.	196 00
No.	197 00
No.	198 00
No.	199 00
No.	200 00
No.	201 00
No.	202 00
No.	203 00
No.	204 00
No.	205 00
No.	206 00
No.	207 00
No.	208 00
No.	209 00
No.	210 00
No.	211 00
No.	212 00
No.	213 00
No.	214 00
No.	215 00
No.	216 00
No.	217 00
No.	218 00
No.	219 00
No.	220 00
No.	221 00
No.	222 00
No.	223 00
No.	224 00
No.	225 00
No.	226 00
No.	227 00
No.	228 00
No.	229 00
No.	230 00
No.	231 00
No.	232 00
No.	233 00
No.	234 00
No.	235 00
No.	236 00
No.	237 00
No.	238 00
No.	239 00
No.	240 00
No.	241 00
No.	242 00
No.	243 00
No.	244 00
No.	245 00
No.	246 00
No.	247 00
No.	248 00
No.	249 00
No.	250 00
No.	251 00
No.	252 00
No.	253 00
No.	254 00
No.	255 00
No.	256 00
No.	257 00
No.	258 00
No.	259 00
No.	260 00
No.	261 00
No.	262 00
No.	263 00
No.	264 00
No.	265 00
No.	266 00
No.	267 00
No.	268 00
No.	269 00
No.	270 00
No.	271 00
No.	272 00
No.	273 00
No.	274 00
No.	275 00
No.	276 00
No.	277 00
No.	278 00
No.	279 00
No.	280 00
No.	281 00
No.	282 00
No.	283 00
No.	284 00
No.	285 00
No.	286 00
No.	287 00
No.	288 00
No.	289 00
No.	290 00
No.	291 00
No.	292 00
No.	293 00
No.	294 00
No.	295 00
No.	296 00
No.	297 00
No.	298 00
No.	299 00
No.	300 00
No.	301 00
No.	302 00
No.	303 00
No.	304 00
No.	305 00
No.	306 00
No.	307 00
No.	308 00
No.	309 00
No.	310 00
No.	311 00
No.	312 00
No.	313 00
No.	314 00
No.	315 00
No.	316 00
No.	317 00
No.	318 00
No.	319 00
No.	320 00
No.	321 00
No.	322 00
No.	323 00
No.	324 00
No.	325 00
No.	326 00
No.	327 00
No.	328 00
No.	329 00
No.	330 00
No.	331 00
No.	332 00
No.	333 00
No.	334 00
No.	335 00
No.	336 00
No.	337 00
No.	338 00
No.	339 00
No.	340 00
No.	341 00
No.	342 00
No.	343 00
No.	344 00
No.	345 00
No.	346 00
No.	347 00
No.	348 00
No.	349 00
No.	350 00
No.	351 00
No.	352 00
No.	353 00
No.	354 00
No.	355 00
No.	356 00
No.	357 00
No.	358 00
No.	359 00
No.	360 00
No.	361 00
No.	362 00
No.	363 00
No.	364 00
No.	365 00
No.	366 00
No.	367 00
No.	368 00
No.	369 00
No.	370 00
No.	371 00
No.	372 00
No.	373 00
No.	374 00
No.	375 00
No.	376 00
No.	377 00
No.	378 00
No.	379 00
No.	380 00
No.	381 00
No.	382 00
No.	383 00
No.	384 00
No.	385 00
No.	386 00
No.	387 00
No.	388 00
No.	389 00
No.	390 00
No.	391 00
No.	392 00
No.	393 00
No.	394 00
No.	395 00
No.	396 00
No.	397 00
No.	398 00
No.	399 00
No.	400 00
No.	401 00
No.	402 00
No.	403 00
No.	404 00
No.	405 00
No.	406 00
No.	407 00
No.	408 00
No.	409 00
No.	410 00
No.	411 00
No.	412 00
No.	413 00
No.	414 00
No.	415 00
No.	416 00
No.	417 00
No.	418 00
No.	419 00
No.	420 00
No.	421 00
No.	422 00
No.	423 00
No.	424 00
No.	425 00
No.	426 00
No.	427 00
No.	428 00
No.	429 00
No.	430 00
No.	431 00
No.	432 00
No.	433 00
No.	434 00
No.	435 00
No.	436 00
No.	437 00
No.	438 00
No.	439 00
No.	440 00
No.	441 00
No.	442 00
No.	443 00
No.	444 00
No.	445 00
No.	446 00
No.	447 00
No.	448 00
No.	449 00
No.	450 00
No.	451 00
No.	452 00
No.	453 00
No.	454 00
No.	455 00
No.	456 00
No.	457 00
No.	458 00
No.	459 00
No.	460 00
No.	461 00
No.	462 00
No.	463 00
No.	464 00
No.	465 00
No.	466 00
No.	467 00
No.	468 00
No.	469 00
No.	470 00
No.	471 00
No.	472 00
No.	473 00
No.	474 00
No.	475 00
No.	476 00
No.	477 00
No.	478 00
No.	479 00
No.	480 00
No.	481 00
No.	482 00
No.	483 00
No.	484 00
No.	485 00
No.	486 00
No.	487 00
No.	488 00
No.	489 00
No.	490 00
No.	491 00
No.	492 00
No.	493 00
No.	494 00
No.	495 00
No.	496 00
No.	497 00
No.	498 00
No.	499 00
No.	500 00
No.	501 00
No.	502 00
No.	503 00
No.	504 00
No.	505 00
No.	506 00
No.	507 00
No.	508 00
No.	509 00
No.	510 00
No.	511 00
No.	512 00
No.	513 00
No.	514 00
No.	515 00
No.	516 00
No.	517 00
No.	518 00
No.	519 00
No.	520 00
No.	521 00
No.	522 00
No.	523 00
No.	524 00
No.	525 00
No.	526 00
No.	527 00
No.	528 00
No.	529 00
No.	530 00
No.	531 00
No.	532 00
No.	533 00
No.	534 00
No.	535 00
No.	536 00
No.	537 00
No.	538 00
No.	539 00
No.	540 00
No.	541 00
No.	542 00
No.	543 00
No.	544 00
No.	545 00
No.	546 00
No.	547 00
No.	548 00
No.	549 00
No.	550 00
No.	551 00
No.	552 00
No.	553 00
No.	554 00
No.	555 00
No.	556 00
No.	557 00
No.	558 00
No.	559 00
No.	560 00
No.	561 00
No.	562 00
No.	563 00
No.	564 00
No.	565 00
No.	566 00
No.	567 00
No.	568 00
No.	569 00
No.	570 00
No.	571 00
No.	572 00
No.	573 00
No.	574 00
No.	575 00
No.	576 00
No.	577 00
No.	578 00
No.	579 00
No.	580 00
No.	581 00
No.	582 00
No.	583 00
No.	584 00
No.	585 00
No.	586 00
No.	587 00
No.	588 00
No.	589 00
No.	590 00
No.	591 00
No.	592 00
No.	593 00
No.	594 00
No.	595 00
No.	596 00
No.	597 00
No.	598 00
No.	599 00

Number of Persons Involved	Strikes Since Jan. 1, 1913	Comprised Last Won	Number of Member	Worsted	Benefited	In Wages	In Hours	Any Reduction in Wages Since Jan. 1, 1913	Benefits Accruing as Result of Organ- ization	Coses of Strike since Jan. 1, 1913, Exclusive of Apparatus		Injuries to Officers Bonded	Days in Working Week	Union Houses in Jurisdi- ction	Non-members Follow- ing Trade in City	Amount Appropriated to Other Unions	Death Fund Excluded by Interimratinal	Sick Fund	Expended Since Jan. 1, 1913	Debts Since Jan. 1, 1913	Initiation Fee	Registration Fee	Monthly Dues	Amount of Money in Bank	Condition of Trade Since Jan. 1, 1913
										Averagew Wages Paid
LOCATION										With Board	Without Board
Tertown, N. Y.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Cincinnati, Ind.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Pittsburgh, Pa.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Louis. Mo.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Washington, D. C.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Baltimore, Md.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Newark, N. J.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
London, Conn.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
St. Louis, Mo.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Chicago, Ill.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Baltimore, Md.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Wilmington, Del.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Philadelphia, Pa.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Boston, Mass.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Providence, R. I.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Albany, N. Y.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Montgomery, Ala.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Seattle, Wash.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Ore., Wash.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Minneapolis, Minn.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Winnipeg, Man.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Montreal, Que.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Quebec, Que.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Winnipeg, Man.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Calgary, Alta.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Vancouver, B. C.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Victoria, B. C.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Edmonton, Alta.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Winnipeg, Man.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Calgary, Alta.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Vancouver, B. C.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Victoria, B. C.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Edmonton, Alta.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Calgary, Alta.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Vancouver, B. C.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Victoria, B. C.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Calgary, Alta.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Vancouver, B. C.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Victoria, B. C.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Calgary, Alta.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Vancouver, B. C.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Victoria, B. C.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Calgary, Alta.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Vancouver, B. C.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Victoria, B. C.										10-11	6 Yes	10 00-12 00	14 00-18 00	50	10	38	30	28	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0	2.0
Calgary, Alta.

1) Portsmouth, O.	7	1) Fair
2) Canton, Ill.	7	Good
3) Nelson, B. C., Can.	7	Fair
4) Indianapolis, Ind.	7	Good
5) Poughkeepsie, N. Y.	7	Fair
6) Mojave, Cal.	7	Poor
7) Pensacola, Fla.	7	Fair
8) Altoona, Pa.	7	Fair
9) Spokane, Wash.	7	Fair
10) Salem, Ore.	7	Fair
11) Everett, Wash.	7	Fair
12) Madison, Wis.	7	Fair
13) Middletown, Conn.	7	Fair
14) Victoria, B. C., Can.	7	Fair
15) Elkinsburg, Wash.	7	Fair
16) Tucson, Ariz.	7	Fair
17) Springfield, Mo.	7	Fair
18) Elm, Wash.	7	Fair
19) Wilmington, Del.	7	Fair
20) Milwaukee, Wis.	7	Fair
21) Ottumwa, Ia.	7	Fair
22) Spokane, Wash.	7	Fair
23) Jersey City, N. J.	7	Fair
24) Atlantic City, N. J.	7	Fair
25) New Rochelle, N. Y.	7	Fair
26) Brainerd, Minn.	7	Fair
27) Lewistown, Mont.	7	Fair
28) Yonkers, N. Y.	7	Fair
29) Fort Wayne, Ind.	7	Fair
30) Chicago, Ill.	7	Fair
31) Globe, Ariz.	7	Fair
32) Vancouver, B. C., Can.	7	Fair
33) Owatonna, Ia.	7	Fair
34) Fort Dodge, Ia.	7	Fair
35) Willmar, Minn.	7	Fair
36) Terre Haute, Ind.	7	Fair
37) Chicago, Ill.	7	Fair
38) Kenosha, Wis.	7	Fair
39) Milwaukee, Mont.	7	Fair
40) Helena, Mont.	7	Fair
41) Dubuque, Ia.	7	Fair
42) Branford, Conn.	7	Fair
43) Chicago, Ill.	7	Fair
44) Jefferson City, Mo.	7	Fair
45) Peru, Ind.	7	Fair
46) Baltimore, Md.	7	Fair
47) Springfield, Ill.	7	Fair
48) Helena, Mont.	7	Fair
49) Garry, Ind.	7	Fair
50) Kekokuk, Ia.	7	Fair
51) Lakeland, Ariz.	7	Fair
52) Hamilton, Mont.	7	Fair
53) Rafael, Cal.	7	Fair
54) Nashville, Tenn.	7	Fair
55) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
56) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
57) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
58) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
59) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
60) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
61) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
62) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
63) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
64) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
65) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
66) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
67) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
68) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
69) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
70) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
71) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
72) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
73) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
74) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
75) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
76) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
77) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
78) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
79) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
80) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
81) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
82) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
83) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
84) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
85) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
86) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
87) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
88) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
89) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
90) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
91) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
92) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
93) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
94) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
95) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
96) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
97) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
98) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
99) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
100) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
101) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
102) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
103) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
104) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
105) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
106) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
107) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
108) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
109) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
110) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
111) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
112) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
113) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
114) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
115) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
116) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
117) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
118) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
119) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
120) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
121) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
122) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
123) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
124) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
125) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
126) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
127) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
128) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
129) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
130) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
131) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
132) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
133) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
134) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
135) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
136) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
137) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
138) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
139) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
140) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
141) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
142) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
143) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
144) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
145) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
146) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
147) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
148) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
149) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
150) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
151) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
152) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
153) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
154) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
155) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
156) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
157) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
158) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
159) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
160) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
161) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
162) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
163) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
164) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
165) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
166) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
167) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
168) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
169) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
170) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
171) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
172) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
173) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
174) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
175) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
176) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
177) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
178) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
179) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
180) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
181) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
182) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
183) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
184) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
185) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
186) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
187) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
188) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
189) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
190) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
191) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
192) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
193) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
194) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
195) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
196) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
197) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
198) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
199) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
200) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
201) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
202) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
203) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
204) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
205) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
206) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
207) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
208) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
209) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
210) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
211) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
212) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
213) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
214) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
215) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
216) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
217) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
218) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
219) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
220) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
221) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
222) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
223) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
224) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
225) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
226) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
227) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
228) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
229) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
230) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
231) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
232) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
233) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
234) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
235) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
236) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
237) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
238) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
239) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
240) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
241) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
242) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
243) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
244) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
245) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
246) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
247) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
248) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
249) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
250) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
251) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
252) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
253) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
254) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
255) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
256) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
257) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
258) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
259) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
260) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
261) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
262) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
263) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
264) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
265) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
266) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
267) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
268) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
269) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
270) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
271) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
272) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
273) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
274) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
275) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
276) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
277) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
278) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
279) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
280) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
281) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
282) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
283) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
284) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
285) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
286) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
287) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
288) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
289) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
290) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
291) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
292) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
293) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
294) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
295) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
296) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
297) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
298) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
299) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
300) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
301) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
302) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
303) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
304) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
305) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
306) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
307) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
308) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
309) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
310) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
311) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
312) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
313) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
314) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
315) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
316) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
317) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
318) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
319) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
320) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
321) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
322) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
323) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
324) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
325) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
326) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
327) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
328) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
329) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
330) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
331) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
332) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
333) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
334) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
335) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
336) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
337) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
338) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
339) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
340) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
341) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
342) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
343) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
344) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
345) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
346) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
347) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
348) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
349) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
350) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
351) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
352) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
353) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
354) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
355) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
356) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
357) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
358) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
359) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
360) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
361) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
362) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
363) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
364) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
365) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
366) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
367) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
368) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
369) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
370) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
371) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
372) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
373) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
374) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
375) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
376) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
377) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
378) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
379) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
380) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
381) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
382) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
383) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
384) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
385) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
386) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
387) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
388) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
389) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
390) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
391) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
392) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
393) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
394) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
395) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
396) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
397) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
398) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
399) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
400) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
401) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
402) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
403) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
404) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
405) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
406) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
407) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
408) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
409) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
410) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
411) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
412) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
413) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
414) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
415) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
416) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
417) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
418) Bernardino, Calif.	7	Fair
419) Sacramento, Calif.	7	Fair
420) McAlpine, Pa.	7	Fair
421) North Yakima, Wash.	7	Fair
422) Olympia, Wash.	7	Fair
423) Salida, Colo.	7	Fair
424) Bernardino, Calif.	7	F

Local Number	LOCATION	Number Won	Comprised	Lost	Number Member	In Wages per Week	Worsted	Benefit Member	In Hours Reduction	In Wages per Week	Any Reduction in Wages	Made in Wages Jan. 1, 1913	Benefits Accruing as Result of Organization	In Hours Paid	Average Wages Paid	Amount Approved to Organizations	Sick Fund	Debt Fund	Additional by Intermediary	Excluded by Intermediary	Expended Since Jan. 1, 1913	Relief Dues	Amount of Money in Bank at Date of Report	Stamps on Hand	Reinstatement Due	Initiation Fee	Relief Statement Fee	Debts Since Jan. 1, 1913	Relief Dues Since Jan. 1, 1913	Condition of Trade Since Jan. 1, 1913
Strikes Since Jan. 1, 1913	Persons Involved	Total Gains	Local Number	Number Won	Comprised	Lost	Number Member	In Wages per Week	Worsted	Benefit Member	In Hours Reduction	Any Reduction in Wages	Made in Wages Jan. 1, 1913	Benefits Accruing as Result of Organization	In Hours Paid	Average Wages Paid	Amount Approved to Organizations	Sick Fund	Debt Fund	Additional by Intermediary	Excluded by Intermediary	Expended Since Jan. 1, 1913	Relief Dues	Amount of Money in Bank at Date of Report	Stamps on Hand	Reinstatement Due	Initiation Fee	Relief Statement Fee	Debts Since Jan. 1, 1913	Relief Dues Since Jan. 1, 1913	Condition of Trade Since Jan. 1, 1913
463	Mobile, Ala.	12	9-10	6 Yes	* 50.00	* 50.00	30	24	30	125.00	50.00	1	10.00	1	1.00	$ 1.00	75	518.53	120	57.2	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
466	Fresno, Calif.	12	9-11	7 Yes	* 55.00	* 55.00	35	21	21	125.00	50.00	1	15.00	1	1.00	$ 1.00	75	84.15	57.2	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
467	Olympia, Wash.	12	8-11	7 No	* 30.00	-40.00	30	9	9	125.00	24.00	2	19	2	1.00	$ 1.00	75	224.25	46	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
468	Gillespie, Ill.	12	9-10	7 No	* 12.00	-20.00	30	15	15	125.00	20.00	1	12	12	1.00	$ 1.00	75	121.66	50	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
469	Harrisburg, Pa.	12	10-12	6 Yes	10.00	-15.00	30	4	120	125.00	10.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	179.00	103.5	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
470	Stockton, Cal.	12	9-10	7 Yes	9.00	-21.00	30	30	20	125.00	10.00	1	25	25	1.00	$ 1.00	75	100.00	277.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
471	Springfield, Ill.	12	10-12	6 Yes	10.7	10.7	30	18	18	125.00	10.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	543.00	318.6	31	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
472	Duluth, Minn.	12	9-10	6 Yes	15.00	15.00	30	131	44	125.00	15.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	329.81	320.10	10	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
473	Jersey City, N. J.	12	8-12	6 No	* 15.00	-20.00	30	12	8	125.00	15.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	50.00	50.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
474	San Jose, Cal.	12	9-12	6 Yes	* 50.00	* 75.00	30	21	21	125.00	20.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	480.64	266.00	85.3	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
475	Phoenix, Ariz.	12	10-12	6 Yes	14.00	-6.00	30	21	21	125.00	12.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	279.65	75.25	2.1	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
476	Palestine, Tex.	12	9-10	6 Yes	12.00	15.00	30	6	200	125.00	10.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	293.25	45.5	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
477	Richmond, Va.	12	9-10	6 Yes	15.00	20.00	30	3	200	125.00	15.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	9.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
478	Montpelier, Vt.	12	9-10	6 Yes	14.00	18.00	30	26	1	125.00	15.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	450.00	100.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
479	Charleston, W. Va.	12	9-10	6 Yes	21.00	21.00	30	11	11	125.00	21.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	133.70	25.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
480	Bozeman, Mont.	12	9-12	6 Yes	* 40.00	* 40.00	30	10	7	110.40	267.50	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	28.50	75.75	2.1	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
481	Fond du Lac, Wis.	12	9-10	6 Yes	14.00	14.00	30	22	20	125.00	20.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	500.00	40.00	2	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
482	San Pedro, Cal.	12	9-10	6 Yes	12.00	12.00	30	12	12	125.00	12.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	555.15	130.5	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
483	Alvarado, Ark.	12	9-10	6 Yes	15.00	20.00	30	90	50	125.00	25.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	450.00	100.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
484	Superior, Wis.	12	9-10	6 Yes	18.00	20.00	30	8	7	125.00	18.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	216.80	56.12	3	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
485	Bisbee, Ariz.	12	9-10	6 Yes	13.00	13.00	30	13	13	125.00	13.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	255.13	230.2	3	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
486	Grand Forks, Minn.	12	9-10	6 Yes	16.00	21.00	30	27	7	125.00	25.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	178.11	21.21	8	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
487	Sacramento, Cal.	12	9-10	6 Yes	17.00	21.00	30	32	14	125.00	237.50	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	10.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
488	Freeport, Ill.	12	9-10	6 Yes	15.00	20.00	30	22	2	125.00	20.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	269.00	30.00	8	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
489	Salem, O.	12	9-10	6 Yes	* 15.00	* 3.00	30	53	53	125.00	100.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	1,047.00	90.00	8	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
490	Great Falls, Mont.	12	9-10	6 Yes	9.00	-35.00	30	11	12	125.00	37.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	161.70	339.21	6	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
491	Helena, Mont.	12	9-10	6 Yes	10.00	15.00	30	15	15	125.00	15.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	120.00	50.00	5	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
492	Barberton, O.	12	9-10	6 Yes	* 4.00	27.00	30	11	6	125.00	27.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	25.75	120.00	50	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
493	Miami, Ariz.	12	9-10	6 Yes	8.00	8.00	30	12	6	125.00	8.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	15.00	16.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
494	Sacramento, Cal.	12	8-10	7 No	9.00	-17.00	30	8	7	125.00	17.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	50.00	21.00	67	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
495	North Yakima, Wash.	12	11	6 Yes	17.50	17.50	30	52	8	125.00	145.25	3	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
496	Walla Walla, Wash.	12	12	7 Yes	15.00	17.50	30	11	12	125.00	40.00	2	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	50.00	100.00	2	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
497	Cairo, Ill.	12	10	7 Yes	15.00	17.50	30	11	12	125.00	40.00	2	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	20.00	100.00	2	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
498	Perris, Calif.	12	10	6 Yes	12.00	12.00	30	10	6	125.00	12.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	34.50	85.00	2	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
499	Phoenix, Ariz.	12	10	6 Yes	* 2.50	18.00	30	15	22	125.00	18.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	7.50	7.50	7.50	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
500	Kalispell, Mont.	12	10	6 Yes	10.00	-12.00	30	12	6	125.00	12.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
501	Nashua, N. H.	12	10	6 Yes	14.00	14.00	30	8	8	125.00	14.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	9.25	75	75	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
502	Moline, Ill.	12	10	6 Yes	14.00	14.00	30	25	15	125.00	14.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	225.00	60.00	3	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
503	Newburg, N. Y.	12	12	6 Yes	12.00	12.00	30	17	4	125.00	12.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	34.50	85.00	2	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
504	Concord, N. H.	12	12	6 Yes	12.00	12.00	30	17	4	125.00	12.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	20.00	120.00	9	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
505	Patterson, N. J.	12	12	6 Yes	12.00	12.00	30	17	4	125.00	12.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	24.40	70.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
506	Sparta, Wash.	12	10	6 Yes	17.00	17.00	30	10	6	125.00	17.00	1	20	20	1.00	$ 1.00	75	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Fair	Good	Good	Good	Good	Good	Fair
507	McMurry, M. O.	12	10	6 Yes	17.00	17.00	30	1

657	Cheyenne, Wyo.	100	Fair
658	Christopher, Ill.	100	Good
659	Dallas, Tex.	100	Poor
660	LaSalle, Ill.	100	Fair
661	Roanoke, Va.	100	Poor
662	Macon, Ga.	100	Good
663	Covington, Ky.	100	Poor
664	Glenlive, Mont.	100	Good
665	Edmonton, Alta., Can.	100	Good
666	West Ranch, Wash.	100	Poor
670	Beardstown, Ill.	100	Fair
672	Paragould, Ark.	100	Poor
673	San Bernardino, Cal.	100	Fair
674	Winnipeg, Man., Can.	100	Poor
675	Vancouver, B.C., Can.	100	Good
676	Berlin, N. H.	100	Poor
677	Muncie, Ind.	100	Poor
678	Kingsley-Wardner, Ida.	100	Poor
679	Elizabethtown, N. J.	100	Good
680	Monongahela, Pa.	100	Poor
681	Burlington, Vt.	100	Poor
682	Owensboro, Ky.	100	Poor
683	Clinton, Ill.	100	Poor
684	Norfolk, Va.	100	Poor
685	North Walpole, N. H.	100	Poor
686	Rutland, Vt.	100	Poor
687	Kensington, Ill.	100	Poor
688	Raymond, Wash.	100	Poor
689	Rockville, Conn.	100	Poor
690	Tacoma, Wash.	100	Poor
691	Clifton, Ariz.	100	Poor
692	New York City, N. Y.	100	Poor
693	Salt Lake City, Utah.	100	Poor
694	Wallia, Walla, Wash.	100	Poor
695	Waco, Tex.	100	Poor
696	Gatlinburg, Tenn.	100	Poor
697	Anacosta, Mont.	100	Poor
698	Port Arthur, Ont., Can.	100	Poor
699	Fl. William, Ont., Can.	100	Poor
700	Rochester, N. Y.	100	Poor
701	Tampa, Fla.	100	Poor
702	Pasco, Wash.	100	Poor
703	Jackson, Miss.	100	Poor
704	Winnipeg, Man., Can.	100	Poor
705	San Diego, Calif.	100	Poor
706	Houma, Wash.	100	Poor
707	Aberdeen, Wash.	100	Poor
708	New Westminster, B. C., Can.	100	Poor
709	Abdeen, Wash.	100	Poor
710	Coeur d'Alene, Mont.	100	Poor
711	Port Chester, N. Y.	100	Poor
712	Cloud, Minn.	100	Poor
713	Victoria, B. C., Can.	100	Poor
714	Salt Lake City, Utah.	100	Poor
715	Elma, Wash.	100	Poor
716	Taylorville, Ill.	100	Poor
717	Houma, Wash.	100	Poor
718	Corning, Ky.	100	Poor
719	Deer Lodge, Mont.	100	Poor
720	Marion, Ill.	100	Poor
721	Elkhorn, Wash.	100	Poor
722	Port Chester, N. Y.	100	Poor
723	Cloud, Minn.	100	Poor
724	Victoria, B. C., Can.	100	Poor
725	Salt Lake City, Utah.	100	Poor
726	No.	100	Poor
727	No.	100	Poor
728	No.	100	Poor
729	No.	100	Poor
730	No.	100	Poor
731	No.	100	Poor
732	No.	100	Poor
733	No.	100	Poor
734	No.	100	Poor
735	No.	100	Poor
736	No.	100	Poor
737	No.	100	Poor
738	No.	100	Poor
739	No.	100	Poor
740	No.	100	Poor
741	No.	100	Poor
742	No.	100	Poor
743	No.	100	Poor
744	No.	100	Poor
745	No.	100	Poor
746	No.	100	Poor
747	No.	100	Poor
748	No.	100	Poor
749	No.	100	Poor
750	No.	100	Poor
751	No.	100	Poor
752	No.	100	Poor
753	No.	100	Poor
754	No.	100	Poor
755	No.	100	Poor
756	No.	100	Poor
757	No.	100	Poor
758	No.	100	Poor
759	No.	100	Poor
760	No.	100	Poor
761	No.	100	Poor
762	No.	100	Poor
763	No.	100	Poor
764	No.	100	Poor
765	No.	100	Poor
766	No.	100	Poor
767	No.	100	Poor
768	No.	100	Poor
769	No.	100	Poor
770	No.	100	Poor
771	No.	100	Poor
772	No.	100	Poor
773	No.	100	Poor
774	No.	100	Poor
775	No.	100	Poor
776	No.	100	Poor
777	No.	100	Poor
778	No.	100	Poor
779	No.	100	Poor
780	No.	100	Poor
781	No.	100	Poor
782	No.	100	Poor
783	No.	100	Poor
784	No.	100	Poor
785	No.	100	Poor
786	No.	100	Poor
787	No.	100	Poor
788	No.	100	Poor
789	No.	100	Poor
790	No.	100	Poor
791	No.	100	Poor
792	No.	100	Poor
793	No.	100	Poor
794	No.	100	Poor
795	No.	100	Poor
796	No.	100	Poor
797	No.	100	Poor
798	No.	100	Poor
799	No.	100	Poor
800	No.	100	Poor
801	No.	100	Poor
802	No.	100	Poor
803	No.	100	Poor
804	No.	100	Poor
805	No.	100	Poor
806	No.	100	Poor
807	No.	100	Poor
808	No.	100	Poor
809	No.	100	Poor
810	No.	100	Poor
811	No.	100	Poor
812	No.	100	Poor
813	No.	100	Poor
814	No.	100	Poor
815	No.	100	Poor
816	No.	100	Poor
817	No.	100	Poor
818	No.	100	Poor
819	No.	100	Poor
820	No.	100	Poor
821	No.	100	Poor
822	No.	100	Poor
823	No.	100	Poor
824	No.	100	Poor
825	No.	100	Poor
826	No.	100	Poor
827	No.	100	Poor
828	No.	100	Poor
829	No.	100	Poor
830	No.	100	Poor
831	No.	100	Poor
832	No.	100	Poor
833	No.	100	Poor
834	No.	100	Poor
835	No.	100	Poor
836	No.	100	Poor
837	No.	100	Poor
838	No.	100	Poor
839	No.	100	Poor
840	No.	100	Poor
841	No.	100	Poor
842	No.	100	Poor
843	No.	100	Poor
844	No.	100	Poor
845	No.	100	Poor
846	No.	100	Poor
847	No.	100	Poor
848	No.	100	Poor
849	No.	100	Poor
850	No.	100	Poor
851	No.	100	Poor
852	No.	100	Poor
853	No.	100	Poor
854	No.	100	Poor
855	No.	100	Poor
856	No.	100	Poor
857	No.	100	Poor
858	No.	100	Poor
859	No.	100	Poor
860	No.	100	Poor
861	No.	100	Poor
862	No.	100	Poor
863	No.	100	Poor
864	No.	100	Poor
865	No.	100	Poor
866	No.	100	Poor
867	No.	100	Poor
868	No.	100	Poor
869	No.	100	Poor
870	No.	100	Poor
871	No.	100	Poor
872	No.	100	Poor
873	No.	100	Poor
874	No.	100	Poor
875	No.	100	Poor
876	No.	100	Poor
877	No.	100	Poor
878	No.	100	Poor
879	No.	100	Poor
880	No.	100	Poor
881	No.	100	Poor
882	No.	100	Poor
883	No.	100	Poor
884	No.	100	Poor
885	No.	100	Poor
886	No.	100	Poor
887	No.	100	Poor
888	No.	100	Poor
889	No.	100	Poor
890	No.	100	Poor
891	No.	100	Poor
892	No.	100	Poor
893	No.	100	Poor
894	No.	100	Poor
895	No.	100	Poor
896	No.	100	Poor
897	No.	100	Poor
898	No.	100	Poor
899	No.	100	Poor
900	No.	100	Poor
901	No.	100	Poor
902	No.	100	Poor
903	No.	100	Poor
904	No.	100	Poor
905	No.	100	Poor
906	No.	100	Poor
907	No.	100	Poor
908	No.	100	Poor
909	No.	100	Poor
910	No.	100	Poor
911	No.	100	Poor
912	No.	100	Poor
913	No.	100	Poor
914	No.	100	Poor
915	No.	100	Poor
916	No.	100	Poor
917	No.	100	Poor
918	No.	100	Poor
919	No.	100	Poor
920	No.	100	Poor
921	No.	100	Poor
922	No.	100	Poor
923	No.	100	Poor
924	No.	100	Poor
925	No.	100	Poor
926	No.	100	Poor
927	No.	100	Poor
928	No.	100	Poor
929	No.	100	Poor
930	No.	100	Poor
931	No.	100	Poor
932	No.	100	Poor
933	No.	100	Poor
934	No.	100	Poor
935	No.	100	Poor
936	No.	100	Poor
937	No.	100	Poor
938	No.	100	Poor
939	No.	100	Poor
940	No.	100	Poor
941	No.	100	Poor
942	No.	100	Poor
943	No.	100	Poor
944	No.	100	Poor
945	No.	100	Poor
946	No.	100	Poor
947	No.	100	Poor
948	No.	100	Poor
949	No.	100	Poor
950	No.	100	Poor
951	No.	100	Poor
952	No.	100	Poor
953	No.	100	Poor
954	No.	100	Poor
955	No.	100	Poor
956	No.	100	Poor
957	No.	100	Poor
958	No.	100	Poor
959	No.	100	Poor
960	No.	100	Poor
961	No.	100	Poor
962	No.	100	Poor
963	No.	100	Poor
964	No.	100	Poor
965	No.	100	Poor
966	No.	100	Poor
967	No.	100	Poor
968	No.	100	Poor
969	No.	100	Poor
970	No.	100	Poor
971	No.	100	Poor
972	No.	100	Poor
973	No.	100	Poor
974	No.	100	Poor
975	No.	100	Poor
976	No.	100	Poor
977	No.	100	Poor
978	No.	100	Poor
979	No.	100	Poor
980	No.	100	Poor
981	No.	100	Poor
982	No.	100	Poor
983	No.	100	Poor
984	No.	100	Poor
985	No.	100	Poor
986	No.	100	Poor
987	No.	100	Poor
988	No.	100	Poor
989	No.	100	Poor
990	No.	100	Poor
991	No.	100	Poor
992	No.	100	Poor
993	No.	100	Poor
994	No.	100	Poor
995	No.	100	Poor
996	No.	100	Poor
997	No.	100	Poor
998	No.	100	Poor
999	No.	100	Poor
1000	No.	100	Poor
1001	No.	100	Poor
1002	No.	100	Poor
1003	No.	100	Poor
1004	No.	100	Poor
1005	No.	100	Poor
1006	No.	100	Poor
1007	No.	100	Poor
1008	No.	100	Poor
1009	No.	100	Poor
1010	No.	100	Poor
1011	No.	100	Poor
1012	No.	100	Poor
1013	No.	100	Poor
1014	No.	100	Poor
1015	No.	100	Poor
1016	No.	100	Poor
1017	No.	100	Poor
1018	No.	100	Poor
1019	No.	100	Poor
1020	No.	100	Poor
1021	No.	100	Poor
1022	No.	100	Poor
1023	No.	100	Poor
1024	No.	100	Poor
1025	No.	100	Poor
1026	No.	100	Poor
1027	No.	100	Poor
1028	No.	100	Poor
1029	No.	100	Poor
1030	No.	100	Poor
1031	No.	100	Poor
1032	No.	100	Poor
1033	No.	100	Poor
1034	No.	100	Poor
1035	No.	100	Poor
1036	No.	100	Poor
1037	No.	100	Poor
1038	No.	100	Poor
1039	No.	100	Poor
1040	No.	100

* Per month. † Per day. ¶ And back dues. § Payment of back dues.

ପ୍ରକାଶକ କରିବ
ମୁଦ୍ରଣ କରିବ
ପ୍ରକାଶକ କରିବ
ମୁଦ୍ରଣ କରିବ

gle

STATISTICAL TABLE COMPILED FROM CONDENSED REPORTS BY OUR LOCAL UNIONS FOR THE PERIOD JAN. 1, 1914, TO JAN. 1, 1915.

LOCATION	Strikes Since Jan. 1, 1914	Persons Involved	Total Gains	Number Won	Complaints Lost	In Wages	In Reductions	Worsted Member Benefits	In Wages per Member Week	Any Reduction in Wages	Made Reduction in Wages	Benefits Accruing as Result of Organization	Cost of Strikes Since Jan. 1, 1914	Practices by International Federation	Average Hours Worked per Day	In Hours Worked	With Board	Without Board	Union Houses in Jurisdiction	Non-members Followed	Trade in Cities	Non-members Followed	Trade in Cities	Sick Fund	Debt Fund	Excise Duty International	Amount of Money in Bank at Date of Report	Reinstatement Fee	Monthly Dues	Amount of Money in Bank at Date of Report	Reinstatement Fee	Monthly Dues	Stamp on Hand	Condition of Trade Since
1 New York City, N. Y.	3	1	1	2	35	6	29	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	10	7	Yes	15.00	18.00	490.00	800.00	8	5.00	75	59.32	789.4	1.00	789.4	1.00	Poor
2 Brooklyn, N. Y.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	10	6	Yes	15.00	18.00	105.500	250.00	7	10.00	1.00	12.25	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Bad
3 New York City, N. Y.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	12	7	Yes	14.00	18.00	130.00	180.00	2	6.00	6.00	6.00	6.00	6.00	6.00	6.00	6.00	Poor
4 Hoboken, N. J.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	12	6	Yes	15.00	20.00	25.00	50.00	3	3.25	75	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
5 Boston, Mass.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	10	6	Yes	15.00	20.00	365.00	500.00	10	10.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
6 Denver, Colo.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	12	13	No	6.00	10.00	45.00	100.00	5	9.00	9.00	9.00	9.00	9.00	9.00	9.00	9.00	Poor
7 Hoboken, N. J.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	10	6	Yes	13.00	18.00	60.00	100.00	10	12.50	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
8 New York City, N. Y.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	10	6	Yes	8.50	12.00	35.00	50.00	19	12.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
9 San Antonio, Tex.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	10	7	Yes	14.00	21.00	14.00	20.00	10	12.50	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
10 Denver, Colo.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	10	7	Yes	10.00	17.00	7.00	15.00	10	12.50	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
11 Los Angeles, Cal.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	11	7	Yes	21.00	30.00	36.00	45.00	27	14.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
12 Denver, Colo.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	11	7	Yes	11.00	18.00	27.00	30.00	60	16.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
13 Kansas City, Mo.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	10	6	Yes	10.00	18.00	20.00	25.00	60	10.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
14 St. Louis, Mo.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	10	6	Yes	10.00	18.00	20.00	25.00	60	10.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
15 Cripple Creek, Colo.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	15	15	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
16 Los Angeles, Cal.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	10	7	Yes	14.00	21.00	10.00	15.00	60	10.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
17 Vancouver, B. C.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	10	7	Yes	10.00	17.00	7.00	15.00	60	10.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
18 Bronx, N. Y.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	10	6	Yes	12.00	18.00	50.00	100.00	60	10.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
19 San Francisco, Cal.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	11	11	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
20 Oakland, Cal.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	10	6	Yes	10.00	18.00	40.00	70.00	60	10.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
21 Seattle, Wash.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	10	6	Yes	12.00	18.00	20.00	30.00	60	10.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
22 Chicago, Ill.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	10	6	Yes	12.00	18.00	20.00	30.00	60	10.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
23 Sharon, Pa.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	10	6	Yes	12.00	18.00	20.00	30.00	60	10.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
24 Decatur, Ill., Ind.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	10	6	Yes	12.00	18.00	20.00	30.00	60	10.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
25 Hammond, Ind.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	10	6	Yes	12.00	18.00	20.00	30.00	60	10.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
26 Dunkirk, N. Y.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	10	6	Yes	12.00	18.00	20.00	30.00	60	10.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
27 San Francisco, Cal.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	10	6	Yes	12.00	18.00	20.00	30.00	60	10.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
28 Philadelphia, Pa.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	10	6	Yes	12.00	18.00	20.00	30.00	60	10.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
29 San Francisco, Calif.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	10	6	Yes	12.00	18.00	20.00	30.00	60	10.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
30 Milwaukee, Alta., Can.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	14	14	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
31 Milwaukee, Wisc.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	15	15	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
32 Racine, Wisc.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	15	15	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
33 Davenport, Iowa								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	15	15	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
34 Galveston, Tex.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	15	15	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
35 Brooklyn, N. Y.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	15	15	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
36 Spokane, Wash.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	15	15	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
37 Milwaukee, Wis.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	15	15	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
38 Cincinnati, O.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	15	15	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
39 Elkhart, Ind.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	15	15	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
40 Syracuse, N. Y.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	15	15	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
41 Boston, Mass.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	15	15	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
42 Uniontown, Pa.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	15	15	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
43 Connellsville, Pa.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	15	15	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	Poor
44 Cincinnati, O.								No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	No	15	15	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00

Condition of Trade Since Jan. 1, 1914
Strikes Since Jan. 1, 1914	Persons Involved	Total Gains	Any Reduction in Wages	Made Since Jan. 1, 1914	In Hours	In Wages	In Hours	Days in Working Week	Cost of Strikes since Jan. 1, 1914	Excessive of Appr.- priations by Interim Committee since Jan. 1, 1914	Average Hours Worked per Day	Officers Bonded	Amount Other Unions Appropriated to Non-members Following Union Houses in Jurisdiction	Non-members Following Union Houses in City	Trade in City	Amount Due Monthly Dues	Amount Due at Date of Meeting in Bank	Relief Statement Fee	Stamps on Hand
70 Louisville, Ky.	Boston, Mass.	120	15.00	100.00	192	150.00	100.00	1	15.00	9.25	75	2,320.00	46	3	Fair	2,500.00	46	3	Fair
80 New Bedford, Mass.	Holyoke, Mass.	100	15.00	60.00	130	180.00	60.00	1	10.00	11.00	75	1,000.00	46	3	Fair	500.00	46	3	Fair
82 Woburn, Mass.	Lowell, Mass.	60	20.00	57	67.25	96.00	3.00	1	12.50	12.50	75	1,000.00	46	3	Fair	500.00	46	3	Fair
84 Taunton, Mass.	Lynn, Mass.	6	18.00	18.00	18	30.00	18.00	1	10.00	12.25	75	1,000.00	46	3	No	760.00	46	3	No
86 Athol, Mass.	Louisville, Ky.	12	15.00	15.00	25	10	5.00	1	25.00	9.25	75	500.00	46	3	Poor	500.00	46	3	Poor
90 Lawrence, Mass.	Newburyport, Mass.	10	15.00	15.00	15	75	17	1	25.00	13.00	75	500.00	46	3	Poor	500.00	46	3	Poor
92 Marlboro, Mass.	Marlboro, Mass.	10	15.00	14.00	14	75	300.00	1,525.00	225.00	3	50.00	75	1,000.00	46	3	Poor	500.00	46	3	Poor
93 Haverhill, Mass.	Worcester, Mass.	10	15.00	14.00	16	1	25.00	230.00	50.00	3	50.00	75	1,000.00	46	3	Quite	500.00	46	3	Quite
96 Milford, Mass.	Pittsburgh, Mass.	10	15.00	16.00	31	15.00	15.00	1	25.00	15.00	75	80.00	46	3	Poor	160.00	46	3	Poor
97 Philadelphia, Pa.	Los Angeles, Cal.	10	15.00	10.00	100	3.00	3.00	1	25.00	15.00	75	2,300.00	46	3	Fair	1,000.00	46	3	Fair
98 Fall River, Mass.	10	15.00	14.00	116	2	100.00	48.00	6	25.00	1.25	75	124.00	46	3	Poor	1,545.97	46	3	Poor
99 New Bedford, Mass.	10	15.00	18.00	76	200.00	200.00	4	25.00	12.00	75	1,000.00	46	3	Poor	500.00	46	3	Poor
100 Great Falls, Mont.	10	15.00	12.00	42	6	440.00	440.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	907.55	46	3	Poor	500.00	46	3	Poor
101 Granite City, Ill.	10	15.00	12.00	70	60.00	60.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	850.00	46	3	Poor	1,000.00	46	3	Poor
102 Guelph, Ont., Can.	10	15.00	18.00	12	8	50.00	50.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	125.00	46	3	Poor	350.00	46	3	Poor
103 Cleveland, O.	10	15.00	12.00	32	50	40.00	47.50	150.00	3	10.00	12.00	1,000.00	46	3	Poor	1,324.55	46	3	Poor
104 Toledo, O.	10	15.00	12.00	10	7	6.00	6.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	132.68	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
105 Cincinnati, O.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	14.00	14.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	130.68	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
106 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	18.00	18.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
107 Cleveland, O.	10	15.00	12.00	10	7	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
108 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
109 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
110 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
111 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
112 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
113 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
114 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
115 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
116 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
117 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
118 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
119 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
120 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
121 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
122 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
123 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
124 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
125 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
126 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
127 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
128 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
129 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
130 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
131 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
132 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
133 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
134 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
135 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
136 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
137 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
138 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
139 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
140 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
141 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
142 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
143 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
144 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
145 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
146 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
147 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00	46	3	Poor
148 Newark, N. J.	10	15.00	12.00	10	6	12.00	12.00	10.00	1	25.00	1.25	75	120.00	46	3	Poor	1,100.00

Condition of Trade Since Jan. 1, 1914
Strikes Since Jan. 1, 1914	Persons Involved	Total Gains	Made Since Jan. 1, 1914	Cost of Strikes Since Jan. 1, 1914
				In Wages			In Hours			Average Hours Worked per Day			Injuries from Strikes of Apparatus
LOCATION	Number Lost Comprised	Won Won Wounded	Benefits Accruing as Result of Organ- ization	Days in Working Week	Officers Bonded	With Board	Without Board	Union Houses in Jurisdiction	Non-members Following Trade in City	Other Unions Approved to Sick Fund	Excluded Funds Allowed by State Amt.	Details Since Jan. 1, 1914	Initiation Fee	Refund Statement Due	Amount of Money in Bank at Date of Report
3 Alton, Ill.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	12 00-15 00	40 00	30 00	75 00	1	20 00	100 00	1	127 64	126 16	127 64
4 New York, N. Y.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	18 00	15 00	2	15 00	15 00	2	95 00	93 25	95 00
5 South Bend, Ind.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	20 00	20 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
6 Des Moines, Ia.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	20 00	20 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
7 Birmingham, Ala.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	22 50	22 50	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
8 St. Louis, Mo.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	4 00-6 00	* 60 00	3 00	3 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
9 Centralia, Ill.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	12 00	12 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
10 Mansfield, O.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
11 Alliance, O.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	18 00	18 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
12 Waterbury, Conn.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	18 00	18 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
13 Danbury, Conn.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	18 00	18 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
14 Sayre, Pa.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
15 Bradford, Pa.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
16 New Castle, Pa.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
17 Camden, N. J.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
18 Kansas City, Mo.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
19 South Norwalk, Conn.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
20 Clinton, Mass.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
21 Springfield, Mass.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
22 Marshalltown, Ia.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
23 New Brighton, Pa.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
24 Philadelphia, Pa.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
25 Toronto, Ont., Can.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
26 Pueblo, Colo.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
27 Torrington, Conn.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
28 Los Angeles, Cal.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
29 Providence, R. I.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
30 Peoria, Ill.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
31 St. Paul, Minn.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
32 Fremont, Neb.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
33 Wallace, Idaho	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
34 Wheeling, W. Va.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
35 Peterboro, Ont., Can.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
36 Newark, N. J.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
37 Douglass, Ariz.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
38 Rigway, Pa.	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
39 Wallace, Idaho	1	1	1	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
40 Toronto, Ont., Can.	2	2	2	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
41 Brattleboro, Vt.	2	2	2	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
42 Hartford, Conn.	2	2	2	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
43 Wayne, Ind.	2	2	2	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
44 International Falls, Minn.	2	2	2	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
45 Chattanooga, Tenn.	2	2	2	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
46 Little Rock, Ark.	2	2	2	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
47 Montreal, Can.	2	2	2	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
48 Amherst, Colo.	2	2	2	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
49 Jackson, Fla.	2	2	2	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
50 Petram, Conn.	2	2	2	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00
51 Saugerties, N. Y.	2	2	2	10 6 Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	1	15 00	15 00	1	90 00	89 40	90 00

Local Number	LOCATION	Number	Compromised Won	Lost	Wages per Member	Total Gains	Persons Involved	Strikes Since Jan. 1, 1914	Benefits Accruing as Result of Organization	In Wages	In Reduction of Hours	In Wages	Any Reduction in Wages Since Jan. 1, 1914	Officers Bonded	Average Wages Paid	Union Houses in Jurisdiction	Non-members Following	Trade in City	Amount Appropriated to Other Unions	Sick Fund	Debt Fund	Additional by State Am't	Excluded by International	Expended Since Jan. 1, 1914	Details Since Jan. 1, 1914	Initiation Fee	Membership Dues	Amount of Money in Bank at Date of Report	Condition of Trade Since
420	Wallace, Idaho	427	Missoula, Mont.	12	7	No	† 3.25	10	8%	5.00	35.00	3.00-5.00	3.00-5.00	1.00	248.85	102	6	3	Fair
427	Spokane, Wash.	428	Washington, D. C.	9	6	Yes	* 17.50	10	8%	80.00	75.00	11.00	11.00	2.00	268.45	102	6	3	Fair
428	Portsmouth, O.	429	Middletown, N. Y.	10	6	Yes	10.00	10	8%	60.00	75.00	25.00	25.00	1.00	692.75	46	5	4	Fair
429	Bast Liverpool, O.	430	Middlebury, Vt.	10	6	Yes	15.00	10	8%	230.00	93.50	2.0	2.0	1.00	289.86	75	5	2	Poor
430	Miles City, Mont.	431	Billings, Mont.	9	6	Yes	15.00	10	8%	50.00	50.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	44.00	75	4	8	Fair
431	Nelson, B. C., Can.	432	Rock Springs, Wyo.	9	6	Yes	* 75.00	10	8%	10.00	15.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	56.00	75	20	6	Fair
432	Indianapolis, Ind.	433	Roughnecksite, N. Y.	10	6	Yes	100.00	10	8%	12.00	15.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	80.00	75	20	6	Fair
433	Montreal, Canada	434	Evansville, Ind.	10	7	Yes	* 40.00	10	8%	80.00	100.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	163.00	75	12	3	Fair
434	Peoria, Ill.	435	Stamford, Conn.	10	7	Yes	* 25.00	10	8%	3.00	3.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	33.85	75	20	6	Fair
435	Moore, Okla.	436	Butte, Mont.	9	7	Yes	7.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	232.70	60	20	6	Fair
436	Pensacola, Fla.	437	Altoona, Pa.	8	7	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	294.88	75	27	6	Fair
437	Spokane, Wash.	438	Everett, Wash.	9	6	Yes	15.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	3.61	30	1.05	8	Quite
438	Seattle, Wash.	439	Everett, Wash.	10	6	Yes	15.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
439	Springfield, Mo.	440	Montreal, Canada	10	7	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
440	Elmwood, Pa.	441	Chicago, Ill.	10	7	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
441	Cle Elum, Wash.	442	Shenandoah, Pa.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
442	Macomb, Ga.	443	Wilmington, Del.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
443	Minneapolis, Minn.	444	Victoria, B. C., Can.	10	6	Yes	14.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
444	Madison, Wis.	445	Springfield, Ill.	10	6	Yes	14.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
445	Middleton, Conn.	446	Ellensburg, Wash.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
446	The Dalles, Ore.	447	La Crosse, Wis.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
447	Henderson, Ky.	448	Bellfonte, Pa.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
448	Ottumwa, Iowa	449	Chicago, Ill.	10	7	Yes	11.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
449	Spokane, Wash.	450	Spokane, Wash.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
450	Watertown, N. Y.	451	Watertown, N. Y.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
451	Albion, N. Y.	452	Albion, N. Y.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
452	Wellsboro, Pa.	453	Wellsboro, Pa.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
453	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	454	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
454	Scranton, Pa.	455	Scranton, Pa.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
455	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	456	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
456	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	457	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
457	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	458	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
458	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	459	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
459	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	460	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
460	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	461	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
461	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	462	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
462	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	463	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
463	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	464	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
464	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	465	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
465	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	466	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
466	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	467	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
467	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	468	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
468	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	469	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
469	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	470	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
470	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	471	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
471	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	472	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
472	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	473	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
473	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	474	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
474	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	475	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00
475	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	476	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.	10	6	Yes	12.00	10	8%	1.00	1.00	1.00	1.00

304	Terre Haute, Ind.	... Yes	11 00	15 00	10 00	891 00	350 00	7 12	Fair
305	Montreal, Canada	... Yes	10 00	15 00	10 00	891 00	350 00	7 12	Fair
307	Chicago, Ill.	... No	6 00	15 00	7 00	85 00	90 00	1 25	Fair
313	East Chicago, Ind.	... Yes	9 6	16 00	40 00	30 00	60 00	3 25	Poor
316	Des Moines, Iowa	... Yes	9 6	15 00	18 00	15 00	15 00	1 25	Good
317	Nashville, Tenn.	... Yes	8 6	15 00	20 00	5 1	50 00	1 25	Poor
318	Dodge, Ia.	... Yes	8 6	15 00	22 50	15 00	11 00	1 25	Fair
319	Wilmington, Conn.	... Yes	9 6	15 00	15 00	22 50	145 00	1 25	Good
320	Peru, Ind.	... Yes	9 6	15 00	15 00	15 00	48 00	1 25	Fair
321	Kenosha, Wis.	... Yes	9 6	15 00	15 00	11 00	10 00	1 25	Good
324	Miles City, Mont.	... Yes	9 7	15 00	15 00	15 00	30 00	1 25	Poor
325	Oakland, Cal.	... Yes	2 00	15 00	2 00	7 00	90 00	1 25	Fair
327	Dubuque, Ia.	... Yes	3 00	15 00	10 00	6 00	82 00	1 25	Dull
329	Braintree, Conn.	... Yes	1 50	12	10 00	70 00	67 00	1 25	Good
331	Jefferson, Mo.	... Yes	9 0	12 00	10 00	6 00	60 00	1 25	Fair
332	Baltimore, Md.	... Yes	12 0	12 00	12 00	10 00	10 00	1 25	Good
333	Helena, Mont.	... Yes	8 30	2 12	9 2	7	105 00	1 25	Poor
334	Gary, Ind.	... Yes	10 6	15 00	10 00	7 00	154 00	1 25	Fair
335	Keokuk, Ia.	... Yes	9 6	15 00	9 6	6 00	82 00	1 25	Dull
336	San Rafael, Cal.	... Yes	9 10	12 00	15 00	15 00	10 00	1 25	Fair
337	50%	... Yes	25	15 00	15 00	15 00	25 00	1 25	Good
338	50%	... Yes	15 00	15 00	15 00	15 00	100 00	1 25	Fair
339	50%	... Yes	1 10	10 00	12 00	12 00	48 00	1 25	Fair
340	Richmond, Ind.	... Yes	1 10	10 00	12 00	12 00	48 00	1 25	Fair
341	Waterloo, Iowa	... Yes	1 10	10 00	12 00	12 00	48 00	1 25	Fair
342	Hudson, Tex.	... Yes	10 6	15 00	10 00	10 00	10 00	1 25	Fair
343	Wichita Falls, Tex.	... Yes	8 6	15 00	10 00	10 00	10 00	1 25	Fair
344	Bakersfield, Cal.	... Yes	7 10	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Poor
345	Akron, O.	... Yes	10 6	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
346	Danville, Ill.	... Yes	9 6	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
347	Richmond, Va.	... Yes	1 10	10 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
348	Millville, Pa.	... Yes	11 6	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
349	Newark, N. Y.	... Yes	9 6	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
350	North Yakima, Wash.	... Yes	8 9	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
351	Olympia, Wash.	... Yes	14 12	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
352	Salida, Colo.	... Yes	3 00	14 18	10 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
353	San Bernardino, Cal.	... Yes	3 00	14 18	10 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
354	500 ft. Smith, Ark.	... Yes	10 7	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
355	500 ft. Sacramento, Cal.	... Yes	10 7	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
356	500 ft. Detroit, Mich.	... Yes	10 7	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
357	500 ft. Mobile, Ala.	... Yes	10 7	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
358	500 ft. Fresno, Cal.	... Yes	10 7	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
359	500 ft. Olympia, Wash.	... Yes	10 7	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
360	500 ft. Gillespie, Ill.	... Yes	10 7	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
361	500 ft. Harrisonburg, Pa.	... Yes	10 7	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
362	500 ft. Stockton, Cal.	... Yes	10 7	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
363	500 ft. Springfield, Ill.	... Yes	10 7	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
364	500 ft. Jersey City, N. J.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
365	500 ft. San Jose, Calif.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
366	500 ft. Palestina, Texas	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
367	500 ft. Wimberley, Man., Can.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
368	500 ft. Minneapolis, Minn.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
369	500 ft. Charleston, W. Va.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
370	500 ft. Bogazian, Mont.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
371	500 ft. Fond du Lac, Wis.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
372	500 ft. Pedro, Cal.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
373	500 ft. San Jose, Calif.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
374	500 ft. Wm. Whipple, Man., Can.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
375	500 ft. Minneapolis, Minn.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
376	500 ft. Aransas, Ark.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
377	500 ft. Superior, Wis.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
378	500 ft. Grand Forks, Minn.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
379	500 ft. Duluth, Minn.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
380	500 ft. Perth Amboy, N. J.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
381	500 ft. Sacramento, Cal.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
382	500 ft. Salem, O.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
383	500 ft. Great Falls, Mont.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
384	500 ft. Hazleton, Pa.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
385	500 ft. Lexington, Mo.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
386	500 ft. Gadsden, Ala.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
387	500 ft. Barberville, O.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
388	500 ft. Miami, Ariz.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
389	500 ft. Fort Lauderdale, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
390	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
391	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
392	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
393	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
394	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
395	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
396	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
397	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
398	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
399	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
400	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
401	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
402	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
403	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
404	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
405	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
406	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
407	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
408	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
409	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
410	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
411	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
412	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
413	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
414	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
415	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
416	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
417	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
418	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
419	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
420	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
421	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
422	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
423	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
424	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
425	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
426	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
427	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
428	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
429	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
430	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
431	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
432	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
433	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2	15 00	12 00	12 00	12 00	1 25	Fair
434	500 ft. 14th and 14th, Fla.	... Yes	9 6 1/2

* Per day. * Per month. ¶ And back dues. § Payment of back dues.

¶ And back dues.

* Per m.

CONVENTION AND GENERAL VOTE STATISTICS.

Number of Conventions	Convention City	Date of Convention	Number of Delegates	Number of Locals	Number of Votes	Number of Delegates	Number of Locals	Number of Votes	Highest Referendum	Number of Locals	Number of Votes	Date of Referendum	Membership Convocation	Total Number of Locals	Number of Locals Not Voting	Total Number of Locals	Number of Locals Not Voting	Total Number of Locals	Number of Locals Not Voting	Number of Locals	Number of Votes
1st	New York, N. Y.	Jan. 18-20, 1892	9	9	450	450	700	No Vote	14	14
2d	Chicago, Ill.	May 22-26, 1893	24	* 21	1,200	1,200	3,533	No Vote	35	35
3d	St. Louis, Mo.	Apr. 9-12, 1894	22	* 13	1,100	1,100	1,200	No Vote	36	36
4th	Boston, Mass.	Apr. 8-13, 1895	16	* 13	800	800	1,400	No Vote	28	28
5th	Cincinnati, O.	Apr. 13-15, 1896	18	* 7	900	900	1,000	No Vote	20	20
6th	Detroit, Mich.	Apr. 25-27, 1898	Board of Arbitration, A. F. of L., declared convention illegal	70	900	900	900	No Vote	26	26
7th	Chicago, Ill.	Mar. 6-11, 1899	19	29	43	43	950	990	Oct. 14, 1899	20	912	327	2	22	1	22	1	22	1	22	1	22
	(Seventh General Convention proposals submitted Oct. 1, 1900)				1,239	1,239	1,239	No Vote	Jan. 1, 1900	21	1,640	1,246	2	38	2	38	2	38	2	38	2	38
8th	Cleveland, O.	May 14-18, 1900	19	31	55	2,411	5,340	5,340	May 30, 1900	49	4,545	795	45	94	4	94	4	94	4	94	4	94
9th	St. Louis, Mo.	May 14-18, 1901	46	62	96	5,331	9,522	9,522	June 15, 1901	61	4,702	4,820	119	180	5	180	5	180	5	180	5	180
10th	Louisville, Ky.	May 11-16, 1902	78	107	197	10,231	18,268	18,268	June 15, 1902	120	8,981	9,307	190	310	6	310	6	310	6	310	6	310
11th	Philadelphia, Pa.	May 11-16, 1903	166	233	426	27,452	38,371	38,371	June 15, 1903	171	16,255	22,316	357	528	7	528	7	528	7	528	7	528
12th	Rochester, N. Y.	May 9-14, 1904	197	267	451	30,362	50,430	50,430	June 15, 1904	225	20,475	29,955	434	659	8	659	8	659	8	659	8	659
13th	Kansas City, Mo.	May 8-13, 1905	123	164	321	20,650	39,317	39,317	June 10, 1905	330	22,688	16,619	231	561	9	561	9	561	9	561	9	561
	(Vote for Seven								Sept. 6, 1905	188	13,806	22,429	392	580	10	580	10	580	10	580	10	580
14th	Toledo, O.	Oct. 14-19, 1907	173	238	425	25,088	39,295	39,295	Nov. 14, 1907	394	12,693	26,602	127	521	15	521	15	521	15	521	15	521
15th	Minneapolis, Minn.	May 10-15, 1909	138	187	346	20,388	37,066	37,066	July 25, 1908	355	7,145	30,546	179	534	16	534	16	534	16	534	16	534
16th	Boston, Mass.	May 8-13, 1911	188	270	463	26,012	43,052	43,052	June 15, 1911	408	10,018	27,648	74	492	17	492	17	492	17	492	17	492
17th	Denver, Colo.	June 9-14, 1913	157	229	482	30,456	55,227	55,227	Sept. 14, 1912	437	10,854	37,427	75	512	19	512	19	512	19	512	19	512
									Feb. 25, 1913	503	15,593	37,960	61	564	21	564	21	564	21	564	21	564
									May 25, 1913	480	12,358	42,869	89	569	22	569	22	569	22	569	22	569

* Proxy representation allowed. † Membership exaggerated. ‡ Locals voted by motion "Yes" or "No" to hold convention—§ voting "No".

CONVENTION REPRESENTATION.

In another portion of this report attention is directed to the ever present problem of "non-attendance at meetings," a problem which has engaged the attention of the wisest and brainiest of men for many years, not only in the organizations of labor, but in pretty much all kinds and character of collective activity coming under the head of organization; religious organizations not excepted.

There is quite as pressing a problem confronting us, and that is attendance at our general conventions. Preceding this brief memorandum on the subject, you will find offered for your reference, a Convention and General Vote tabulation which will permit careful analysis and invite deep thought. Comparing the number of locals in existence with the number represented at our conventions will disclose a condition which, it seems, should be changed and an improvement brought about, for logically if it is advantageous to our locals to have all their members attend meetings, similar reasoning would indicate that greater representation at our conventions would be to the advantage of our International Union. Several Internationals make provision for attendance by an additional per capita tax for convention purposes. It might be worth while to give this subject matter over to a Committee to investigate; they could secure from the attending delegates data relative to cost of transportation and per diem allowances, and perhaps reach interesting, if not valuable conclusions. If it were possible to arrange matters so as to make attendance easy on the part of local union representatives, it would undoubtedly enhance legislation enacted by our conventions and dispose of the allegation that we are governed by minorities. The proposition seems worth consideration, hence its presentation for disposition.

SUGGESTIONS.

Your attention is directed to the reading of Section 102, in order that if in the judgment of this convention that section may be amended so as to specify exactly the authority conferred on your general president. Heretofore it has been defined as giving to that official the right to hear and determine "questions of law, to adjustments of difference between members, between locals, or between locals and the parent body." It has been assumed that in granting to the general president the right of hearing such controversies as the provisions of the aforesaid section cover, the right in fact, the duty was imposed that he should render judgment. Judgment may be of any character permissible under our laws; hence penalties imposed by that official are enforceable. A contrary view destroys the very essence of general sections which provide for appeals.

The dominating phrase, "The President Shall," is mandatory, there is no other reasonable definition than that He Shall do as the section sets forth.

If it were not the manifest intention of the framers of that law to bestow on the general president powers of a lower court, why create provisions for an appeal from an authority which it is alleged does not exist. Reconciliation seems necessary in order to satisfy those who question the rights and duties of your general president.

Section 172 usurps the right of appeal of an individual member of the organization: under that section there is but one Court for members charged with wrong doing; while other sections conflict to the extent of offering provisions whereby alleged wrong-doers may secure attention from all the authorities.

Section 167 has been tested for years and one portion of it is so at variance with custom that the wonder is that none of us have noted it and sought to improve its worth. Directing a Court to sit in judgment and making it permissible for the parties to a Case to select one of the Court to act as their legal representative is to say the least, rather far fetched confusion.

That portion of the section referred to, which permits making one of the Judges a representative of an appellor, should be eliminated.

Section 115 as at present constituted prevents your General Executive Board from securing brains and ability if perchance the possessors of such happen to reside or remove to a political section from whence two appointments have already been made. The section was, no doubt, created to prevent an abuse, but it seems to the writer that the days of such expectation have passed never to return.

To the last convention the suggestion was made that a special committee be appointed to take up and consider the following questions:

"Shall a local union be permitted to issue a Union House or Union Bar Card to any establishment wholly or partially owned by Chinamen or Japanese?"

"Shall a local union permit its members to work in any establishment where 'Chinks' or 'Japs' are employed in any department, either as co-worker or indirectly?"

"Shall members so employed be permitted to wear any of the working buttons issued by this organization?"

The question of Asiatics and their employment in the catering industry is not a new problem; here in this section where your convention is being held offers ample opportunity for studying the question.

CONCLUSION.

In the foregoing recital no effort has been made to needlessly occupy your valuable time, for the undersigned has a full appreciation of the magnet which this splendid state and city offers and "bids you enter and feast to the uttermost;" but it seems to me that duty well done is your first consideration and you will remain glued to your task until every problem which confronts you as workers and your organization's future has been scrupulously disposed of.

With that conclusion in mind it seems fitting to briefly refer to a few rather important points which may have escaped your attention. You hardly need be advised of how your organization is constructed, but it seems evident from the harshness of criticism which has been made from time to time, that the "mechanics" of your administrative department are either unknown or purposely overlooked.

The undersigned is frequently accused of failure to perform functions which your laws do not provide for, and as frequently of performing other functions which the laws do not specifically read he should perform. In one breath he is accused of too much activity and in another called to task for failing to use more activity, all depending on the viewpoint of the individual.

Last week he was accused of unexampled control of the destinies of your organization, and before you are through with this gathering, as likely as not you hear and see him crucified for his alleged neglect of innumerable things—excepting possibly—the rise and fall of the tides in San Francisco Bay.

On one side you will be told that he has shown partiality, and on the other side similar accusation—a sort of a "between the devil and the deep sea—damned for doing and damned for not doing" situation.

A casual reference to Section 104 of our International Union laws will disclose the fact that the general secretary-treasurer of our organization has been provided with ample to engage his mind and hand. There are other sections in our book of laws which likewise set forth specific duties which the general secretary-treasurer is required to perform. But despite these innumerable orders and "He Shall," he challenges the production of evidence showing any action which was injurious to the well-being and advancement of our International Union. Here is probably quite as good a place to make an admission as any portion of this report. As your general officer at your general headquarters, there have been several incidents occur for which, so far as the undersigned knows, there was neither law or precedent to be guided by. Those incidents had to do with our membership confronted with bitter antagonism or distress, and in each case, time and conditions surrounding our membership made prompt action imperative—and the action which appealed to me—was taken, and thanks to my colleagues on the general executive board who realized the importance of immediate action, ratified without dissent the expense incurred and action taken.

Before passing on to the "mechanics" of our organization, let me say: "That the cook was never born who could make an omelette without breaking eggs," and no man born of woman can administer the affairs of an organization without occasionally committing error or treading on somebody's toes.

What are the "mechanics" of your organization? As I understand the term, it means the machinery whereby administration is carried on with the least possible delay and a minimum of friction.

Have you provided the necessary machinery for administrative purposes, or have you wilfully ignored repeated urgings to make that machinery as near perfect as your revenues permitted? That may be impertinence from an employe, yet with the knowledge that said employe has no other "boss" to interrogate, he makes bold to ask the question. You have created laws, rules and regulations, you have placed in many sections of your book of laws positive instructions, and you leave the remainder to fate, or take a chance of having an official who will endeavor to be all things and do all things as far as his strength and ability permits. If perchance, he succeeds in his undertakings, everybody is satisfied. If he falls down and faces failure, everybody, at least the unthinking, blame him for defeat.

You pass laws here in convention and you expect them to be enforced; if the enforcement pleases the rank and file, well and good, but if the law is unpopular and irksome, the officer enforcing the law is made to feel that his actions merit retaliation, and in fact he must expect such for it usually comes.

According to some of our members, the secretary-treasurer is an autocrat, the maker and enforcer of laws without the consent of the governed. Their view of your "mechanics for administration" is that even conventions such as this are absolutely and positively under his direction, and that no matter what you may chose to do, whether you amend, modify or eliminate any law the final word and decree must come from him. Smile if you will, but that is gospel truth and all of you know it to be fact that such accusations have been and will be made.

In one respect your exactions are multitudinous and impossible of being carried out by one individual; in other respects they are fruitless by reason of their unimportance.

Your organization resembles an immense army with insufficient direction and lack of proper munitions, it is organized for a purpose but has failed to make progress owing to lack of definite and perfected plans of action. In comparison with its natural opponents and the "mechanics" which they are enabled to employ, it cuts a sorry figure. One of your natural opponents in addition to a president who writes D.D., LL.D., after his signature, has a "Board of Strategy" consisting of twelve vice-presidents, one general superintendent, one general secretary, one general manager of publications, one editor-in-chief, one national legislative superintendent, one secretary of the Lincoln-Lee Legion, one treasurer, and one financial secretary, and sixteen members of their executive board, which makes a total of 36 persons, and among that number are three bishops, one priest, seven ordinary ministers without titles, such as D.D., nine of which titles are used among the aggregation connected with church work; one ex-governor, one judge, and the remainder attorneys, excepting one woman, who has a national reputation as an aggressive expounder of sumptuary legislation. Add to that formidable aggregation the members of a national board of trustees, averaging about four to each state, thirty capable editors of that number of weekly, bi-weekly and monthly publications, and topping it off with a state superintendent of each state, drawing down salaries in excess of what you are paying to your official family. Your other opponent is, an employers' organization, of such scope, and with quite the equal of the one already briefly outlined so far as ability, brains and management, and possibly with a larger general income; saying nothing of other opponents minus organization or country-wide standing, and you positively have something to contend with. Yet you seem to carry the unstable and unsound impression, that your general president, general secretary and the handful of workers on your general executive board should be able not only to cope with such formidable opposition, but actually defeat such aggregations in contests where your future as workers is at stake. Such an attitude persisted in year after year is not complimentary to you nor those whom you represent, and pardon what seems reiteration, it is rash, reckless ruin which stares you in the face to simply listen and decline to attempt to bring about a decided change. It is the height of stupidity for any great conclave such as this and with the facts set before them so succinctly, to hold any one or several of your executive officers responsible for whatever of untoward conditions confront you and your unions.

The writer has neither apologies to offer or excuses to make for the alleged unorganized conditions of our allied crafts, he has never assumed that he possessed more probity and better judgment than any member of our vast organization; he has endeavored to the best of his ability and what little talent he may be the possessor of, to secure the greatest measure of beneficent results for the men and women who have honored him by their confidence for the last fifteen years. He makes no pretense that he needs defense from the attacks of those who seek to discredit what has been accomplished, but he does admit that our International needs defense and plenty of it, not only from the attack of those within its folds, but from those whose plans and program contemplate destroying it as an institution susceptible of improvement and of immense value to its membership. The undersigned, despite conclusions held by a limited few, has been able and expects to continue exercising whatever functions a generous nature has bestowed, and in passing permit this thought to find a resting place; sidestepping attack or responsibility is not even remotely a part of his make-up.

You do not employ me as a professional scold, but there are so many uncared-for problems in connection with your organization, that it seems a solemn duty for the undersigned to direct your attention to them, failing to do so would mean carrying a troubled conscience something for which no amount of inducement is ample reward.

At the present time your official family consists of a general president, eight vice-presidents and a general secretary-treasurer, the latter is the only official permanently stationed at your general headquarters; he is secretary-treasurer and managing editor of your official publication, three positions which ordinarily are held by and cared for by three persons. Your general headquarters is presumed to be your executive offices, there is where you file your requests, running from agreement blanks to withdrawal cards, and seldom failing to touch every other letter in the alphabet. If your local union is confronted with trouble, be it strike, lockout, internicine warfare between members, disgruntled membership, absconding officials, articles for your souvenir books, inspiration and printed matter to overcome anti-legislation, legal advice about labels and misuse of buttons, services of organizers, in fact any and everything under the sun and some things which even "Old Sol" is a stranger to, you write to headquarters for help, and you not only expect aid but demand it. And all the time and for all of the years which you have made these numerous requests and demands, you overlooked the fact that you were crowding on one pair of shoulders the work of many men. You probably thought you had a superman on the job only to discover that he was an ordinary flesh-and-blood individual, capable of doing only a limited amount of labor, that he was not endowed with extraordinary perception and unerring judgment. One man or two, or there might be three, yet that number would be insufficient to plan and wage war on the opposition which confronts you, and you must awaken to that pertinent undeniable fact. Executive ability coupled with knowledge such as you require to care for your affairs, is not so fearfully common and unattached that you can find it without seeking far, this too in spite of the thoughtless statements of alleged critics who habitually interrogate: "Why this, that, or something else," has not been accomplished. In previous messages you were advised that your organization had the means to command ability and brains, executive and directing powers; and you were also advised that, if you failed to secure such, upon your shoulders rested the blame. That is reiterated with added emphasis, it is still your task—your responsibility is no more and no less.

You have probably persuaded yourselves that, inasmuch as your organization has weathered the storms and tribulations of twenty-five years, and has made some progress meanwhile, the future will take care of itself without making any material changes in method or machinery. You are due to a very sad awakening unless you quickly dispel and get rid of that view; for, seriously your future is far from encouraging, and by the time the pendulum swings back to normal again, much can transpire and probably will.

Your organization as at present constituted can still retain what it possesses and succeed in pushing forward to greater numerical strength, but your "mechanics" for solving problems, laying plans and perfecting campaigns for future carrying out is absolutely inadequate. It will be quite impractical on your part to conclude that a similar number of paid officials will be able to produce greater and better returns for labor expended. A slight improvement is not what you require, you need and must have greater development if your organization and those whom you select as executives, are to work for your general advancement; and you cannot secure, no matter how willing your executives may be, any appreciable improvement until you provide a sufficiently employed force to devote time, energy and ability to your wants. In the same building where your general headquarters are located, there is another International Trade Union headquarters; numerically that organization has ten thousand less members than our International Union, yet the "mechanics" of that organization permit the employment at headquarters of a president, a financier and an assistant financier; a secretary and an assistant secretary; a treasurer and an editor of their official journal. When the president is absent from the general office, the first vice-president comes in and cares for the office duties of that position. Seven officers at headquarters all of the time and with a full complement of office employes, such as clerks and stenographers. Fourteen general officers and a board of trustees, consisting of a chairman and six members, a total of twenty-one constitute their general executive board, which meets quarterly as a rule. All of the fourteen general officers are on the pay-roll, seven of whom as intimated are continuously at headquarters, and the problem would indeed have to be a large one which they could not solve without adding to their number.

Unlike our organization they have to contend with but one line of opposition—their selfishly inclined employers; whereas we have that problem ever present, and another quite as pressing—organized fanaticism. You may inquire why we have gone along all of these years without insisting on a change. The writer joins with you in making a similar inquiry, for he has presented to you at almost every one of your conventions in the last ten years, either as part of his message to the convention, or verbally, the need of additional executive force at headquarters. The writer assumes, and with some measure of justification the position, that he is approximately as well posted on economic and political conditions in America as any officer or member of our International Union, and he unhesitatingly declares that the man was never born who can successfully care for your affairs as secretary, treasurer and editor, and in addition take over the burden of directing your forces so as to defeat your economic and political enemies. All of this may seem discordant, but you are paying for service, and a part of that service means, as the writer understands it, that you shall be informed as to the conditions which surround your administrative machinery, thus giving to you, the final authority under our laws, opportunity to make necessary improvement. Your affairs are being administered with splendid success, all things considered, that there is ample field for improvement no one who gives the matter thought can gainsay, and you owe to yourselves and the immense number of men and women who contribute to the support of our International Union the best that is in you to the end of overcoming every reasonable obstacle which prevents consistent advancement.

An organization which has grown to such splendid proportions as our International Union during the last fifteen years and with insufficient income the greater portion of the time, cannot very well be said to have outlived its usefulness, and while it may seem egotism for one who has been intimately connected with and in a measure responsible for that growth, to refer to the achievement, permit the undersigned to say that modesty has little place to edge in where aggressiveness is required and truth recorded. Our International Union, as will be noted from what has been offered in this report, occupies a better position numerically and financially than ever in its history; as to what the future may hold out for you depends largely on what you determine upon before the close of this gathering; as representatives of more than SIXTY THOUSAND MEMBERS, your responsibilities are indeed great and solemn, it is the hope of the undersigned that you acquit yourselves of the task assigned to you in a manner which will write your names deep on the pages of our organization's history and be hailed as lawmakers of sound understanding and reasoning. Those whom you represent want the best there is in you, if you give that, they will have no reason to feel that they erred in sending you to this important conclave.

During the term the hearty co-operation of officers and members of our local unions has made the tasks of the writer less irksome and arduous, for which kindly co-operation sincere thanks are tendered. To my colleagues on the general executive board, who have so willingly shared the many heavy burdens during the term, thanks are due and heartily offered.

To each and every member who has put forth effort to make our International the magnificent organization which it is today, proper measure of sincere thanks are given, and the hope expressed that they will unceasingly continue doing their level best to keep their organization up among the leading labor organizations of America.

In concluding this summary of stewardship for the term, it seems permissible to say that your combined efforts along definite and aggressive lines must be continued, for the slightest relaxing on your part means untold general numerical losses which will be taken advantage of by your natural opponents. Trusting that this conclave will succeed in marking out and providing for greater progress in the future than we have enjoyed in the past, asking for whomsoever may succeed me your confidence and generous support, I beg to subscribe myself.

Yours fraternally,

JERE L. SULLIVAN,
General Secretary-Treasurer

During the reading of the foregoing report Secretary-Treasurer Sullivan interrupted the continuation of said report by making emphatic declaration relative to the activity of the California Anti-Saloon League, which had recently held a State convention at Fresno, Cal., and had discussed the probable division of our International Union. In that convention the unqualified declaration was made that if segregation carried in this convention the Anti-Saloonists could carry the State of California by a majority of approximately 100,000 votes.

A motion by Lehman, Local 1, and Adamack, Local 240, that the report be referred to the proper committees.

Motion adopted.

Motion by Horne, Local 827, and Kelly, Local 224, that inasmuch as a goodly portion of the report of the General Executive Board had been printed in the MIXER AND SERVER, and therefore the membership is acquainted with the facts as printed, it is our desire to save time, we therefore urge that the report be referred to its proper committees without reading and that copies of same be distributed to the delegates. The motion prevailed without dissenting vote.

The Report of the General Executive Board follows:

General Executive Board Report

March 1, 1913, to March 1, 1915.

To the Officers and Members of the Eighteenth General Convention of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America, Greeting:

Following out precedent established in our International Union, we herewith present a brief review of the multitude of matters which have been referred to us during the term; we are not unmindful of the fact that previous to having this report presented to you our general president and general secretary-treasurer have submitted reports which, no doubt, comprise pretty much the entire field of our activity, for that, as well as other reasons needless to mention, we shall be as brief as permissible and trust that in so doing we have merited your approval.

Wage scale agreement of Local 612, Helena, Montana, approved and funds set aside for their use in the event that they experience any difficulty in securing signatures to their agreement.

Wage schedule and agreement of Local 459, Victoria, B. C., who propose to try and clean out the Asiatic culinary workers by securing adoption of their agreement and wage scale. Wage scale and agreement approved and funds reserved for the use of said local if they require them to proceed with the task indicated.

Wage scale of Local 273, Springfield, Mass., approved and funds ordered set aside for their use in case same is needed.

Schedule of hours, wages and conditions sought by Local 768, San Diego, Cal., approved and funds ordered reserved for their use, if needed.

The Board set aside $5,000 from the Defense Fund to aid the members of our locals in the stricken cities of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois; they approved the action of the general secretary-treasurer in directing every available organizer into the stricken cities.

The subject matter of floods in the above states and the aid given to distressed members was reported specially to the Denver convention June, 1913.

Wage scale of Local 672, Paragould, Ark., approved and funds laid aside in the event that obstacles occur in getting agreement signed.

Wage scale of Local 81, Holyoke, Mass., approved and usual reservation from Defense Fund set aside in case of necessity.

We instructed Vice-President Foster to attend the sessions of the State Legislature of Illinois and endeavor to discourage the passage of proposed inimical legislation. Vice-President Foster reported results to the Denver convention, June, 1913.

Application for endorsement of wage scale of Local 223, Des Moines, Ia., was acted on favorably.

Wage scale of Local 354, Burlington, Iowa, approved and funds reserved in case of need.

Wage schedule of Local 403, Stockton, Cal., approved and usual sum set aside for their use.

Protest against issuance of charter 276, Bronx, N. Y., by Local 1, considered; matter laid over until General Executive Board meeting in June.

Wage scale and agreement of Local 254, Waterbury, Conn., approved and usual amount reserved for use if needed.

Wage scale of Local 638, Petaluma, Cal., approved and usual amount set aside in case of trouble.

Schedule of wage and hours by Local 659, Dallas, Texas, approved; set aside usual appropriation for their use, if needed.

Wage scale of Local 48, San Francisco, Cal., concurred in and usual action taken for furnishing assistance, if required.

Wage scale and agreement of Local 189, Portland, Oregon, adopted and reservation of funds made for their use.

Wage scale of Local 37, Decatur, Ill., approved with correction in one paragraph which was acceptable to the local; funds set aside as usual.

Following out the custom of having a General Executive Board meeting in the convention city and prior to sessions of the convention, we met in Denver, Colo., and the following memorandum covers the action taken.

DENVER, COLO., FRIDAY, JUNE 6, 1913.

Meeting called to order at the St. James Hotel by General President Edward Flore at 10 a. m.

Roll call found: Edward Flore, Frank Hoffman, C. W. McCurdy, F. Sesma, Elizabeth Maloney, Paul Steffler, and Jere L. Sullivan present. Owing to delay of trains, Vice-Presidents Hesketh, Foster and Anderson were unable to be present.

In order to facilitate the business of the Board and to give all representatives who desired to appear before us an opportunity to present evidence, it was decided to continue hearings and dispose of cases later. The following memorandum was substantially what transpired, as well as action taken by the Board.

Correspondence from President Hall of the Minnesota State Federation of Labor, relative to Japanese and Chinese proprietors who offered fair conditions, payment of union wages, hours, etc., and desired the privilege of displaying a union house card, was read.

After considerable discussion, the matter was disposed of by declining to permit Asiatic proprietors the use of our union house or bar cards.

Correspondence from Local 20 of St. Louis, with reference to organizing the buss-boys, was read. Secretary Sullivan's copy of reply to said Local 20, was also perused. The substance of Secretary Sullivan's response was in effect that buss-boys could not be regarded as other than apprentices to the waiter and they rightfully belonged under the jurisdiction of the waiters' union. A general discussion on the foregoing proposition ensued. Finally a motion prevailed that the subject matter be allowed to remain in abeyance pending the arrival of delegates from Local 20.

Correspondence from an organizer of the American Federation of Labor of Elkhart, Indiana, requesting permission for the privilege of displaying a union bar label in an establishment in that city and by that method of endeavor to reorganize the bartenders' union of Elkhart, Indiana.

It was determined that the former local union of Elkhart, Indiana, had not by any means treated the International Union with customary fairness. The Board, however, determined to turn the entire matter over to the general secretary-treasurer, giving him full power to dispose of the proposition as the circumstances warranted.

The Convention Committees came before the Board and gave us an outline of the arrangements that had been perfected for the facilitation of convention work. After a few minor suggestions, the plan outlined was approved.

The subject matter referred to the Board by the Boston Convention relative to securing data with reference to cost and maintenance of a home for sick, aged and disabled members, was taken up. This proposition occupied the remainder of the session and in fact did not materially change the report prepared for presentation to the convention.

DENVER, COLO., FRIDAY, JUNE 6, 1913.

Meeting called to order at 7:30 p. m. President Flore presided.

Roll call found the following members present: Flore, Hoffman, Foster, McCurdy, Anderson, Sesma, Maloney, Steffler, and Sullivan.

Brother John Horan of Local 248, of Birmingham, Alabama, appeared before the Board with reference to the membership of Michael Moran and Louis Brill, formerly connected with Local 550, of Bessemer, Alabama, which local union divided its funds and failed to comply with the provisions of the International Constitution and laws.

After discussing the matter, the subject was referred to the general secretary-treasurer for disposition. Brother Horne was advised to inform the parties in question that they could make application and become members-at-large and that upon the payment of their pro rata of the amount secured when the division of the funds of Local 550 was made, as well as the customary reinstatement fee, there wasn't any doubt but what they would be in a position to obtain traveling cards and deposit same with Local 248.

Brother Horan of Local 248, Birmingham, Alabama, also wanted to know whether his local union would be granted an extension of jurisdiction so as to include the city of Bessemer, Alabama.

The General Executive Board, after discussing the subject matter, reached the following conclusion: That they had no authority in the premises in view of the action taken by the Boston convention, page 154 of the June issue of the MIXER AND SERVER for 1911. The action of that convention in substance was that any charters granted or that may be issued in the future, shall cover the city or cities that the face of such charters specifically and definitely reads, and that the General Executive Board stands instructed to refrain from issuing any charter which does not comply with the letter and spirit of the foregoing. In other words, denying the right to the General Executive Board to extend jurisdiction to any other cities than the ones specifically named on the charter issued.

The appeal of Local 228 of Albany, New York, from Decision 309, rendered May 20, 1913, was carefully reviewed and the Board, without dissenting vote, supports the General President in his decision.

A motion was passed that the general secretary-treasurer, immediately communicate the advice to Local 228, so as to enable them, if they saw fit, to take an appeal from the decision rendered by the Board to the General Convention, while in session. The secretary-treasurer carried out the instructions as per the foregoing.

The appeal of John A. Nagelmaker against the decision of the General President was reviewed. It was decided to postpone action until the Board had an opportunity to hear from the delegates from Local 77, of Boston, Mass.

Similar action was taken in the case of John Edmund Lans.

The subject matter of Convention Arrangement Committees endeavoring to secure funds to defray the expenses of such conventions was given a thorough examination by the Board. After devoting a considerable period of time to this subject matter, the Board adopted the following:

The Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America is the sole owner and publisher of the magazine known as the "MIXER AND SERVER." Neither the managing editor nor the general officers of the International Union have ever granted to any person or persons the legal right or privilege to solicit contributions in behalf of the International Union and any person or persons, claiming to be the possessors of such right are "grafters" pure and simple, and are not entitled to any consideration whatsoever. Our International Union does not hesitate to condemn any act or acts, plan or plans, which presume to convey the impression that so-called souvenir books or convention programs are beneficial to the International Union, for, as a matter of common knowledge, the International Union has never gotten out souvenir books or advertising programs of any kind or description and does not anticipate engaging in that particular line of endeavor. We unqualifiedly assert that no such rights or privileges are granted to any city where our conventions are held, nor do we bestow upon said cities or the local union therein, the right to solicit advertising, alleging that the revenues therefrom are turned into the funds of the International Union.

As intimated above, the only official magazine printed by the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America, is the official organ of the above named organization and is known as the "MIXER AND SERVER." Neither the managing editor nor the members of the General Executive Board, separately or collectively, have ever requested any person or persons to solicit advertising for the said official magazine.

Adjourned at 11:30 p. m. Friday, June 6, 1913.

DENVER, COLO., SATURDAY, JUNE 7, 1913.

Meeting of the General Executive Board called to order at 10 a. m., by President Flore. Roll call found Flore, Hesketh, Hoffman, Foster, Anderson, McCurdy, Maloney, Steffler, and Sullivan present.

Minutes of the two previous sessions read and approved.

The subject matter of the Elkhart, Indiana, request for the placing of a bar card in an establishment in that city was reopened. Additional evidence being offered, the matter was referred to the general secretary with authority to issue a bar card, in the event that conditions were as stated. In accordance with the foregoing, the General Executive Board authorized headquarters to issue cards in unorganized localities for limited periods, for the purpose of promoting the establishment of local unions.

Telegram from Dallas, Texas, Local 659 of that city, advising us that the employers had refused to sign their new contract but that they would sign the old one. The correspondence was also read with reference to the anticipated trouble at Dallas. The Board went on record sustaining the position taken by Local 659, and that finances be remitted to said local union to aid them in putting their contract in force.

Former Vice-President J. Charles Hackett, through Vice-President Hesketh, tendered hearty greetings to the members of the General Executive Board. Proper response was conveyed to Vice-President Hesketh, with the request that he act as messenger for the Board.

Case of appeal of John A. Nagelmaker against the decision rendered by the General President, was taken from the table and reviewed. Delegates from Local 77 were heard with reference to this particular case. At the conclusion of the discussion, a motion was concurred in, without dissent, sustaining the general president in said decision—No. 290—rendered under date of March 25, 1913.

Case of appeal of John E. Lans, from Decision 300, rendered by General President Flore, was also given attention. The delegates from Local 77 were heard upon same. A motion to sustain Decision 300, rendered by General President Flore, was adopted without dissenting vote.

Adjourned at 11:50 a. m., Saturday, June 7, 1913.

DENVER, COLO., SATURDAY, JUNE 7, 1913.

Meeting called to order by General President Flore at 1:30 p. m.

Roll call found all the members present.

Delegate Henry Kossow of Local 3, of New York, appeared before the Board, and made protest against the competition of other locals, especially new locals being formed and the said unions exacting a smaller initiation fee than was customary, thus preventing said Local 3 from accumulating membership and making the progress which they believe they could make.

The protest as registered by Delegate Kossow warranted calling in delegates who were present and who were to represent local unions in New York. Delegate J. P. McGinley, from Local 3, was also heard from regarding the problems confronting Local 3. Delegate Joyce, of Local 141, gave his version of matters and expressed the conviction that the entire trouble was caused by the persistence of Locals 3 and 29 in exacting 75 cents for dues, whereas all the other locals in New York were paying $1, and that the difference in revenue was so marked that the local unions with cheap dues could not produce results equal to the other unions in that city who were charging $1.

The Board, having in mind the work accomplished in New York City and the excellent results obtained, advised the general secretary to inform the New York City locals that any initiation fee in excess of $5 in New York City, was contrary to the spirit of Resolution 75, adopted at Boston and decidedly in opposition to the judgment reached by the Commission made up of members of the General Executive Board, who went to New York especially to establish conditions which would permit the local unions to work harmoniously for the best interest of all concerned. The Board concludes that exacting a larger initiation fee than $5 in New York City, under the present unorganized conditions of the crafts in that city, is not only contrary to good judgment but a direct invitation to have failure perch on their banner.

Delegates Rosenthal, Fishgrund and Turteltaub of Local Union No. 1, appeared in behalf of their local union, protesting against the issuance of charter of Local 276, of Bronx, New York. Communication and protest previously submitted to the Board were read, wherein revocation of charter was asked, either that or that specific jurisdiction be divided under said charters, so far as parks and gardens were concerned. Correspondence from Local 276 in answer to same was read. The allegations of the delegates of Local 1 were to the effect that the members of Local 276 were working below the scale adopted by Local 1.

After listening to the delegates mentioned above for a fair period of time, it was decided to call in Organizer Joyce and obtain his version of the affairs, inasmuch as he was the organizer who established Local 276. Brother Joyce made the positive declaration that the members of Local 276 never accepted work for less than the scale which had been in operation for years. He denied the declaration that Local 276 was endeavoring to obtain members of Local 1 to attach themselves to that local. Local 276 has a membership of ninety-seven, five of whom were former members of Local 1. The discussion of the above case was concluded at 4:30 p. m.

The General Executive Board adopted the following:

"That the jurisdiction heretofore held by Local 1 of New York City over balls and parks of the Bronx be renewed and that Local 276 be advised that they must confine their efforts to hotels, restaurants and cafes."

Delegate L. R. Davitt, of Local 768, San Diego, California, appeared before the Board protesting against the issuance of charter to Porters' Local Union 808, of San Diego. Correspondence from San Diego Labor Council was read. Discussion followed. The correspondence submitted indicated that the general secretary had communicated with the secretary of the local joint executive board at San Diego and naturally presumed, when approval came from that board, that the issuance of said charter was satisfactory to all concerned. The Board instructed General Secretary Sullivan to further investigate the San Diego situation and, if it was discovered that the local union was not conducted along legitimate lines, that charter be revoked.

Adjourned 7:45 p. m., Saturday, June 7, 1913.

DENVER, COLO., SUNDAY, JUNE 8, 1913.

Meeting called to order at 9 a. m. by General President Flore.

Roll call found all members present.

Case of protest of Local 332, of East St. Louis, Illinois, against the issuance of additional jurisdiction to Local 102 of Granite City, Illinois, a bartenders' organization that desired to include waiters in their local union.

Correspondence from Secretary Eagan of Local 102 protested against the action of Secretary Keith of Local 332 going into the jurisdiction of Local 102 and securing members. Secretary Keith of Local 332 personally appeared for his local union, also delegates from Local 20 of St. Louis, Mo., who were heard on the proposition. It was finally decided to postpone further hearing of the case until a representative of Local 102 could be found among the delegates and be given an opportunity to present his union's side of the case.

At a later session, Delegate Rudolph Reber of Local 102, of Granite City, Illinois, appeared before the Board, as well as Delegate Keith of Local 332, and the delegates from Local 20. At the conclusion of the hearing, the Board denied the request of Local 102 for a change of name and extension of jurisdiction, and accorded to Local 332 similar jurisdiction as it had exercised for several years, said Local 332 being a union composed of bartenders and culinary workers.

Delegation from Local 20, Conrad Schott, Harry Cordes and George Merideth, with reference to the possible formation of a separate union of buss-boys of the city of St. Louis, appeared before the Board. After considerable discussion, the Board decided that buss-boys were apprentices to the waiter and properly belonged under the jurisdiction of a waiters' local union. The general secretary-treasurer suggested a plan of action which appeared to be acceptable.

Delegate Jac Brav of Local 342, of New York City, appeared before the Board and made a very interesting address with reference to the culinary situation in that city, and expressed the idea that a solution of the situation was to organize along classification lines. He went into the situation deeply, both with reference to mixers and servers, evidently knowing New York well. The subject matter was taken under consideration by the General Executive Board, to be acted upon at a later session.

Adjourned at 12:30 p. m., Sunday, June 8, 1913.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, JUNE 11, 1913.

Meeting called to order at 8:15 p. m., President Flore presiding.

Roll call found all members present.

Delegates Frakes and Sheppard of Local 336, and Parker of Local 530, Chicago, Ill., appeared before the Board in connection with the dispute relative to jurisdiction which had been referred to the general president and which decision did not please either side.

The situation was reviewed carefully and the Board decided to instruct these locals that they must comply with the provisions under which their charters were granted, that failing to work harmoniously the Board might exercise its authority and command them to amalgamate.

Delegates Schott, Cordes and Meredith of Local 20, St. Louis, appeared before the Board, presenting a rather lengthy resolution which recited the events through which that local had passed in its efforts to organize its craftsmen. A combination of strikes, lock-outs and Citizens' Alliance interference, as well as court proceedings, which depleted their treasury. They aver that their local has spent over $4,000 in these various contests and solicit from the defense fund $1,000 to enable them to continue their fight.

The Board concluded to aid local union but with the understanding that no funds would be remitted for the purpose of reimbursing that local, but to actually conduct existing contest.

Delegates Land and Ringholz of Local 721, Salt Lake City, Utah, made an appeal to the Board to send an organizer into their city and state for the purpose of trying to line up non-members and reviving defunct locals at Ogden especially. Review for the benefit of the Board the situation in Salt Lake City with reference to the culinary situation, and express the conviction that unless an organizer were permitted to remain there the outlook for continuation of such local was discouraging. They further aver that the license situation in the state is passing through a critical period and it will be necessary to give some attention to that phase of matters.

Delegate Creighton of Local 807, Bingham Canyon, Utah, supplemented the statements of Brothers Lane and Ringholz and urged the Board to take action at an early date so as to take action while the conditions are favorable for success. Board refers the matter to the general secretary with suggestion that the wishes of the delegates from Utah be given heed.

Delegate Henderson of Local 19, Kansas City, Mo., was heard in a critical resume of the situation in his city, cites the fact that the greatest obstacle to their progress is the Waiters' Association or Club, an organization which has handicapped the efforts of the culinary workers and which has prevented them for months from making the right kind of headway.

Organizer McGinley was also heard with reference to conditions in Kansas City. Says he called the attention of Local 19 to Section 24 and advised them that enforcement of that section would produce results beneficial to the local. Henderson informed the Board that his local had adopted a motion which placed a fine of $25 on any member retaining membership in the dual waiters' organization.

Board refers the case to the general secretary-treasurer to use his judgment in the premises.

Several disputed death benefit claims were reviewed by the General Executive Board, and the delegates seeking information with reference to such claims were advised how matters stood.

Secretary was authorized to re-open several of these claims for further investigation.

In the appeal of Local 336 from Decision No. 102, rendered under date of February 24, 1912, the Board, by unanimous vote, sustains the decision of the general president.

Adjourned at 11:20 p. m.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON, JUNE 14, 1913.

Meeting called to order at 3:30 p. m., President Flore presiding.

Roll call found all members present.

Brother James J. English, fourth vice-president-elect, accepted the invitation of the Board and sat with us during the greater portion of the session.

Delegate Lee Herring of Local 142, Astoria, Oregon, appeared before the Board soliciting an extension of jurisdiction for his local which would include seaside resorts too small by themselves, to establish a local union.

The Board believes that their rights to extend jurisdiction is based on action taken by the Boston convention, and while advising the interested local union that it might accept such members as worked in the territory between Astoria and St. Helens, it did not feel competent to extend such jurisdiction without a closer examination of the territory sought.

Subject matter left in the hands of the general secretary-treasurer to dispose of.

Delegate Reed of Local 395, Grand Rapids, Mich., appears before the Board in connection with Decision No. 302, rendered under date of May 6, 1913. Seeks information, which is given him.

Delegate Walker of Local 676, Vancouver, B. C., appeared before the Board and addressed them at length on the necessity of directing international organizers into British Columbia and the Canadian Northwest.

Matter referred to the general secretary for disposal.

Delegate Henley, of Local 320, Schenectady, N. Y., appeared before the Board seeking advice as to soda water fountain mixers; wants to know if the culinary local in his city has a right to accept them, for a number of such employes serve light lunches.

Board decides that "drug store mixers and servers," such as described by Delegate Henley, may become members of a culinary local by, and with the consent of such unions.

Delegate Parker, of Local 216, Toledo, Ohio, desired to recite his views relative to the situation in his city; showed the Board that our allied crafts in his city were in need of encouragement and a whole lot of gingering up. Board offers suggestions which delegate Parker advised would be put into use on his return home.

Delegates Steimer and Fleischman, of Local 44, San Francisco, Cal., appeared before the Board in connection with the situation covering the attitude of the White Lunch Company, which Company rejects all efforts to come to terms with our locals in San Francisco and other cities on the Pacific Coast. After a thorough discussion of the matter, temporary plans were set in motion and it was agreed that on request or advice from the L. J. E. B. of San Francisco, Cal., funds would be remitted to defray the expense of the campaign.

Delegate Lusk of Local 69, Galveston, Texas, appeared before the Board with a wage schedule of his local and sought approval for same.

Wage scale and agreement was endorsed, and funds set aside as customary in such cases. Brother Lusk urged the Board to retain an organizer for the State of Texas, for, he averred, that inside of the next few months the anti-license folks would be so active that unless there were representatives of our crafts in the field, the anti-folks would secure such advantage that it would be impossible to overcome. The cooks and waiters of my city know what this prohibition thing means to them and propose to use their efforts to prevent the fanatics saddling on the Lone Star State any such monstrosity.

Subject matter of organizer for the State of Texas referred to general secretary for disposition.

Delegate Olhoff of Local 414, Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada, urged the Board to send an international organizer into the district where he resides; believes that several towns along the boundary line between Canada and United States could be gotten in line with a little effort.

Matter referred to the general secretary for disposition.

Committee from Denver local unions appealed to the Board for assistance in combatting the influences of dual allied craft associations and clubs in the city of Denver; averred that these clubs were a constant menace and prevented securing any favorable concessions from employers. Denver situation was discussed by Delegates McKee, Cox, Wessels, Osborne, Roslyn and Croskey from Locals 8, 14 and 18.

Case referred to the general secretary for disposition.

By invitation Delegate John Troxel of Local 24, Victor, Colo., appeared before the Board and gave us an interesting resume of the conditions existing in the Cripple Creek district, for which we were duly thankful.

Adjourned at 6:40 p. m.

SATURDAY EVENING, JUNE 14. 1913.

Session called to order at 8:30 p. m., by President Flore.

All members responded to roll call.

List of appointments indicate that Delegate William F. Kavanagh of Local 575, of Jersey City, N. J., is next on list. Brother Kavanagh called before the Board.

William F. Kavanagh, Local 575, occupies attention of the General Executive Board in a careful review of the conditions which prevail in and adjacent to his home city; in fact, reviewed the conditions which exist in Hudson County and urged the Board to consider with favor a proposal to grant charters to any town in Hudson County which could show sufficient numbers to warrant the expectation that they could maintain a local union. Called special attention to the fact that Hoboken was not the only municipality in Hudson County, but that the Hoboken unions had, for reasons which they assigned before the committee when discussing resolutions, submitted at the Boston convention, contended that they had a right to jurisdiction over the whole county.

Brother Kavanagh was asked a number of questions relative to Hoboken and Jersey City, and expressed the belief that when the members of the locals understood the situation they would cease bickering and work to the end of thoroughly organizing the county. Brother Kavanagh offered the suggestion that the question of jurisdiction be left an open one; that if any craftsman wished to join a near-by local, he be permitted to do so, and when a sufficient number of such persons had become identified with a union and conditions warranted, they be urged to form a local union. He asserted that his local was not seeking for a shade the best of things, for the members of Local 575 are real trade unionists and are more concerned in converting non-union workers to the principles of unionism than they are in boasting of numerical accretions.

At the conclusion of Brother Kavanagh's exhaustive recital the Board passed a motion that "The subject matter be left in the hands of the general secretary-treasurer and he be authorized to grant additional charters in the section known as Hudson County, N. J."

Motion adopted.

Vice-President Maloney, in behalf of the members of the Board presented to President Flore and Secretary Sullivan splendid fountain pens. The recipients responded with gratefulness appropriate to the occasion.

New York City situation again reviewed and the following motion was adopted:

"That inasmuch as the Boston convention, by resolution, authorized the General Executive Board to make a survey of the situation in the city and to provide plans and rules for the better promotion of our locals in that municipality, and inasmuch as the General Executive Board directed a committee of the Board to visit that city and report their findings, said committee presenting plans and specifications, which were concurred in by the General Executive Board; and

"Whereas, one of the definite rules adopted by the General Executive Board was with reference to a reasonable and standard initiation fee, which was placed at the maximum of FIVE DOLLARS; we hereby rule that any local in that city exacting a larger fee than the amount stated, is acting contrary to the spirit of Resolution 75, and is actually placing obstacles in the way for the thorough organization of our allied crafts.

"That we recommend to the locals of New York City compliance with the spirit of the finding of the General Executive Board which were printed in the MIXER AND SERVER, June, 1912."

Subject matter of cabaret waiters occupied the attention of the Board and it was finally decided to grant to Local 342 jurisdiction over that class of workers in the city of New York.

We directed Vice-President Anderson to proceed to Lexington, Mo., on his return to his home and endeavor to bring order out of chaos in that case. Conflicting authorities in the matter of organizing a bartenders' union in that city, Lexington, fully describes the case.

Correspondence from the Central Labor Union of Spokane, Wash., relative to desire of Henry Oerter to make application for reinstatement. The Board adopted the following:

"Whereas, the said Henry Oerter was primarily responsible for forcing the International Union to expend some two thousand five hundred dollars to protect its interests before the courts of Washington. We positively decline to consider any application of the said Henry Oerter for reinstatement until he has paid into the funds of the International Union a similar amount as the International expended in protecting itself before the courts of Spokane, Wash."

Adjourned at 11:55 p. m.

SUNDAY MORNING, JUNE 15, 1913.

Meeting called to order at 10 a. m. President Flore presiding.

Roll call found all members present.

Vice-President Sesma reported on the work which Organizer Merryfield and himself had been engaged in at San Francisco and adjoining cities; expressed the conviction that the White Lunch Company, which had places in other cities on the Coast would be a tough battle to win unless concert of action could be had in all cities simultaneously.

Board reiterates its determination to enter the battle and try to win out.

Correspondence from Local 48, with reference to an expense incurred by that local in sending a representative to Sacramento, Cal., in order to oppose what they classed as adverse legislation. After due consideration the adjustment of the matter was referred to the general secretary. Board emphasizes its position that if locals assume obligations without reference to the Board, the Board does not feel obliged to reimburse such unions for outlay of funds.

The proposition relative to affiliation with the Label Trades Department of the A. F. of L., which was referred to the Board by the convention, occupied considerable time and much calculation on the part of all members. The conclusion arrived at by the Board is summed up as follows:

The proposed increase in per capita tax will barely care for the added expense provided for by action of the convention, and as it was practically impossible to carry greater financial burdens before the passage of the laws referred to, the situation has not been improved and we find that the income will not permit of paying such taxation as is required for affiliation to the Label Trades Department. Under the circumstances we are forced to recommend that the matter remain in abeyance until such time as taxation permits such affiliation.

In the matter of recommendation to the International Auditors, the Board emphatically resents the idea that local unions have the right to decline to offer proper evidence to the International Auditors when they are investigating death benefit claims. The Board hereby enters the following rule on the records:

"That International Auditors are authorized and empowered to insist on acceptable evidence of legality of all death benefit claims, and that local unions which decline to comply with such requests be denied further hearing on contested claims. The International Auditors represent the membership of the International Union; they are selected for the purpose of carefully examining all records which bear on the financial business of the organization, and if locals who present death benefit claims without proper and legal evidence that the said claims are genuine and entitled to consideration, they have themselves to blame for rejections and not the general secretary-treasurer or the International Auditors.

Board authorized the appointment of a skilled cook, able to speak more than one language, as an international organizer.

In the case of charges made by the L. J. E. B. of New York City against Local 30, of San Francisco, Cal., an effort was made to locate the delegates from the New York City locals, but it appears that they left for their homes. Under the circumstances, the Board refers the case to the general president for disposition.

Applications for positions as international organizers from a number of members of the organization were considered; the Board concluded that under existing circumstances it could not see its way clear to add greatly to the number. The matter was left in abeyance pending developments under the jurisdiction of the organization.

The secretary-treasurer, who has the direction of the organizing corps, was instructed to exact from the organizers every ounce of energy which they possess, to the end of making greater progress than was made during the last term; he was also instructed to divest any organizer of his commission on being satisfied that such person was either indifferent or neglectful of his duties.

After a general review of the conditions surrounding our local unions, the Board adjourned at 2:20 p. m.

JERE L. SULLIVAN, Secretary.

Appeal of Local 482, Butler, Pa., from Decision No. 105, by General President Flore, rendered under date of May 21, 1912, and printed in the June, 1912, MIXER AND SERVER, pages 22 and 23. The decision of the General President was sustained. Memorandum of said action printed in the October, 1913, MIXER AND SERVER, page 4.

This concludes the record of the General Executive Board which went out of office July 1, 1913.

The first action by the present Board was a proposition from Local 216, Toledo, Ohio, to be allowed to send raffle tickets to our affiliated locals for the purpose of establishing a headquarters was considered and the Secretary instructed to advise Local 216 that the General Executive Board declined to grant them the required permission.

The Board takes the position that in matters of that character local unions have no legal right to apply for assistance, there being quite a difference between endeavoring to establish a headquarters and securing funds for carrying on a strike or other necessary battle.

Wage scale of Local 59, Milwaukee, Wis., approved, and usual amount set aside in the event that said local union required same.

Application of the Local Joint Executive Board of New York City for funds to carry on an organizing campaign was denied.

Vice-President Hesketh having been required to make a visit to Victoria, B. C., Canada, in order to assist Local 459, and being unable to do so, he delegated Brother W. E. Walker, of Local 676, and Brother Walker accomplished the trip satisfactorily.

We instructed Vice-President Hoffman to visit St. Cloud, Minn., during the session of the State Federation of Labor. The results of said trip were gratifying.

Application of Locals 4 and 10, Hoboken, N. J., to assist them on account of strike in one of their establishments was approved and usual amount set aside for their use.

Wage scale of Local 31, Oakland, Cal., was approved and usual amount set aside for the use of that local should same be necessary.

Application of Local Joint Executive Board of Denver, Colo., for funds in order to carry on a campaign in connection with the signing of an annual wage scale was approved and the usual amount set aside for their use.

The Board ordered that the General Secretary-Treasurer pay from the funds of the International Union a one cent assessment levied by the American Federation of Labor on account of legal costs in which said American Federation and affiliated organizations are involved.

The Board approved the finding of the General President in connection with the differences of Locals 336 and 530 of Chicago.

We elected as auditors for the term, Ernest Stabenow, of Local 8, Denver, Colo.; Thomas P. Woods, of Local 59, Milwaukee, Wis., and R. D. Mattice, of Local 320, Schenectady, N. Y. Their report will be found on pages 9 and 10 of the November, 1913, issue of the MIXER AND SERVER.

Wage scale of Local 37, Decatur, Ill., was concurred in.

Wage scale of Local 815, Salt Lake City, Utah, was approved and the usual amount from the Defense Fund reserved for their use.

The General Executive Board approved a proposition to increase allowances made to the General President from two to three dollars per day on account of hotel expenses.

We appointed A. F. Martel, of Local 458, Minneapolis, Minn., as an International organizer.

Application of the Local Joint Executive Board of San Francisco, Cal., for funds to carry on fight against the White Lunch Company was approved and funds were set aside for the above referred to purpose.

Proposition submitted by Vice-President Foster to set aside a sum of money for a campaign in the State of Illinois was disapproved.

The General Secretary was instructed to begin paying the increase in organizers' salary with the month of September, 1913.

Application of the Local Joint Executive Board of St. Louis on account of strike in several establishments in that city was approved and funds set aside for their use.

Owing to conditions prevailing in the State of Missouri and adjacent States, we placed former Vice-President Brother James H. Anderson in the field as an International organizer for a limited period of time.

Wage scale of Local 561, Sacramento, Cal., was approved and funds set aside to assist them if necessary.

Recommendation of President Flore for cancellation of membership of George Bunier, Harry Woods, Alex Steele, George Hatper, Jack Powers and C. E. Wilkerson was approved.

Similar action was taken with reference to penalizing Local 336, Chicago, for conduct inimical to the best interest of the International Union. The penalty was suspended pending possible amalgamation of the existing culinary locals, Nos. 336 and 530.

The Local Joint Executive Board of St. Louis, Mo., asked for additional funds on account of strike and lockout in their city. The request was granted.

Appeal of Local 739, Brownsville, Pa., from Decision 340, rendered by General President Flore under date of August 14, 1913, and printed in the September, 1913, issue of the MIXER AND SERVER. The decision of the General President was sustained without a dissenting vote.

Local Joint Executive Board of St. Louis, Mo., asked for additional appropriation on account of strike. The application was approved and funds remitted.

Wage scale of Local 670, Beardstown, Ill., was approved and the usual action relative to finances taken.

Local Joint Executive Board of Seattle, Wash., asked for funds on account of strike in one of the houses in that city. Same was approved and funds remitted.

Wage scale and agreement of Local 106, Cleveland, O., was approved and usual action taken in regard to finances.

Application of Local Joint Executive Board of New York City for a sufficient appropriation to employ five local special organizers in that city was disapproved.

The request of the Local Joint Executive Board of New York City to place Turner Hall and the Colosseum of their city on the unfair list was approved.

Upon the request of the Local Joint Executive Board of Los Angeles, Cal., the General Executive Board acquiesced in a proposal to remit a small sum monthly in order to assist in an organizing campaign under the auspices of the central body of that city.

Vice-President James J. English visited West Warwick, R. I., and instituted Local 863, per the request of the General Office. The action was approved and expenses incurred allowed.

Application of the Local Joint Executive Board of Everett, Wash., for funds to assist the bartenders' local in that city to defeat the Bartenders' License Law was approved and funds remitted.

Application of the Local Joint Executive Board of Kansas City for funds in order to fight unfair houses in their city was disapproved, the Board having already appointed an International representative to assist our local unions in that city.

Plan of amalgamation of Local 336 and 530, Chicago, as submitted by the General Secretary and carried out under his supervision, was approved and Charter 35 issued to take the place of the two charters which had been surrendered during the process of amalgamation.

We requested Vice-President Hoffman to visit Winnipeg, Man., Canada, to aid in gingering up the local union recently established in that city. The trip was entirely successful.

Resolution 82, adopted by the Denver Convention, with reference to an organizer for the State of Michigan, was taken up, and nomination of Bro. Frank Finnegan, of Local 395, Grand Rapids, by a majority of the locals in the State of Michigan was approved and Brother Finnegan placed on the payroll for the time specified in Resolution 82.

Application of Local Joint Executive Board of Cleveland, O., for finances on account of strike at the Hotel Stattler in that city was approved and funds remitted.

Application of Local 603, Sacramento, Cal., for the privilege of appealing for funds on account of a member of their local union by the name of Bert Scott, was approved. Announcement was made in the June, 1914, issue of the MIXER AND SERVER, page 12.

Wage scale of Local 603, Sacramento, Cal., was approved and usual financial provisions made.

Local Joint Executive Board of Cleveland, O., asked for additional finances on account of the strike in their city, and the request was approved.

Local Joint Executive Board of San Francisco asked for additional funds on account of the White Lunch Company campaign. Funds were remitted.

Wage scale of Local 550, Bakersfield, Cal., was approved and the usual financial provisions made on account of same.

Wage scale of Local 527, Dubuque, Ia., approved and funds set aside for their use if necessary.

Locals 484 and 865, Chicago, became involved in a strike and requested financial assistance. Request was granted and funds set aside for their use.

We elected as auditors for the term Jac Brav, of Local 342, New York City; John J. Kearney, of Local 80, Boston, Mass., and T. F. Vigneaux, of Local 81, Holyoke, Mass. Their report was printed in the April, 1914, issue of the MIXER AND SERVER, pages 8 and 9.

We approved the recommendation of the General President to set aside the sum of $100 to be used by Brother Koveleski, of Local 171, Rochester, N. Y., on account of local option fight at Albany in the New York Legislature.

Wage scale of Local 196, Buffalo, N. Y., was approved and the customary financial provisions made.

Application of Local 1 of New York City for funds to carry on an organizing campaign was disapproved.

The one cent assessment levied by the American Federation of Labor to organize the women workers was paid from the funds of the International Union.

The application of the Local Joint Executive Board of Philadelphia, Pa., to carry on a defensive campaign in that city was approved and funds remitted.

We requested Vice-President Hesketh to attend the Washington State Federation of Labor Convention in our behalf.

Application of Locals 484 and 865, Chicago, for additional funds on account of the strike in their city was approved and funds remitted.

Application of Local Joint Executive Board of Seattle, Wash., for funds to conduct a defensive campaign was approved and funds remitted.

Wage scale of Local 866, Springfield, Mass., was approved and customary financial provisions made.

Wage scale of Local 609, Great Falls, Mont., approved and funds set aside for their use if necessary.

Application of Local Joint Executive Board of St. Louis, Mo., for additional funds on account of strike in that city was approved and funds remitted.

Wage scale of Local 721, Salt Lake City, Utah, was endorsed and customary financial provisions made in their behalf.

Application of the Local Joint Executive Board of Sacramento, Cal., for funds on account of defensive license campaign in that city was approved and funds remitted.

Wage scale of Local 173, Binghamton, N. Y., was approved and usual financial provisions made.

Wage scale of Local 391, Roslyn, Wash., was approved.

Wage scale of Local 631, Phoenix, Ariz., was approved and funds set aside for their use.

Appeal of Local 14, Denver, Colo., from Decision 395, issued under date of December 24, 1913, and printed in the January, 1914, issue of the MIXER AND SERVER. The case involved considerable correspondence. Action thereon was finally postponed until the General Executive Board meeting of June, 1914.

Application of Local Joint Executive Board of Oakland, Cal., for funds to carry on an organizing campaign was considered and final action postponed until additional information could be obtained. Subsequently this proposition was referred to the General Executive Board meeting of June, 1914.

Application of Local 273, Springfield, Mass., for an extension of jurisdiction to cover all towns within a radius of ten miles of that city was denied.

Appeal from Decision 441 rendered by General President Flore under date of March 5, 1914, and printed in the April, 1914, issue of the MIXER AND SERVER, was made by Local 273, Springfield, Mass. Action was postponed until General Executive Board meeting of June, 1914.

Wage scale of Local 77, Boston, Mass., was concurred in and customary financial provisions made.

Application of Local Joint Executive Board of Vancouver, B. C., Canada, for funds on account of a defensive campaign in that city was approved and funds set aside for that purpose.

Wage scale of Local 134, Scranton, Pa., was approved and financial provisions made.

Wage scale of Local 69, Galveston, Texas, was approved and funds reserved for the use of said local union.

Wage scale of Local 814, Victoria, B. C., Canada, was approved and funds set aside for their use.

Wage scale of Local 572, Stockton, Cal., was approved and funds set aside for said local union.

Wage scale of Local 626, Walla Walla, Wash., was approved and financial provisions made.

Wage scale of Local 761, Ft. William, Ont., Canada, was approved. Subsequent strike on account of said wage scale was endorsed.

Application of Local Joint Executive Board of Chicago for funds on account of strike and lockout in that city was taken into consideration. The General Secretary was instructed to advise the Local Joint Executive Board that funds were being remitted to

Vice-President Maloney on account of the referred to strike, and that the rule established was that where members of the General Executive Board reside and funds were being remitted, same should be expended under the supervision of the resident General Executive Board member.

Wage scale of Local 479, LaCrosse, Wis., was approved and provisions made to finance the local union in the event of a strike.

Wage scale of Local 30, San Francisco, Cal., was endorsed and customary financial provisions made.

Application of Local 737, York, Pa., to pay strike funds to one man called out by that local union was denied.

Application of Local Joint Executive Board of Toronto, Ont., Can., for funds on account of a defensive campaign was approved and remittance made.

Application of Local Joint Executive Board of Toronto, Ont., Canada, for the privilege of calling a strike at an establishment in their city was referred to the General Executive Board meeting in June, 1914.

Request of the Local Joint Executive Board of Chicago for the privilege of reinstating W. F. Jones of said city, said Jones having been expelled, was refused by the General Executive Board.

Application of Local Joint Executive Board of Indianapolis, Ind., to finance a strike in that city was approved and funds remitted.

Local 162, Trinidad, Colo., asked for financial assistance, as the establishments where they were employed had been closed on account of the martial law being declared in connection with the miners' strike in that city. Temporary financial assistance rendered and the subject matter referred to the General Executive Board meeting of June, 1914.

Application of Local 41, San Francisco, Cal., to solicit funds from locals to help John Stegeman, on trial for manslaughter, was approved.

CINCINNATI, OHIO, JUNE 15, 1914.

Meeting called to order at 10 a. m., Monday, June 15, 1914, by General President Edward Flore.

Roll call found the following present: Robert B. Hesketh, Frank Hoffman, W. H. Foster, C. W. McCurdy, F. Sesma, Paul Steffler and Jere L. Sullivan, secretary-treasurer.

A communication from Vice-President Sister Elizabeth Maloney advises that, owing to a conference which was to occur in Chicago today (June 15), she would be unable to attend until Tuesday, June 16.

Vice-President Hesketh was appointed assistant secretary during the Board sessions.

The General Executive Board stood in silence for a moment in remembrance of our departed colleague, the late Bro. James J. English, fourth vice-president.

Secretary-Treasurer Sullivan read the proof of the article which was printed in the June MIXER AND SERVER relative to the death and burial of their late co-worker, Bro. James J. English, and advised the Board that he had endeavored to offer therein their appreciation of their late brother. Action of the general secretary-treasurer approved.

The Board also approved the secretary-treasurer's action in ordering a suitable floral tribute in behalf of the membership of the International Union, as well as thanking Bro. William J. Leary, secretary of Local 77, Boston, Mass., for carrying out the request of the Board with reference to ordering same.

Bro. Thomas S. Farrell, of Local 106, Cleveland, Ohio, addressed the Board, and reviewed the situation which confronts our local unions in the State of Ohio and adjoining states. He called to the attention of the Board the attitude of the opponents of license laws as represented in the Anti-Saloon League, cited instances which seemed to warrant accusations of criminal indifference on the part of our allied crafts and their employers, and urged that the Board devote every spare moment in trying to devise ways and means to overcome the obstacles mentioned. Brother Farrell took occasion to declare that certain culinary workers, who were more engrossed in trying to weaken our International Union than to help strengthen its position, were enemies on the inside, and if he understood anything about trade unionism, the enemy inside the ranks was a greater menace than the one on the outside. The cooks, waiters, waitresses and hotel and restaurant employes affiliated with our International Union have given no local anywhere in the country the right to speak for them, and the pretensions set forth in their publication that they were authorized to speak for the culinary workers of America was nothing short of insufferable insolence, compared to which ordinary brass were as putty. When the proper time comes the friends of the International Union will discover that the most ardent workers for its perpetuation and continuation along the lines which it has traveled for fourteen years are the cooks, waiters and waitresses; and whenever they feel that new leaders or methods are needed, they will seek the former among the skilled workers—trade unionists to the core—and look to their choice to produce such methods as they believe necessary to continue the marked progress which has made our International Union one of the great unions attached to the American Federation of Labor. I know that I am speaking for the culinary unions of my own city when I say that we want organization of the kind which is best expressed by the age-old labor war cry, "Get together, and stick together."

Brother Farrell was followed by Bro. John J. Graney of Local 212, Youngstown, Ohio, who reviewed minutely the campaign through which himself and the members of his local union passed through during the recent campaign. Brother Graney gave the Board a clear insight into the tactics which have been promulgated and are being carried out by the Anti-Saloon League. He averred that the amount of money which that organization collected in the year of 1913 was more than double the amount which our International Union has received from all sources since its inception, and with that immense amount they have been able to reach out into fields which our limited revenues would not permit. He also said that the opponents of the catering industry are letting nothing undone to eliminate the places where our allied crafts find employment; nothing is too small in the shape of a town or village for them; they overlook nothing, and they exercise generalship which has gone far beyond the laughing stage, and what may have been regarded as a joke by us some years ago has developed into a tragic reality. Bro. Graney continued: "My chief purpose in appearing before you is to encourage you to keep fighting as you have been doing. There may be, and unfortunately there are, a number in our International Union who have not awakened to the seriousness of the situation, but if you continue your efforts you will have the pleasing satisfaction of knowing that you have done your duty and tried to show others how to do theirs. Speaking for my own local union, I will say that we wish you every measure of success and the good health to keep on the job."

Brothers Farrell and Graney, being members of the Executive Board of the Ohio State Federation of Labor, were compelled to leave us before they had fully outlined plans which they believed would prove beneficial to the state and elsewhere.

The strike and lockout at Stockton, Cal., was the next subject which the Board gave attention. Vice-President Sesma gave the Board a vivid picture of conditions, and this was supplemented by correspondence from Organizer Merryfield, Secretary J. C. Doyle, of the Local Executive Board, and Business Agent T. J. Vitaich, of the Stockton Central Labor Council. Undisputed evidence was offered to show that the Merchants, Manufacturers and Employers' Association had deliberately planned to bring about labor troubles and sought to compel the removal of all union bar and union house signs. The Central Labor and Building Trades Councils got right on the job, created a joint strike board, and, with the aid of International Union representatives, have the situation well in hand. The general secretary was instructed to forward immediately a check and to follow same with further funds when needed.

Correspondence from the Local Joint Executive Board of Seattle, Wash., covering efforts of our locals in that city, were read and discussed. Vice-President Hesketh reviewed the situation in his city and explained the system under which the Local Joint Executive Board was working to produce good results. The Board agreed to finance the campaign, and ordered the secretary to remit at once and follow up with further remittance if necessary.

The campaign inaugurated after the Denver Convention against the White Lunch Company was given attention. Vice-President Sesma gave a detailed description of the work which was being done in San Francisco by the Local Joint Executive Board of that city. Secretary Sullivan presented detailed financial statements as submitted by the Local Joint Executive Board of San Francisco, Cal. Said statements covered funds remitted by the International Union.

Adjourned at 12 o'clock.

CINCINNATI, OHIO, JUNE 15, 1914.

The afternoon session was called to order by President Flore at 1:30 p. m. Roll call found the same members in attendance as participated in the morning session. The subject of the White Lunch Company was again taken up for discussion. Correspondence from Secretary Dan Regan, of the Local Joint Executive Board of San Francisco, asking for further finances to enable them to continue the work, was read, and notes taken of the methods employed by our members to win success. Efforts to restrain the Local Joint Executive Board by injunction was overcome by using donkeys to advertise. The Local Joint Executive Board has several donkeys parading the streets, and, despite efforts to secure court action, the White Lunch Company has failed to produce the result which they seek—that of preventing advertising the White Lunch Company as employers of non-union labor.

After going over the matter carefully, the Board decided to remit further funds to continue the advertising campaign in San Francisco, Cal.

An application was received from Local 100, New Bedford, Mass., for approval of their wage scale and agreement, as well as financial assistance from the Defense Fund, in the event that their employers decline to grant the requests contained in the new wage schedule. The Board approved the new wage scale, and instructed the general secretary to inform the local that the usual financial aid would be forthcoming if same were necessary.

A communication was received from Local 810, of Nokomis, Ill., advising the Board that their town had been voted dry and that the majority of their members had secured employment at Witt, Ill., and on account of the change they ask that their charter be transferred from Nokomis to Witt. The Board instructed the secretary to advise the petitioners that their request has been granted, and that new seal and charter will be forthcoming on usual payment for same.

It having been agreed at the morning session that if Brothers Farrell and Graney were able to obtain leave of absence from the State Executive Board session, an hour's discussion would be in order, said discussion to cover affairs under the entire jurisdiction of the International Union. The referred to brothers were able to be present, and for an hour and a half the conditions surrounding our allied crafts in all parts of the country were considered. The object which the Board had in holding such conference and engaging in discussion was to secure the viewpoint of two very able members, one of them, Brother Farrell, having been an active Board member for several years, while every member who has the privilege of Brother Graney's acquaintance can testify to his deep interest in the well-being of our allied crafts. During the discussion the point was brought out many times that our members are not sufficiently interested in trade union affairs; they are rather inclined to overlook the necessity of co-operating with other labor organizations, and that fact being noted, interferes with their progress when confronted with inimical legislation or troubles of a trade character. Another point made evident from the discussion was the failure of our members to register, and thus be entitled to vote at all city, county, state and national elections. The Board offered to the two brothers thanks for their patience and efforts, and wished them success in their work of waking up their fellow members in the State of Ohio.

An appeal made by Local 603, of Sacramento, Cal., against decision No. 473, was heard and the decision ratified without a dissenting vote. It was suggested that those interested in that particular case endeavor to get together and arrive at a conclusion which would not prevent proper progress being made.

Correspondence from Secretary Charles Grassman, of Local 339, Portland, Ore., was read. Brother Grassman called attention to the approaching battle in the State of Oregon, and urged that funds be set aside to enable the locals in that state to put a battle in opposition to sumptuary legislation advocates. After considerable discussion and mature consideration of the funds now in hand, it was agreed to set aside the sum of $100 for each local in the state; and should the campaign warrant it, additional funds, not to exceed a total of $1,000, be used to carry on the campaign. The Board further instructed their secretary to make distribution of the fund set aside in whatever manner his judgment dictated.

Adjourned at 5 p. m.

TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 16, 1914.

Meeting called to order at 9 a. m. by President Flore.

Roll call found the following in attendance: Hesketh, Hoffman, Foster, McCurdy, Sesma, Maloney, Steffler and Secretary-Treasurer Sullivan.

Correspondence was received from Local 60, Du Quoin, Ill., asking for aid in getting unorganized bartenders in their vicinity into the union, and also asking that they be given the right of jurisdiction over Sesser, West City and Buckner, as these cities offered what they believed was an excellent argument for the Board to act favorably on their application.

Secretary was instructed to notify Local 60, as well as all locals which sought to extend their lines of jurisdiction, that the action of the Boston Convention (page 154, June, MIXER AND SERVER) prohibited the General Executive Board from granting such requests, but that if capable craftsmen or craftswomen were employed in unorganized adjacent localities, such persons could, if they so desired, make application and become members of a nearby active local union, and that such applicants were to elect their choice of locals, and no coercion should be employed to secure their affiliation.

Correspondence from Local 199, of Jamestown, N. Y., was read. The secretary of that local desired to know whether they were compelled to recognize a withdrawal card issued to a former member on the eve of his going to trial on the charge of being connected with a safe-blowing and robbery case. Said former member pleaded guilty, and was given a prison sentence. On his release, he evidently tried to deposit the withdrawal card with Local 199.

Secretary Sullivan read his reply, which in substance was that the local erred in issuing the withdrawal card, and as they knew the circumstances surrounding the case, they should have cancelled his membership immediately on his admission of guilt; that no local would accept such person to membership under the circumstances, and that if they desired to take the matter up with the general president, that was their privilege. The object in injecting this item in the report of the Board is to emphasize the fact that our organization is not an asylum for persons with police records, and local unions which accept such persons to membership are doing an injury to the men and women who compose our membership.

A telegram from Local 603, of Sacramento, Cal., advised us that the appeal from the decision of General President Flore was withdrawn, and that the case which the appeal covered had been adjusted by the interested unions.

Secretary was instructed to write for verification of telegram and inform Local 603 that official advice must come under seal of said local.

A communication was received from Local Joint Board of Stockton, Cal., giving particulars with reference to strike and lockout in that city and asking for financial assistance. They asked that $1,500 be set aside for their use.

Secretary was instructed to inform the Local Joint Board of Stockton that the Board had already taken action and had forwarded remittance to International Organizer Merryfield, and that if further funds were required same would be sent.

The wage scale of Local 180, San Jose, Cal., was read and approved. The Board also ordered the usual sum set aside from the Defense Fund in the event that Local 180 found difficulty in securing the signing of contracts.

Correspondence was received from Cooks' Union, Local 865, of Chicago, relative to organizing Japanese and Korean cooks in that city. This subject occupied the remainder of the morning session and was unfinished at time of adjournment.

Adjourned at 12 o'clock.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON, JUNE 16, 1914.

Meeting called to order at 1:30 p. m., General President Flore presiding.
Roll call found all members present.

The correspondence from Local 865 and discussion of the Japanese and Korean cooks proposition continued. The Board adopted the following:

"Inasmuch as the convention of the A. F. of L. have repeatedly gone on record as being opposed to unrestricted admission of Asiatic laborers into this country, in fact, has adopted resolutions and urged Congress to enact Asiatic exclusion laws, we, the members of the General Executive Board, do decline to assume the responsibility of tendering encouragement to Asiatics or to hold out to them any expectation of being admitted to membership in our organization."

A communication from W. J. Burnette, of Local 192, Atlanta, Ga., relative to possibility of securing consideration from national political parties and the injection of a plank in their platform which would favor liberal license legislation, was perused and carefully considered. The Board believed the suggestion a good one, but inasmuch as a general convention occurs previous to the conventions of the acknowledged political conventions, the present Board could hardly take action, hence refer the proposal to the incoming General Executive Board.

A proposal was received from Local 619, Holyoke, Mass., relative to establishing a separate branch of that local for waitresses. The secretary was instructed to advise Local 619 that the laws do not make provision for such contemplated unions within unions, and recommends one of two courses: secure the application of the waitresses to become members of Local 619, or endeavor to organize a Waitresses' Union.

A communication was received from President W. W. Lusk, Local 69, Galveston, Texas, relative to granting charters to employees working at soda water fountains, or where soft drinks, light lunches and ice cream are served.

The discussion on this subject took a wide scope. The Board concluded that our International Union has jurisdiction over such employees, and, consequently, will consider applications for charters, and if conditions warrant, issue same.

A proposal was made by Organizer Jere F. McCarthy to print in pamphlet form the speech of former Internal Revenue Commissioner Royal E. Cabell, and send same to local unions for distribution.

The Board instructed the secretary to investigate the probable cost of getting enough of the pamphlets printed to place a quantity in the hands of all members for distribution, and if in his judgment, the organization should assume such obligation to proceed with the matter.

A communication was received from Local 30, San Francisco, Cal., soliciting appropriation for the employment of a local organizer to carry on a campaign which would enlist the affiliation of the "bus" boys.

Secretary was instructed to reply that, inasmuch as the International Union was at this time engaged in trying to finance several strikes and a lockout, as well as trying to care for sections of our jurisdiction where agitation for sumptuary legislation was being carried on, and as the International had maintained in and adjacent to San Francisco, Cal., two organizers for a considerable period of time, they did not feel as though they could obligate the organization to further organizing expense on account of San Francisco and vicinity.

An application was received from Local Joint Executive Board of Oakland, Cal., for an appropriation of $1,000 to carry on a campaign of organizing. Communications and outline of proposed plans submitted by said Local Joint Executive Board also given consideration.

The Board instructed the secretary to advise the Local Joint Executive Board of Oakland that, owing to conditions surrounding our organization at this time, that the amount asked for could not be set aside, but that the funds of the organization would permit the employment of a local special organizer for a period of not to exceed twelve weeks at the usual rate of $15 per week.

A communication was received from President Gompers, of the A. F. of L., with reference to applications from members of our International Union for positions as organizers.

Matter referred to secretary for disposition, and to advise President Gompers that no person had been given any encouragement by the General Executive Board to seek for such recognition.

The following resolution was concurred in by unanimous vote:

"Whereas, There has been a question raised as to the authority exercised by the general secretary-treasurer in accepting applications from persons who were connected with locals which have ceased to exist, permitting such applicants to become members-at-large, thus granting them the privilege of transferring to active locals under whose jurisdiction they may be employed, and

"Whereas, This and previous General Executive Boards have acted on this subject matter and instructed the general secretary-treasurer to accept such applications on payment of an entrance fee based on the average fee exacted by the local unions in the district where the applicants propose to seek employment, and

"Whereas, The general secretary-treasurer has been required to insist on payment by such applicants of whatever pro ratio of funds which such applicants may have received when the funds of their union was divided, as well as to exact pro ratio payment of whatever expense may have been incurred by the representatives of the International Union in collecting outstanding union house or union bar cards, and

"Whereas, The Denver Convention declined to adopt measures which sought to establish a maximum reinstatement fee of six dollars, thus setting their stamp of approval on the law which confines the fee within the limits of one year's dues and thereby approving the methods employed by the general secretary-treasurer in the matter of reinstating persons from defunct unions, and

"Whereas, The general secretary-treasurer has been empowered to use his judgment in all cases of such applicants, therefore be it

"Resolved, That we hereby reiterate the position taken by this and previous General Executive Boards in the matter of reinstating persons from defunct locals, and hereby reinstruct the general secretary-treasurer to continue to practice the same general care and caution in the premises as he has in the past when handling all such cases."

Correspondence from the Local Joint Executive Board of Newark, N. J., relative to the strikes which our locals in that city have been engaged in for some time, was read; also application of said board for funds to help them continue their campaign.

Board approved of their request, and instructed the secretary to remit amount of funds set aside for that purpose.

Correspondence with Local 109, of Newark, N. J., relative to said local retaining on their roster a person who had been deprived of membership by another local, was read; also later correspondence, in which the said Local 109 receded from its position and offered acceptable apologies for its error.

General secretary's action in connection with this case indorsed.

Adjourned at 5:45 p. m.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 17, 1914.

Meeting called to order at 9 a. m. by President Flore.

All Board members present at roll call.

A miscellaneous assortment of correspondence relating to the rights of local unions in the matter of accepting traveling cards was laid before the Board by the secretary. Local unions appear to carry the impression that they have a legal right to refuse such traveling cards on one pretense or another, and this action causes considerable friction not only between the affected members, but between the local unions involved in the cases. Cases reviewed showed a number of instances where the local unions assumed greater powers than the International laws, claiming the right to decline to accept cards as long as they had any members of their local out of employment. Other cases cited showed a few locals assuming the right to penalize such traveling card members previous to acceptance of the traveling card. Almost the entire morning session was consumed in reviewing the various communications referred to.

The Board especially calls the following to the attention of all local unions: "Section 68 of our laws make it imperative on the holder of a traveling card to deposit same before the expiration of sixty days from date of issue. Members failing to comply fully with that provision shall be suspended, and under the laws such suspension is not raised until the holder of such card pays the International reinstatement fee of 25 cents."

It therefore follows that, if local unions deny to such traveling card holders the rights to which they are entitled under our laws, they force such members into suspension without legal authority and place themselves liable to civil action before the courts; for it is assumed that in numerous cases the local unions are powerful enough to prevent such traveling members from securing and retaining employment, and that before some courts constitute damages.

Section 71 expressly commands all locals to recognize and admit all members who come with properly made-out traveling card and paid-up membership book. The words in that section which read, "The Secretary of a local union accepting same (traveling card) must record the date of acceptance in membership book, on page intended for that purpose," means, if they mean anything, that the practice of denying members the right of becoming members of a sister union by deposit of traveling card, and beginning on the date which the secretary accepts the card, compelling such members to await the action of a local union, is positively contrary to the letter and spirit of the law. The plain instructions laid down in Sections 68 and 71 give no right of review or rejection to a local union on any traveling card issued in full compliance with the laws governing such issue.

Further discussion revealed cases where members of local unions removed from the city where they held membership, became residents of another city, made no effort to secure traveling card, nor did they, so far as known, seek for employment; yet during their residence in the latter city mingled with the members of local unions, and when members of said local union endeavored to urge non-members to become attached as members, said visiting members made injurious and seemingly unwarranted comments, in substance affirming that the local union to which the non-members had been invited to become members was no good and didn't amount to much. Later on these members sent for traveling cards, secured same and tried to deposit said card, but the union declined to accept until the owner of the card offered apology for what the union properly called wrongdoing.

It was admitted that such cases were exceptional, but despite infrequency of occurrence, the law provides that the traveling card must be accepted. If after acceptance the members of the local union felt that any injury had been done them, the acceptance of the card did not obliterate the action complained of; they had a legal and lawful method to secure redress.

Further discussion postponed until afternoon session.

Adjourned at 11:55 a. m.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON, JUNE 17, 1914.

Meeting called to order at 1:30 p. m., General President Flore presiding.
All members responded to roll call.

Further discussion on traveling cards:

Members have secured traveling cards and continued to work under the jurisdiction of their local union. Several such made the contention that securing such traveling card made them practically immune from the operation of laws and rules governing employment. Locals in several instances have accepted such declarations, with the consequent result that possessors of such traveling cards made it almost impossible to enforce rules and regulations governing employment. Another case occurred where a member took out traveling card, remained at work as usual and declined to pay dues, saying that possession of the card absolved him from further payment of dues until such time as he felt disposed to deposit his card, when by payment of one month's dues he would regain full membership and be entitled to all benefits. When his attention was called to the reading of Section 68, he replied that the purpose of a traveling card was not understood by his local union or at headquarters, either; he knew and would maintain his rights, even to the extent of going into the courts. It developed later that this very member tried to secure benefits after his suspension, and despite expenditure of several dollars for attorney fees, discovered that his interpretation of our laws failed to impress the civil authorities.

The Board does not hesitate to express the conviction that any member securing a traveling card for the purpose of evading payment of monthly dues or to avoid abiding with the rules and regulations governing employment, has much to learn about the aims and objects of our International Union, and that where evidence is positive our locals are well within their rights to file charges and discipline such persons; that what is true of traveling cards is equally true with withdrawal cards, when same are secured for the above indicated purpose.

Another phase of membership abuse which the Board directs the attention of our members to, is the practice of members moving to another city, securing employment and making no effort to maintain good standing in their home local or transferring to the union under whose jurisdiction they may be employed. Instance after instance has occurred where members have worked under the jurisdiction of a sister union, declined to transfer and then return to their home local, pay up all arrearages and imagine that they are true union men.

Local unions should insist on knowing where such persons have been employed during their absence, if they have violated the spirit of the laws they should be dealt with accordingly. Such members are selfishly constituted; they are members for revenue only, they are not in sympathy with their struggling craftsmen, all they seek is to parade as unionists and gather the benefits of the toil of others, they are the first ones to deposit their cards in a city where the local union is powerful enough to secure good wages and enjoy fair trade conditions, and the last ones to seek affiliation with a struggling local which is trying to improve wages and conditions.

We should be jealous of our reputation and frown on such men. They are a real handicap for they are the ones who usually display their lack of co-operation which prompts trades unionists to conclusions which injures us to a greater extent than we can calculate; those are the fellows that wear our union button and take pains to spend their coin for non-union products.

Such members retain membership in a local union just as long as they can enjoy conditions exceptionally advantageous to them, but if conditions change and they desire to remove to another local union's jurisdiction they seldom deposit traveling card, unless the local union is fortunate enough to be able to offer them similar advantages as they enjoyed in the city from whence they came; if it so happens that the union is weak and numerically small, they make no pretensions whatsoever, boldly declaring that they will not attach themselves to the union because it is weak and their very audacity succeeds in stopping the officers of the weak union from filing proper complaint. The Board is convinced that considerable numbers of such persons are permitted to regain active membership without proper investigation, and urges on all unions careful scrutiny of the actions of absentees, insisting on knowing where they have been employed during their suspension from membership. Members who deliberately decline to attach themselves to locals under whose jurisdiction they are employed simply because such locals are struggling to improve conditions and have not succeeded, are not entitled to and should not be permitted to reinstate when fancy prompts or conditions promise good returns; such persons are members for revenue, they seek the privilege of enjoying conditions created by the labor of others, and that should be emphatically denied them.

The campaign started in 1908 to organize the waitresses has not been as successful as we had hoped for; every legitimate effort has been made to interest the trade unionists of the land, but discouraging results have been secured. The following resolution was introduced at the convention of the American Federation of Labor in the year 1908 and it was adopted by a unanimous vote, its reproduction herein is for the purpose of again calling to the attention of all of our members the necessity of trying to organize and maintain waitresses unions in their towns and cities.

Resolution No. 66—By Delegates T. J. Sullivan, Jere L. Sullivan, John H. Wallace, Thos. S. Farrell and W. Q. Sullivan, of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America:

"Whereas, It is a well known fact that the women wage earners of the country are forced to labor under distressing and inhuman conditions, working long hours, for miserably small wages, hardly sufficient to keep body and soul together, and wholly inadequate to maintain them in anything resembling respectability; and

"Whereas, The women employed in public service establishments, such as hotels, restaurants, cafes and similar institutions are by reason of their unorganized conditions suffering under a species of bondage that should not prevail in a free country such as ours is alleged to be; and

"Whereas, We believe that if the organized workers and such organizations that seek to ameliorate the distressing conditions under which the women wage earners of our country are forced to labor will lend their assistance, that with such co-operation our International Union will be able in the very near future to produce excellent results in establishing and organizing the women wage workers employed in the hotels, restaurants and similar public service establishments into good, active unions; and

"Whereas, We believe that the organized workers of America are opposed to intolerable conditions and meager compensation for all the men and women of this land; Government statistics show that there are hundreds of thousands of unorganized female workers employed in the hotels, restaurants, etc., in these United States, who, by reason of the long hours they are compelled to toil and generally unsanitary accommodations are seldom free from the necessity of medical care and attention; therefore, be it

"Resolved, By the Twenty-Eighth Annual Convention of the American Federation of Labor, That we pledge the moral assistance of every affiliated organization to the before mentioned female workers and urge the unionists and their friends to endeavor to establish in their respective cities, unions of these female workers."

Adjourned at 5:35 p. m.

THURSDAY MORNING, JUNE 18, 1914.

Meeting called to order at 9:15 a. m. President Flore presiding.

Roll call found all members present.

Correspondence relating to procedure in filing charges was read and discussed at length; the Board finally adopted the following:

"Whereas, Some confusion has resulted in endeavoring to reconcile the provisions of Section 102 with Section 172, the General Executive Board hereby reiterates the following definite procedure: In the case of charges against a member or members by a member or members of another local or locals, said charges shall be filed in duplicate (preferably typewritten) with the general president, who shall review the case and render judgment in accordance with the facts presented."

In explanation of the foregoing action the Board presented the following:

Section 102 reads in part: "The president shall decide all questions of law, or regulate any controversy or difficulty that may arise, subject to an appeal to the General Executive Board, etc."

If it were not the manifest intention of the framers of that law to bestow on the president powers of a lower court, why were provisions injected in that section for an appeal from his authority?

Section 172 would seemingly deprive the individual of the right to appeal to a higher court. The section provides for General Executive Board judgment exclusively, and that Board, in the case of individuals, is final.

Other provisions of our book of laws grant the privilege to the individual to appeal to three courts—the Local Joint Executive Board, the General President and the General Executive Board. Hence, the conclusion reached and the action relative to procedure reiterated.

The appeal of Local 14 of Denver, Colo., for reversal of Decision No. 395, rendered under date of December 24, 1913, was gone into thoroughly, and the following action taken:

Decision No. 395, which Local 14 of Denver, desires reversed, contains two distinct propositions which, in our judgment, should have been divided, complicating a question of law with allegations of wrong doing on the part of the real contestants, each making allegations against the other, tends to confuse and confound, thus making it impractical to render judgment. We therefore suggest that the president withdraw his decision (395) and urge on all concerned immediate compliance with our laws."

In connection with the foregoing case the Board wishes to utter a word of caution. The General Executive Board endeavors to determine all proposals coming before it to the best of their ability; the practice of writing to the members of the Board trying to influence them one way or the other on cases under consideration, approaches very close to intimidation or coercion and should be discontinued. Facts, and not personal friendship is the basis whereon they return a verdict. To advise the Board that a pleasing decision will be acceptable, but that the contrary indicates their lack of knowledge, might produce judgment of an unbiased character, but is more likely to create resentment and biased judgment.

Appellants who advise the Board that unless a verdict is in their favor they will decline to abide by such decision, may discover that the Board has rights which it may exercise.

Applications for reinstatement of George Buhler, C. E. Wilkerson, Harry Woods, Alex. Steele, George Harper and Jack Powers, whose membership in the International Union was cancelled some months ago, was taken under-consideration and the following decision reached:

"Application for reinstatement of the foregoing is approved; they shall apply to headquarters and remit the sum of $9.35 each. The foregoing conclusion being reached with the understanding that it is the wish of our Chicago unions that these men be allowed to reinstate."

Subject matter of organizing colored bartenders was brought to the attention of the Board, through correspondence from the central body at Pittsburg, Pa., and headquarters of the A. F. of L.

Matter left in the hands of president and secretary to dispose of favorably when application is filed for charter.

Adjourned at 12:00 noon.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON, JUNE 18, 1914.

Board reconvened at 1:30, with President Flore presiding and all members responding to roll call.

The labor provisions of the Clayton (anti-trust) bill (H. B. 15657) were given consideration and the action of the general secretary in connection therewith approved. The Board desires to add to what has been submitted to our locals from headquarters, that "reports have been circulated that the United States Senate, either through committee or in the Senate itself, may attempt to modify and thereby minimize the purpose of the legislation so essential to achieve the rights to which the toilers of our country are entitled." And we believe that each member of our organization can do great good by meeting with acquaintances and friends and urging them to write their state senators, insisting on them voting in favor of the labor provisions of the Clayton Bill, which bill passed the House of Representatives by a practically unanimous vote. By taking the foregoing steps now there is reason to hope that the bill will be passed before the adjournment of this session of Congress. The Clayton Bill contains the provisions taking voluntary associations from under the Sherman Anti-trust law and the other portions of the measure care for injunctions and contempt proceedings. These labor provisions in the Clayton Bill are satisfactory to the American Federation of Labor and the officers of that organization are leaving nothing undone to secure the passage of said bill. Again, we say, get busy now, be sure and write your Senators at once and encourage your fellow members to do likewise.

The remainder of the afternoon session was devoted to discussion and perfection of plans, ways and means to overcome the steady advance of the sumptuary legislation fanatics. The Board recognizes the fact that on this question much has been said and written, yet they would hardly feel satisfied with themselves as officers of our International Union if they did not reiterate their views and recommend persistent and continued agitation in opposition to any and all measures which even remotely contemplate restriction of the field where our members are employed. Membership in this International Union means citizenship and each one of you should see to it that you are able to exercise your right of citizenship in the one effective manner, namely, having a vote and using it for the protection of the catering industry. As a final word on the subject we insist that you owe it to yourself and those dependent on you to register and thereby be entitled to vote when the opportunity offers.

Adjourned at 5:00 p. m.

FRIDAY MORNING, JUNE 19, 1914.

Meeting called to order at 9 a. m. by President Flore, all members answering to roll call.

Strike situation at Chicago, Ill., was reported on by Vice-President Sister Elizabeth Maloney. She recited in detail all of the incidents which developed in that strike, showed where our locals tried repeatedly to avoid trouble, sought conferences and seemed in a fair way to bring about adjustment. How the Employers' Association broke into the lime-light by urging the employers of our members to decline to enter into agreements with our unions; showed how the employers' organization made preparations to engage our unions in a fight and the methods which they employed to secure police protection as they called it. She illustrated how vicious and mean the police force acted towards the girls who were on picket duty; exposed the scheme of the employers' organization, which caused the arrest of pickets, taking them to the police stations and booking them on every charge under the sun, endeavoring thereby to exhaust the patience of the members and use up all available support in the matter of furnishing bonds for members arrested. Stated that at one time our girls were compelled to furnish close to two hundred thousand dollars for bonds—not for great, big husky men—but for poor girls—working girls, who if the actions of the police in their frightful treatment of the girls was to be regarded as an indication of their law-breaking proclivities, were about the worst criminals outside of prison. Imagine, if you will, the spectacle of a 200-pound burly, low-browed copper, using his brute strength in arresting frail girls, of from 119 to 125 pounds weight; twisting their arms, bruising their body and mistreating them worse even than rough-neck dock wallopers who usually resist arrest. Can't you picture the bravery of such poltroons cowardly whelps who, if unarmed and divested of authority would show a yellow streak before a 16-year-old newsboy. These alleged policemen should be forced to live in history and the most appropriate design for a medal to hang on their cowardly breasts would be one depicting bulky brutes grinding their heels in the face of girls of immature age.

Was it any wonder, with such miserable cowards in charge of police duty, that gun-men and thugs found it easy to insult and maltreat girls, members of our local union in Chicago?

It would take pages to describe all of the incidents connected with this strike. It is not won; the fight is on and the General Executive Board feels that it voices the judgment of our members when it asserts, that if it takes every dollar which this International possesses, to that extent will we go in order that Waitresses' Local Union 484 of Chicago may have the opportunity of proving to the Employers' Association that, despite their unmanly and heartless actions and the support of as brutal a bunch of police as yet remain out of the lower regions, they can't be whipped, and will not cease supporting them as long as there is a dollar to be made and contributed in their behalf; we say to them in behalf of the organization: Sisters, you have put up a grand battle; go to it and keep going until you win; we stand ready to back you to the limit.

Secretary-treasurer was instructed to send check to Chicago at once and to follow same up with sufficient remittances to maintain pickets until further notice.

Adjourned at 12:00 noon.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON, JUNE 19, 1914.

Board convened at 1:30 p. m., President Flore in the chair.

All members responded to roll call.

Correspondence was received from Local 162, of Trinidad, Colo., acknowledging receipt of remittance sent by general office to help the members until the Board could take further action in the premises.

Owing to strikes occurring in the vicinity of Trinidad and trouble ensuing between the miners and the mine operatives and owners, first the state militia were called in, and finally the Federal troops took command of the situation; our members, despite being non-combatants, were made to suffer by reason of the action of the military authorities, who ordered all saloons closed and kept closed until further orders. This situation is one for which no special provision has been made in our laws, but the Board believes that, in justice to the members of Local 162, who cannot very well leave home and kindred, some financial provision should be made. The Board agreed to aid the members of Local 162, and instructed the general secretary to make further remittances.

Extensive correspondence from Stockton, Cal., was received and considered. It is evident from the preparations of the M. M. & E. Association that they propose to put up a continuous battle and wipe out not only our two locals, but other labor organizations in the city of Stockton. It is barely possible that even when this report is being read by our membership our locals in the city of Stockton will still be engaged in strike, and members are urged to discourage travel by our craftsmen in the direction of that city.

Additional correspondence and telegram received from the Local Joint Executive Board of Toronto, Canada, relative to calling a strike in a hotel in that city on account of poor food, treatment and conditions. They want immediate sanction to call strike, urging the Board to act and approve same. This case was pending for some time, awaiting developments as well as investigation. After giving the matter further consideration, the Board instructed the secretary to advise the Local Joint Executive Board of Toronto, that they could proceed, provided it was possible for them to do so on a limited amount of money, otherwise the Board advised that they await the arrival of the General President, who will endeavor to visit their city at the earliest possible date.

Vacancy on the Board caused by the death of the late Brother James J. English, was the next proposition for action. Precedent having been established that Vice-Presidents in the event of vacancy shall move up, thus leaving Eighth Vice-President's position vacant. Several nominations were presented for consideration. Brother John W. Conley, of Local 77, of Boston, Mass., was selected, and the secretary instructed to inform Brother Conley of his election as soon as convenient.

Local 81, of Holyoke, Mass., took an appeal from Decision No. 168, rendered under date of June 13, 1912. The decision of the General President was sustained without dissenting vote.

Correspondence covering the jurisdiction disputes in the city of Boston, between Locals 6 and 80, was perused. Correspondence solicited no definite action on the part of the Board, hence it was assumed that the matter was simply forwarded for information. It is anticipated that the interested locals will endeavor to adjust the differences without causing any friction whatsoever.

The appeal filed with the General Executive Board by Local 273, of Springfield, Mass., and an immense volume of correspondence was next given attention. In fact, the subject matter occupied a considerable portion of the afternoon session. It was the opinion of the Board that this matter, in view of so much conflicting testimony, had best be investigated before final action should take place. With that understanding, the General President agreed to accept the suggestion to re-open the case.

Communications from the State Federation of Labor and the Civic League of Oklahoma with reference to a campaign to secure signatures to a petition for the purpose of supporting State Question 76 and attempt to rid Oklahoma (to use the expression of the Secretary of the State Federation of Labor) of the damnable conditions prevailing by reason of the Prohibition Law operating in that state at the present time. The Board believes in assisting in this campaign and therefore made a small appropriation for the purpose outlined above, same being remitted to the State Federation of Labor.

The General Secretary was authorized to use his judgment in the matter of permitting additional allowance in the matter of expense incurred by organizers on special missions in connection with the interests of this organization.

The Board reviewed at length the management of Headquarters, the General Secretary offering detail information with reference to the methods employed in conducting the business of the organization. A special review of the finances was made by the Board and they expressed themselves as heartily satisfied with the system in operation at Headquarters. The remainder of the session was devoted to an investigation of the system above referred to and to watch its operation.

Adjourned at 6:00 p. m.

SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 20, 1914.

Board convened at 9:00 a. m. President Flore in the Chair. All members answered roll call.

Telegram of Local 17, of Los Angeles, California, giving notice of an appeal from the decision rendered by the General President with reference to the endorsement of Section 24 of the International Laws. The Secretary was instructed to file the telegram and advised the local that no telegrams were received at Headquarters as an official document, that all official matter must come under the seal of the local union and be properly signed as is provided in our laws.

Correspondence of John H. Rooney, Secretary of Local 302, Butte, Montana, with reference to the situation in that city was taken up. While the Board was perusing said correspondence, telegram was received from Charles H. Moyer, President of the Western Federation of Miners, telegram indicating that organized labor as a whole was in jeopardy in that locality and that prompt action on the part of all organizations was essential in order to maintain the position of the American Federation of Labor in that city. The foregoing was referred to the General Secretary-Treasurer for disposition.

The communication of Local 70, of Brooklyn, New York, appealing for financial assistance on account of legal costs in which they became involved. It appears from the correspondence that the case may go to another court and the Board believes that until the case has been finally disposed of, the small amount solicited by the local union will not handicap their efforts. The Secretary was instructed to impart the foregoing information to the said local union.

In the matter of sumptuary legislation and like matters in connection with the International Union, the Board agreed that some method ought to be adopted and they therefore instructed the Secretary-Treasurer to proceed in whatever manner he deemed wise and authorized him to make whatever expenditures within reason for publicity against sumptuary legislation or attacks against the International Union.

In the matter of office supplies, the Secretary was instructed to secure such supplies and fixtures as were necessary for the proper transaction of business.

The Board endorsed the action of the General Secretary in making the MIXER AND SERVER a part of the International Labor Press Association.

In the question of Local Special Organizers, the General Secretary was empowered to use his own judgment in all cases and authorized to place temporary Local Special Organizers under any conditions which he believed would be advantageous to the progress of the International Union.

The question of additional organizers and a number of nominations were considered. The Board concluded that it would not at this time increase the number of organizers, therefore the applications will be held in abeyance and the nominees will be given consideration in the event of vacancies.

The situation with reference to St. Paul and vicinity was given an examination and the subject matter referred to Vice-President Hoffman to make a survey and determine what would be best to bring about an improvement of the situation.

Legislation in the State of Washington was a subject matter of very interesting discourse on the part of Vice-President Hesketh, at the conclusion of which the Board agreed to endeavor to make special efforts in Washington, Oregon and California to avert disaster.

The question of allowance to delegates representing the International Union to the conventions of the American Federation of Labor was considered and the Secretary instructed that delegates would be allowed transportation going to and coming from the Convention City by the most direct route.

In the question of appropriating to unions on account of sumptuary legislation, the Board believes that the system which has operated so successfully in the past several years, is quite good enough to continue. It believes that the General Secretary, who is in constant communication with the various locals throughout the country is in a better position to determine the amount that should be appropriated for this purpose.

The accounts of the MIXER AND SERVER, for the term up to date, were reviewed and approved.

Adjourned at 1:15 p. m.

JERE L. SULLIVAN, Secretary.

We received information to the effect that a number of our members of Local 86, Lynn, Mass., who resided at Salem, Mass., were victims of the conflagration in that city. We set aside a sum of money to care for their immediate wants and paid through the secretary of that local the appropriation.

Local 98, of Los Angeles, Cal., asked for an appropriation to cover debit against that local. Favorable action was taken.

Application of Local 17, Los Angeles, Cal., for an appropriation to cover per capita tax for three months was denied.

Appeal of Local 17, Los Angeles, Cal., against Decision 477, rendered June 10, 1914. The Board by unanimous vote sustained the General President's decision.

Application to permit amalgamation of Locals 273 and 416 of Springfield, Mass., was denied.

Application by Local 273, Springfield, Mass., to reimburse them for funds amounting to $40.75 alleged to have been expended in Hotel Vogel strike, was denied.

Application by the Local Joint Executive Board of Kansas City, Mo., for funds to aid in carrying on strike and organizing campaign, was approved and funds remitted.

Wage schedule and agreement of Local 461, Springfield, Mo., approved.

Wage scale and agreement of Local 155, Reading, Pa., approved.

We elected as International Auditors for the term March 1, 1914, to August 31, 1914, Sister Alice Lord of Local 240, Seattle, Wash., and Brothers J. H. Lammi of Local 12, San Antonio, Texas, and T. J. Linnane of Local 247, Des Moines, Iowa. This report was printed in the October, 1914, number of the MIXER AND SERVER.

Wage schedule and agreement of Local 631, Phoenix, Ariz., was approved.

Application of the Local Joint Executive Board, of Seattle, Wash., for funds to carry on a strike and organizing campaign in that city was approved and funds remitted.

Application by locals in the State of Virginia for funds to aid in carrying on campaign against State-wide prohibition approved and funds remitted.

Application by the Local Joint Executive Board, of Vancouver, B. C., for $1,000.00 to carry on a campaign of organization was denied. Later that Local Joint Executive Board modified their request and an appropriation was made.

Application by the Local Joint Executive Board, of Denver, Colo., for appropriation to aid in the State-wide campaign, was approved and remittance made.

Wage scale and agreement of Local 188, Pittsburgh, Pa., approved.

Application for charter covering the cities of Harrison and Kearney, New Jersey, was approved after thorough investigation, and charter issued for one local covering both cities.

Application of Local 420, Kansas City, Mo., for funds to be used in State-wide campaign. Request held in abeyance pending similar applications from other unions in that State. No remittance made.

We empowered the General Secretary-Treasurer to aid locals financially who were making a fight against sumptuary legislation; he, however, to make report of all such contributions rendered.

Wage schedule and agreement of Local 324, Appleton, Wis., approved.

We instructed Vice-President Hoffman to visit Moorhead, Minn., in connection with a local option fight being waged in that city.

We instructed Vice-President Foster to attend the Illinois State Federation of Labor convention at Peoria, October 20-25, 1914.

Application of Local 93, Haverhill, Mass., for funds on account of license campaign, was denied.

Application of Local 86, Lynn, Mass., for funds on account of license campaign, denied.

Application of the Local Joint Executive Board of San Diego, Cal., for funds to conduct general campaign in that city, was approved and funds remitted.

Application of Locals 1 and 219 of New York City, N. Y., to recall charter 276 issued to the Bronx, N. Y., was taken under consideration and further investigation. Decided to open the case at next meeting of the General Executive Board in San Francisco, Cal.

Application of the Local Joint Executive Board of Hoboken, N. J., for funds to carry on campaign of a general nature, was approved and funds remitted.

Wage schedule and agreement of Local 599, San Bernardino, Cal., approved.

Application of Local 445, Mojave, Cal., to be permitted to distribute tickets and solicit funds to increase their treasury, was denied.

Application of Local 575 of Jersey City, N. J., to make that local union a general culinary union was approved.

We authorized the General Secretary-Treasurer to remit from our funds the one cent assessment levied by the A. F. of L. on account of the United Hatters' case.

Application of the Local Joint Executive Board of Salt Lake City, Utah, for funds to conduct a strike, was approved and funds remitted.

Wage scale and agreement of Local 848, El Paso, Texas, was approved.

Application of Local 592, Winnipeg, Man., approved by the Local Joint Executive Board, to be permitted to strike against a reduction of wages and that funds be set aside for their use, approved. Finances forwarded.

Application of Local Joint Executive Board, Spokane, Wash., for an appropriation to enable them to conduct an aggressive organizing campaign approved and funds remitted.

To make it possible for Local 459 of Victoria, B. C., to continue in existence after their financial secretary had departed for parts unknown, we appropriated necessary funds to carry them over.

Locals 63, 400 and 450 of Spokane, Wash., applied for permission to amalgamate. Application approved. Local 400 is the number determined upon by the combined unions.

An appropriation was set aside to aid our two locals at Stockton, Cal., Nos. 403 and 572, to overcome the severe shock caused by the strike forced on them by the M., M. & E.

Wage schedule and agreement of Local 749, Galveston, Texas, was approved.

Local Joint Board of Sacramento, Cal., applied for funds to help them overcome the agitation inaugurated by the M., M. & E. Application approved and funds sent.

Wage schedule of Local 48, San Francisco, Cal., approved.

Application of Local Joint Executive Board of Sacramento, Cal., for extension of jurisdiction of Local 561 over the towns of Marysville and Woodlawn, Cal. Extension approved subject to acquiescence of this convention.

Application of Local 55, Edmonton, Alta, Can., for funds to conduct strike, which had been forced on them by employers, approved and finances sent.

Approved bill for printing 12-page booklet by Organizer A. F. Martel amounting to $18.50.

Approved transfer of Local 709 from Clifton, Arizona, to Lordsburg, New Mexico.

We elected Brothers D. C. Potter of Local 286, Peoria, Ill.; W. W. Hinton of Local 300, Toronto, Can., and E. L. Hiles of Local 420, Kansas City, Mo., as International Auditors for the term. Their report was printed in the May, 1915, number of the MIXER AND SERVER.

Application of Local Joint Executive Board, Toledo, O., for funds to carry on strike on account of attempted victimization of members of our locals in that city approved and funds remitted.

As intimated, the foregoing memorandum briefly covers the work which we have been called on to handle and dispose of during the term. There are, however, several matters remaining unfinished, which will probably be given further investigation and an attempt to dispose at our meetings in the convention city.

The period which this report covers has been one of serious occurrences to our membership. When the General Executive Board made its report to the last convention there was but little on the horizon which indicated that before a year had appeared and passed, we would be called on to struggle for our existence in more than one way. We had no previous warning that there would be inaugurated a campaign to dismember our splendid International Union during the term, nor did we, despite the knowledge that sumptuary legislation advocates were unusually active, have any substantial evidence that they would produce such remarkable results as they gleaned in the fall elections of 1914. These two campaigns, coming almost simultaneously, forced such a burden on our International Union as it has never been called on to overcome. With our meagre finances and forces, as well as a seeming spirit of intolerable indifference prevailing among those employed at the catering industry in the affected States, the task was gigantic and no different results could be secured. It is the height of un wisdom to continue as heretofore, trying to match and combat well organized forces with insufficient men and funds; as well might we expect to attain great success without effort, as to combat successfully a well-financed, well-organized, splendidly educated aggregation such as won success in the fall of 1914. Our opponents enter campaigns with a definite plan and program, they outnumber us one hundred to one; where we receive and expend a dollar they receive and expend hundreds of dollars. We are forced to depend largely on the workers at the catering industry and its allied forces of workers to reach the public and convince the voters of the justness of our claims. Our opponents depend largely on the professions, who are ably assisted by designing politicians seeking suffrage of so-called reformers.

The value of aggressive, progressive and perpetual organized effort is understood and appreciated by those who oppose us; we, on the other hand, expend much of our energy and funds in converting the rank and file of the catering industry into active units for the protection of themselves and the industry which employs them.

Notwithstanding this rather depressing outlook, we are firmly convinced, that given half the encouragement which the efforts of your executives are entitled to, a similar amount of active co-operation on the part of our membership and a reasonable allowance for expenditures, there is every reason to believe that greater progress can be made; and there can be created such an industrial army that it will not only match, but finally win victory over the common enemy.

Your organization, considering its many imperfections, has truly made wonderful strides. There is little need for revolution within, but there is ample room for sensible deliberation and the perfection of plans and program for future carrying out. You need, and must have, wise leadership and exceptional generalship. These qualities you may have had in meagre quantity in the past, but there must be, if you hope to reach your goal as an organization, greater and ever greater quantities of those necessary essentials. It is foolhardy to assume that a few men under salary, with innumerable commands on their time and ability, will be able to match a hundredfold that number of generals supplied with untold thousands of dollars and an army of paid agitators unceasingly pounding away at their one task.

In offering the foregoing comment, it is with no intention to admit impotency on our part; we have accomplished proportionately as much as any similar number of men could expect to achieve with the machinery at our disposal. What we do admit, and with a willingness which should command your consideration, is that we have gone as far as the means at our disposal permitted. We are not unlike the administration of a factory with an output which compellingly confines itself to the productive limits of the machinery in that factory; if increased output is required, additional machinery and buildings must materialize.

To use phrasing frequently in use at this time, your organization is supplied with officers and munitions for a regiment, whereas you need the equivalent of a general staff commanding and directing a corps of over 60,000 enlisted men and women. In other words, you have exacted from your limited number of executives in the past equal effort and results obtained by your opponents, who, as already intimated, outnumber us as one hundred to one.

This, however, is a defect which can be overcome, but not by the method which some of those who profess to be trades unionists in our ranks advocate with such zeal and clamor.

In our respective fields we have continued laboring for the advancement of the general membership. We believe we have been fairly successful, and trust that you will reach a similar conclusion.

We feel deeply the honor which you have conferred upon us. If we have failed to meet your fondest expectations it was not by reason of lack of effort, and in turning over to you the stewardship of our organization, we take pride in the knowledge that numerically, it outstrips its previous record, and financially stands solidly with its assets unimpaired. Asking that you show to our successors that spirit of co-operation which we advise you is needful, that you will make the provisions herein suggested, so that our International Union may maintain its well-known slogan and increase in numbers and usefulness.

In closing we may be pardoned for an expression of hope, and it consists in these words: You are here in conclave to review the work of the term just closed; you are expected by the members back home to provide not only the vehicle for greater and better headway, but also make provisions for the proper lubrication of that vehicle and its upkeep. Some of your time and effort and every ounce of brain is needed to collaborate with your co-representatives and thus produce a perfected task; if you make generous bestowal of your ability and your co-delegates do likewise, this convention will go down in the history of our International Union as an epoch-making conclave worthy the name and place it makes on said pages. Temptation such as has never confronted previous conventions beset you; your resistance to it during the hours when the work of the convention needs you will redound to your credit, and materially aid us to conclude our labors with the knowledge that we have done our duty as the light was given us.

Thanking our fellow members for courtesies shown us during the term, wishing you and our International Union long life and prosperity, we are,

Fraternally yours,

EDWARD FLORE, President.

ROBERT HESKETH, First Vice-President.

FRANK HOFFMAN, Second Vice-President.

W. H. FOSTER, Third Vice-President.

C. W. McCURDY, Fourth Vice-President.

F. SESMA, Fifth Vice-President.

ELIZABETH MALONEY (MISS), Sixth Vice-President.

PAUL STEFFLER, Seventh Vice-President.

JOHN W. CONLEY, Eighth Vice-President.

JERE L. SULLIVAN, General Secretary-Treasurer.

GENERAL EXECUTIVE BOARD.

MARCH 1, 1915.

Motion by Chase, Local 403, and Prichard, Local 721, that the report of the delegates to the American Federation of Labor conventions take the same course as the report of the General Executive Board, be referred without reading.

The motion prevailed.

The report of the delegates to the conventions of the American Federation follows:

REPORT OF DELEGATES TO THE THIRTY-THIRD ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR

To the Officers and Members of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America, Greeting:

In submitting a report of the International delegates to the thirty-third convention of the American Federation of Labor, held at Seattle, Wash., November 10, 1913, the writer realizes that to construct a comprehensive and interesting story is too difficult a task for him and therefore asks the indulgence of the readers on this occasion, agreeing never to offend again in this respect.

To enumerate the many courtesies and kind attentions showered on the delegates at their various stopping-off places and to do justice to the efforts of the brothers and sisters who were responsible therefor, are beyond my capacity and I therefore wisely refrain from recounting the hospitalities enjoyed, except those in the cities of Seattle and Butte, Montana.

The rare privilege extended to our delegates in Butte of exploring the deepest copper mine in that district, one to which visitors are seldom allowed access, is worthy of special mention:

After donning miners' working clothes and being supplied with miners' lamps, we were packed in the cage and shot down the shaft about 3,000 feet, and, accompanied by guides, we hiked a few miles through various tunnels with the temperature over 100 degrees and copper water a foot or so deep, until some of us were on the verge of utter collapse. Delegate Tom Farrell, who has been in strict training for a long period, didn't turn a hair, but after ascending to the surface, it required sundry and copious internal applications of a copper-hued liquid to revive Raleigh and Koveleski. The cure was so agreeable to Koveleski, he wanted to go down again, and the last seen of him that day, he was headed toward a group of mines in the hills with the avowed intention of exploring every mine in the district.

Our reception and entertainment in Seattle has been adequately covered by our General President, and Secretary-Treasurer, in the December issue, but the parts taken by Sister Lord and Brother Hesketh, merit special mention. The rare position occupied by Sister Lord and Brother Hesketh in the labor movement in the Northwest commands more than passing notice. They enjoy the unique distinction of being two of the most active and aggressive trade union exponents, and at the same time commanding the respect and confidence of those not in sympathy with organized labor and particularly our organization. Their counsel is sought for and their opinions respected in all of the progressive civic and philanthropic movements of the great city of Seattle. May they live long and retain their influence to the last.

The writer begs to submit some of the convention features which impressed your delegates as being the most salient.

FIRST DAY, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 10.

Convention was opened at 10 a. m. Number of delegates present, 327; total number of votes, 19,506; International and National bodies represented, 82; balance of representation, State and central bodies and fraternal delegates. The opening addresses by Governor Lister, of Washington; Mayor Cotterill, of Seattle, and E. P. Marsh, of Everett, president of the State Branch of the A. F. of L., were well received and special notice was taken of the sympathetic attitude of the Governor and Mayor toward organized labor. After the morning session the delegates paraded through the principal streets of Seattle headed by a band of 185 pieces, the largest ever assembled on the Pacific Coast. After the opening of the afternoon session the committee assignments were read, and your delegates were assigned as follows: President Edward Flore, Committee on Adjustment; Secretary Jere L. Sullivan, Committee on Report of Executive Council; Emanuel Koveleski, Committee on Labels; Thomas S. Farrell, Committee on Ways and Means; Edmond Raleigh, Committee on Finance. The remainder of the afternoon was taken up by the introduction of resolutions.

SECOND DAY, TUESDAY, 9:30 A. M.

Report of committee on credentials followed by reading of communications and reports of fraternal delegates; also report of committee on rules and introduction of resolutions. The afternoon session was omitted to take advantage of an invitation to see the boulevards and parks of Seattle, by invitation of the Arrangements Committee. One hundred autos were provided for the delegates and their wives, and the trip through the picturesque suburbs of Seattle was thoroughly enjoyed. The scenery can not be surpassed in any part of the world.

THIRD DAY, WEDNESDAY.

Reports of fraternal delegates and address by Hon. William B. Wilson, Secretary of the Department of Labor, which proved highly entertaining and edifying from a labor standpoint.

The convention was addressed by Bishop Carroll, of Helena, Mont., who paid a high tribute to organized labor by declaring that over 75 per cent of the beneficent legislation that graces the statute books of every State in the Union, is due to the efforts and initiative of trade union organizations, and he referred to President Gompers as "that peerless leader who has been instrumental in bringing about this great result." Convention was also addressed by Bishop O'Day, of Seattle, he briefly outlining the friendly attitude of the Roman Catholic Church to trade unionism.

FOURTH DAY, THURSDAY.

Report of Auditing Committee received and referred to Committee on Finance. High compliment was paid to Secretary Morrison for the creditable manner in which the accounts are kept. The report showed that the total funds in the organization at the end of the fiscal year, September 30, 1913, were $105,063.05. It is also worth recording that our gain in membership for the year ending September 30, 1913, was 7,158, and the report attests that in numerical strength we stand ninth among the organizations affiliated with the A. F. of L. The introduction of resolutions and reading of communications occupied the remainder of the day's session.

FIFTH DAY, FRIDAY.

An invitation from the proprietor of the Seattle Times to have a boat ride and visit the Navy Yard at Bremerton, was accepted.

Action on that part of Executive Council's report recommending change in date of holding A. F. of L. convention aroused spirited debate, in which Secretary-Treasurer Jere L. Sullivan took an active part, the proposal being finally defeated by a large majority. The trip to Bremerton and inspection of the Navy Yard shops and the warships were thoroughly enjoyed by the delegates and the courtesies and kindnesses extended by the naval officers were deeply appreciated.

SIXTH DAY, SATURDAY.

Resolution bearing on coal mine strike in Colorado and policy to be pursued by A. F. of L. elicited warm debate, and the matter was finally adjusted to the satisfaction of all concerned.

The part of the Executive Council's report advocating loyal support of the labor press was unanimously endorsed.

SEVENTH DAY, MONDAY.

A resolution providing for the establishment of a federation agreement between trade unions employed in any one industry, which in substance would be a recognition of the principles of industrial unionism, was warmly discussed and the report of the Committee on Resolutions which recommended that the substance of the resolution be referred to the Executive Council, to be treated as their discretion dictated, was adopted.

A resolution pledging moral and financial support to the striking copper miners of Michigan was unanimously adopted.

EIGHTH DAY, TUESDAY.

The report of the Committee on Executive Council's Report, was read by Chairman McCullough and adopted by the convention. It is a model document, clear, concise and tersely worded, and it strongly endorsed the attitude of the Executive Council on the subjects matter contained in their report.

A resolution favoring a rigid enforcement of the immigration laws and favoring a literacy test in the pending immigration bill before Congress was adopted by a vote of 190 to 5. The advantages and expediency of this measure were ably demonstrated by President Gompers, and his address on this subject deeply impressed the delegates present.

NINTH DAY, WEDNESDAY.

A resolution providing for a joint convention of the two factions of electrical workers was reported adversely by the Committee on Executive Council's Report, and their recommendations were concurred in.

A resolution of complex and complicated character providing for a merging of the American Federation of Labor with the Socialist party, Woman Suffragists, Farmers' Unions, and Railroad Brotherhoods in joint political activities, developed the warmest kind of debate. The committee's report, which was adverse, was adopted by a vote of 193 to 15.

A resolution presented by the general officers of the Cigarmakers' International Union, protesting against the importation of coolie-made cigars from the Philippine Islands, was unanimously adopted.

A telegram was read stating that the newly organized Cooks and Waiters' Union of Juneau, Alaska, have secured their demands for higher wages and a decrease in hours, and it was enthusiastically applauded.

TENTH DAY, THURSDAY.

Reports of Committee on Adjustment of resolutions bearing on many jurisdictional differences, were read and adopted. General satisfaction was manifested in their solutions of the many perplexing problems submitted. The decision of the Executive Council denying the Teamsters' Union jurisdiction over Brewery Drivers, and that team drivers of distillers, and soft-drink mineral water establishments, be controlled by the Brotherhood of Teamsters, was confirmed by convention after lively debate.

ELEVENTH DAY, FRIDAY.

Reports on resolutions referred to Committee on Organization were read and in the main concurred in, as also were the reports of Committee on Education. Report of Committee on A. F. of L. Office Building was unanimously adopted. Report of Committee on Union Labels was submitted and adopted.

Committee on Internal Relations reported favorably a resolution by President Gompers to encourage international peace and disarmament, and their recommendation was unanimously adopted.

TWELFTH DAY, SATURDAY.

Resolution in favor of Woman Suffrage was adopted.

Election of officers took place with but few contests, and Philadelphia was chosen for the 1914 convention city.

Respectfully submitted,

EDMOND RALEIGH, Secretary of Delegation.
EDWARD FLORE.
JERE L. SULLIVAN.
THOMAS S. FARRELL.
EMANUEL KOVELESKI.

REPORT OF DELEGATES TO THE THIRTY-FOURTH ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR

To the Officers and Members of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America, Greeting:

In submitting a report of the International delegates to the Thirty-fourth Annual Convention of the American Federation of Labor, held at Philadelphia, Pa., commencing November 9, 1914, ending November 21.

There were twelve day and two night sessions. The convention was called to order in Horticultural Hall, President Gompers in the chair, who introduced Mayor Blankenburg, who welcomed the delegates and gave an address that greatly pleased them. He presented President Gompers with the key to the city, informing the delegates that they could go the limit during their stay in the city. President Gompers then introduced Mr. George H. Ulrich, president of the Philadelphia Central Labor Union, who welcomed the delegates in behalf of that body. Mr. Jos. Richie, president of the Building Trades of Philadelphia, next addressed the convention. Jos H. Maurer, president of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Labor, spoke at some length of the great work done by that body in behalf of the organized working men and women of the State. Mr. Frank Feeney, chairman of the Committee of Arrangements, then outlined the program of entertainment for the two weeks, after which President Gompers answered all the speakers in behalf of the American Federation of Labor.

The Credentials Committee reported 385 delegates entitled to seats in the convention, whose total vote was 19,920. Credentials were sent to the committee from an organization calling itself "The United Garment Workers of America." The committee found, after due investigation, that the men who are back of this organization are disgruntled members of the regular organization, started by the American Federation of Labor, and refused to listen to their complaint, recognizing that the time had come in the labor movement that drastic action must be taken against secessionists, and the committee would most respectfully recommend the seating of Thos. A. Rickert and B. A. Larger, president and secretary of the organization recognized by the American Federation of Labor. The convention approved the report and recommendation on the ground that grievances that may arise from time to time can best be settled by the organization affected, and not by a convention of the American Federation of Labor, thereby impressing all concerned that there is no room in the labor movement for two local unions of the same craft, and that the best results can only be obtained by a united front against the common enemy.

Our delegates were assigned to various committees as usual. Reading of the Executive Council's report by First Vice-President Duncan took from 2:35 to 3:10 p. m. This report gave a detailed account of the doings of the Executive Board of the year. Different parts of the report were assigned to the respective committees. The jurisdiction dispute between the Carpenters' International Union and the Sheet Metal Workers' International Union has been one of long duration and deep concern to the labor movement. President Gompers recommended that a conference be held and that each organization involved appoint three delegates and the A. F. of L. three, who, after the conference, shall report back to the convention.

SECOND DAY SESSION.

The first order of business was the report of the Committee on Rules, whose report was adopted and the rules outlined by them governed the convention during its session. The Auditing Committee then made the following report:

The total receipts from all sources during the fiscal year, from October 1, 1913, to September 30, 1914, inclusive, amounted to $263,166.97, as follows:

RECEIPTS.
Per capita tax	$180,653 70
Supplies	8,967 19
Interest from bank.....	2,400 00
One cent assessment for contempt and Hatters' cases.....	8,073 49
One cent assessment to organize the women workers.....	14,675 91
Disbanded and suspended unions, and fees for charters not issued.....	818 07
Premiums on bonds of officers of affiliated unions.....	3,221 75
American Federationist	28,040 25
Defense fund for local trade and federated labor unions.....	16,316 60
 Total	 $263,166 97
Balance on hand September 30, 1913.....	105,063 05
 Grand Total	 $368,230 02

The total expenditures during the fiscal year, from October 1, 1913 to September 30, 1914, inclusive, amounted to $265,737.21, as follows:

EXPENDITURES.
General	$195,333 82
American Federation	33,507 21
Premiums, bond record	1,898 55
One cent assessment for contempt and Hatters' cases.....	14,752 39
One cent assessment to organize the women workers.....	10,857 24
Defense fund for local trade and federated labor unions.....	9,388 80
 Total	 $265,737 21

RECAPITULATION.

Balance on hand September 30, 1913.....	$105,063 05
Total receipts during fiscal year.....	263,166 97
 Total	 $368,230 02
Total expenditures during fiscal year.....	265,737 21
 Balance on hand September 30, 1914.....	 $102,492 81
In General Fund	10,639 39
In Defense Fund for local trade and federated labor unions.....	91,853 42
 Total	 $102,492 81

The rest of the session was taken up in presenting resolutions and listening to an address by Dr. Hatfield, of the National Association for the study of prevention of tuberculosis, which was very interesting to the delegates in attendance.

THIRD DAY SESSION.

Convention called to order at 9:30, President Gompers in the chair. Secretary Morrison read letters from Governor Hiram Johnson of California, and Mayor Rolph, Jr., of San Francisco, inviting the A. F. of L. to hold its next convention in San Francisco. He also read numerous telegrams extending fraternal greetings from all over the United States and Canada. President Gompers then named the following committee to act for the federation on the Carpenters and Sheet Metal Workers controversy: Matthew Woll, James J. Sweeney, William Green. The committee on behalf of the Carpenters was James Kirby, P. H. McCarty, James A. Metz. On behalf of the Sheet Metal Workers, John J. Haynes, Thos. Redding, Hugh Franey.

M. M. Donahue, fraternal delegate to the Trades and Labor Congress of the Dominion of Canada, made his report to the convention, which was a concise and lengthy report and well received by the convention. At this time President Gompers introduced Brother R. A. Riggs, fraternal delegate from the Canadian Trades Congress, who addressed the convention, giving an outline of the conditions of the labor movement in Canada. The convention convened at 4 o'clock; at this time President Gompers introduced Colonel Bryant, labor commissioner of the State of New Jersey, who gave an interesting and instructive talk on the "Prevention of Fire and Accidents in Mercantile Establishments and Factories."

FOURTH DAY SESSION.

At this session President Gompers introduced Mr. George Stein, vice-president of the Union Label Product Trading Association, who addressed the convention on the importance of the union label to the labor movement, and urged all delegates to do all they could in their respective locations to boost products bearing this label. At this time numerous resolutions were introduced, as the time limit had expired.

FIFTH DAY SESSION.

The Committee on Executive Council report reported as follows: Delegates Furuseth, secretary of the committee, reported Resolution No. 41 by Delegates Benjamin Schlesinger, Sol. Polakoff, Elmer Rosenberg, H. Kleiman, J. Helprin, Alfred Laporta of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, whereas, the task of organizing the workers engaged in the needle trades is attended by extraordinary difficulties on account of the seasonable character of the work and other unavoidable conditions of employment, and yet in the face of all these difficulties the organization in the needle industry has of recent years made extraordinary progress; whereas, it is the desire of the American Federation of Labor to encourage the growth, insure the stability and aid in the success of this industry; whereas, a division has occurred among the members of the United Garment Workers of America, when close alliance should prevail in order to protect and promote the interest of the workers by uniting and strengthening the organization. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That the president of the American Federation of Labor appoint a committee of five from among the delegates to this convention, with instructions to investigate the matter above referred to, and endeavor to bring about unity and a thorough organization of all who properly come under the jurisdiction of the Garment Workers of America, and the committee is further instructed to investigate and to report as to the feasibility of establishing a department of the A. F. of L. in the needle industries. The committee report to the Executive Council at the earliest possible time.

Delegate Furuseth: The committee took this up, heard the parties in interest as far as we could and came to the following conclusion: In view of the fact that the subject matter of the resolution deals with the internal affairs of an organization, other than the one which asked for the appointment of the committees, and to proceed with the inquiry proposed that might be construed as recognizing a seceding faction. The committee recommends nonconcurrence in the resolution. A motion was made and seconded to concur in the recommendation of the committee, which was adopted.

At this session President Gompers introduced Lieut.-Governor-elect Eschelman, who addressed the convention, after which Mother Jones spoke, giving a detailed account of the hardships endured by the striking miners of Colorado, and asked that the convention assist the striking miners morally and financially.

SIXTH DAY SESSION.

The convention instructed the Executive Council to procure an office building to be owned by the American Federation of Labor, suitable to transact their business in. The convention recommended a more distinct and general observance of Labor Day, and that the third Sunday in May be known as "Labor Memorial Sunday." The convention also recommended an International Union send organizers to St. Louis, Mo., to assist the A. F. of L. organizers to bring about a thoroughly organized condition in and about St. Louis.

On Sunday afternoon, memorial meeting was held in memory of the late P. J. McGuire, secretary of the International Carpenters' Union, which was addressed by Pres. Sam'l Gompers, Frank Duffy, and others.

SEVENTH DAY SESSION.

The convention requested that every National and International Union having a local union in the West to lend every moral and financial aid to the locked-out working men and women of Stockton, Cal., and that the Abraham S. Cox Stove Company, of Lansdale, Pa., be placed on the unfair list of the American Federation of Labor. The convention also recommended that the compensation law of New York State be so amended that employers can no longer be self-insured, but must make provision to insure with the state fund.

On the matter of physical examination of government employes, the Committee on Resolutions approved the steps taken by the Executive Council to prevent any unfair and arbitrary use of physical examinations of employes in government, arsenal and navy yards, and recommend that these efforts be continued.

In regard to the piece-work, known as the "Taylor System," the convention very strongly condemned the same. On the question of the organization of women wage workers, the committee congratulated the Executive Council on the results obtained in this direction from the one cent assessment, levied by authority of the Seattle convention, for the organization of women who have to work for a living, and recommended that the Executive Council continue this work to the extent, if necessary, of levying a one cent assessment for the same purpose in the coming year. In regard to organizers the convention went on record as follows: To be successful in any movement or undertaking organizing promoters or advocates, call them what you will, are necessary, nowhere more so than in the labor movement. To us these persons are known as organizers, without them our movement would be a failure. They instill life, ambition, determination, and hope into those who are weak and who would fall by the wayside. They encourage those who lose faith in our movement, and we recommend that the Executive Council continue the work of organization insofar as the funds of the Federation will allow.

EIGHTH DAY SESSION.

At this session Mrs. Sarah Conboy, an organizer of the Textile Workers, was introduced by President Gompers. She gave a brief and graphic report of the conditions among the textile workers in Atlanta, Ga., asking financial aid. After several motions made to draw funds from the treasurer of the A. F. of L., President Gompers declared that this could not be done at this time, and appointed a committee to solicit donations from the delegates. The committee reported that they had collected $520, which was turned over to the Textile Workers.

NINTH DAY SESSION.

The Conference Committee on the Carpenters' and Sheet Metal Workers' jurisdiction controversy reported as follows, through Delegate Woll:

Your committee recommended to and approved by this convention, for the purpose of bringing about an agreement between the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America and the Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers' International Alliance, begs leave to report that quite a number of conference meetings have been held, in which all parties in interest were fully represented, and wherein all present actively participated. In the brief time allowed your committee has thoroughly and carefully considered the problem submitted in many of its stages and relations. While our conferences have not as yet resulted in an agreement being consummated between the interested organizations upon the issues involved in the controversy, nevertheless we view our conferences as having been helpful in the interchange of opinion and especially in the development of the idea that a strong community of interest exists between the two organizations in dispute. With this accomplished your committee believes that the time is opportune and expedient to continue these conferences for the purpose of bringing about a full and complete understanding and adjustment of the much-to-be-regretted controversy between the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners and Amalgamated Sheet and Metal Workers' International Alliance. We feel confident that the outcome of these conferences must be for good. To this end your committee submit the following recommendations, which have been agreed to by the representatives of both contending organizations.

"The committee recommends that, for the purpose of bringing about an agreement between the two organizations, the president of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America and the president of the Amalgamated Sheet and Metal Workers' International Alliance, the president of the American Federation of Labor, and the president of the Building Trades Department be instructed to investigate the work in dispute and to continue the conferences, to the end that an amicable and satisfactory agreement be reached between the two contending organizations."

On the question of free text-books the convention went on record as follows: We note the progress made in the awakening of interest among the wage-workers for free text-books and larger salaries for teachers; we note with pleasure the successful struggle the teachers of Cleveland, Ohio, are making for the right to organize and affiliate with the labor union movement, and recommend that every effort be made by the American Federation of Labor and its subordinate bodies to advance both the adoption of free text-books and the organization of school teachers.

On the question of employment of white women in Asiatic cafes and stores the convention went on record as follows: We desire to commend and endorse the attitude of the Executive Council and urgently recommend the State and city central body in the Pacific and Intermountain States to be vigorous and energetic in their effort to secure the enactment of such legislation as will do away with the abhorrent condition of the employment of white women by Asiatics under any circumstances. The convention reaffirmed its former action on immigration, endorsing the illiteracy test.

TENTH DAY SESSION.

At this session the convention ordered an appeal be sent out to assist the striking Glove Workers at Gloversville, N. Y.

The convention decided that the Elevator Constructors' International Union remain intact, and not amalgamate with the Machinists, as that body requested.

A dispute between the Hodcarriers was settled by the convention, being referred to the Executive Council for adjustment.

ELEVENTH DAY SESSION.

A dispute arose between the Electrical Workers' International Union and the Theatrical Stage Employees' Alliance in regard to operators of moving picture machines. The Electrical Workers claimed that these men rightfully belonged to their organization. The convention went on record as follows: We find the jurisdiction over moving picture operators was granted to the International Alliance of Theatrical Employes, and such jurisdiction is here reaffirmed. We find that the claim of jurisdiction over moving picture operators by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers is not well founded, and the same be denied. We recommend that the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers refrain from organizing moving picture operators, and where it has organized moving picture operators they shall be turned over to the International Alliance of Theatrical Employes.

FRIDAY NIGHT'S SESSION.

At this session a controversy arose in regard to the position taken by President Gompers in regard to the eight-hour workday. One of the delegates went so far as to say that President Gompers at some time had said that he did not favor this, and that politicians in the West had made political capital of same. This was emphatically denied by President Gompers, who challenged the delegate to produce any evidence sustaining such report. The convention went on record as follows: The American Federation of Labor, as in the past, again declares that the question of the regulation of wages and the hours of labor should be undertaken through trade union activity, and not be made subjects of law through legislative enactment, excepting in so far as such regulations effect the Government, the employment of women and minors' health and morals, and employment by Federal, State and municipal government.

TWELFTH DAY SESSION.

At this session the following officers were elected: Samuel Gompers, president; James Duncan, first vice-president; James O'Connell, second vice-president; Dennis A. Hayes, third vice-president; Jos. F. Valentine, fourth vice-president; John R. Alpine, fifth vice-president; H. B. Perham, sixth vice-president; Frank Duffy, seventh vice-president; Wm. Green, eighth vice-president; John B. Lennon, treasurer, and Frank Morrison, secretary. San Francisco, Cal., was selected as the convention city for 1915.

A parade was given by the trade unionists of Philadelphia, on Friday evening of the first week, which will be long remembered by the delegates and the city of Philadelphia. It is estimated that 75,000 men and women were in line, and one hundreds bands of music. This showing in the City of Brotherly Love will go a long ways toward thoroughly organizing that city.

Our International was ably represented by eleven delegates, as follows: Henry Rosenthal, of Local 1, representing the Central Federated Union of New York City; Maurice De Young, of Local 70, representing the Central Federation of Labor of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Michael Goldsmith, Local 108, representing the Ohio State Federation of Labor; Edward McEachern, Local 167, representing Cleveland (Ohio) Central Trades and Labor Council; R. L. Graves, Local 561, representing Akron (Ohio) Central Trades and Labor Council; Wm. Kavanaugh, Local 575, representing Hudson County (N. J.) Central Trades and Labor Council, and A. J. McGuire, representing the Central Labor Union of Camden, N. J.

We most respectfully request that the men and women of our International Union become more active in Central Trades and Labor Councils and State Federations of Labor, so that we can have more than eleven delegates at the next convention of the American Federation of Labor, to be held in San Francisco in 1915. Our delegation was visited by the following representatives during the convention: Henry Kossow, secretary, and Charles Kohler, president of Local 3, New York City; Harry Kleiman, secretary of Local 1; Adolph Frankl, Local 219; Otto Patberg, of Local 70; George Hale, of Local 2; Con McNamara and Louis Taglang, of Local 190, Bethlehem, Pa.

In conclusion, we wish to thank the members in behalf of the delegation for the many courtesies extended to them during their stay in Philadelphia, viz., Locals 115, 279, 405 and 644.

Respectfully submitted, with holiday greetings, we are

Fraternally yours,

E. KOVELESKI, Secretary of Delegation.
EDWARD FLORE,
THOS. S. FARRELL,
JERE L. SULLIVAN.
EDWIN RALEIGH.

The following eighteen resolutions having been printed in the official Journal three times, in accordance with the provisions of our International Union laws, were referred to the committees as indicated on each proposal:

Resolution No. 1—By Delegate Thomas P. Woods, of Local 593, Minneapolis, Minn.

To strike out Section 18 and insert a new Section to read as follows:

Section 18. A member suspended for non-payment of dues may be re-admitted to any local of his craft upon the payment of the reinstatement fee of the local under whose jurisdiction he may be working.

Provided that all fines or assessments have been paid to the local by which he was suspended.

The local that suspends him to be notified at the time when application was made for re-admission.

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 2—By Delegate Thomas P. Woods, of Local 593, Minneapolis, Minn.

Amend Section 22, Paragraph "A" by striking out the words "suspended or" after the word "member," and the words "suspended or" after the word "was."

Amended paragraph to read as follows:

Section 22, Paragraph "A." Any member expelled from any local is ineligible to membership in any other local of this International, except by consent of the local by which he was expelled.

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 3—By Delegate Thomas P. Woods, of Local 593, Minneapolis, Minn.

Amend Section 23 by striking out the words "suspended or" after the word "admitting."

Amended section to read as follows:

Section 23. The names of all suspended or expelled members must be reported to the General Secretary; locals admitting expelled members must, on being notified thereof, suspend such members until full investigation has been made or stand suspended by the International Union.

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 4—By Delegation of Local 106, Cleveland, Ohio.

Be it resolved by this convention of the H. & R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A., that we add to our International Constitution a new section, to be known as Section 14, and to read as follows:

"Members of this International having been in continuous good standing for at least twenty-five years shall thereafter be exempt from further payment of dues and assessments without losing any right or privilege of active membership, even though they should adopt a vocation not covered by the charter of this International."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 5—By Delegation of Local 110, San Francisco, Cal.

To amend Section 88 of the International constitution, to read as follows:

"Locals shall be allowed one vote for each delegate. No delegate can cast the vote of a co-delegate under any circumstances.

"There shall be three delegates elected to represent their local in said local joint board."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 6—By Delegate Fred Wessel, of Local 8, Denver, Colo.

Section 64 amended to read as follows: "It shall be mandatory on the part of all affiliated locals to bond their treasurers and other officers who handle funds. Bonds to be procured by the local through the International Secretary-Treasurer. A penalty of ten ($10) dollars shall be imposed on local unions failing to apply to the International Secretary-Treasurer for bonds before installing officers handling funds."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 7—By Delegation of Local No. 525, Oakland, Cal.

There is hereby added to the constitution a new section to be numbered Section 178 and to read as follows:

"Section 178. The rights and powers not delegated to the International Union by this constitution, nor prohibited by it to the locals or the members of the International Union, are reserved to the locals and to the members respectively."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 8—By Delegation of Local 525, Oakland, Cal.

Section 144 of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Section 144. A copy of the official Journal shall be sent to each member of the International Union, and the secretary of each local shall be required to send the names and addresses of all the members of his local to the general Secretary-Treasurer every six months so that every member shall receive a copy of the Journal whenever issued, but this provision shall not be construed to authorize the Secretary-Treasurer to refuse or neglect to forward a copy of the Journal to every member at the expiration of said period of six months upon the failure of the Secretary of the local to furnish the names and addresses herein required; provided, however, that the Secretary-Treasurer shall have authority at any time to cease forwarding a copy of the Journal to a member after receiving notice from the Postal Department that mail can not for any reason be delivered to such address. A bound volume of the MIXER AND SERVER shall be sent to each local annually; it shall be mandatory for locals to purchase same."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 9—By Delegation of Local 31, Oakland, Cal.

Section 176 of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Section 176. All laws, rules and regulations, or parts thereof, in conflict with this constitution shall be null and void in so far as they conflict."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 10.—By Delegation of Local 31, Oakland, Cal.

There is hereby added to the constitution a new section to be numbered Section 177 and to read as follows:

"Section 177. Nothing contained in this constitution shall be held to limit the authority of the International Union and the members thereof with the sanction of the American Federation of Labor to change or alter the name, jurisdiction, form or manner of organization and affiliation of the constituted crafts, locals and members of the International Union."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 11—By Delegate Michael H. Canny, of Local 44, San Francisco, Cal.

To amend Section 43 to read:

"Section 43. Cooks' locals, or mixed locals where cooks have no separate local, shall have jurisdiction over lunchmen, oystermen and steam-tablemen, regardless of whether such work is in a kitchen or dining room."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 12—By Delegate Michael H. Canny, of Local 44, San Francisco, Cal.

To amend Section 83 to read as follows:

"Section 83. Whenever a member of the International Union becomes a proprietor, he may retain membership in a local, provided that he does not attach himself to any organization known as a proprietor's organization. The payment of dues to locals by proprietors shall be left to the discretion of the locals. Any member of a local whose name is attached to any license where the sale of liquor transpires is a proprietor. Proprietors working at the trade shall be entitled to all the rights of the local union of which they are members, except that they shall not be eligible to election either as delegates to the convention or to any office within the gift of a local union. Proprietors not working at the trade shall have neither voice nor vote, nor hold office of any kind."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 13—By Delegate Michael H. Canny, of Local 44, San Francisco, Cal.

A resolution to abolish withdrawal cards.

"Whereas, the system of withdrawal cards is being constantly violated and constitutes a ready means for the evasion of our laws; and,

"Whereas, those who do not work at the business may readily become reinstated upon becoming subject to the jurisdiction of the International Union, and there is no particular hardship in enforcing such a system of reinstatement to take the place of withdrawal cards;

"Therefore be it resolved, that Sections 77, 78, 81, 82 and 84 be and are hereby repealed."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 14—By Delegate Michael H. Canny, of Local 44, San Francisco, Cal.

Resolved to amend Section 7 of the constitution relative to allowance of member's dues for securing of applications:

Resolved, that paragraph B of Section 7 be and is hereby repealed.

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 15—By Delegate F. P. Battles, of Local 44, San Francisco, Cal.

A subsidiary amendment to the International constitution relative to (Section 15) covering the United States and its possessions where charters are issued:

"All persons making application in this International of the H. & R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of America in this United States or its possessions, who have not already obtained their first citizen papers, upon being initiated into a local in this United States or its possessions, shall pay one ($1.00) dollar in excess of local's initiation fee, said one ($1.00) dollar to be retained by said local where member was initiated; if said one ($1.00) dollar is not sufficient for cost of securing first citizen papers for said newly-initiated member, then said member will be assessed twenty-five (25) cents per month in excess of all dues and assessments that may be levied on or by said local where member was initiated in this United States or its possessions till the amount has been acquired for the cost of procuring first citizen papers. Such money collected will be permissible to transfer from one local to another when shown to be for said purpose. Upon initiation into a local no member will be compelled to renounce his allegiance to his flag or country, yet his pronounced refusal to obtain his first citizen papers deprives him of being eligible to hold any office in this International or its affiliated locals within the United States or its possessions; he shall also forfeit such money at the expiration of one year except he can show that he has not made his livelihood in the United States or its possessions since the time of his initiation into a local in the United States or any of its possessions. No member's money to be forfeited by monthly suspension from any local in the United States or its possessions for the period of one year. Six months' grace will be granted to members initiated into a local in the United States or its possessions upon proof that they have not made their livelihood in the United States or its possessions, and no further extension of time will be allowed and said member's money is considered forfeited. The secretary of a local in his monthly report shall acquaint the general office of newly-initiated members whose money is deposited in a local for the procuring of first citizen papers. All such money forfeited to be forwarded to the General Executive Board of this International and to be apportioned as follows: Ten per cent of forfeited money to defray the general expenses of this International; five per cent to be deposited in the death benefit fund of this International; eighty-five per cent to be set aside as a fund to be known as a Culinary Union's Home Fund, for the purpose of buying land and thereon build a home for aged and infirm members of culinary crafts who have been in good standing in this International of the H. & R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of America for eighteen consecutive years. Said land, when being purchased, to be voted on by a referendum of the locals of this International." (In conformity with Section 120, International.)

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 16—By Delegation of Local 30, San Francisco, Cal.

To amend Section 76 to read as follows:

"Section 76. When a traveling member deposits his card before the seventh day of any month, the dues of such member for said month shall belong to the local accepting the card, and such dues if already paid and other dues if paid in advance, shall be remitted to said local upon demand therefor being made under seal to the local which is in possession of such dues."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 17—By W. M. Spear, of Local 27, Los Angeles, Cal.

Resolved, by the Eighteenth General Convention that Section 24 of the International Constitution be stricken from said Constitution.

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 18—By W. M. Spear, of Local 27, Los Angeles, Cal.

Resolved, that Section 88 be changed to read as follows:

"Locals shall be allowed one vote for each delegate present; no delegate shall cast the vote of a co-delegate under any circumstances; there shall be three delegates elected to represent their local in said local joint executive board."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Adjourned at 6:30 p. m.

SECOND DAY—MORNING SESSION, JUNE 15, 1915.

The morning session was called to order by General President Edward Flore, at 9:30. Chairman C. W. McCurdy, for the Committees on Credentials, reported as follows:

"We, your Committee on Credentials, submit the following recommendations:

"That Delegate-elect Stephen P. Drake, of Local 561, Sacramento, Cal., be seated.

"We recommend the denial of a seat at this convention to Brother J. J. O'Brien, whose credential was protested on the following grounds: The membership book of said Brother J. J. O'Brien indicated that he was reinstated by Local 30, of San Francisco, Cal., under date of July 3, 1914; and further, that the said J. J. O'Brien became legally suspended for non-payment of dues March 1, 1915, as prescribed in Section 60 of our International Union laws; and it is further shown that the said Brother J. J. O'Brien did not pay his dues up to and including the current month until June 12, 1915.

"We recommend denial of a seat at this convention to Brother Phil Gaulden on similar grounds as the preceding case, as from evidence submitted said Brother Phil Gaulden became a suspended member under the provisions of Section 60 August 1, 1914, and did not become a legal good standing member until August 20, 1914. He has not been in continuous good standing for one year previous to the convening of this convention.

"Your Credential Committee therefore recommend that the alternate delegates elected from said Local 561, Sacramento, Cal., Brothers William C. Eddy and Frank E. Merryfield, be seated, which, with Brother Stephen P. Drake, will complete the delegation from said Local 561, with a total vote of 4, or $1\frac{1}{3}$ votes for each delegate."

Motion of Koveleski, Local 171, and Parker, Local 35, that the report be accepted and the recommendations of the committee adopted.

Rose, Local 30, asked for information regarding the status of Local 561.

Chairman McCurdy, for the committee, informed the convention that Local 561 had a debit recorded against them for supplies, that said debit had been liquidated since Monday's report, therefore the delegates as recommended were lawfully entitled to seats.

Rose, Local 30, opposed the recommendation of the committee, contending that there was a reason other than what the committee reported for recommending denial to the original delegates from 561. He claimed that, inasmuch as the Secretary of 561 was responsible for conditions surrounding the disputed delegates, that an example should be made of him and he also be denied a seat as a delegate.

Joyce, Local 3, opposed the view held by the previous speaker, and said that so far as he was able to discover the Secretary was only negligent in failing to collect a reinstatement fee and attaching properly canceled reinstatement stamps to these members' books. He approved the report of the committee.

Lyons, Local 51, contended that these two men knew quite as well as the Secretary of their union that they were in arrears, and the failure of the Secretary to report these members as suspended did not affect the case before the convention; they do not deny that the record as offered is correct.

Taback, Local 30, wanted to know how the delegates from Local 561 could be legally seated.

President Flore replied that the convention is endeavoring to solve the question and, probably will be guided by our laws.

Fleischman, Local 44, severely criticised the Secretary of Local 561 for his seeming neglect, and contended that he should be denied a seat along with Brothers O'Brien and Gaulden, "for it must be apparent that he has been guilty of evasion so far as our laws are concerned, and that it would be a wholesome lesson to him and other secretaries if the convention declined to permit him a seat at this convention.

Johnson, Local 30, opposed the recommendation of the committee, and stated that, in his judgment, the procedure in the case was irregular. He contended that Local 561 was being victimized by refusal to seat their regularly elected delegates. He quoted Section 31 to sustain the position which he took. He also quoted previous decisions by General President, and urged the convention to take such action as would encourage unions to believe that our laws were equitable and evenly enforced, irrespective as to the presumed leanings or views held by such unions, and said that a liberal construction and interpretation of the law is what this convention should employ.

President Flore replied to Delegate Johnson, Local 30, advising him that there was a decided difference between what Brother Johnson was contending for and what our laws called for. He said that a local union stands suspended when it is in arrears, and the same is equally true with a member of a local. In the case of a local union the payment of per capita and legal reinstatement places it back where it belongs, but in the case of members, however, they are penalized under provisions of our laws, one of which deprives them from seats in a convention, unless they have been in continuous good standing for one year previous to the date of convening of a general convention. He also stated that locals that secure supplies on credit or who owe tax are also cared for under our laws, one of which in substance denies recognition to their delegates unless they have liquidated their indebtedness to the International Union. He said in the case before the convention the union elected three delegates, and the union was indebted to the International Union for supplies furnished; and if there had been no other objection than the referred-to debit, it would have been sufficient to deprive the union from representation until it had paid its account. One of the delegates-elect had no protest registered against him, but his two associates-elect did have a protest made against them, and the Committee on Credentials so informed this convention. Under our laws the delegates who may be denied a seat for reasons already mentioned do not carry with them from the convention the rights of the local union; for the local union is entitled to representation, and knowing that, it wisely elected at its general election two alternate delegates. And as I understand the case, these alternate delegates have been recommended for seating on this floor. My decision rendered to this very local union was plain, and it can hardly be construed to mean what the previous speaker contends.

Kirkpatrick, Local 30, wanted to know why there was any discrimination shown. He cited the case of Local 62, of Fresno, and compared it with the case of Local 561, of Sacramento. The latter owed for supplies, while the former was alleged to owe per capita tax.

Chairman McCurdy, of the Credential Committee, informed the convention that the case of the delegate from Local 62 was not before the convention, for the committee had not disposed of it.

Regan, Local 41, made inquiries as to the attitude of the alternates elected from Local 561, and intimated that, probably, they were more acceptable to the present administration on account of their presumed opposition to segregation.

Donnelly, Local 107, contended that so far as the convention was concerned it was not a question of the supposed mental attitude of a delegate as to whether they would be seated or not, and that the law as written was clear enough and plain enough to be understood; and as the case had been reported by the committee and no denial made of the facts, the delegates whose seats were protested were not legally entitled to seats on the floor of this convention.

Lehman, Local 1, quoted the laws governing legal representation. He said that it might appear as though the lines were tightly drawn, but so far as he could discern the committee was justified in its recommendation not to seat the delegates whose rights to a seat were questioned, and believed the report should be accepted.

Canny, Local 44, surveyed the question from the viewpoint of a critic, and averred that, if it was right to search into the standing of one or two delegates, then the committee should have made an examination of all seekers for seats on the floor of this convention.

President Flore replied to Delegate Canny by suggesting that if he had knowledge that any delegate seated or seeking to be seated at this convention was not entitled to recognition, it was his duty to lay the facts before the convention.

Henley, Local 320, and Hartman, Local 456, moved for the previous question. A sufficient number responded, and the main question was put to the convention. The motion was adopted concurring in the report of the committee.

McCurdy, for the Committee on Credentials, recommended the seating of the following delegates and the vote following their names:

Local 180, San Jose, Cal., Sisters Loretta Wheeler and Rose Jack, with 1 vote each.

Local 220, Eureka, Cal., Sister Libbie Messer, with 1 vote.

Local 436, Rock Springs, Wyo., Brother John E. Green, with 1 vote.

Motion by Lyons, Local 51, and Hale, Local 2, that the report of the committee be accepted and the delegates seated. Motion carried.

Brother J. J. McDevitt, Chairman of the Committee on Rules and Order of Business, submitted the following report for his committee.

San Francisco, Cal., June 14, 1915.

To the Officers and Members of the Eighteenth General Convention, Greeting:

We, your Committee on Rules and Order of Business for the Eighteenth General Convention of the H. and R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A., beg leave to submit the following for your consideration and approval:

Your committee met and organized with the following officers: J. J. McDevitt, Local 115, Philadelphia, Pa., Chairman; Arthur F. Just, Local 106, Cleveland, O., Secretary. All members of the committee present. Motion by Baird, Local 51, St. Louis, and Prichard, Local 721, Salt Lake City, that The Rules and Order of Business of the Seventeenth General Convention be recommended as the Rules and Order of Business of this, the Eighteenth General Convention, said Rules and Order of Business reading as follows:

RULES.

Rule 1. The convention shall be called to order at 9 a. m., remain in session until 12 o'clock noon, reassemble at 2 p. m., and continue in session until 5:30 p. m.

Rule 2. If a delegate, while speaking, be called to order, he shall, at the request of the Chair, take his seat until the question of order is decided.

Rule 3. Should two or more delegates rise to speak at the same time, the Chair shall decide who is entitled to the floor.

Rule 4. Delegates desiring the floor shall give their name and the name and number of their local; this should be strictly adhered to for the sake of accurate convention records.

Rule 5. Delegates shall not speak more than once on the same question until all who wish to speak shall have had an opportunity to do so.

Rule 6. A delegate shall not speak more than twice upon a question without permission from the convention.

Rule 7. Speeches shall be limited to five minutes, but the time of speaking may be extended by a vote of the convention.

Rule 8. A motion shall not be opened for discussion until it has been seconded and stated from the Chair.

Rule 9. At the request of five members, the mover of a motion shall be required to reduce it to writing.

Rule 10. When a question is pending before the convention, no motions shall be in order, except to adjourn, to refer, for the previous question, to postpone indefinitely, to postpone for a certain time, to divide or amend; which motion shall have precedence in the order named.

Rule 11. Motion to lay on the table shall not be debatable.

Rule 12. A motion to reconsider shall not be entertained unless made by a delegate who voted in the majority and shall receive a majority vote.

Rule 13. Any delegate failing to present his attending card, with his name and number of his local union attached thereto, within thirty (30) minutes after the convention is called to order, shall be marked absent, and so recorded in the proceedings. In the event of unavoidable absence or on account of work in connection with the convention, he may report to the secretary, and the secretary shall decide if said delegate shall be recorded present.

Rule 14. It shall require at least twelve (12) delegates to move the previous question.

Rule 15. All resolutions or propositions shall be presented on the official paper of the convention, and in duplicate form; it shall bear the signature of the introducer and the name and number of the organization he or she represents.

Rule 16. No motion or resolution shall be voted upon until the mover or introducer has had a chance to speak, if he or she desires.

Rule 17. No resolution shall be received after Tuesday afternoon, June 15th, unless by consent of the convention.

Rule 18. The chairman of committees shall report absentees from the meetings of said committee, and said absences shall be made a matter of record on the convention minutes.

Rule 19. Election of officers shall be by a majority vote.

Rule 20. The main body of the hall shall be reserved for delegates. It shall be the duty of the sergeant-at-arms to see that this Rule is not violated.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

1. Calling to order by president or next in authority.
2. Reading minutes of previous session, which will be dispensed with unless called for.
3. Report of Credential Committee.
4. Appointment of committee.
5. Reports of officers and delegates.
6. Reports of regular committees.
7. Reports of special committees.
8. Communications and bills.
9. Unfinished business.
10. New business.
11. Election of general president, general secretary-treasurer, eight vice-presidents, and delegates to the American Federation of Labor.

12. Selection of convention city for the Nineteenth General Convention.
13. Good of the organization.
14. Election of officers and delegates shall take place Thursday afternoon, June 17th, immediately after opening, and in the order of their reading.
15. Adjournment.

Cushing's Manual on Parliamentary Rules will govern.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN J. McDEVITT, Chairman,
Local 115, Philadelphia, Pa.
ARTHUR JUST, Secretary,
Local 106, Cleveland, Ohio.
CHARLES E. BAIRD,
Local 51, St. Louis, Mo.
JAMES HARTNETT,
Local 134, Scranton, Pa.
JAMES BELL,
Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.
OSCAR BICKERDT,
Local 286, Peoria, Ill.
A. M. J. PRICHARD,
Local 721, Salt Lake City, Utah.
GEORGE HALE,
Local 2, Brooklyn, N. Y.
FRANK BRADLEY,
Local 574, Duluth, Minn.
Committee on Rules and Order of Business.

Motion by Koveleski, Local 171, and McEachern, Local 167, that the report of the committee be accepted and its recommendations concurred in.

Griffin, Local 86, opposed the adoption of Rule 14, and offered an amendment to make the rule read "two-thirds of convention," before the main question can be called for. Amendment seconded by Sands, Local 273.

Baird, Local 51, being a member of the committee advised the convention that the committee did not attempt to change the usual rules of general conventions under the auspices of our International Union and claimed the operation of Rule 14 would expedite the work of the convention.

Sands, Local 273, opposed the recommendations of the committee and supported the amendment; said it would be unfair to the minority to enforce Rule 14.

Cozzolino, Local 109, did not desire to discuss changing Rule 14, but desired to know if it were possible to change any of the rules submitted by the committee.

President Flore replied by saying that all the rules were the property of the convention, it had a right to amend or reject by the usual majority vote of the delegates.

Scott, Local 17, supported the amendment and said that Rule 14 was not intended to give a fair show to all delegates, that in his judgment the enforcement of Rule 14 would be very unfair to many delegates.

Farrell, Local 106, favored the report of the committee, and opposed the amendment on the ground that it really was immaterial as to how large or small the number might be who sought to shut off debate, if the convention desired an extension of debate it could so order by its vote, that our conventions were governed by majority rule and consequently no minority, no matter how anxious, could rule the work or determine its course.

Rose, Local 30, said that he was neither opposed or in favor of the motion, but according to the rules twelve delegates were in a position to close debate in an unfair manner. Stated that he desired to act fair with his opponents, and wanted their friendship, that he hoped harmony would prevail at the close of the convention; he suggested an amendment to the amendment calling for fifty delegates to move the previous question.

Goldsmith, Local 108, said that he might differ with many of the delegates on propositions before the convention, but he had taken his own medicine and did not hesitate to recommend it to others—THINK, is what I have been telling you for years; if you decline to think you will be the loser and not others. My purpose in attending this and other conventions is to endeavor to assist in enacting constructive legislation, therefore I am in favor of the original motion and opposed to the amendment.

Hooper, Local 48, expressed surprise that delegates from the San Francisco unions should feel so worried over a rule which calls for twelve persons to move the previous question; the San Francisco Labor Council is quite as large a gathering as this convention, in fact at times a greater number are represented at its meetings, and yet the rule in that body has been "five delegates may call for the previous question;" none of these delegates, so far as I know, have ever objected to that rule and I don't quite understand what their purpose may be now in objecting to twice that number to secure action on the main question. I am opposed to the amendment and in favor of Rule 14 as it stands.

Griffin, Local 86, the author of the amendment, asked permission to withdraw same and propose another. The convention granted the permission sought, and he offered an amendment which read fifty instead of twelve as recommended by the committee. Amendment seconded by Taback, Local 30.

Secretary Sullivan called the attention of the convention to the fact that the Rules and Order of Business as recommended by the committee, were identical with the Rules and Order of Business of the Denver, Boston, Minneapolis, and other conventions held under the auspices of our International Union; that it was simply wasting the time of the convention to discuss the question further; it made but little difference to the convention what number might seek to bring the main question to vote, for if the majority of the delegates believe that further discussion is necessary they would no doubt reject any motion to cut off debate. Under our rules two delegates can make a motion, but it requires a majority vote to concur in whatever proposal may be before the house, even if the rule read fifty delegates and one hundred and fifty voted to continue debate it would simply mean majority governs. If Rule 14 was good enough for previous conventions there has been nothing offered convincing enough to warrant changing that rule, therefore why change it.

The amendment was lost, the original motion was concurred in.

The following communication was made part of the convention records:

AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 3, 1915.

Mr. Jere L. Sullivan, Secretary-Treasurer, Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America, Commercial Tribune Building, Cincinnati, Ohio:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Mr. C. O. Young, organizer, has been authorized to be the representative of the American Federation of Labor to the convention of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America, to be held in San Francisco, Cal., the week of June 14, 1915.

I hope that the results of the convention will be of such a nature as to forward the movement for human welfare.

With best wishes, I remain,

Fraternally yours,

(Signed) SAM'L GOMPERS,
President American Federation of Labor.

President Flore announced that General Organizer of the American Federation of Labor, Brother C. O. Young, was in attendance and asked the delegates to give Brother Young close attention during his address and greetings from President Gompers. President Flore asked Vice-President Hesketh and Sister Lord to escort Brother Young to the platform.

Brother Young informed the convention that he had been assigned to San Francisco to take charge of the American Federation of Labor exhibit at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, and was rather proud of the display and expressed hope that all of the delegates and their friends would have time to pay him a visit before their departure for their respective homes. He said that of all the tasks assigned to him, none gave him greater pleasure than being required to convey to the convention the greetings of the American Federation of Labor and its honored president, Samuel Gompers. Brother Young addressed the convention and spoke substantially as follows:

Brother President, Ladies and Gentlemen—Brothers and Sisters—Delegates to this Convention: I am instructed by the President of the American Federation of Labor, as his special representative, to extend to the officers and delegates of this convention his most hearty greetings, and the greetings of his associates, and the wish that your deliberations may be harmonious, and that this meeting will redound to the credit and advancement of your International, and that of the great general movement of which you are a part. While I know that I shall be unable to impart the wisdom and council which his great developed mind is capable of imparting, I believe those present who know me will agree that I will not lack in earnestness of purpose and desire to convey to you the message President Gompers intends.

I desire to say that your problems are our problems, your struggles our struggles, your desires and aspirations also ours. In your progress, in your achievements, in your future development we are greatly concerned—for the good of your membership, for the good of our movement, and for the great good to society in general.

The advent of your International in the labor movement marked an epoch and welded another link in the chain of organizations which time has proven of great value to the human uplift—the only source from whence the toilers have secured relief from intolerable conditions. Your allied crafts, with all of the obstacles you have encountered, have made wonderful progress and growth in their brief career, and today have the proud distinction of being the ninth largest international in affiliation with the American Federation of Labor. When we reflect back and review the history of the past, and contrast conditions now with then, as regards hours, wages and conditions alone, leaving out of the question the moral uplift that naturally follows better conditions, wages and hours, you have every reason to be proud of your organization, of your officers—both national and local—and of the membership.

I can do no better than to make comparison as to conditions of the workers of your allied crafts coming under my immediate notice before and after the formation of your International. In the district from which I come you have great reason to be proud of the progress toward a higher and better life for your people; you have a right to be proud of those in that part of the country in whose hands, and by the help of the rank and file, has made the splendid conditions now prevailing possible. As was said a number of times yesterday by one of the distinguished speakers, modesty forbids that I tell you of some of the people who have stood loyal, and never flinching, doing battle in our great movement, not only for their own people, the cooks, waiters, waitresses and bartenders, but in the forefront of the general battle for the uplift of the great mass of oppressed and submerged. In the State from which I came, who was it that was the first to introduce a resolution for the enactment of the eight-hour law for women? The secretary of the waitresses' union. Not that the waitresses needed the law; for by fighting, through their organization, these girls had their short hours and six-day week, but in the interest of those who were not organized, and whom it seemed impossible to organize. The effort was to be made in behalf of those who were either too indifferent or afraid, and too timid to fight for themselves, as the girls in the restaurants had fought. It took eight years to accomplish the placing of the eight-hour law for women on the statute books of that State. You have lawyers and other professional men and women who have developed and came from the ranks of your organizations, in every city of magnitude in your jurisdiction. Yes, and you have men in your organization—men whom you have a right and whom the labor movement has a right to be proud of—who represent the people of their city in the legislative body of the community, and who have ever in their conduct been loyal to the trade union movement, and we have been able at all times to place our hands on them when it came to the matter of the rights of labor.

What is true in that locality is true in many other localities, and not only in your organization but in all organizations; thus showing what we do in the school of the trade union and the school of hard knocks.

By the education we have received in the school of the trade union our movement is tending toward a closer affiliation—toward the amalgamation of kindred organizations—as witnessed by the fact that ten years ago there were one hundred and twenty internationals affiliated with the A. F. of L.—and during that time several new affiliations have been added—yet at this time there are only one hundred and ten internationals in affiliation. We have lost no organizations by withdrawal; we have not lost in membership—on the contrary, we have gained in membership, till in the year 1914 we reached the highest mark in membership, that of two million and twenty thousand. The reason for decrease in the number of affiliations is due to the fact that internationals closely allied have united under one head. There have been some few attempts and efforts to separate some of the internationals, but I have to see the first one, during that time, which has attempted to scatter its forces that has succeeded. Each attempt has proven a dismal failure. During the past few years the Amalgamated Wood Workers and the Amalgamated Carpenters have been absorbed by the Brotherhood of Carpenters. The Plumbers and Steam Fitters are now one, when a short time ago they were fighting over jurisdiction. The Longshoremen have extended their jurisdiction to cover the Pilots and some others; the Molders have absorbed the Coremakers; the Blacksmiths have taken over the Chainmakers; the Electrical Workers are reunited, and a number of other amalgamations have taken place—and all have been benefited and have prospered.

During the last few years one branch of your organization has had to fight for its very existence. Regardless of what we as individuals think of their occupation, they are workers, entitled to working conditions and a decent wage; they, as workers, are entitled to the protection of their jobs while, at least, those jobs last. In battling in the interest of those men your International has spent large sums of money—the money collected from the general membership of the organization. It is my belief that the funds thus spent were given freely. I ask you now not to forsake those men, who are approaching the desert. Do not abandon them to their own fate. Brigands of old never forsook one of their crippled comrades and left him to perish alone. I admonish you, at this critical time, to become more closely associated, more firmly knit, more interested in each other, more loyal, keeping your organization intact; and if you do this you will still advance and progress toward the day when your organization will reach the workers of your crafts in every nook and corner of the American continent.

In concluding my remarks, I might add that brains or morality can not be legislated into the human family; but by the conditions we have made through the efforts of the labor movement in making for decent wages, hours and other conditions, giving to men and women some opportunity, some hope, some real life and leisure, we are greatly adding to the moral uplift of the human family—and to a greater extent than are all of the laws upon the statutes of the States or of the Nation.

Again I extend to the officers and delegates of this convention the greetings of the President of the A. F. of L. and that of his associates. Individually, I trust that your deliberations will bring a closer relationship, more harmony, more zeal, and a lasting value to your membership and to the great cause which we represent.

Brother Young's address was listened to with rapt attention and was generously interrupted with hearty applause.

A motion by Donnelly, Local 107, and Hooper Local 48, for a rising vote of thanks and appreciation was carried into execution.

Delegate Edward Levi, Local 239, inquired from the chair if the introduction of resolutions were in order.

President Flore replied in the affirmative, and then advised the convention that any resolution which contains a proposal to add to, amend or change, or proposes to eliminate present laws must be read to the convention, and according to Section 120 "A" must receive a two-third vote of the delegates of the convention before it can be received and referred to its proper committee:

Sweeney, Local 274: Am I to understand, Mr. President, that before any resolution can be presented the sanction of two-thirds of the delegates on this floor must be secured.

President Flore: Let me explain. Any resolution which does propose a change or addition to our laws must secure the consent of two-thirds of the delegates to this convention. The law reads:

"Section 120-A. All proposed amendments to the International Constitution, excepting as provided in Section 174, shall be printed in the official journal of the International Union at least three months previous to the date of a convention; no other amendments will be considered by a convention unless by sanction of a two-thirds vote of the delegates of said convention."

Resolutions which do not propose a change or addition to our laws can be presented to the chairman of the convention, and he will make proper reference. Meanwhile the chairman directs your attention to Rule 17, adopted by this convention. It reads:

"Rule 17. No resolution shall be received after Tuesday afternoon, June 15, unless by consent of the convention."

That, I think, fully covers the inquiries made.

The following resolutions were read to the convention. Those proposing any change or addition to our International Union laws were sanctioned by a two-thirds vote of the delegates and referred to the committee indicated at the end of the proposal:

Resolution No. 19—By Delegate Edward Levi, Local 239, Seattle, Wash.:

WHEREAS, The women workers of this country are getting into the industry in ever-increasing numbers, and it appears will be the only workers left in our crafts in the near future, principally on account of the difference in the wage scales, therefore be it

Resolved, That the following become one of our Constitutional laws:

"That the wage scale of the women cooks and the waitresses be not less than 90 per cent of the scales for cooks and waiters in their respective localities."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 20—By Delegates W. W. Levi and E. L. Hollingsworth, Local 33, Seattle, Wash.:

WHEREAS, Organized labor of Washington, Oregon and California lost a hard fight for an initiative measure for an eight-hour day on account of the stand taken by Samuel Gompers, and afterwards by the Philadelphia Convention; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the Eighteenth General Convention of H. & R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A. that the delegates to the A. F. of L. Convention be instructed to vote to put the A. F. of L. on record for an eight-hour day.

Referred to Committee on Resolutions.

Resolution No. 21—By Delegate Chas. F. Fleischmann, Local 44, San Francisco, Cal.:

To amend Section 99 by adding the words "an Assistant Secretary" immediately after the word "Secretary-Treasurer."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 22—By Delegate A. B. Hassel, Local 284, Los Angeles, Cal.:

WHEREAS, At various times it becomes necessary to hold funeral services over the remains of our departed brothers and sisters at the home, or chapel, as well as at the grave; and

WHEREAS, It is not in conformity with the progress of our institution to have any duplication in any of our work; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the incoming General Executive Board be and is hereby instructed to draft suitable services to be held at the home or chapel, in addition to the services already in our Ritual.

Referred to Committee on Resolutions.

Resolution No. 23—By Delegate A. B. Hassel, Local No. 284, Los Angeles, Cal.:

To amend Section No. 9 by making same read as follows:

"All applicants for membership to this International Union shall be required to pass an examination, both as to qualification and character.

"It shall be mandatory upon all locals to file with the General Office a copy of said examination.

"Any local failing to comply with the provisions of this section shall be fined the sum of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00), said fine to be paid into the defense fund of the International Union."

To amend Section 15 by adding the following paragraph:

"Failure to do so, in compliance with the laws governing citizenship, shall be deemed good and sufficient cause for cancellation of membership, and he shall be recorded as a suspended member until such time as he shall comply with said laws as hereinbefore mentioned."

Making section read:

"Every member, not a citizen by birth or naturalization, coming from countries other than covered by the name and charter of this International Union, shall be held to make his declaration of intention to become a citizen and perfect his naturalization as soon as he is entitled thereto; failure to do so, in compliance with the laws governing citizenship, shall be deemed good and sufficient cause for cancellation of membership, and he shall be recorded as a suspended member until such time as he shall comply with said laws as hereinbefore mentioned."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 24.—By Delegate Philip Hartman, Local 456, Chicago, Ill.:

WHEREAS, The condition of the Bartenders of Chicago demands that action must be taken in order to bring the thousands of unorganized barkeepers under the folds of our International Union; and

WHEREAS, Under instruction of the Bartenders' Joint Council of Chicago, we request the Eighteenth General Convention to station a Bartender General Organizer in the city of Chicago for at least one year, and further request the convention to instruct the General Executive Board to give such other assistance as may be needed to organize the Bartenders of Chicago.

Referred to Committee on Resolutions.

Resolution No. 25—By Delegate William B. Joyce Local 3, New York, N. Y.:

WHEREAS, The organized bartenders of New York City in recent years considered by establishing additional craft unions better results would develop not only for the local unions, but also for our International Union; and

WHEREAS, The existence of more than one local union of bartenders has done more harm than good by internal struggles, especially through jurisdictional squabbles ever now and then; and

WHEREAS, A continuance of these additional craft unions means a continued lack of harmony and a weakened organization of bartenders; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Eighteenth General Convention of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America restore to New York City conditions such as existed during the year of 1907 by amalgamating all local unions of bartenders on Manhattan Borough.

Referred to Committee on Organization.

Resolution No. 26—By Delegate Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.:

To eliminate Section 89 and to substitute in its place the following:

"Section 89. It shall be mandatory on the part of a Local Joint Executive Board in a city to hold a meeting at least once a month; failure to so meet to be punishable as provided for in Section 97."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 27—By Delegate Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.:

To amend Section 69 and add thereto the following:

"Failure to return the said coupon within the time specified shall be punishable by a fine of $5.00."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 28—By Delegate Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.:

To amend Section 17 to read as follows:

"Any member who brings the internal affairs of his Local or the International Union before the public shall, upon being found guilty by his Local or the International Union, be fined, suspended or expelled."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 29—By Delegate Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.:

To add to Section 64, to be known as Section 64 (a):

"It shall be mandatory for a Treasurer of a Local Union to deposit in a bank designated by the Local Union all moneys in excess of $25.00; the same shall be deposited in the name of the Local Union, and can not be withdrawn except by check signed by the President and Treasurer of the Local Union."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 30—By Delegate Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.:

To amend Section 102 by adding thereto the following:

"He shall have power to designate a member or members of the General Executive Board to do special work when in his judgment the conditions warrant their services; they shall receive the same rate of pay as International Organizers while so employed."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 31—By Delegate Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.:

To amend Section 102 by adding thereto the following:

"In the case of charges against a member or members by a member or members of another local or locals, such charges shall be filed in duplicate (preferably typewritten) with the General President, who shall review the case and render judgment in accordance with the facts presented. His decision shall be enforced, subject to an appeal to the General Executive Board.

"He shall have authority to enforce discipline upon local unions and members thereof which violate the International Constitution and to render judgment on cases appealed to him."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 32—By Delegate Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.:

To amend Section 87 by adding thereto the following:

"Except in the case of expulsion."

The section as amended to read:

"If an appeal is taken, the judgment shall not be enforced until the appeal has been acted upon by the General Executive Board; except in the case of expulsion."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 33—By Delegate Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.:

To amend Section 168, paragraph four, to read as follows:

"In no case shall a fine of more than Twenty-five Dollars be assessed upon an individual member, nor more than One Dollar per capita upon any local union."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 34—By Delegate Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.:

To add to Section 64, to be known as Section 64 (b) :

"It is compulsory for all local unions to make an audit of their books quarterly (quarters ending March 31st, June 30th, September 30th and December 31st), and to file a copy of the said audit with the General President within thirty days after the expiration of each quarter."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 35—By Delegate Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.:

To amend Section 50 to read as follows:

"Any officer or member who makes false returns to the General Headquarters knowingly shall be tried by the General President, and, if proven guilty, shall be fined, suspended or expelled from the International Union, subject to an appeal to the General Executive Board."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 36—By Delegate Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.:

To amend Section 68 to read as follows:

"The holder of a traveling card shall be held to deposit said card on or before the expiration of sixty days from date of issue. Failure to comply shall be punishable by a fine not to exceed $5.00."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 37—By Delegate Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.:

To amend Section 62 (c) by adding thereto the following:

"No local union shall exact a fee in excess of $50.00."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 38—By Delegate Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.:

To amend Section 34 to read as follows:

"All locals shall send to the General President a copy of their Constitution and By-Laws and all amendments thereto for his approval."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 39—By Delegate Wm. F. Kavanagh, Local 575, Jersey City, N. J.:

WHEREAS, Japanese and Chinese restaurants and Chinese laundries give no employment to American labor; and

WHEREAS, The above places are in competition with our American employers; be it
Resolved, That we, the delegates to this the Eighteenth General Convention, urge upon our membership to refrain from patronizing the above-mentioned places.

Referred to Committee on Asiatics.

Delegate Charles McKee, Local 815, read the following complaint and charges, made up in the form of a resolution:

RESOLUTION "A."

WHEREAS, Through certain violations of law and procedure prescribed by our International Constitution a great number of waitresses, members of Local 484, of Chicago, have been deprived of their membership and denied their rights of seeking redress, without a trial and through concert of action between certain officers of said Local 484 and the General Office; and

WHEREAS, There is likely to arise bitterness and future troubles within the ranks of culinary workers in the city of Chicago unless this convention make proper effort to compose the differences now existing between aforesaid members and officers of Local 484; therefore be it

Resolved. That this convention elect a committee of five to investigate and report their finding and recommendations, with the end in view to bring about harmony within the said Local 484, or to propose such remedies as will re-establish lawful and orderly procedure in all controversies involving violations of Section 24 of the International Constitution.

CHAS. MCKEE, Local 815, Salt Lake City, Utah.

(Signed) CECIL GIVENS, Local 14, Denver, Colo.

B. K. STEWART, Local 14, Denver, Colo.

President Flore: The resolution just read seems to indicate that the signers have been imposed upon by persons who have been given every opportunity to show that they were the loyal trade unionists which they heretofore claimed to be. These so-called appellants for consideration from this convention have caused about all the trouble which they are capable of producing; they have caused enough annoyance to satisfy even the most exacting; but so far as our laws are concerned, they have no appeal to this convention. Their actions in creating a dual union while their local union was engaged in a strike is, to say the very least, a decidedly questionable mode of procedure, and one which will not commend itself to any person who pretends to be a trade unionist. This whole matter was in my hands for several weeks and a decision was rendered, but the parties at interest pointedly refused to surrender membership in their dual union; and so far as I understand our laws, they have no legal or moral right to take up further time of the officers or members of our organization.

Fleischmann, Local 44: I offer objection to the introduction of the so-called resolution, for, as I understand the laws, individuals have no right to appeal to the convention.

President Flore:—Unless there is a motion to order the contrary, your President rules that the proposal can not be considered by this convention. Hearing no objections to that view, it is so ordered.

Delegate F. P. Battles, Local 44, San Francisco, read the following resolution, and by consent of the convention it was accepted:

Resolution No. 40—By Delegate F. P. Battles, Local 44, San Francisco, Cal.:

Maintenance Fund. Home of Aged and Infirm, all fixed charges of this International, via transfer, traveling, withdrawal card, reinstatements or initiation and all flexible methods that in the hereafter may be necessary to guard the safety of this International of America, to be increased and apportioned as follows: Traveling cards, 25 cents, 15 per cent to said fund; transfer cards, 25 cents, 15 per cent to said fund; withdrawal cards, 25 cents, 15 per cent to said fund; upon withdrawal cards being deposited charge $1.75, 25 cents to said fund. All initiation fees 25 cents on every $1.00 to said fund; all reinstatements, 25 cents to said fund; all flexible methods injected in the workings of this International for the safety of its members shall be guided by this International, which relates to fixed charges, said fixed charges shall not conflict with Section 65 of our International.

Referred to Committee on Law.

The following resolutions were presented. Those proposing any change in our laws were received by the usual two-third vote of the convention and referred to the committee indicated:

Resolution No. 41—By Delegate A. C. Rose, Local 30, San Francisco, Cal.:

WHEREAS, The A. F. of L. has at no time nor at any of its conventions gone on record for or against prohibition; and

WHEREAS, The fanatical prohibitionists boast of this fact and make capital of it; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the delegates from this International Union to the next A. F. of L. Convention be instructed to present to that convention a resolution urging that body to go on record as being opposed to any prohibition legislation; and be it further

Resolved, That our delegates are hereby instructed to oppose the election of any one with known prohibition sentiments to any office within the A. F. of L.

Referred to Committee on Resolutions.

Resolution No. 42—By Delegation of Local 188, Pittsburgh, Pa.:

WHEREAS, The Anti-Saloon League, Prohibitionists and others have deluged the land with pamphlets, books, journals, periodicals and other publications in disseminating their views, statistical and otherwise, in addition to malignant attacks and misrepresentations of the liquor traffic; and

WHEREAS, The membership of this International Union are vitally interested in the business which our opponents seek to destroy, and feeling the necessity of counteracting the pernicious influence of such literature by the circulation of counter publications which shall act as auxiliaries to that valiant champion of our cause, THE MIXER AND SERVER, which has battled so magnificently for the life of our organization and the liquor interests; therefore be it

Resolved, That the General Executive Board be given full power to act on the proposition herein submitted, and are further authorized to draw upon the Defense Fund for such moneys as in their judgment is deemed necessary to finance the same.

Referred to Committee on Prohibition and Anti-Saloon Question.

Resolution No. 43—By Delegation of Local 188, Pittsburgh, Pa.:

WHEREAS, There has been introduced from time to time in the several States not yet classified as "Dry Territory" many bills having for their object either the curtailment in part or the elimination as a whole of the liquor traffic; and

WHEREAS, Such measures, whenever enacted into law, have wrought great hardships and injury to the members of this International Union through lack or loss of employment at their respective vocations; and

WHEREAS, Believing that we should more actively interest ourselves in all such legislative measures and to use all honorable means at our command or disposal to prevent action thereon; and

WHEREAS, The members of this International Union have the right and should receive the co-operation and support of all organized bodies affiliated with the American Federation of Labor in preventing the passage of legislation that so plainly and surely means the destruction of our organization; therefore, be it

Resolved, That our delegates to State Federation conventions should be requested or instructed by their respective Locals to use their best endeavors to record by appropriate resolutions such State bodies against all local option and prohibition measures.

Referred to Committee on Prohibition and Anti-Saloon Question.

Resolution No. 44—By Delegation of Local 188, Pittsburgh, Pa.:

WHEREAS, The Anti-Saloon League and Prohibition forces, through their representatives, have time and again misquoted, directly and indirectly, the remarks of President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, as to his position or standing on the prohibition question; and

WHEREAS, Knowing full well that at all times and all places, whenever necessary, he has unequivocally expressed himself as opposed to the Prohibition propaganda, and further believing that his latest utterance on a subject of such vital importance to the membership of this International Union should be given the widest circulation and publicity possible; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the following excerpt from the Congressional Record, page 522, under date of December 22, 1914, hereto attached, be incorporated in the proceedings of this convention:

SAMUEL GOMPERS ON PROHIBITION.

(An extract from the speech of Hon. James C. Cantrill, of Kentucky, in the House of Representatives, Washington, D. C., December 22, 1914. See Congressional Record of that date, page 522).

Mr. Cantrill (speaking on the Hobson National Prohibition Amendment to the Constitution)—Samuel Gompers is the chief representative of the laboring men of this nation. Let me read his reply to Mr. Hobson concerning this resolution:

"September 3, 1914.

"Hon. Richard P. Hobson, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.:

"My DEAR MR. HOBSON—Your favor of August 21 reached my office during my absence on official business, and this is the first opportunity I have had to reply thereto. I beg to assure you that I appreciate the honor of selecting me as a member of the National Constitutional Prohibition Committee on Co-operation, but I must ask you to excuse me from accepting or serving on the committee. I am frank enough to say that I am out of harmony with the prohibition movement. I know of a better way other than by legalized prohibition to secure temperance and temperate habits, not only in the liquor traffic, but in any of the personal activities of men.

"There is no movement in all the country so potent to make the people temperate as is the much misunderstood and misrepresented organized labor movement of the country. Increasing wages, establishing a shorter workday, affording better tastes, better aspirations, higher ideals, which the better standard of living and freedom of burdensome long hours of toil will bring the opportunity for better homes and surroundings, and better working conditions, all of these, I repeat, have been more potent and will prove to be more potent in establishing temperance and temperance habits than to inaugurate prohibition by law.

"As you observe, I am not in harmony with the purpose of your movement, and hence cannot consistently accept an appointment on the committee. I therefore again respectfully request you to remove my name from the National Constitutional Prohibition Committee on Co-operation.

"Very truly yours,

SAMUEL GOMPERS,
President American Federation of Labor."

Referred to Committee on Prohibition and Anti-Saloon Question.

Resolution No. 45—By Delegate A. J. Cozzolino, Local 109, Newark, N. J.:

WHEREAS, The sentimental and emotional agitation against the liquor business has been the cause of legalized liquor being legislated out of business in some parts of the country; and

WHEREAS, Said sentimental and emotional presentation of the liquor business by the Prohibitionist and Local Optionist and Anti-Saloon Leaguers can only be met and successfully disputed by facts as compiled and published in the reports issued by the different municipalities, States and the Federal Government; and

WHEREAS, Said facts should be known by our members and supporters; be it therefore

Resolved, That the General Executive Board be empowered to appoint, without pay, a member of any of our local unions in every State; he to be known as the State Liquor Statistician of the H. and R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A. of the particular State he is affiliated with; and be it further

Resolved, That all statistical knowledge gathered by the said State Statistician from the different States shall be forwarded to headquarters to be published in THE MIXER AND SERVER.

Referred to Committee on Prohibition and Anti-Saloon Question.

Resolution No. 46—By Delegate Alfred E. Steimer, Local 44, San Francisco, Cal.:

WHEREAS, There is in the Rules of Order adopted for the guidance of this convention no method prescribed for the calling of a division on the Chairman's announcement of a vote on a question, or for the calling of a rising or roll call vote; and

WHEREAS, This information, on request, has not been imparted to the delegates; and

WHEREAS, The exercise of all the prerogatives of a delegate depends on a clear understanding of the Rules of Order governing a convention, and the interpretation thereof; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Committee on Rules of Order be instructed to immediately bring in a recommendation to the convention as to the method of procedure or the number of delegates required to call for a rising or roll call vote; and be it further

Resolved, That pending the report of the committee it be the sense of this convention that the rule of procedure be in accordance with Roberts' Rules of Order, Section 38, pages 110 and 111.

Referred to Committee on Rules and Order.

Resolution No. 47—By Delegates L. Linton and A. Berger, Local 458, Minneapolis, Minn.:

WHEREAS, Ever since fire was discovered somebody played the part of a cook, and today the culinary art is recognized as one of the greatest professions, we regret so little attention is paid to the sanitary conditions of the quarters wherein cooks are obliged to work, especially in the large cities, where they are obliged to work in gloomy basements, under public sidewalks, and in unventilated and filthy rooms; and

WHEREAS, The N. W. Cooks' Association, Local No. 458, of Minneapolis, has taken the stand against filthy, unsanitary conditions, cellar kitchens, long hours, and private employment bureaus, and have taken a stand for reasonable hours of labor, one day's rest in seven, sanitary working conditions, free employment bureaus regulated by the State Labor Department, and the licensing of all persons cooking and preparing food, and the inspection to be made by practical cooks of all kitchens and places where food is prepared for the public; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Eighteenth General Convention of the H. and R. E. I. A., and B. I. L. of A., in convention assembled, indorse the above stand that is taken by the N. W. Cooks' Association, Local No. 458, of Minneapolis, and pledges its support and co-operation to all measures introduced in the city and State law-making bodies that will advance the above measures mentioned in the resolution, thereby benefiting all our crafts and the general public.

Referred to Committee on Resolutions.

Resolution No. 48—By Delegate Craig S. Rhodes, Local 449, Altoona, Pa.:

The following Amendment to Section 84 is respectfully submitted:

The holder of a withdrawal card, wishing to become an active member, and the Local that issued said card being out of existence for any cause whatever, shall apply to the International and become a member at large; the same conditions to apply as if depositing it with the Local that issued it, should said Local be in existence.

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 49—By Delegate James E. Nelson, Local 376, South Chicago, Ills.:

To add the following, to be known as paragraph B, to Section 10:

No member of this International Union who is holding a steady position with any corporation shall be allowed to work at any of our crafts at one and the same time.

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 50—By Delegate John J. Griffin, Local 86, Lynn, Mass.:

To be added to Section 84, known as paragraph A:

That any member applying for a liquor license in a city or town, and having a withdrawal card from some other city or town other than the one he is applying for license in, must be transferred to the city or town he is applying for license in and a withdrawal card obtained therein if applied for.

Referred to Committee on Law.

Resolution No. 51—By Delegate Libbie Messer, Local 220, Eureka, Cal.:

WHEREAS, The membership of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance are keenly alive to the necessity of exercising the utmost care of expenditures of funds; and

WHEREAS, A saving of much money can be accomplished by leaving off the year in the printing of the membership monthly due button; therefore, be it

Resolved, That henceforth the membership button be made without the year being placed thereon, as suggested by the two hereunto attached, and made a part of this resolution.

Referred to Committee on Labels and Buttons.

Resolution No. 52—By Delegate Libbie Messer, Local 220, Eureka, Cal.:

WHEREAS, A small percentage of the membership of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America have been persistently and are now endeavoring to bring about its disintegration and disorganization and adopting methods to accomplish the same that brings the blush of shame to the sincere and honest workers for the general good of unionism; and

WHEREAS, The persons seeking the said disintegration and disorganization are avowed and pronounced I. W. W.'s, glorifying in the iconoclastic tactics resorted to by this class of would-be industrial reformers; and

WHEREAS, These I. W. W. members, having failed to sustain their own separate organization, are now, by gaining membership in Locals affiliated with the A. F. of L., attempting in their cowardly way to gain their ends; and

WHEREAS, The persons who join a labor union, taking the obligation in apparent sincerity, but secretly pledged to bring about the ruin of the organization they join, can be described only as cowardly traitors, deserving our contempt and expulsion; and

WHEREAS, The act of joining a labor union affiliated with the A. F. of L. being, as it ever must be, voluntary, the natural outcome of the acquisition of education upon the question of the necessary economic organization of the crafts, managed by those with craft knowledge; the severance of relations with organizations is a matter depending entirely upon the will of the individual member, the logical influence being that those who can not help shall never hinder, and those that hinder should be expelled before they sow the seeds of dissension by claiming ability to carry out their purposes by purely unconstitutional methods; therefore it is

Resolved, That this convention hereby condemns the actions of the I. W. W. members of the H. R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A. creating dissension and strife within its ranks, refuses to recognize the equity and constitutionality of our International body to satisfy the puerile ambitions of an untrustworthy and comparatively insignificant element of the membership; resents the attempts on the part of the syndicalistic incompetents who care only to vilify and blacken the characters and besmirch the reputations of the duly elected officers who do not coincide with the views of these I. W. W. malcontents, who grapple with questions beyond their intelligence and whose psychic perceptions are as mud; and it is further

Resolved, That this convention will look with favor upon the necessary action being taken to immediately bring to task those members who are now flagrantly abusing the privileges of membership and openly violating the provisions of the International and Local Constitutions and their obligations; and it is still further

Resolved, That during the present period of business depression resulting from the reconstructive forces at work in the United States, forced upon us by conditions over which, at present, we have no control, that it would appear advisable to allow no departure from well-established rules, and to sanction only such methods as are unmistakably beneficial to the members of organized labor.

Referred to Committee on Resolutions.

Resolution No. 53—By Delegate Edward J. Warren, Local 631, Phoenix, Ariz.:

An Act to provide for an Organizer for the Southwestern States—Arizona, New Mexico, Texas and Oklahoma.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Eighteenth Annual Convention of the H. R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A., assembled in San Francisco, June 14th to 20th, inclusive. An act to create an organizer for the above-mentioned States.

Section 2. Whereas, the last census gives to Arizona a population of 204,354, to New Mexico 327,396, to Texas 3,896,542, and to Oklahoma 1,675,155.

Section 3. Whereas, there is a vast section in those States that is unorganized, we, the Locals of that district, deem it necessary for the betterment of the International and Allied Locals that an organizer should be appointed.

Section 4. Whereas, two of the States in said district are at present without organizations of culinary workers.

Section 5. Whereas, two of the four States in question are now "dry," and such B. I. L. of A. Locals as were affiliated with this International Alliance having surrendered their charters.

Section 6. Then be it resolved that the organizer for that section be selected from the culinary workers.

Section 7. Be it further resolved that the Eighteenth Annual Convention of H. R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A., held in San Francisco from July 14th to 20th, inclusive, do create this office; and furthermore, that they do provide a way and means to maintain it the same as other organizers working for the International.

Section 8. Whereas, we, the affiliated Locals of the International, believe that an emergency exists, we ask that this officer assumes the regular duties of the office as soon as said office be created, or not later than thirty days after the convention adjourns.

Referred to Committee on Organization.

Absentees from this session are as follows: James J. O'Donald, Local 20, and James E. Nelson, Local 376.

Excused on account of illness: Nida R. Pangle, Local 335, and H. H. Edwards, Local 832.

Time for adjournment having arrived, the convention adjourned at 12:15 noon.

AFTERNOON SESSION—TUESDAY, JUNE 15, 1915.

Convention called to order at 2:05 p. m., by General President Edward Flore. President Flore asked the attention of the convention and introduced Miss Edith Sutter, of the United Garment Workers' Union.

Sister Sutter delivered a very interesting and instructive address on the duties of trade union members purchasing the products of trades unionists which bear the Union Label and patronizing establishments which employ union men and women under trade union conditions. Sister Sutter's address was frequently interrupted with applause and at its conclusion the convention arose in token of appreciation and thanks.

Chairman McCurdy for the Committee on Credentials presented the following report:

We, your Committee on Credentials to this convention, have examined the case of protest registered against the seating of Brother John O'Grady, delegate-elect from Local 542, San Rafael, Cal., and recommend that he be denied a seat as a delegate to this convention from that local union. We had offered to us evidence, which the brother himself does not deny, which in effect is that he has been working as a bartender in the city of San Francisco, Cal., while holding membership in Local 542, of San Rafael, an action which we regard as contrary to the letter and spirit of our laws and principles of our organization.

Motion by Parker, Local 35, and McGowan, Local 175, that the report be accepted and concurred in.

Fleischmann, Local 44, opposed the report of the committee; said that as the business representative of his local union he knew of many cases where members of his local invaded the supposed territory of sister unions and members of sister unions worked under the supposed territory of his local, but we made no special objection as we were satisfied as long as the workers were members in good standing of their respective unions. It seems to me at least, that it is improper for the committee to make an issue of O'Grady's case.

Regan, Local 41, recited that it was not exceptional for members of the Bay cities and those closely adjoining to invade and work in one another's jurisdiction, that there was a working agreement between the locals in the Bay counties which permitted such so-called invasions, and as long as the unions at interest were satisfied, he could not see why the convention should at this time take exceptions, nor could he understand the reasoning of the committee in seeking to deprive a local union of representation. He stated: We admit that Brother O'Grady works in this city, and we also know that he works part time at San Rafael, but that should not prevent him from securing a seat from a local in good standing and of which he is a good standing member.

Grace, Local 566: I am in favor of the report of the committee if for no other reason than that I believe the laws of our organization were made to be carried into effect, and this business of working one day here and another elsewhere is neither conducive to the unions and membership thereof, but in my judgment is something which becomes an abuse and the membership become victims of so-called extra workers from nearby towns.

Chapman, Local 30: The report of the committee shows a condition of mind which would seem to prove that they consider a case from a viewpoint which assumes knowledge of conditions as they exist, when as a matter of fact they know nothing of the situation. We have members of Local 30 working in the city of Oakland, and members of the Oakland union likewise have members working in this city; we have had an understanding and a working agreement and no friction occurs. If we were to adhere strictly to the written law, compel our members to transfer to one or the other local under whose jurisdiction they were working it would require an additional secretary to do little else but make out and care for traveling cards. The case of Brother O'Grady is almost identical, he being unable to secure steady employment in this city takes advantage of conditions and works at San Rafael; the very fact that he tries to obtain employment in this city while a member of Local 542 should not, in my judgment, bar him from a seat as a delegate from his local union.

I am opposed to the report of the committee and hope the convention will seat the delegate from 542.

Amendment by McGowan, Local 175, and De Young, Local 70, that the case of O'Grady be referred back to the committee and that the delegates from the Bay Counties be requested to appear before the committee and produce a record which will show a working agreement such as has been alleged exists between these local unions.

Kirkpatrick, Local 30: I do not see the need of referring back to the committee, the delegates here from the Bay counties have advised this convention that such an agreement as referred to does exist; that should be sufficient without further ado in the matter.

Johnson, Local 30: This convention has no legal right to deny a local union in good standing the privilege of being represented at this convention. Brother O'Grady, according to the evidence, was elected as a delegate from Local 542; if the brother has charges pending against him the committee has remained silent about such; there is no question raised here as to his standing as a member, and I do not see where the committee finds grounds for its recommendation.

The case is before the convention and surely there is no need to refer it back and thus prevent the delegate his legal rights, that of being seated here as a delegate from his local union.

Horne, Local 827: The committee has tried to examine this case carefully and thoroughly; the statement is made that a working agreement exists between the locals involved; if that agreement can be presented to the committee, or better still, to the convention right now, there will be no need for further delay or reference. I ask Brother Regan if he will, in the event of the passage of the amendment—to refer back to the committee—carries, bring that agreement, or copy of it, to the meeting of the credential committee this evening?

Regan, Local 41: I shall be glad to do so; I will have it there if I can locate it.

Canny, Local 44: The policy of the local unions in the Bay cities has been to work harmoniously together; we try to adjust our differences without appealing to the general officers, we are more concerned in seeing that the members who work under our several local unions are in good standing of one of our locals than we are in worrying over who may secure the jobs. Brother O'Grady is in good standing in his local union, that fact is known here in this city and it gives him similar privileges as those of our members in the home locals who are in good standing; it is making fish of one and flesh of another to pick out Brother O'Grady, he should be seated without further question or argument.

Madden, Local 200: I am not fully satisfied that all the facts have been produced before the committee; the amendment for re-submission to the committee seems to me the best and quickest way out of the dilemma, it will give both sides a chance to be given a fair hearing; I am in favor of the amendment.

Sesma, Local 284: I have been stationed in this part of the country for several months and this is the first time that I ever heard of any working agreement existing between the Bay counties whereby members are permitted to work under the jurisdiction of locals other than their own without depositing traveling cards. I deny that such a working agreement exists now or has been in existence since my arrival in San Francisco over a year ago. I am not personally aggrieved at Brother O'Grady, we have no differences whatsoever, but I know of instances, and of quite recent date, when Brother O'Grady worked in this city, in fact he makes no pretense at working under the jurisdiction of the local union at San Rafael. I am prepared to offer evidence to the committee that his sole purpose in transferring to Local 542 from Local 41 was to be a delegate at this convention; he did not transfer until after he had sought election as a delegate from Local 41 and was defeated.

Drake, Local 561: I move the previous question, seconded by Callahan, Local 274. A sufficient number under the rules asked for the main question and the main question was ordered up.

The motion to refer back to the committee was adopted.

Chairman E. Koveleski, of the Committee on General President's Report, submitted the following report for his committee:

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., June 15, 1915.

To the Officers and Members of the Eighteenth General Convention, Greeting:

We, your Committee on President's Report, beg leave to report as follows:

We believe the President's report to be one of the best reports ever submitted to any convention. The recommendations made by the President in his report have been fully covered by resolutions and have been referred to the proper committees and will be placed before you for action. The President has made a very able report as to his interpretations of various sections of the Constitution and By-Laws, and your committee believes he has taken a very fair and just view of them, and recommend that this convention record its approval of the decisions and interpretations of the President as submitted in his report. And we further recommend that a vote of thanks be extended to the President for his able report, and services during his term.

EMANUEL KOVELESKI, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y., Chairman.
 E. L. HOLLINGSWORTH, Local 33, Seattle, Wash.
 DANIEL P. REGAN, Local 41, San Francisco, Cal.
 JACOB SCHREMPF, Local 51, St. Louis, Mo.
 CHARLES BENTE, Local 68, Cincinnati, Ohio.
 M. W. LUSK, Local 69, Galveston, Texas.
 OTTO PATTBERG, Local 70, Brooklyn, N. Y.
 ERNEST O'BRIEN, Local 152, Minneapolis, Minn.
 THOMAS TARRANT, Local 196, Buffalo, N. Y.
 MRS. LIBBIE MESER, Local 220, Eureka, Cal.
 CHARLES SPECHT, Local 437, Indianapolis, Ind.
 FRED WESSEL, Local 8, Denver, Colo., Secretary.

Committee on Report of General President.

Farrell (Thomas), Local 106, and Schwenker, Local 79, offered a motion that the report of the Committee on General President's Report be accepted and concurred in by the convention. Motion adopted.

Koveleski, Local 171, announced that the K. P. C. would hold a session at 10:30 Tuesday evening.

James W. Clark, Chairman of the Committee on General Executive Board's Report, submitted the following for his committee:

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., June 15, 1915.

To the Eighteenth General Convention, Greeting:

We, your Committee on General Executive Board's Report, beg to submit that we have carefully examined the report of the General Board of our International Union, covering the period from March 1, 1913, to March 1, 1915, a very exhaustive memorandum of activity and supervision over the affairs of our organization. We are not unmindful of the immense labor which confronted our general executives during the term, in fact their tasks seem to be of proportions which few of the rank and file fully appreciate, and very few understand the immense quantity of problems which they are required to handle and of which the condensed memorandum gives but slight conception.

The thoroughness and satisfaction of labor well done is surely theirs and we would be rather lacking in appreciation if we failed to tender generous compliment for the tasks performed.

We are in hearty accord with the sentiments expressed in the closing paragraphs of their report, and submit as a suggestion that each member take home to themselves the kindly admonition and put forth their best efforts to make this convention a history-making gathering. Inasmuch as the members of the G. E. B., with few exceptions, are working at the trade, it must be evident that most of their spare moments must be given to the work of this organization and the very least which this convention can do is to tender to all of them sincere thanks and approval of their labors. We join with the members of the G. E. B. in urging the continuation of "aggressive, progressive and perpetual organized effort to the end of making our International Union the greatest attached to the A. F. of L."

We recommend approval of the work accomplished by the G. E. B. and unanimous concurrence in same.

Respectfully submitted.

JAMES W. CLARK, Local 188, Pittsburgh, Pa., Chairman.
 LENA HOOPER, Local 48, San Francisco, Cal., Secretary.
 FRED. B. HOBBY, Local 106, Cleveland, Ohio.
 JOHN A. SCHIFFERT, Local 361, Allentown, Pa.
 CLAUDE McCLELLAN, Local 402, San Diego, Cal.
 LARRY L. CHASE, Local 403, Stockton, Cal.
 CRAIG S. RHODES, Local 449, Altoona, Pa.
 JOSEPH DUSHEK, Local 744, Waco, Texas.
 H. H. EDWARDS, Local 832, Sedalia, Mo.

Motion by Baird, Local 51, and O'Hare, Local 188, to accept the report of the committee and concur in their findings.

Motion adopted.

Sands, Local 273, read the following resolution:

Resolution "B," by Daniel Regan, Local 41, San Francisco, Cal.

WHEREAS, Bartenders and Brewery Workers have more interests in common than all other crafts in the future existence and prosperity of the liquor industry, and

WHEREAS, The members of these two trades enjoy good working conditions as compared with many other trades, but are continually threatened by adverse legislation seeking everywhere to abolish the industry in which they make their living; therefore be it

Resolved, That this convention go on record as favoring the amalgamation of bartenders and brewery workers into one International union and that the culinary workers of this International union, as soon as such amalgamation is assured, obtain the sanction of the A. F. of L. to change the name of our existing International union so as to give it jurisdiction of culinary workers only; further

Resolved, That a special committee be elected to prepare plans to bring about such amalgamation.

President Flore ruled that the proposal contemplates changing provisions of our constitution and laws, and as such must secure a two-third vote of the convention before acceptance and reference.

Regan, Local 41, inquired if that was the conclusion of the General President, upon what ground did the General Secretary-Treasurer refuse to print the proposal in the official Journal, the Mixer and Server, the same as all other similar proposals to amend or change the law.

Rose, Local 30: The resolution just read and which the presiding officer says is a proposal which contemplates changing provisions of law were sent to headquarters and the General Secretary not only acknowledged its receipt, but failed to print it as is provided for under our laws. It seems to me that such action on his part should be inquired into by this convention.

President Flore: The Chair is not now trying to discover why the General Secretary-Treasurer refrained from printing the resolution, he is concerned in endeavoring to carry out the laws of the organization; no doubt Secretary-Treasurer Sullivan had seemingly good reasons for his actions.

Secretary-Treasurer Sullivan: The resolution just offered to the convention has been before our organization for a number of years, efforts to disguise it so that the membership would accept or swallow it have so far failed, it is a union-wrecking proposition and no matter under what guise it may appear seeks to strike at the foundation of our International Union. Secretary Sullivan briefly sketched the travels of the proposal, and averred that it was made from identically the same bit of goods as the proposal which President Gompers declared "were repugnant to the organic law of the International, threatened its very existence," and upon such proposal President Gompers rendered a decision sustaining the general officers of our International Union; that too, when the local union that delegate Rose is a member of was appealing for what they called justice. Local 30 was the union which fathered the other proposal and no doubt inspired this one.

President Flore: We are losing valuable time, the Chair rules that the proposal is law and cannot be accepted without the required two-third vote of the convention as provided for in our laws.

Rose, Local 30: I appeal from the decision of the President.

Vice-President Robert B. Hesketh called to the Chair.

Vice-President Hesketh: An appeal from the decision of your General President has been taken by Delegate Rose of Local 30; the appellant, Delegate Rose, has the floor to state his reasons for making the appeal, the delegates will please preserve order so that we may fully understand the subject before the house and vote intelligently thereon.

Rose, Local 30, offered to the convention his reasons for taking the appeal from the decision of the Chair.

President Flore presented to the convention his reasons for regarding the resolution as a proposal to change the laws of our organization.

By vote of the convention the decision of General President Flore was sustained and so announced by presiding officer Vice-President Hesketh.

Resolution "B," by Daniel Regan, Local 41, San Francisco, Cal., was declined by the convention.

General President Flore presiding.

Delegate Johnson, Local 30, read the following resolution to the convention:

Resolution "C," by Theodore Johnson, Local 30, San Francisco, Cal.:

Resolved, That we, the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America, in the Eighteenth General Convention assembled, do hereby declare it to be for the best interests of all affiliated crafts, to segregate this International Union into two separate, self-governing International organizations, namely, a Culinary Workers' International Union and a Bartenders' International Union, both of which are to be affiliated with the American Federation of Labor; and further

Resolved, That a committee be elected to prepare a plan of action to bring about such segregation, and that said committee be directed to report such plan of action to this convention before its adjournment.

President Flore: The resolution just read by Delegate Johnson, Local 30, is a proposal to change our laws and therefore cannot be accepted until the convention by a two-third vote of the delegates desire its acceptance and consideration.

Johnson, Local 30: Is that the decision of the chairman on the proposal just read by me?

President Flore: That is the ruling of the chair.

Johnson, Local 30: Then, Mr. President, I appeal from the decision of the chair, to this convention.

President Flore: That is your privilege.

Vice-President Hesketh presiding. The only subject before the house is the appeal.

Johnson, Local 30, made an exhaustive argument, covered the ground fully and quoted extensively from the laws of the American Federation of Labor to show that such a proposal is fully in accord, not only with the laws of the American Federation of Labor, but our International Union as well.

President Flore quoted several sections of our International Union laws to sustain him in the conclusions which he had reached.

The convention by a rising vote sustained the decision of their General President. The vote as counted by the assistant secretaries of the convention was: To sustain the decision of the Chair, 139; against the decision and not to sustain the Chair, 35.

Vice-President Hesketh declared the vote of the convention sustained the decision of the Chair. The convention declined to accept Resolution "C," by Theodore Johnson, Local 30, San Francisco, Cal.

The following resolution was read to the convention by Delegate Garrity, Local 81:

Resolution "D," by Delegation of Local 81, Holyoke, Mass.:

Amendment to the Constitution, submitted by Local 81, Holyoke, Mass. To amend Section 26 to read as follows:

No members shall be accepted by a local from one craft to another, or no transfer of member shall be accepted by a local of any craft unless applicant qualifies as a capable craftsmen and complies with the laws of the local into which member desires to transfer. Said member shall be required to pay the difference in initiation fee charged by the local in which the member wishes to be transferred to.

President Flore: The proposal is law; the required two-third vote of this convention being necessary for its acceptance.

The convention declined to accept Resolution "D."

Delegate Nelson, Local 376, read the following resolution to the convention.

Resolution "E," by James E. Nelson, Local 376, South Chicago, Illinois:

To amend Section 64 to read as follows:

It shall be mandatory on the part of all affiliated locals to bond their treasurers and other officers who handle funds of any local of this International Union; bonds to be procured through some reputable bonding company, and the General Executive Board shall select the bonding company. Bonds shall be handled through the International Union. A penalty of twenty-five dollars shall be imposed on locals failing to comply with this section within thirty days upon the demand of the Secretary-Treasurer of this International Union.

Convention declined to accept Resolution "E," by Delegate Nelson.

Delegate Johnson, Local 30, read the following resolution to the convention:

Resolution "F," by Theodore Johnson, Local 30, San Francisco, Cal.:

Resolved, That Section 173, of the Constitution, be amended to read as follows:

Section 173. All proposed amendments to the Constitution must be submitted to the general convention in writing by a delegate or delegates of a local or locals in good standing with this International, separated from other matters, and then voted upon by the convention, and if adopted, shall become law sixty days after the adjournment of the convention, unless a petition for a general vote on any or all such amendments be filed at the general office within said period of sixty days by not less than twenty-five locals, in which case any or all such amendments shall be referred for adoption or rejection by the general membership as provided in Section 175.

Convention declined to accept Resolution "F," by Theodore Johnson, Local 30.

Baird, Local 51, vigorously objected to the practise of delegates constructing poorly conceived resolutions and introducing them to the convention for no other apparent purpose than to waste the time and money of the delegates.

President Flore: Unless the delegates to this convention, and especially those who have seen fit as a part of their program, to try to delay the work of the convention by uselessly wasting our time desist, we will be compelled to decline the invitation to take your boat ride tomorrow and remain here in an effort to do the work for which our unions sent us.

Delegate Parker, Local 35, read the following resolution:

Resolution "G," by Fred Ebeling, Local 865, and Ben Parker, Local 35, Chicago, Ill.:

To amend Section 24, by adding Section B.

This section, or any part thereof, shall be optional with each local union. Locals desiring to enforce this section shall submit same to a referendum vote of their membership and it shall require two-thirds vote to enforce same—and must have the sanction of the Local Joint Executive Board if one exists.

This section shall only apply to such dual organizations, societies or clubs which are located in jurisdictions of such local unions or Local Joint Executive Board.

The convention declined Resolution "G."

The following resolution was read to the convention:

Resolution No. 54—By Delegates Vigneux, Durnin and Garrity, Local 81, Holyoke, Mass.

WHEREAS, In the past the MIXER AND SERVER has been printed on paper not bearing the water mark of the Paper Makers' Union; and

WHEREAS, The official journal of this International is distributed all over this United States and Canada; be it

Resolved, That the official journal known as the MIXER AND SERVER be printed on union-made paper bearing the water mark of the Paper Makers' Union.

Referred to Committee on Resolutions.

Secretary Sullivan: I do not desire to occupy the position of opposing the resolution at this time, but it would be unfair to myself and the members of the General Executive Board to permit that resolution to get by without a few words of comment, and I therefore ask the indulgence of the convention for a few words before the resolution is forgotten.

The convention grants Secretary Sullivan the privilege of speaking on the subject matter of the resolution.

Secretary Sullivan: The introducers of the resolution come from a city where paper making is one of the chief industries, they are no doubt bound to present something of this kind, but in doing so they unconsciously intimate lack of effort on the part of myself and colleagues in trying to secure union water marked paper for our publication. We have been able to secure after considerable effort, union water marked paper for letter heads, envelopes and other printed matter issued by the general office, but despite trying we have been unable to secure any guarantee, without investing considerable money, from the manufacturers of union water marked paper of a sufficient quantity of book paper to care for our requirements. You may not have paid much attention to that portion of my report covering the MIXER AND SERVER; with your permission allow me to repeat a portion of that comment. On page 19 of my report to this convention you will find the following:

"Newspaper and magazine circulation experts calculate that an average circulation of 100,000 represents 400,000 readers, in other words, each paper printed and circulated is read by an average of four persons. Basing our circulation on the number of copies actually printed each month is an easy task, for we seldom retain extra copies. Excepted from that rule is the number of copies held over for annual binding, and they do not represent a total of 1,000 per month. During the last twenty-four months we have printed 1,339,500 copies of the MIXER AND SERVER; deducting therefrom 24,000 copies for binding and reference purposes, leaves us a total of 1,315,500 for the two years referred to, or an average monthly of 54,812½ copies, or an actual reading clientele of 219,250. Therefore on the basis of that number of readers the MIXER AND SERVER has been read by 5,262,000 persons in the last two years.

"To still further emphasize the quantity of our official paper printed and circulated, the held-over copies, and which are bound to the number of local unions in good standing, are being continually referred to by our members; in fact, they become a valuable book of reference, which our membership prize very highly.

"Our official monthly Journal enjoys what is known as 'pound rates,' that is to say, all copies mailed to addresses, excepting those mailed to members residing in the city of publication and copies mailed to our members in Canada, are paid at the rate of one cent per pound; those going to members in Canada must bear postage stamps, one cent for each four ounces or fraction thereof. A similar rate is required for Journals mailed to the address of members in the city of publication. The weight of our official Journal may interest those who give such matters thought: for the two years ending February, 1915, the total weight of the MIXER AND SERVER mailed to addresses was 345,978½ pounds, one hundred and seventy-five tons less 22 pounds, or, in other words, 174 tons and 1,978 pounds. The average weight per month during the two years was 14,582 5-12 pounds, over seven tons of printed matter each month."

As you will note, that means almost 175 tons of paper which we have used in the MIXER AND SERVER alone, not counting tons upon tons of other paper during the term of two years; it is beyond the powers of any man to say what quantity of paper we may require for the next two years, but supposing that an equal quantity would be needed, your Secretary-Treasurer, no matter whom you may elect to that position, will be compelled to make a contract for paper, otherwise he will be confronted with a problem such as few of you without publication experience realize. We have on the floor of this convention at least four delegates, two of whom own and conduct labor papers, and I venture to say that they have tried to secure union water marked paper sufficient to care for their wants and have failed. Brothers Goldsmith and Schwenker own and run labor papers; Brothers Sinton's and Berger's union print a monthly paper, and the same is true of Local 30. I make bold to say that Brother Johnson, of Local 30, who has had, as I understand it, the management of "The Culinary Craft," has tried to secure union water marked paper and I doubt that he has been successful. In giving this subject consideration, don't overlook another point, union water marked paper, if procurable in sufficient quantities, is going to cost you considerable more than the paper we have been compelled to use. All of this, and much more could be offered for your serious consideration, but I want to be understood as being in favor of using union labeled products all of the time, and this resolution, unless the brief explanation made changes that view would seem to indicate that we have failed to try to secure such paper. If the introducers have any method of assuring us that we can get sufficient supply without tieing up our general funds as a guarantee, then that assurance should be forthcoming before the committee to whom this resolution is referred takes any action which is impossible of carrying out.

Johnson, Local 30: If it is permissible, Mr. President, I wish to say a few words in regards to this subject of union made paper.

President Flore: If the convention has no objection the matter is open for discussion.

Johnson, Local 30: I am in hearty accord with the views and conclusions given expression by Secretary Sullivan; he is quite correct in his conclusions so far as our local union's publication. We have made a request of our printer for union water marked paper and he has advised us that he is unable to secure but a limited supply, insufficient for our wants; in fact, we have some difficulty in obtaining union water marked paper for letter heads and envelopes; there are but few printers in this city able to supply us with union made paper.

Schwenker, Local 79: I am the owner and publisher of a trade union journal in my city, and I have had a similar experience as have the brothers who have spoken to you on the subject before the house. I am ready at any time, when I am assured of continuous supply to use nothing but union water marked paper.

Goldsmith, Local 108: I am also the owner and publisher of a trade union publication, but have failed to obtain enough union made paper to supply my wants. At the outset, the agents for the union water marked paper made a proposition which would have necessitated my purchasing stock in a paper making company before they would guarantee me any supply whatever. Whenever the union water marked paper is put on the market at prices within reason and in sufficient quantity to care for my wants, you will find Mike using that product in his weekly paper.

Garrity, Local 81: I am from a papermaking city, we seek the support of the men in the mills, and they in turn ask us to support them; they are right in their requests, and I am sure we can satisfy Secretary Sullivan that there will be very soon enough union made paper to care for our monthly magazine.

Vigneux, Local 81: Before I left home I was assured by members of the Paper Makers' Unions that whatever conditions prevailed in the matter of supplying union made paper in the past was being remedied, that they had recently unionized several mills and would be able to care for all demands made on them.

Durning, Local 81: In presenting the resolution we had no intention whatsoever of finding fault with the General Secretary or members of the General Executive Board; our members back home are probably unaware of the conditions surrounding the selling end of the paper industry, and this discussion will enable them to understand what has been more or less of a mystery to them in the past. Local 81 does not desire to place any obstacles in the path of our general executives, but they do hope that if a supply of paper can be assured them that the union water marked paper will be used in our official paper.

Griffin, Local 86: The question was discussed by the previous convention; in our section of the country the members want to know why their official paper is not using the union water marked paper and I hope that whatever disposition may be made of the resolution that a large enough quantity of paper can be had, and I am assured that it can, then our MIXER AND SERVER should be printed on that kind of paper.

Bork, Local 312: Being an old printerman myself I think I know somewhat of the unceasing tribulations which beset the publisher of either daily, weekly or monthly paper. The assurance from our General Secretary-Treasurer that every effort within reason has been made to comply with the wishes of the great majority of our members is satisfactory to me, and I feel should be to you. He tells you of the conditions which surround him, surely you cannot exact of him the impossible.

Resolution 54 was referred to the Committee on Resolutions.

The following communications and telegrams were ordered made a part of the convention records:

GLEN ISLAND VIA PICTON, ONTARIO, CAN., June 14, 1915.

Jere L. Sullivan, Sutter Hotel, San Francisco, Cal.:

Accept for yourself and associate officers, as well as delegates to your Eighteenth General Convention, fraternal and sincere greetings. Your organization has made a magnificent record despite surroundings such as no labor organization of America grapples with; it has grown wonderfully and will continue its splendid progress by overcoming all obstacles which lie in its path. May the coming term prove doubly successful, and it will with anything like genuine co-operation of every member. Good wishes and generous quantity to all.

JOHN C. (DADDY) DERNELL.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

BOSTON, June 4, 1915.

Hon. Jere L. Sullivan, San Francisco, California. Greetings:

May your convention be a history-making one of progress. Thousands of loyal workers of this grand old commonwealth are looking forward for great expectations. Don't disappoint us! Keep us intact! Keep us united! Keep us integrated!

Fraternally,

JOHN J. KEARNEY.

Digitized by Google

BOSTON, June 8, 1915.

Mr. Jerc L. Sullivan, General Secretary-Treasurer, Hotel Sutter, San Francisco, Cal.:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Kindly extend my fraternal greetings to the delegates of the Eighteenth General Convention, and may the deliberations redound to the future of our organization.

This, our Eighteenth General Convention, appears to be one of the most important in the history of the organization, and it would really seem a pity if any legislation should be enacted that would retard the progress we have made within the past few years.

As I look back to the first convention that I attended in Chicago in March, 1899, which was attended by only twenty-nine delegates, representing nineteen locals, and look at the present with several hundred locals represented, I feel that we have made great progress; and looking over the past history, which contains many timely references to the early days of our International, as was offered in an address delivered by Labor Commissioner McEwen at the opening of the Minneapolis convention, May 10, 1909, it ought to be sufficient evidence to convince the conscientious delegates at this Eighteenth General Convention to think, and think well, and consider before they promise to vote on any measure at this psychological moment. It behooves every delegate to weigh carefully every piece of legislation that will be submitted for enactment.

It ought to appear to every fair-minded person who has given any study to our International for the past ten years that we have made as rapid advance as could be expected. In a few words, what is the reason of this eternal strife? Is it pure jealousy, or is it that those who ought to be fighting the prohibition movement, that has been organized to put the members of our International out of work and add untold misery to the unemployed of he country, are advocating and trying to bring about a division of our ranks instead of strengthening our forces? Why not be honest—let every man be his own counsel—stand by the dictates of his own conscience? Be convinced and stand only for the enactment of legislation that will be beneficial to all. As one of the chartered members of one of the largest locals in the International, I say this is the time that we ought all to be fighting for one cause—that is, combating our enemies.

Segregation is a live question, and every man ought to have his own personal opinion, but personalities ought not to stand in the way of success for the many. Can we, being divided, accomplish the object of employment and personal liberty for the members of our International? Is it not a fact that we have done more for temperance and the welfare of the masses, through reducing their hours of labor, than any other organization or reform workers? I might say for illustration that the labor people of this country in the early part of 1890 all advocated the free and unlimited coinage of silver, and whilst we had for our standard-bearer, backed upon that issue by practically every organized wage-worker in this country, such a man as William Jennings Bryan, and every person, with fevered heat, sought to overthrow the financial conditions of the country in 1896; but the conservative people of this country, believing that it was too radical a change, from gold to silver, openly admitted that the time was not ripe for such action. Segregation in our International appears to be in a similar position. The individuals who advocate it believe that we ought to change our administration, and the individual has a perfect right to his own belief, but he first ought to consider the interests of all; and as we are now on the verge of war against the anti-saloon and nation-wide prohibition advocates, is it not reasonable that we should be working to increase our members, in accordance with the preamble of our International Constitution, rather than let our individual feelings cause the disruption and downfall of our International Union?

Yours fraternally,

RICHARD W. GARRITY,
Ex-Third Vice-President.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., June 13, 1915.

Officers and Delegates of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees and the Bartenders' International League of America, San Francisco, Cal.:

GENTLEMEN—Owing to the Alabama prohibition law which becomes effective July 1, Local 248 regrets very much in not having a delegation at the said convention, but you can rest assured that Local 248 will retain its charter the next four years like it did eight years ago. All the members of Local 248 wish much happiness and success to all members of the International Union, and hope to meet them in the near future in congenial companionship. With this thought in mind, we remain as ever. Horan wants to know who got the goat?

LOCAL 248 COMMITTEE,

JOHN HORAN,
"SCOTTY" BRYANT.

HORACE KEENAN,

PHOENIX, ARIZ., June 14, 1915.

J. L. Sullivan, Secretary Convention of H. and R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A., Convention Hall, San Francisco, Cal.:

GENTLEMEN—Greetings for a successful convention. Sentiment majority members against segregation. Closer amalgamation.

B. A. ADAMS, Secretary Local 631.

Digitized by Google

BAKERSFIELD, CAL., June 15, 1915.

Jere L. Sullivan, Hotel Sutter, San Francisco, Cal.:

Local 378 extends fraternal greetings to our General Convention.

A. J. KEMP, President.

W. L. HARGIS, Secretary.

HARTFORD, CONN., June 15, 1915.

Friend Jere:

Kindly greetings to all delegates. May your deliberations result in a benefit to your great organization. With best wishes to all delegates including "Think," the Hebrew ferret of Cleveland, Ohio; Madden of Hartford; Farrell, of Cleveland, and last but not least, all the ladies.

SOL SONTHEIMER.

PATERSON, N. J., June 14, 1915.

Wm. F. Kavanaugh, care Jere Sullivan, Secretary Eighteenth General Convention, H. and R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A., San Francisco. Greetings:

We want your Nineteenth General Convention in Hoboken, N. J. We need it to rout the Anti-Saloon League. Come and let the people of New Jersey see who we are.

Fraternally,

WILLIAM BRINDLE, President.

JOHN WEBB, Secretary,

Bartenders of Paterson, N. J.

HOBOKEN, N. J., June 15, 1915.

Jere L. Sullivan, Convention Hall, San Francisco, Cal. Greeting:

Hoboken is anxious to have next convention here.

ROWOHLT.

HOBOKEN, N. J., June 15, 1915.

Jere L. Sullivan, Convention Hall, Bartenders' International League of America, San Francisco, Cal.

Best greetings from Local 10. Hoboken for next convention.

RICH. ZWAHR, Secretary.

PASSAIC, N. J., June 15, 1915.

To the Delegates attending the Eighteenth General Convention of H. R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of America. Greetings:

The bar boys of Passaic, New Jersey, want the Nineteenth General Convention to be held in the city of Hoboken, New Jersey. The Anti-Saloon League boasts of putting our liberal State on the "dry" map in 1917. Come here and help us prevent them from carrying out their plans.

Fraternally yours,

GEORGE J. KLEIN, President.

HARRY Z. STRYKER, Financial Secretary,

Bartenders' Union, Local 689, Passaic, New Jersey.

THE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY OF NEW JERSEY.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 8, 1915.

Mr. Edward Flore, President H. and R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A., Convention Hall, San Francisco, Cal.:

DEAR SIR—Write to urge you to use your good offices to have Hoboken, N. J., selected as the next city for your convention, because of its splendid location, situated on the beautiful Hudson River, known as the American Rhine, just across from our nation's metropolis, New York City; believe it would hold for those who have not been privileged to visit same many points of unusual interest. As a union man I can assure you a warm welcome awaits you, and now that you have on several occasions enjoyed the Western hospitality give to us of the East an opportunity of entertaining yourself and associates, a hope we entertain and look forward to with pleasant anticipation.

In conclusion, earnestly hope your convention will prove both pleasant and profitable and that another page will be added to the achievements of your splendid organization.

Very truly yours,

FRANCIS P. BOLAND.

HOLYOKE, MASS., June 14, 1915.

Mr. Jere L. Sullivan, General Secretary-Treasurer, H. and R. E. I. and B. I. L., Convention Hall, San Francisco, Cal.:

My best wishes for a successful convention. May your deliberations in convention assembled make our International bigger, better and stronger. Personal regards to all the members of the K. P. C. All Polish.

PATR. W. CRATTY.

K. of the R. C. K. P. C.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 14, 1915.

Jere L. Sullivan, General Secretary-Treasurer, H. and R. E. I. A. and B. I. L., Convention Hall, San Francisco, Cal.:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Local 872 sends greetings to International Convention. We wish the brothers greatest good will and success in promoting good of the Order. Hope they will further cement the bonds of brotherhood in the present organization.

VICTOR MAROT, Secretary.

MILWAUKEE WIS., June 14, 1915.

Mr. Jere L. Sullivan, Secretary-Treasurer, Hotel Sutter, San Francisco, Cal.:

Greetings to yourself and delegates to our Eighteenth General Convention. Success to the delegates representing the culinary craft and may their combined efforts further cement the bonds of true brotherhood with the blue button boys.

Fraternally yours,

JAS. F. FOLEY, President Local 59.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., June 15, 1915.

Jere L. Sullivan, Sutter Hotel, San Francisco, Cal.:

Wishing success in your deliberations and that the laws adopted will be for the best interests of all locals concerned. With greetings.

Yours fraternally,

L. J. E. B. OF PHILADELPHIA.

SAN PEDRO, CAL., June 15, 1915.

Jere L. Sullivan, Sutter Hotel, San Francisco, Cal.:

Local 754 welcomes the delegates to California. We hope that the work done by the convention will be of great benefit to all the members of the International. We invite all delegates who are southward bound to visit San Pedro.

Yours fraternally,

LOCAL 754, SAN PEDRO, CAL.,
GEORGE W. McDONALD, Secretary.

Motion by Koveleski, Local 171, and O'Brien, Local 152, that the rules be suspended and that when we adjourn this afternoon, it shall be until Thursday morning, June 17, 1915, at nine o'clock sharp. Motion concurred in.

The committees on Report of General President and General Executive Board's Report were discharged with a vote of thanks for their prompt and efficient labors.

Delegate Regan, for the Committee on Convention Arrangements, announced that the boat ride arranged by the committee, was one which no delegate could afford to miss; the General Frisbie had been chartered for an all day trip, it would leave Clay street wharf at 9:30 in the morning, and that means on time, so the delegates should make arrangements to be there when the gong rings for departure.

There will be ample food and beverages for all, so on that score none of you need worry. Be there, boys and girls, and we promise you a good time.

Absentee: Delegate Fred W. Bard, Local 525, Oakland, Cal.
Convention adjourned at 5:55 p. m.

MORNING SESSION—THURSDAY, JUNE 17, 1915.

Convention called to order by General President Flore at 9:10 a. m.

Chairman C. W. McCurdy, for the Committee on Credentials, presented the following report:

Your Credential Committee reports as follows:

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., June 17, 1915.

In the case of Louis A. Pomeroy, of Local 62, Fresno, Cal., the committee recommends the seating of this brother. He has two votes.

In the matter of the seating of Brother John O'Grady, Local 542, the case as referred back to the committee by the convention was continued, owing to failure of parties concerned producing the agreement between Locals 41 and 542.

Motion by Lehman, Local 1, and Laycock, Local 80, that the report of the committee be accepted and their recommendations concurred in. Motion carried.

The following telegrams were ordered made a part of the convention record:

JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 16, 1915.

J. L. Sullivan, Convention Hall, Hotel and Restaurant Employes' and Bartenders' League of America International Alliance, San Francisco:

Bill, bring back bacon. Hoboken for nineteen seventeen. Oppose segregation. Success.
CULINARY LOCAL 575.

NEW YORK, 11:20 A. M., June 16, 1915.

Jere L. Sullivan, International League Hotel and Restaurant Employes of Bartenders, Convention Hall, San Francisco, Cal.:

Hoboken for 1917.

PASSAIC, N. J., 10:55 A. M., June 16, 1915.

Wm. Kavanagh, Care Jere L. Sullivan, Waiters' and Bartenders' Convention, Convention Hall, San Francisco, Cal.:

At last regular meeting Local 689, Passaic, N. J., unanimously voted to hold the next convention in Hoboken. Let us come this way to fight local option. Greetings.

HARRY Z. STRYKER, Secretary and Treasurer.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 16, 1915.

Jere L. Sullivan, General Secretary Hotel and Restaurant Employes' and Bartenders' International League Convention, San Francisco, Cal.:

Though not in person, I am with you in spirit. Remind Johnny Griffin I oppose segregation. May your deliberations bring best results. Farrell, make my fight for amalgamation. Durnin, quote me declaring under one flag "We succeed." I pray you an undivided organization. Ask Koveleski to wire me result. W. H. WALSH, Local 228.

GREAT FALLS, MONT., 9:30 A. M., June 16, 1915.

Jere L. Sullivan, Civic Auditorium, San Francisco, Cal.:

Congratulations on the defeat of segregation. Brother, it is a great victory to be proud of. W.M. MCKEE, President Cooks' and Waiters' Local 101, Great Falls, Mont.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 17, 1915.

Jere L. Sullivan, General Secretary H. and R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A., New Civic Center Auditorium, San Francisco, Cal.:

Success and best wishes. WILLIAM J. GUEST, Financial Secretary Local 285.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 17, 1915.

Hotel Employes' and Bartenders' League of America, Convention Hall, San Francisco, Cal.:

Supreme Nest, Fraternal Order of Orioles, extends to your body best wishes for successful convention—with a polish. FRED J. SEAMES.

Chairman Edward T. Levi, of the Committee on Organization, presented the following report:

Report of Committee on Organization:

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., June 17, 1915.

To the Eighteenth General Convention, Greeting:

We, your Committee on Organization met and on roll call the following members were present: W. E. Reynolds, Local 559; Ed. T. Levi, chairman; Laura Molleda, Local 48; T. H. Wright, Local 31; Herman Loorz, Local 525; J. L. Pauley, Local 585; and Timothy Curran, Local 437. The balance of the committee being conspicuous by their absence. Taking up the resolutions submitted by Brother Joyce, numbered 25, and the request from Local 141, the committee recommends, after looking into the matter very carefully, that the General Executive Board gives this matter its serious consideration and this convention gives it power to act.

Resolution No. 25—By Delegate William B. Joyce, Local 3:

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., June 15, 1915.

WHEREAS, The organized bartenders of New York City in recent years considered by establishing additional craft unions better results would develop not only for the local unions, but also for our International Union; and

WHEREAS, The existence of more than one local union of bartenders has done more harm than good by internal struggles, especially through jurisdictional squabbles every now and then; and

WHEREAS, A continuance of these additional craft unions means a continued lack of harmony and a weakened organization of bartenders; therefore, be it

Resolved, That this Eighteenth General Convention of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America restore to New York City conditions such as existed during the year of 1907 by amalgamating all local unions of bartenders on Manhattan Borough.

Motion by Curran, Local 437, and Price, Local 577, to accept and concur in the recommendation of the committee to refer this proposal to the General Executive Board.

Subject matter discussed by Sheehan, Local 10; Bishop, Local 76; De Young, Local 70, and Koveleski, Local 171. The motion was adopted.

In the matter of Resolutions Nos. 24 and 53, the recommendations of this committee, if adopted, will cover them. The committee recommends that the General Executive Board bend their energies principally to organizing large cities, such as New York, Chicago, Pittsburgh, and such localities as show that same is necessary and finances will permit.

Resolution No. 24—By Delegate Philip Hartman, Local 456, Chicago, Ill.:

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., June 15, 1915.

WHEREAS, The condition of the bartenders of Chicago demands that action must be taken in order to bring the thousands of unorganized barkeepers under the folds of our International Union; and

WHEREAS, Under instruction of the Bartenders' Joint Council of Chicago, we request the Eighteenth General Convention to station a Bartender General Organizer in the city of Chicago for at least one year, and further request the convention to instruct the General Executive Board to give such other assistance as may be needed to organize the bartenders of Chicago.

Resolution No. 53—By Delegate Edward J. Warren, Local 631, Phoenix, Ariz.:

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., June 15, 1915.

An Act to provide for an Organizer for the Southwestern States—Arizona, New Mexico, Texas and Oklahoma.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Eighteenth General Convention of the H. R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A., assembled in San Francisco, June 14th to 20th, inclusive. An act to create an organizer for the above-mentioned States.

Section 2. Whereas, the last census gives to Arizona a population of 204,354, to New Mexico 327,396, to Texas 3,896,542, and to Oklahoma 1,675,155.

Section 3. Whereas, there is a vast section in those States that is unorganized, we, the Locals of that district, deem it necessary for the betterment of the International and Allied Locals that an organizer should be appointed.

Section 4. Whereas, two of the States in said district are at present without organizations of culinary workers.

Section 5. Whereas, two of the four States in question are now "dry," and such B. I. L. of A. Locals as were affiliated with this International Alliance having surrendered their charters.

Section 6. Then be it resolved that the organizer for that section be selected from the culinary workers.

Section 7. Be it further resolved that the Eighteenth General Convention of H. R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A., held in San Francisco from June 14th to 20th, inclusive, do create this office; and furthermore, that they do provide a way and means to maintain it the same as other organizers working for the International.

Section 8. Whereas, we, the affiliated Locals of the International, believe that an emergency exists, we ask that this officer assumes the regular duties of the office as soon as said office be created, or not later than thirty days after the convention adjourns.

Motion by Hartman, Local 456, and Brady, Local 562, to accept the report of the committee and concur in its recommendations.

Delegates Nelson, Local 376; Peterson, Local 284; Warren, Local 631; Corcoran, Local 292; Levi, Local 239; McDevitt, Local 115; Clarke, Local 188; Sullivan, Local 204; Lane, Local 721, and Somers, Local 603, were heard.

The motion prevailed.

"In the matter of soda water fountain employes we coincide with the action taken at the last convention."

Motion to concur in the report of committee made by Doyle, Local 867, and Hiles, Local 420. Motion adopted.

"Your committee further recommends that women organizers be engaged, special or regular, to work in different sections of this country, with the view of organizing the waitresses and women cooks and helpers."

EDWARD T. LEVI, Local 239, Seattle, Wash., Chairman.

LAURA MOLLEDA, Local 48, San Francisco, Cal., Secretary.

W. E. REYNOLDS, Local 559, Fort Smith, Ark.

TIMOTHY CURRAN, Local 437, Indianapolis, Ind.

J. L. PAULEY, Local 585, Charleston, W. Va.

HERMAN LOORZ, Local 525, Oakland, Cal.

T. H. WRIGHT, Local 31, Oakland, Cal.

Committee on Organization.

Lehman, Local 1, and Hassel, Local 284, offer a motion that the report and recommendation of the committee be concurred in.

Molleda, Local 48, called attention to the need of better organization among the waitresses in the southern part of California, and expressed the hope that the recommendation of the committee would produce action in accordance with the spirit of same.

Delegates Donnelly, Local 107; Hooper, Local 48; Dolan, Local 77; Regan, Local 41; Butler, Local 43; Johnson, Local 30; Scott, Local 17; Kavanagh, Local 575; Keith, Local 332, and Levi, Local 240, were heard.

The motion prevailed.

Chairman Fred Schwenker, for the Committee on MIXER AND SERVER, presented the following report:

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., June 17, 1915.

We, your Committee on MIXER AND SERVER, beg leave to submit the following:

We have carefully read the General President's report on the MIXER AND SERVER, and also have noted the remarks of the editor, and approve the same.

Owing to the fact that the postal authorities will not allow a monthly magazine to go through the mails without the International Union showing an actual subscription for each member, we recommend that Section 58 be amended to read as follows:

Each Local shall pay the sum of twenty cents per month for every member in good standing, the revenue to be apportioned as follows:

Five cents to a fund from which the general expenses of the International shall be defrayed; five cents as subscription to our official magazine; seven cents to a burial fund, and three cents to a defense fund.

We commend the efforts made to secure union-made paper and urge continuation of such efforts until successful.

FRED SCHWENKER, Local 79, Louisville, Ky., Chairman.

A. ZIMMERMAN, Local 41, San Francisco, Cal.

DANIEL FORD, Local 77, Boston, Mass.

T. F. VIGNEUX, Local 81, Holyoke, Mass.

A. W. FRASER, Local 110, San Francisco, Cal.

J. A. KAEHN, Local 152, Minneapolis, Minn.

MICHAEL T. FOLEY, Local 173, Binghamton, N. Y.

J. F. EICHORN, Local 222, Dayton, Ohio.

JAMES REDENBAUGH, Local 572, Stockton, Cal.

E. H. LINCOLN, Local 577, San Jose, Cal.

JACK REID, Local 603, Sacramento, Cal.

J. F. GIBBONS, Local 820, Sheridan, Wyo.

Committee on MIXER AND SERVER.

President Flore: Inasmuch as the committee recommends an amendment to our laws, that portion of their report must receive the sanction of a two-thirds vote of the convention before it can be considered.

Are there a sufficient number of the delegates agreeable to the acceptance and consideration of the committee's report with the proposed amendment to our laws? By vote the convention agrees to consider the proposal.

Secretary Sullivan: The recommendation of the committee came originally from myself; in fact, I had written a letter to the chairman of the committee, Brother Schwenker, wherein I recited the reasons for the suggestion. The Postoffice authorities are determined to insist on what they call genuine subscription lists for all trade-union journals, and the only method which I know of to overcome the obstacles is to concur in the proposal as submitted. You will note that the suggestion does not mean either increase or decrease of tax to headquarters. It simply divides the income so as to show that the organization pays the expense of publication, and also shows that the tax received from our members is used, in part, for subscription purposes; and this, we think, will satisfy the postal authorities and prevent them from taking our journal from the list of publications entitled to pound rates of postage.

Schwenker, Local 79: The presentation of the matter by our General Secretary is substantially the experience of myself and other trade-union publishers. Being a member of the Kentucky Press Association, such affiliation gives me an opportunity to note the operation of the Postoffice Department as it has to do with publications. The recommendation seems to me to be the right way out of the dilemma.

Kirkpatrick, Local 30, quoted from the Penrose bill and offered the suggestion that a sufficient number of cards be printed, which should be signed by every member and filed at headquarters, and said that by so doing the provisions of the bill would be complied with.

Delegates Redenbaugh, Local 572; Gibbons, Local 820; Powers, Local 768, and Foley, Local 173, were heard.

Motion by La Belle, Local 651, and Whissemore, Local 106, that the report and recommendation of the committee be accepted. The motion was adopted.

Secretary Sullivan: Mr. President, do I understand that the action of the convention in concurring in the report and recommendations of the committee amends the Constitution; that is to say, does the adoption of the motion just now mean that section 58 stands amended as recommended by the Committee on MIXER AND SERVER?

President Flore: The chair asked the convention for its approval for the acceptance and consideration of the report of the committee which contained a proposed amendment to our laws. The convention by vote gave their consent, and the adoption of the motion means that the convention has concurred in the amendment offered. It, therefore, becomes a law as provided for under the laws of our union.

Motion by Sesma, Local 284, and McClellan, Local 402, that the Committee on MIXER AND SERVER be discharged and given a vote of thanks.

The motion was carried into effect.

Assistant Secretary of the Convention W. E. Horne read the following report of Committee on Labels and Buttons:

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., June 16, 1915.

To the Eighteenth General Convention, Greeting:

We, the undersigned members of the Committee on Labels and Buttons, do hereby report as follows:

We recommend non-concurrence in Resolution No. 51, which reads:

Resolution No. 51—By Delegate Libbie Messer, Local 220, Eureka, Cal.:

WHEREAS, The membership of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance are keenly alive to the necessity of exercising the utmost care of expenditure of funds; and

WHEREAS, A saving of much money can be accomplished by leaving off the year in the printing of the membership monthly due button; therefore it is

Resolved, That henceforth the membership button be made without the year being placed thereon, as suggested by the two hereunto attached, and made a part of this resolution.

Motion by Koveleski, Local 171, and McGowan, Local 175, that the report be accepted and recommendations concurred in.

Messer, Local 220, opposed the report of the committee, believes that the purpose of the resolution is a good one, and that struggling locals should be given a chance to economize and conserve their meager income.

Sinton, Local 458; Keith, Local 332; Anderson, Local 420, and Scully, Local 406, were heard.

The motion prevailed.

We, the committee, concur in the recommendations of the General President in regard to labels and buttons, which he places before us in the following language:

LABELS AND BUTTONS.

Our labels and buttons are registered, and our local unions should see to it that none of the advantages to be gained through said registration are forfeited. Great care should be exercised in the protection of our label, and it should not be given to any one, unless all of the conditions surrounding its use are complied with.

Our label should not be given to any employer unless that employer is a passive member in good standing with our International Union, or employs a member or members of the International Union. A proprietor not a passive member (proprietors can not be elected to passive membership) and doing his own work is not entitled to the use of our label, and a local union has no authority to issue one under those conditions.

Our labels remain the property of the International Union and our local unions cannot charge a rental for the use of the said label.

The system of the monthly working button approved by the Denver Convention—in connection with the regular button—has proven a valuable asset to a number of our local unions and much success has been achieved through their use.

Motion by Reynolds, Local 559, and Berger, Local 458, to concur in the findings of the committee.

Delegates Hale, Local 2; Ringler, Local 20; Mayer, Local 35; Conley, Local 77; Kimball, Local 523; Bradley, Local 574, and Dentinger, Local 171, were heard.

The motion was adopted.

On the subject-matter of request of the Wine Clerks for a special button we non-concur.

Motion by De Young, Local 70, and Bickerdt, Local 286, to concur in report as submitted.

Reynolds, Local 95; Garrity, Local 81; Farrell, Local 116, and Dwyer, Local 67, were heard.

Motion carried.

We condemn the policy of some locals of issuing house and bar cards to any establishments that employ Asiatic labor, and recommend that the convention go on record against any further continuance of said policy.

ELIZABETH MALONEY, Local 484, Chicago, Ills., Chairman.

ALEX. BLUMENTHAL, Local 17, Los Angeles, Cal., Secretary.

MICHAEL H. CANNY, Local 44, San Francisco, Cal.

PHILIP HARTMAN, Local 456, Chicago, Ills.

HERMAN E. ZAHN, Local 800, Lafayette, Ind.

MAURICE DE YOUNG, Local 70, Brooklyn, N. Y.

LESLIE SINTON, Local 458, Minneapolis, Minn.

MATTHEW V. GILBERT, Local 76, Syracuse, N. Y.

Committee on Labels and Buttons.

Motion by Shields, Local 609, and Collins, Local 108, to accept the report and concur in the recommendation of the committee.

Regan, Local 41: The situation in this and adjoining cities presents a real problem; one which we have, probably, tried to solve, but without that measure of success to satisfy all concerned. It is a fact that can not be disputed that we have in this city quite a number of Asiatics, so called; yet these fellows to quite a number are citizens of the United States. The unfortunate experience of most of our employers is that when they have used white labor they seldom stick to the job, and too frequently try to imbibe all the liquids in the house, thus becoming neglectful and useless. Whatever else may be said against the Asiatics, they can't be accused of "slopping up."

Vice-President W. H. Foster presiding.

Canny, Local 44: The previous speaker contends that his local was granted the privilege of working with Asiatics by the Local Joint Executive Board of this city. I register emphatic denial of that claim. In my judgment, no house is unionized which has any Asiatic employed therein in any capacity. The Asiatic question is simply a question of wages and hours. The Asiatics work under any condition imposed and for considerably less wages than is asked for by white men. The conditions under which many of the Asiatics work are repulsive to white men, and many of the delegates on this floor know that to be true.

Sesma, Local 284: I do not recall the exact date when the event occurred, but upon the request of Local 41 I appeared before the Local Joint Executive Board of this city and stated on behalf of Local 41 that certain establishments could be organized if the Local Joint Executive Board would consent to allow the members of Local 41 to work with Asiatics. The consent was granted, and the records will so show, or ought to.

Chase, Local 403: The recommendation of the committee does not affect San Francisco alone, it affects every part of this and several nearby States; and if the convention makes it mandatory on the members to refrain from working with Asiatics it will disrupt every bartender's local in this State. Our experience prompts the conclusion that to try and get along without Asiatics means failure. White men in this part of the country will not do the work, and those who are willing invariably prove unsatisfactory for reasons stated by one of the previous speakers.

Steimer, Local 44: I want to correct a statement made by Delegate Regan, Local 41. The records of the Local Joint Executive Board of San Francisco do not show that Union Bar or Union House Cards can be issued or placed in houses which employ Asiatics.

' Fleischmann, Local 44: For many years I have listened to the stock argument that white men can not or will not work as bar porters; but it seems passing strange that the saloon business is conducted in other sections of these United States and Canada, and they manage, somehow, to employ labor which is not Asiatic by a long shot. I think I have seen quite as many white men working as bar porters as I ever saw Asiatics doing the same character of work. The whole thing simmers down to a question of wages. If the saloon men would pay white men white men's wages, they would find little difficulty in keeping reliable help. Let me say to the delegates that it comes with mighty poor grace from a saloon man to say that he can't keep white men because they imbibe too freely while on duty. If they make such statements, which I doubt, in fact deny, they are absolutely untrue. To continue making such statements—if any such are made—shows such saloon men as make these statements unfit to continue in that business. They are a menace to the industry and those employed at it.

Secretary Sullivan: To an extent I agree with the last speaker. Any general statement to the effect that white men engaged as porters in saloons unfit themselves for such labor by reason of too much drink is not only silly, but positively untrue. Bartenders are not so negligent of the interests of employers as to permit such porters to use up their stock of wet goods, and the bartender entitled to the name could quickly "chop off" the wet goods from such alleged thirsty fellows. It is not a question of unfitness nor capability so much as it is a question of getting service at extremely low wages. If white men could live on the wages paid to Asiatics, work as long hours and stand the conditions, there would be no Asiatic problems in the catering industry. The very fact that white men are unable to compete on the score of long hours and low wages make the Asiatics a necessity to money-grasping proprietors. The employer in the catering industry who employs Asiatics is doing a gross injury to the men and women dependent on said industry. We have a task in front of us. We must show our employers that the industry is menaced by the employment of non-citizen, non-voting workers. The serious situation which confronts us can only be overcome by votes, votes, and more votes. The employment, either in cafes, saloons or hotels, of persons who are not citizens and have no vote, is the big problem of the hour. The employers are going to seek the suffrage of the voters, yet they refuse to protect their investment, their business by employing men who have a vote and can use the ballot to protect their jobs. To a larger extent than some of us care to admit, we are responsible for present conditions and it is up to us to get out of the woods as quickly as we know how. You may call this an Asiatic problem if you wish. I have another name for it; the real problem which we must help solve is to devise ways and means to convince employers that paying wages to men unable to exercise a voter's franchise, invites positive disaster. I am of the opinion that if we take hold of the problem with determination we can force selfish employees to do the right thing by us and the industry.

Scott, Local 17: I have worked in pretty near every fair-sized town from Canada to Mexico on the Pacific Coast; have studied this Asiatic question for years, and the only conclusion which I have reached is that the only reason for the employment of the Asiatic was because he worked long hours and for wages that no white man could or would work for. Many of you will recall the stand taken by Mr. Bell, when he was a candidate for Governor of the State of California. The Asiatic question is not confined to this one State, the whole northwest is simply overrun with Asiatics and they are increasing in numbers as the years roll by.

Griffin, Local 86: I have been, and still am, in favor of laws which would deny membership in any of our unions to non-citizens. I have watched since 1900 the progress of the Asiatic and non-citizen in displacing our members, and believe that the employers have a heavy responsibility resting on their shoulders; they are acting in a destructive manner when they show preference for workers who cannot vote—who are not citizens. I am willing to cast my vote for any law which will produce a change from present conditions, which will make an applicant show citizenship before he can acquire membership.

Kavanagh, Local 575: Back in the State of New Jersey, where I came from, we have the Asiatic problem. Ten years ago in my city and cities adjacent we had over one hundred Chinese and Japanese institutions in operation; we secured the co-operation of trades unionists and we made patronizing "Chinks" and "Japs" an unpopular pastime, so much so that after ten years' ceaseless agitation there are but two such establishments left, and you can believe me, we are after them hot and heavy.

Shields, Local 609: The Asiatic problem can be solved in the same manner in which we solved it in Great Falls, Montana. Don't let them get a foothold in your city. Keep them out.

Farrell, Local 106: We can talk until doomsday about the Asiatic problem, but we need to take home a lesson and not only absorb it ourselves but teach it to our membership—our dimes and dollars kept away from so-called Oriental cafes and Chop Stick parlors will help discourage continuation of such places in our various cities. In some sections of America the Chink and Jap are looked on as a novelty, but as you have about concluded, they are a very serious obstacle which will require considerable energetic action to efface.

Nelson, Local 101: I am a great believer in the Great Falls, Montana, idea of handling the Asiatic question. The nearest that an Asiatic comes to our city is to look at it from a distance. We don't want him and we make that fact evident by keeping him out. You make it impossible for him to obtain a living at our industry and you will help solve the problem quickly.

The motion to concur in the report of the committee carried.

President Flore presiding.

The following resolution was read to the convention:

Resolution No. 55—By Delegates H. Cordes, Geo. Ringler, C. Schott and James J. O'Donald, Local 20, St. Louis, Mo.:

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., June 17, 1915.

Be it Resolved, By the Eighteenth General Convention of the H. and R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A., that Section 63 be amended by striking out everything after the word "all" in the first line, and insert the following:

"Male members shall pay the minimum sum of $1 per month, and all female members shall pay the minimum sum of 75 cents per month as dues to their local."

President Flore: The resolution proposes a change in our laws; a two-third vote of the convention is necessary before its acceptance and reference to committee. The required two-third vote being secured the resolution was referred to the Committee on Law.

The following resolution was read to the convention:

Resolution No. 56—By Delegates Kirkpatrick and Rose, Local 30, San Francisco, Cal.:

WHEREAS, This convention has gone on record, at the recommendation of the Committee on Labels and Buttons, that no display of bar or house cards or buttons be displayed where Asiatics are employed, and

WHEREAS, In many districts within the jurisdiction of this International, bar cards are displayed in hotels, restaurants and cafes where cooks, helpers, waiters and waitresses are not organized; therefore, be it

Resolved, That it be the sense of this convention that no house cards, bar cards or buttons be displayed unless every one working at our crafts are organized on the premises.

President Flore: The resolution does not contemplate change of law, therefore under the rules the consent of the convention must be had for its acceptance and reference to committee. Are there any objections to receiving this resolution and referring same to committee? Hearing no objections the Chair assumes consent has been given and the resolution is hereby referred to the Committee on Labels and Buttons.

The following resolution was read to the convention:

Resolution No. 57—By Delegate E. N. Fletcher, Local 603:

WHEREAS, In almost every locality where there is a local of this International there are other organized crafts whose interests are affected by prohibition, and

WHEREAS, We realize that more can be accomplished in a fight against prohibition by co-operative effort; therefore be it

Resolved, That all delegates to this, the Eighteenth General Convention of the H. R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A., shall be instructed to take steps immediately upon their return to their respective cities to form such organized crafts into a Council or League for the purpose of fighting prohibition; and be it further

Resolved, That the G. E. B. shall instruct all General Organizers to give all assistance possible to form such Councils or Leagues.

President Flore: The resolution requires action similar to the preceding resolution—the consent of the convention. Are there any objections to its acceptance and reference to committee. Hearing none, the Chair assumes consent has been given and the resolution is hereby referred to the Committee on Prohibition and Anti-Saloon Question.

The following resolution was read to the convention:

Resolution "H"—By Delegates Fred Ebeling, Local 865; Philip Hartman, Local 456; James Nelson, Local 376; Ben Parker and A. A. Mayer, Local 35: all of the city of Chicago:

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., June 17, 1915.

To the Eighteenth General Convention of the H. R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A.:

WHEREAS, The women workers of our crafts are unorganized, and

WHEREAS, We have on our General Executive Board a woman whose election on said Board was for the sole purpose of organizing the women workers; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Eighteenth General Convention instruct the General Executive Board to put the woman member of said Board in the field on organizers' salary to organize the women workers.

President Flore: The resolution must secure the sanction of the convention before it can be accepted and referred to committee.

Secretary Sullivan: Mr. President, I am not going to permit any such crude attempt to slap the members of the General Executive Board in the face without raising my voice in protest. The intention of its introducers may be good, bad, or indifferent, that point cuts little figure with me. What I am concerned in is, that the effort is here made to convey the impression that the General Executive Board members must be instructed to do things before they deem it necessary to take any action. The General Executive Board has tried for years to get a capable woman to accept a commission as an organizer, but try as we might we haven't been successful; only a few months ago we had before us a proposal to increase the number of organizers, we went so far as to elect a member of the Waitresses' Union of Chicago, Local 484, and when we informed her of her appointment she sent her regrets and would not accept. We would have placed Sister Lord, of Seattle, on the road years ago, if we thought she would leave that city, for we know that she would have been a splendid worker and would have secured immense results for us. Sister Lord, would you, or will you accept an appointment as an International Organizer for this International Union?

Alice Lord, Local 240: Would I leave Seattle and go on the road for this International Union as an organizer?—well I should say NOT. Seattle is good enough for me.

Secretary Sullivan: There you are; is that sufficient evidence to this convention that the General Board has tried and probably will continue trying to obtain capable, sensible women, not fashion plates, nor wall flowers, but good women to endeavor to convince the girls that organization is their salvation from deplorable conditions?

Lord, Local 240: I want the Secretary to understand that I am no wall flower, and he cannot accuse me of being a fashion plate or looking-glass fighter; let him cast that at some one else, not me.

Secretary Sullivan: Evidently Sister Lord misunderstands the statement made by me a few moments ago. I did not accuse Sister Lord of being either wall flower, looking-glass battler or fashion plate; in fact I tried to compliment her by emphasizing that I did not think she was anything but a good, sensible, capable, hard-working woman, and that the General Executive Board would be pleased beyond expression to secure her services as an International Organizer.

President Flore: We are losing valuable time. What is the pleasure of the convention? All those favoring acceptance and reference of this resolution will vote aye.

The convention declines Resolution "H" by an overwhelming vote.

The following resolution was read to the convention:

Resolution No. 58—By Delegates L. Sinton and A. Berger, Local 458, Minneapolis, Minn.:

From the N. W. Cooks' Association, Local 458, Minneapolis, Minn.

We have noted in all the large cities of this country an increase of religious, fraternal and other societies, entering the catering industry, and they do not recognize our crafts or union conditions, and in nearly every one they have a number of the members that donate their services, in that way being in direct competition with our crafts and all proprietors in the catering industry.

WHEREAS, We have found these same societies opposed at the States legislatures to all measures that we present for our interest and welfare, as well as the public at large; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Eighteenth General Convention of the H. and R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A., in convention assembled, urge all Locals to start an active campaign against all these societies who enter the catering industry and do not employ our crafts and grant union conditions.

President Flore: The resolution must receive the sanction of the convention before acceptance and reference to committee. Are there any objections, if not the Chair will assume that the convention has accepted same and will permit reference to committee.

Hearing no objections, the Chair will so rule and hereby refers the resolution to the Committee on Resolutions.

Delegate Will L. Bork, Local 312, Chairman of the Committee on Report of Secretary-Treasurer, read the following for his committee:

Report of Committee on Secretary-Treasurer's Report:

To the Officers and Members of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America. Greetings:

We, your Committee on Secretary-Treasurer's Report, beg to submit the following:

Your Committee met and organized immediately after their appointment in the convention hall. Brother F. J. Sullivan, Local 204, Elmira, N. Y., was unanimously chosen as Secretary of the Committee. At this meeting it was decided that the committee should meet Tuesday morning, 8 o'clock, Room 656, Sutter Hotel. At the appointed time all members responded promptly and our labors were begun and finished.

After reading the able report of the Secretary-Treasurer, it was the sense of the Committeemen that some remarks of appreciation should come from us to testify to the merits of this report and its author. A motion was offered and duly seconded by the entire Committee that all should express themselves in their own way, and from that Chairman Bork and Secretary F. J. Sullivan draw a testimonial and attach same to our report.

We, your Committee, after concurring in the report of the General Secretary-Treasurer, beg leave to dispose of said suggestions contained therein as follows:

Noting that suggestion regarding Sections Nos. 167 and 172 was covered by the General President's report, we decided to allow the Committee on General President's Report to handle that matter, as we were apprised that resolutions had already been drawn.

After some discussion it was unanimously decided that suggestions regarding Section No. 115 be referred to the Law Committee, and we cheerfully recommend that they in their wisdom give it careful consideration.

Your committee being conversant with the fact that at the Seventeenth General Convention a special committee was appointed to handle the Japanese-Chinese question, and that at this, the Eighteenth General Convention, an Asiatic Committee has been appointed by the General President we gracefully submit that technical question to that Committee, feeling as we do that we are entirely incompetent to handle the matter among so many delegates, who no doubt are thoroughly conversant with this problem.

In concluding our labors, which we have done to the best of our abilities, on the General Secretary-Treasurer's Report, and presenting same to this convention, in session, we respectfully submit a brief paragraph to express our appreciation of said report.

Preeminently shines forth the record of this official, above all his fellows. Previous committees from time to time have endeavored to pay a fitting tribute to this manly man and sterling officer, but the true ring of honest services' just reward has been lacking in tone. That which we are searching for that seems to be beyond our mental grasp, is something that will forever stand for a man's greatness in office. To the peculiar genius of this official we attribute the present foundation of our great International structure. Such has been the official career of Jere L. Sullivan, to whom this committee cheerfully endeavors to inscribe a testimonial that will last as long as the tide ebbs and flows on the golden shores of the Pacific Coast.

In reviewing the history of this organization your Committee is constrained to write: Jere L. Sullivan, Architect and Constructor. Of all men who have labored in our Institution, none have encompassed the monumental work of this tireless official in the substantial construction of our great International. Inducted into office when chaos reigned supreme, and liabilities were our only visible assets, this man calmly viewed the impossible, and as if by magic, infused order and system into every department. With patience and devotion he kept his face toward the purple of the East, and his eyes upon the star of hope, and with an almost superhuman hypnotic influence he aroused pride and ambition in the bosom of its scattered ranks.

This, and much more, has this zealous little corporal accomplished, and to testify to these facts stands today our magnificent International. It is not now, nor never has been, our intention to write a biographical sketch of this dauntless man; we will leave that to more able historians, and to those to come who will reap the rewards of his labors, as many are enjoying this day. We have striven only to say something that would grasp and hold the appreciative attention of his fellows—that we have failed we are conscious of the fact; the subject is too big for our limited abilities.

In conclusion, we wish to say a word regarding our official organ, the MIXER AND SERVER. We are gratified beyond our power of expression to testify to this convention assembled our hearty approval and appreciation of the wise and aggressive policy of our official publication, the MIXER AND SERVER. It has persistently carried to our membership encouraging messages and good cheer. The versatile pen of its editor has fanned the feeble flame of hope in the breast of countless numbers and inspired them to hold aloft the banner of trades unionism, not only in our own but other crafts. It has taken its place among the recognized ethical publications of the day, and is a source of pride to our membership. Having in mind from a practical experience the almost limitless task with which the editor is confronted, we are astonished at his success, and we cannot refrain from expressing our admiration to note the refined and high moral tone of this publication, which bespeaks for it a hearty and expected welcome to the home and fireside.

Respectfully submitted,

WILL L. BORK, Chairman, Local 312, Chattanooga, Tenn.

F. J. SULLIVAN, Secretary, Local 204, Elmira, N. Y.

HARRY CORDES, Local 20, St. Louis, Mo.

W. W. LEVI, Local 33, Seattle, Wash.

F. W. STEINKAMP, Local 41, San Francisco, Cal.

GEORGE C. WEISEMAN, Local 51, St. Louis, Mo.

CHARLES GALLAGHER, Local 68, Cincinnati, Ohio.

E. A. WHISSEMORE, Local 106, Cleveland, Ohio.

EDWARD DENTINGER, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.

A. B. HASSEL, Local 284, Los Angeles, Cal.

E. L. HILES, Local 420, Kansas City, Mo.

JOE LANE, Local 721, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Brother Parker, Local 35, moved that the report be accepted; seconded by Bro. McKone, Local 284, and on vote carried.

Delegate Charles F. Fleischmann, Local 44, Chairman of the Committee on Asiatics, presented the following for his committee:

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., June 17, 1915.

To the Eighteenth General Convention. Greetings:

We, your committee, respectfully submit the following report:

Resolution No. 39—By Delegate Wm. F. Kavanagh, Local 575, Jersey City, N. J.:

WHEREAS, Japanese and Chinese restaurants and Chinese laundries give no employment to American labor; and

WHEREAS, The above places are in competition with our American employers; be it Resolved, That we, the delegates to this the Eighteenth General Convention, urge upon our membership to refrain from patronizing the above-mentioned places.

On Resolution No. 39, we recommend concurrence, and in addition we recommend that all affiliated locals place a fine of not less than five dollars against any member found guilty of patronizing a concern that is owned or operated in part by Asiatics. And we further recommend that no members of our International Union be permitted to work with Asiatics, and that no House Card or Bar Label or Union Button be displayed in such places.

CHARLES F. FLEISCHMANN, Local 44, San Francisco, Cal., Chairman.
 J. J. ALDRIDGE, Local 550, Bakersfield, Cal., Secretary.
 LETTIE GARDNER, Local 48, San Francisco, Cal.
 WILLIAM T. SCULLY, Local 406, Eureka, Cal.
 MATT WILLIAMSON, Local 110, San Francisco, Cal.
 EDWARD J. WARREN, Local 631, Phoenix, Arizona.
 FRANK E. PLATE, Local 41, San Francisco, Cal.
 J. C. DRYSDALE, Local 558, San Bernardino, Cal.

Motion by McGowan, Local 175, and Nelson, Local 101, that the report of the committee be adopted.

Cozzolino, Local 109: I am not in sympathy with the very drastic recommendations of the committee. In my town we have had a decidedly hard battle to unionize what is known as the Nankin Garden Cafe; we expended considerable money in that contest and it required considerable time to secure what we have gained in that one establishment. All the help in that place, excepting the cooks are unionized. With the concurrence of this convention, the recommendation of the committee would mean that we would have to begin another fight, and unless the International Union finances such a contest it is doubtful whether we could carry it through.

I haven't any doubt but what if the International Union will support us financially, we can go ahead and start an educational campaign in opposition to such places and the patronizing of them.

Ernst, Local 30: I contend that the Asiatic question is an economic problem, and it has been made more than acute by the laxity and inactivity of the trade union movement. There is but one method to overcome the obstacle and that is to organize the Asiatics, put them into unions and you will have a chance to determine the question of wages, hours and conditions, otherwise the problem will be with you indefinitely and as difficult to solve as it seems to be now.

Levi, Local 239: I take no back seat from any delegate here on the question of ousting the Chink and Jap from our industry, and every industry in the country. I have fought consistently for many years in an endeavor to chase the slant-eyed celestials and the little brown skinned fellows back to the place where they belong.

I believe that the elimination of the Chinese and Japanese can best be brought about by and through an aggressive and persistent system and campaign of education. The enforcement of the recommendations of the Committee would, I think, mean complete annihilation of our locals on this Pacific Coast. The writing of drastic regulations comes easy to some of us, but it is another proposition to be able to enforce such regulations and win headway; we are due to seriously consider where we are at before taking the proposed leap; if we adopt the recommendation we must make good by enforcing it.

Johnson, Local 30: I offer an amendment to the latter portion of the committee's report. My amendment reads:

"Provided, however, that the enforcement of the provisions relating to members working in an establishment where Asiatics are employed shall be left in the hands of the local involved in a locality where no Local Joint Executive Board exists, and in a locality where such Board exists, in the hands of such Local Joint Executive Board."

Chapman, Local 30, seconded the amendment.

Delegates Lehman, Local 1; McEachern, Local 167; Huddleston, Local 203; Byers, Local 196; Levi, Local 240; Aldridge, Local 550; Lincoln, Local 577; Trenkle, Local 859; Woods, Local 593; Funk, Local 403; Scully, Local 406; Hyatt, Local 768; McKee, Local 815; Keenan, Local 699; Hassel, Local 284; Kavanagh, Local 575; Polk, Local 206; Brent, Local 108, and Vigneux, Local 81, were heard.

The amendment of Delegate Johnson was adopted.

The report of the committee as amended was concurred in.

Delegate Thomas P. Woods, Local 593, Secretary of the Committee on Delegates to the Conventions of the American Federation of Labor read the following for the committee:

Report of Committee on American Federation of Labor:

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., June 17, 1915.

To the Officers and Delegates of the Eighteenth General Convention of the H. and R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A. Greetings:

We, your committee, appointed to act on the report of Delegates to the American Federation of Labor Conventions, held in Philadelphia and Seattle, respectively, find that our International was ably represented at both of these conventions. After a careful study of the report, we recommend concurrence. We find that our delegates were given important committee assignments, thus showing the esteem in which they were held by the American Federation of Labor Convention.

We also recommend that our delegates on their return to their own local unions see that the referred to reports are read at several meetings for the benefit of the rank and file.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN W. CONLEY, Local 77, Boston, Mass., Chairman.
 THOMAS P. Woods, Local 593, Minneapolis, Minn., Secretary.
 W. B. JOYCE, Local 3, New York, N. Y.
 JOSEPH ALGE, Local 68, Cincinnati, Ohio.
 JOHN T. COLLINS, Local 108, Cleveland, Ohio.
 J. C. MORRIS, Local 110, San Francisco, Cal.
 BEN GORTON, Local 115, Philadelphia, Pa.
 FRANK McDONNELL, Local 134, Scranton, Pa.
 HUGH O'HARE, Local 188, Pittsburgh, Pa.
 CHARLES BEVERS, Local 196, Buffalo, N. Y.
 W. A. POLK, Local 206, Fort Worth, Texas.
 GEORGE PETERSON, Local 284, Los Angeles, Cal.

Committee on Delegates to the Conventions of the A. F. of L.

McEachern, Local 167, and Nelson, Local 101, offered a motion that the report and recommendation of the committee be accepted and concurred in.

Rose, Local 30: Before voting on the motion before the house, I should like to know what was the attitude of our delegates to the American Federation of Labor convention at Philadelphia on the eight-hour day proposal.

Farrell, Local 106: If any one on the floor of this convention knows the attitude of our delegates to the last American Federation of Labor convention, surely it must be the delegate who now makes inquiry, for he has been criticising the delegates for their attitude for the last half year.

Secretary Sullivan: Delegate Rose asks a question, and so far as I am concerned he will receive an answer. Our delegation to the last convention of the American Federation of Labor were in hearty accord with the majority of the delegates on the floor of that convention, and on the so-called eight-hour question, voted in favor of the recommendation of the committee, which recommendation briefly outlined the platform of the American Federation of Labor on the shorter work-day. To be quite brief, your delegates were lined up with the delegates who cast a majority vote and who supported the present administration of the American Federation of Labor.

Nelson, Local 101: There is evident an attempt to chastise our delegates to the American Federation of Labor for being along with the winners; so far as I am able to discern, they had, as Secretary Sullivan puts it, "some mighty good company" and were of the majority. Let me say this about statutory legislation; it does not always work out as the wage earners wish it. In the State of Montana, where I come from, the eight-hour day for men and for women was secured by and through their economic organizations, the labor unions; and take my word for it, shorter work-day legislation will never cut much of a figure unless you have an economic organization at hand to see that it is enforced.

Keith, Local 332: For years we have been working in the State of Illinois to secure a work-day of eight hours, and after all the work and effort put forth, the members of the local which honors me by sending me as a delegate to this convention, secured a shorter work-day through the influence and strength of the union. In my judgment there is no censure coming to the delegation which our International sent to the last convention of the American Federation of Labor.

The attention of the presiding officer was called to the time for adjournment of the morning session.

President Flore: Time for adjournment having arrived, this convention stands adjourned until 2 p. m., according to the rules.

Your attention is directed to the Special Order of Business for the afternoon session, immediately after opening, nomination and election of officers.

Adjourned at 12:20 noon.

Absent from morning session: Hartnett, Local 134; Jack, Local 180; Burtz, Local 572.

Excused on account of illness: Pangle, Local 335; Edwards, Local 832.

AFTERNOON SESSION—THURSDAY, JUNE 17, 1915.

Afternoon session called to order at 2:15 p. m. by General President Flore.

Chairman McCurdy, of the Committee on Credentials, offered the following report:

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., June 17, 1915.

We, your Committee on Credentials, beg leave to report that, in the matter of seating Brother John O'Grady, Local 542, San Rafael, Cal., your committee, as directed by this convention, has made effort to secure the agreement which would settle the matter. Brother Daniel Regan, Local 41, informs the committee that he has been unable to locate said agreement, and intimates that he will make no further effort and will not further insist upon the seating of Brother O'Grady. This leaves the case as per our original recommendation—that is, that Brother John O'Grady be denied a seat as a delegate from Local 542, San Rafael, Cal.

Motion by Rooney, Local 302, and Just, Local 106, that the report of the committee be received and their findings be concurred in.

Motion was carried without dissenting vote.

Vice-President Robert Hesketh presiding.

Vice-President Hesketh: As the delegates are well aware, the special order of business before this convention is the nomination and election of general officers, followed by election of delegates to the conventions of the American Federation of Labor and the selection of a convention city for the holding of the Nineteenth General Convention. The convention is ready to hear and receive nominations for the position of General President.

Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171: Mr. President and delegates, it has been my pleasure and privilege in the last two conventions to present for your consideration the name of a member for the position of General President. At the outset you were informed by me that if you chose him as your General President you would never regret your action. He has made good, and there is little need for me to occupy your time in eulogizing him. I therefore present for your consideration the name of the present incumbent, Brother Edward Flore, Local 175, of Buffalo, N. Y., as a candidate for General President.

Seconding the nomination of Brother Edward Flore were Delegates Lena Hopper, Local 48; Frank Madden, Local 200; Michael Goldsmith, Local 108; Harry Corcoran, Local 292; Charles Gallagher, Local 68; P. J. McGowan, John E. Long, Edward L. Ehrman, Local 175; Thomas Tarrant and Charles Beyers, Local 196.

Motion by Griffin, Local 86, and Foley, Local 173, that the nominations close and that the Secretary cast the ballot of the convention for Edward Flore for General President for the incoming term.

The motion was adopted and Secretary Sullivan acting in accordance with instructions of the convention cast the ballot.

Vice-President Hesketh: By the action just taken you have elected Brother Edward Flore, Local 175, of Buffalo, N. Y., as your General President for the incoming term.

General President Flore: I desire to tender to one and all my sincere thanks for your action in re-electing me to the position of General President. Your confidence is greatly appreciated, and I shall try to conduct the business of my office for the best interests of every member of the organization, and will exercise every bit of my strength to promoting and advancing the interests of the International Union. Again I thank you from the bottom of my heart.

Vice-President Hesketh surrenders gavel to President Flore.

President Flore: The next order of business is the nomination and election of a General Secretary-Treasurer.

F. J. Sullivan, Local 204: Mr. President and Delegates to this Convention: You are quite as well acquainted with the fact as I am that it has been a sort of unwritten law that a delegate bearing the name of my proposed nominee should enjoy the pleasure and privilege of presenting to you the name of a brother who needs little eulogy at my hands; and as the convention seems inclined to conserve its time, I shall try to acquiesce in that view and make my talk brief. I therefore place before you for the position of General Secretary-Treasurer, the little fellow that has filled the position for so many years—Brother Jere L. Sullivan, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Seconding the nomination of Brother Jere L. Sullivan were Delegates Conrad Schott, Local 20, for himself and the entire St. Louis delegation; Edward Levi, Local 239; Thomas Garrity, Local 81 and delegation; Agnes Adamack, Local 240; John W. Conley, Local 77 and Local 80 delegations; Frank Madden, Local 200 (Mr. Madden paid a splendid tribute to the nominee); Mike Doyle, Alaska Local 867; Barney McKone, Local 284 and delegation; John H. Rooney, Local 302; Charles Bente, Local 68 and delegation, and Kitty Donnelly, Local 107 and for delegations from Ohio, Kentucky and Michigan.

President Flore: I am sure that the nominee agrees with me that it would take up considerable time of the convention to register the many delegates who wish to go on record as seconding his nomination. Let us make it short. Are there any further nominations?

McKone, Local 284, and Drysdale, Local 558, offer a motion that the nominations close and that one of the assistant secretaries of the convention cast one ballot for the election of Jere L. Sullivan for the position of General Secretary-Treasurer.

Theodore Johnson, Local 30: I desire to ask that the delegation from Local 30 be granted the privilege of being recorded as opposed to the election of Jere L. Sullivan.

Charles Sands, Local 273, and Thomas Ryan, Local 524, asked to be recorded as opposed to the election of Jere L. Sullivan.

The motion was carried with the above noted dissenting.

Assistant Secretary of the Convention W. E. Horne cast one ballot, as per instructions by the convention, for Jere L. Sullivan, for the position of General Secretary-Treasurer for the incoming term.

President Flore: In accordance with the action just taken you have elected Brother Jere L. Sullivan as your General Secretary and Treasurer for the incoming term, and he is hereby declared elected to that position.

Secretary Sullivan: I am not so thick-skinned as to be unmindful of the splendid tribute paid to me this afternoon. It is the lot of some men to be misunderstood, and it is considerable satisfaction to be able to see those who differed with me in the years passed by recognize that, after all, the work which I have been doing merits such commendation as has been expressed on this floor this afternoon. I sincerely thank you all for your generous ovation. But let me say, that if you elected me with the expectation that I would change my methods of trying to handle your affairs at headquarters, you are going to be sadly disappointed, for I have given you the best which I am capable of, and health and a kind Providence permitting, shall endeavor, as in the past, to win your approval in the future. If you really mean what this burst of enthusiasm seems to say, then each of you, no matter what your personal views of myself may be, will return to your respective locals with greater determination to make our International the biggest and best on earth. Do that, and you will give me such a reward as will make my allotment of days on this earth pleasing and happy. Again I thank you.

President Flore: Nominations for First Vice-President are now in order.

Edward McEachern, Local 167: Mr. President and Delegates of the Convention: It would take me many hours, and probably test your patience, if I were to attempt to recite what I think and many of you here and elsewhere, members of our organization, think of the brother whom I shall place before you for the position of First Vice-President. But, as one of the previous speakers said, brevity seems to be the order, so I, too, will hew to the line and help conserve time. I take pleasure in presenting for the position of First Vice-President "Our Bob"—Brother Bob Hesketh, of Seattle, Wash. You need a good cook on the job, and "Our Bob" will fill the bill.

Seconding the nomination of Brother Robert B. Hesketh were Delegates Charles. F. Fleischmann, Local 44; Leslie Sinton, Local 458; J. Charles Hackett, Local 188, and delegation; A. B. Hassell, Local 284; Mrs. Ida L. Levi, Local 240, and delegation; J. C. Scott, Local 17; Robert Lyons, Local 51; Fred Ebeling, Local 865; Lawrence Nelson, Local 101; Patsie Taylor, Local 403, and Donnelly, Local 107, for the Ohio, Kentucky and Michigan delegations.

Motion by Hopper, Local 48, and McCallum, Local 567, to close the nominations and instruct the Secretary to cast one ballot for Robert Hesketh, of Seattle, for First Vice-President. Motion carried.

Secretary Sullivan: In accordance with the instructions of this convention, I hereby cast one ballot for Robert B. Hesketh for the position of First Vice-President for the incoming term.

President Flore: By the action just taken you have elected Brother Robert B. Hesketh, of Seattle, First Vice-President for the ensuing term, and he is hereby declared elected to that position.

President Flore: We are ready to receive nominations for the position of Second Vice-President.

Will L. (Bill) Bork, Local 312, Chattanooga, Tenn: In previous conventions you have heard me extoll the abilities and virtues of the brother whom I shall place before you for the honorable position of Second Vice-President of our great and grand International Union. He possesses, to a marked degree, the happy faculty of attending to your business in a manner which elicits your generous commendation. With a consciousness that you love him as well as I, it leaves me a brief but pleasing task, that of nominating my friend and yours, Brother Frank Hoffman, of Minneapolis, Minn., for the position of Second Vice-President for the incoming term.

Seconded by the Alaska delegation, the New York delegation, the Pennsylvania delegation, the Ohio delegation, the Missouri and Minnesota delegations.

Bernard McKone, Local 284, and Adolph Berger, Local 458, presented a motion that the nominations close and that the Secretary cast one ballot for the election of Brother Frank Hoffman for the position of Second Vice-President for the incoming term.

Motion concurred in.

Secretary Sullivan: Acting as per instructions of this convention, I hereby cast one ballot for the election of Brother Frank Hoffman, of Minneapolis, Minn., for the position of Second Vice-President for the incoming term.

President Flore: By your action you have elected Brother Frank Hoffman, of Minneapolis, Minn., as Second Vice-President for the incoming term, and I hereby declare him elected to that position.

Nominations are now open for the position of Third Vice-President.

Oscar Bickerdt, Local 286: I shall endeavor to follow the good example of those who preceded me and make my nominating address brief. The brother I have in mind to nominate has filled the position for years, and I believe you want him back on the job. I therefore present the name of Brother William H. Foster, Local 37, Decatur, Ills., for the position of Third Vice-President for the incoming term.

Seconded by Delegates Keith, Local 332; McGrath, Local 573, and the Pittsburgh delegation.

Motion by Dentinger, Local 171, and Callahan, Local 527, that the nominations close and that the Secretary be instructed to cast one ballot for the election of Brother William H. Foster, of Decatur, Ills., to the position of Third Vice-President for the incoming term.

Motion adopted.

Secretary Sullivan: Acting in accordance with your instruction, I here and now cast one ballot for William H. Foster, of Decatur, Ills., for the position of Third Vice-President for the ensuing term.

President Flore: By your action you have elected Brother William H. Foster, of Decatur, Ill., to the position of Third Vice-President for the incoming term, and he is hereby declared elected to that position. Nominations are in order for the position of Fourth Vice-President.

John J. McDevitt, Local 115—Sisters and Brothers: Wine, we are told, grows good as it becomes older. That aptly fits the case of the brother whom I shall place before you for favorable consideration. I don't mean to infer that he is hoary with age, but as an officer of our International Union his services have become more valuable to us as he grows older and more experienced. He has done good work, and, no doubt, will continue to render good service in the future. It is, therefore, a pleasure and privilege to offer the name of Brother C. W. McCurdy, of Des Moines, Iowa, for the position of Fourth Vice-President.

Delegates seconding the nomination were: Thomas P. Woods, Local 593; Michael T. Foley, Local 173, and the Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky delegations.

Motion by J. F. Eichhorn, Local 222, and Lusk, Local 69, that the nominations close and that the Secretary cast one ballot for C. W. McCurdy for the position of Fourth Vice-President for the incoming term. Motion adopted.

Secretary Sullivan: In persuance of your instructions, I hereby cast one ballot for Chester W. McCurdy, of Des Moines, Iowa, for the position of Fourth Vice-President for the ensuing term.

President Flore: By the action just taken you have elected Brother C. W. McCurdy to the position of Fourth Vice-President for the incoming term, and he is hereby declared elected to that position.

Nominations for Fifth Vice-President are in order.

A. B. Hassell, Local 284: At previous conventions I enjoyed the privilege of nominating a man whom I felt would make good as a member of our General Executive Board. You evidently agreed with me, for you elected him and have re-elected him, and he has made good. I am not going to tire you with an attempt to repeat what I have said of him and his sincerity and ability; you have had similar chance to observe his work as I have. I therefore place before you the name of Brother F. Sesma, Local 284, Los Angeles, Cal., for the position of Fifth Vice-President.

Seconded by Delegates Chase, Local 403; the New York delegation; Hopper, Local 48; Powers, Local 768; Donnelly, Local 107, for the Ohio, Kentucky and Michigan delegations; Fletcher, Local 603; Messer, Local 220; Renfro, Local 378, and Lyons, Local 51.

Frank Madden, Local 200: I have no reason to feel aggrieved nor do I personally find any special fault with the brother whose name has been offered by Brother Hassell, but I am one of those who believe that a little opposition is necessary in order to make those who seek office understand that we could get along without them if we had to. The brother whom I intend to nominate is quite as well known in this and other sections of our country as any whose names have been heard on this floor. He has made an enviable record both in his union work and in the wider field of statesmanship. He has been an officer of his local union for a long time, and he has given the best of satisfaction. He has also occupied a seat in the State Legislature, and will bring to the Board that wisdom for which he is noted. It is a pleasure and honor to present for your favorable consideration the name of Brother Daniel P. Regan, Local 41, San Francisco, Cal. If you elect him he will reunite all factions and serve you well.

Delegates seconding the nomination were: Michael H. Canny, Local 44; Sam Taback, Local 30; Louis A. Pomeroy, Local 62; Alfred E. Steimer, Local 44; J. C. Scott, Local 17; A. C. Rose, Local 30, and J. D. Kirkpatrick, Local 30.

Motion by Steinkamp, Local 41, and Hosking, Local 31, that the nominations close and that we proceed to ballot. Motion adopted.

The following roll-call will show the vote for Fifth Vice-President:

Local Number	LOCATION AND NAMES OF DELEGATES	Sesma	Regan	Local Number	LOCATION AND NAMES OF DELEGATES	Sesma	Regan
1	New York City			20	St. Louis, Mo.
	Harry Kleinman	3	...		George Ringler	2 ¹ ₄	...
	William Lehman	3	...		Harry Cordes	2 ¹ ₄	...
2	Brooklyn, N. Y.				Conrad Schott	2 ¹ ₄
	George Hale	3	...		James J. O'Donald	2 ¹ ₄
3	New York City			30	San Francisco, Cal.
	W. B. Joyce	2	...		V. E. Chapman	3
	John P. McGinley	2	...		Hugo Ernst	3
8	Denver, Colo.				Sam Taback	3
	Fred Wessel	3	...		Theo. Johnson	3
10	Hoboken, N. J.				A. C. Rose	3
	James J. Sheehan	2	...		J. D. Kirkpatrick	3
12	San Antonio, Tex.			31	Oakland, Cal.
	Paul Steffler	3	...		C. P. Hibbard	2 ¹ ₄
14	Denver, Colo.				W. A. Hosking	2 ¹ ₄
	Cecil Givens	2	...		T. H. Wright	2 ¹ ₄
	B. K. Stewart	2	...		Charles C. Olson	2 ¹ ₄
17	Los Angeles, Cal.			33	Seattle, Wash.
	Alex Blumenthal	2	...		Robert B. Hesketh	2	...
	J. C. Scott	2	...		W. W. Levi	2
					E. L. Hollingsworth	2

Local Number	LOCATION AND NAMES OF DELEGATES	Sesma	Regan	Local Number	LOCATION AND NAMES OF DELEGATES	Sesma	Regan
35	Chicago, Ill. A. A. Mayer..... Ben F. Parker.....	3	3	86	Lynn, Mass. John J. Griffin.....	3	3
37	Decatur, Ill. W. H. Foster.....	1	...	95	Worcester, Mass. Owen J. Reynolds.....	3	3
38	Hammond, Ind. Edward R. Abbott.....	2	...	101	Great Falls, Mont. Lawrence Nelson	3	...
41	San Francisco, Cal. Dan P. Regan..... Al Condrotte	3	3	106	Cleveland, O. Thomas S. Farrell.....	2	...
	A. Zimmermann	3	...		Arthur F. Just.....	2	...
	F. W. Steinkamp.....	3	...		Edw. A. Whisemore.....	2	...
	Frank E. Plate.....	3	...	107	Fred B. Hobby.....	2	...
43	Pueblo, Colo. James N. Butler.....	1	...	108	Cleveland, O. Kitty Donnelly	3	...
44	San Francisco, Cal. Alfred E. Steimer.....	3	...	109	Cleveland, O. Michael Goldsmith	3	...
	Charles F. Fleischmann.....	3	...		S. T. Brent.....	3	...
	Arthur H. Dodge.....	3	...		John T. Collins	3	...
	Michael H. Canny.....	3	...	110	Newark, N. J. A. J. Cozzolino.....	3	3
	Frank P. Battles.....	3	...		San Francisco, Cal. Matt Williamson.....	3	...
48	San Francisco, Cal. Laura Molleda	3	...		A. W. Fraser.....	3	...
	Lena Hopper	3	...		John Kennedy	3	...
	Lettie Gardner	3	...	115	J. C. Morris.....	3	...
	Irene Dahl	3	...		Philadelphia, Pa. John J. McDevitt.....	3	...
51	St. Louis, Mo. Jacob Schrempf	3	...	116	Ben Gorton.....	3	...
	Robert Lyons	3	...		Francis W. Farrell.....	1	...
	George C. Wiesemann.....	3	...	134	Scranton, Pa. Frank McDonnell	2	...
	Charles E. Baird.....	3	...		James Hartnett	2	...
62	Fresno, Cal. L. A. Pomeroy.....	2	...	147	Greenfield, Mass. James Moroney	1	...
64	Milwaukee, Wis. Charles Sorweid	3	...	152	Minneapolis, Minn. Frank Hoffman	3	...
67	Springfield, Mass. Edmond Raleigh	1	...		Whinda Gigrich	3	...
	John Jere Dwyer.....	1	...		Ernest O'Brien	3	...
	Albert S. Duquette.....	1	...		J. A. Kaehn	3	...
68	Cincinnati, O. Charles Bente	3	...	167	Cleveland, O. Ed. McEachern	3	...
	Charles Gallagher	3	...	171	Rochester, N. Y. Emanuel Koveleski	2	...
	Joseph Alge	3	...		Edward A. Dentinger.....	2	...
69	Galveston, Tex. M. W. Lusk.....	3	...		James Bell	2	...
70	Brooklyn, N. Y. Maurice De Young	3	...	173	Binghamton, N. Y. Michael T. Foley.....	3	...
	Otto Pattberg	3	...	175	Buffalo, N. Y. Patrick J. McGowan.....	2	...
76	Syracuse, N. Y. Stevens R. Bishop.....	2	...		John E. Long.....	2	...
	Matthew V. Gilbert.....	2	...		Edward L. Ehrman.....	2	...
77	Boston, Mass. John W. Conley.....	3	...	180	San Jose, Cal. Loretta Wheeler	2	...
	Henry F. Corcoran	3	...	188	Pittsburg, Pa. J. Chas. Hackett	3	...
	John C. Hickey	3	...		Hugh O'Hare	3	...
	Daniel E. Ford.....	3	...		James W. Clarke	3	...
	Thomas Dolan	3	...		Jere F. McCarthy	3	...
79	Louisville, Ky. Fred Schwenker.....	3	...	196	Buffalo, N. Y. Thomas A. Tarrant.....	2	...
80	Boston, Mass. Jos. E. Laycock.....	3	...		Charles Beyers	2	...
81	Holyoke, Mass. Thos. J. Durnin.....	1	...	197	Hamilton, Ont., Can. George Hibberd	3	...
	T. F. Vigneux.....	1	...	200	Hartford, Conn. Frank J. Madden	3	...
	Thomas Garrity	1	...				3

Local Number	LOCATION AND NAMES OF DELEGATES	Sesma	Regan	Local Number	LOCATION AND NAMES OF DELEGATES	Sesma	Regan
203	St. Louis, Mo. Fay Huddleston	2	...	420	Kansas City, Mo. James H. Anderson..... E. L. Hiles..... Chas. O. Bailey..... O. D. Norton.....	3	...
204	Elmira, N. Y. F. J. Sullivan.....	1	...	426	Rock Springs, Wyo. J. E. Green.....	1	...
206	Ft. Worth, Tex. W. A. Polk.....	3	...	431	Indianapolis, Ind. Chas. Specht	3	...
212	Youngstown, O. John J. Graney.....	3	...	432	Timothy Curran	3	...
220	Eureka, Cal. Mrs. Libbie Messer.....	1	...	449	Altoona, Pa. Craig S. Rhodes.....	1	...
222	Dayton, O. J. F. Eichhorn.....	3	...	456	Chicago, Ill. Phillip Hartman	3	...
223	Des Moines, Ia. Chester W. McCurdy.....	1	...	458	Minneapolis, Minn. Leslie Sinton	3	...
224	Erie, Pa. William Kelly	3	...	484	Adolph Berger	3	...
239	Seattle, Wash. Ed. T. Levi.....	3	...	485	Elizabeth Maloney	3	...
240	Seattle, Wash. Alice M. Lord..... Ida L. Levi..... Agnes Adamack	2½	...	523	Kenosha, Wis. L. S. Kimball.....	2	...
273	Springfield, Mass. Charles E. Sands.....	3	...	524	Miles City, Mont. Thos. J. Ryan.....	1	...
274	Marshalltown, Ia. William Sweeney	1	...	525	Oakland, Cal. Herman Loorz	2½	...
280	Toronto, Ont., Can. Arthur E. O'Leary.....	3	...	526	Fred W. Bard..... Fred C. Schroeder.....	2½	...
284	Los Angeles, Cal. F. Sesma	3	...	527	Dubuque, Ia. B. Callahan.....	2	...
	A. B. Hassel.....	3	...	550	Bakersfield, Cal. J. J. Alldridge.....	3	...
	Geo. Petersen	3	...	558	San Bernardino, Cal. J. C. Drysdale.....	1	...
	B. McKone	3	...	559	Ft. Smith, Ark. W. E. Reynolds.....	1	...
286	Peoria, Ill. Oscar Bickerdt	3	...	561	Sacramento, Cal. Stephen P. Drake.....	1½	...
287	St. Paul, Minn. Adam P. Hentges.....	3	...	562	F. E. Merryfield..... W. C. Eddy.....	1½	...
292	Wheeling, W. Va. Harry Corcoran	1	...	566	Detroit, Mich. Josh Brady	3	...
302	Butte, Mont. John H. Rooney.....	3	...	567	Fresno, Cal. Patrick L. Grace.....	2	...
312	Chattanooga, Tenn. W. L. Bork..... James Riley	1	...	568	Olympia, Wash. Fred McCallum	1	...
320	Schenectady, N. Y. John J. Henley.....	2	...	572	Stockton, Cal. James Redenbaugh	1	...
332	East St. Louis, Ill. Hunter B. Keith.....	3	...	573	W. P. Burtz	1	...
361	Allentown, Pa. John A. Schiffert	3	...	574	Springfield, Ill. John P. McGrath.....	1	...
376	South Chicago, Ill. James E. Nelson.....	2	...	575	Duluth, Minn. Frank Bradley	1	...
378	Bakersfield, Cal. W. S. Renfro.....	3	...	577	Jersey City, N. J. Wm. F. Kavanagh.....	1	...
400	Spokane, Wash. A. C. Beck.....	3	...	593	San Jose, Cal. E. H. Lincoln.....	1	...
402	San Diego, Cal. Claude McClellan	3	...	595	W. H. Price	1	...
403	Stockton, Cal. Harry L. Chase..... Fred Funk	1½	...	603	Minneapolis, Minn. Thos. P. Woods.....	1	...
406	Eureka, Cal. William T. Scully.....	1	...	604	Richmond, Cal. J. F. Feudner	1	...

Local Number	LOCATION AND NAMES OF DELEGATES	Sesma	Regan	Local Number	LOCATION AND NAMES OF DELEGATES	Sesma	Regan
609	Great Falls, Mont. Dan P. Shields.....	2	...	800	Lafayette, Ind. Herman Zahn	2	...
631	Phoenix, Ariz. Edward J. Warren.....	2	...	815	Salt Lake City, Utah Charles McKee	3
651	Seattle, Wash. V. W. LaBelle.....	3	...	820	Sheridan, Wyo. J. F. Gibbons.....	1	...
699	Marysville, Cal. S. E. Keenan	1	...	827	Joplin, Mo. W. Edward Horne.....	1	...
721	Salt Lake City, Utah. Joe Lane	2 $\frac{1}{2}$...	859	Billings, Mont. Gus Trenkle	2	...
744	Waco, Tex. Jos. Dushek	1	...	865	Chicago, Ill. Fred Ebeling	2
768	San Diego, Cal. W. A. Powers.....	1 $\frac{1}{2}$...	867	Ketchikan, Alaska Michael Doyle	1
	Earl Hyatt	1 $\frac{1}{2}$...

F. Sesma	330 $\frac{1}{4}$
D. P. Regan.....	169 $\frac{1}{4}$
Total vote	500

The following delegates were absent at roll-call and not voting: Rose Jack, Local 180; J. L. Pauley, Local 585.

The following delegates were reported sick: Nida R. Pangle, Local 335; H. H. Edwards, Local 832.

Daniel Regan, Local 41: Mr. Chairman, I offer a motion to make the election of Brother Sesma unanimous.

President Flore: A roll call vote has been taken and the results have been announced. Brother Sesma, as a result of said election, has been elected to the position of Fifth Vice-President, and the motion offered is not in order.

President Flore: Nominations are now in order for the position of Sixth Vice-President.

William Lehman, Local 1—Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen of the Convention: The duty which I shall endeavor to execute with such humble ability as I possess is a very pleasant one. We have had for several years a woman member on our General Executive Board. She has shown marked ability and demonstrated to the satisfaction of all concerned that no mistake was made when she was placed in that responsible position. She has, as the expression goes, made good, and I am convinced that we need her in her old place on the Board, and I therefore present the name of Miss Elizabeth Maloney, of Waitresses' Local Union 484, of Chicago, Ills., for the position of Sixth Vice-President for the incoming term.

Delegates seconding the nomination were: Kitty Donnelly, Local 107 and for the Ohio, Kentucky and Michigan delegations; M. V. Gilbert, Local 76, and Laura Molleda, Local 48.

V. E. Chapman, Local 30—Mr. President and Delegates of the Convention: The woman whom I have in mind to nominate for the position of Sixth Vice-President has been a worker among us for many years. She has ample ability and is sufficiently aggressive to merit consideration at your hands. There are few, if any, positions connected with our local union but what she has been tried out in, and she has filled the job capably and well; and we believe if you elect her to the Board you will have added strength to that aggregation of wisdom and activity. I am pleased, therefore, to present the name of Sister Loretta Wheeler, Local 180, of San Jose, Cal., for the position of Sixth Vice-President for the succeeding term.

Seconding the nomination were: Sam Taback, Local 30; Herman Loorz, Local 525, and Alfred E. Steimer, Local 44.

McEachern, Local 167, and Wright, Local 31, offered a motion that the nominations close and that we proceed to ballot. Motion adopted.

The following roll-call will show the vote for Sixth Vice-President:

Local Number	LOCATION AND NAMES OF DELEGATES	Maloney	Wheeler	Local Number	LOCATION AND NAMES OF DELEGATES	Maloney	Wheeler
1	New York City Harry Kleinman	2	...	48	San Francisco, Cal. Laura Molleda	3	...
	William Lehman	3	...		Lena Hopper	3	...
2	Brooklyn, N. Y. George Hale	3	...		Lettie Gardner	3	...
3	New York City W. B. Joyce	2	...	51	Irene Dahl	3	...
	John P. McGinley	2	...		St. Louis, Mo. Jacob Schrempf	3	...
8	Denver, Colo. Fred Wessel	3	...		Robert Lyons	3	...
10	Hoboken, N. J. James J. Sheehan	2	...	62	George C. Wiesemann	3	...
12	San Antonio, Tex. Paul Steffler	3	...		Charles E. Baird	3	...
14	Denver, Colo. Cecil Givens	2	...	67	Fresno, Cal. L. A. Pomeroy	2
	B. K. Stewart	2	...		Milwaukee, Wis. Charles Sorweid	3	...
17	Los Angeles, Cal. Alex Blumenthal	2	...		Springfield, Mass. Edmond Raleigh	1½	...
	J. C. Scott	2	...		John Jere Dwyer	1½	...
20	St. Louis, Mo. George Ringler	2½	...		Albert S. Duquette	1½	...
	Harry Cordes	2½	...	68	Cincinnati, O. Charles Bente	3	...
	Conrad Schott	2½	...		Charles Gallagher	3	...
	James J. O'Donald	2½	...		Joseph Alge	3	...
30	San Francisco, Cal. V. E. Chapman	3	...	69	Galveston, Tex. M. W. Lusk	3	...
	Hugo Ernst	3	...		70	Brooklyn, N. Y. Maurice DeYoung	3	...
	Sam Taback	3	...		Otto Pattberg	3	...
	Theo. Johnson	3	...	76	Syracuse, N. Y. Steven R. Bishop	2½	...
	A. C. Rose	3	...		Matthew V. Gilbert	2½	...
	J. D. Kirkpatrick	3	...	77	77 Boston, Mass. John W. Conley	3	...
31	Oakland, Cal. C. P. Hibbard	2½	...		Henry F. Corcoran	3	...
	W. A. Hosking	2½	...		John C. Hickey	3	...
	T. H. Wright	2½	...		Daniel E. Ford	3	...
	Charles C. Olson	2½	...	79	Thomas Dolan	3	...
33	Seattle, Wash. Robert B. Hesketh	2	...		Louisville, Ky. Fred Schwenker	3	...
	W. W. Levi	2	...	80	Boston, Mass. Jos. E. Laycock	3	...
	E. L. Hollingsworth	2	...	81	Holyoke, Mass. Thos. J. Durnin	1	...
35	Chicago, Ill. A. A. Mayer	3	...		T. F. Vigneux	1	...
	Ben F. Parker	3	...	86	Thomas Garrity
37	Decatur, Ill. W. H. Foster	1	...	95	Lynn, Mass. John J. Griffin
38	Hammond, Ind. Edward R. Abbott	2	...	101	Worcester, Mass. Owen J. Reynolds
41	San Francisco, Cal. Dan P. Regan	3	...	106	Great Falls, Mont. Lawrence Nelson
	Al Condrotte	3	...		Cleveland, O. Thomas S. Farrell
	A. Zimmermann	3	...			Arthur F. Just
	F. W. Steinkamp	3	...			Edw. A. Whisemore
	Frank E. Plate	3	...			Fred B. Hobby
43	Pueblo, Colo. James N. Butler	1	...	107	Cleveland, O. Kitty Donnelly
44	San Francisco, Cal. Alfred E. Steimer	3	...	108	Cleveland, O. Michael Goldsmith
	Chas. F. Fleischmann	3	...			S. T. Brent
	Arthur H. Dodge	3	...			John T. Collins
	Michael H. Canny	3	...	109	Newark, N. J. A. J. Cozzolino
	Frank P. Battles	3

Local Number	LOCATION AND NAMES OF DELEGATES	Maloney	Wheeler	Local Number	LOCATION AND NAMES OF DELEGATES	Maloney	Wheeler
110	San Francisco, Cal. Matt Williamson	3		240	Seattle, Wash. Alice M. Lord.....	2½
	A. W. Fraser.....	3			Ida L. Levi.....	2½
	John Kennedy	3			Agnes Adamack	2½
	J. C. Morris.....	3		273	Springfield, Mass. Charles E. Sands.....	3
115	Philadelphia, Pa. John J. McDevitt.....	3		274	Marshalltown, Ia. William Sweeney	1
	Ben Gorton	3		280	Toronto, Ont., Can. Arthur E. O'Leary.....	3
116	Chicopee, Mass. Francis W. Farrell.....	1		284	Los Angeles, Cal. F. Sesma	3
134	Scranton, Pa. Frank McDonnell	2			A. B. Hassel	3
	James Hartnett	2			Geo. Petersen	3
147	Greenfield, Mass. James Moroney	1			B. McKone	3
152	Minneapolis, Minn. Frank Hoffman	3		286	Peoria, Ill. Oscar Bickerdt	3
	Whinda Gigrich	3		287	St. Paul, Minn. Adam P. Hentges	3
	Ernest O'Brien	3		292	Wheeling, W. Va. Harry Corcoran	1
	J. A. Kaehn	3		302	Butte, Mont. John H. Rooney	3
167	Cleveland, O. Ed McEachern	3		312	Chattanooga, Tenn. W. L. Bork	1
171	Rochester, N. Y. Emanuel Koveleski	2½			James Riley	1
	Edward A. Dentinger.....	2½		320	Schenectady, N. Y. John J. Henley	2
	James Bell	2½		332	East St. Louis, Ill. Hunter B. Keith	3
173	Binghamton, N. Y. Michael T. Foley	3		361	Allentown, Pa. John A. Schiffert	3
175	Buffalo, N. Y. Patrick J. McGowan.....	2½		376	South Chicago, Ill. James E. Nelson	2
	John E. Long.....	2½		378	Bakersfield, Cal. W. S. Renfro	3
	Edward L. Ehrman	2½		400	Spokane, Wash. A. C. Beck	3
180	San Jose, Cal. Loretta Wheeler	2		402	San Diego, Cal. Claude McClellan	3
188	Pittsburg, Pa. J. Chas. Hackett	3		403	Stockton, Cal. Larry L. Chase	1½
	Hugh O'Hare	3			Fred Funk	1½
	James W. Clarke	3			Patsie Taylor	1½
	Jere F. McCarthy	3		406	Eureka, Cal. William T. Scully	1
196	Buffalo, N. Y. Thomas A. Tarrant	2½		420	Kansas City, Mo. James H. Anderson	3
	Charles Beyers	2½			E. L. Hiles	3
197	Hamilton, Ont., Can. George Hibberd	3			Chas. O. Bailey	3
200	Hartford, Conn. Frank J. Madden	3			O. D. Norton	3
203	St. Louis, Mo. Fay Huddleston	2		436	Rock Springs, Wyo. J. E. Green	1
204	Elmira, N. Y. F. J. Sullivan	1		437	Indianapolis, Ind. Chas. Specht	3
206	Ft. Worth, Tex. W. A. Polk	3			Timothy Curran	3
212	Youngstown, O. John J. Graney	3		456	Chicago, Ill. Philip Hartman	3
220	Eureka, Cal. Mrs. Libbie Messer	1		458	Minneapolis, Minn. Leslie Sinton	3
222	Dayton, O. J. F. Eichhorn	3			Adolph Berger	3
223	Des Moines, Ia. Chester W. McCurdy	1		484	Chicago, Ill. Elizabeth Maloney	3
239	Seattle, Wash. Ed T. Levi	3			Kenosha, Wis. L. S. Kimball	2

Local Number	LOCATION AND NAMES OF DELEGATES	Maloney	Wheeler	Local Number	LOCATION AND NAMES OF DELEGATES	Maloney	Wheeler
524	Miles City, Mont. Thos. J. Ryan		1	593	Minneapolis, Minn. Thos. P. Woods.....	3	...
525	Oakland, Cal. Herman Loorz	2	2	595	Richmond, Cal. J. C. Feudner	1	...
	Fred W. Bard	2	2	603	Sacramento, Cal. Fred Somers	1	...
	Fred C. Schroeder	2	2		Jack Reid	1	...
527	Dubuque, Ia. B. Callahan	2	2		E. N. Fletcher	1	...
550	Bakersfield, Cal. J. J. Alldridge	3	3	609	Great Falls, Mont. Dan P. Shields	2	...
558	San Bernardino, Cal. J. C. Drysdale	1	1	631	Phoenix, Ariz. Edward J. Warren	2	...
559	Ft. Smith, Ark. W. E. Reynolds	1	1	651	Seattle, Wash. V. W. La Belle	3	...
561	Sacramento, Cal. Stephen P. Drake	1	1	699	Marysville, Cal. S. E. Keenan	1	...
	F. E. Merryfield	1	1	721	Salt Lake City, Utah. Joe Lane	2	...
	W. E. Eddy	1	1		A. M. J. Prichard	2	...
562	Detroit, Mich. Josh Brady	3	3	744	Waco, Tex. Jos. Dushek	1	...
566	Fresno, Cal. Patrick L. Grace	2	2	768	San Diego, Cal. W. A. Powers	1	...
567	Olympia, Wash. Fred McCallum	1	1		Earl Hyatt	1	...
572	Stockton, Cal. James Redenbaugh	1	1	800	Lafayette, Ind. Herman Zahn	2	...
	W. P. Burtz	1	1	815	Salt Lake City, Utah Charles McKee	3	...
573	Springfield, Ill. John P. McGrath	3	3	820	Sheridan, Wyo. J. F. Gibbons	1	...
574	Duluth, Minn. Frank Bradley	3	3	827	Joplin, Mo. W. Edward Horne	1	...
575	Jersey City, N. J. Wm. F. Kavanagh	1	1	859	Billings, Mont. Gus Trenkle	2	...
577	San Jose, Cal. E. H. Lincoln	1	1	865	Chicago, Ill. Fred Ebeling	2	...
585	Charleston, W. Va. J. L. Pauley	1	1	867	Ketchikan, Alaska Michael Doyle	1	...

Elizabeth Maloney 337½
Loretta Wheeler 159½

Total vote 497

The following delegates were absent at roll-call and not voting: Rose Jack, Local 180; Wm. Kelly, Local 224; C. S. Rhodes, Local 449.

The following delegates were reported sick: Nida R. Pangle, Local 335; H. H. Edwards, Local 832.

J. Charles Hackett, Local 188: Previous action warns me to be brief, and I shall. You hardly need to be advised that the brother whom I shall offer for the position of Seventh Vice-President has occupied a place on the Board for several terms. We have before us the record which he has made. It is a good one, and I believe your interests will be cared for by placing him back on the job. I take pleasure in presenting the name of Brother Paul Steffler, Local 12, San Antonio, Texas, for the position of Seventh Vice-President for the ensuing term.

Delegates seconding the nomination were: M. W. Lusk, Local 69; W. A. Polk, Local 206; Jack Reid, Local 603; Joseph Dushek, Local 744, and Fred Schwenker, Local 79.

Motion by Hugo Ernst, Local 30, and A. B. Hassell, Local 284, that nominations close and that the Secretary cast one ballot for the election of Brother Paul Steffler, of San Antonio, Texas, for the position of Seventh Vice-President for the incoming term. Motion carried.

Secretary Sullivan: Acting as per your instructions, I hereby cast one ballot for Brother Paul Steffler, of San Antonio, Texas, for the position of Seventh Vice-President for the ensuing term.

President Flore: By your direction the Secretary cast the ballot which elected Brother Paul Steffler to the position of Seventh Vice-President for the ensuing term, and he is hereby declared elected to that position.

Henry F. Corcoran, Local 77—Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen of the Convention: It would, perhaps, be ignoring the procedure which has prevailed this afternoon to attempt any extended remarks of the candidate which I shall later mention for your suffrage, but I am convinced that a few words may not be amiss; for, after all, it seems to me better that we should tell our men and women that those whom we seek to place in positions of honor will do the bidding of the great army of men and women workers which constitute our International Union and will perform their tasks with credit to themselves and our splendid organization; will ever keep in mind that our faces are turned forward and not back; will persist in the performance of their duty as the light is given them; and, finally, will so carry themselves in the daily walk of life that we shall be honored by their clean-cut and honorable methods. The brother whose name I shall presently offer has been tried in that crucible which we call the labor movement. He has given a good account of his stewardship, and I know that when I mention his name it will meet your unqualified approval. Allow me to nominate Brother John W. Conley, Local 77, of Boston, for the position last, but by no means least, on your General Executive Board for Eighth Vice-President.

Delegates seconding the nomination were: Durnin, Local 81; Regan, Local 41, for the delegation; Cozzolino, Local 109; Reynolds, Local 95; Cann, Local 44; Laycock, Local 80; Keith, Local 332; Garrity, Local 81; McGowan, Local 175; Kirkpatrick, Local 30, and Griffin, Local 86.

Motion by Rhodes, Local 449, and Griffin, Local 86, to close the nominations and instruct the Secretary to cast one ballot for Brother John W. Conley, of Boston, Mass., for Eighth Vice-President for the incoming term. Motion adopted.

Secretary Sullivan: Following out the instructions given me by this convention, I hereby cast one ballot for Brother John W. Conley, of Boston, Mass., for the position of Eighth Vice-President for the incoming term.

President Flore: The Secretary having performed the duty assigned him, that of casting one ballot for Brother John W. Conley for the position of Eighth Vice-President for the ensuing term, I hereby declare Brother John W. Conley, of Boston, Mass., the duly elected Eighth Vice-President for the incoming term. The next order is the nomination and election of delegates to the two coming conventions of the American Federation of Labor. There are three delegates to be elected.

Secretary Sullivan—Mr. Chairman and Delegates of the Convention: For several years we have had as one of our delegates a man young in years, but possessed with an immense quantity of experience. You will not find the records of the American Federation of Labor cluttered with any proposals emanating from him. But working alongside of him as a delegate, I have observed, with a great deal of satisfaction and pleasure, that he is fully alive to the interests of our allied crafts, and when occasion arises he is a capable and competent defender or advocate, as the occasion necessitates, of our interests on the floor of that immense gathering. Prior to this convention very few of you had occasion to see him in action. That has been, and I anticipate will continue to be, his policy—to speak only when necessary, and then say all that is required on the subject. We need that character of delegate on the floor of the American Federation of Labor Convention. I am sure that you will agree with me when I say that this man has not as yet attained the pinnacle of prominence, but is steadily advancing toward the goal, which even at this time marks him as a sensible and resolute representative. It is therefore, with the knowledge of services well rendered in the past, and with the feeling that equal, if not better, services will be rendered to us in the future, that I offer for your favorable consideration and action the name of Brother Thomas S. Farrell, Local 106, Cleveland, Ohio, as one of the delegates to the next two conventions of the American Federation of Labor.

John J. Henley, Local 320—Mr. Chairman and Delegates of the Convention: I desire to present to you the name of a brother who has in the last eight or ten years gradually risen from the ranks to a position of prominence in his own city and in his own State. At the present time he is President of the central body in his city and a member of the New York State Federation of Labor. He is an active and aggressive individual, and one who I feel will add to the strength of the delegation to the American Federation of Labor Convention. I take pleasure in presenting the name of Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y., as a delegate to the conventions of the American Federation of Labor, for your consideration.

James H. Anderson, Local 420—Mr. Chairman and Delegates of the Convention: We have had as our delegates to the American Federation of Labor Convention representatives who, according to the records of this convention, rendered good services. One of these is the delegate whom I have in mind to present his name. He is, perhaps, exceedingly modest and quiet, yet that does not prevent him from taking active interest in behalf of our International Union, and I look forward to see him to do as well in the future. I therefore present the name of Edmund Raleigh, Local 67, Springfield, Mass., as a nominee for delegateship to the American Federation of Labor Convention.

Laura Molleda, Local 48—Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen: Without attempting to detract from those who have been nominated, yet at the same time I believe that the delegate whose name I expect to offer will make quite as capable, energetic and aggressive representative as any that have so far been nominated. To the best of my knowledge, we have never had a woman as one of our delegates to the American Federation of Labor Convention, but I believe that the delegate whom I expect to nominate is entitled to your favorable consideration. She has demonstrated beyond any question of doubt that she is fully as large mentally as well as aggressively as any delegate on the floor of this convention or any member of our organization. She has made a splendid record, and is well and favorably known not only on the Pacific coast, but throughout the length and breadth of North America. I could, perhaps, occupy a great deal of your time reciting the many incidents wherein my candidate has displayed exceptional ability, but I refrain, and ask your kindly and favorable consideration for my nominee, Sister Alice M. Lord, Local 240, Seattle, Wash.

Motion by Warren, Local 631, and Sheehan, Local 10, that nominations be closed and that we proceed to ballot.

Motion carried.

The following roll call will show the vote for Delegates to the American Federation of Labor Convention:

Local Number	LOCATION AND NAMES OF DELEGATES	Farrell	Koveleski	Raleigh	Lord	Local Number	LOCATION AND NAMES OF DELEGATES	Farrell	Koveleski	Raleigh	Lord
1	New York City Harry Kleinman... William Lehman...	3	3	3	...	41	San Francisco, Cal. Dan P. Regan..... Al Condrotte	3	3	...	3
2	Brooklyn, N. Y. George Hale	3	3	3	...		A. Zimmermann... F. W. Steinkamp...	3	3	...	3
3	New York City W. B. Joyce..... John P. McGinley.	2	2	2	...	42	Frank E. Plate.... Pueblo, Colo. James N. Butler...	3	3	...	3
8	Denver, Colo. Fred Wessel.....	3	3	...	3	43	San Francisco, Cal. Alfred E. Steimer.. C. F. Fleischmann.	3	3	...	3
10	Hoboken, N. J. James J. Sheehan..	2	2	2	...		Arthur H. Dodge.. Michael H. Canny.	3	3	...	3
12	San Antonio, Tex. Paul Steffler.....	3	3	3	...		Frank P. Battles...	3	3	...	3
14	Denver, Colo. Cecil Givens..... B. K. Stewart.....	2	2	...	2	44	San Francisco, Cal. Laura Molleda Lena Hopper	3	3	...	3
17	Los Angeles, Cal. Alex Blumenthal.. J. C. Scott.....	2	2	...	2		Lettie Gardner.... Irene Dahl	3	3	...	3
20	St. Louis, Mo. George Ringler....	2 $\frac{1}{2}$	2 $\frac{1}{2}$...	2 $\frac{1}{2}$	51	St. Louis, Mo. Jacob Schrempf ...	3	3	3	...
	Harry Cordes.....	2 $\frac{1}{2}$	2 $\frac{1}{2}$...	2 $\frac{1}{2}$		Robert Lyons	3	3	3	...
	Conrad Schott ...	2 $\frac{1}{2}$	2 $\frac{1}{2}$...	2 $\frac{1}{2}$		Geo. C. Wiesemann	3	3	3	...
	Jas. J. O'Donald...	2 $\frac{1}{2}$	2 $\frac{1}{2}$...	2 $\frac{1}{2}$		Charles E. Baird..	3	3	3	...
30	San Francisco, Cal. V. E. Chapman.... Hugo Ernst	3	3	...	3	62	Fresno, Cal. L. A. Pomeroy....	2	2	...	2
	Sam Taback	3	3	...	3	64	Milwaukee, Wis. Charles Sorweid...	3	3	3	...
	Theo. Johnson ...	3	3	...	3	67	Springfield, Mass. Edmond Raleigh..	1 $\frac{1}{2}$	1 $\frac{1}{2}$	1 $\frac{1}{2}$...
	A. C. Rose..... J. D. Kirkpatrick..	3	3	...	3		John Jere Dwyer..	1 $\frac{1}{2}$	1 $\frac{1}{2}$	1 $\frac{1}{2}$...
31	Oakland, Cal. C. P. Hibbard....	2 $\frac{1}{2}$	2 $\frac{1}{2}$...	2 $\frac{1}{2}$	68		Albert S. Duquette	1 $\frac{1}{2}$	1 $\frac{1}{2}$	1 $\frac{1}{2}$...
	W. A. Hosking...	2 $\frac{1}{2}$	2 $\frac{1}{2}$...	2 $\frac{1}{2}$		Cincinnati, O. Charles Bente....	3	3	3	...
	T. H. Wright.....	2 $\frac{1}{2}$	2 $\frac{1}{2}$...	2 $\frac{1}{2}$		Charles Gallagher.	3	3	3	...
	Charles C. Olson...	2 $\frac{1}{2}$	2 $\frac{1}{2}$...	2 $\frac{1}{2}$		Joseph Alge.....	3	3	3	...
33	Seattle, Wash. Robt. B. Hesketh..	2	2	...	2	69	Galveston, Tex. M. W. Lusk.....	3	3	...	3
	W. W. Levi.....	2	2	...	2	70	Brooklyn, N. Y. Maurice DeYoung..	3	3	3	...
	E. L. Hollingsworth	2	2	...	2	76	Otto Pattberg.....	3	3	3	...
35	Chicago, Ill. A. A. Mayer.....	3	3	3	...	77	Syracuse, N. Y. Steven R. Bishop..	2 $\frac{1}{2}$	2 $\frac{1}{2}$	2 $\frac{1}{2}$...
	Ben F. Parker....	3	3	3	...		Matthew V. Gilbert.	2 $\frac{1}{2}$	2 $\frac{1}{2}$	2 $\frac{1}{2}$...
37	Decatur, Ill. W. H. Foster.....	1	1	1	...		Boston, Mass. John W. Conley...	3	3	3	...
38	Hammond, Ind. Edward R. Abbott.	2	2	...	2		Henry F. Corcoran	3	3	3	...
							John C. Hickey....	3	3	3	...
							Daniel E. Ford....	3	3	3	...
							Thomas Dolan	3	3	3	...

Local Number	LOCATION AND NAMES OF DELEGATES	Farrell	Kovaleski	Raleigh	Lord	Local Number	LOCATION AND NAMES OF DELEGATES	Farrell	Kovaleski	Raleigh	Lord
79	Louisville, Ky. Fred Schwenker...	3	3	3	...	196	Buffalo, N. Y. Thos. A. Tarrant...	2½	2½	2½	...
80	Boston, Mass. Jos. E. Laycock...	3	3	...	3	197	Charles Beyers... Hamilton, Ont., Can.	2½	2½	2½	...
81	Holyoke, Mass. Thos. J. Durnin...	1	1	1	...	200	George Hibberd... Hartford, Conn.	3	3	3	...
	T. F. Vigneux....	1	1	1	...	203	Frank J. Madden... St. Louis, Mo.	3	...	3	3
86	Lynn, Mass. John J. Griffin....	3	...	3	3	204	Fay Huddleston... Elmira, N. Y.	2	2	2	...
95	Worcester, Mass. Owen J. Reynolds..	3	3	3	...	206	F. J. Sullivan... Ft. Worth, Tex.	1	1	...	1
101	Great Falls, Mont. Lawrence Nelson..	3	3	3	...	212	W. A. Polk... Youngstown, O.	3	...	3	3
106	Cleveland, O. Thos. S. Farrell...	2½	2½	2½	...	220	John J. Graney... Eureka, Cal.	3	3	3	...
	Arthur F. Just...	2½	2½	2½	...	222	Mrs. Libbie Messer... Dayton, O.	1	1	...	1
107	Cleveland, O. Kitty Donnelly ...	3	3	3	...	223	J. F. Eichhorn... Des Moines, Ia.	3	3	3	...
108	Cleveland, O. Michael Goldsmith	3	3	3	...	224	C. W. McCurdy... Erie, Pa.	1	1	1	...
	S. T. Brent.....	3	3	...	3	239	William Kelly... Seattle, Wash.	3	3	...	3
109	Newark, N. J. A. J. Cozzolino...	3	3	...	3	240	Ed. T. Levi... Seattle, Wash.	...	3	3	3
110	San Francisco, Cal. Matt Williamson...	3	.	3	3		Alice M. Lord... Ida L. Levi...	2½	2½	2½	...
	A. W. Fraser.....	...	3	3	3		Agnes Adamack...	2½	2½	2½	...
	John Kennedy....	3	...	3	3	273	Springfield, Mass. Charles E. Sands...	3	3	...	3
115	Philadelphia, Pa. John J. McDevitt..	3	3	3	...	274	Marshalltown, Ia. William Sweeney...	1	1	1	...
	Ben Gorton	3	3	3	...	280	Toronto, Ont., Can. Arthur E. O'Leary.	3	3	3	...
116	Chicopee, Mass. Francis W. Farrell.	1	1	1	...	284	Los Angeles, Cal. F. Sesma	3	3	3	...
134	Scranton, Pa. Frank McDonnell.	2	2	...	2		A. B. Hassel... Geo. Petersen...	3	3	3	...
	James Hartnett....	2	2	...	2		B. McKone	3	3	3	...
147	Greenfield, Mass. James Moroney....	1	...	1	1	286	Peoria, Ill. Oscar Bickerdt...	3	3	3	...
152	Minneapolis, Minn. Frank Hoffman...	3	3	3	...	287	St. Paul, Minn. Adam P. Hentges..	3	3	3	...
	Whinda Gigrich....	3	3	3	...		3	3	3	...
	Ernest O'Brien....	3	3	3	...	292	Wheeling, W. Va. Harry Corcoran...	1	1	1	...
	J. A. Kaehn....	3	3	3	...		Butte, Mont. John H. Rooney...	3	3	3	...
167	Cleveland, O. Ed. McEachern....	3	3	3	...	302	Chattanooga, Tenn. W. L. Bork.....	3	3	3	...
171	Rochester, N. Y. Emanuel Kovaleski.	2½	2½	2½	...	312	James Riley	1	1	1	...
	Edw. A. Dentinger	2½	2½	2½	...	320	Schenectady, N. Y. John J. Henley...	2	2	2	...
	James Bell.....	2½	2½	2½	...	332	East St. Louis, Ill. Hunter B. Keith...	3	3	3	...
173	Binghamton, N. Y. Michael T. Foley..	3	3	...	3	361	Allentown, Pa. John A. Schiffert..	3	3	3	...
175	Buffalo, N. Y. Pat'k J. McGowan	2½	2½	2½	...	376	South Chicago, Ill. James E. Nelson..	2	2	...	2
	John E. Long.....	2½	2½	2½	...		Bakersfield, Cal. W. S. Renfro.....	3	3	3	...
	Edw. L. Ehrman..	2½	2½	2½	...	378	Spokane, Wash. A. C. Beck.....	3	3	3	...
180	San Jose, Cal. Loretta Wheeler...	2	2	...	2	400	San Diego, Cal. Claude McClellan..	3	3	3	...
188	Pittsburg, Pa. J. Chas. Hackett...	3	3	3	...	402					3
	Hugh O'Hare....	3	3	3	...						3
	James W. Clarke..	3	3	3	...						3
	Yore F. McCarthy..	3	3	3	...						3

Local Number	LOCATION AND NAMES OF DELEGATES	Farrell				Local Number	LOCATION AND NAMES OF DELEGATES	Farrell
		Koveleski	Raleigh	Lord	Koveleski			Koveleski	Raleigh	Lord
403	Stockton, Cal. Larry L. Chase.... Fred Funk..... Patsie Taylor....	1½	1½	1½	...	567	Olympia, Wash. Fred McCallum	1	1	1
406	Eureka, Cal. William T. Scully..	1	1	...	1	572	Stockton, Cal. James Redenbaugh	1	1	...	1
420	Kansas City, Mo. Jas. H. Anderson.. E. L. Hiles..... Chas. O. Bailey.... O. D. Norton....	3	3	3	...	573	Springfield, Ill. John P. McGrath.	3	3	3	...
436	Rock Springs, Wyo. J. E. Green.....	1	1	...	1	574	Duluth, Minn. Frank Bradley	3	3	3	...
437	Indianapolis, Ind. Chas. Specht Timothy Curran...	3	3	3	...	575	Jersey City, N. J. W. F. Kavanagh..	1	1	1	...
449	Altoona, Pa. Craig S. Rhodes...	1	1	1	...	577	San Jose, Cal. E. H. Lincoln.....	1½	1½	1½	...
456	Chicago, Ill. Phillip Hartman...	3	3	3	...	593	Minneapolis, Minn. Thos. P. Woods...	3	3	3	...
458	Minneapolis, Minn. Leslie Sinton..... Adolph Berger....	3	3	...	3	595	Richmond, Cal. J. C. Feudner.....	1	1	...	1
484	Chicago, Ill. Elizabeth Maloney	3	3	...	3	603	Sacramento, Cal. Fred Somers	1½	1½	...	1½
523	Kenosha, Wis. L. S. Kimball....	2	2	...	2	609	Great Falls, Mont. Dan P. Shields...	1½	1½	...	1½
524	Miles City, Mont. Thos. J. Ryan....	1	1	...	1	631	Phoenix, Ariz. Edward J. Warren	2	2	...	2
525	Oakland, Cal. Herman Loorz....	2½	2½	2½	...	651	Seattle, Wash. V. W. La Belle....	3	3	...	3
527	Dubuque, Ia. B. Callahan.....	2	2	2	...	699	Marysville, Cal. S. E. Keenan.....	1	1	...	1
550	Bakersfield, Cal. J. J. Alldridge....	3	3	3	...	721	Salt Lake City, Utah. Joe Lane	2½	2½	...	2½
558	San Bernardino, Cal. J. C. Drydale	1	1	1	...	768	San Diego, Cal. W. A. Powers.....	1½	1½	1½	...
559	Ft. Smith, Ark. W. E. Reynolds....	1	1	1	...	800	Lafayette, Ind. Herman Zahn	2	2	2	...
561	Sacramento, Cal. Stephen P. Drake	1½	1½	...	1½	815	Salt Lake City, Utah Charles McKee ...	3	3	...	3
	F. E. Merryfield..	1½	1½	...	1½	820	Sheridan, Wyo. J. F. Gibbons.....	1	1	...	1
562	Detroit, Mich. Josh Brady	3	3	3	...	827	Joplin, Mo. W. Edward Horne	1	1	1	...
566	Fresno, Cal. Patrick L. Grace..	2	2	2	...	859	Billings, Mont. Gus Trenkle	2	2	...	2
						865	Chicago, Ill. Fred Ebeling	2	2	...
						867	Ketchikan, Alaska Michael Doyle	1	1	...

Thos. S. Farrell.....	490
E. Koveleski	480
Edmund Raleigh	31½
Alice M. Lord.....	21½

Total vote 1,497

The following delegates were absent at roll-call and not voting: Rose Jack, Local 180;
Jos. Dushek, Local 744.

The following delegates were reported sick: Nida R. Pangle, Local 335; H. H. Edwards, Local 832.

The following delegate was present but did not vote: J. L. Pauley, Local 585.

Lyons, Local 51: Mr. President, I desire to submit to the convention a candidate for convention city. But inasmuch as my candidate failed to register its desire in accordance with our laws, the only method allowed us now is to ask the consent of the convention to nominate, and I, therefore, ask the permission of the convention for the purpose indicated.

The convention by vote gave permission as sought.

Lyons, Local 51, St. Louis, Mo.—Mr. Chairman and Delegates of the Convention: The city from whence I came has a hankering to be your host for the Nineteenth General Convention in June, 1917. There is little that I can tell you of our famous Mound City which you are not already acquainted with. We have the pioneer locals of the country in our city. The membership of those two unions, as well as the others, bid you come and partake of their hospitality. If you accept, we promise to try and put into enjoyable execution the famous shibboleth of the State. We shall do our level best TO SHOW YOU. I therefore offer for your kindly consideration St. Louis, Mo., as a candidate for the Nineteenth General Convention of our International Union.

William F. Kavanagh, Local 575, Jersey City, N. J.: Mr. Chairman, Sister and Brother Delegates: I am going to present as a candidate for the next convention a city which is in the very shadow of the great metropolis of America. Just across the river, going by boat, or under the waters of the North River by tube, as our Cockney friends call it, you land on the Great White Way, the famous avenue whereon the sights of the universe converge and are shown without admission being charged. Hoboken may seem to you a small municipality, but in that you err; for Hoboken, in addition to being a neighbor of the big city over the river, is some town, and furnishes quite some life on its own hook. We need you in that section of the country. We are confronted with a serious battle in the near future, and your presence in the State of New Jersey would encourage our boys and girls to keep on the firing line and secure good results. I solicit your vote for my candidate for the seat of the next General Convention, and nominate Hoboken, New Jersey.

Motion by Givens, Local 14, and Gardner, Local 48, that the nominations close and that we proceed to ballot for convention city. Motion adopted.

The following roll-call will show the result of the contest for convention city:

Local Number	LOCATION AND NAMES OF DELEGATES	St. Louis	Hoboken	Local Number	LOCATION AND NAMES OF DELEGATES	St. Louis	Hoboken
1	New York City Harry Kleinman.....	3		31	Oakland, Cal. C. P. Hibbard.....	2½	...
	William Lehman	3			W. A. Hosking.....	2½	...
2	Brooklyn, N. Y. George Hale	3			T. H. Wright.....	2½	...
3	New York City W. B. Joyce.....	2		33	Charles C. Olson.....	2½	...
	John P. McGinley.....		2		Seattle, Wash. Robert B. Hesketh.....	2	...
8	Denver, Colo. Fred Wessel	3			W. W. Levi.....	2	...
10	Hoboken, N. J. James J. Sheehan.....		2	35	E. L. Hollingsworth.....	2	...
12	San Antonio, Tex. Paul Stefler	3		Chicago, Ill. A. A. Mayer.....	3	...
14	Denver, Colo. Cecil Givens.....	2			Ben F. Parker.....	3	...
	B. K. Stewart.....	2		37	Decatur, Ill. W. H. Foster.....	1	...
17	Los Angeles, Cal. Alex Blumenthal	2		38	Hammond, Ind. Edward R. Abbott.....	2	...
	J. C. Scott.....	2		41	San Francisco, Cal. Dan P. Regan.....	3	...
20	St. Louis, Mo. George Ringler	2½			Al Condrotte		3
	Harry Cordes	2½			A. Zimmermann	3	...
	Conrad Schott	2½			Frank E. Plate.....	3	...
	James J. O'Donald.....	2½		43	Pueblo, Colo. James N. Butler.....	1	...
30	San Francisco, Cal. V. E. Chapman.....	3		44	San Francisco, Cal. Alfred E. Steimer.....	3	...
	Hugo Ernst	3			Chas. F. Fleischmann.....	3	...
	Sam Taback	3			Arthur H. Dodge.....	3	...
	Theo. Johnson	3			Michael H. Cannan	3	...
	A. C. Rose.....	3			Frank P. Battles.....	3	...
	J. D. Kirkpatrick.....	3		48	San Francisco, Cal. Laura Molleda	3	...
					Lena Hopper	3	...
					Lettie Gardner	3	...
					Irene Dahl	3	...

Local Number	LOCATION AND NAMES OF DELEGATES	St. Louis	Hoboken	Local Number	LOCATION AND NAMES OF DELEGATES	St. Louis	Hoboken
51	St. Louis, Mo. Jacob Schrempf	3	...	116	Chicopee, Mass. Francis W. Farrell.....	...	1
	Robert Lyons	3	...	134	Scranton, Pa. Frank McDonnell	2
	George C. Wiesemann	3	...		James Hartnett	2
	Charles E. Baird	3	...
62	Fresno, Cal. L. A. Pomeroy.....	2	...	147	Greenfield, Mass. James Moroney	1
64	Milwaukee, Wis. Charles Sorweid	3	...	152	Minneapolis, Minn. Frank Hoffman	3	...
67	Springfield, Mass. Edmond Raleigh	1½	...		Whinda Gigrich	3	...
	John Jere Dwyer.....	1½	...		Ernest O'Brien	3	...
	Albert S. Duquette.....	1½	...		J. A. Kaehn.....	3	...
68	Cincinnati, O. Charles Bente	3	...	167	Cleveland, O. Ed. McEachern	3
	Charles Gallagher	3	...	171	Rochester, N. Y. Emanuel Koveleski	2½
	Joseph Alge	3	...		Edward A. Dentinger.....	...	2½
69	Galveston, Tex. M. W. Lusk.....	3	...		James Bell	2½
70	Brooklyn, N. Y. Maurice DeYoung.....	3	...	173	Binghamton, N. Y. Michael T. Foley.....	...	3
	Otto Pattberg	3	...
76	Syracuse, N. Y. Steven R. Bishop.....	2½	...	175	Buffalo, N. Y. Patrick J. McGowan.....	2½	...
	Matthew V. Gilbert.....	2½	...		John E. Long.....	2½	...
77	Boston, Mass. John W. Conley.....	3	...	188	Edward L. Ehrman.....	2½	...
	Henry F. Corcoran.....	3	...		Pittsburg, Pa. J. Chas. Hackett.....	3	...
	John C. Hickey.....	3	...		Hugh O'Hare	3	...
	Daniel E. Ford.....	3	...		James W. Clarke.....	3	...
	Thomas Dolan	3	...		Jere F. McCarthy	3	...
79	Louisville, Ky. Fred Schwenker	3	...	196	Buffalo, N. Y. Thomas A. Tarrant.....	2½	...
80	Boston, Mass. Jos. E. Laycock.....	3	...	197	Charles Beyers	2½	...
81	Holyoke, Mass. Thos. J. Durnin.....	1	...	200	Hamilton, Ont., Can. George Hibberd	3
	T. F. Vigneux.....	1	...	203	Hartford, Conn. Frank J. Madden	3
	Thomas Garrity	1	...	204	St. Louis, Mo. Fay Huddleston	2	...
86	Lynn, Mass. John J. Griffin.....	3	...	206	Elmira, N. Y. F. J. Sullivan	1
95	Worcester, Mass. Owen J. Reynolds.....	3	...	207	Ft. Worth, Tex. W. A. Polk	3	...
101	Great Falls, Mont. Lawrence Nelson	3	...	212	Youngstown, O. John J. Graney	3
106	Cleveland, O. Thomas S. Farrell.....	2½	...	220	Eureka, Cal. Mrs. Libbie Messer	1	...
	Arthur F. Just.....	2½	...	221	Dayton, O. J. F. Eichhorn
	Edw. A. Whisemore.....	2½	...	222	Des Moines, Ia. Chester W. McCurdy
	Fred B. Hobby.....	2½	...	223	Erie, Pa. William Kelly
107	Cleveland, O. Kitty Donnelly	3	...	224	Seattle, Wash. Ed. T. Levi
108	Cleveland, O. Michael Goldsmith	3	...	239	Seattle, Wash. Alice M. Lord
	S. T. Brent.....	3	...	240	Seattle, Wash. Ida L. Levi
	John T. Collins	3	...
109	Newark, N. J. A. J. Cozzolino.....	3	...
110	San Francisco, Cal. Matt Williamson	3	...	273	Springfield, Mass. Charles E. Sands
	A. W. Fraser	3	...
	John Kennedy	3	...	274	Marshalltown, Ia. William Sweeney
	J. C. Morris.....	3	...
115	Philadelphia, Pa. John J. McDevitt.....	3	...	280	Toronto, Ont., Can. Arthur E. O'Leary
	Ben Gorton	3	...

Local Number	LOCATION AND NAMES OF DELEGATES	St. Louis	Hoboken	Local Number	LOCATION AND NAMES OF DELEGATES	St. Louis	Hoboken
284	Los Angeles, Cal. F. Sesma	3	...	527	Dubuque, Ia. B. Callahan	2	...
	A. B. Hassel.....	3	...	550	Bakersfield, Cal. J. J. Alldridge.....	3	...
	Geo. Petersen	3	...	558	San Bernardino, Cal J. C. Drysdale.....	1	...
	B. McKone	3	...	559	Ft. Smith, Ark. W. E. Reynolds.....	1	...
286	Peoria, Ill. Oscar Bickerdt	3	...	561	Sacramento, Cal. Stephen P. Drake.....	1½	...
287	St. Paul, Minn. Adam P. Hentges.....	3	...	562	F. E. Merryfield.....	1½	...
292	Wheeling, W. Va. Harry Corcoran	1	...	563	W. C. Eddy.....	1½	...
302	Butte, Mont. John H. Rooney.....	3	...	564	Detroit, Mich. Josh Brady	3	...
312	Chattanooga, Tenn. W. L. Bork.....	1	...	566	Fresno, Cal. Patrick L. Grace.....	2	...
	James Riley	1	...	567	Olympia, Wash. Fred McCallum	1	...
320	Schenectady, N. Y. John J. Henley.....	2	...	572	Stockton, Cal. James Redenbaugh	1	...
332	East St. Louis, Ill. Hunter B. Keith.....	3	...	573	W. P. Burtz.....	1	...
361	Allentown, Pa. John A. Schiffert.....	3	...	574	Springfield, Ill. John P. McGrath.....	3	...
376	South Chicago, Ill. James E. Nelson.....	2	...	575	Duluth, Minn. Frank Bradley	3	...
378	Bakersfield, Cal. W. S. Renfro.....	3	...	577	Jersey City, N. J. Wm. F. Kavanagh.....	1	...
400	Spokane, Wash. A. C. Beck.....	3	...	593	San Jose, Cal. E. H. Lincoln.....	1½	...
402	San Diego, Cal. Claude McClellan	3	...	593	W. A. Price.....	1½	...
403	Stockton, Cal. Larry L. Chase.....	1½	...	603	Minneapolis, Minn. Thos. P. Woods.....	3	...
	Fred Funk	1½	...	603	Sacramento, Cal. Fred Somers	1½	...
	Patsie Taylor	1½	...	603	Jack Reid	1½	...
406	Eureka, Cal. William T. Scully.....	1	...	609	E. N. Fletcher	1½	...
420	Kansas City, Mo. James H. Anderson.....	3	...	631	Great Falls, Mont. Dan F. Shields.....	2	...
	E. L. Hiles	3	...	631	Phoenix, Ariz. Edward J. Warren.....	2	...
	Chas. O. Bailey	3	...	651	Seattle, Wash. V. W. LaBelle.....	3	...
	O. D. Norton	3	...	699	Marysville, Cal. S. E. Keenan.....	1	...
436	Rock Springs, Wyo. J. E. Green.....	1	...	721	Salt Lake City, Utah. Joe Lane	2½	...
437	Indianapolis, Ind. Chas. Specht	3	...	721	A. M. J. Prichard	2½	...
	Timothy Curran	3	...	768	San Diego, Cal. W. A. Powers	1½	...
449	Altôona, Pa. Craig S. Rhodes.....	1	...	800	Earl Hyatt	1½	...
456	Chicago, Ill. Philip Hartman	3	...	815	Lafayette, Ind. Herman Zahn	2	...
458	Minneapolis, Minn. Leslie Sinton	3	...	820	Salt Lake City, Utah Charles McKee	3	...
	Adolph Berger	3	...	827	Sheridan, Wyo. J. F. Gibbons	1	...
484	Chicago, Ill. Elizabeth Maloney	3	...	859	Joplin, Mo. W. Edward Horne	1	...
523	Kenosha, Wis. L. S. Kimball	2	...	863	Billings, Mont. Gus Trenkle	2	...
524	Miles City, Mont. Thos. J. Ryan	1	...	867	Chicago, Ill. Fred Ebeling	2	...
525	Oakland, Cal. Herman Loorz	2½	...	867	Ketchikan, Alaska Michael Doyle	1	...
	Fred W. Bard	2½	...
	Fred C. Schroeder	2½	...

The following delegates were absent at roll-call and not voting: L. Wheeler, Local 180; Rose Jack, Local 180; J. L. Pauley, Local 585; J. C. Feudener, Local 595; Jos. Dushek, Local 744.

The following delegates were reported sick: Nida R. Pangle, Local 335; H. H. Edwards, Local 832.

The following delegate was absent by permission: F. W. Steinkamp, Local 41.

Hickey, Local 77: Mr. President, is it necessary for the President to declare a candidate elected after a roll call ballot has been taken?

President Flore: The Chair does not deem such action necessary. The roll call results indicate who of the candidates are elected. It does not make it more binding to have the Chair make additional announcement.

O'Brien, Local 152: Mr. Chairman, is it not customary to give the obligation to the officers-elect.

President Flore: The officers-elect are the present officers of the International Union. They have been obligated. There is no need for reobligating them that I can see.

Delegate Daniel P. Regan, for the Committee on Convention Arrangements, announces that the banquet to the delegates will take place at the German House at seven o'clock this evening, and urges all delegates to be on time, so that the evening's program can be carried out. The ball takes place immediately after the banquet, and at the German House. Delegates who desire to bring additional guests are privileged to do so. In any event, we want all the delegates and their families to be with us this evening, and we will have an enjoyable evening, I can assure you.

Convention adjourned at 6:15 p. m.

Excused on account of illness—Pangle, Local 335, and Edwards, 832.

FRIDAY MORNING SESSION—JUNE 18, 1915.

Session called to order by General President Flore at 9:25 a. m.

Credential Committee advised that they had nothing to report.

President Flore: The subject pending before the house is the report of the Committee on Delegates to the American Federation of Labor.

Sands, Local 273, opposed the report of the committee and said that our delegates did not represent the sentiments of the rank and file on the eight-hour proposition.

Dodge, Local 44, criticised the action of our delegates to the American Federation of Labor and opposed acceptance of that portion of the committee report relating to the eight-hour question.

Henley, Local 320: I cannot reconcile the view of the previous speakers with the action taken by the convention in re-electing the same delegates as are now being criticised; just what you expect to gain has not been shown.

Levi, Local 239, opposed the report of the committee and called down the delegates from our International Union for their acts in connection with the eight-hour proposal in sufficiently strong expressions to convince said delegates that they did not conduct themselves as he believed they should have done on that important question.

Farrell, Local 106, and Bishop, Local 76, offered a motion that that part of the report of the committee which is not under criticism or dispute, be concurred in and the remainder, dealing with the eight-hour question, be deferred until the Committee on Resolutions makes their report on the Eight-Hour Resolution before them.

Motion was adopted.

James H. Anderson, Local 420, Chairman of the Committee on Defense Fund, presented the following report of his committee:

Report of Committee on Defense Fund:

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., June 18, 1915.

We, the Committee on Defense Fund, desire to submit the following report:

The Committee met with all members of the Committee present, and there being no resolutions referred to our Committee and no requests made for financial contributions from the Defense Fund, the Committee recommends that the General Executive Board be authorized and empowered, in the future as in the past, to make such appropriations from the Defense Fund as they, in their judgment, may deem wise and proper, for the affiliated locals and its members, where sumptuary and inimical legislation is threatened to be enacted, or where our membership is involved in strikes and lockouts. And the Committee further recommends that the General Executive Board be congratulated for its good judgment in handling the defense fund, and that its actions be endorsed by this Eighteenth General Convention assembled.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES H. ANDERSON, Local 420, Kansas City, Mo., Chairman.

A. C. ROSE, Local 30, San Francisco, Cal.

AL. MAYER, Local 35, Chicago, Ill.

JAMES E. NELSON, Local 376, South Chicago, Ill.

L. S. KIMBALL, Local 523, Kenosha, Wis.

FRED C. SCHROEDER, Local 525, Oakland, Cal.

S. E. KEENAN, Local 699, Marysville, Cal.

Committee on Defense Fund.

Motion by Nelson, Local 101, and Shields, Local 609, that the report of the committee be received and concurred in.

Motion adopted.

Paul Steffler, Local 12, Chairman of the Committee on Sick and Death Benefits, read the following report for his committee:

Report of Committee on Sick and Death Benefits:

To the Eighteenth General Convention of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America:

We, your Committee on Sick and Death Benefits, beg leave to submit this, our following report, for your consideration and adoption:

This, the Eighteenth General Convention, has not seen fit to alter or amend our present laws relative to death benefits, and while we believe that the International death benefit should be increased, we realize, however, that such is not possible without an increase of per capita tax to meet the increase.

We heartily endorse and urge our various locals to maintain a local death benefit in addition to the International benefit. In the report of our General Secretary-Treasurer to this convention we find that we have lost, through death, on an average of two members per day since the last convention. This record of those who have passed to the Great Beyond urges us to suggest that our various local unions adopt some method in order to assist the bereaved families of our departed brothers and Sisters.

SICK BENEFITS.

Your committee likewise heartily endorse the maintenance of local sick benefits by local unions, believing that such benefits can best be handled by our local unions, and in compliance with the ruling of the General President that members paying an equal amount of dues should receive an equal amount of benefits, we recommend that local unions create a Sick Benefit Fund, and additional dues be charged those enjoying these benefits.

Fraternally submitted,

PAUL STEFFLER, Local 12, San Antonio, Texas, Chairman.
 CHAS. C. OLSON, Local 31, Oakland, Cal., Secretary.
 J. C. SCOTT, Local 17, Los Angeles, Cal.
 ARTHUR H. DODGE, Local 44, San Francisco, Cal.
 NIDA R. PANGLE, Local 335, Toledo, Ohio.
 CHARLES O. BAILEY, Local 420, Kansas City, Mo.
 THOS. J. RYAN, Local 524, Miles City, Mont.
 EARL HYATT, Local 768, San Diego, Cal.
 JOHN C. HICKEY, Local 77, Boston, Mass.
 JAMES J. O'DONALD, Local 20, St. Louis, Mo.

Committee on Sick and Death Benefits.

Motion by Lyons, Local 51, and Schrempf, Local 51, that the report be accepted and concurred in.

Vice-President Frank Hoffman presiding.

The subject matter of the report was discussed by the following: Griffin, Local 68; Goldsmith, Local 108; Johnson, Local 30; Scott, Local 17, for the committee stated that the recommendations of the committee so far as local union benefits, were purely advisory and not intended to be regarded as an edict from the convention that they must do as the committee recommends.

The matter was further discussed by Delegates Laycock, Local 81; Gigrich, Local 152; Hackett, Local 188; Donnelly, Local 107; Dodge, Local 44; Polk, Local 206, and Specht, Local 437.

The motion was adopted.

Vice-President John W. Connolly presiding.

Chairman Hoffman, Local 152, of the Committee on Law and the Secretary of that Committee, Cozzolino, Local 109, presented the following report:

Resolution No. 17—By W. M. Spear, of Local 27, Los Angeles, Cal.:

Resolved, By the Eighteenth General Convention that Section 24 of the International Constitution be stricken from said Constitution.

Committee recommends non-concurrence of Resolution No. 17.

Motion by Fleischmann, Local 44, and Hiles, Local 420, that the report of the committee be concurred in.

Dodge, Local 44: I am opposed to the report of the committee for any number of reasons, not the least of which is that Section 24 is a provision which retards growth and curbs the rights of members; in this city and State there are a number of clubs and as far as I have been able to see, they are working harmoniously with our members and without friction.

Secretary Sullivan: Will the delegate permit a question?

Dodge, Local 44: Ask anything you like?

Secretary Sullivan: As you are a delegate from a local union which has gone on record in the most positive terms for the fullest enforcement of Section 24, how do you reconcile your views with those held by your local union? Don't you know that your local union, Local 44, is on record for the most complete enforcement of Section 24?

Dodge, Local 44: I don't know of any such action; it is news to me.

Fleischmann, Local 44: Local 44 is on record for the fullest enforcement of Section 24.

Steimer, Local 44: I am astonished that the delegate from our union has no knowledge with reference to the actions of said union. Local 44 is on record and does enforce Section 24.

Lyons, Local 51: I am glad to have the pleasure and privilege of stating on this floor that I am surely in favor of the report of the committee; Section 24 is all right where it is, but what we need is a little more activity among our membership to make that section effective. Pretty much all of the trouble which has occurred in St. Louis for the last decade has been caused by so-called clubs which are in reality dual unions; if you want to see another National body organized in this country all you need do is eliminate Section 24, and you will get your fill of dual unionism.

Canny, Local 44: I am in full accord with the report of the committee; Section 24 has always looked good to me and I would like to see it enforced to the last letter in the section. We have had our experience with clubs and associations which caused us untold annoyance and prevented us from making the progress which we had every reason to look forward to. If this convention desires to help build up many of our locals they will go on record as favoring the revocation of charters of any local union which cooperates with so-called clubs which are in reality dual unions, and I would go still further and order the expulsion of any member who retained membership in such dual unions or so-called clubs. No man can serve two masters, and that is what they must try to accomplish if they retain membership in our unions and these so-called clubs. Yes, Local 44 is on record for the fullest enforcement of Section 24 and not for its elimination from our books of laws.

Scott, Local 17, I am in favor of the report of the committee, but take exceptions to some of the comment made on this floor which seems to unnecessarily criticise my local. Down in the city from whence I come, we have enough and to spare of trouble and a good portion of it has been caused by the invasion of our territory by so-called club members, who seldom prove as good trades unionists down there as they seem to be up in this section of the State.

Kirkpatrick, Local 30: The situation in this city seems to be different than what prevails in other cities. We have three waiters' clubs in this city; we fought them for years and finally we tried out different tactics and have been working harmoniously for quite some time. We have been willing to enforce Section 24 if such enforcement was properly financed; it takes money to do these things and plenty of it.

Fleischmann, Local 44: I know of no question which has so far come before this convention which I am willing to concede is a more important one than the subject up for discussion right now; the report of the committee is the most vital question which has been offered and it behoves every member to give it careful and serious consideration. Any weakening on our part at this time in the enforcement of Section 24 is going to bring us face to face with a condition which will finally resolve itself into chaos. I believe that we are hazarding our future by temporizing in the slightest. We put Section 24 in our book of laws for the purpose of protecting our organization and unless we see to it that the section is lived up to in every respect we are inviting disaster. What is possible for a body of men to do under one roof seems to me is possible for that same body of men to accomplish under another roof and with another title. That bit of wisdom is offered to those who take the view that the unions are unable to reach social pinnacles presumably achieved by so-called clubs. I am in favor of the committee's report, and in favor of making Section 24 a live section for all unions.

McEachern, Local 167: I am glad to see the cooks wake up on this question. Almost every city in the country has one or several so-called clubs and associations, and without exception where they exist we have struggling cooks' unions which are unable to make any great amount of headway. In our city of Cleveland we have clubs too, but mark these words, they are owned and controlled by our unions and are run under the auspices of the unions; such clubs are a big benefit, but the other kind of clubs, these dual unions with high sounding names, are a menace to us and every man who wants to be fair will agree with me on that point. We enforce Section 24 in our city and the good kind Lord help the fellow that tries to play both ends in our town, for we won't help or have anything to do with him, except to advise him to get out of town.

McKee, Local 815: I am heartily in favor of the report submitted by the committee. Section 24 is in the book to stay so far as I am concerned, and I will try and tell you why. When I went to Salt Lake City, Local 815 was almost shot to pieces by clubs which were nothing but dual unions. Local 815 had fought against these clubs, and of course the bosses lined up with the clubs, for as long as the clubs existed they could play one bunch against the other. Our local union had pretty near succeeded in putting these clubs out of business, but a place in our city called the Maxine, which we had fought bitterly, tried out a new move. They sent to San Francisco for a full crew, and before we had got wise to this move, the crew came on and went to work. We investigated and discovered that the crew had been secured through the Pacific Coast Waiters' Association of San Francisco, and every one of that crew admitted that they were also members of Local 30, and they further admitted that they did not try to find out whether the union of Salt Lake had any trouble with the Maxine; their P. C. W. A. just booked them and that was all there was to it.

You can call that getting along harmoniously if you like, but I have another name for that character of work. If there had been no dual unions in San Francisco, these employers would have to do one thing or the other, adjust their difference with the union at Salt Lake, or if they sought to get members from any other organized town the union of that town would have been on the job preventing the sending of men to take our places away from us. I am utterly opposed to waiters' clubs or associations which compete with our unions and as far as I can bring it about, they are going to bid good-bye to the culinary field. That is where I fit and I don't care who knows it.

Parker, Local 35: I was sent to this convention to try and bring about more favorable conditions whereby we could absorb these clubs and in that manner eliminate them from the field as competitors.

It is a big job to enforce Section 24; members will evade its provisions no matter what effort may be made. During the last few months we have been endeavoring to secure the affiliation of over seven hundred culinary workers of our city; we may be successful, in fact look forward to being; we expect the co-operation of the brewery workers of our city to bring the mentioned result about. I am opposed to the report of the committee and am in favor of the resolution as presented.

Doyle, Local 867: I believe the matter has been fully discussed, and I therefore call for the previous question.

A sufficient number of delegates expressing a desire for the main question, it was ordered up by vote of the convention.

The motion to concur in the report of the committee carried.

Your committee has been requested to advise you that the author of Resolution No. 40 desires to withdraw same from further consideration.

President Flore: If there is no objection on the part of any delegate the request will be granted. Hearing no objection, Resolution No. 40 is withdrawn.

Resolution No. 15—By Delegate F. P. Battles, Local 44, San Francisco, Cal.:

A subsidiary amendment to the International constitution relative to (Section 15) covering the United States and its possessions where charters are issued:

"All persons making application in this International of the H. & R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of America in this United States or its possessions, who have not already obtained their first citizen papers, upon being initiated into a local in this United States or its possessions, shall pay one ($1.00) dollar in excess of local's initiation fee, said one ($1.00) dollar to be retained by said local where member was initiated; if said one ($1.00) dollar is not sufficient for cost of securing first citizen papers for said newly-initiated member, then said member will be assessed twenty-five (25) cents per month in excess of all dues and assessments that may be levied on or by said local where member was initiated in this United States or its possessions till the amount has been acquired for the cost of procuring first citizen papers. Such money collected will be permissible to transfer from one local to another when shown to be for said purpose. Upon initiation into a local no member will be compelled to renounce his allegiance to his flag or country, yet his pronounced refusal to obtain his first citizen papers deprives him of being eligible to hold any office in this International or its affiliated locals within the United States or its possessions; he shall also forfeit such money at the expiration of one year except he can show that he has not made his livelihood in the United States or its possessions since the time of his initiation into a local in the United States or any of its possessions. No member's money to be forfeited by monthly suspension from any local in the United States or its possessions for the period of one year. Six months' grace will be granted to members initiated into a local in the United States or its possessions upon proof that they have not made their livelihood in the United States or its possessions, and no further extension of time will be allowed and said member's money is considered forfeited. The secretary of a local in his monthly report shall acquaint the general office of newly-initiated members whose money is deposited in a local for the procuring of first citizen papers. All such money forfeited to be forwarded to the General Executive Board of this International and to be apportioned as follows: Ten per cent of forfeited money to defray the general expenses of this International; five per cent to be deposited in the death benefit fund of this International; eighty-five per cent to be set aside as a fund to be known as a Culinary Union's Home Fund, for the purpose of buying land and thereon build a home for aged and infirm members of culinary crafts who have been in good standing in this International of the H. & R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of America for eighteen consecutive years. Said land, when being purchased, to be voted on by a referendum of the locals of this International." (In conformity with Section 120, International.)

Committee recommends non-concurrence in Resolution No. 15.

Motion by Trenkle, Local 859, and Somers, Local 603, to receive the report and concur in the committee's conclusion.

Delegates Battles, Local 44; Woods, Local 593; Fraser, Local 110; Farrell, Local 106; Hentges, Local 287; O'Leary, Local 280; Hibbard, Local 197; Madden, Local 200; Ehrman, Local 175, and Bell, Local 171, were heard.

The motion prevailed.

Resolution No. 4—By Delegation of Local 106, Cleveland, Ohio:

Be it resolved by this convention of the H. & R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A., that we add to our International Constitution a new section, to be known as Section 14, and to read as follows:

"Members of this International having been in continuous good standing for at least twenty-five years shall thereafter be exempt from further payment of dues and assessments without losing any right or privilege of active membership, even though they should adopt a vocation not covered by the charter of this International."

The committee admit that the thought contained in Resolution No. 4 is excellent, but regard it as premature; they therefore recommend non-concurrence at this time.

Delegates Hobby, Local 106; Just, Local 106; Kaehn, Local 152, and Moroney, Local 147, were heard.

The motion, by McGrath, Local 573, and Garrity, Local 81, to concur in the report of the committee prevailed.

Resolution No. 5—By Delegation of Local 110, San Francisco, Cal.:

To amend Section 88 of the International constitution to read as follows:

"Locals shall be allowed one vote for each delegate. No delegate can cast the vote of a co-delegate under any circumstances.

"There shall be three delegates elected to represent their local in said local joint board."

Committee recommends non-concurrence in Resolution No. 5.

Motion by Sinton, Local 458 and O'Brien, Local 152, to concur in the report of the committee.

Williamson, Local 110; Kennedy, Local 110; Morris, Local 110, were heard. Motion adopted.

Resolution No. 18—By W. M. Spear, of Local 27, Los Angeles, Cal.:

Resolved, That Section 88 be changed to read as follows:

"Locals shall be allowed one vote for each delegate present; no delegate shall cast the vote of a co-delegate under any circumstances; there shall be three delegates elected to represent their local in said local joint executive board."

Committee recommends non-concurrence in Resolution No. 18.

Motion by Taback, Local 30, and Graney, Local 212, to receive and concur in the report of the committee. Motion adopted.

Resolution No. 6—By Delegate Fred Wessel, of Local 8, Denver, Colo.:

Section 64 amended to read as follows: "It shall be mandatory on the part of all affiliated locals to bond their treasurers and other officers who handle funds. Bonds to be procured by the local through the International Secretary-Treasurer. A penalty of ten ($10) dollars shall be imposed on local unions failing to apply to the International Secretary-Treasurer for bonds before installing officers handling funds."

Committee recommends no-concurrence in Resolution No. 6.

Motion by Woods, Local 593, and O'Brien, Local 152, that the report of the committee be concurred in.

The proposal was discussed by Wessel, Local 8; Bente, Local 68; Kleinman, Local 1; Cordes, Local 20; Levi, Local 33, and Secretary Sullivan.

The motion was adopted.

Resolution No. 7—By Delegation of Local 525, Oakland, Cal.:

There is hereby added to the constitution a new section to be numbered Section 178 and to read as follows:

"Section 178. The rights and powers not delegated to the International Union by this constitution, nor prohibited by it to the locals or the members of the International Union, are reserved to the locals and to the members respectively."

Committee recommends non-concurrence in Resolution No. 7.

Motion by Hiles, Local 420, and Norton, Local 420, that report of the committee be accepted and concurred in.

The following delegates discussed the proposal: Johnson, Local 30; Cozzolino, Local 109; Chase, Local 403; Farrell, Local 106; Olson, Local 31; Levi, Local 239; Hassel, Local 284.

A standing vote was called for on the motion. The vote to adopt the report of the committee was 127; opposed to the report were 31.

The motion was adopted.

Resolution No. 8—By Delegation of Local 525, Oakland, Cal.:

Section 144 of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Section 144. A copy of the official Journal shall be sent to each member of the International Union, and the secretary of each local shall be required to send the names and addresses of all the members of his local to the General Secretary-Treasurer every six months so that every member shall receive a copy of the Journal whenever issued, but this provision shall not be construed to authorize the Secretary-Treasurer to refuse or neglect to forward a copy of the Journal to every member at the expiration of said period of six months upon the failure of the Secretary of the local to furnish the names and addresses herein required; provided, however, that the Secretary-Treasurer shall have authority at any time to cease forwarding a copy of the Journal to a member after receiving notice from the Postal Department that mail cannot for any reason be delivered to such address. A bound volume of the MIXER AND SERVER shall be sent to each local annually; it shall be mandatory for locals to purchase same."

Committee recommends non-concurrence of Resolution No. 8.

Motion by Hassel, Local 284, and Peterson, Local 284, that the report of the committee be concurred in.

The following delegates discussed the subject before the house: Johnson, Local 30; Whissemore, Local 106; Nelson, Local 101; Henley, Local 320; Price, Local 577; Somers, Local 603; Lane, Local 721; Doyle, Local 867; Hackett, Local 188, and Secretary Sullivan.

Farrell, Local 116: I call for the previous question.

A sufficient number agreeing the convention by vote ordered the previous question before the convention.

The motion to adopt the report of the committee carried.

Time for adjournment having arrived the convention adjourned at 12:20 noon.

The following delegates were absent from Friday morning session (June 18th):

J. J. O'Donald, Local 20; F. E. Plate, Local 41; L. Wheeler, Local 180; R. Jack, Local 180; J. E. Nelson, Local 376; C. S. Rhodes, Local 449; F. W. Bard, Local 525; J. C. Drysdale, Local 558; W. P. Burtz, Local 572; J. L. Pauley, Local 585.

Delegates reported sick: N. R. Pangle, Local 335; H. H. Edwards, Local 832.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON SESSION, JUNE 18, 1915.

Afternoon session called to order by General President Flore at 2:15.

Credential Committee had no report to offer.

Secretary Cozzolino for the Committee on Law continued the report for that committee. We found it necessary to divide Resolution No. 23, making one No. 23-A" and the other No. 23-B."

Resolution No. 23-A"—By Delegate A. B. Hassel, Local 284, Los Angeles, Cal.:

To amend Section No. 9 by making same read as follows:

"All applicants for membership to this International Union shall be required to pass an examination, both as to qualification and character.

"It shall be mandatory upon all locals to file with the General Office a copy of said examination.

"Any local failing to comply with the provisions of this section shall be fined the sum of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00), said fine to be paid into the defense fund of the International Union."

Committee believes that present laws are ample to care for the matter, therefore recommend non-concurrence.

Motion by Drysdale, Local 558, and Schroeder, Local 525, to adopt the report of the committee.

Hassel, Local 284, opposes report of committee and urges adoption of the resolution.

The motion was adopted.

Resolution No. 23-B"—By A. B. Hassel, Local 284, Los Angeles, Cal.:

To amend Section 15 by adding the following paragraph:

"Failure to do so, in compliance with the laws governing citizenship, shall be deemed good and sufficient cause for cancellation of membership, and he shall be recorded as a suspended member until such time as he shall comply with said laws as hereinbefore mentioned."

Making section read:

"Every member, not a citizen by birth or naturalization, coming from countries other than covered by the name and charter of this International Union, shall be held to make his declaration of intention to become a citizen and perfect his naturalization as soon as he is entitled thereto; failure to do so, in compliance with the laws governing citizenship, shall be deemed good and sufficient cause for cancellation of membership, and he shall be recorded as a suspended member until such time as he shall comply with said laws as hereinbefore mentioned."

Your committee considered both of these resolutions together, and the same conclusion is advanced for both. In other words, we believe present laws are ample for all purposes, and, therefore, recommend non-concurrence.

Motion by Nelson, Local 376, and Reynolds, Local 559, to adopt the committee's report. Motion carried. Hassel recorded as voting No.

Resolution No. 26—By Delegate Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.:

To eliminate Section 89 and to substitute in its place the following:

"Section 89. It shall be mandatory on the part of a Local Joint Executive Board in a city to hold a meeting at least once a month; failure to so meet to be punishable as provided for in Section 97."

Your committee recommends concurrence in Resolution 26.

Motion by Koveleski, Local 171, and McEachern, Local 167, that the report be adopted. Delegates Cordes, Local 20; Wright, Local 31; Gallagher, Local 68; Dolan, Local 77, and Levi, Local 33, were heard.

The motion was adopted.

Resolution No. 27—By Delegate Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.:

To amend Section 69 and add thereto the following:

"Failure to return the said coupon within the time specified shall be punishable by a fine of $5.00."

Your committee recommends concurrence in Resolution 27.

Motion by Durnin, Local 81, and O'Leary, Local 280, to adopt the report of the committee.

Delegates Nelson, Local 101; McGowan, Local 175; Anderson, Local 420, and Sweeney, Local 274, discussed the proposal.

The motion was adopted.

Resolution No. 48—By Delegate Craig S. Rhodes, Local 449, Altoona, Pa.:

The following Amendment to Section 84 is respectfully submitted:

The holder of a withdrawal card, wishing to become an active member, and the Local that issued said card being out of existence for any cause whatever, shall apply to the International and become a member at large; the same conditions to apply as if depositing it with the Local that issued it, should said Local be in existence.

Your committee recommends concurrence in Resolution No. 48.

Motion by McGowan, Local 175, and Henley, Local 320, that the report of the committee be concurred in.

Delegates Beck, Local 400; Dentinger, Local 171; Kelly, Local 224; Levi, Local 239; Lincoln, Local 577; Berger, Local 458, and Scully, Local 406, were heard.

The motion carried.

Resolution No. 50—By Delegate John J. Griffin, Local 86, Lynn, Mass.:

To be added to Section 84, known as paragraph A:

That any member applying for a liquor license in a city or town, and having a withdrawal card from some other city or town other than the one he is applying for license in, must be transferred to the city or town he is applying for license in, and a withdrawal card obtained therein if applied for.

Committee recommends non-concurrence in Resolution No. 50.

Motion by Farrell, Local 106, and Goldsmith, Local 108, to adopt the report of the committee.

Delegates Griffin, Local 86; Taback, Local 30; Sorweid, Local 64; Condrotte, Local 41; Loorz, Local 525, and Hartnett, Local 134, were heard.

The motion was adopted.

Resolution No. 28—By Delegate Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.:

To amend Section 17 to read as follows:

"Any member who brings the internal affairs of his Local or the International Union before the public shall, upon being found guilty by his Local or the International Union, be fined, suspended or expelled."

Your committee recommends concurrence in Resolution No. 28.

Motion by Shields, Local 609, and Nelson, Local 101, to adopt the report of the committee.

Delegates Hibbard, Local 31; Schott, Local 20; Hale, Local 2; Sheehan, Local 10, and Lusk, Local 69, were heard.

The motion was adopted.

Resolution No. 29—By Delegate Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.:

To add to Section 64, to be known as Section 64 (a):

"It shall be mandatory for a Treasurer of a Local Union to deposit in a bank designated by the Local Union all moneys in excess of $25.00; the same shall be deposited in the name of the Local Union, and can not be withdrawn except by check signed by the President and Treasurer of the Local Union."

Your committee recommends concurrence in Resolution No. 29.

Motion by Patberg, Local 70, and Hale, Local 2, to adopt the report of the committee.

Amendment by Taback, Local 30, and Sands, Local 273, that the amount be made to read $50.00.

Delegates Taback, Local 30; Koveleski, Local 171; Cozzolino, Local 109; Levi, Local 33; Steimer, Local 44; Ford, Local 77; Gibbons, Local 820; Fletcher, Local 603; Powers, Local 768; Trenkle, Local 859; Chase, Local 403, and Clarke, Local 188, were heard.

The amendment was lost. The motion carried.

Resolution No. 30—By Delegate Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.:

To amend Section 102 by adding thereto the following:

"He shall have power to designate a member or members of the General Executive Board to do special work when, in his judgment the conditions warrant their services; they shall receive the same rate of pay as International Organizers while so employed."

We, your committee, submit the following substitute for the above Resolution No. 30 and recommend its adoption:

The substitute: To amend Section 102 by adding thereto the following:

"He shall have power to designate a member or members of the General Executive Board on special work in cases of emergency and where immediate action is necessary. They shall receive the same rate of pay as International Organizers while so employed."

Motion by Lehman, Local 1, and Kleinman, Local 1, that the recommendation and report of the committee be adopted as read.

The motion prevailed.

Resolution No. 31—By Delegate Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.:

To amend Section 102 by adding thereto the following:

"In the case of charges against a member or members by a member or members of another local or locals, such charges shall be filed in duplicate (preferably typewritten) with the General President, who shall review the case and render judgment in accordance with the facts presented. His decision shall be enforced, subject to an appeal to the General Executive Board."

"He shall have authority to enforce discipline upon local unions and members thereof which violate the International Constitution and to render judgment on cases appealed to him."

Your committee recommends concurrence in Resolution No. 31.

Motion by Kavanagh, Local 575, and McGowan, Local 175, to adopt the report of the committee.

Delegates Johnson, Local 30; McDevitt, Local 115; Hopper, Local 48, and Conley, Local 77, were heard.

The motion was adopted.

Resolution No. 32—By Delegate Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.: To amend Section 87 by adding thereto the following:

"Except in the case of expulsion."

The section as amended to read:

"If an appeal is taken, the judgment shall not be enforced until the appeal has been acted upon by the General Executive Board; except in the case of expulsion."

Your committee recommends concurrence in Resolution No. 32.

Motion by Graney, Local 212, and Farrell, Local 106, to adopt the report of the committee. Delegates Parker, Local 35; Canny, Local 44; Ringler, Local 20, and Schwenker, Local 79, were heard.

The motion was adopted.

Resolution No. 33—By Delegate Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.:

To amend Section 168, paragraph four, to read as follows:

"In no case shall a fine of more than Twenty-five Dollars be assessed upon an individual member, nor more than One Dollar per capita upon any local union."

Your committee recommends concurrence in Resolution No. 33.

Motion by O'Brien, Local 152, and Kaehn, Local 152, to adopt the report as submitted by the committee.

Delegates Chapman, Local 30; Raleigh, Local 67; Dahl, Local 48; Hickey, Local 77; Bickerdt, Local 286; Bailey, Local 420, and Steffler, Local 12, were heard.

The motion was adopted.

Resolution No. 34—By Delegate Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.:

To add to Section 64, to be known as Section 64 (b):

"It is compulsory for all local unions to make an audit of their books quarterly (quarters ending March 31st, June 30th, September 30th and December 31st), and to file a copy of the said audit with the General President within thirty days after the expiration of each quarter."

Your committee recommends concurrence in Resolution No. 34.

Motion by Schwenker, Local 79, and Bente, Local 68, to adopt the report of the committee.

Delegates Griffin, Local 86; Levi, Local 239; Joyce, Local 3; Hackett, Local 188; Goldsmith, Local 108; Sullivan, Local 204; Madden, Local 200; Maloney, Local 484; Sesma, Local 284; Vigneux, Local 81; Morris, Local 110; Ernst, Local 30; Canny, Local 44; Levi, Local 33; Dwyer, Local 67, and Grace, Local 566, were heard.

The motion carrying the recommendation of the committee was adopted.

Resolution No. 35—By Delegate Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.:

To amend Section 50 to read as follows:

"Any officer or member who makes false returns to the General Headquarters knowingly shall be tried by the General President, and, if proven guilty, shall be fined, suspended or expelled from the International Union, subject to an appeal to the General Executive Board.

Your committee recommends concurrence in Resolution No. 35.

Motion by Sullivan, Local 204, and Kleinman, Local 1, that the report of the committee be concurred in.

Delegates Clarke, Local 188; Hoffman, Local 152; Farrell, Local 106; Peterson, Local 284, and Redenbaugh, Local 572, were heard.

The motion was adopted.

Resolution No. 36—By Delegate Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.:

To amend Section 68 to read as follows:

"The holder of a traveling card shall be held to deposit said card on or before the expiration of sixty days from date of issue. Failure to comply shall be punishable by a fine not to exceed $5.00."

Your committee recommends concurrence in Resolution No. 38.

Motion by De Young, Local 70, and Pattberg, Local 70, that report of committee be concurred in.

Delegates Griffin, Local 86; Gallagher, Local 68; Reid, Local 603; Joyce, Local 3; Lyons, Local 51; Blumenthal, Local 17; Ringler, Local 20; Drake, Local 561; Nelson, Local 101; Shields, Local 609; Hale, Local 2; Pattberg, Local 70; McGowan, Local 175; Butler, Local 43; Mayer, Local 35; Zimmerman, Local 41; De Young, Local 70; Fleischmann, Local 44; Sweeney, Local 274; Renfro, Local 378, and Kavanagh, Local 575, were heard.

The motion prevailed.

Resolution No. 37—By Delegate Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.:

To amend Section 62 (c) by adding thereto the following:

"No local union shall exact a fee in excess of $50.00."

Your committee recommends concurrence in Resolution No. 37.

Motion by Koveleski, Local 171, and McGowan, Local 175, to adopt the report of the committee.

Delegates Rooney, Local 302; Anderson, Local 420; Conley, Local 77; Farrell, Local 116, and Wessell, Local 8, were heard.

The motion was adopted.

Resolution No. 38—By Delegate Emanuel Koveleski, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.:

To amend Section 34 to read as follows:

"All locals shall send to the General President a copy of their Constitution and By-Laws and all amendments thereto for his approval."

Your committee recommends concurrence in Resolution No. 38.

Motion by McGowan, Local 175, and Nelson, Local 101, that the report of the committee be adopted.

Sheehan, Local 10: Does that mean, Mr. President, that if my local union adopts an amendment to our laws that a copy must be sent to the General President for consideration and approval?

President Flore: That is the purpose of the proposal before the convention.

The motion was adopted.

Resolution No. 1—By Delegate Thomas P. Woods, Local 593, Minneapolis, Minn.:

To strike out Section 18 and insert a new section, to read as follows:

Section 18. A member suspended for non-payment of dues may be re-admitted to any local of his craft upon the payment of the reinstatement fee of the local under whose jurisdiction he may be working.

Provided that all fines or assessments have been paid to the local by which he was suspended.

The local that suspends him to be notified at the time when application was made for re-admission.

The committee recommends non-concurrence in Resolution No. 1.

Motion by Foster, Local 37, and Bishop, Local 76, to receive and adopt the findings of the committee.

Woods, Local 593, discusses the proposal and opposes the report of the committee.

The motion was adopted.

Resolution No. 2—By Delegate Thomas P. Woods, Local 593, Minneapolis, Minn.:

Amend Section 22, Paragraph "A" by striking out the words "suspended or" after the word "member," and the words "suspended or" after the word "was."

Amended paragraph to read as follows:

Section 22, Paragraph "A." Any member expelled from any local is ineligible to membership in any other local of this International, except by consent of the local by which he was expelled.

The committee recommends non-concurrence in Resolution No. 2.

Motion by Keenan, Local 699, and Sheehan, Local 10, to adopt the report of the committee.

Delegates Woods, Local 593; Keith, Local 332, and Brady, Local 562, were heard.

Motion adopted.

Resolution No. 3—By Delegate Thomas P. Woods, Local 593, Minneapolis, Minn.:

Amend Section 23 by striking out the words "suspended or" after the word "admitting."

Amended section to read as follows:

Section 23. The names of all suspended or expelled members must be reported to the General Secretary; locals admitting expelled members must, on being notified thereof, suspend such members until full investigation has been made or stand suspended by the International Union.

The committee recommends non-concurrence in Resolution No. 3.

Motion by Parker, Local 35, and Koveleski, Local 171, to adopt the report of the committee.

Delegates McClellan, Local 402; Sinton, Local 458; Riley, Local 312; Hassel, Local 284; Callahan, Local 527; Hiles, Local 420; Corcoran, Local 77, and Dodge, Local 44, were heard.

The motion prevailed.

Resolution No. 9—By Delegation of Local 31, Oakland, Cal.:

Section 176 of the constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Section 176. All laws, rules and regulations, or parts thereof, in conflict with this constitution shall be null and void in so far as they conflict."

Referred to Committee on Law.

Your committee recommends non-concurrence in Resolution No. 9.

Motion by Parker, Local 35, and Farrell, Local 106, that the report of the committee be concurred in.

Delegates Johnson, Local 30; Hosking, Local 31; Sands, Local 273; Kirkpatrick, Local 30; Rose, Local 30; Dahl, Local 48; Battles, Local 44; Pomeroy, Local 62; Griffin, Local 86; Garrity, Local 81; Madden, Local 200; Cozzolino, Local 109; Green, Local 436; McKee, Local 815, and Warren, Local 631, were heard.

The motion was adopted.

Resolution No. 49—By Delegate James E. Nelson, Local 376, South Chicago, Ill.:

To add the following, to be known as paragraph B, to Section 10:

"No member of this International Union who is holding a steady position with any corporation shall be allowed to work at any of our crafts at one and the same time."

Your committee offer the following substitute for Resolution No. 49 and recommend its adoption:

Substitute for Resolution No. 49:

"To amend Section No. 10 to read:

"Section 10. No member of our International Union holding a steady position other than covered by the jurisdiction of our International, shall be allowed to work at any of our allied crafts at one and the same time."

Motion by McGowan, Local 175, and Lehman, Local 1, that the substitute offered by the committee for Resolution No. 49 be concurred in.

Delegates Nelson, Local 376; Maloney, Local 484; Ebeling, Local 865; Lane, Local 721;

Doyle, Local 867; Zahn, Local 800; Dushek, Local 744; Somers, Local 603; Specht, Local 437, and Hartman, Local 456, were heard.

The substitute offered by the committee was adopted.

Resolution No. 55—By Delegates H. Cordes, George Ringler, C. Schott and James J. O'Donnell, Local 20, St. Louis, Mo.:

Be It Resolved, By the Eighteenth General Convention of the H. and R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A., that Section 63 be amended by striking out everything after the word "all" in the first line, and insert the following:

Male members shall pay the minimum sum of $1 per month, and all female members shall pay the minimum sum of 75 cents per month as dues to their local."

Your committee offer the following substitute for Resolution No. 55 and recommend its adoption:

Substitute for Resolution No. 55 to amend Section 63:

"Section 63. All male members of local unions shall pay as dues not less than 75 cents per month, and all female members not less than 50 cents per month."

Motion by Law Committee that the report as submitted be concurred in.

Delegates Maloney, Local 484; Donnelly, Local 107; McKee, Local 815; Parker, Local 35; Lyons, Local 51; Henley, Local 320; Lord, Local 240; Mayer, Local 50; Connelly, Local 77; Nelson, Local 101; Keith, Local 332; Wiesemann, Local 51; Scott, Local 17; Hopper, Local 48; Messer, Local 220; Chapman, Local 30; Lehman, Local 1; McGowan, Local 175; Chase, Local 403; Beck, Local 400; Gallagher, Local 68; Sullivan, Local 204; Farrell, Local 106; Huddleston, Local 203, and Graney, Local 212, were heard.

Substitute was lost.

Resolution No. 55 adopted as originally presented.

Delegates Chapman, Local 30; McGowan, Local 175, and Lehman, Local 1, voted "No" on Resolution No. 55.

Resolution No. 10—By Delegation of Local 31, Oakland, Cal.:

There is hereby added to the constitution a new section, to be numbered Section 177, and to read as follows:

"Section 177. Nothing contained in this constitution shall be held to limit the authority of the International Union and the members thereof, with the sanction of the American Federation of Labor, to change or alter the name, jurisdiction, form or manner of organization and affiliation of the constituted crafts, locals and members of the International Union."

Your committee recommends non-concurrence in Resolution No. 10.

Motion by Koveleski, Local 171, and McGowan, Local 175, that the report of the committee be concurred in.

Delegates Johnson, Local 30; Levi, Local 239; O'Hare, Local 188; Kelly, Local 224; Bente, Local 68; Ernst, Local 30; Wright, Local 31; Regan, Local 41; Just, Local 106; Bell, Local 171; Tarrant, Local 196; Fraser, Local 110; Baird, Local 51; Gardner, Local 48; Hollingsworth, Local 33, and Taback, Local 30, were heard.

Standing vote called for. Result of the vote was: In favor of the report of the committee, 126; opposed to the report of the committee, 36.

The committee's report was adopted.

Resolution No. 11—By Delegate Michael H. Canny, Local 44, San Francisco, Cal.:

To amend Section 43 to read:

"Section 43. Cooks' locals, or mixed locals where cooks have no separate local, shall have jurisdiction over lunchmen, oystermen and steam-tablemen, regardless of whether such work is in a kitchen or dining room."

The committee recommends non-concurrence in Resolution No. 11.

Motion by De Young, Local 70, and Hale, Local 2, to adopt the report of the committee.

Delegates Canny, Local 44; McEachern, Local 167; Levi, Local 239; Steimer, Local 44; Nelson, Local 101; McKee, Local 815; Parker, Local 35; Ebeling, Local 865; Whissemore, Local 106; Chapman, Local 30; Levi, Local 33; Beck, Local 400; Kleinman, Local 1; Sheehan, Local 10; Kavanagh, Local 575; Woods, Local 593; Goldsmith, Local 108; Renfro, Local 378; Alldridge, Local 550; Redenbaugh, Local 572; Taback, Local 30; Fleischmann, Local 44; Taylor, Local 403, and Powers, Local 768, were heard.

The previous question was called for by Loorz, Local 525, and a sufficient number of delegates responded. The main question was ordered.

The motion adopting the report of the committee carried.

Resolution No. 12—By Delegate Michael H. Canny, of Local 44, San Francisco, Cal.:

To amend Section 83 to read as follows:

"Section 83. Whenever a member of the International Union becomes a proprietor, he may retain membership in a local, provided that he does not attach himself to any organization known as a proprietor's organization. The payment of dues to locals by proprietors shall be left to the discretion of the locals. Any member of a local whose name is attached to any license where the sale of liquor transpires is a proprietor. Proprietors working at the trade shall be entitled to all the rights of the local union of which they are members, except that they shall not be eligible to election either as delegates to the convention or to any office within the gift of a local union. Proprietors not working at the trade shall have neither voice nor vote, nor hold office of any kind."

The committee recommends non-concurrence in Resolution No. 12.

Motion by Baird, Local 51, and Lyons, Local 51, to accept and concur in the report of the committee.

Canny, Local 44; Callahan, Local 527; Curran, Local 437; Schiffert, Local 361; Funk, Local 403; Sesma, Local 284; McGrath, Local 573; Somers, Local 603; Drake, Local 561; Greene, Local 436; Eichhorn, Local 222; Adamack, Local 240; Long, Local 175; Laycock, Local 80; Hoffman, Local 152; Griffin, Local 86; Alge, Local 68; Condrotte, Local 41, and Conley, Local 77, were heard.

The motion was adopted.

Resolution No. 13—By Delegate Michael H. Canny, Local 44, San Francisco, Cal.:

A resolution to abolish withdrawal cards.

WHEREAS, The system of withdrawal cards is being constantly violated and constitutes a ready means for the evasion of our laws; and

WHEREAS, Those who do not work at the business may readily become reinstated upon becoming subject to the jurisdiction of the International Union, and there is no particular hardship in enforcing such a system of reinstatement to take the place of withdrawal cards; therefore be it

Resolved, That Sections 77, 78, 81, 82 and 84 be and are hereby repealed.

The committee recommends non-concurrence in Resolution No. 13.

Motion by Cordes, Local 20, and McGowan, Local 175, that the report of the committee be adopted.

Delegates Molleda, Local 48; Duquette, Local 67; Steinkamp, Local 41; Givens, Local 14; Olson, Local 31; Polk, Local 206; Levi, Local 240; McKone, Local 284; Specht, Local 437; Kimball, Local 523, and Reynolds, Local 559, were heard.

The motion was adopted.

Resolution No. 14—By Delegate Michael H. Canny, Local 44, San Francisco, Cal.:

Resolved, To amend Section 7 of the constitution relative to allowance of member's dues for securing of applications.

Resolved, That paragraph B of Section 7 be and is hereby repealed.

Your committee recommends concurrence in Resolution No. 14.

Motion by Schott, Local 20, and Ringler, Local 20, that the report of the committee be adopted.

Delegates Canny, Local 44; Hentges, Local 287; Henley, Local 320, and Baird, Local 51, were heard.

The motion was adopted.

Canny, Local 44, tendered thanks to the committee and convention for approving one measure of the several which he had presented.

President Flore: As you have ordered a night session, the time for adjournment is at hand. But before closing, let me urge every delegate to be here this evening. Possibly, if you try to co-operate with us, we will be able to finish our business before noon Saturday.

The convention stands adjourned until 7:30 o'clock this evening.

Adjourned at 5:30 p. m.

The following delegates were absent from the Friday afternoon session (June 18th)—L. Wheeler, Local 180; R. Jack, Local 180; C. W. McCurdy, Local 223; C. S. Rhodes, Local 449; F. W. Bard, Local 525; F. E. Merryfield, Local 561; W. P. Burtz, Local 572; J. L. Pauley, Local 585; J. C. Feudner, Local 595.

Delegates reported sick—N. Pangle, Local 335; H. H. Edwards, Local 832.

FRIDAY EVENING SESSION, JUNE 18, 1915.

Evening session called to order at 8:00 p. m., General President Flore presiding.

Credentials Committee, nothing to report.

Committee on Law continues their report as follows:

Resolution No. 16—By Delegation of Local 30, San Francisco, Cal.

To amend Section 76 to read as follows:

"Section 76. When a traveling member deposits his card before the seventh day of any month, the dues of such member for said month shall belong to the local accepting the card, and such dues if already paid and other dues if paid in advance, shall be remitted to said local upon demand therefor being made under seal to the local which is in possession of such dues."

Committee recommends non-concurrence in Resolution No. 16.

Motion made by Sinton, Local 458, and Berger, Local 458, that the report of the committee be accepted and concurred in.

Delegates Schott, Local 20; Taback, Local 30; Rose, Local 30; Ford, Local 77, and Abbott, Local 38, were heard.

Motion was adopted.

Resolution No. 19—By Delegate Edward Levi, Local 239, Seattle, Wash.:

WHEREAS, The women workers of this country are getting into the industry in ever-increasing numbers, and it appears will be the only workers left in our crafts in the near future, principally on account of the difference in the wage scales; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the following become one of our Constitutional laws:

"That the wage scale of the women cooks and the waitresses be no less than 90 per cent of the scales for cooks and waiters in their respective localities."

Committee recommends non-concurrence in Resolution No. 19.

Motion made by Joyce, Local 3, and Kleinman, Local 1, that the report of the committee be accepted and approved.

Delegates Levi, Local 239; Hopper, Local 48; Maloney, Local 484; Lord, Local 240; Molleda, Local 48; Donnelly, Local 107; McEachern, Local 167; Sesma, Local 284, and Beck, Local 400, were heard.

Motion to accept committee's report was carried.

Resolution No. 21—By Delegate Chas. F. Fleischmann, Local 44, San Francisco, Cal.:

To amend Section 99 by adding the words "an Assistant Secretary" immediately after the word "Secretary-Treasurer."

Committee recommends non-concurrence in Resolution No. 21.

Motion by Goldsmith, Local 108, and Koveleski, Local 171, that the report of the committee be accepted and concurred in.

Fleischmann, Local 44, discussed the proposition.

The motion was adopted.

Your committee begs leave to submit the following recommendations:

Recommendation No. 1: That the General Secretary be given power to employ competent assistants at headquarters.

Motion by Corcoran, Local 77, and Cordes, Local 20, that the recommendation of the committee be concurred in.

Motion was adopted.

Recommendation No. 2: That application blanks shall show that the applicants are citizens and that proper blank lines be provided showing date of applicant's arrival in this country, date of his first papers and such information as is deemed necessary to determine the applicant's status as a voter.

Motion by Alge, Local 68, and Hickey, Local 77, to concur in the recommendation of the committee.

The subject matter was discussed by Taback, Local 30; Hosking, Local 31, and Lehman, Local 1.

The motion was adopted.

Recommendation No. 3: That Section 90 be amended by adding the words, "as per Section 169."

President Flore—Inasmuch as the proposal of the committee contemplates a change in the laws of our organization, sanction of the convention by a two-thirds vote is necessary before the proposition can be given further consideration.

Sanction of the convention is given for the further consideration of the committee

Recommendation No. 3.

Motion by Stewart, Local 14, and Gorton, Local 115, to adopt the committee's recommendation.

The motion was concurred in.

Recommendation No. 4: That Section 115 be amended by striking out the words, "and no more than two organizers shall be selected from any one state, territory or province, where this International has subordinate locals."

President Flore—The recommendation of the committee being similar to the previous one and contemplates changing our laws, the necessary two-thirds vote will be required before further action can be taken.

The required two-thirds votes having been given, motion was made by McCarthy, Local 188, and Schiffert, Local 361, that the recommendation of the committee be concurred in.

The proposal was discussed by Chase, Local 403; Anderson, Local 420; Hassel, Local 284, and Taback, Local 30.

The motion was adopted.

Recommendation No. 5: To change the figures 200 to 225 in Section 102, page 20 of the International Constitution.

President Flore—Inasmuch as the recommendation of the committee contemplates changing our laws, it will be necessary to secure a two-thirds vote before further consideration can be given the recommendation.

By vote of the convention the proposal is accepted.

Motion by Lyons, Local 51, and Kavanagh, Local 575, that the recommendation of the committee be concurred in.

Motion was adopted.

Recommendation No. 6: To change the figures 225 to 250 in Section 104, on page 21, of the International Constitution.

President Flore—This proposal is similar to the previous one and contemplates changing our laws, therefore a two-thirds vote is necessary before further consideration can be given to it by this convention.

By vote of the convention, the proposal is accepted for consideration.

Motion by O'Leary, Local 280, and Renfro, Local 378, that the recommendation of the committee be concurred in.

Motion was adopted.

Recommendation No. 7: To change the word eight to ten, also the figures in Section 133 on page 27 of the International Constitution.

This concludes the report of the Committee on Law.

FRANK HOFFMAN, Local 152, Minneapolis, Minn., Chairman.

WILLIAM LEHMAN, Local 1, New York, N. Y.

JAMES N. BUTLER, Local 43, Pueblo, Colo.

ALFRED E. STEIMER, Local 44, San Francisco, Cal.

ROBERT LYONS, Local 51, St. Louis, Mo.

CHARLES SORWEID, Local 64, Milwaukee, Wis.

EDMUND RALEIGH, Local 67, Springfield, Mass.

THOMAS J. DURNIN, Local 81, Holyoke, Mass.

MICHAEL GOLDSMITH, Local 108, Cleveland, Ohio.

A. J. COZZOLINO, Local 109, Newark, N. J., Secretary.

ED MCEACHERN, Local 167, Cleveland, Ohio.

FRANK MADDEN, Local 200, Hartford, Conn.

IDA L. LEVI, Local 240, Seattle, Wash.

ARTHUR O'LEARY, Local 280, Toronto, Ont.

WILLIAM F. KAVANAGH, Local 575, Jersey City, N. J.

CHARLES MCKEE, Local 815, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Committee on Law.

President Flore—The last proposal, like its predecessor, contemplates changing our laws and requires a two-thirds vote of the convention before it can be further considered.

By vote of the convention, the proposal was accepted.

Motion by Rooney, Local 302, and Bradley, Local 574, that the recommendation of the committee be concurred in.

Motion was carried.

Delegates Scott, Local 17, and Levi, Local 239, desired to be recorded as voting "No."

Delegate Farrell, Local 106, and McEachern, Local 167, offered a motion that the Committee on Law be excused from further labors and that for fine service well rendered, they be given a vote of thanks.

The motion was adopted by a rising vote.

Robert B. Hesketh, Local 33, chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, and Joseph Laycock, Local 80, secretary of the same committee presented the following report:

Resolution No. 22—By Delegate A. B. Hassel, Local 284, Los Angeles, Cal.:

WHEREAS, At various times it becomes necessary to hold funeral services over the remains of our departed brothers and sisters at the home, or chapel, as well as the grave; and,

WHEREAS, It is not in conformity with the progress of our institution to have any duplication in any of our work; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the incoming General Executive Board be and is hereby instructed to draft suitable services to be held at the home or chapel, in addition to the services already in our Ritual.

Committee recommends that, inasmuch as our present Ritual covers the subject pretty thoroughly, and can be added to by locals if they so desire, that we recommend to not concur in Resolution No. 22.

Motion by McDonnell, Local 134, and Farrell, Local 116, to concur in the report of the committee.

Motion adopted.

On Resolution No. 58 your committee recommend to amend, by striking out the word "all" in the second line of the first whereas, and the striking out of the words "all these" in the third line of the resolve, and insert the word "those," thus making it read as follows:

Resolution No. 58—By Delegates L. Sinton and A. Berger, Local 458, Minneapolis, Minn.:

From the N. W. Cooks' Association, Local 458, Minneapolis, Minn.

We have noted in all the large cities of this country an increase of religious, fraternal, and other societies, entering the catering industry, and they do not recognize our crafts or union conditions, and in nearly every one they have a number of the members that donate their services, in that way being in direct competition with our crafts and all proprietors in the catering industry.

WHEREAS, We have found these same societies opposed to the States legislatures to measures that we present for our interest and welfare, as well as the public at large; therefore, be it.

Resolved, That the Eighteenth General Convention of the H. and R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A., in convention assembled, urge all locals to start an active campaign against those societies who enter the catering industry and do not employ our crafts and grant union conditions.

The committee recommends its adoption as it now reads.

Motion by Hale, Local 2, and Kleinman, Local 1, to adopt the recommendation of the committee.

Delegates Berger and Sinton of Local 458 were heard.

The motion was adopted by a vote of 89 to 37.

On Resolution No. 47 we recommend the amendment of same by striking out the words "and the licensing of all persons cooking and preparing food," and as so amended we recommend concurrence. The resolution, with the amendment suggested in operation, to read:

Resolution No. 47—By Delegates L. Linton and A. Berger, Local 458, Minneapolis, Minn.:

WHEREAS, Ever since fire was discovered somebody played the part of a cook, and today the culinary art is recognized as one of the greatest professions, we regret so little attention is paid to the sanitary conditions of the quarters wherein cooks are obliged to work, especially in the large cities, where they are obliged to work in gloomy basements, under public side-walks, and in unventilated and filthy rooms; and

WHEREAS, The N. W. Cooks' Association, Local 458, of Minneapolis, has taken the stand against filthy, unsanitary conditions, cellar kitchens, long hours, and private employment bureaus, and have taken a stand for reasonable hours of labor, one day's rest in seven, sanitary working conditions, free employment bureaus regulated by the State Labor Department, and the inspection to be made by practical cooks of all kitchens and places where food is prepared for the public; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Eighteenth General Convention of the H. and R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A., in convention assembled, indorse the above stand that is taken by the N. W. Cooks' Association, Local 458, of Minneapolis, and pledges its support and co-operation to all measures introduced in the city and State law-making bodies that will advance the above measures mentioned in the resolution, thereby benefiting all our crafts and the general public.

Referred to Committee on Resolutions.

Motion by Fleischmann, Local 44, and Shields, Local 609, that the report of the committee be accepted and the resolution as amended be adopted.

Delegates Canny, Local 44; Nelson, Local 101; Fleischmann, Local 44; Berger, Local 458; McEachern, Local 167; Drake, Local 561; Hibberd, Local 197; Woods, Local 593; Sinton, Local 458; Hesketh, Local 33, and Levi, Local 33, were heard.

The motion was adopted.

Resolution No. 54—By Delegates Vigneux, Garrity and Durnin, Local 81:

Resolution submitted by the delegates from Local 81:

WHEREAS, In the past the MIXER AND SERVER has been printed on paper not bearing the watermark of the Paper Makers' Union; and

WHEREAS, The official journal of this International is distributed all over the United States and Canada; be it

Resolved, That the official journal, known as the MIXER AND SERVER, be printed on union-made paper bearing the watermark of the Paper Makers' Union, when such paper of the right kind and quantity can be secured.

Your committee appreciates that every effort has been made to secure union-made paper of the right kind and quantity on which to print the MIXER AND SERVER, but, like many others, so far have been unable to secure same, but are still trying to get it. Therefore we recommend adoption of Resolution No. 54, with the following amendment added to the last section: "When such paper of the right kind and quantity can be secured."

Motion by De Young, Local 70, and seconded by Pattberg, Local 70, that report be accepted. Carried.

Resolution No. 41—By Delegate A. C. Rose, Local 30, San Francisco, Cal.:

WHEREAS, The A. F. of L. has at no time nor at any of its conventions gone on record for or against prohibition; and

WHEREAS, The fanatical prohibitionists boast of this fact and make capital of it; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the delegates from this International Union to the next A. F. of L. Convention be instructed to present to that convention a resolution urging that body to go on record as being opposed to any prohibition legislation; and be it further

Resolved, That our delegates are hereby instructed to oppose the election of any one with known prohibition sentiments to any office within the A. F. of L.

Your committee believes that the adoption of Resolution No. 41 would be ill advised action and unwise, and might possibly react to our disadvantage. We therefore recommend to non-concur.

Motion by Goldsmith, Local 108, and Whissemore, Local 106, to accept and concur in the report of the committee.

Delegates Taback, Local 30; Rose, Local 30; Chapman, Local 30, and Secretary Sullivan were heard.

The motion was adopted.

Resolution No. 24—By Delegate Philip Hartman, Local 456, Chicago, Ill.:

WHEREAS, The condition of the Bartenders of Chicago demands that action must be taken in order to bring the thousands of unorganized barkeepers under the folds of our International Union; and

WHEREAS, Under instruction of the Bartenders' Joint Council of Chicago, we request the Eighteenth General Convention to station a Bartender General Organizer in the city of Chicago for at least one year, and further request the convention to instruct the General Executive Board to give such assistance as may be needed to organize the Bartenders of Chicago.

Your committee recommend that we concur in the resolution to the extent of agreeing with its authors that the bartenders of Chicago need attention from organizers, and that a bartender, a General Organizer, be sent to that city. Your committee further recommends that the General Executive Board be requested to make special effort to organize all crafts in the city of Chicago, as well as other large cities; and further request and recommend to the General Executive Board that they give such financial assistance as will enable the organizers to accomplish good and effective work; for we recognize that Chicago will be the battle ground for our existence from now till the fall of 1916.

Motion by Just, Local 106, and Dentinger, Local 171, that the report and recommendations of the committee as they refer to Resolution No. 24 be concurred in.

Delegates Collins, Local 108; Hartnett, Local 134; Foley, Local 173; Ehrman, Local 175; Bard, Local 525; Bradley, Local 574; McCallum, Local 567; Drysdale, Local 558; Prichard, Local 721; Trenkle, Local 859; Shields, Local 609; Gorton, Local 115; Garrity, Local 81; Beyers, Local 196; McCarthy, Local 188; Regan, Local 41; Sheehan, Local 10; Stewart, Local 14; Cordes, Local 20, and Price, Local 577, were heard.

Motion adopted.

Resolution No. 52—By Delegate Libbie Messer, Local 220, Eureka, Cal.:

WHEREAS, A small percentage of the membership of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America have been persistently and are now endeavoring to bring about its disintegration and disorganization and adopting methods to accomplish the same that brings the blush of shame to the sincere and honest workers for the general good of unionism; and

WHEREAS, The persons seeking the said disintegration and disorganization are avowed and pronounced I. W. W.'s, glorifying in the iconoclastic tactics resorted to by this class of would-be industrial reformers; and

WHEREAS, These I. W. W. members, having failed to sustain their own separate organization, are now, by gaining membership in Locals affiliated with the A. F. of L., attempting in their cowardly way to gain their ends; and

WHEREAS, The persons who join a labor union, taking the obligation in apparent sincerity, but secretly pledged to bring about the ruin of the organization they join, can be described only as cowardly traitors, deserving our contempt and expulsion; and

WHEREAS, The act of joining a labor union affiliated with the A. F. of L. being, as it ever must be, voluntary, the natural outcome of the acquisition of education upon the question of the necessary economic organization of the crafts, managed by those with craft knowledge; the severance of relations with organizations is a matter depending entirely upon the will of the individual member, the logical influence being that those who can not help shall never hinder, and those that hinder should be expelled before they sow the seeds of dissension by claiming ability to carry out their purposes by purely unconstitutional methods; therefore be it

Resolved, That this convention hereby condemns the actions of the I. W. W. members of the H. R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A. creating dissension and strife within its ranks, refuses to recognize the equity and constitutionality of our International body to satisfy the puerile ambitions of an untrustworthy and comparatively insignificant element of the membership; resents the attempts on the part of the syndicalistic incompetents who care only to vilify and blacken the characters and besmirch the reputations of the duly elected officers who do not coincide with the views of these I. W. W. malcontents, who grapple with questions beyond their intelligence and whose psychic perceptions are as mud; and it is further

Resolved, That this convention will look with favor upon the necessary action being taken to immediately bring to task those members who are now flagrantly abusing the privileges of membership and openly violating the provisions of the International and Local Constitutions and their obligations; and it is still further

Resolved, That during the present period of business depression resulting from the reconstructive forces at work in the United States, forced upon us by conditions over which, at present, we have no control, that it would appear advisable to allow no departure from well-established rules, and to sanction only such methods as are unmistakably beneficial to the members of organized labor.

We, your Committee on Resolutions, recommend "to indefinitely postpone action" on Resolution No. 52.

Motion by Trenkle, Local 859, and Berger, Local 458, to concur in the report of the committee.

Motion was adopted.

Resolution No. 20—By Delegates W. W. Levi and E. L. Hollingsworth, Local 33, Seattle, Wash.:

WHEREAS, Organized labor of Washington, Oregon and California lost a hard fight for an initiative measure for an eight-hour day on account of the stand taken by Samuel Gompers, and afterwards by the Philadelphia Convention; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the Eighteenth General Convention of H. and R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A. that the delegates to the A. F. of L. Convention be instructed to vote to put the A. F. of L. on record for an eight-hour day.

The committee, with the consent of the introducers of Resolution No. 20, submit the following amendment, and as so amended recommend to concur. (Some members of the committee dissented):

Resolution No. 20, as amended:

WHEREAS, Organized Labor of Washington, Oregon and California made a hard fight for a statutory eight-hour day in afore-mentioned States at their last State election, and the same will undoubtedly be put forward again at next elections; and

WHEREAS, Favorable action on same by the A. F. of L. Convention will aid the cause materially; therefore, be it

Resolved, That our delegates to the A. F. of L. Convention be instructed to vote for an eight-hour day.

Motion by Mayer, Local 35, and Parker, Local 35, that the report of the committee be concurred in.

The following delegates favored the report of the committee: Hesketh, Local 33; Sister Levi, Local 240; Cozzolino, Local 109; Levi, Local 239; W. W. Levi, Local 33.

The following delegates opposed the report of the committee: Secretary-Treasurer Sullivan; Goldsmith, Local 108; Farrell, Local 106.

Secretary Sullivan: Mr. President, I desire to amend the report and recommendations of the committee by offering the following as an amendment or substitute for their findings:

That the delegates from this International Union work and vote for the program of labor as outlined in the following declaration: "The American Federation of Labor, as in the past, again declares that the question of the regulation of wages and the hours of labor should be undertaken through trade union activity, and not to be made subjects of laws through legislative enactment, excepting in so far as such regulations affect or govern the employment of women and minors, health and morals; and employment by Federal, State or municipal government."

The vote on the substitute offered by Secretary-Treasurer Sullivan was 98 for and 82 against. The substitute was adopted.

Motion by Lehman, Local 1, and Kleinman, Local 1: That inasmuch as there is pending that portion of the committee's report on the delegates to the A. F. of L., that we now adopt the final part of that report. Motion concurred in.

Motion by O'Leary, Local 280, and Chase, Local 403, that the Committee on Report of Delegates to the A. F. of L. be discharged with a vote of thanks. Motion carried.

The following has been prepared for submission to the convention, and we recommend its adoption:

Resolved, That we tender to the press of the city of San Francisco our thanks for their fairness in reporting the proceedings of this convention. We also extend our felicitations and thanks to the officers and members of the locals of the bay cities for their courtesies and entertainment. With the foregoing this completes the work referred to your Committee on Resolutions. We thank you for courtesies extended.

Yours fraternally,

ROBERT HESKETH, Local 33, Seattle, Wash., Chairman.

HARRY KLEINMAN, Local 1, New York, N. Y.

CONRAD SCHOTT, Local 20, St. Louis Mo.

LAWRENCE NELSON, Local 101, Great Falls, Mont.

AL. CONDROTTE, Local 41, San Francisco, Cal.

JOSEPH E. LAYCOCK, Local 80, Boston, Mass., Secretary.

THOMAS S. FARRELL, Local 106, Cleveland, Ohio.

P. J. McGOWAN, Local 175, Buffalo, N. Y.

J. CHAS. HACKETT, Local 188, Pittsburgh, Pa.

JOHN J. GRANEY, Local 212, Youngstown, Ohio.

ALICE M. LORD, Local 240, Seattle, Wash.

W. S. RENFRO, Local 378, Bakersfield, Cal.

A. C. BECK, Local 400, Spokane, Wash.

JOSH BRADY, Local 562, Detroit, Mich.

FRED SOMERS, Local 603, Sacramento, Cal.

FRED EBELING, Local 865, Chicago, Ill.

Committee on Resolutions.

Motion by Donnelly, Local 107, and McEachern, Local 167, that we adopt the proposal and that the Committee on Resolutions be discharged with a rising vote of thanks.

The motion was carried into effect.

J. J. Dwyer, Local 67, Chairman of the Committee on Prohibition and Anti-Saloon Question, and Michael Doyle, Local 867, Secretary of the committee, present the following report:

Resolution No. 42—By Delegation of Local 188, Pittsburgh, Pa.:

WHEREAS, The Anti-Saloon League, Prohibitionists and others have deluged the land with pamphlets, books, journals, periodicals and other publications in disseminating their views, statistical and otherwise, in addition to malignant attacks and misrepresentations of the liquor traffic; and

WHEREAS, The membership of this International Union are vitally interested in the business which our opponents seek to destroy, and feeling the necessity of counteracting the pernicious influence of such literature by the circulation of counter publications which shall act as auxiliaries to that valiant champion of our cause, THE MIXER AND SERVER, which has battled so magnificently for the life of our organization and the liquor interests; therefore be it

Resolved, That the General Executive Board be given full power to act on the proposition herein submitted, and are further authorized to draw upon the Defense Fund for such moneys as in their judgment is deemed necessary to finance the same.

We recommend concurrence of Resolution No. 42.

Motion by Kleinman, Local 1, and Cordes, Local 20, to receive and concur in the report of the committee.

Henley, Local 320; Farrell, Local 106; Renfro, Local 378; Reid, Local 603; Graney, Local 212; Eichhorn, Local 222; McCarthy, Local 188; Sullivan, Local 204; Lehman, Local 1; Schott, Local 20; Condrotte, Local 41; Lyons, Local 51; Bente, Local 68; Baird, Local 51; Anderson, Local 420; Hoffman, Local 152; Steffler, Local 12; Kavanagh, Local 575; Butler, Local 43, and McGrath, Local 573, were heard.

The motion was adopted.

Resolution No. 43—By Delegation of Local 188, Pittsburgh, Pa.:

WHEREAS, There has been introduced from time to time in the several States not yet classified as "Dry Territory" many bills having for their object either the curtailment in part or the elimination as a whole of the liquor traffic; and

WHEREAS, Such measures, whenever enacted into law, have wrought great hardships and injury to the members of this International Union through lack or loss of employment at their respective vocations; and

WHEREAS, Believing that we should more actively interest ourselves in all such legislative measures and to use all honorable means at our command or disposal to prevent action thereon; and

WHEREAS, The members of this International Union have the right and should receive the co-operation and support of all organized bodies affiliated with the American Federation of Labor in preventing the passage of legislation that so plainly and surely means the destruction of our organization; therefore, be it

Resolved. That our delegates to State Federation conventions should be requested or instructed by their respective Locals to use their best endeavors to record by appropriate resolutions such State bodies against all local option and prohibition measures.

Your committee recommend Resolution No. 43 for passage by this convention.

Motion by Rooney, Local 302, and Gilbert, Local 76, to accept report and concur in recommendation of the committee.

Delegates Sorweid, Local 64; Bishop, Local 76; Conley, Local 77; Foster, Local 37; Ringler, Local 20; Sheehan, Local 10; Alge, Local 68; Huddleston, Local 203; Kelly, Local 224; Scully, Local 406; Reynolds, Local 559; Joyce, Local 3, and Grace, Local 566, were heard.

The motion was adopted.

Resolution No. 44—Delegation of Local 188, Pittsburgh, Pa.:

WHEREAS, The Anti-Saloon League and Prohibition forces, through their representatives, have time and again misquoted, directly and indirectly, the remarks of President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, as to his position or standing on the prohibition question; and

WHEREAS, Knowing full well that at all times and all places, whenever necessary, he has unequivocally expressed himself as opposed to the Prohibition propaganda, and further believing that his latest utterance on a subject of such vital importance to the membership of this International Union should be given the widest circulation and publicity possible; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the following excerpt from the Congressional Record, page 522, under date of December 22, 1914, hereto attached, be incorporated in the proceedings of this convention:

SAMUEL GOMPERS ON PROHIBITION.

(An extract from the speech of Hon. James C. Cantrill, of Kentucky, in the House of Representatives, Washington, D. C., December 22, 1914. See Congressional Record of that date, page 522).

Mr. Cantrill (speaking on the Hobson National Prohibition Amendment to the Constitution)—Samuel Gompers is the chief representative of the laboring men of this nation. Let me read his reply to Mr. Hobson concerning this resolution:

"September 3, 1914.

"Hon. Richard P. Hobson, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.:

"MY DEAR MR. HOBSON—Your favor of August 21 reached my office during my absence on official business, and this is the first opportunity I have had to reply thereto. I beg to assure you that I appreciate the honor of selecting me as a member of the National Constitution Prohibition Committee on Co-operation, but I must ask you to excuse me from accepting or serving on the committee. I am frank enough to say that I am out of harmony with the prohibition movement. I know of a better way other than by legalized prohibition to secure temperance and temperate habits, not only in the liquor traffic, but in any of the personal activities of men.

"There is no movement in all the country so potent to make the people temperate as is the much misunderstood and misrepresented organized labor movement of the country. Increasing wages, establishing a shorter workday, affording better tastes, better aspirations, higher ideals, which the better standard of living and freedom of burdensome long hours of toil will bring, the opportunity for better homes and surroundings, and better working conditions, all of these, I repeat, have been more potent and will prove to be more potent in establishing temperance and temperance habits than to inaugurate prohibition by law.

"As you observe, I am not in harmony with the purpose of your movement, and hence can not consistently accept an appointment on the committee. I therefore again respectfully request you to remove my name from the National Constitutional Prohibition Committee on Co-operation.

"Very truly yours,

"SAMUEL GOMPERS,
"President American Federation of Labor."

Your committee recommends concurrence in Resolution No. 44.

Motion by Nelson, Local 101, and Hyatt, Local 768, that the report of the committee and its recommendation be concurred in.

Delegates Lane, Local 721; Somers, Local 603; Woods, Local 593; Kleinman, Local 1; Sinton, Local 458; Bailey, Local 420; Fletcher, Local 603; Shields, Local 609; Henley, Local 320; Brady, Local 562; Schiffert, Local 361; Sweeney, Local 274; McEachern, Local 167; Koveleski, Local 171; Hackett, Local 188; McDevitt, Local 115; Durnin, Local 81; Hoffman, Local 152; Farrell, Local 106; Levi, Local 239; Mayer, Local 35, and Baird, Local 51, were heard.

The motion was adopted.

Resolution No. 57—By Delegate E. N. Fletcher, Local 603:

WHEREAS, In almost every locality where there is a local of this International, there are other organized crafts whose interests are affected by prohibition, and

WHEREAS, We realize that more can be accomplished in a fight against prohibition by co-operative effort; therefore be it

Resolved, That all delegates to this, the Eighteenth General Convention of the H. R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A., shall be instructed to take steps immediately upon their return to their respective cities to form such organized crafts into a Council or League for the purpose of fighting prohibition; and be it further

Resolved, That the G. E. B. shall instruct all General Organizers to give all assistance possible to form such Councils or Leagues.

Motion by Somers, Local 603, and Laycock, Local 80, to receive and concur in the report of the committee.

Delegates Somers, Local 603; Gibbons, Local 820; Zahn, Local 800; Hiles, Local 420; Bente, Local 68; Specht, Local 437; Bork, Local 312; Bradley, Local 574; Messer, Local 220; Hopper, Local 48; Sesma, Local 284; Maloney, Local 484; Just, Local 106; Tarrant, Local 196; Whissemore, Local 106; Madden, Local 200; Raleigh, Local 67; Vigneux, Local 81; Hale, Local 2; Foster, Local 37; Lusk, Local 69, and Duquette, Local 67, were heard.

The motion prevailed.

Resolution No. 45—By Delegate A. J. Cozzolino, Local 109, Newark, N. J.:

WHEREAS, The sentimental and emotional agitation against the liquor business has been the cause of legalized liquor being legislated out of business in some parts of the country; and

WHEREAS, Said sentimental and emotional presentation of the liquor business by the Prohibition and Local Optionist and Anti-Saloon Leaguers can only be met and successfully disputed by facts as compiled and published in the reports issued by the different municipalities, States and the Federal Government; and

WHEREAS, Said facts should be known by our members and supporters; be it therefore

Resolved, That the General Executive Board be empowered to appoint, without pay, a member of any of our local unions in every State; he to be known as the State Liquor Statistician of the H. and R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A. of the particular State he is affiliated with; and be it further

Resolved, That all statistical knowledge gathered by the said State Statistician from the different States shall be forwarded to headquarters to be published in the MIXER AND SERVER.

Your committee saw fit to amend Resolution No. 45 by substituting the following for the original and recommend its adoption:

Substitute:—

WHEREAS, The sentimental and emotional agitation against the liquor business has been the cause of legalized liquor being legislated out of business in some parts of the country, and

WHEREAS, Said sentimental and emotional presentation of the liquor business by the Prohibitionist and Local Optionist and Anti-Saloon Leaguers can only be met and successfully disputed by facts as compiled and published in the reports issued by the different municipalities, States and Federal Government, and

WHEREAS, Said facts should be known by our members and supporters, be it therefore

Resolved, That the General Executive Board request the secretaries of our local unions to act as Local Liquor Statisticians in their respective localities; be it further

Resolved, That all such statistics gathered by the Local Statistician shall be forwarded to headquarters to be published in the MIXER AND SERVER.

Motion by Lyons, Local 51 and Baird, Local 51, that the report of the committee be accepted as read and concurred in.

Delegates Cozzolino, Local 109; Hosking, Local 31; Dwyer, Local 67, and McCarthy, Local 188, were heard. The motion was adopted.

Your committee has also prepared for your approval the following address and declaration:

San Francisco, Cal., June 17, 1915.

To the Officers and Delegates of the Eighteenth General Convention of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America, in General Convention Assembled, Greeting:

Your Committee on Prohibition and Anti-Saloon Question respectfully submit the following report:

WHEREAS, Our experience of prohibition throughout the country has demonstrated the fact that it has been a failure in accomplishing the results it set out to achieve, and we believe that better results can be derived through a properly regulated license system of the liquor traffic in all States and Territories of the Union. Years of experience in the liquor traffic has convinced us that this system is the best promoter of true temperance.

We, your committee, desire to go on record as condemning the tactics and methods employed by the Anti-Saloon League on the question under consideration, and recommend this Eighteenth General Convention of the H. R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of A. also place themselves on record as being opposed at all times to the tactics pursued by this obnoxious organization.

We further pledge ourselves to do all in our power to restrict its activities in all sections under our International jurisdiction.

We, your committee, highly recommend the policy pursued by the editor of our official journal in his efforts to combat the agitation carried on by the Prohibition Party and the Anti-Saloon League, and recommend continuation of this policy and the hearty co-operation of the entire membership in its efforts along that line.

Fraternally,

J. JERE DWYER, Local 67, Springfield, Mass., Chairman.

HUGO ERNST, Local 30, San Francisco, Cal.

LESTER M. McDONALD, Local 62, Fresno, Cal.

JERE F. McCARTHY, Local 188, Pittsburgh, Pa.

E. N. FLETCHER, Local 603, Sacramento, Cal.

H. H. ZWERNEMANN, Local 750, Houston, Texas.

MICHAEL DOYLE, Local 867, Ketchikan, Alaska, Secretary.

JOHN H. ROONEY, Local 302, Butte, Mont.

ADOLPH BERGER, Local 458, Minneapolis, Minn.

IRENE DAHL, Local 48, San Francisco, Cal.

W. A. HOSKING, Local 31, Oakland, Cal.

Committee on Prohibition and Anti-Saloon Question.

Motion by Drake, Local 561, and Hale, Local 2, that we accept and concur in the report as submitted.

The motion was adopted.

Motion by Powers, Local 768, and Joyce, Local 3, that the committee be discharged, with the usual rising vote of thanks.

The motion was carried into effect.

Secretary Blumenthal for the Committee on Labels and Buttons presented the following supplementary report:

Resolution No. 56—By Delegates Kirkpatrick and Rose, Local 30, San Francisco, Cal.:

WHEREAS, This convention has gone on record, at the recommendation of the Committee on Labels and Buttons, that no display of bar or house cards or buttons be displayed where Asiatics are employed, and

WHEREAS, In many districts within the jurisdiction of this International, bar cards are displayed in hotels, restaurants and cafes where cooks, helpers, waiters and waitresses are not organized; therefore, be it

Resolved, That it be the sense of this convention that no house cards, bar cards or buttons be displayed unless every one working at our crafts are organized on the premises.

We believe in Resolution No. 56, but think that we have thoroughly covered this matter in our recommendations to this convention, and therefore non-concur in Resolution No. 56 at this time.

Fraternally,

ELIZABETH MALONEY, Local 484, Chicago, Ill., Chairman.

ROSE JACK, Local 180, San Jose, Cal.

ALEX. BLUMENTHAL, Local 17, Los Angeles, Cal.

MICHAEL H. CANNY, Local 44, San Francisco, Cal.

MAURICE DEYOUNG, Local 70, Brooklyn, N. Y.

MATTHEW V. GILFERT, Local 76, Syracuse, N. Y.

W. C. EDDY, Local 561, Sacramento, Cal.

HERMAN ZAHN, Local 800, Lafayette, Ind.

LESLIE SINTON, Local 458, Minneapolis, Minn.

PHILIP HARTMAN, Local 456, Chicago, Ill.

Committee on Labels and Buttons.

Digitized by Google

Motion by Hiles, Local 420, and Norton, Local 420, that the report of the committee be concurred in.

Motion adopted.

Parker, Local 35, recorded as voting "No."

Motion by Keenan, Local 699, and Hyatt, Local 768, that the Committee on Labels and Buttons be discharged, with the usual vote of thanks.

Motion carried into effect.

John J. Henley, Local 320, chairman of Committee on Finance, presents the following for his committee:

San Francisco, Cal., June 18, 1915.

To the Officers and Delegates of the Eighteenth General Convention, Greeting:

Your Committee on Finance not having anything referred to it at this convention, would respectfully ask to be discharged.

Signed:

JOHN J. HENLEY, Local 320, Schenectady, N. Y., Chairman.
CECIL GIVENS, Local 14, Denver, Colo.

BEN PARKER, Local 35, Chicago, Ill

STEVEN R. BISHOP, Local 76, Syracuse, N. Y.

JOHN J. GRIFFIN, Local 86, Lynn, Mass.

FRANCIS W. FARRELL, Local 116, Chicopee, Mass.

F. HUDDLESTON, Local 203, St. Louis, Mo.

FRED W. BARD, Local 525, Oakland, Cal.

STEPHEN P. DRAKE, Local 561, Sacramento, Cal.

W. A. POWERS, Local 768, San Diego, Cal.

Committee on Finance.

Motion by Hartman, Local 456, and Kennedy, Local 110, that the request of the committee be complied with, and that they be accorded the usual thanks of the convention for being ready to perform such duty as may have been assigned to them.

Motion adopted.

George Ringler, Local 20, chairman of Committee on Convention Attendance and Ways and Means, presented the following for his committee:

June 17, 1915.

To the Officers and Delegates of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America.

The following is the report of the Committee on Convention Attendance and Ways and Means:

We recommend that attendance cards shall be given on entrance, and be taken up twenty minutes before time set for adjournment at each session, and each delegate shall present his attendance card in person and no delegate shall be permitted to present attendance card of any other delegate or delegates.

We further recommend that all delegates give the article headed "Convention Representation in the General Secretary-Treasurer's Report" serious consideration, and that delegates take subject matter contained therein back to their respective organizations, and use their best efforts to create a local convention fund for the purpose of sending delegates to our general conventions.

GEORGE RINGLER, Local 20, St. Louis, Mo., Chairman.

J. D. KIRKPATRICK, Local 30, San Francisco, Cal.

F. P. BATTLES, Local 44, San Francisco, Cal.

CHARLES SANDS, Local 273, Springfield, Mass., Secretary.

WILLIAM SWEENEY, Local 274, Marshalltown, Iowa.

HY. CORCORAN, Local 292, Wheeling, W. Va.

JOHN P. MCGRATH, Local 573, Springfield, Ill.

FRED McCALLUM, Local 567, Olympia, Wash.

GUS TRENKLE, Local 859, Billings, Mont.

Committee on Convention Attendance and Ways and Means.

Motion by Griffin, Local 86, and Moroney, Local 147, to accept and concur in the report of the committee. Motion adopted.

Motion that the committee be discharged and given a vote of thanks for their labors. Motion carried.

P. L. Grace, Local 566, chairman of Committee on Referendum, presented the following:

Your committee begs leave to advise that, no resolution having been referred to our committee, we have nothing to report, and ask that we be discharged as is usual by the convention.

P. L. GRACE, Local 566, Fresno, Cal., Chairman.

B. K. STEWARD, Local 14, Denver, Colo.

THEO. JOHNSON, Local 30, San Francisco, Cal.

E. R. ABBOTT, Local 38, Hammond, Ind.

OWEN REYNOLDS, Local 95, Worcester, Mass.

HENRY F. CORCORAN, Local 77, Boston, Mass.

JAMES MORONEY, Local 147, Greenfield, Mass.

ADAM P. HENTGES, Local 287, St. Paul, Minn.

W. A. PRICE, Local 577, San Jose, Cal.

F. E. MERRYFIELD, Local 561, Sacramento, Cal.

Committee on Referendum.

Motion by McKone, Local 284, and Hibberd, Local 97, that the request of the committee be complied with and they be thanked just the same as if they had performed committee work.

Motion adopted.

W. H. Foster, Local 37, chairman of Committee on Grievance, makes the following report for his committee:

We, you "Committee on Troubles," are pleased to inform you that there were no troubles brought before or referred to our committee, and while we are pleased with that situation, we were ready to set in judgment on any case referred to us. We ask that we be relieved by the usual process.

W. H. FOSTER, Local 37, Decatur, Ill., Chairman.

V. E. CHAPMAN, Local 30, San Francisco, Cal.

JOHN KENNEDY, Local 110, San Francisco, Cal.

PATSIE TAYLOR, Local 403, Stockton, Cal.

V. W. LABELLE, Local 651, Seattle, Wash.

DANIEL P. SHIELDS, Local 609, Great Falls, Mont.

Committee on Grievance.

F. Sesma, Local 284, chairman of the Committee on State and District Branches, reports as follows:

We, your Committee on State and District Branches, express some measure of disappointment in having been appointed, and with no work to perform, at least none offered by this convention. We ask that we be discharged from further waiting for work to perform.

F. SESMA, Local 284, Los Angeles, Cal., Chairman.

SAMUEL TABACK, Local 30, San Francisco, Cal.

C. P. HIBBARD, Local 31, Oakland, Cal.

THOMAS GARRITY, Local 81, Holyoke, Mass.

S. T. BRENT, Local 108, Cleveland, Ohio.

JOHN E. LONG, Local, 175, Buffalo, N. Y.

GEORGE HIBBERD, Local 197, Hamilton, O.

HUNTER KEITH, Local 332, East St. Louis, Ill.

B. CALLAHAN, Local 527, Dubuque, Iowa.

W. P. BUTZ, Local 572, Stockton, Cal.

J. L. FEUDNER, Local 595, Richmond, Cal.

Committee on State and District Branches.

Motion that both committees—Grievance and State and District Branches—be discharged with a vote of thanks. Motion made by Hale, Local 2, and Adamack, Local 240.

Motion adopted.

J. J. McDevitt, chairman of Committee on Rules and Order of Business, makes the following report for his committee:

Resolution No. 46—By Delegate Alfred E. Steimer, Local 44, San Francisco, Cal.:

WHEREAS, There is in the Rules of Order adopted for the guidance of this convention, no method prescribed for the calling of a division on the chairman's announcement of a vote on a question, or for the calling of a rising or roll call vote; and

WHEREAS, This information, on request, has not been imparted to the delegates; and

WHEREAS, The exercise of all the prerogatives of a delegate depends on a clear understanding of the Rules of Order governing a convention, and the interpretation thereof; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Committee on Rules of Order be instructed to immediately bring in a recommendation to the convention as to the method of procedure or the number of delegates required to call for a rising or roll call vote; and be it further

Resolved, That pending the report of the committee it be the sense of this convention that the rule of procedure be in accordance with Roberts' Rules of Order, Section 38, pages 110 and 111.

We, your Committee on Rules and Order of Business, recommend non-concurrence in Resolution No. 46, introduced by Delegate Steimer, Local No. 44. We find that the rules governing this and preceding conventions have proven satisfactory, and as the rule applying to the raising of previous question upon the request of twelve delegates and a roll call, can be had by a majority vote of the delegates, if they so desire, we see no necessity for any changes in the present form.

Fraternally submitted,

JOHN J. McDEVITT, Local 115, Philadelphia, Pa., Chairman.

GEORGE HALE, Local 2, Brooklyn, N. Y.

CHARLES E. BAIRD, Local 51, St. Louis, Mo.

ARTHUR JUST, Local 106, Cleveland, Ohio, Secretary.

JAMES HARTNETT, Local 134, Scranton, Pa.

JAMES BELL, Local 171, Rochester, N. Y.

OSCAR BICKERDT, Local 286, Peoria, Ill.

FRANK BRADLEY, Local 574, Duluth, Minn.

A. M. J. PRICHARD, Local 721, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Committee on Rules and Order of Business.

Motion by Anderson, Local 420, and Bailey, Local 420, that the report of the committee be concurred in.

Steimer, Local 44: My compliments to the committee. I was a trifle worried that, probably, my resolution had been lost.

Motion by McGowan, Local 175, and Donnelly, Local 107, that all committees that have not been relieved from further duty be forthwith discharged and be given a vote of thanks.

The motion was carried into effect.

Secretary Sullivan—Mr. President and Delegates to this Convention: It seems to me that we would hardly show the right character of appreciation if we permitted this convention to close without saying a few words to our brothers and sisters of the Bay Cities and the local unions which have so generously and lavishly entertained us since our arrival in this splendid city. Some of us, no doubt, came here with feelings that prompted the expectation that we would not have much entertainment or time to take part in it. Others may have imagined that because our members in this section of the country were endeavoring to bring about conditions which many of us disagreed on that they would neglect us and allow us to hit the trail or move around the city and suburbs unattended. They have proven themselves excellent hosts. They have seen to it that your spare moments were filled in with interesting entertainment and lavish accommodations to enjoy what they offered. Both men and women of our local unions in this vicinity have vied with one another in an effort to make our stay one to be remembered for many months to come. I believe I express the sentiments of this convention when I say to our boys and girls of the Bay Cities and unions that we are your debtors for as fine a week of pleasure and entertainment as we have ever been the recipients, and we offer to you our heartfelt thanks, so that you may know that you have made good your promises when you invited us to come to your great State and city, and you may depart from this convention with a feeling that your work was fully appreciated. Mr. President, if you will permit, I offer a motion that a rising vote of thanks be tendered to our boys and girls of the Bay Cities local unions.

Motion seconded by Conley, Local 77, and was carried with a whoop.

Donnelly, Local 107: I am not unmindful of the fact that the wives and families, especially the female portion thereof, have been cared for in innumerable ways and have been quite as lavishly entertained as the delegates; and I therefore offer a motion that the Ladies' Committee be tendered similar recognition for their labors.

Seconded by Messer, Local 220. The convention concurred by rising to indicate its appreciation and thanks.

President Flore: We have about concluded the business of this convention, and I take advantage of the opportunity to thank the delegates for their forbearance and labors. You have done very nicely, and I wish to thank you for your co-operation. You are going to return to your homes and your local unions with, I trust, renewed energy, and I trust that you will be able to enthuse all of our members to help make our organization a greater and better one than it is now.

Secretary Sullivan: It has been the custom in the past to mail the last day's proceedings to the delegates; therefore, if any of you have failed to deposit your card with Brother Horne, be sure and do so before leaving the convention hall tonight. Of course, you all understand that the completed convention record will be printed in the next number of the Mixer and Server. The daily proceedings are more in the nature of a memorandum printed for the information of delegates, and not intended for general distribution.

President Flore: It has been the custom with us that before concluding the business of the convention, we stand in silence in memory of the departed members of our International Union.

The convention arose and stood in silence for the time mentioned.

Condrotte, Local 41: Mr. Chairman and delegates: You have had an opportunity during the week to observe the conditions which prevail in this city; there are quite too many of our members without employment, and I trust that you warn those who imagine that there is enough and to spare of employment, that such is not the case; there is no work for many of the members who are here now, and adding to the number of unemployed only makes it harder for all concerned.

Hassel, Local 284: Brother Condrotte has given you a picture of this section of the State; he could have included Los Angeles as well, for there is no work down there. If any of our boys or girls back east have the necessary coin to come out here to see the two Fairs we will try to meet them with a smile, but urge those who are seeking work to remain where they are for they will only win disappointment.

Chase, Local 403—Mr. President and delegates: This is the first chance I have had to make suitable acknowledgment to our General Executive Board for their timely aid and help of a financial character; we were in trouble and plenty of it, and they came to the front for us generously and I want on behalf of our members to thank them.

Nelson, Local 101: I want to add my little bouquet of praise and thanks to the G. E. B. for their prompt action and help of our locals in Great Falls, Mont. They were prompt and generous and I want them and the organization to know that we are grateful for their action.

McEachern of Local 167, and Corcoran of Local 77, offered a motion that the convention do now adjourn sine die. The motion was agreed to by the delegates rising and trying their voices in several popular melodies.

The following delegates were absent from Friday evening session (June 18th): L. Wheeler, Local 180; R. Jack, Local 180; C. S. Rhodes, Local 449; F. E. Merryfield, Local 561; W. C. Eddy, Local 561; W. P. Burtz, Local 572; J. L. Pauley, Local 585; J. C. Feudner, Local 595. Delegates reported sick: N. R. Pangle, Local 335; H. H. Edwards, Local 832.

Adjourned at 10:20 p. m.

JERE L. SULLIVAN, General Secretary-Treasurer.

W. E. HORNE,

J. P. McGINLEY,

Assistant Secretaries of the Convention.

INTERNATIONAL OFFICERS.

Edward Flore, President.....	375 Oak Street, Buffalo, N. Y.
Robert Hesketh, First Vice-President.....	P. O. Box 594, Seattle, Wash.
Frank Hoffman, Second Vice-President.....	239 Second Avenue, South, Minneapolis, Minn.
W. H. Foster, Third Vice-President.....	339 South Franklin Street, Decatur, Ill.
C. W. McCurdy, Fourth Vice-President.....	305 Youngerman Building, Des Moines, Ia.
F. Sesma, Fifth Vice-President.....	P. O. Box 522, San Francisco, Cal.
Elizabeth Maloney (Miss), Sixth Vice-President.....	Room 413, S. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.
Paul Steffler, Seventh Vice-President.....	626 Victoria Street, San Antonio, Texas
John W. Conley, Eighth Vice-President.....	183 Court Street, Boston, Mass.
Jere L. Sullivan, General Secretary-Treasurer..	Commercial Tribune Bldg., Cincinnati, Ohio

DELEGATES TO THE EIGHTEENTH GENERAL CONVENTION.

Local	Location	Delegate	Address
1	New York City.....	Harry Kleinman	12 St. Mark's place.
1	New York City.....	William Lehman	196 Atkins ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.
2	Brooklyn, N. Y.....	George Hale	1855 Madison street.
3	New York City.....	W. B. Joyce	Tyson ave., Floral Park, N. Y.
3	New York City.....	John P. McGinley.....	Care 631 Third avenue.
8	Denver, Colo.....	Fred Wessel	1731 Arapahoe street.
10	Hoboken, N. J.....	James J. Sheehan.....	126 Hudson street.
12	San Antonio, Tex.....	Paul Steffler	626 Victoria street.
14	Denver, Colo.....	Cecil Givens	1923 Curtis street.
14	Denver, Colo.....	B. K. Stewart	2140 California street.
17	Los Angeles, Cal.....	Alex Blumenthal	525½ S. Main street.
17	Los Angeles, Cal.....	J. C. Scott.....	207 Temple street.
20	St. Louis, Mo.....	George Ringler	709 Pine street.
20	St. Louis, Mo.....	Harry Cordes	3404a Washington avenue.
20	St. Louis, Mo.....	Conrad Schott	2827 Henrietta street.
20	St. Louis, Mo.....	James J. O'Donald.....	212 S. Sixth street.
30	San Francisco, Cal.....	V. E. Chapman.....	14 Seventh street.
30	San Francisco, Cal.....	Hugo Ernst	14 Seventh street.
30	San Francisco, Cal.....	Sam Taback	14 Seventh street.
30	San Francisco, Cal.....	Theo. Johnson	14 Seventh street.
30	San Francisco, Cal.....	A. C. Rose.....	14 Seventh street.
30	San Francisco, Cal.....	J. D. Kirkpatrick.....	14 Seventh street.
31	Oakland, Cal.....	Thomas H. Wright.....	5286 Manila avenue.
31	Oakland, Cal.....	C. P. Hubbard.....	1846 Adeline street.
31	Oakland, Cal.....	Charles C. Olson.....	487 Twenty-fourth street.
31	Oakland, Cal.....	W. A. Hosking.....	1826 Castro street.
33	Seattle, Wash.....	Robert B. Hesketh.....	P. O. Box 594.
33	Seattle, Wash.....	W. W. Levi.....	1915 Waite street.
33	Seattle, Wash.....	E. L. Hollinsworth.....	2318 E. Olive street.
35	Chicago, Ill.....	A. A. Mayer.....	548 N. Dearborn street.
35	Chicago, Ill.....	Ben F. Parker.....	2345 Park avenue.
37	Decatur, Ill.....	W. H. Foster.....	380½ N. Water street.
38	Hammond, Ind.....	Edward R. Abbott.....	552 Holman street.
41	San Francisco, Cal.....	Dan P. Regan.....	115 Valencia street.
41	San Francisco, Cal.....	Al Condrotte.....	126 Duboce avenue.
41	San Francisco, Cal.....	A. Zimmermann	601 Anderson street.
41	San Francisco, Cal.....	F. W. Steinkamp.....	239 Broderick street.
41	San Francisco, Cal.....	Frank E. Plate.....	115 Valencia street.
43	Pueblo, Colo.....	James N. Butler.....	P. O. Box 84.
44	San Francisco, Cal.....	Alfred E. Steimer.....	88 Sixth street.
44	San Francisco, Cal.....	Chas. F. Fleischmann.....	715 Berlin street.
44	San Francisco, Cal.....	Arthur H. Dodge.....	650 Lakeview avenue.
44	San Francisco, Cal.....	Michael H. Canny.....	753 Hayes street.
44	San Francisco, Cal.....	Frank P. Battles.....	88 Sixth street.
48	San Francisco, Cal.....	Laura Molleda	149 Mason street.
48	San Francisco, Cal.....	Lena Hopper	149 Mason street.
48	San Francisco, Cal.....	Lettie Gardner	149 Mason street.
48	San Francisco, Cal.....	Irene Dahl	149 Mason street.
51	St. Louis, Mo.....	Jacob Schrempp	4286 Easton avenue.
51	St. Louis, Mo.....	Robert Lyons	3204 Lucas avenue.
51	St. Louis, Mo.....	George C. Wiesemann.....	2648a Lafayette avenue.
51	St. Louis, Mo.....	Charles E. Baird.....	5743 Garfield avenue.
62	Fresno, Cal.....	L. A. Pomeroy.....	1139 Eye street.
64	Milwaukee, Wis.....	Charles Sorweid	279 Third street.
67	Springfield, Mass.....	Edmond Raleigh	P. O. Box 893.
67	Springfield, Mass.....	John Jere Dwyer	P. O. Box 893.
67	Springfield, Mass.....	Albert S. Duquette	P. O. Box 893.
68	Cincinnati, O.....	Charles Bente	31 E. Twelfth street.
68	Cincinnati, O.....	Charles Gallagher	3511 Reading road.
68	Cincinnati, O.....	Joseph Alge	3230 Elder avenue, Oakley, O.
69	Galveston, Tex.....	M. W. Lusk.....	121 Broadway.
70	Brooklyn, N. Y.....	Maurice DeYoung	193 Schaeffer street.
70	Brooklyn, N. Y.....	Otto Pattberg	388 Tompkins pl., Glendale, I. L. [N. Y.
76	Syracuse, N. Y.....	Steven R. Bishop	230 Fitch street.
76	Syracuse, N. Y.....	Matthew V. Gilbert	416 Ulster street.
77	Boston, Mass.....	John W. Conley	183 Court street.
77	Boston, Mass.....	Henry F. Corcoran	183 Court street.
77	Boston, Mass.....	John C. Hickey	183 Court street.
77	Boston, Mass.....	Daniel E. Ford	183 Court street.
77	Boston, Mass.....	Thomas Dolan	183 Court street.
79	Louisville, Ky.....	Fred Schwenger	P. O. Box 591.

Local	Location	Delegate	Address
80	Boston, Mass.	Jos. E. Laycock	63 Shawmut avenue.
81	Holyoke, Mass.	Thos. J. Durnin	18 Clinton avenue.
81	Holyoke, Mass.	T. F. Vigneux	317 Appleton street.
81	Holyoke, Mass.	Thomas Garrity	787 Dwight street.
86	Lynn, Mass.	John J. Griffin	10 Central avenue.
95	Worcester, Mass.	Owen J. Reynolds	3 Vernon terrace.
101	Great Falls, Mont.	Lawrence Nelson	P. O. Box 167.
106	Cleveland, O.	Thomas S. Farrell	3643 Carnegie avenue.
106	Cleveland, O.	Arthur F. Just	2084 E. Fifty-fifth street.
106	Cleveland, O.	Edw. A. Whissemore	1529 Prospect avenue.
106	Cleveland, O.	Fred B. Hobby	1120 Prospect avenue.
107	Cleveland, O.	Kitty Donnelly	416 Superior Building.
108	Cleveland, O.	S. T. Brent	716 Vincent avenue.
108	Cleveland, O.	John T. Collins	716 Vincent avenue.
108	Cleveland, O.	Michael Goldsmith	716 Vincent avenue.
109	Newark, N. J.	A. J. Cozzolino	260 Washington street.
110	San Francisco, Cal.	A. W. Fraser	Park Hotel, 1038 Folsom st.
110	San Francisco, Cal.	John Kennedy	American Hotel, Howard st.
110	San Francisco, Cal.	J. C. Morris	495 Fifth street.
110	San Francisco, Cal.	Matt Williamson	1018 Missouri street.
115	Philadelphia, Pa.	John J. McDevitt	421 E. Wildey street.
115	Philadelphia, Pa.	Ben Gorton	926 N. Broad street.
116	Chicopee, Mass.	Francis W. Farrell	333 Front street.
134	Scranton, Pa.	Frank McDonnell	220 Lackawanna avenue.
134	Scranton, Pa.	James Hartnett	220 Lackawanna avenue.
147	Greenfield, Mass.	James Moroney	Millers Falls, Mass.
152	Minneapolis, Minn.	Frank Hoffman	239 Second avenue, S.
152	Minneapolis, Minn.	Whinda Gigrich	812 E. Fourteenth street.
152	Minneapolis, Minn.	Ernest O'Brien	239 Marquette avenue.
152	Minneapolis, Minn.	J. A. Kaehn	312 Marquette avenue.
167	Cleveland, O.	Ed. McEachern	1120 Prospect avenue.
171	Rochester, N. Y.	Emanuel Kovaleski	104 Reynolds Arcade.
171	Rochester, N. Y.	Edward A. Dentinger	104 Reynolds Arcade.
171	Rochester, N. Y.	James Bell	104 Reynolds Arcade.
173	Binghamton, N. Y.	Michael T. Foley	145 Water street.
175	Buffalo, N. Y.	Patrick J. McGowan	14 E. Eagle street.
175	Buffalo, N. Y.	John E. Long	14 E. Eagle street.
175	Buffalo, N. Y.	Edward L. Ehrman	19 Dodge street.
180	San Jose, Cal.	Loretta Wheeler	317 N. Market street.
180	San Jose, Cal.	Rose Jack	The Lennox, 260 S. First st.
188	Pittsburg, Pa.	J. Chas. Hackett	Union Labor Temple.
188	Pittsburg, Pa.	Hugh O'Hare	307 Diamond street.
188	Pittsburg, Pa.	James W. Clark	5808 E. Pierce street, E. E.
188	Pittsburg, Pa.	Jere F. McCarthy	Union Labor Temple.
196	Buffalo, N. Y.	Thomas A. Tarrant	519 Virginia street.
196	Buffalo, N. Y.	Charles Beyers	8 Sycamore street.
197	Hamilton, Ont., Can.	George Hibberd	Lester Annex, 54½ James st., N.
200	Hartford, Conn.	Frank J. Madden	50 Annawan street.
203	St. Louis, Mo.	Fay Huddleston	18 S. Broadway.
204	Elmira, N. Y.	F. J. Sullivan	459 E. Church street.
206	Ft. Worth, Tex.	W. A. Polk	1011 Main street.
212	Youngstown, O.	John J. Graney	27 N. Hazel street.
220	Eureka, Cal.	Mrs. Libbie Messer	Box 691.
222	Dayton, O.	J. F. Eichhorn	7 N. Market street.
223	Des Moines, Ia.	C. W. McCurdy	305 Youngerman Building.
224	Erie, Pa.	William Kelly	343 E. Twelfth street.
239	Seattle, Wash.	Ed. T. Levi	Box 488.
240	Seattle, Wash.	Alice M. Lord	Labor Temple.
240	Seattle, Wash.	Ida L. Levi	Labor Temple.
240	Seattle, Wash.	Agnes Adamack	Labor Temple.
273	Springfield, Mass.	Charles E. Sands	22 E. Court street.
274	Marshalltown, Ia.	William Sweeney	6 Kibbey Building.
280	Toronto, Ont., Can.	Arthur E. O'Leary	248 Havelock street.
284	Los Angeles, Cal.	F. Sesma	532 Maple avenue.
284	Los Angeles, Cal.	A. B. Hassel	540 Maple avenue.
284	Los Angeles, Cal.	Geo. O. Petersen	4210½ Moneta avenue.
284	Los Angeles, Cal.	B. McKone	222 N. Beaudry avenue.
286	Peoria, Ill.	Oscar Bickerdt	707 Hamilton.
287	St. Paul, Minn.	Adam P. Hentges	172 Canal street.
292	Wheeling, W. Va.	Harry Corcoran	Care P. O. Box 480.
302	Butte, Mont.	John H. Rooney	Box 760.
312	Chattanooga, Tenn.	W. L. Bork	County Hospital.
312	Chattanooga, Tenn.	James Riley	128 Read avenue.
320	Schenectady, N. Y.	John J. Henley	Seward place.

Local	Location	Delegate	Address
832	East St. Louis, Ill.	Hunter B. Keith.....	137 Collinsville avenue.
835	Toledo, O.	Nida R. Pangle.....	103 Empire Arcade Building.
861	Allentown, Pa.	John A. Schiffert.....	322 N. Fifth street.
376	South Chicago, Ill.	James E. Nelson.....	3061 E. Ninety-first street.
378	Bakersfield, Cal.	W. S. Renfro.....	2200 Twenty-second street.
400	Spokane, Wash.	A. C. Beck.....	Box 510.
402	San Diego, Cal.	Claude McClellan.....	Box 255.
403	Stockton, Cal.	Larry L. Chase.....	11 N. Eldorado street,
403	Stockton, Cal.	Fred Funk	410 N. Auroa street.
403	Stockton, Cal.	Patsie Taylor	318 E. Main street.
406	Eureka, Cal.	William T. Scully	Hotel Grand.
420	Kansas City, Mo.	James H. Anderson.....	3815 Flora avenue.
420	Kansas City, Mo.	E. L. Hiles.....	1317 Charlotte street.
420	Kansas City, Mo.	Chas. O. Bailey.....	2533 College avenue.
420	Kansas City, Mo.	O. D. Norton.....	808 Main street.
436	Rock Springs, Wyo.	John E. Green.....	Care P. O. Box 562.
487	Indianapolis, Ind.	Chas. Specht	37-39 S. Delaware street.
487	Indianapolis, Ind.	Timothy Curran	1128 Fletcher avenue.
449	Altoona, Pa.	Craig S. Rhodes.....	829 Twelfth street.
456	Chicago, Ill.	Phillip Hartman	539 S. State street.
458	Minneapolis, Minn.	Leslie Sinton	104 Washington avenue, S.
458	Minneapolis, Minn.	Adolph Berger	104 Washington avenue, S.
484	Chicago, Ill.	Elizabeth Maloney	85 S. Dearborn street.
523	Kenosha, Wis.	L. S. Kimball.....	824 Market street.
524	Miles City, Mont.	Thos. J. Ryan.....	Buckingham Hotel.
525	Oakland, Cal.	Herman Loorz	66 Eleventh street.
525	Oakland, Cal.	Fred W. Bard.....	419 Twelfth street.
525	Oakland, Cal.	Fred C. Schroeder.....	419 Twelfth street.
527	Dubuque, Ia.	Bernard Callahan	1408 Lincoln avenue.
550	Bakersfield, Cal.	J. J. Alldridge.....	Box 808.
558	San Bernardino, Cal.	J. C. Drysdale.....	321 "E" street.
559	Ft. Smith, Ark.	W. E. Reynolds.....	223 N. Tenth street.
561	Sacramento, Cal.	Stephen P. Drake.....	731 "M" street.
561	Sacramento, Cal.	W. C. Eddy.....	Labor Temple.
561	Sacramento, Cal.	F. E. Merryfield.....	Labor Temple.
562	Detroit, Mich.	Josh Brady	169 Kerechival avenue.
566	Fresno, Cal.	Patrick L. Grace.....	Box 778.
567	Olympia, Wash.	Fred McCallum	Carlton Hotel.
572	Stockton, Cal.	James Redenbaugh	1119 E. Main street.
572	Stockton, Cal.	W. P. Burtz.....	335 W. Washington street.
573	Springfield, Ill.	John P. McGrath.....	121 N. Fifth street.
574	Duluth, Minn.	Frank Bradley	Fifth Avenue Hotel.
575	Jersey City, N. J.	Wm. F. Kavanagh	305 Varick street.
577	San Jose, Cal.	E. H. Lincoln.....	20 S. Fifth street.
577	San Jose, Cal.	W. A. Price.....	98 N. First street.
585	Charleston, W. Va.	J. L. Pauley.....	610 Ohio avenue.
598	Minneapolis, Minn.	Thos. P. Woods.....	104 Washington avenue, S.
595	Richmond, Cal.	J. C. Feudner.....	502 Barrett avenue.
603	Sacramento, Cal.	Fred A. Somers.....	631 "L" street.
603	Sacramento, Cal.	Jack Reid	Labor Temple.
603	Sacramento, Cal.	E. N. Fletcher.....	930 "H" street.
609	Great Falls, Mont.	Dan P. Shields.....	Red Feather Bar.
631	Phoenix, Ariz.	Edward J. Warren.....	78 Westmorland place.
651	Seattle, Wash.	V. W. LaBelle.....	1205 Stewart street.
699	Marysville, Cal.	S. E. Keenan.....	116 Second street.
721	Salt Lake City, Utah.	Joe Lane	Box 882.
721	Salt Lake City, Utah.	A. M. J. Prichard.....	Box 882.
744	Waco, Tex.	Jos. Dushek	707 S. Fifteenth street.
768	San Diego, Cal.	W. A. Powers.....	2819 National avenue.
768	San Diego, Cal.	Earl Hyatt	Box 482.
800	Lafayette, Ind.	Herman Zahn	1005 Main street.
815	Salt Lake City, Utah.	Charles McKee	Box 891.
820	Sheridan, Wyo.	J. F. Gibbons.....	Turf Bar.
827	Joplin, Mo.	W. Edward Horne.....	1080 W. Sixth street.
832	Sedalia, Mo.	H. H. Edwards	Hotel Terry.
859	Billings, Mont.	Gus Trenkle.....	18 N. Broadway.
865	Chicago, Ill.	Fred Ebeling	1925 Monticello avenue.
867	Ketchikan, Alaska	Michael Doyle	Revilla Hotel.

THE MIXER AND SERVER

(Registered.)

(Registered.)

This is the Official Journal of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes International Alliance
and
Bartenders International League of America.

Affiliated with the
AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR

Volume XXIV.

Number 8.

CINCINNATI, OHIO, AUGUST 15, 1915.

Press of
Roessler Brothers,

Commercial Tribune Bldg.,
Cincinnati, Ohio

BOOSTERS

THREE is no word in the English language that can be cited which is more significant and which is more abused than the one which appears at the top of this page.

The average reader, who seldom gives thought to the word used, just so long as it is right and proper, would probably advise you that the word BOOSTERS is a slang word—one of the exclusive possessions of the "Lower Ten"—and seldom used by the "Upper Five." But in that conclusion they are greatly in error, for the word appears in the best dictionaries in about the following forms:

- BOOST, v. t. To help; to lift; to push; to boom or advocate.
 - v. i. To lend assistance.
 - n. A helpful lift or push; a recommendation; anything that helps.
- BOOSTER, n. One who helps or encourages; a supporter or advocate.
- BOOSTERS, n., pl.
- BOOSTING, v. t.

From the definitions offered, one can readily grasp what the word means, what it truly signifies—TO BOOST; TO HELP; TO PUSH; TO BOOM OR ADVOCATE; TO BE ON THE JOB WITH SLEEVES ROLLED UP DOING ONE'S SHARE OF THE TASK WHICH REMAINS UNFINISHED.

Our splendid International Union is the creation of the BOOSTERS who wanted a real, live trade union organization; they KNEW what they WANTED, and KNOWING, went at the task with the energy which only BOOSTERS display.

A BOOSTER IS THE NOBLEST WORK OF THE GREAT PRESIDENT WHO RULES THE UNIVERSE; THE BOOSTER CAN GO TO HEAVEN, FOR THERE IS A PLACE FOR HIM THERE; BUT THE opposite of a BOOSTER never looks UP, his natural bent is

WHICH WAY ARE YOU GOING?

VOLUME XXIV.

CINCINNATI, AUGUST 15, 1915.

No. 8

AFFILIATED WITH THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR

Published Monthly by the
GENERAL EXECUTIVE BOARD
At Commercial Tribune Bldg., Cincinnati,
Ohio, U. S. A.

Entered at the Postoffice at Cincinnati, Ohio, as second-class matter.

Printed by ROSSLER BROTHERS COMMERCIAL TRIBUNE BUILDING, CINCINNATI, OHIO
Printers & Publishers

SUBSCRIPTION

Per annum $1.50

Matter intended for publication must be at this office by the 25th of the month preceding publication.

Correspondents will please write on one side of the paper only, and address all communications to the Secretary-Treasurer.

EXTRACT FROM CONSTITUTION

Section 140. The Journal shall be issued monthly under the direct supervision of the General Executive Board, who shall act in the capacity of "associate editors." And the Secretary-Treasurer shall have the power to censor all matter for publication.

Section 152. The General Executive Board shall hold the right to refuse the publishing of any article of a personal or other nature inimical to the interests of the International Union.

JERE L. SULLIVAN, Editor
Commercial Tribune Building, Cincinnati, O.

GENERAL EXECUTIVE BOARD

EDWARD FLORE.....	President
375 Oak street, Buffalo, N. Y.
ROBERT HESKETH.....	First Vice-President
P. O. Box 594, Seattle, Wash.
FRANK HOFFMAN.....	Second Vice-President
239 Second avenue, South, Minneapolis, Minn.
W. H. FOSTER.....	Third Vice-President
339 South Franklin street, Decatur, Ill.
C. W. McCURDY.....	Fourth Vice-President
805 Youngerman Building, Des Moines, Ia.
F. SESMA.....	Fifth Vice-President
P. O. Box 522, San Francisco, Cal.
ELIZABETH MALONEY (MISS).....	Sixth Vice-President
Room 413 South Dearborn street, Chicago, Ill.
PAUL STEFFLER.....	Seventh Vice-President
626 Victoria street, San Antonio, Tex.
JOHN W. CONLEY.....	Eighth Vice-President
188 Court street, Boston, Mass.
JERE L. SULLIVAN.....	General Secretary-Treasurer
Commercial Tribune Bldg., Cincinnati, Ohio, U. S. A.

Every member of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League being interested in its welfare, inasmuch as the proceeds are part of the International funds, it therefore follows that, being the "servers" of condiments, liquors, etc., their good will would be of marked advantage to purveyors of articles of consumption either in Hotels, Clubs, Cafes, Buffets or Bars. The membership of the International Union consists of the very highest class of bartenders, cooks, waiters and hotel employees generally.

What a superb opportunity is offered to the presiding officers of our local unions to become real teachers and lead their fellow members along paths which cannot help but improve them mentally and perfect them in the work of organization.

A local union in the last analysis is a school, and the presiding officer is the teacher of that school; if he appreciates the responsibilities placed on his shoulders and truly endeavors to offer kindly and sensible advice and suggestions, he can develop and, while doing so, bring the members of his organization along with him and they too will grow in knowledge and understanding.

It does not often happen that members elect to office of local union president individuals minus some knowledge and business ability. If perchance they make that mistake, then they can turn teacher and force by kindly but insistent methods a broadening out and perhaps aid in developing a presiding officer. In the main our locals select as their local union executives, men with ability and considerable intelligence, but for some reason or other which we cannot understand, many of these men appear to carry the impression that all their duty consists of presiding at meetings according to the rule and law in operation in their local union. As already intimated, if they but knew how much real good they could accomplish by studying the situation, and that includes carefully appraising the membership of their union, and noting that quite too many are very lax so far as common ordinary conduct of affairs is concerned, and then to lay plans to bring to each of the unknowing ones as full a measure of knowledge as the presiding officer can impart; how different the results would be and how quickly the complaint of non-attendance would cease.

The writer has in mind an experience with an ideal presiding officer, way back yonder, as years go, when early impressions were lasting. A member arose to make a motion; it was not in order and that kindly soul in the Chair instead of rapping the gavel with a resounding thwack and in gruff voice saying "you are out of order, sit down," he beamed smilingly on the member and in substance said: "Brother, no doubt your desire is to aid us to reach a conclusion, but the construction of your motion prevents the presiding officer from accepting it; if, however, you were to make your motion read something about as follows, the Chair would accept it and present it to the members, for it would be in order and such a motion would enable us to arrive at that point where we could chose one way or the other."

Yet that same kindly presiding officer could be quite as severe and resolute with members whom he knew possessed the required knowledge, but who probably from no other motive than devilment, tried to submit amendments or substitutes wholly at variance with the subject under discussion, and in his own way and using language which seldom offended he made those members feel ashamed of themselves. Courtesy and gentleness on the part of a presiding officer may seem to some of our members as seeking the unheard of; yet anyone who has ever attended the Parliament of Labor—the conventions of the American Federation of Labor—when its President, or any of the Vice-Presidents, are in the Chair, will testify to the fact that the combination of courtesy and kindness compels admiration and forces belligerent delegates to refrain from abusing the privileges given them. It is true that occasions have arisen when stern and resolute action was required, and it was not lacking, but, as a rule, the business of that Parliament is governed by the combination referred to—gentleness and courtesy predominates.

The presiding officer of a local union can win the support of the members of his union and cure the all-pervading disease—non-attendance—by using kindness, by endeavoring to teach the new as well as the older members the quickest and best methods of caring for any problem which may arise. It does not follow that the union which has among its membership those who imagine they are expert parliamentarians is the most successful union by reason of that fact, the opposite is frequently the case, for unfortunately for some of our unions the stickler for parliamentary usage makes himself a bore and annoys the members with his methods of criticism. Parliamentarians are useful to an organization in proportion to the amount of intelligence which they can impart in an acceptable manner; if they lack the required tact to offer corrections, their interruptions produce nothing but dissent from the members who resent being "bawled out."

Conducting the business of a local union may be divided into two sections—the management of the business affairs, such as keeping accurate records and handling finances in one section, and the caring and watchfulness of seeing that the legislative functions are conducted so as to win the interest of the greater number, in the other section. An ideal presiding officer must have a general knowledge of the best methods to care for both sections, but especially must he bring to the presiding officer's chair that greater knowledge, the handling of men in such a manner as to win their unstinted co-operation and support. Studying how to please is a very absorbing research, and the man who seeks promotion to the highest position in the gift of a local union should seek to attain such only after making sure that he has the necessary tact and ability to be both teacher and leader. There is such a thing as being too gentle and permitting the business of the union to be rushed through by aggressive adherents of methods which retard; with a little experience the presiding officer can prevent haste and produce careful and considerate action; but in the long run, presiding officers make no mistake by being courteous and kindly, for is it not said, that a soft answer turneth away wrath.

BETWEEN OURSELVES.

America is a great country, there is little need for anyone to attempt to either question or modify that statement; nor will the close student of affairs in general take exceptions to the further statement that Americans are the greatest bunch of long distance sympathizers which the world has produced since Adam took the first bite out of the "pippin" in the Garden of Eden.

It was Alexander Pope who said, "The proper study of mankind is man," and he evidently had been at the job and found it both interesting and entertaining. If Alexander were alive and lived here in America, especially in the United States, he would be still engaged in studying man, and probably discover that man is the same old bunch of contradictions—only more so—than when he began looking man over to see what kept him going and how far he could run without re-winding. The American with the sympathy bug in his make-up is one of the big studies of our period and time. He can sling out more sympathy stuff—for some fellow several thousands miles away—than anyone ever thought of heretofore. But he is the stingiest, most frugal, most economical, most saving and selfish son-of-a-gun with practical sympathy to and for his fellow countrymen that ever came down that section of our common heritage which we call the Pike.

Only a few months ago he just spilled sympathy and condemnation in about equal parts all over his daily, his weekly and his monthly press because one of the Powers of Europe invaded the country of another Power and "shot things up" and incidentally carried into rather rough execution the "raus mitt 'em" plan of putting a people on the "fritz." He—the American of whom we write—is still splitting the air with raucous cries of dissent and spreading over the pages of his favorite publication bombastic utterances because something has not been "did" to these arrogant gun toters and despilers of homes; fact is that he has worked himself into a state of mind that seemingly will never return to normal until these double distilled culprits have been dealt a body blow which will make them writhe and weep and promise to be good forever and ever world without end.

Yes sirree, as an all-wool and yard wide sympathizer the brand of biped which we are trying to picture for the benefit of our readers, simply takes the whole bake shop, there is not even a penny bun left for late comers.

But sympathy for home consumption is the farthest from his little two-by-four think-tank—what's the use—home sympathy would require action, and that is wholly out of reckoning.

All these months the American sympathy slinger has had but little time or thought of the million and one abuses which his own folks at home have had to contend with; what does he care about the three million six hundred thousand girl babies from ten to thirteen years of age engaged as the last census report puts it, "in gainful occupations," or the one million eight hundred thousand girls from 14 to 15 years of age, also "engaged in gainful occupations;" does he worry over the fact that these, the future mothers of the Nation, are being ground between stones with the dollar mark all over them; has he any reserve sympathy for the similar number of boys from the age of 10 to 15 also "engaged in gainful occupations?" does he give a tinker's hoot whether their little bellies are filled with good, wholesome and sustaining food, or is his sympathy one bound by geographical lines and cannot be used unless there is an ocean of water intervening, when it flows generously. Where was this sympathizing and considerate individual a year ago this time, when the so-called church in action was traveling up one State and down the other urging the voters to co-operate with them so that they would have the supreme satisfaction of wrecking the business of several hundred thousand hotel, cafe and saloon-keepers, which represented many, many millions of invested money.

Where was this sympathetic biped when the Anti-Saloon Sky Pilot aggregation invaded the States of Arizona, California, Colorado, Oregon and Washington pleading and begging the electors of these commonwealths to strike a blow at the industry which gave employment to and sustained hundreds of thousands of as good citizens, men and women as were ever driven out of any country by an invading army. Did he get up on tip-toe and yell the top of that portion of his anatomy off which carries his hat, about the ruthlessness and viciousness of stealing from men and women the right to earn a living in an occupation which they had devoted all their lives to?

Did any one hear him and his tribe demanding of the government that such an invasion be stopped, that confiscation of property and property rights without any remuneration whatsoever, was plain theft—that campaigning to destroy the occupations of several hundred thousand men and women in America was quite as criminal in its way as obliterating towns and cities in the old world by the aid of siege guns and howitzers; that man to man and woman to woman, Americans will compare with any of the men and women of any nation on earth, and that to deprive one American of the right to make a living at their chosen vocation, was quite as serious a matter as depriving one Belgian from a similar opportunity. The invaders in Europe claimed that God was with them; the invaders in America made similar claim; both classes of invaders produced almost identical results; they made homeless men and women, they forced them to wander from the place where they had lived their lives, neither of the dispossessed peoples were able to take their possessions with them. Did these sympathizing mutts see any difference between desolation in Europe and the same thing in America? Did they believe that a hungry, homeless man in Europe was a hungry homeless man, while the man in America, forced to go hungry and minus a home, was neither homeless or hungry?

Did anyone hear of these Sympathy Slingers signing petitions and seeking food and clothing, as well as employment, for the thousands of men and women in the States made legally DRY, and who were given short shrift to get into some other line of business or starve?

The war in Europe is at its height, and the sympathy tossers are on the job, they are still achings for the homeless and hungry hordes of stricken Europe.

The war in America is still being waged, in fact is at its very height; it is a social war and contemplates making tramps of more men and women than the dispossessed of Europe; the latter when the war is over may return to their former homes and attempt to recoup; they will find their occupations a bit bent and twisted, but it will be an occupation nevertheless, and they can work at it. With the dispossessed of America, the wanderers, made so by the social war which is being conducted by the Church in Action—the Anti-Saloon League and the Prohibition party—what of them? Can they too return after the war and find their occupations either bent or twisted or in any old form? Nay a return, and no occupation, for unlike the European war the American social war is destructive of employment; it makes men and women victims for ALL TIME.

The sympathy slingers groan and mourn over the loss of five or ten Europeans sent to a watery grave by undersea boats, but their groan and mourn is missing when a similar number of men, women and children in America are shot down by hired Hessians in the employ of the Standard Oil or the Colorado Mine Owners' Association; when a vessel carrying fifteen or twenty Americans is torpedoed, the sympathy biped half-heartedly "feels sorry" and believes the government will tend to it, he has nothing to offer, however, when he peruses his daily papers and reads the story of the Homestead and McKee Rocks massacre.

The men and women of America, the real "lower ten" may suffer, may toil, may wander over the face of the earth; they may stifle their heart suffering as best they may, for they are here, they are Americans and the old saw about charity beginning at home is like the "welcome" on the door-mat, not intended for acceptance.

The men and women of our allied crafts are not seeking sympathy nor charity; all they ask is a "place in the industrial sun" a similar place as that which they have occupied since government began, they are asking for nothing but what they believe is their God-given right. They believe the social war carried on by the Anti-Saloon League, the Prohibition Party—the so-called Church in Action—is, if anything, more serious than any war being conducted on the face of Mother earth, for the warring nations will cease sometime, but the social soldiers engaged in the church war—the war to destroy an industry—the war to make tramps out of millions of men and women engaged in that industry is planned to continue until extermination leaves them nothing to fight over. The social war is one of positive obliteration—it is to a finish, and that fact must be borne in mind by every man and woman who has a dollar invested in the catering industry; by every man and woman who is employed in whole or part in that industry. Each must take home to themselves the emphasized facts attempted in the foregoing—they can expect no mercy from their natural or unnatural opponents, and should make up their minds to show none to the enemy. The men and women of the Catering Industry need worry little over the Sympathy Slingers, for at best their attention is a false alarm, it may parade as a lion, but it has a weak heart—except when sorrowing for the afflicted of other lands—then its generosity expends itself in urging the other fellow to give up his coin. The catering industry workers of America must work out their own salvation and the one and only method to make that an assured success, is by and through their trade unions. We may look forward to further aggressions on the part of the wagers of the social war, they are as active now as they were last year or the years preceding; they seek your occupation with quite as much persistence as the warring armies of Europe seek their antagonists; you must protect your bread and butter—your future—and as intimated the way is open through labor organizations such as our International Union claims to be.

THE MIXER AND SERVER

Let the Sympathy Slingers remain at their tasks, but let us who believe America to be the land boasted of in song and story, try and make it so by driving the fanatics back to their unchristian leaders and their unholy edifices which they call the church and send among them some of our tillers of the soil and laborers by hand to teach them what they have evidently failed to discover in the Good Book—how to live and act a Christian life.

JERE L. SULLIVAN.

CHINESE AND JAPANESE IN THE UNITED STATES.

At our recent convention in the city of San Francisco, Cal., the Asiatic question was given considerable attention. Some of the delegates appeared to regard this problem as a Pacific Coast question, and that it would never invade any other section of the country.

One of the special writers for the Commercial Tribune of Cincinnati, located at Washington, D. C., submitted a very interesting "story" last November, and, despite the intervening months, it will prove profitable reading to all of our members. The "story" in its entirety follows:

Washington, Nov. 28.—Both the Japanese and Chinese populations of Ohio are increasing, according to a report of the Census Bureau. In 1890 there were 22 Japanese in Ohio, in 1900 there were 27 and by the last census there were 76, distributed by counties as follows: Clark 2, Columbiana 1, Cuyahoga 25, Franklin 8, Hamilton 7, Lorain 12, Lucas 1, Montgomery 3, Stark 1, Summit 1, remainder of State 15.

In 1890 the number of Chinese in Ohio was 183. This increased to 371 in 1900 and 569 in 1910. The distribution of Chinese by the last census, just made public, follows: Belmont 4, Clark 10, Columbiana 12, Cuyahoga 236, Franklin 48, Hamilton 17, Highland 1, Lorain 9, Lucas 51, Mahoning 18, Montgomery 26, Muskingum 2, Stark 12, Tuscarawas 10, Washington 3, remainder of State 98.

A report just made by the Census Bureau on "Chinese and Japanese in the United States" is of interest as showing, among other things, a steady decrease for thirty years in the Chinese population in the United States as a whole and a steady and rather amazing increase in the Japanese population.

In the total area of enumeration, which includes all of the land under the American flag, there were in 1910, according to this report, 82,598,168 whites, 10,215,482 negroes, 29,018 Indians, 94,648 Chinese, 152,956 Japanese and 49,879 of all other races.

The steady decrease of Chinese population in the United States is shown as follows: In 1890, 107,488; in 1900, 89,863; in 1910, 71,531. The steady increase of Japanese population is shown as follows: In 1890, 2,039; in 1900, 24,326; in 1910, 72,157.

No farther back than 1870 the census showed only fifty-five Japanese in the United States, while in that year there were 63,199 Chinese.

Regarding sex distribution of these "yellow aliens" the report says:

"There were in the United States in 1910 66,856 Chinese males and 4,675 females, the number of males per 100 females thus being 1,430.1. In other words, there were about fourteen times as many males as females. Among the Japanese the number of males was 63,070 and of females 9,087, the number of males per 100 females being 694.1, which is about seven times as many males as females. Of course, these are very abnormal sex ratios, which would be found only in an immigrant population. For the total population of the United States the number of males per 100 females was 106; among the native whites it was 102.7, and among the foreign-born whites 129.2.

"The Chinese and Japanese, in contrast with the native whites, include a comparatively small number of children. While 36.5 per cent of the native white population are under 15 years of age only 5.8 per cent of the Chinese are below that age and only 6.9 per cent of the Japanese. The most noteworthy fact about the age distribution of the Japanese is their remarkable concentration on the age group, 25 to 44, nearly two-thirds of the Japanese being in this period of life. Only 4.5 per cent of the Japanese are over 45 years of age, as compared with 44.7 per cent of the Chinese. The explanation is doubtless to be found in the fact that the Japanese represent a more recent immigration than the Chinese."

There is one feature of the report which upholds the theory that "for ways that are dark and for tricks that are vain the heathen Chinese is peculiar." For instance the report shows, based upon information obtained from the Chinamen, that among the Chinese born in the United States 11,921 are males and 3,014 are females. This is contrary to the laws of nature, which replaces the sexes in about equal proportion, and the census bureau merely comments on it as follows:

"It is very improbable, in fact incredible, that among the Chinese actually born in the United States there should be about four times as many males as females. The probable explanation is that a considerable number of foreign-born Chinese themselves as natives for the purpose males have incorrectly reported of obtaining the protection and privileges of United States citizenship."

California has more Japanese than any other State, with Washington second, Oregon third and Colorado fourth. The distribution in States having 1,000 or more Japs follows: California, 41,356; Washington, 12,929; Oregon, 3,418; Colorado, 2,300; Utah, 2,110; Wyoming, 1,596; Montana, 1,585; Idaho, 1,363; New York, 1,247.

The distribution of Chinese by leading States follows: California, 36,248; Oregon, 7,363; New York, 5,266; Washington, 2,709; Massachusetts, 2,582; Illinois, 2,103; Pennsylvania, 1,784; Arizona, 1,305; Montana, 1,285; New Jersey, 1,139.

Chinese operate 760 farms in the United States and Japanese 2,502. Acres operated by Chinese in various States follow: California, 43,163; Oregon, 3,135; Washington, 1,944; Arizona, 1,047. Acres operated by Japanese follow: California, 99,254; Texas, 15,735; Colorado, 11,014; Washington, 9,412; Utah, 6,326; Oregon, 4,608; Nebraska, 4,340; Idaho, 2,812; New Mexico, 1,011.

Section 141. All official announcements printed on the Official Pages of the Mixer and Server shall be read at the first meeting after the journal has been received by the Secretary and a copy posted at the local union headquarters for the benefit of all those who may have been absent from meetings.

HOW THEY STAND.

New York	48
Pennsylvania	47
Illinois	41
Massachusetts	39
Ohio	34
Washington	33
California	32
Canada	28
Montana	23
Connecticut	22
Texas	24
New Jersey	20
Missouri	20
Indiana	19
Wisconsin	17
Minnesota	14
Iowa	11
Colorado	11
Kentucky	9
Wyoming	9
New Hampshire	7
Rhode Island	5
Arkansas	5
Michigan	5
Oregon	5
Arizona	5
Georgia	4
Idaho	4
Virginia	4
Florida	4
Alaska	4
Tennessee	4
Utah	3
Nebraska	3
Louisiana	3
Alabama	2
West Virginia	2
Vermont	2
Maryland	2
Delaware	1
District of Columbia	1
New Mexico	1

NEW CHARTERS.

The following charters were issued during the month of July, 1915:

Local	Location	Organizer
M 111	Oatman, Ariz.	Local 124, W. F. of M.
B 643	Niles, Ohio	John J. Graney
W 748	Fort Worth, Texas	David Lynch
M 769	Mart, Texas	W. E. Reynolds
W 808	Waco, Texas	W. E. Reynolds

LOST MEMBERSHIP BOOKS FOR THE MONTH OF JULY.

Local	Name
17	Frank. Curtiss.
20	J. C. Hansmann, Henry Glab.
35	Peter Dellaringo, Harry Prince, Tom Reed.
51	Oscar Martin.
55	E. W. Blake, Mike Helushko.
115	Jas. F. Cliggett.
139	Timothy Connors.
157	David Bourrie.
180	John Hart.
181	Rewanus Brinker, James Salmon.
225	Frank Clifford.
254	Patrick Hughes.
284	Edw. F. Keen, B. Spilker.
357	D. A. Porter.
361	Joseph Steacher.
400	Alta Embry, Harry Wills.
420	J. E. Arnold.
459	Norman Martin.
504	Edwin Baum, Clarence Alvey.
524	Jennie Cullen.
573	Pat. J. Whalen, George Hofferkamp.
593	Maude Lohr.
659	Paul Baker, D. Comrie.
676	Martin Lundberg.
707	J. W. Ross.
739	John Tinko.
746	P. J. Hannigan, J. A. Thibodeau.
768	W. J. Louk.

DEATHS FOR THE MONTH OF JULY, 1915.

Local	Name
2	Jos. Schiller.
8	M. O'Grady, Chas. E. Butz.
30	S. Dowse, Albert Johnson.
48	Vina Mulvaney.
51	Mich. Kreig.
70	K. Weger.
77	Chas. Farrello, Wm. D. Wilson, Jacob Hoering, Maurice Hefferman, Wm. Deeney, John Speer, John A. Doherty, Fred W. Barnes, Wm. B. Spellman.
79	Docy Barbour.
80	Thos. O'Neil.
99	Myles E. Ward.
107	Harriet Plattner.
108	Joe Seidel.
131	John Malanaphy, Wm. A. Somya.
139	Geo. Price.
152	John Olsen, Chas. Hausberg, Martin Foss.
157	Edw. Champeau.

THE MIXER AND SERVER

159 :—Thos. Nelson.
 167 :—Henry Born.
 171 :—Harry O. Whitbeck.
 188 :—Fred Titus.
 200 :—Wm. Callan.
 203 :—Andy Biele.
 206 :—Chas. Gerhard.
 222 :—Thomas J. Madden.
 224 :—Fred Heisler.
 248 :—Chas. J. Justin.
 259 :—Wm. Jaggers.
 286 :—Chas. Crochiere.
 302 :—Cherrie David.
 305 :—Carl Klaffort.
 332 :—Grant Wadley, L. Covert.
 339 :—Julius Larker.
 361 :—J. George Traub.
 376 :—Nels Olson, John Westerman.
 378 :—Chas. Haycraft.
 381 :—Wm. Glebe, Henry Schlott.
 395 :—Tim Madden.
 398 :—Ernest Ragotti.
 402 :—W. B. Glaze.
 437 :—Louis Connors.
 485 :—Wm. Nelson.
 488 :—Andrew Lowery.
 504 :—John Burton.
 520 :—Chas. Siemon.
 525 :—C. D. Parker, R. C. J. Smith.
 544 :—Dan Cooper.
 547 :—Bert Waker.
 549 :—Robt. F. Thornton.
 562 :—Harry McLeod.
 573 :—Edw. Shannon.
 574 :—John Oberg.
 596 :—Thos. Larkins.
 610 :—Wm. Neidham.
 647 :—Chas. Boucher.
 651 :—Frank Gaby.
 659 :—Otto Zulkhe, J. K. Robinson, Chas. McDonald.
 696 :—Sam'l Knight.
 820 :—Tom Holly.
 849 :—Andy Lauer.
 859 :—Charles Lockwood.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 30, 1915.

To State, City Central Bodies, Councils and Local Unions—Greeting:

DEAR SIRS AND BROTHERS—During the past two years the miners of southern Colorado have been engaged in a struggle to establish their rights and freedom as workers and as human beings. You are familiar with the history of this strike and struggle; with the efforts of the mine operators to defeat the efforts of the miners to secure their rights guaranteed under the laws of the State; with the introduction of armed men and strike-breakers by the mine operators; with the deliberate plans of the mine operators to manipulate and suborn State officials to serve private interests and private gains; with the brutality of these armed ruffians and the terrible and wanton disregard for the lives of the striking miners and their families, and finally, with the efforts to destroy the miners' unions.

A part of this last effort were the trials of John R. Lawson, Louis Zancanelli, David Robb, and Ben Richardson. The brutal steps taken in each of the trials to convict these miners were of the same nature. The facts with regard to the trial of John R. Lawson are given in the editorial which is published on page 507 in the July issue of the American Federationist under the title of "Lawson's Trial—The Infamy of It." The editorial with additional facts is republished on the following pages.

For the first time in the history of our country an officer of a union has been convicted of murder because of violence which grew out of a strike —convicted even though he was not accused of personal participation in the violence. This is a principle of tremendous importance to the whole labor movement. This injustice must not be allowed to stand to menace men and women of ability to help their fellows.

Every effort is being made to destroy the miners' organization in Colorado. Members of organized labor are subjected to persecution and face starvation if they remain loyal to their unions.

The members of organized labor of the whole country must support the unions of Colorado—injury and injustice to them are injury and injustice to all.

You are, therefore, urged that your organization with all liberty-loving men of our country take positive action to make known the solidarity and the fraternity of the labor movement in condemnation and protest against this injustice to the leaders of the unions of Colorado; and demanding that the great wrong done against Lawson and his fellow-victims shall be righted.

Fraternally yours,

SAM'L GOMPERS,
President, American Federation of Labor.

Attest:

FRANK MORRISON,
Secretary, American Federation of Labor.

LAWSON'S TRIAL—THE INFAMY OF IT.
Editorial by Samuel Gompers, from July, 1915.
American Federationist.

Some time last year Mr. L. M. Bowers of the Board of Directors of Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, wrote to John D. Rockefeller, Jr.:

"You will be interested to know that we have been able to secure the co-operation of all the bankers of the city, who have had three or four interviews with our little cowboy Governor, agreeing to back the State and lend it all the funds necessary to maintain the militia and afford ample protection so that our miners could return to work, or give protection to men who are anxious to come up here from Texas, New Mexico, and Kansas, together with some States further east. Besides the bankers, the Chamber of Commerce, the Real Estate Exchange, together with a great many of the best business men, have been urging the Governor to take steps to drive these vicious agitators out of the State. Another mighty power has been rounded up in behalf of the operators by the gathering together of fourteen of the editors of the most important newspapers in Denver, Pueblo, Trinidad, Walsenburg, Colorado Springs, and other of the larger places in the State."

Is it not an indisputable inference from this hilarious statement to the dominating power in Colorado industries that these interests were lined up for a definite purpose? The nature of the purpose became evident in the pressure brought to bear upon the miners, forcing them to return to work for the need of bread without having secured recognition for their rights as free workers.

The purpose became more evident later. The State legislators—among those whom Mr. Bowers had “lined up”—passed a law providing for an additional judge for the third judicial district. Mr. Granby Hillyer, who had been attorney for the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company and allied coal companies concerned in the strike, was made the additional judge. It is a well-known fact that there was not ordinarily sufficient business in the old Third Judicial District to require but one judge. The understanding was that Judge Hillyer was to preside at the trials of strikers.

In the petition for change of venue that the miners filed before him this spring, the charge was made and supported by affidavits that Judge Hillyer had been a bitter partisan in the recent coal strike, and had declared that the strikers were outlaws who should be held in jail incomunicado, and denied the writ of habeas corpus.

Before this tribunal of justice was brought John R. Lawson, Executive Board member of the United Mine Workers of America, charged with the crime of being a leader of the miners who had struck for their rights as free workers and as citizens under the laws of the State of Colorado. Plainly it was not John R. Lawson who was on trial but organized labor.

Let us see the further actions of some of those whom Mr. Bowers had “lined up” for the Rockefeller interests against the men who dared aid their fellow workers to obtain some consideration for their rights and interests. For instance, in Colorado, Attorney-General Fred Farrar boasts that in the case of John R. Lawson he has secured the first conviction of a strike leader on the charge of being directly responsible for the death of a man who had been killed in a strike riot.

Jesse G. Northcutt, the prosecuting attorney, had formerly been attorney for the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company.

The jury, made up of men brought in from the highways and byways, was chosen by open venue instead of drawing names from the jury box. Among those jurors was W. W. Wilson, traveling salesman for the National Biscuit Company. According to general information, Mr. Wilson has exclusive right to sales in the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company district.

The bailiffs in charge of the jury were mine guards.

One of the witnesses against John R. Lawson was Lieutenant K. E. Linderfeldt. Linderfeldt! The man who killed Louis Tikas, who was tried before a military court for the death of the Greek, found guilty of unsoldierly conduct and reprimanded. John R. Lawson was tried before this specially prepared tribunal, found guilty, not of murder or violence, but because he belonged to a labor organization, the members of which were on strike and who defended themselves, their wives and children against wholesale slaughter. He was sentenced to imprisonment for life.

Other witnesses upon whose testimony John R. Lawson was convicted were a Mexican boy, formerly a mine guard, employed by the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, two other mine guards, one of whom had been a Wyoming cowboy, and was a fugitive from justice in that State. Another group of witnesses declared they had been hired to act as body guards for the officers of the United Mine Workers, but were afterwards revealed in their true identity—Baldwin-Feltz detectives willing to kill for $3 or $4 a day.

The court admitted as evidence against Lawson, acts and declarations of men and women outside of his presence and without his sanction.

In the motion for re-trial, the lawyers for Mr. Lawson filed the affidavits of three jurors to show that the bailiff, Frank Gooden, brought undue influence to bear on a juror standing for acquittal to force him to agree to a verdict against Lawson. Bailiff Gooden falsely represented to Hall that Hall's wife was dangerously ill, and also that the jury would be denied food unless they agreed on a verdict.

Does not this trial, or rather this persecution, of John R. Lawson verify the statement of Mr. Bowers that steps had been taken “to drive these vicious agitators out of the State?” What more effective method could have been chosen to put the leaders in prison, aye in prison for life?

Is it not evident that this part of a deliberately planned and executed scheme to get rid of labor agitators whose agitation would inevitably result in greater freedom and justice for the miners?

The organized labor movement of America will not submit to this manifest injustice and travesty of the rights of free men. And the workers must bear in mind that they will never have the rights of free men nor the opportunities of liberty until they assert their rights and make their demands effective.

Their hope for the future lies in economic organization. When that is attained, opportunity for exercise of rights and necessary activities for self-betterment is made possible.

Even the Rockefeller millions can not block the irresistible power of free workers who know their rights and have an organization to enforce them.

Organize, miners of Colorado, and you can make effective your protest against great injustice done to John R. Lawson. You can rescue this faithful leader from a living death. The labor movement of America is with you, to support your demands by co-operation and affirmation. Liberty-loving men the country over will unite to right this great wrong. Meet, protest, and demand that there shall not be one law for Lawson and another for Rockefeller and the other Rockefellers even of another name.

Organize for freedom and justice!

WANTED INFORMATION.

Concerning one John Antone Flury, a cook. About thirty-five years old, light complexion; last heard of around Spokane, Wash., Coeur d'Alene, and St. Maries, Idaho, about a year ago, by his brother, Peter Flury, Local 524, Miles City, Mont.

OAKLAND, CAL., June 16, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—I would like for you to put an ad in the MIXER AND SERVER. I want to find a brother of mine; haven't heard from him in fifteen years; he is in British Columbia; the last I heard from him was in Vancouver, B. C. He first started out as a carpenter, then as an architect and contractor. His name is A. J. Allyn. Our home is at Washougal, Clark County, Washington. We were raised together there and he left home quite young.

Yours truly,

HENRY ALLYN,
434 Eleventh Street, Oakland, Cal.

PRESIDENT'S PAGE

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 25, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month of July:

The Eighteenth General Convention is now a matter of history and it can be well written in the biography of our International Union as being one of the best and most successful conventions that the International Union has ever held, and let it be said to the credit and glory of each and every delegate in attendance at the convention that to them, and them alone, can the grand success that was achieved be credited to. Every delegate gave his or her earnest attention to the work of the convention and its committees, and aided by their counsel and advice the enactment of many laws that will prove beneficial to the future welfare and success of our International Union. Loyal in their efforts, true to their principles and devout in their work, brings to the rank and file that they represented, a better International, with better opportunities for bigger achievements and a closer affiliation of hearts that will in the future beat in unison, harmony and tranquility.

The local arrangement committee put forth every effort to make the stay of the delegates and their ladies pleasing and enjoyable, and they can feel highly complimented on the manner in which they did their work. A trip to the Exposition grounds; theatre parties and auto rides for the ladies; an all-day trip on the famous San Francisco Bay, and winding up their program of entertainment with one of the most stupendous and elaborate banquet and ball that it has ever been my pleasure and honor to participate in. Your humble servant was also honored by being presented with a very handsome gavel with a silver band encircling it, containing the following inscription:

Presented to

BROTHER EDWARD FLORE,

General President

H. and R. E. I. A. and B. I. L. of America

by the

1915 Convention Committee

San Francisco, Cal. June 14, 1915

I was also the recipient of several invitations during my stay to accept of the hospitality of a number of friends, all of which I am grateful for, and regret that the work of the convention and the General Executive Board would not permit of their acceptance; I might state, however, that there was one exception to that, and that was to accept an invitation to dinner from Brother and Mrs. A. Condrotte, which was very much appreciated and enjoyed.

On my way home from the convention city, I stopped off at Salt Lake City—the home of the Mormons—and surprised our "old friend" Joe Lane by accosting him on Main street and saying "Howdy, Joe." After explaining why I failed to advise him of the time of my arrival, we started to visit and called on Brothers Prichard, Starley, Ringholz, McCann and several other boys whose names I do not recall at this time. I also visited the headquarters of Local 815, and met Brother McKee and Brother Wessel of Local 8, Denver. In company with Brother Starley I attended the organ recital held at the Mormon's Tabernacle, and later enjoyed an auto ride through the beautiful canons and country surrounding their city; was the guest of Brother and Mrs. Prichard at dinner, which was very much appreciated and enjoyed, and winding up my visit with a trip to Salt Air. Thanks, boys.

To Denver, where I was met by Brother Wessel, who arrived ahead of me on a special and who, upon his arrival, was greeted with a shower of rice in honor of him taking onto himself a little of that California air, but some say it was for another reason—Brothers Croskey, Lott, Yates, Givens and Lonsdales. Visited the several headquarters of our local unions and enjoyed an auto ride through the beautiful parks of that city. Denver is making a hard fight to remain on the map after January 1, 1916, and from all accounts they will be able to do so. Let us hope those accounts are accurate and that our boys in Local 8 will be able to enjoy the privileges of following their chosen field in that city for many years to come. You have my best wishes, not only to continue in your chosen field, but to better your working conditions, so that you will be able to enjoy a little more of this world's goods.

To Kansas City, where I was met by Brother Anderson, Brother and Mrs. Hiles, and Vice-President and Mrs. Foster. Had the pleasure of enjoying a dinner as the guest of Brother and Mrs. Anderson, which was very much appreciated; later called at the headquarters of Local 420. The following day visited the several headquarters of our local unions and met with several of the officers and members; enjoyed dinner as the guest of Brothers Glover and Franklin, and held a conference with Sister Green. Later called on several of the boys that were on duty.

To St. Louis, where I arrived unannounced; called at the headquarters of our local unions and attended a meeting of Local 51 and installed their officers. My stay in that city was rather brief, therefore I did not have an opportunity to get in touch with many of the officers of our local unions.

On the 19th I visited the city of Syracuse in the interest of Local 76.

My expense account for the month is as follows:

Pullmans	$22 50
Extra fare train	2 00
Validation of ticket.....	50
July 19th, Syracuse and return.....	5 96
Postage	4 00
Telegrams, baggage, checking and car fare	6 06
Traveling expenses	30 00

$71 02

Respectfully submitted,

EDWARD FLORE,
General President.

Decision No. 606.

LOS ANGELES, CAL., May 25, 1915.

MR. O. F. HEFFELFINGER, Secretary, Local 848, 209
San Antonio St., El Paso, Texas:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—I have before me the appeal taken by you against the action of Local 848, in directing you to pay sick benefits to a member who was not entitled to the same in accordance with the by-laws of the local union.

Your appeal is sustained on the grounds that the by-laws of the local union governing the payments of sick benefits must be complied with. (provided that they do not conflict with the laws and regulations of the International Union), and a local union by passing a resolution cannot set aside those by-laws. With greetings,

Respectfully submitted,

EDWARD FLORE,
General President.

Decision No. 607.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., June 19, 1915.

MISS LAURA MOLLEDA, Secretary, Local 48, 149
Mason Street, San Francisco, Cal.:

DEAR MISS AND SISTER—I have before me the appeal of Sister Minnie Andrews against the action of Local 48, in prohibiting her from seeking office in Local 48; in accordance with the International constitution and the local by-laws, Sister Andrews is entitled to the right to hold office if elected and the local union erred in declining to permit her to be nominated. Local 48 is therefore directed to permit her name to be placed upon the ballot for the election that is to be held in June of this year. With greetings,

Respectfully submitted,

EDWARD FLORE,
General President.

Decision No. 608.

July 6, 1915.

MR. FRED EBELING, Secretary, Local 865, 167 N.
La Salle Street, Chicago, Ill.:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—I have your communication of the 1st, wherein you ask for a decision on the following:

"Our semi-annual election was held June 24, 1915; after the election a protest was made, for the following reasons: That two of the nominees, whose names appeared upon the ballot, were not in good standing with the International Union, both of them being more than two months in arrears for dues. Both of them were elected; are they entitled to assume the said offices, or was their election illegal?"

The two members referred to, having been in bad standing with the International Union at the time of their election and having been under suspension in accordance with Section 60, were not eligible to seek any office within the gift of any local union; therefore their election to office was illegal and is null and void and the local union is directed to proceed in the regular manner to fill the said offices to which the said members referred to above were elected.

In reference to the validity of the balance of the election, your attention is called to decision No. 584. April, 1915, issue of the MIXER AND SERVER.) With greetings,

Respectfully submitted,

EDWARD FLORE,
General President.

Decision No. 609.

July 7, 1915.

MR. MAX HASSENBERG, Secretary, Local 2, 139
Evergreen Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—I have your communication of May 22nd, wherein you ask for a decision on the following:

"If a member owes July dues and half of August and is taken sick, is he entitled to sick stamps for the months of July and August and until he is able to return to work?"

"Section 165. Members who are in good standing in the International Union, who become ill and are thus unable to follow their vocation, shall receive on the first day of each month during their illness, a properly canceled due stamp, etc."

"In good standing in the International Union." A member is in good standing with the International Union if he is not over two calendar months in arrears; therefore, if a member is within that period, he is entitled to all the rights that are accorded him by that section. (Section 165.)

The member referred to above, who was taken sick while owing July and half of August dues, was not in bad standing with the International Union, hence he was entitled to sick stamps. With greetings,

Respectfully submitted,

EDWARD FLORE,
General President.

Decision No. 610.

July 10, 1915.

MR. JOS. BECKMANN, Secretary, Local 663, 108
Pike Street, Covington, Ky.:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—I have your communication of the 1st, wherein you ask for a decision on the following:

"Since organizing, we have embodied in our by-laws, that headwaiters on all jobs collect the assessment of five cents per day on steady work and fifteen cents on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, in order to defray the salary and expenses of our business agent. We have employed members of Local 72, Cincinnati, wherever possible; these men have refused to pay the assessment; can we compel them to pay the same?"

A local union has no right, power or authority to assess members of another local union; therefore you cannot compel members of Local 72 to pay any assessments that are levied by Local 663, for the privilege of working in their jurisdiction. With greetings,

Respectfully submitted,

EDWARD FLORE,
General President.

THE MIXER AND SERVER

Decision No. 611.

July 10, 1915.

MR. CHARLES H. DANIELS, Secretary, Local 869,
Box 993, Juneau, Alaska:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—I have your communication of the 23rd ult., wherein you ask for a decision on the following:

"A member of our local has gone into the restaurant business and is now a proprietor. He refuses to take out a withdrawal card and insists on attending our meetings. I have reported him out by withdrawal card on my monthly report to the general office. I contend that he is under the jurisdiction of Local 871, and that he cannot pay dues to Local 869. What is the status of his membership?"

Section 83 says: "Whenever a member of the International Union becomes a proprietor, he may retain membership in a local as a passive member, with neither voice nor vote, etc."

"Section 164. No passive member shall be entitled to a traveling card."

Decision No. 173 will advise you that a local union can debar passive members from attending meetings of the local union.

Therefore, in accordance with the above, the member referred to cannot be compelled to take out a withdrawal card and can remain under the jurisdiction of Local 869, but the local union can deny him the right to attend the meetings of the local union. With greetings,

Respectfully submitted,

EDWARD FLORE,
General President.

Decision No. 612.

July 14, 1915.

MR. WILLIAM J. GUEST, Secretary, Local 285, 285 Weybosset Street, Providence, R. I.:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—I have before me the protest filed by Local 285 against the membership of Brother Owen McCusker. The protest is filed on the following grounds:

"He was initiated in Local 863, West Warwick, R. I., October 4, 1914. At that time he was working at Narragansett Pier, R. I. He was a resident of Providence before going to Narragansett Pier. We make the protest under Section 11 of the constitution, as Local 863 did not refer the application to Local 285 and receive their consent. On December 15, 1914, Local 863 issued a traveling card to Brother Owen McCusker and he deposited it with Local 285. We also claim that Brother McCusker should have applied to Local 285 instead of Local 863."

Local 863 assumes the following position:

Brother Owen McCusker was never engaged as a bartender in the jurisdiction of Local 285, having been in the liquor business for himself for a number of years before going to work at Narragansett Pier. He went to work at the Pier July 1, 1914; was proposed for membership in Local 863 in September, 1914, and was initiated October 4, 1914; applied for and was issued a traveling card December 15, 1914, and deposited the same with Local 285, December 16, 1914. In lieu of the statement made by Local 285, that they violated Section 11, in that they did not get the consent of Local 285 to the membership of Brother McCusker, they offer the following letter, which was addressed to Brother McCusker by the then secretary-business agent of Local 285, typewritten and on the letterhead of Local 285, and signed Phil Agnew:

"Mr. William J. Guest, Secretary.

"Dear Sir—Yours of the 30th received and was pleased to hear from you. Also pleased to hear that you are working at the Pier.

"There has never been any doubt in my mind as to your willingness to join our union. The question arises whether you are not more eligible for membership in the Warwick local than the local in this city; certainly the difference in initiation fee of $50.00 here and $10.00 in Warwick should appeal to you; would advise that you make application to Warwick local. Anything that I can do to help matters along, will be only too pleased to do. Trusting that you will do this and with best wishes to yourself and family, I am respectfully yours."

(The above letter was dated August 1, 1914.)

They further contend that their local union is nearer Narragansett Pier than is Local 285, hence their right to accept into their local union, men engaged as bartenders at the said Pier.

Local 285 submits three affidavits; one from each of the following officers of the said local, William J. Guest, Peter Bowen and M. A. Ney, all and each of them certifying to the fact that the letter referred to above was written on ordinary paper and bore no official stamp of any kind. Brother Ney certifying further that the communication was written in ink. Notwithstanding the submission of these affidavits, I have the original communication referred to above in my possession and the same is typewritten and on the official letterhead of Local 285.

There has been no question raised as to the qualifications of Brother McCusker for membership, Local 285 contending that he should have made application to their local instead of Local 863, and submit the following:

"Mr. McCusker never applied for membership in Providence local and never intimated that he desired to become a member. We have no grievance against him and no doubt he would have been received in good grace had he applied for membership here."

Local 285 contends further that the action of their secretary was without the sanction of the local, hence not official.

After carefully going over the above statements, as well as a large amount of other correspondence bearing on this case, I have reached the following conclusions:

In view of the fact that the protest is made under Section 11, the main point at issue is, was the letter sent to Brother McCusker on August 1, 1914, by the then secretary of Local 285, a legal instrument and was Local 863 justified in accepting the same as official.

While the contents of the letter referred to may not have received the approval of Local 285, yet the action of the secretary in granting the consent, was sufficient for Local 863 to assume that it was with the approval of the local union. If the Secretary exceeded his authority, that was a matter for the local union to adjust with the Secretary, but it could not invalidate the action of another local union taken in good faith. I therefore hold that the letter referred to, having been written on the official stationary of the local union and over the signature of its secretary, was an official letter and Local 863 was justified in so considering it.

There having been no evidence brought forth, that Brother McCusker did maliciously or with a desire to evade the high initiation fee or qualifying examination of Local 285, make application to Local 863, but on the contrary, did so upon the advice of the secretary of the local union having jurisdiction over the city, that he had formerly resided in and where he was engaged in the liquor business. Therefore the protest is denied and the action of Local 863 sustained. With greetings,

Respectfully submitted,
EDWARD FLORE,
General President.

Decision No. 613.

July 17, 1915.

MR. R. J. LYONS, Secretary, Local 755, Box 905,
Port Arthur, Texas:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—I have your communication of the 12th, wherein you ask for a decision on the following questions:

"Can a man not a member of our local act as secretary?"

One of the necessary qualifications required of one holding an office in our local unions, is that he be a member in good standing with the International Union; non-members are not qualified to hold office.

"Can members work in restaurants where Asiatics are employed and can we display our label or card in the said establishments?"

The following resolution was adopted at the Eighteenth General convention.

"We recommend that no member of our International Union be permitted to work with Asiatics, and that no house card or bar card or union button be displayed in such place.

"Provided, however, that the enforcement of the provision relating to members working in an establishment where Asiatics are employed shall be left in the hands of the local involved in a locality where no Local Joint Executive Board exists, and in a locality where such Board exists, in the hands of such Local Joint Executive Board."

The action of the convention in adopting this resolution, places the matter up to the L. J. E. B. of your city to decide, but in no case can the card, label or union button of our International be displayed. With greetings,

Respectfully submitted,
EDWARD FLORE,
General President.

Decision No. 614.

July 17, 1915.

MR. RICHARD PIPPING, Secretary, Local 115, 701 N. Eighth Street, Philadelphia, Pa.:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—I have before me the charges filed by Local 115 against Local 279; the charges are as follows:

"That Local 279 did advertise and hire a suspended member of Local 115; the business agent of Local 115 did advise the secretary of Local 279 that the said suspended member could not work until he had become reinstated, but in defiance to that advice the secretary of Local 279 did engage the said suspended member to work for Local 279, which was in violation of the last paragraph of Section 168."

Local 279 presents the following defense:

"That the secretary on several occasions requested the business agent of Local 115 to furnish him with a man, which he was unable to do, as the position required a man to be steward, bartender and porter. We then did the next best thing and advertised, and when we engaged the said suspended member of Local 115, he agreed to reinstate himself to membership."

There appears to be a question of veracity involved in this matter; however, notwithstanding that, I am of the opinion that Local 279 erred in their judgment in employing this suspended member of Local 115 prior to his reinstatement to membership. If, as he states, he endeavored to engage a member through the representative of Local 115, and the said representative could not furnish him with a man, then he did not violate the last paragraph of Section 168, but he should have seen to it that the man that he did engage was a member of Local 115 in good standing and should not have permitted him to become engaged until his membership was properly adjusted. With greetings.

Respectfully submitted,
EDWARD FLORE,
General President.

Decision No. 615.

July 21, 1915.

MR. HY REILMANN, Secretary, Local 325, Box 384, Breese, Ill.:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—I have your communication of the 10th, wherein you protest the membership of Paul Schaffner, who presented to Local 325 a traveling card issued by Local 332. The protest is made on the grounds that Section 11 of the International Union constitution was violated, in that the said Mr. Paul Schaffner has been a partner in the firm of Grunz and Schaffner and has been conducting a saloon business in the city of Breese for the past two and one-half years, that on June 1st, the said firm sent a communication to the general office, stating that their business did not merit them working a member of Local 325 and that Local 325 had notified them that they would remove the bar label from their establishment unless they employed a member and they desired to know if it was not possible for them to retain the label without employing a member of Local 325. After they were advised that they could not retain the bar label unless they employed a member, the said Mr. Paul Schaffner goes to East St. Louis, Ill., makes application to Local 332 and is accepted as a member. A few weeks later he presents a traveling card with this local. His name is still on the license issued to the firm of Grunz and Schaffner.

The following statement is made by acting secretary O'Hara of Local 332:

"When Paul Schaffner made application for membership in this local he stated that he was born in East St. Louis, Ill. That he was employed at 417 Colls Avenue, and that he had followed the business for the space of two years in a town—I think he said Campville, Ill.—where there was no local union of our International. I was acting secretary, while Brother Keith was away and did not understand the procedure necessary in cases of that kind."

In view of the fact that the said Paul Schaffner made false statements to Local 332 at the time that he made application for membership in the said local and that he held partnership in the firm of Grunz and Schaffner, doing a saloon business in the city of Breese, his name appearing on the license of the said firm and further, all evidence points to the fact that he left the city of Bresse for the purpose of becoming a member of the International Union and returning to the said city with a union card, which would enable the firm that he was a member of to retain the bar label which Local 325 had notified them they would remove unless they would employ a member of the said local union. All of these facts and others, prove that the said Paul Schaffner did secure his membership through false and illegal methods. Therefore, the said membership of Paul Schaffner in this International Union is hereby canceled and the traveling card issued to him is null and void and should be returned to Local 332 and Local 332 is directed to note on their next report to the International Union the above cancellation. With greetings,

Respectfully submitted,
EDWARD FLORE,
General President.

Decision No. 616.

July 22, 1915.

MR. CHARLES E. SANDS, Secretary, Local 273, 22 E. Court Street, Springfield, Mass.:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—I have your communication of the 15th, wherein you ask for a decision on the following:

"Is a member working in a union hotel clerking, not serving food or drinks, entitled to a withdrawal card?"

All branches of the hotel industry come under the jurisdiction of our International Union, that includes the clerk, as well as the cook, waiter, bartender and all other employees in the establishment. A hotel clerk in cities where no local of hotel clerks exist, can carry his membership in the International Union as a member-at-large and where members of our local unions become hotel clerks—in cities where no local of hotel Clerks exist—they may retain their membership in the local union that they are affiliated with, or transfer the same to the International Union and be classified as a hotel clerk, holding membership-at-large. Therefore, the member referred to is not entitled to a withdrawal card. With greetings,

Respectfully submitted,
EDWARD FLORE,
General President.

Decision No. 617.

July 25, 1915.

MR. EDWARD F. JONES, Secretary, Local 93, 23 Walnut Street, Haverhill, Mass.:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—I have your communication of the 22nd, wherein you ask for a decision on the following:

"A member holding a withdrawal card secured a position as bartender at a summer resort. We have requested him to deposit his withdrawal card, but he claims that summer resort work does not come under the jurisdiction of any local union and that he does not have to deposit his withdrawal card. Does a member holding a withdrawal card and working at a summer resort, have to deposit his withdrawal card?"

A member holding a withdrawal card, accepting either regular or occasional employment at any of our crafts, whether it be in a city, at a summer resort, or any other place or calling, must deposit his withdrawal card in accordance with Section 77 and under penalty prescribed by Section 81.

Therefore the member referred to, who is working at a summer resort, must deposit his withdrawal card and renew his active membership. With greetings,

Respectfully submitted,
EDWARD FLORE,
General President.

Decision No. 618.

July 25, 1915.

MR. ELMER E. OWENS, Secretary, Local 55, Box 1525, Edmonton, Alta.:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—I have before me the charges filed by Local 55, against Brother John Gemaker, a member of Local 33. The said member is charged with having entered the employment of the Club Cafe after the said place had been declared unfair to Local 55, thereby violating his obligation to the International Union. Brother Gemaker has not replied to the said charges. After waiting the customary length of time for a statement from the defendant and receiving none, I am forced to assume that the said defendant is guilty of the charge and do so adjudge him.

As a punishment, I do hereby penalize him the sum of $10.00 and he is hereby suspended from the International Union until the said fine is paid and Local 33, of which he is a suspended member is hereby directed not to reinstate him to membership without the consent of this office. With greetings,

Respectfully submitted,
EDWARD FLORE,
General President.

"INVICTUS."

Out of the night that covers me,
Black as the pit from pole to pole,
I thank whatever gods may be
For my unconquerable soul.

In the fell clutch of circumstance
I have not winced nor cried aloud.
Under the bludgeonings of chance
My head is bloody, but unbowed.

Beyond the place of wrath and tears
Looms but the horror of the shade.
And yet the menace of the years
Finds, and shall find, me unafraid.

It matters not how straight the gate,
How charged with punishment the scroll.
I am the master of my fate,
I am the captain of my soul.

—WILLIAM ERNEST HENLEY.

CLEANSERS.

If nickel plating has not been destroyed, a simple process will renew the luster. Prepare a mixture of fifty parts of alcohol and one part of sulphuric acid. Dip the article in this solution for exactly ten minutes, not longer, then rinse with clear water quickly and thoroughly. Wash once more with pure alcohol and then rub with a soft cloth until dry. It is surprisingly successful.

Pulverized burnt alum will clean gold lace. Apply with a brush and all the powder that remains after the cleaning will be carefully removed.—Exchange.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY-TREASURER FOR JULY, 1915.

Local No.

W	1	New York, N. Y.	June, 1915
W	2	Brooklyn, N. Y.	June, "
B	3	New York, N. Y.	June, "
B	4	Hoboken, N. J.	June, "
M	6	Boston, Mass.	June, "
B	8	Denver, Colo.	June, "
W	10	Hoboken, N. J.	June, "
WC	11	New York City	July,
B	12	San Antonio, Tex.	July,
W	14	Denver, Colo.	June, "
W	17	Los Angeles, Cal.	June, "
C	18	Denver, Colo.	June, "
W	19	Kansas City, Mo.	June, "
W	20	St. Louis, Mo.	June, "
M	24	Cripple Creek, Colo.	June, "
C	27	Los Angeles, Cal.	June, "
M	28	Vancouver, B. C.	June, "
B	29	New York, N. Y.	June, "
W	30	San Francisco, Cal.	June, "
M	31	Oakland, Cal.	June, "
C	33	Seattle, Wash.	June, "
W	35	Chicago, Ill.	June, "
B	36	Sharon, Pa.	July,
B	37	Decatur, Ill.	June,
B	38	Hammond, Ind.	June,
B	40	Dunkirk, N. Y.	July,
B	41	San Francisco, Cal.	June,
M	43	Pueblo, Colo.	June,
C	44	San Francisco, Cal.	June,
WS	48	San Francisco, Cal.	June,
B	49	Savannah, Ga.	May,
B	51	St. Louis, Mo.	June,
M	52	Colorado Springs, Colo.	July,
M	55	Edmonton, Alta., Can.	June,
M	59	Milwaukee, Wis.	June,
B	60	DuQuoin, Ill.	June,
M	61	Tacoma, Wash.	June,
M	62	Fresno, Cal.	June,
B	64	Milwaukee, Wis.	June,
B	67	Springfield, Mass.	June,
B	68	Cincinnati, O.	June,
M	69	Galveston, Tex.	June,
B	70	Brooklyn, N. Y.	June,
B	71	Connellsburg, Pa.	July,
W	72	Cincinnati, O.	July,
B	73	Ekhart, Ind.	Aug.,
B	76	Syracuse, N. Y.	July,
B	77	Boston, Mass.	June,
B	78	Uniontown, Pa.	July,
B	79	Louisville, Ky.	Aug.,
W	80	Boston, Mass.	June,
B	81	Holyoke, Mass.	June,
B	82	Westfield, Mass.	July,
B	83	Woburn, Mass.	June,
B	84	Taunton, Mass.	Aug.,
B	85	Lowell, Mass.	June,
B	86	Lynn, Mass.	July,
B	87	Athol, Mass.	July,
M	88	Louisville, Ky.	July,
B	90	Lawrence, Mass.	July,
B	91	Newburyport, Mass.	Aug.,
B	92	Marlboro, Mass.	June,
B	93	Haverhill, Mass.	June,
B	95	Worcester, Mass.	June,
B	96	Milford, Mass.	July,
B	97	Fitchburg, Mass.	May,
WS	98	Los Angeles, Cal.	June,
B	99	Fall River, Mass.	June,
B	100	New Bedford, Mass.	July,
M	101	Great Falls, Mont.	June,
B	102	Granite City, Ill.	July,
B	104	Guelph, Ont.	June,
W	106	Cleveland, O.	June,
WS	107	Cleveland, O.	June,
B	108	Cleveland, O.	June,
W	109	Newark, N. J.	June,
M	110	San Francisco, Cal.	June,
M	111	Oatman, Ariz.	July,
WS	112	Boston, Mass.	June,
B	113	Northampton, Mass.	June,
B	114	Pittsfield, Mass.	July,
B	115	Philadelphia, Pa.	June,
B	116	Chicopee, Mass.	June,
B	117	Belleville, Ill.	July,
B	118	New York, N. Y.	Apr.,
M	119	Silverton, Colo.	June,
B	120	Utica, N. Y.	June,
B	123	Ware, Mass.	June,
B	124	Trenton, N. J.	July,
B	125	North Adams, Mass.	Aug.,
B	126	Oneonta, N. Y.	June,
B	127	Massillon, O.	July,
B	128	Cortland, N. Y.	July,
M	129	Leadville, Colo.	July,
B	131	Newark, N. J.	July,

Local No.

B	133	Geneva, N. Y.	June, 1915
B	134	Scranton, Pa.	June, "
B	136	Norwich, N. Y.	July,
B	137	London, Ont.	June,
B	139	Lincoln, Ill.	June,
B	141	New York, N. Y.	June,
B	142	Astoria, Ore.	June,
B	144	Batavia, N. Y.	June,
B	147	Greenfield, Mass.	July,
B	148	Thompsonville, Conn.	June,
B	149	Newport, Ky.	July,
W	150	Syracuse, N. Y.	June,
B	151	Gloucester, Mass.	July,
B	152	Minneapolis, Minn.	July,
B	153	Quincy, Ill.	June,
M	154	Wilkes Barre, Pa.	June,
M	155	Reading, Pa.	July,
B	156	Paducah, Ky.	July,
B	157	Woonsocket, R. I.	Aug.,
B	159	Meriden, Conn.	July,
M	161	Brockton, Mass.	June,
B	163	McKeepsport, Pa.	Aug.,
B	166	New Britain, Conn.	June,
C	167	Cleveland, O.	June,
B	169	Hamilton, O.	July,
B	170	Lima, O.	Apr.,
B	171	Rochester, N. Y.	June,
B	173	Binghamton, N. Y.	June,
B	175	Buffalo, N. Y.	June,
M	180	San Jose, Cal.	June,
B	181	Easton, Pa.	June,
B	182	Brantford, Ont.	June,
B	184	Ottumwa, Ia.	June,
B	187	Bradford, Pa.	July,
B	188	Pittsburg, Pa.	June,
B	190	Bethlehem, Pa.	June,
B	192	Atlanta, Ga.	Aug.,
B	193	Pawtucket, R. I.	June,
B	194	Warren, Pa.	July,
B	195	Gloversville, N. Y.	June,
W	196	Buffalo, N. Y.	July,
B	197	Hamilton, Ont.	July,
B	199	Jamestown, N. Y.	Aug.,
B	200	Hartford, Conn.	June,
B	202	Canton, O.	July,
C	203	St. Louis, Mo.	June,
B	204	Elmira, N. Y.	June,
B	206	Ft. Worth, Tex.	July,
B	207	Troy, N. Y.	June,
M	209	Pittsburg, Pa.	June,
B	210	Seneca Falls, N. Y.	July,
B	212	Youngstown, O.	June,
B	213	Pana, Ill.	June,
B	215	Wausau, Wis.	June,
M	216	Toledo, O.	June,
B	217	New Haven, Conn.	July,
B	218	Streator, Ill.	July,
W	219	New York, N. Y.	July,
M	220	Eureka, Cal.	June,
B	221	Kewanee, Ill.	Aug.,
B	222	Dayton, O.	July,
M	223	Des Moines, Ia.	July,
B	224	Erie, Pa.	July,
B	225	Meadville, Pa.	July,
B	227	Collinsville, Ill.	June,
B	228	Albany, N. Y.	July,
B	229	Derby, Conn.	May,
B	230	Auburn, N. Y.	June,
B	231	Newport News, Va.	July,
B	235	Oil City, Pa.	Apr.,
B	236	Olean, N. Y.	July,
B	237	Sudbury, Ont.	May,
W	239	Seattle, Wash.	June,
WS	240	Seattle, Wash.	June,
B	241	Murphysboro, Ill.	July,
B	243	Alton, Ill.	June,
B	246	South Bend, Ind.	June,
B	248	Birmingham, Ala.	July,
WS	249	St. Louis, Mo.	June,
B	252	Mansfield, O.	July,
B	253	Alliance, O.	Aug.,
B	254	Waterbury, Conn.	June,
B	255	Danbury, Conn.	July,
B	256	Bridgeport, Conn.	June,
B	257	Sayre, Pa.	June,
B	259	Edwardsville, Ill.	June,
B	260	Braddock, Pa.	July,
WC	261	Louisville, Ky.	June,
B	262	Newcastle, Pa.	Aug.,
B	263	Camden, N. J.	May,
B	264	Omaha, Neb.	June,
C	266	Kansas City, Mo.	June,
B	269	South Norwalk, Conn.	June,
B	272	Clinton, Mass.	July,

Local No.

M	273	Springfield, Mass.	June, 1915
M	274	Marshalltown, Ia.	July,
B	278	New Brighton, Pa.	June,
W	279	Philadelphia, Pa.	June,
B	280	Toronto, Ont.	June,
B	282	Pueblo, Colo.	June,
B	283	Torrington, Conn.	Aug.,
B	284	Los Angeles, Cal.	June,
B	285	Providence, R. I.	June,
B	286	Peoria, Ill.	July,
B	287	St. Paul, Minn.	June,
B	289	Fremont, Neb.	July,
B	292	Wheeling, W. Va.	June,
B	293	Peterboro, Ont., Can.	June,
C	294	Newark, N. J.	June,
M	295	Douglas, Ariz.	June,
M	296	New Bedford, Mass.	July,
B	297	Ridgeway, Pa.	June,
B	298	Wallace, Idaho	July,
W	300	Toronto, Canada	June,
B	302	Butte, Mont.	June,
M	304	Hartford, Conn.	June,
B	305	Ft. Wayne, Ind.	July,
B	309	Portsmouth, N. H.	July,
B	310	International Falls, Minn.	June,
B	312	Chattanooga, Tenn.	July,
B	313	Little Rock, Ark.	June,
B	315	Montreal, Canada	May,
B	316	Alamosa, Colo.	June,
B	317	Jacksonville, Fla.	June,
B	318	Putnam, Conn.	July,
B	320	Schenectady, N. Y.	June,
B	321	Havre, Mont.	July,
B	322	Racine, Wis.	June,
B	324	Appleton, Wis.	July,
B	325	Breese, Ill.	June,
B	331	Beloit, Wis.	June,
M	332	East St. Louis, Ill.	June,
B	334	Roundup, Mont.	May,
WS	335	Toledo, O.	May,
M	337	Cheyenne, Wyo.	June,
M	338	Knoxville, Tenn.	June,
B	339	Portland, Ore.	June,
B	340	Orange, N. J.	June,
B	341	Logansport, Ind.	June,
B	343	DeSoto, Mo.	Aug.,
C	344	Syracuse, N. Y.	June,
B	345	Watertown, N. Y.	June,
M	348	San Antonio, Tex.	June,
B	349	Oshkosh, Wis.	July,
B	350	Vincennes, Ind.	May,
B	351	Charleroi, Pa.	July,
WC	353	St. Louis, Mo.	June,
B	354	Burlington, Ia.	July,
B	355	Yonkers, N. Y.	June,
B	356	New London, Conn.	June,
B	357	Sioux City, Ia.	June,
B	358	Wallingford, Conn.	July,
B	360	Mullan, Idaho	May,
B	361	Allentown, Pa.	July,
B	365	Moorhead, Minn.	July,
B	366	Cumberland, Md.	May,
B	367	Norwich, Conn.	June,
B	370	Gardner, Mass.	July,
M	373	Shamokin, Pa.	May,
B	376	South Chicago, Ill.	June,
B	377	Plainfield, N. J.	July,
B	378	Bakersfield, Cal.	Aug.,
B	379	Kankakee, Ill.	July,
M	380	Bisbee, Ariz.	May,
C	381	Brooklyn, N. Y.	July,
B	382	Boone, Ia.	June,
B	383	Mt. Vernon, N. Y.	June,
B	386	Hanibal, Mo.	Aug.,
B	387	Evansville, Ind.	June,
B	389	Carnekie, Pa.	June,
B	390	Montgomery, Ala.	May,
B	391	Roslyn, Wash.	July,
B	393	Three Forks, Mont.	June,
B	395	Grand Rapids, Mich.	July,
B	397	Norwalk, O.	June,
B	398	Manchester, N. H.	June,
B	399	Lincoln, Neb.	July,
M	400	Spokane, Wash.	June,
W	402	San Diego, Cal.	June,
B	403	Stockton, Cal.	July,
B	404	Dover, N. J.	June,
W	405	Philadelphia, Pa.	June,
B	406	Eureka, Cal.	June,
C	408	St. Paul, Minn.	May,
M	411	Muskegon, Mich.	July,
B	412	Newark, O.	June,
B	414	Lethbridge, Ont., Can.	July,

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY-TREASURER—Continued.

Local No.

B 417 Mt. Pleasant, Pa.	July, 1915
B 419 Memphis, Tenn.	June, "
B 420 Kansas City, Mo.	June, "
B 421 Newport, R. I.	July, "
B 422 St. Joseph, Mo.	June, "
B 423 Columbus, O.	June, "
M 428 Wallace, Idaho	June, "
C 427 Missoula, Mont.	June, "
B 428 Washington, D. C.	June, "
B 429 Portsmouth, O.	July, "
B 431 East Liverpool, O.	May, "
B 432 Miles City, Mont.	July, "
M 434 Toronto, Ont., Can.	July, "
B 435 Nelson, B. C., Can.	June, "
B 436 Rock Springs, Wyo.	May, "
B 437 Indianapolis, Ind.	July, "
B 438 Poughkeepsie, N. Y.	July, "
C 439 Montreal, Canada	June, "
W 443 Evansville, Ind.	June, "
W 444 Peoria, Ill.	Aug., "
B 445 Mojave, Cal.	June, "
B 447 Pensacola, Fla.	June, "
B 449 Altoona, Pa.	June, "
M 451 Everett, Wash.	June, "
B 454 Everett, Wash.	June, "
B 455 Stamford, Conn.	July, "
B 456 Chicago, Ill.	June, "
B 457 Butte, Mont.	June, "
C 458 Minneapolis, Minn.	June, "
M 459 Victoria, B. C.	June, "
B 461 Springfield, Mo.	June, "
B 463 Cle Elum, Wash.	June, "
B 465 Macon, Ga.	May, "
B 466 Wilmington, Del.	July, "
B 468 Madison, Wis.	July, "
B 469 Middletown, Conn.	July, "
M 470 Ellensburg, Wash.	June, "
M 473 Bellingham, Wash.	May, "
B 478 The Dalles, Ore.	July, "
B 479 LaCrosse, Wis.	May, "
B 480 Henderson, Ky.	June, "
B 482 Butler, Pa.	July, "
W 483 Ottumwa, Ia.	June, "
WS 484 Chicago, Ill.	June, "
B 485 Spokane, Wash.	June, "
B 486 Fulton, N. Y.	July, "
B 488 Jersey City, N. J.	June, "
M 489 Ft. Wayne, Ind.	June, "
B 491 Atlantic City, N. J.	May, "
WS 493 New York, N. Y.	July, "
R 495 New Rochelle, N. Y.	July, "
B 498 Lewistown, Mont.	June, "
B 499 Springfield, O.	June, "
W 501 Yonkers, N. Y.	June, "
WS 503 Kansas City, Mo.	June, "
B 504 Terre Haute, Ind.	July, "
M 505 Columbus, O.	July, "
B 506 Montreal, Canada	June, "
B 507 Chicago, Ill.	June, "
B 513 East Chicago, Ind.	July, "
B 516 Oelwein, Ia.	June, "
B 517 Nashville, Tenn.	July, "
R 518 Ft. Dodge, Ia.	July, "
B 519 Willimantic, Conn.	July, "
B 520 Peru, Ind.	July, "
B 523 Kenosha, Wis.	June, "
M 524 Miles City, Mont.	July, "
B 525 Oakland, Cal.	June, "
B 528 Johnston, Pa.	May, "
B 527 Dubuque, Ia.	June, "
B 529 Branford, Conn.	May, "
B 531 Jefferson City, Mo.	Aug., "
B 532 Baltimore, Md.	June, "
B 533 Helena, Mont.	July, "
B 534 Gary, Ind.	June, "
B 535 Keokuk, Ia.	July, "
B 542 San Rafael, Cal.	July, "
B 543 Danville, Ill.	July, "
B 544 Richmond, Ind.	July, "
B 545 Perth Amboy, N. J.	June, "
B 546 Waterloo, Ia.	Aug., "
B 547 Dallas, Tex.	June, "
B 548 Hudson, N. Y.	July, "
B 549 Wichita Falls, Tex.	Aug., "
M 550 Bakersfield, Cal.	June, "
B 551 Akron, O.	Apr., "
CC 552 Richmond, Va.	June, "
B 553 Millvale, Pa.	July, "
B 554 Newark, N. J.	June, "
B 555 North Yakima, Wash.	June, "
B 556 Olympia, Wash.	June, "
B 557 Salida, Colo.	July, "
B 558 San Bernardino, Cal.	July, "
B 559 Ft. Smith, Ark.	June, "
M 561 Sacramento, Cal.	June, "

Local No.

B 562 Detroit, Mich.	June, 1915
B 566 Fresno, Cal.	May, "
M 567 Olympia, Wash.	June, "
B 568 Galesburg, Ill.	June, "
B 569 Harrisburg, Pa.	July, "
M 572 Stockton, Cal.	June, "
B 573 Springfield, Ill.	June, "
B 574 Duluth, Minn.	June, "
W 575 Jersey City, N. J.	June, "
B 577 San Jose, Cal.	July, "
B 585 Charleston, W. Va.	May, "
B 587 Bozeman, Mont.	June, "
B 590 Fond du Lac, Wis.	July, "
B 591 San Pedro, Cal.	July, "
M 592 Winnipeg, Man., Can.	June, "
W 593 Minneapolis, Minn.	June, "
B 594 Argenta, Ark.	July, "
B 595 Richmond, Cal.	June, "
B 596 Superior, Wis.	June, "
B 598 East Grand Forks, Minn.	June, "
C 600 Duluth, Minn.	June, "
B 603 Sacramento, Cal.	June, "
M 606 Winona, Minn.	July, "
B 608 Salem, O.	June, "
B 609 Great Falls, Mont.	June, "
B 610 Hazelton, Pa.	June, "
M 612 Helena, Mont.	July, "
B 613 Lexington, Mo.	July, "
B 614 Marion, Ind.	Aug., "
B 616 Barberston, O.	July, "
M 619 Holoke, Mass.	June, "
B 620 Austin, Tex.	June, "
B 621 Bonne Terre, Mo.	July, "
M 624 North Yakima, Wash.	June, "
B 625 Cape Girardeau, Mo.	July, "
M 626 Walla Walla, Wash.	June, "
B 627 Cairo, Ill.	July, "
B 628 El Paso, Tex.	June, "
W 631 Phoenix, Ariz.	June, "
B 632 Kalispell, Mont.	July, "
B 633 Nashua, N. H.	July, "
B 639 Moline, Ill.	July, "
B 640 Corpus Christi, Tex.	Apr., "
B 642 Newburg, N. Y.	June, "
B 643 Niles, O.	July, "
B 647 Concord, N. H.	July, "
B 648 Paterson, N. J.	June, "
B 649 Chicago, Ill.	May, "
B 651 Seattle, Wash.	May, "
B 652 Moberly, Mo.	Aug., "
B 654 Bryan, Tex.	June, "
B 656 Anderson, Ind.	July, "
B 657 Cheyenne, Wyo.	July, "
M 659 Dallas, Tex.	July, "
B 661 Roanoke, Va.	July, "
W 663 Covington, Ky.	June, "
B 664 Glendale, Mont.	July, "
M 667 Renton, Wash.	July, "
B 669 Helena, Ark.	June, "
B 670 Beardstown, Ill.	June, "
B 671 Jackson, Mich.	July, "
M 673 San Bernardino, Cal.	June, "
B 674 Winnipeg, Man., Can.	June, "
B 675 Oswego, N. Y.	May, "
B 676 Vancouver, B. C.	June, "
B 677 Berlin, N. H.	July, "
B 679 Kellogg and Wardner, Idaho	June, "
M 680 Miami, Ariz.	June, "
B 682 Elizabeth, N. J.	June, "
B 683 St. Thomas, Ont., Can.	Aug., "
B 684 Monongahela, Pa.	June, "
B 685 St. Claire, Wis.	June, "
B 686 Burlington, Vt.	Aug., "
B 687 Bay City, Mich.	July, "
B 689 Passaic, N. J.	June, "
B 690 Owensboro, Ky.	Aug., "
M 692 Virden, Ill.	June, "
C 693 Hoboken, N. J.	June, "
B 694 Watertown, N. Y.	June, "
B 696 Norfolk, Va.	June, "
B 697 Temple, Tex.	June, "
B 699 Marysville, Cal.	June, "
W 700 Paterson, N. J.	June, "
B 701 North Walpole, N. H.	June, "
B 706 Rockville, Conn.	June, "
B 707 Tacoma, Wash.	June, "
B 709 Lordsburg, N. M.	July, "
B 710 Ashland, Wis.	June, "
B 711 Mingo Junction, O.	June, "
B 713 Mansfield, Ore.	June, "
B 714 Joliet, Ill.	July, "
B 716 Rutland, Vt.	July, "

Local No.

C 719 New York City.	July, 1915
B 721 Salt Lake City, Utah.	June, "
B 722 Berlin, Ont., Can.	June, "
B 723 Port Arthur, Tex.	July, "
B 725 Walla Walla, Wash.	June, "
B 729 Ottawa, Ill.	July, "
M 730 Bremerton, Wash.	June, "
B 731 Great Barrington, Mass.	June, "
B 732 Middletown, O.	June, "
B 733 Dover and Somersworth, N. H.	June, "
M 734 Superior, Wis.	July, "
B 737 York, Pa.	July, "
B 738 Baton Rouge, La.	July, "
B 739 Brownsville, Pa.	Aug., "
B 740 South Manchester, Conn.	June, "
B 741 Pasco, Tex.	June, "
B 742 Southbridge, Conn.	June, "
B 743 Natick, Mass.	June, "
B 744 Waco, Tex.	June, "
B 745 Prince Rupert, B. C., Can.	July, "
B 746 Anaconda, Mont.	June, "
W 748 Ft. Worth, Tex.	July, "
B 749 Galveston, Tex.	July, "
B 750 Houston, Tex.	July, "
B 751 Beaumont, Tex.	Aug., "
B 752 Texas City, Tex.	June, "
B 753 Sherbrook, Que., Can.	Apr., "
M 754 San Pedro, Cal.	June, "
M 755 Port Arthur, Tex.	June, "
B 756 Thief River Falls, Minn.	July, "
B 757 Port Arthur, Ont.	Aug., "
M 759 Crookston, Minn.	June, "
M 760 Monroe, La.	July, "
B 761 Ft. Williams, Ont.	July, "
B 763 Harrison and Kearney, N. J.	June, "
W 763 Rochester, N. Y.	June, "
B 764 Alexandria, La.	July, "
B 765 Tampa, Fla.	June, "
B 767 Westville, Ill.	June, "
B 768 San Diego, Cal.	June, "
M 769 Mart, Tex.	July, "
B 771 Hoquiam, Wash.	June, "
B 774 Aberdeen, Wash.	June, "
B 784 New Westminster, B. C.	June, "
M 791 Aberdeen, Wash.	June, "
B 793 Latrobe, Pa.	July, "
B 797 Ironton, O.	July, "
M 798 York, Pa.	June, "
B 800 Lafayette, Ind.	Aug., "
M 801 Elma, Wash.	May, "
B 804 Hoquiam, Wash.	June, "
B 805 Covington, Ky.	July, "
B 806 Deer Lodge, Mont.	June, "
B 807 Bingham Canyon, Utah.	May, "
W 808 Waco, Tex.	July, "
M 809 Lewistown, Mont.	May, "
B 810 Witt, Ill.	July, "
B 812 Port Chester, N. Y.	June, "
B 813 St. Cloud, Minn.	July, "
B 814 Victoria, B. C.	Apr., "
M 815 Salt Lake City, Utah.	May, "
B 816 Bridgeport, O.	July, "
B 817 Missoula, Mont.	July, "
B 818 Pekin, Ill.	June, "
M 819 Port Angeles, Wash.	May, "
B 820 Sheridan, Wyo.	July, "
B 821 Kittanning, Pa.	July, "
B 822 Boonville, Ind.	July, "
B 823 Ocala, Fla.	May, "
M 824 Raymond, Wash.	June, "
M 825 Prince Rupert, B. C., Can.	June, "
B 826 Etna, Pa.	June, "
B 827 Joplin, Mo.	June, "
B 829 South Bend, Wash.	May, "
B 830 Anacortes, Wash.	May, "
B 832 Sedalia, Mo.	July, "
B 838 Elyria, O.	June, "
B 834 Royalton, Ill.	July, "
B 835 Taylor, Tex.	July, "
B 836 Centralia, Wash.	May, "
M 837 Kemmerer, Wyo.	July, "
B 838 Casper, Wyo.	July, "
M 839 Herrin, Ill.	May, "
B 840 Chester, Pa.	July, "
M 842 Casper, Wyo.	June, "

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY-TREASURER—Continued.

Local No.

WWC 843 Worcester, Mass. July, 1915
 B 844 Staunton, Ill. June, " " "
 B 845 New Kensington, Pa. June, " "
 M 846 Sheridan, Wyo. June, " "
 B 847 Fostoria, O. June, " "
 M 848 El Paso, Tex. July, " "
 B 849 Franklin, Pa. July, " "
 B 850 Rock Island, Ill. July, " "
 B 852 Tiffin, O. June, " "
 B 854 Jeannette, Pa. June, " "
 B 855 Livingston, Mont. June, " "
 B 856 Hot Springs, Ark. July, " "
 B 857 Laramie, Wyo. July, " "
 B 859 Billings, Mont. June, " "
 M 861 Billings, Mont. June, " "
 B 863 West Warwick, R. I. June, " "
 B 864 Lansford, Pa. June, " "
 C 865 Chicago, Ill. June, " "
 WWC 566 Springfield, Mass. July, " "
 B 867 Ketchikan, Alaska. May, " "
 B 868 Nome, Alaska. July, " "
 B 869 Juneau, Alaska. July, " "
 B 870 Augusta, Ga. May, " "
 M 871 Juneau, Alaska. June, " "
 C 872 Milwaukee, Wis. July, " "

RECEIPTS FOR JULY, 1915.

Date. Local.

Date.	Local.
1 31	May, stamps.	$106 20
1 106	May, supplies.	100 40
1 144	May.	5 40
1 338	June.	4 65
1 562	Supplies.	10 00
1 748	Charter and Outfit.	18 50
1 546	July, supplies.	1 50
1 D.	Crawford, M. A. L.	1 60
1 11	May, June, July.	9 00
1 137	May, June, supplies, buttons.	30 50
1 159	June.	16 40
1 175	May.	73 65
1 254	May.	16 40
1 300	May.	30 15
1 404	May, June.	10 65
1 554	May, June.	4 80
1	Barney Kaufman, M. A.	L.
1	Rein. Frank Leiner, No.	2 25
1 602		12 35
1 67	May.	41 20
1	Rein. John Vickers, No.	381
1	Rein. Joe Marick, Geo.	14 85
	Sweet, Henry Joris, No.
1 368		4 30
1 377	May, June, July, stamps	19 75
1 294	May.	6 80
1	Frank Hoffer, M. A. L.	1 25
1 456	May, supplies.	32 50
2 2	May, stamps.	69 05
2 69	May.	31 90
2 77	Supplies.	2 50
2 80	May.	103 35
2 100	June, stamps.	35 30
2 131	June, stamps.	76 40
2 253	July, supplies.	9 60
2 255	May, stamp.	15 45
2 350	Apr., May, stamps, supplies, bal. due bound M.
2 & S.		20 70
2 353	June, supplies.	7 80
2 505	June, stamps.	11 45
2 480	May, June, stamps, supplies.	11 35
2 534	May.	10 20
2 596	May, stamps.	30 60
2 598	June.	5 60
2 711	May, June, stamps.	14 00
2 713	Apr., May, June, stamps,
	supplies.	23 05
2 833	June, stamp.	5 45
2	Rein. Sol. Cohen, No. 487	12 85
2 861	May, stamps.	9 75
2	Rein. Art Carnes, M. A.	L.
2 129	June.	4 85
2 1	May.	6 00
2 76	June.	146 60
2 59	June.	59 85
2 150	May, supplies.	16 50
2 419	May, June.	4 00
2 737	June.	21 60
2	Interest.	77 94
3 12	June.	34 45
3 147	June.	7 00
3 249	May, supplies.	18 40
3 323	May, stamps.	76 65
3 357	June, stamp.	21 85
3 657	May.	8 00
3 821	July.	9 40
3 167	June, supplies, buttons.	38 90
3 236	June, stamps, supplies.	9 25
3 111	Charter and outfit.	13 50
2 73	July, stamp.	8 50
3 411	June, stamps.	17 80
3 426	May, stamps, supplies.	10 30
3	Rein. Jas. Galligar, No.	660
6 30	Supplies.	10 50
6 44	Supplies.	2 50
6 59	Supplies.	1 00
6 171	June.	79 00
6 222	June, supplies, buttons.	38 00
6 231	June.	5 80
6 243	May, stamps.	13 95
6 259	May.	9 40
6 269	June, bal. due May re-
6 279	port.	9 50
6 296	June, supplies, buttons.	23 35
6 309	July, stamps.	8 70
6 343	July.	3 00
6 349	June, stamp.	9 65
6 356	July, supplies, buttons.	13 85
6 402	May, supplies, button.	26 30
6 403	Supplies.	2 00
6 422	May.	30 70
6 484	Supplies, bal. due May report.	2 90
6 518	June.	18 20
6 533	June.	12 90
6 550	May.	24 85
6 561	May.	37 80
6 567	Cash.	9 00
6 566	May.	17 60
6 574	May.	44 20
6 627	June, supplies.	21 10
6 647	June, stamp.	9 90
6 697	June.	5 45
6 743	June.	4 00
6 749	June, stamps.	23 50
6 750	May, June.	50 45
6 754	May, cash.	9 70
6 840	June.	8 10
6 864	May, supplies.	4 50
6 869	June, stamps, supplies,
	buttons.	14 20
6 E.	Mayer, M. A. L.	10
6 52	June, stamps.	9 80
6 78	June, supplies.	15 20
6 189	June.	15 20
6 221	July.	6 40
6 378	July, supplies.	26 45
6 403	June, stamps.	33 60
6 427	June, stamps, buttons.	18 10
6 438	June.	11 10
6 478	June.	6 00
6 558	June, stamp.	11 45
6 663	June, supplies, buttons.	11 05
6 690	July.	6 20
6 838	June.	7 20
6 62	May.	29 25
6 243	June.	21 60
6 286	May.	59 40
6 612	June, buttons.	15 65
6 302	May, supplies.	32 45
6	Rein. J. W. Quinn, No.	418
6	91	July, Aug.
6 304	June.	32 20
6	Rein. Jack Johnson, No.	473
7 20	June.	122 95
7 107	Button.	1 00
7 142	June.	8 80
7 351	July.	11 65
7 382	June.	4 80
7 543	Supplies.	50
7 428	June.	62 00
7 468	June, stamps.	11 10
7 531	July.	11 00
7 730	Supplies, buttons.	2 00
7 190	May.	8 05
7 156	June, buttons.	10 60
7 798	June.	4 25
7 849	June.	2 00
7 757	July.	6 10
7 72	Supplies.	50
7 64	May, stamp.	40 75
8 31	Supplies.	3 00
8 84	July.	10 85
8 152	June, supplies.	142 75
8 423	Supplies.	2 00
8 461	June, stamp.	14 25
8 506	June, stamps, buttons,
	bal. due May report.	52 40
8 765	May, June, stamps.	33 15
8 562	Button.	1 00
8 51	Buttons.	3 00
8 108	Supplies.	7 50
8 549	July.	12 15
8 580	June, stamp.	4 25
8	Sam Marcus, M. A. L.	4 50
8 192	July, buttons.	22 10
8 306	May, supplies, buttons.	11 30
8 608	May, June, cash, supplies, buttons.	13 00
8 610	May, June.	11 50
8 659	June.	35 95
8 671	June.	1 00
8 520	June.	8 20
8 544	June, stamp.	16 50
8 763	May, stamps, buttons.	31 00
8 227	June.	6 40
8 361	June, buttons.	33 70
8 247	Acct. of funds C.
	R. McMillan.	12 00
8 606	Supplies.	1 85
9 43	Buttons, stamp.	1 20
9 83	May.	1 60
9 117	July, stamps.	13 60
9 159	Stamps.	40
9 341	June, supplies.	12 50
9 354	June.	11 00
9 365	July, stamp.	18 25
9 593	May, stamp, buttons.	36 85
9 664	June.	5 00
9 734	June, stamps, cash.	6 80
9 822	July.	2 40
9 832	June.	9 55
9	F. E. Ayersman, M. A.	1 50
9	Rein. Jno. M. Roesel.
	No. 828.	23 45
9 119	June, supplies.	10 40
9 421	Supplies, buttons.	3 50
9 527	June.	17 00
9 557	June.	3 00
9 649	April, May, stamps.	52 50
9 683	Aug.	4 20
9 729	July, stamps, supplies.	12 00
9 52	Supplies, buttons.	2 50
9 218	June, stamps, supplies.	12 80
9 751	July.	9 75
9	Rein. John Molaison, No.
178		12 35
9	Rein. E. Nelson, No.
314		12 35
9 171	Supplies.	1 00
9 763	May, June.	18 00
9 447	June.	4 60
10 108	Cash.	12 80
10 256	May, stamps.	27 75
10 274	June, stamps, cash, but-
	tons.	13 00
10 298	June.	13 90
10 344	June.	7 60
10 345	June.	15 20
10 393	June.	2 80
10 395	June.	45 95
10 483	June.	4 80
10 592	June, stamp.	24 90
10 652	July.	6 65
10 813	July.	4 20
10 195	Stamps.	1 50
10 316	May, June, rein. of local	6 40
10 437	May, stamp.	120 45
10 674	June, stamps.	32 10
10 800	July.	18 40
10 865	Supplies, L. J. E. B.	10 00
10 411	Supplies.	1 50
10 478	Supplies.	1 50
12 109	June.	63 40
12 204	June, stamp, supplies.	16 10
12 215	June.	9 20
12 288	July.	7 00
12	Bal. due rein. Pat. Grif-
	fin.	30
12 398	June, stamps.	31 70
12 436	Stamps, supplies, buttons, cash.	6 10
12 458	May, stamp.	69 70
12 459	May, stamp.	11 65
12 495	July.	7 10

THE MIXER AND SERVER

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY-TREASURER—Continued.

Date.	Local.		Date.	Local.		Date.	Local.
12 524	Supplies	2 00	15 835	July	4 60	20 351	Supplies	50
12 575	June	14 05	15 842	May, stamps, supplies, buttons	6 80	20 739	July	7 60
12 628	Supplies	50	15 848	June	12 70	20 110	June, stamps, supplies	4 34
12 631	June, stamps	18 50	15 871	June, stamps, supplies	9 90	20 139	June, supplies	184 95
12 654	June	2 20	15 895	Supplies, buttons	9 20	20 228	Button	8 40
12 670	June	31 50	15 921	June, stamps	6 40	20 338	Supplies	1 08
12 685	June	5 80	15 209	June, stamps	56 25	20 639	July, stamps	20 90
12 718	July	4 40	15 633	July	10 40	20 687	July	16 05
12 721	June	51 90	15 219	May, June, stamp	41 65	20 361	Supplies	50
12 725	June	14 25	15 488	Supplies	4 85	20 256	June, stamps	28 95
12 791	June	8 20	15 755	May, June	4 25	20 569	June, stamps, supplies	18 55
12 857	June	8 20	15 43	Supplies, stamps	2 50	20 793	July	5 60
12 R. D. Ryan, No. 247, M.			18 67	June, stamps, supplies	44 10	20 358	July, stamps	8 85
A. L.		5 85	18 77	June	344 50	20 706	June, stamp	5 50
12 52 Stamps, supplies		3 50	18 173	June	32 00	20	Bal. due acct. John
12 203	May, June	36 10	18 856	June	11 40	21	Vickers, No. 381	1 50
12 Rein. L. J. Fewell, No.			16 558	June, July	6 40	21	12 July, supplies	34 80
597		1 60	16 575	Supplies	2 85	21	99 Buttons	1 00
12 524	July	20 50	16 595	June	75 21	21	107 June, stamps, supplies, buttons, cash
12 587	June	2 80	16 673	June	4 70	21	240 June	44 85
12 626	June	11 50	16 710	June	5 80	21	241 July, stamps	64 80
12 769	Charter and outfit	13 50	16 733	Stamps, supplies	7 05	21	417 July	8 20
12 784	June	7 10	16 738	July	2 40	21	420 Supplies	7 80
12 70 May		88 55	16 741	June	3 85	21	491 May	1 00
13 98 June		1 75	16 827	June	11 40	21	505 Supplies	20 10
13 44 June, stamps		226 10	16 Rein. E. J. Campbell,			21	659 Stamp, supplies	1 00
13 48 June, supplies, bal. due			No. 630, M. A. L.	4 85		21	797 July	1 45
May report		165 60	16 196	Supplies, buttons	3 50	21	804 June, stamps	4 35
13 224	July	38 85	16 286	Stamps	3 00	21	572 May, June, supplies, but-
13 225	July	5 60	16 454	June, stamps	12 20	21	tons	38 30
13 443	May	3 60	16 562	Supplies	1 00	16 50	548 June, July	6 80
13 546	Stamps	11 60	16 609	June	2 20	21 399 July, stamp	12 65
13 594	July	6 20	16 632	June, July	9 20	21 568 July, stamps	3 50
13 603	June	41 25	16 806	June, stamps	5 60	21 183 June, stamp, supplies	29 80
13 614	Stamps	45	16 859	Supplies	2 50	21 340 June	8 20
13 682	June, buttons	11 65	16 149	Stamps, supplies	18 00	21 420 Supplies	9 05
13 771	June	7 70	16 610	May, June, stamps	33 20	21 282 June, stamps	15 10
13 809	May	6 20	17 30	June	449 35	17 414 July	38 80
13 88	May, June, stamp	37 00	17 157	July, stamp, supplies	19 60	17 522 June	17 05
13 188	June, stamps, supplies	210 05	17 332	June, stamps	70 40	17 528 July	4 05
13 216	June	60 10	17 414	July	4 25	17 535 July	10 40
13 305	May, June, stamps, sup-	81 75	17 552	June	4 60	17 537 June	12 90
13 322	June	14 65	17 577	June	26 35	17 545 June, supplies	20 15
13 387	June, buttons	11 80	17 834	June, July	6 45	17 620 Apr., May, June	6 45
13 Rein. Hy. Wighton, No.			17 849	Bound M. & S. express-	2 28	22 625 July, supplies	4 40
715		5 10	17 35	Supplies	60	22 764 July	15 40
13 166	May, June	45 60	17 125	July, supplies	11 60	22 859 June, stamp	9 05
13 197	Supplies	60	17 808	Charter & outfit, stamp,	13 85	22 820 July	R. Henderson, M. A. L.
13 812	May, June, supplies	18 35	17 498	supplies, button	9 40	22 387 Stamp, supplies	2 25
13 864	June, stamps, supplies	10 00	17 750	Supplies	1 50	22 643 Charter & outfit	13 50
13 161	Supplies	6 40	17 825	Stamps, supplies, buttons,	8 50	22 136 July, stamp	6 00
13 535	June	8 00	17 667	cash	2 20	17 455 June, July, stamps	18 60
14 12	Supplies	6 50	17 830	Buttons	1 00	17 491 Supplies	1 00
14 36	July, stamp	11 85	19 14	Buttons	5 00	17 43 June	13 55
14 82	July	9 05	19 29	June	46 95	17 207 May, June, stamps	19 00
14 93	June	14 00	19 406	June, supplies	12 45	17 310 Apr., May, June, stamps
14 206	July stamps	31 30	19 408	Buttons	3 00	17 680 Supplies	40 50
14 284	June, bal. due May re-	123 55	19 445	June	8 40	17 95 June, supplies	47 65
14 519	July, button	5 80	19 699	May, June, cash	25 30	17 115 June, supplies	186 25
14 547	Supplies	1 00	19 507	June, supplies	23 10	17 389 June, supplies	11 90
14 621	Jan., Feb., Mch., Apr.,		19 562	June	87 80	17 749 Supplies	3 00
May, June, July, bound			19 680	Supplies	1 50	17 769 Supplies, buttons	7 00
M. & S., bal. due Apr.,			19 768	June, supplies, buttons	32 85	17 767 June, supplies	2 50
1914, report		60 45	19 824	June	2 45	17 276 Martin Yatty, M. A. L.	5 00
14 744	June	12 20	19 844	June, supplies	10 85	17 101 June	32 75
14 852	June	9 00	19 855	May, June, stamp	9 90	17 339 June	80 45
14 863	June, buttons	9 10	19 111	Stamps, supplies, buttons	2 80	17 846 May, June, stamps	7 60
14 866	July	4 40	19 368	Apr.	8 40	17 239 Buttons	2 50
14 8	Buttons	2 50	19 60	June	5 40	17 114 July, stamp, supplies	13 85
14 292	Supplies	1 00	19 79	Aug.	87 25	17 155 July, supplies	34 80
14 437	June, stamps	113 50	19 451	June	12 45	17 485 June	31 65
14 573	June	40 05	19 624	June, stamps	7 80	17 55 June	29 40
14 647	Supplies	1 00	19 679	May, June	9 60	17 131 July, stamps	76 65
14 818	June, stamps	11 55	19 276	May, June, July, acct.	5 45	17 225 Supplies	.05
14 856	July	3 25	19 T. W. Slaughter, Joe		24 260 July	16 90
14 33	June, stamp	58 40	15 Welborn, Ed. Wells, T.		24 264 Apr., May	73 65
14 493	May, June	1 90	15 F. Willingham, L. G.		24 284 Supplies, buttons	15 00
14 826	June, stamp, supplies	4 50	15 Zahne, A. E. Cox, J. F.		24 315 May	4 00
14 181	Cash	5 05	15 Kersh, S. V. Knighton,		24 318 July	5 00
14 740	May, June, supplies	8 40	15 A. C. Opperman, Lee Ra-		24 400 June, supplies	31 80
14 383	May, June, stamp, but-	9 95	15 ley, M. A. L.		24 444 June, July, Aug.	2 40
14 680	June, stamps	17 40	19 580	Return of funds	23 50	24 504 July, stamps, cash	57 90
15 96	July	5 40	19 316	Bal. due acct. rein. of	4 50	24 596 June, stamps	31 20
15 134	June, stamps, supplies	45 40	19 239	local	60	24 719 July, supplies, buttons	12 25
15 170	Apr.	12 00	19 730	June, stamps	8 80	24 85 Supplies	1 95
15 199	July	15 85	20 297	June	2 40	24 555 May, June, cash	16 45
15 272	May, June, July, stamps	8 70	20 313	June, bal. due May re-	17 25	24 675 Apr., May, stamps, sup-	11 80
15 274	Buttons	4 00	20 325	July	11 40	24 381 June	8 55
15 480	Stamps	10 00				26 41 June, cash	.25 20
15 482	July	7 00				26 86 July	.34 00
15 709	July	4 30
15 721	Supplies	3 00

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY-TREASURER—Continued.

Date.	Local.		Date.	Local.		Date.	Local.
26	92 June	9 80	29	513 July	8 40	31	243 June	12 80
26	150 June, supplies	18 20	29	302 June	32 60	31	255 June, July	30 25
26	151 July	7 40	29	6 June	55 20	31	274 Buttons	3 00
26	161 June, buttons	31 55	29	59 Buttons	2 50	31	294 June	7 80
26	180 June	18 30	29	217 July	57 40	31	300 June, supplies, buttons	30 40
26	193 June, stamp	21 05	29	263 Apr., May, supplies, rein. of local	35 60	31	304 Supplies	1 00
26	194 July	4 00	29	429 July	14 60	31	367 June, stamps	7 00
26	195 June, supplies	14 40	29	491 Supplies, buttons	4 00	31	376 June	24 80
26	209 Supplies, buttons	5 00	29	689 June	9 20	31	381 July, buttons	10 10
26	285 June, stamp	81 70	29	Robert Dufner, M. A. L.	3 00	31	427 Buttons	1 20
26	292 June	13 85	29	361 July	30 40	31	438 July	9 80
26	295 June, supplies	12 55	29	488 May, June, stamps, rein. of local	90 05	31	466 June, supplies, bal. due May report	26 30
26	312 July	16 60	29	648 June, buttons	27 30	31	498 July	4 70
26	435 May, June	10 00	29	18 June, buttons	20 05	31	543 July, stamps	19 20
26	542 July, stamp	3 50	29	19 June, stamps	35 70	31	647 Supplies	2 50
26	631 Stamps	1 20	29	606 Stamps	8 00	31	661 June, July	20 80
26	671 July, stamp	12 20	30	40 June, July	4 40	31	677 July	6 00
26	723 July, supplies	11 20	30	51 June	135 70	31	754 June	11 65
26	746 June, stamps	12 90	30	159 July	16 00	31	760 July	7 70
26	808 Supplies, buttons	5 00	30	202 July	21 25	31	E. Schmidtko, M. A. L.	2 25
26	814 Apr.	11 00	30	273 June	28 10	31	L. G. Huling, M. A. L.	2 25
26	887 July	4 45	30	528 June	18 15	31	M. Foster, M. A. L.	4 50
26	432 Stamps	22 00	30	700 June	6 90	31	Louis Blume, M. A. L.	1 00
26	562 Buttons	8 00	30	722 June	4 60
26	861 June, supplies, buttons, cash, bal. due May report	15 05	30	187 June, July, stamp	10 25
26	Frank Woods, M. A. L.	8 75	30	337 Buttons	2 90
26	868 Stamps, supplies, bound M. & S.	7 90	30	R. Henderson, M. A. L.	50
26	391 July	4 80	30	F. E. Ayersman, M. A.
26	61 June, stamps, supplies, buttons	47 20	30	L.	75
26	Rein. Frank Wagoner, No. 15	1 60	30	Rein. Lewis Nowak, No.
26	Rein. Ed. Larsan, No. 597	1 35	30	368	1 35
26	872 July	13 80	30	544 July	16 80
27	252 July	17 95	30	459 June, stamps	13 60
27	320 June	20 85	30	463 June, stamps	8 45
27	550 June	28 05	30	526 Stamps, buttons	37 50
27	737 July	21 80	30	534 June, supplies	11 45
27	324 May, June, stamps, sup- plies, cash	9 80	30	H. L. Briggs, M. A. L.	2 25
27	370 July, stamp, cash	12 55	30	230 June	10 20
27	525 June, stamps	74 30	30	10 June, stamps	16 00
27	656 July	9 40	30	120 June, supplies	48 65
27	865 June, stamps, supplies	36 80	30	141 June	17 50
27	466 July	22 40	30	228 July	24 65
27	E. Nelson, M. A. L.	2 00	30	742 June	2 40
27	567 June	8 25	30	748 Stamps, supplies	8 05
27	E. R. McNally, M. A. L.	4 50	30	68 June	97 90
27	181 June	14 25	30	287 June	43 05
27	840 July	8 05	30	680 Buttons	10 00
27	59 June	36 55	30	730 Supplies	1 00
28	28 June	20 50	30	Rein. Geo. Weigel, No.
28	87 July	2 40	31	425	1 60
28	154 June	20 65	31	4 June	40 20
28	212 June	38 85	31	8 June	37 10
28	249 June, stamp	17 45	31	280 Supplies	1 00
28	317 June	6 90	31	108 June	87 75
28	387 June, buttons	43 10	31	343 Aug.	3 00
28	490 June, stamp	139 80	31	421 July	15 80
28	520 July, stamp	8 20	31	426 June, stamps	9 05
28	591 July	7 85	31	503 June	12 15
28	696 June	20 65	31	547 June	46 85
28	782 July, stamps, supplies	13 05	31	642 June	5 40
29	G. W. Williams, M. A.	1 50	31	657 June, July	16 05
28	714 July, stamps, supplies	24 00	31	693 June	2 70
28	71 June, bal. due supplies	8 65	31	759 May, June, supplies	12 90
28	335 May	13 65	31	597	7 35
28	707 June	19 20	31	C. S. Baker, No.
28	756 June, July	9 80	31	55 Cash	13 50
28	124 July	25 10	31	31 June	105 30
28	128 July	4 20	31	219 July, rein. of local	21 90
28	196 July	54 75	31	112 June	23 20
28	200 June	54 15	31	484 June, supplies	47 95
28	280 June, stamp	80 15	31	616 July	4 80
28	449 June	12 85	31	F. Hoffer, M. A. L.	8 75
28	266 June, stamp	35 90	31	694 May, June	6 00
28	593 June, supplies	33 40	31	1 June, buttons	150 00
29	17 June	31 80	31	2 June	65 40
29	246 June	12 75	31	3 June	40 00
29	254 June	16 90	31	27 June	8 60
29	469 July	6 00	31	38 Supplies	4 25
29	582 June	17 55	31	69 June	31 60
29	614 Aug., supplies	2 80	31	80 June	97 40
29	805 June	10 60	31	99 June	49 50
29	816 July	19 70	31	100 July, buttons	38 05
29	854 June	12 90	31	107 Button	1 00
29	14 June	45 20	31	147 July, stamps	7 40
29	85 June	81 00	31	187 July	34 40
29	107 Buttons	2 00	31	175 June	72 80
29	761 July	5 65	31	210 June, July	9 80
29	850 July	43 85	31	189 Feb., Mch.	42 20
			31	220 Stamp	50
			31	223 June, July	7 50

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY-TREASURER—Continued.

Date.	Date.	Date.
15 Walter Robb, Death Claim No. 6843, Local 678....	26 E. Maloney, L. S. O., No. 484.....	31 Edward Boeh, Death Claim No. 6930, Local 68.....
15 P. J. Minto, Death Claim No. 6866, Local 390....	26 A. W. Smith, L. S. O., No. 592.....	31 Harry H. Toedt, Death Claim No. 6931, Local 68.....
15 Vina Mulcahey, Death Claim No. 6867, Local 48....	26 Geo. Hale, L. S. O., No. 2.....	31 James Lynch, Death Claim No. 6932, Local 68.....
15 M. J. Honan, Death Claim No. 6873, Local 421....	26 Aloys Cryns, L. S. O., No. 209.....	31 John G. Heisler, Death Claim No. 6933, Local 224.....
15 Jos. A. Fleig, Death Claim No. 6880, Local 155....	26 W. A. Hosking, Defense L. J. E. B., Oakland, Cal.	31 Geo. J. Wense, Death Claim No. 6934, Local 44.....
15 Dan Cooper, Death Claim No. 6881, Local 544....	26 E. L. Hiles, Defense L. J. E. B., St. Louis, Mo.	31 Gertrude Tucker, Death Claim No. 6935, Local 249.....
15 Chas. Hausberg, Death Claim No. 6883, Local 152....	26 R. B. Hesketh, Defense No. 61.....	31 Edward Betz, Death Claim No. 6937, Local 117.....
15 Martin Foss, Death Claim No. 6884, Local 152....	28 John J. Graney, Defense Ohio locals.....	31 Jere L. Sullivan, Sec.-Treas. 225.00
15 Michael Krieg, Death Claim No. 6885, Local 51....	28 Robt. Lyons, Def. Org.	31 Janitor 12.00
15 Fred W. Barnes, Death Claim No. 6886, Local 77....	28 Safety deposit box.....	31 Clerks 62.00
15 John A. Doherty, Death Claim No. 6887, Local 77....	29 Printing July M. & S., 6,332 20	31 W. A. Smith, Defense L. J. E. B., Syracuse, N. Y. 100.00
15 Harriet Plattner, Death Claim No. 6888, Local 107....	30 Supplies 110 68	Stamps received and used. 1.55
15 Wm. J. Lockhart, Death Claim No. 6890, Local 131....	31 E. Flore, Gen. Pres. 360 72	Towel Supply Co. 90
15 Grant Wadley, Death Claim No. 6891, Local 332....	31 F. E. Merryfield, Intl. Org. 118 35	Postage 65.00
15 Curtis D. Parker, Death Claim Na. 6892, Local 525....	31 A. C. Beck, Intl. Org. 116 55	Office supplies 13.60
15 Robert C. J. Smith, Death Claim No. 6893, Local 525....	31 J. P. McGinley, Intl. Org. 44 60	Telegram 1.01
15 Chas. McDonald, Death Claim No. 6894, Local 659....	31 W. E. Reynolds, Intl. Org. 100 00	Expressage not prepaid 1.01
15 Chas. Gerhard, Death Claim No. 6896, Local 206....	31 A. F. Martel, Intl. Org. 116 68	Expressage 25.44
15 Myles E. Ward, Death Claim No. 6897, Local 99....	31 Josh Brady, Intl. Org. 107 50	Total $16,953.97
15 Wm. R. Spellman, Death Claim No. 6898, Local 77....	31 T. J. Durnin, Intl. Org. 119 28	Amount on hand July 1, 1915 $79,192.15
15 Edward Champeau, Death Claim No. 6899, Local 157....	31 F. B. Hobby, Intl. Org. 114 20	Receipts for July, 1915. 14,504.91
15 Chester S. Connaway, Death Claim No. 6901, Local 480....	31 W. B. Joyce, Intl. Org. 105 39	Total $93,997.06
15 Jos. Seidel, Death Claim No. 6902, Local 108....	31 Ben Gorton, Intl. Org. 108 60	Expenditures for July, 1915. 16,953.97
15 Edward Johnson, Death Claim No. 6903, Local 332....	31 F. Sesma, Intl. Org. 107 20	Amount on hand August 1, 1915 $77,043.09
17 Clerks 46.00	31 W. E. Horne, Intl. Org. 100 00	In Death Fund July 1, 1915. $31,030.03
19 Belle Donner, L. S. O., No. 493.....	31 J. F. McCarthy, Intl. Org. 100 00	Appropriated to Death Fund, July, 1915 4,567.22
19 Louise Kane, L. S. O., No. 249.....	31 W. H. Foster, Def. Org. 90 00	Total $35,597.25
19 Mary Harrison, L. S. O., No. 434.....	31 W. F. Kavanagh, Def. Org. 105 20	Drawn from Death Fund, July, 1915 2,750.00
19 Robt. Lyons, L. S. O., No. 51.....	31 J. N. Butler, Def. Org. 134 40	Balance in Death Fund, August 1, 1915. $32,847.25
19 E. D. Skinner, L. S. O., No. 848.....	31 Geo. Hibberd, Def. Org. 80 00	In Defense Fund July 1, 1915. $14,781.34
19 E. Maloney, L. S. O., No. 484.....	31 Jas. H. Anderson, Def. Org. 100 00	Appropriated to Defense Fund, July, 1915 1,937.38
19 A. W. Smith, L. S. O., No. 592.....	31 Robt. F. Thornton, Death Claim No. 6856, Local 549.....	Total $16,738.72
19 Geo. Hale, L. S. O., No. 2.....	31 Andy Lauer, Death Claim No. 6895, Local 849.....	Drawn from Defense Fund, July, 1915 3,562.00
21 Defense Stockston, Cal., No. 572.....	31 John Burton, Death Claim, No. 6900, Local 504.....	Balance in Defense Fund, August 1, 1915. $13,176.72
22 John J. Graney, Defense Ohio locals.....	31 Jos. Schiller, Death Claim No. 6904, Local 2.....	In Conv. Assmt. Fund, July, 1, 1915 $1,204.10
23 Robt. Lyons, Defense L. J. E. B., St. Louis, Mo.	31 Wm. M. Smithey, Death Claim No. 6905, Local 487.....	Receipts for July, 1915.
24 Clerks 62.00	31 Frank R. Hoffman, Death Claim No. 6908, Local 188.....	Total $1,204.10
24 Belle Donner, L. S. O., No. 493.....	31 Thos. Dignan, Death Claim No. 6910, Local 663.....	Refunds for July, 1915.
26 Louise Kane, L. S. O., No. 249.....	31 Fred S. Humphner, Death Claim No. 6911, Local 420.....	Balance in Conv. Assmt. Fund, August 1, 1915. $1,204.10
26 Mary Harrison, L. S. O., No. 434.....	31 Peter D. Suzzallo, Death Claim No. 6912, Local 577.....	Amount in General Fund, August 1, 1915. $29,815.02
26 Robt. Lyons, L. S. O., No. 51.....	31 D. Barbour, Death Claim No. 6914, Local 79.....	Amount in Death Fund, August 1, 1915. 32,847.25
26 E. D. Skinner, L. S. O., No. 848.....	31 Thos. H. Bennett, Death Claim No. 6915, Local 339.....	Amount in Defense Fund, August 1, 1915. 13,176.72
26 E. Maloney, L. S. O., No. 484.....	31 J. Geo. Traub, Death Claim No. 6917, Local 361.....	Amount in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. 1,204.10
26 A. W. Smith, L. S. O., No. 592.....	31 James M. Cantrell, Death Claim No. 6918, Local 192.....	Total $1,204.10
26 Geo. Hale, L. S. O., No. 2.....	31 W. C. Burnett, Death Claim No. 6919, Local 192.....	Refunds for July, 1915.
26 Defense Stockston, Cal., No. 572.....	31 Jesse Garand, Death Claim No. 6920, Local 420.....	Balance in Conv. Assmt. Fund, August 1, 1915. $1,204.10
26 John J. Graney, Defense Ohio locals.....	31 Jos. Scrowcroft, Death Claim No. 6922, Local 70.....	Amount in General Fund, August 1, 1915. $29,815.02
26 Robt. Lyons, Defense L. J. E. B., St. Louis, Mo.	31 Thos. Larkins, Death Claim No. 6924, Local 590.....	Amount in Death Fund, August 1, 1915. 32,847.25
26 Clerks 62.00	31 John Dommegiet, Death Claim No. 6925, Local 590.....	Amount in Defense Fund, August 1, 1915. 13,176.72
26 Belle Donner, L. S. O., No. 493.....	31 John T. Mullen, Death Claim No. 6926, Local 77.....	Amount in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. 1,204.10
26 Louise Kane, L. S. O., No. 249.....	31 Louis G. Zimmarline, Death Claim No. 6927, Local 216.....	Total $1,204.10
26 Mary Harrison, L. S. O., No. 434.....	31 John McLachlan, Death Claim No. 6929, Local 90.....	Refunds for July, 1915.
26 Robt. Lyons, L. S. O., No. 51.....		Balance in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. $1,204.10
26 E. D. Skinner, L. S. O., No. 848.....		Amount in General Fund, August 1, 1915. $29,815.02
26 E. Maloney, L. S. O., No. 484.....		Amount in Death Fund, August 1, 1915. 32,847.25
26 A. W. Smith, L. S. O., No. 592.....		Amount in Defense Fund, August 1, 1915. 13,176.72
26 Geo. Hale, L. S. O., No. 2.....		Amount in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. 1,204.10
26 Defense Stockston, Cal., No. 572.....		Total $1,204.10
26 John J. Graney, Defense Ohio locals.....		Refunds for July, 1915.
26 Robt. Lyons, Defense L. J. E. B., St. Louis, Mo.		Balance in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. $1,204.10
26 Clerks 62.00		Amount in General Fund, August 1, 1915. $29,815.02
26 Belle Donner, L. S. O., No. 493.....		Amount in Death Fund, August 1, 1915. 32,847.25
26 Louise Kane, L. S. O., No. 249.....		Amount in Defense Fund, August 1, 1915. 13,176.72
26 Mary Harrison, L. S. O., No. 434.....		Amount in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. 1,204.10
26 Robt. Lyons, L. S. O., No. 51.....		Total $1,204.10
26 E. D. Skinner, L. S. O., No. 848.....		Refunds for July, 1915.
26 E. Maloney, L. S. O., No. 484.....		Balance in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. $1,204.10
26 A. W. Smith, L. S. O., No. 592.....		Amount in General Fund, August 1, 1915. $29,815.02
26 Geo. Hale, L. S. O., No. 2.....		Amount in Death Fund, August 1, 1915. 32,847.25
26 Defense Stockston, Cal., No. 572.....		Amount in Defense Fund, August 1, 1915. 13,176.72
26 John J. Graney, Defense Ohio locals.....		Amount in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. 1,204.10
26 Robt. Lyons, Defense L. J. E. B., St. Louis, Mo.		Total $1,204.10
26 Clerks 62.00		Refunds for July, 1915.
26 Belle Donner, L. S. O., No. 493.....		Balance in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. $1,204.10
26 Louise Kane, L. S. O., No. 249.....		Amount in General Fund, August 1, 1915. $29,815.02
26 Mary Harrison, L. S. O., No. 434.....		Amount in Death Fund, August 1, 1915. 32,847.25
26 Robt. Lyons, L. S. O., No. 51.....		Amount in Defense Fund, August 1, 1915. 13,176.72
26 E. D. Skinner, L. S. O., No. 848.....		Amount in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. 1,204.10
26 E. Maloney, L. S. O., No. 484.....		Total $1,204.10
26 A. W. Smith, L. S. O., No. 592.....		Refunds for July, 1915.
26 Geo. Hale, L. S. O., No. 2.....		Balance in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. $1,204.10
26 Defense Stockston, Cal., No. 572.....		Amount in General Fund, August 1, 1915. $29,815.02
26 John J. Graney, Defense Ohio locals.....		Amount in Death Fund, August 1, 1915. 32,847.25
26 Robt. Lyons, Defense L. J. E. B., St. Louis, Mo.		Amount in Defense Fund, August 1, 1915. 13,176.72
26 Clerks 62.00		Amount in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. 1,204.10
26 Belle Donner, L. S. O., No. 493.....		Total $1,204.10
26 Louise Kane, L. S. O., No. 249.....		Refunds for July, 1915.
26 Mary Harrison, L. S. O., No. 434.....		Balance in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. $1,204.10
26 Robt. Lyons, L. S. O., No. 51.....		Amount in General Fund, August 1, 1915. $29,815.02
26 E. D. Skinner, L. S. O., No. 848.....		Amount in Death Fund, August 1, 1915. 32,847.25
26 E. Maloney, L. S. O., No. 484.....		Amount in Defense Fund, August 1, 1915. 13,176.72
26 A. W. Smith, L. S. O., No. 592.....		Amount in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. 1,204.10
26 Geo. Hale, L. S. O., No. 2.....		Total $1,204.10
26 Defense Stockston, Cal., No. 572.....		Refunds for July, 1915.
26 John J. Graney, Defense Ohio locals.....		Balance in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. $1,204.10
26 Robt. Lyons, Defense L. J. E. B., St. Louis, Mo.		Amount in General Fund, August 1, 1915. $29,815.02
26 Clerks 62.00		Amount in Death Fund, August 1, 1915. 32,847.25
26 Belle Donner, L. S. O., No. 493.....		Amount in Defense Fund, August 1, 1915. 13,176.72
26 Louise Kane, L. S. O., No. 249.....		Amount in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. 1,204.10
26 Mary Harrison, L. S. O., No. 434.....		Total $1,204.10
26 Robt. Lyons, L. S. O., No. 51.....		Refunds for July, 1915.
26 E. D. Skinner, L. S. O., No. 848.....		Balance in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. $1,204.10
26 E. Maloney, L. S. O., No. 484.....		Amount in General Fund, August 1, 1915. $29,815.02
26 A. W. Smith, L. S. O., No. 592.....		Amount in Death Fund, August 1, 1915. 32,847.25
26 Geo. Hale, L. S. O., No. 2.....		Amount in Defense Fund, August 1, 1915. 13,176.72
26 Defense Stockston, Cal., No. 572.....		Amount in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. 1,204.10
26 John J. Graney, Defense Ohio locals.....		Total $1,204.10
26 Robt. Lyons, Defense L. J. E. B., St. Louis, Mo.		Refunds for July, 1915.
26 Clerks 62.00		Balance in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. $1,204.10
26 Belle Donner, L. S. O., No. 493.....		Amount in General Fund, August 1, 1915. $29,815.02
26 Louise Kane, L. S. O., No. 249.....		Amount in Death Fund, August 1, 1915. 32,847.25
26 Mary Harrison, L. S. O., No. 434.....		Amount in Defense Fund, August 1, 1915. 13,176.72
26 Robt. Lyons, L. S. O., No. 51.....		Amount in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. 1,204.10
26 E. D. Skinner, L. S. O., No. 848.....		Total $1,204.10
26 E. Maloney, L. S. O., No. 484.....		Refunds for July, 1915.
26 A. W. Smith, L. S. O., No. 592.....		Balance in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. $1,204.10
26 Geo. Hale, L. S. O., No. 2.....		Amount in General Fund, August 1, 1915. $29,815.02
26 Defense Stockston, Cal., No. 572.....		Amount in Death Fund, August 1, 1915. 32,847.25
26 John J. Graney, Defense Ohio locals.....		Amount in Defense Fund, August 1, 1915. 13,176.72
26 Robt. Lyons, Defense L. J. E. B., St. Louis, Mo.		Amount in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. 1,204.10
26 Clerks 62.00		Total $1,204.10
26 Belle Donner, L. S. O., No. 493.....		Refunds for July, 1915.
26 Louise Kane, L. S. O., No. 249.....		Balance in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. $1,204.10
26 Mary Harrison, L. S. O., No. 434.....		Amount in General Fund, August 1, 1915. $29,815.02
26 Robt. Lyons, L. S. O., No. 51.....		Amount in Death Fund, August 1, 1915. 32,847.25
26 E. D. Skinner, L. S. O., No. 848.....		Amount in Defense Fund, August 1, 1915. 13,176.72
26 E. Maloney, L. S. O., No. 484.....		Amount in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. 1,204.10
26 A. W. Smith, L. S. O., No. 592.....		Total $1,204.10
26 Geo. Hale, L. S. O., No. 2.....		Refunds for July, 1915.
26 Defense Stockston, Cal., No. 572.....		Balance in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. $1,204.10
26 John J. Graney, Defense Ohio locals.....		Amount in General Fund, August 1, 1915. $29,815.02
26 Robt. Lyons, Defense L. J. E. B., St. Louis, Mo.		Amount in Death Fund, August 1, 1915. 32,847.25
26 Clerks 62.00		Amount in Defense Fund, August 1, 1915. 13,176.72
26 Belle Donner, L. S. O., No. 493.....		Amount in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. 1,204.10
26 Louise Kane, L. S. O., No. 249.....		Total $1,204.10
26 Mary Harrison, L. S. O., No. 434.....		Refunds for July, 1915.
26 Robt. Lyons, L. S. O., No. 51.....		Balance in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. $1,204.10
26 E. D. Skinner, L. S. O., No. 848.....		Amount in General Fund, August 1, 1915. $29,815.02
26 E. Maloney, L. S. O., No. 484.....		Amount in Death Fund, August 1, 1915. 32,847.25
26 A. W. Smith, L. S. O., No. 592.....		Amount in Defense Fund, August 1, 1915. 13,176.72
26 Geo. Hale, L. S. O., No. 2.....		Amount in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. 1,204.10
26 Defense Stockston, Cal., No. 572.....		Total $1,204.10
26 John J. Graney, Defense Ohio locals.....		Refunds for July, 1915.
26 Robt. Lyons, Defense L. J. E. B., St. Louis, Mo.		Balance in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. $1,204.10
26 Clerks 62.00		Amount in General Fund, August 1, 1915. $29,815.02
26 Belle Donner, L. S. O., No. 493.....		Amount in Death Fund, August 1, 1915. 32,847.25
26 Louise Kane, L. S. O., No. 249.....		Amount in Defense Fund, August 1, 1915. 13,176.72
26 Mary Harrison, L. S. O., No. 434.....		Amount in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. 1,204.10
26 Robt. Lyons, L. S. O., No. 51.....		Total $1,204.10
26 E. D. Skinner, L. S. O., No. 848.....		Refunds for July, 1915.
26 E. Maloney, L. S. O., No. 484.....		Balance in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. $1,204.10
26 A. W. Smith, L. S. O., No. 592.....		Amount in General Fund, August 1, 1915. $29,815.02
26 Geo. Hale, L. S. O., No. 2.....		Amount in Death Fund, August 1, 1915. 32,847.25
26 Defense Stockston, Cal., No. 572.....		Amount in Defense Fund, August 1, 1915. 13,176.72
26 John J. Graney, Defense Ohio locals.....		Amount in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. 1,204.10
26 Robt. Lyons, Defense L. J. E. B., St. Louis, Mo.		Total $1,204.10
26 Clerks 62.00		Refunds for July, 1915.
26 Belle Donner, L. S. O., No. 493.....		Balance in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. $1,204.10
26 Louise Kane, L. S. O., No. 249.....		Amount in General Fund, August 1, 1915. $29,815.02
26 Mary Harrison, L. S. O., No. 434.....		Amount in Death Fund, August 1, 1915. 32,847.25
26 Robt. Lyons, L. S. O., No. 51.....		Amount in Defense Fund, August 1, 1915. 13,176.72
26 E. D. Skinner, L. S. O., No. 848.....		Amount in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. 1,204.10
26 E. Maloney, L. S. O., No. 484.....		Total $1,204.10
26 A. W. Smith, L. S. O., No. 592.....		Refunds for July, 1915.
26 Geo. Hale, L. S. O., No. 2.....		Balance in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. $1,204.10
26 Defense Stockston, Cal., No. 572.....		Amount in General Fund, August 1, 1915. $29,815.02
26 John J. Graney, Defense Ohio locals.....		Amount in Death Fund, August 1, 1915. 32,847.25
26 Robt. Lyons, Defense L. J. E. B., St. Louis, Mo.		Amount in Defense Fund, August 1, 1915. 13,176.72
26 Clerks 62.00		Amount in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. 1,204.10
26 Belle Donner, L. S. O., No. 493.....		Total $1,204.10
26 Louise Kane, L. S. O., No. 249.....		Refunds for July, 1915.
26 Mary Harrison, L. S. O., No. 434.....		Balance in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. $1,204.10
26 Robt. Lyons, L. S. O., No. 51.....		Amount in General Fund, August 1, 1915. $29,815.02
26 E. D. Skinner, L. S. O., No. 848.....		Amount in Death Fund, August 1, 1915. 32,847.25
26 E. Maloney, L. S. O., No. 484.....		Amount in Defense Fund, August 1, 1915. 13,176.72
26 A. W. Smith, L. S. O., No. 592.....		Amount in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. 1,204.10
26 Geo. Hale, L. S. O., No. 2.....		Total $1,204.10
26 Defense Stockston, Cal., No. 572.....		Refunds for July, 1915.
26 John J. Graney, Defense Ohio locals.....		Balance in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. $1,204.10
26 Robt. Lyons, Defense L. J. E. B., St. Louis, Mo.		Amount in General Fund, August 1, 1915. $29,815.02
26 Clerks 62.00		Amount in Death Fund, August 1, 1915. 32,847.25
26 Belle Donner, L. S. O., No. 493.....		Amount in Defense Fund, August 1, 1915. 13,176.72
26 Louise Kane, L. S. O., No. 249.....		Amount in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. 1,204.10
26 Mary Harrison, L. S. O., No. 434.....		Total $1,204.10
26 Robt. Lyons, L. S. O., No. 51.....		Refunds for July, 1915.
26 E. D. Skinner, L. S. O., No. 848.....		Balance in Conv. Assmt. Fund, Fund, August 1, 1915. $1,204.10
26 E. Maloney, L. S. O., No. 484.....		Amount in General Fund, August 1, 1915. $29,815.02
26 A. W. Smith, L. S. O., No. 592.....		Amount in Death Fund, August 1, 1915. 32,847.2

WHAT OUR ORGANIZERS ARE DOING

WACO, TEXAS, July 24, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month of July:

On July 28th I went to Mart, Texas, for the purpose of organizing a local in that city, returning to Waco on the 30th. On the 6th of July I went back to Mart and secured enough signatures for a charter; so, on July 7th I sent to the general office for charter and outfit, returning on that date to Waco to continue my work in that city towards organizing the waiters of Waco, while I was waiting for my charter for Mart.

I returned to Mart and found the charter awaiting me, so on July 18th I instituted Local 769, bartenders, cooks and waiters. Returning to Waco, where I sent to headquarters for a charter for the waiters of that city. I received the charter and outfit for the waiters of Waco on the 21st and instituted the local on July 22d with the following officers: B. C. Russell, president; S. D. Smith, vice-president; R. L. Arthur, treasurer; J. M. Cartwright, secretary; V. A. Williams, inspector; Hubert Henderson, inside guard; S. W. Kelley, Leo Scott and C. B. Maddox, as trustees; delegates to trades and labor council, J. M. Cartwright, B. W. Teague and S. D. Smith.

From the enthusiasm shown by the members of the two new locals I have every reason to believe we will always have an up-to-date local in each of these two cities named above.

My expense account for the month is as follows:

June 28—To Mart, Texas, and return....	$1 30
July 6 and 7—To Mart and return.....	1 30
July 17 and 18—To Mart and return.....	1 30
Three long distance telephone calls.....	75
Hall rent (three meetings).....	4 50
Street car fare and postage.....	4 50
Typewriter work and stationery supplies.	3 50
 Total.....	 $17 15

Fraternally submitted,

W. E. REYNOLDS,
International Organizer.

CHICAGO, ILL., July 26, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the time since the convention:

Under instructions, proceeded to visit Peoria, Ill., relative to conditions there and the prospects for a culinary workers organization are bright—expect to see one there in the near future.

At present in Chicago, and it looks as though we will be successful here in placing our membership where it belongs, in fact, to have our increase be of an amount sufficient to enroll ourselves upon the roster of successful organizations in this city.

My expense account is as follows:

July 2—Decatur to Peoria, Ill.....	$1 65
6—Peoria to Decatur, Ill.....	1 65
8—Decatur to Chicago, Ill.....	3 40
Telegrams	75
Local telephone	1 80
Baggage transfer	75
 Total.....	 $10 00

Fraternally submitted,

W. H. FOSTER,
Special Defense Organizer.

OTTAWA, CANADA, July 24, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the past month:

June 29th, met with the officers of Local 264, Omaha; July 1st, called on the officers of the Omaha Liquor Dealers' Association in the interest of our crafts in that city. July 6th, meeting of Local 289, Fremont. July 7th, meeting of Local 264. July 12th, visited Locals 280, 300, 434, and in company with Business Agent Smith of Local 300, called on the proprietors employing waitresses and so forth.

July 14th, meeting of Local 440. July 15th, meeting of Montreal Trades and Labor Council, addressed same on labels, buttons, etc. July 16th, meeting of Local 315. July 18th, meeting of Local 506; assisted officers on several important matters and tried to get the local back in proper shape; also on the same proposition with Local 315.

To Ottawa, in the interest of establishing a culinary local in that city and attended to other matters referred to me by the general office.

My expense account for the month follows:

July 6—Omaha to Fremont and return....	$1 48
9—To Chicago	12 61
11—To Toronto	16 90
13—To Montreal	12 10
20—To Ottawa	3 40
22—Smiths Falls and return.....	2 60
Baggage, car fare and phone.....	4 40
Postage and typewriting.....	2 70
Exchange on checks.....	25
 Total.....	 $56 44

Yours fraternally,

THOS. J. DURNIN,
International Organizer.

OMAHA, NEB., July 25, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—Find enclosed my report for the month of July:

Since my last report, Local 264 has been able to square up all its indebtedness and has elected new officers, and there is no reason why it should not go along and make good. I was in hopes that I would be able to report a new culinary local this month but they have been a little slow making up their mind. I have not given up though and can only say that I intend to keep at them until I find our for sure they have got cold feet.

THE MIXER AND SERVER

Find enclosed my expenses for the month of July:

Hall rent and postal cards.....	$1 25
Postage	90
Interurban and local car fare.....	80
 Total.....	 $2 95

With best wishes I remain,
Yours fraternally,

BEN GORTON,
International Organizer.

CHICAGO., ILL., July 26, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—My report for the last month's work is as follows:

On June 29th I attended the meeting of Local 562 and found a good crowd present; ten candidates were initiated and the newly elected officers were installed. After closing my work in Detroit, I left for Chicago on July 5, and on July 7th I attended the meeting of the L. J. E. B. and with a little remodeling of this organization I feel that a great deal of good work will be accomplished

On the afternoon of July 8th, we attended the meeting of Local 376 of South Chicago; three new candidates were initiated, and I am pleased to state that Local 376 is a real live organization; the same evening, Brother Joyce and I attended the meeting of Local 507 and found that this local union is holding its own in good shape.

July 9th, Brother Joyce and I went to Kensington to investigate conditions that caused the disruption of Local 702 and we made arrangements to meet the former officers of this local on July 13th.

July 11th, we attended the John R. Lawson "protest meeting," held in the Garrick Theater, under the auspices of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

The morning of July 13th we met the officers of Locals 401 and 702, and they imparted a great deal of useful information to the entire corps of organizers. In the afternoon we attended a meeting of the Bartenders' Joint Council and in the evening the regular meeting of Local 456.

July 14th, we attended the special meeting of the L. J. E. B. This meeting was called for the purpose of taking action in the matter of ridding our local organizations of the professional solicitors that have been preying upon the business interests in this city and thus greatly retarding the advancement of our local unions. We will go the limit with this matter and eventually rid our locals of this undesirable element.

Thursday afternoon, July 15, Brother McCarthy and I attended the meeting of Local 865 and in the evening, Brother Hobby and I attended the meeting of Local 507.

Friday afternoon, July 16th, attended the meeting of Local 484, and in the evening we attended the meeting of Local 401. This local will be doing business at the old stand again about August 6th.

On Sunday afternoon, July 18th, we attended the meeting of the Chicago Federation of Labor, and this honorable body will give us their hearty co-operation in our work in this city.

July 19th, we attended the meeting of the L. J. E. B.

On July 20th, we took up a certain matter with the Grievance Committee of the C. F. of L.

The same day, July 20th, acting under instructions from Brother Foster, Brother Hobby and I went to Gary, Indiana, and met the officers of Local 534 and we found this local in good shape; Brother Foster will finish the work in that city July 30th.

July 22d and 23d, we continued our work with the Grievance Committee of the C. F. of L.

My expenses for the past month are as follows:

July 5—Detroit to Chicago.....	$6 80
9—To Kensington and return.....	52
21—To Gary and return.....	1 40
Bus fare	50
Local car fare.....	1 60
Postage for month.....	90
 Total.....	 $11 72

Yours fraternally,

JOSH BRADY,
International Organizer.

PHOENIX, ARIZ., July 24, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—My last report left me in Bakersfield, Cal.

Went to the convention in San Francisco, and left there on the 22d. Colorado Springs on the 23th: attended meeting of Local 52. Pueblo on the 26th. On the 27th attended meeting of Labor Day Committee at 10:30 a. m., and Local 282 at 1:30 p. m.; 28th, Local 43; 29th, Barbers; 30th, Trades and Labor Assembly. On July 1 to Phoenix, Ariz., as per instructions; 6th, Central Council; 7th, Local 631; 8th, Carpenters; 13th, Central Council; 14th, Printers; 20th, Central Council; 21st, Local 631.

The attendance at the meetings in all four of the locals that I have visited in the last month has been good.

The following is my expense for the month:

Sleeper from San Francisco to Cheyenne..	$9 75
Pueblo to Phoenix.....	37 65
Sleeper	6 00
Transfer	25
Local car fare.....	2 50
Stamps	1 00
 Total	 $57 15

With best wishes, I beg to remain

Yours fraternally,

J. N. BUTLER,
Special Defense Organizer.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 26, 1915.

The following is my report for the month of July:

Upon my return from the Eighteenth General Convention, I found that the injunction case instituted by the Why Not Eat Lunch Co., against the cooks, waiters and waitresses' locals of Kansas City, would come up in court for a hearing, and I immediately, with the representatives of those locals, got busy, and the result was that the injunction was set aside permanently, peaceful picketing granted, and consequently the pickets were back in line again without interruption.

Sunday, July 24th, attended meeting of Local 420, made my report from the convention, and installed the newly-elected officers for the ensuing term.

July 5th, to St. Joseph, Mo., upon request to adjust a difficulty in existence there between Local 422 and a local brewery.

Returned to Kansas City on the 6th, where I attended the meeting of the L. J. E. B., and took up some other matters pertaining to the welfare of Local 420.

As per instructions received previous to leaving San Francisco, I proceeded to the city of Chicago, July 7th, reporting for duty the following day to Third Vice-President Foster, who has charge of the situation in that city. During my stay in Chicago, I attended the meetings of the various locals located there, as well as the Bartenders' Joint Council and the L. J. E. B., also with the organizers stationed there, went over the ground, investigating the conditions, and am sorry to say that the conditions of our local organizations in the city of Chicago are in the most deplorable condition, but am not going to dwell on this matter, as no doubt the organizers stationed in that city will have a full report of same.

Having received instructions from headquarters to report to Second Vice-President Hoffman in Minneapolis, with Organizer Joyce, left the Windy City and arrived in this city July 16. Left the following day for Winona to attend the conventions of the Minnesota Trades Union League and the State Federation of Labor. Our crafts throughout the state were fully represented at both gatherings; a strong resolution against prohibition in all its shape and forms, county option included, was adopted and an active campaign inaugurated against the movement to make Minnesota dry.

Very effective work and much good was established at these conventions, the support of organized labor in our fight for existence was assured, and we are now in the harness to combat against the common enemy who is trying to put Minneapolis and Hennepin County in the dry column, which, if they should succeed in doing, would only be another step towards state-wide prohibition.

While attending the conventions in the city of Winona, Brother Joyce, myself, and others assisted Sister Maitland, president of Local 593, in an endeavor to organize the waitresses of that little city, but for some reasons unknown to all of us, we were sidestepped and the proposition fell through.

Since my return from Winona, have attended the meetings of Locals 593, 458 and 152, and all the members of these organizations are taking a very active stand against the fight inaugurated to put them out of their jobs.

The bartenders and cooks locals of this city are in splendid shape numerically, financially, and otherwise, and their members are enjoying the very best of conditions, but the waiters and waitresses are not as fortunate, but I am sure that, with the assistance of the stronger locals, it will only be a question of time until Local 593 will advance to the same rank amongst organized labor as Locals 152 and 458 are now placed in.

My expenses for the month are as follows:

July 5—Transportation from Kansas City to St. Joseph and return.....	$2 48
5—Telegram to Chicago.....	41
7—Kansas City to Chicago.....	13 00
15—Chicago to Minneapolis.....	10 05
15—Transfer of baggage in Chicago and Minneapolis	1 50
17—Minneapolis to Winona.....	2 33
17—Bus fare in Winona.....	25
22—Winona to Minneapolis.....	2 33
Postage, stationery and typewriting, June and July	8 70
Local, suburban and interurban car fare..	2 60
Telephone	1 20
Total.....	$44 85

Fraternally yours,

JAS. H. ANDERSON,
International Organizer.

CHICAGO, ILL., July, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month:

July 1st attended meeting of Cooks' Local 865. Meeting well attended. Initiated two.

July 2d, meeting of Waitresses' Local 484. Initiated two.

July 7th, meeting of L. J. E. B. Important business transacted.

July 8th, meeting of Local 376; initiated three. Evening special appointment with Liquor Dealers with Vice-President Foster.

July 9th, general survey of loop district and getting data on Waiters' Club proposition.

July 10th, locating secretary and meeting place of Local 401.

July 11th, Chicago Federation of Labor protest meeting against conviction of Lawson, etc.

July 13th, morning we met officers of Locals 702 and 401; afternoon we attended meeting of Local 35; evening, Local 456.

July 14th, special meeting of the L. J. E. B., for the purpose of eliminating, as far as possible, certain features that, in our judgment, have in the past retarded the progress of our International.

July 15th we attended meeting of Local 469. Several candidates were initiated. At this meeting Brother Brady did the honors and exemplified the work satisfactory, as laid down in the ritual. Later waited upon committee of the Waiters' Club.

July 16th attended meeting of Local 401. Notwithstanding reverses, we will report progress.

July 18th attended meeting of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

July 19th, the L. J. E. B., and regret to say that the Bartenders' Joint Council did not hold meeting.

July 20th. In morning met committee of Local 35 relative to conditions of waiters in Chicago. Afternoon, with Vice-President Foster, to meet Manager Collins, of the Henrici Restaurant. Later Grievance Committee of the Chicago Federation of Labor. Important—Later on committee of the L. J. E. B., as per request.

July 21st, as per instructions, to Gary, Ind.

July 22d, with committee to meet Manager Biefeldt of the Sherman Hotel Co.

July 23d, Grievance Committee of the Chicago Federation of Labor; also, President Fitzpatrick relative to Waiters' Club.

July 27th, with Vice-President Foster, again called upon Manager Collins of Henrici Restaurant. Progress.

The balance of my time was taken up working with my colleagues. General agitation.

The following is my expense account for the month:

Telephone and street car fare.....	$3 75
Postage and stationery.....	2 25
Exchange on check.....	25
Exchange on check.....	10
July 21—Gary and return.....	1 50

Total $7 85

Yours fraternally,

FRED B. HOBBY,
International Organizer.

CHICAGO, ILL., July 27, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—My report for the month follows:

Arrived in Pittsburgh June 6th, proceeded to Waiters and Cooks' headquarters, and was pleased to hear that progress was being made by that organization. The total reinstatements to date were 36, the applications of new members being 39.

I attended their meeting on the 8th, and in my remarks informed them of the proceedings of the San Francisco Convention.

Helped to audit their books Sunday morning, the 11th. I attended a meeting of Local 188 in the evening, and, with my colleagues, made a full report of the late convention.

Proceeded to Chicago the next day, and arrived in that city Tuesday, July 13, meeting Third Vice-President Foster and Organizers Hobby, Anderson, Joyce and Brady.

I attended the Local Joint Council meeting in the afternoon, with Brothers Brady, Joyce and Anderson; and in the evening attended the meeting of Local 456, with Vice-President Foster and the organizers.

Called on the editor of the Champion of Fair Play July 14, and made arrangements for a meeting with Vice-President Foster. Attended a meeting of the L. J. E. B. the same date.

Attended Cooks' Local 865 meeting on the afternoon of the 15th, with Brother Brady, and Local 649 the same night, with Brothers Hobby and Brady..

Attended meeting of Waitresses' Local 484 on the 16th, with Vice-President Foster and Brother Brady. Was present at a meeting of Local 401 the same night, with Vice-President Foster and Hobby and Brady.

Saw several people on matters of importance to our organization, with Vice-President Foster, on the 19th, and since then, under instruction from Vice-President Foster, have attended to matters he will, no doubt, inform you of.

My expenses for month:

July 12—Pittsburgh to Chicago and sleeper. $14 40

Fraternally yours,

JIM F. McCARTHY,
International Organizer.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., July 27, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month of July:

On the 29th of June I met Sister El. Maloney, and we visited several lunch rooms together for the purpose of organizing them. That same day I signed up Hiler's Lunch Room.

On July 1st I met Brother F. Hobby, and attended the meeting of Local 865, at which meeting the election of officers, which had taken place last month, was declared void and the old ones retained until the next general elections in October.

After this meeting I journeyed to South Chicago to attend a meeting there. I met Brother Ulmark, Business Agent of Local 35, and together we visited the several cafes. We found out that the majority of waiters belong to Local 376. The few visits I made in South Chicago convinced me that it is possible to establish a mixed local there.

On the 6th I met Brother Joyce and Brother Brady, who were part of the Chicago Organization Commission.

On the 7th we attended the Local Joint Board meeting, at which future action was discussed. Brother Foster having arrived, we went to South Chicago to attend the meeting of Local 376.

At Local 865's meeting I had the pleasure of meeting Brother Adamsky, General Organizer of the Garment Workers, who asked us to prevail on the firm of Marcus Ruben, manufacturers of cooks' and waiters' uniforms, to put the label on its goods. This firm does a good business in the Northwest, so I have taken up the matter with Local 458 here.

On the 12th I had a meeting with the Grievance Committee of the Chicago Federation of Labor about the Chicago Waiters' Association. Although several members promised us their support, our request for their affiliation with our International was tabled at their meeting, which means that we will have to go at it in a different way. The bringing into our folds of this organization is a paramount issue in Chicago, and Brother Foster has taken the matter under advisement.

On the 13th we attended the meeting of Local 35, and the same evening that of Local 456.

On the 14th we attended the L. J. B. meeting, and on the 15th that of Local 865.

On the 16th I started on my journey home to Minneapolis, as I am expecting an increase in my family. I stopped over in Milwaukee, and with Brother Marot made the rounds of the kitchens, leaving that city at 8 o'clock the same evening. I arrived home in the morning, and found my family well, after a six and one-half months' absence.

On the 18th I met the Duluth delegation on their way to the State Federation of Labor Convention, and together we attended the meeting of Local 152. I have visited many of my old friends here in the kitchens, and found everything in good shape, thanks to Local 458's watchfulness. I am sorry not to be able to say the same of Local 408. in St. Paul, where I found the situation rather changed since my departure. I met several of the boys, and we arranged for a meeting for Thursday July 29th.

On the 25th, Brothers Joyce, Anderson and myself attended the meeting of Local 152, and on the 26th that of the L. J. B., at which the situation of the waiters of this city was discussed.

The trouble in St. Paul is the difficulty in finding officers who will stay in the city, and the continuous changing makes it hard to keep things going right. But there is no doubt in my mind that I will be able to straighten matters out.

The following is my expense account for the month:

Car fare in Chicago.....	$4 75
Postage for month.....	84
Chicago to Minneapolis (July 16).....	8 05
Sleeper	2 00
Baggage transfer (Chicago).....	1 50
Baggage transfer (Minneapolis).....	1 00
Phone for month.....	25
St. Paul and return.....	80
Total	$19 19

Total

Fraternally yours,

A. MARTEL,
International Organizer.

BUTTE, MONT., July 25, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month of July:

During the month I visited the following places, and found a decided improvement in conditions generally: Fort Benton, Carter, Geraldine, Square Butte, Denton, Hobson, Stanford, Belt, San Coulee, Tracy, Vaughn, Sun River, Choteau, Bynum, De Puyer, Valier, Brady, Conrad, Lewistown, Helena and Great Falls.

Conditions in Butte, as far as mine work is concerned, has never been better, yet there are a great number of our craftsmen unemployed.

Bartenders in Lewistown have patched up their grievances with the Trades Assembly and their delegates are again in attendance.

Bartenders, cooks, waiters and waitresses are getting along nicely in Great Falls.

During the month I attended the convention of the American Society of Equity as the representative of the Montana State Federation of Labor. The subject of my address on the occasion was "The Necessity of Closer Affiliation Between the Farmers and Organized Labor." I was very well received, and the society has applied for affiliation with the Montana State Federation of Labor. This move on the part of the Farmers' Union adds a tower of strength to the labor movement of this State.

Our fight against Strain Brothers' store has been settled. Our victory was absolutely complete. Everything requested by organized labor was conceded. This fight lasted nine months, and the completeness of the victory gives added impetus to our work.

Extending best wishes to the general membership, the G. E. B. and yourself, I am

Fraternally yours,

J. P. McGINLEY,
International Organizer.

Address Box 833, Great Falls.

STOCKTON, CAL., July 24, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month of July:

June 28th attended the regular meeting of Local 41, and was requested to go to the exposition and secure data with the Business Agent.

June 30th, with Business Agent of Local 41, went to the exposition, and visited all the concessions employing members of our crafts.

July 1st, with Business Agents of Locals 41 and 44, visited the manager of a restaurant in the exposition, and he promised to give a definite answer on July 5th. In the afternoon, as per instructions, left for the city of Stockton, Cal.

July 2d attended the meeting of Cooks and Waiters' Local 572. The attendance was fair, and the members of the local have the right spirit.

July 6th and 8th attended the meeting of the Labor Council Executive Board on matters pertaining to our locals.

July 8th visited the Teamsters' Local, and talked to them in behalf of our house cards.

July 9th attended the meeting of Local 572. Had nominations of officers.

July 12th, attended the meeting of the Central Labor Council, and was assured of the assistance of the Council and of its Business Agent.

July 13th attended the meeting of the Labor Day Committee, and it was decided to have a parade and picnic.

July 14th attended the meeting of Bartenders' Local 403. Business was transacted in a very systematic manner.

July 16th attended the meeting of Local 572. Election of officers.

July 17th went to San Francisco, returning to Stockton on the 19th.

July 19th attended the meeting of the Labor Council.

July 20th visited Carpenters', Plumbers', Machinists' and Engineers' Unions.

July 21st visited the Laundry Workers', Butchers' and Hodcarriers' Unions.

July 22d attended meeting of the L. J. E. B. Matters of importance to both locals were acted upon.

The following is my expense account for the month:

July 1—San Francisco to Stockton.....	$2 35
17—Stockton to San Francisco.....	2 35
19—San Francisco to Stockton.....	2 35
Baggage transfer	1 00
Car fare	1 75
Phone and long distance phone.....	2 00
Postage	1 50
Total	$13 30

Yours fraternally,

F. SESMA,
International Organizer.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., July 29, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report from May 29 to July 28:

May 30th, attended a meeting of Local 320. This was a special meeting, called for the purpose of disinheriting the delegate to the Eighteenth General Convention.

June 1st, to Albany, in order to get a line on the amendments being introduced at the Constitutional Convention.

June 6th started for San Francisco to attend the Eighteenth General Convention, to which I had been elected a delegate.

Coming back East after the adjournment of the convention to take up the work which I had started before going to the convention.

June 28th to Utica to attend the New York State Convention of the Liquor Dealers.

Addressed the convention on the 29th. Hope that the Liquor Dealers of New York State will not forget that the watchword is co-operation from now on.

July 1st to Cohoes to take up the work of reorganization.

THE MIXER AND SERVER

July 2d attended meeting of the Brewery Workers of Schenectady.

July 3d attended the printers' meeting.

July 4th attended meeting of Local 320 in order to make my report, but none of the officers showed up at this meeting.

July 6th to Gloversville, at the request of the Secretary of Local 195.

The 7th attended a meeting of the Albany Central Labor Union.

The 8th to Oswego, N. Y., where things looked bad for the bartenders. Trouble; no ambition.

On the 9th attended meeting of Oswego Trades Assembly. The Assembly went on record as doing all in their power to help me. Made arrangements to come back and see what could be done.

July 10th back to finish up the work started in Cohoes. But on arriving found word to attend a meeting to be held in Syracuse on the 12th. This meeting was called for the purpose of forming an organization to protect the allied crafts against the antis, but, owing to some unknown reason, no meeting was held; so I made up my mind to go back to Oswego and finish the work started there.

Held two meetings—one on the 15th and the other on the 16th. Both were well attended. Elected new officers and started an organizing campaign. Things look good for the boys there now.

July 19th to Albany to attend several hearings on the amendments to the State Constitution.

July 22d to Cohoes to clean up the work started. Called a meeting for the 26th, and in the meantime called on a number of former members.

July 23d to Hudson, in order to make arrangements for a campaign to increase their membership.

July 26th attended the meeting called for the bartenders in Cohoes in order to reorganize. Three members showed up. Started at once to clean up the city of all signs of any Bartenders' Union.

July 27th and 28th picked up all bar signs, books, charter and seal.

The following is my expense account since last report:

June 1—To Albany and return	$ 50
28—To Utica and return	3 12
July 1—To Cohoes and return.....	70
6—To Gloversville and return.....	1 40
7—To Albany	25
8—Albany to Oswego.....	3 68
10—Oswego to Schenectady.....	3 34
12—Schenectady to Syracuse.....	2 64
13—Syracuse to Oswego.....	70
18—Oswego to Albany.....	3 68
22—Schenectady to Cohoes.....	30
23—Cohoes to Hudson and return....	1 20
28—Cohoes to Schenectady.....	30
Telegrams	62
Printing notices of meeting in two Cohoes papers	68
Postal cards in Oswego.....	50
July 24—Notices in two Cohoes papers... .	1 54
Picking up bar signs, expense.....	5 00
Postage	50
Total.....	$30 65

JOHN J. HENLEY,
International Organizer.

OAKLAND, CAL., July 26, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month of July, 1915:

On the 1st, at 2:30 p. m., attended meeting of Culinary Local 31; installed officials for the ensuing term; explained the situation relative to the conditions confronting the members of our crafts at this time, and more particularly when the Panama-Pacific Fair terminates, January 1, 1916; recommended a committee of fifteen to transact the urgent business connected with the campaign to be inaugurated, and renewed old acquaintances with the boys and girls who were the pioneers of the labor movement of Oakland.

July 2d, at 9 a. m., attended meeting of Business Agents of the Building Trades Council and the Alameda Central Labor Council, where the different craft troubles were gone over and remedies suggested, which, I believe, are a help to each representative of affiliated unions, and which tend to bring about closer relations and better understandings of the difficulties experienced in the routine work of the Business Agents.

At noon hour I personally counted the trade of the cafeterias which we are boycotting, and at 2:15 p. m. attended the meeting of Bartenders' Local 525, where a general discussion of conditions and impending dangers took place. I also had the pleasure of assisting in the installation of the newly elected officials, who were returned to office by the membership as a token of the esteem in which they are held.

July 3d, aside from attending a meeting of the Local Joint Executive Board and assisting with the pickets, nothing particular on this date.

July 4th and 5th visited the fair grounds and renewed acquaintances with oldtimers. Business of all character was practically suspended in Oakland on those dates.

July 7th visited Building Trades Council and Butchers' Union, and explained to both the standing of the notorious "White Lunch Co." as well as the two Colonial Cafeterias.

July 8th attended meetings of Culinary Local 31 and Painters' Union. July 9th meetings of Bricklayers and Electrical Workers, and on July 10th meeting of Carpenters. Considerable interest displayed at these meetings, this being the first time the "White Lunch" had invaded Oakland.

July 12th Central Labor Council, where our fight holds the center of the stage. Later in the evening visited a couple of patrons of the White Lunch; and secured a promise that they would refrain from patronizing the place hereafter.

July 13th assisted with picketing and visited another local of the Carpenters and the Cement Workers.

July 14th the Executive Board of Local 31, the committee of fifteen and locals of Billposters and Clerks. The Executive Board meeting proved a live one, several cafes being on the grill and all places being given a general overhauling.

July 16th Bartenders' meeting. Arrangements for joint meeting with proprietors made and other matters of importance being considered.

July 17th on the picket line, etc., and on the 18th (Sunday) attended the picnic given by Bartenders' Local 525 at Grand Canyon.

July 19th Central Labor Council, where usual routine of business was indulged in. Also had the pleasure of hearing the report of Vice-President Hart of the California State Federation of Labor, who reported the result of the visit of the two delegates of labor of Japan, who appeared before the Executive Board of the Federation and gave a version of the reason of their visit to this country.

July 20th took up several matters with Brother Spooner, of Local 31, who is the Secretary-Business Agent of the Central Labor Council, and who is nominated to succeed himself without opposition. "Bill," in the estimation of the writer, is one of the best officials of a Central Labor Council on the Pacific coast.

July 21st meeting of Local Joint Executive Board, also meeting of Executive Board of Local 31, as well as committee of fifteen, where sub-committees of three each were appointed to further the work in hand.

July 22d meeting of Local 31. July 23d meeting of the Business Agents of both Councils. July 24th on grievances with Brother Spooner; and the 26th the Central Labor Council meeting.

At this time I want to report that the picket work being done is proving effective, especially on the "White Lunch" place, which is not doing any business. At the meeting of the Local Joint Executive Board plans were prepared which, if carried out, will undoubtedly prove the finish of this notorious union-hater.

The following is my expense for the month:

June 22—Seattle to Oakland.....	$21 50
Sleeper	2 50
Carfare	2 65
Stamps and stationery.....	2 90
Telephone	70
Total	$30 25

With best wishes,

Fraternally yours,

A. C. BECK,
International Organizer.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., July 26, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month of July:

June 30th attended meeting of Bartenders' Union, Local 3, of New York City, for the purpose of submitting a report as their representative to the San Francisco Convention.

July 2d attended meeting of Waiters' Local 2, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and was delighted to notice the large attendance this local had and the manner in which they handle their business affairs.

July 5th left Brooklyn for Chicago, Ill., to take up whatever work that may be assigned to me by Vice-President Foster in connection with the organizing of that city.

July 7th attended meeting of the Chicago Local Joint Executive Board. All unions present. Work of a preliminary nature was discussed and a few committees appointed to work with the corps of organizers now stationed in that city.

July 8th with Vice-President Foster and organizers, attended meeting of Local 376 at South Chicago. This meeting was poorly attended. There were two initiations. That evening, with Organizer Brady, attended meeting of Bartenders' Union, Local 507, and was pleased to note the way in which they attended to and handled their business. This local has the snap to it, and is possessed with a good set of officers. One candidate was initiated.

July 9th to Roseland, a suburb of Chicago, for the purpose of locating Brother V. J. Jacobson, Secretary Bartenders' Union, Local 702. Organizer Brady accompanied me. Had no trouble in locating this Secretary and getting more information than we expected. Considered it best to pick up the effects of Local 702 and turn them over to Vice-President Foster.

July 11th, attended protest meeting held at the Garrick Theater, in the matter concerning John R. Lawson of the United Mine Workers Union. James Lord, president of the mining department of the A. F. of L., Mother Jones and Frank P. Walsh, chairman of Committee on Industrial relations, were the principal speakers.

July 12th, visited the headquarters of Bartenders' Union Local 401, with Organizer Anderson.

July 13th, with Organizers Anderson, McCarthy and Brady, attended the joint council of bartenders, all delegates present. Recommendations were offered and work outlined for the future betterment of that craft. Same date, attended a meeting of Bartenders' Union, Local 456, and truthfully mention I never attended a more disorderly gathering in all my life. I feel that it would be well for the organizers to do considerable weeding out in that local union before starting anything else; with that done some good returns may be achieved. The following day, attended special meeting of L. J. E. B. At this meeting the law was laid down by Vice President Foster in regard to the "Phoney Advertising Solicitors." The days of shaking down the dealers in the Windy City are over if those who were in the habit of doing that work in the past desire to retain membership in our International.

July 15, under instructions of Vice-President Foster, was informed to report to Vice-President Hoffman at Minneapolis, Minn.

July 17th, to Winona, Minn., to attend the convention of the Minnesota State Federation of Labor. During the week Organizer Anderson, President Kate Maitland of Local 593, and the writer, used every effort to bring about an organization of waitresses in that city, and after getting twenty together, for some unknown reason, at a later meeting, they turned down the proposition.

July 21st, at the closing of the State Convention, Delegate Emme, representing the machinists of St. Paul, endeavored to amend the resolution introduced by the "wets" that government control was the only practical remedy for the evils incident to the liquor traffic. This amendment was killed.

July 22d, returned to Minneapolis; that evening, attended meeting of Waiters and Waitresses' Union, Local 593. Meeting poorly attended, but an excuse might be offered owing to the intense heat that prevailed. Five applications were read at this meeting, each being considered favorably.

July 23d, attended meeting of Northwest Cooks, Local 458, with Organizer Anderson; meeting was well attended. This organization certainly has control of the situation in Minneapolis. Was called upon to address the members, and after briefly outlining matters in connection with our stay, gave way to Organizer Anderson. The following day, took up a grievance with the proprietor of the Popular Lunch on Hennepin avenue in the interest of Waiters and Waitresses' Alliance, Local 593, which will be the result of increasing their membership to eight more. Accompanying me was Business Agent Woods, Organizer Anderson and Organizer Spielman, for the district of Hennepin County.

THE MIXER AND SERVER

July 25th, attended meeting of Bartenders' Union, Local 152, which was fairly attended. The most important business transacted at this meeting was the assessment levied to fight county option; same was received and adopted without a dissenting vote. At this meeting one candidate was initiated.

July 26th, attended meeting of Minneapolis L. J. E. Board; all locals present.

The following is my expense account for the month:

July 5—Brooklyn, N. Y., to Chicago, Ill.	$29 10
9—Chicago to Roseland and return...	52
15—Chicago to Minneapolis, Minn....	10 05
17—Minneapolis to Winona, Minn....	2 33
22—Winona to Minneapolis.....	2 33
Local and suburban car fare.....	2 00
Postage	1 33
Telephone	1 30
Two maps of Chicago.....	50
Winona bus	25
Baggage transferred and checked.....	1 50
Total.....	$51 21

Fraternally yours,
WILLIAM B. JOYCE,
International Organizer.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 26, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for month of July, from June 30th:

June 30th. Attended meeting of Alliance of Bartenders, Waiters and Musicians, Jersey City.

July 1st. In City of Hoboken, assisting officials of bartenders' Local 4.

July 2nd. Jersey City. Afternoon at meeting of culinary workers; in the evening to the city of Newark, to confer with Brother Harry Martens, as instructed by general office, in relation to 'cooks' local of that city. Also in company with officials of Locals 109, 294, 131, and ex-board member, Brother John Connelly, of Boston, Mass., who was in the city on his return from Eighteenth General convention, San Francisco, Cal., attended meeting of Essex trades council, and delighted indeed, to hear Brother Connelly, after being called upon, giving his opinion on the evils of prohibition.

July 3rd, Jersey City, working in the interest of locals here.

July 5th, to New York City, on matters of interest to our crafts in the surrounding cities of New York and New Jersey.

July 6th, in Bayonne City with representatives of Locals 488 and 575, and adjusted grievances satisfactory to our membership.

July 7th, at request of bartenders of Jersey City, attended meeting of liquor dealers' association.

July 8th, Hoboken, at meeting of bartenders. Attendance at meetings on the increase. In the evening addressed delegates at Central Labor Council.

July 9th, New York City. As instructed picked up charter of Bronx waiters.

July 11th. Appeared before Executive Board of New Jersey State Federation of Labor. In city of Newark to take up matters of interest to State Liquor Dealers and Federation.

July 12th. Attended meeting of State Liquor Dealers and State Federation of Labor Executive Committees. Appointed by both bodies to act jointly on all fanatical legislation, as well as to co-operate along organization lines. Resolutions were adopted and ordered sent to all labor union members and liquor dealers, both to share the expense jointly. I expect to see greater results along organization lines as both are alive to the situation here in New Jersey.

July 13th. At meeting of bartenders in Jersey City.

July 14th. At headquarters of Local 488 with Brother J. Gibbons going over old books.

July 15th. To Bronx for balance of outfit of Local 276.

July 16th. Installed officers of culinary workers of Jersey City. Then to headquarters of waiters' Local 10 to keep an engagement with a Mr. Aschbock, who has been running an agency for the last fifteen years in the city of Hoboken, dualistic to our locals in Hudson county. To his credit, I must say that I was pleased to see that he accepted my invitation to be present at meeting of this local, as I was anxious to bring about a settlement of this question, which has been a bone of contention for years, and if Mr. Aschbock will keep the agreement he made in the presence of over fifty of our members and myself, we can all look for better results in the future, and still better conditions. In the evening to Essex trades council at Newark, and delighted to see our locals in that city again being active in this body.

July 18th, to Seacaucus, N. J., to adjust a matter of interest to locals in Hudson county; amicably adjusted.

July 20th, New York City, as requested by General President Flore, to look up a matter concerning bartenders' Local 118, of that city.

July 21st, meeting of Alliance of Musicians, and our local unions in the city of Hoboken.

July 23d to Bayonne City, to assist other International representatives of A. F. of L. to line up and advise with workers on strike against the Standard Oil interests. Up to date three have been killed and many injured on both sides. The men are determined to fight it out to a finish.

July 24th. Jersey City, giving the Bartenders' Local necessary attention.

My expenses for the month as follows:

July 2—Jersey City to Newark and return.	$ 30
5—Jersey City to New York and return via tube.....	14
9—Hoboken to Bronx, N. Y., and return	20
12—Jersey City to Newark and return	30
15—Jersey City to Bronx, N. Y., and return	20
16—Hoboken to Newark and return..	30
17—Expressage of seal and outfit of Local 276 of Bronx, N. Y., from New York City to Jersey City..	34
18—Jersey City to Seacaucus, N. J., and return	20
Postage and phone use for month.....	97
Local carfare for month.....	3 15
Total	$6 10

Fraternally yours,
W.M. F. KAVANAGH,
International Organizer.

PORLAND, ORE., July 28, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the past month:

June 28th, attended meeting of Reno Carpenters' Local 971 soliciting co-operation.

June 30th meeting of Reno Trades and Labor Council. Twelve delegates present.

July 3d Bakers' Local 161.

July 6th Washoe Building Trades Council. No quorum.

July 7th Trades and Labor Council. Eleven delegates present.

July 13th Brewery Workers' Local 352.

July 14th Painters' Local 567.

July 15th Journeymen Barbers' Local 600.

Received the cordial assistance of Brother Farrington, State Organizer of the A. F. of L.; Brother Townsend, Secretary of the Building Trades Council, and Brother Diener, Secretary of the Trades and Labor Council; but, owing to the open hostility of the employers and a strong I. W. W. sentiment existing amongst the people, every effort to effect the organization of our crafts met with flat failure.

Pursuant to instructions, left Reno for Portland July 17th, and with the assistance of Brother H. Harder, Secretary of Waiters and Waitresses' Local 189, took up the work of rehabilitating the moribund culinary situation in this city.

Expense account:

July 17—Reno to Portland.....	$30 85
Pullman	5 75
Baggage transfer	75
Telegrams	1 09
Postage	50
Total	$38 94

Yours fraternally,

F. E. MERRYFIELD,
International Organizer.

LOS ANGELES, CAL., July 29, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month:

July 7th, attended meeting of waitresses union, Local 48, San Francisco. Per instructions from headquarters, left for Los Angeles July 11.

July 12, visited Local 284, and the officials of the Central Labor Council of Los Angeles.

July 13, attended meeting of business agents of local unions at Los Angeles. Discussed matters relative to securing greater membership for our unions.

July 14, called on the officers of Local 17 and Local 27. In the evening attended meeting of Local 27. Disappointed, as only six of the members were present, consequently no business could have been transacted.

July 15, attended meeting of waiters' Local 17. Small attendance on account of big Elk convention; all the members working.

July 16, attended meeting of Central Labor Council, addressing them and soliciting their support to unionize catering establishments in Los Angeles.

July 20, attended meeting of business agents, endeavoring to lay plans to unionize a number of houses.

July 22, attended meeting of Local 17. Had a large attendance and business of importance transacted.

July 23, attended meeting of the Garment Workers' union. Had a large attendance and urged them to co-operate with us to the extent that they insist that none but members of our organization shall serve them. There were three hundred members of the garment workers at the meeting.

July 23, special meeting of the Local Joint Executive Board held. Business of importance was considered.

July 28, special call meeting of Local 27. Brother Edward Palmer was elected secretary of that local. The evening of the same date went to San Pedro to participate in the first anniversary of Local 754. They had an excellent gathering. The members appear to be very enthusiastic.

The following is my expense account for the month:

July 11—San Francisco to Los Angeles....	$9 35
16—Stationery and postage.....	75
28—Los Angeles to San Pedro.....	50
Car fare for the month.....	70
Phone for the month.....	40

Total.....$11 70

Fraternally yours,

MINNIE M. ANDREWS,
International Organizer.

EDMONTON, ALTA., July 24, 1915.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER—The following is my report for the month ending July 24th:

As per instructions I proceeded to Victoria, B. C., arriving there June 24th. Addressed a joint meeting of cooks and waiters of Local 459, and Bartenders' Local 814 on June 27th.

Left Victoria for Vancouver June 28th, arriving there the same date.

On July 2nd, visited New Westminister and met the officers of bartenders' Local 784; the same being well organized.

On the night of July 2nd, I attended the meeting of the cooks' and waiters' Local 28, Vancouver, and on July 4th, spoke to the bartenders of Local 676, and installed the officers for the ensuing term.

Left Vancouver for Calgary July 6th.

Left Calgary for Edmonton July 8th, where I have been trying to bring about an understanding between Local 55 and the Grand Trunk Pacific Hotel.

My expense account for month:

June 28—Victoria to Vancouver.....	$2 05
July 2—Vancouver to Westminster and return	50
July 6—Vancouver to Calgary.....	26 20
Sleeper	2 50
July 8—Calgary to Edmonton.....	5 85

Total$37 10

Fraternally yours,

GEO. HIBBERD,
Special Defense Organizer.

THE MOVIES.

According to a picture producer, over eleven million people in the United States patronize the Movie Show Shop daily and pay out two hundred and seventy-five million annually for the privilege.

That is an enormous sum of money, and yet the people of the United States put up more than that amount to support over two hundred thousand preachers, who usually hammer all kinds of amusement and try to put a ban on recreation which does not receive their sanction. The Movies offer entertainment and education such as few of the preachers can compete with or offer, and if for no other reason the preacher is after them with a sharp stick.

One of these days the preachers are going to wake up to the fact that, they are on a spur and some distance from the Main Line.

THE FORUM

CLAYTON ANTI-TRUST LAW.

October 15, 1914.

Report of the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor to the 34th Annual Convention of the A. F. of L., Philadelphia, Pa., November, 1914, upon the Subject.

Clayton Antitrust Act.

The greatest legislative victory that was secured by Labor during the past year was the enactment of the labor sections of the Clayton Antitrust Act, securing to the workers of America those fundamental principles of industrial liberty which were among the chief features of the Bill of Grievances and were the objectives of the political policy which the American Federation of Labor inaugurated in 1906.

From the time trust legislation was first discussed there was a purpose on the part of the enemies of Labor to bring organizations of workers under the provisions of such legislation. The representatives of organized labor were constantly on the alert to prevent the consummation of that purpose. The Sherman antitrust law was never intended to apply to organizations of human workers banded together for mutual protection and betterment. That law was intended to protect human beings from the power and the rapacity of soulless corporations and trusts. But courts by interpretation perverted that law, intended to apply to the products of labor—perverted it to apply to the human labor power of the workers themselves. By these perversions of the law the courts placed in the same legal category the steel worker and the steel rail he produces; the engineer and the throttle he pulls; the carpenter and the saw he uses; the printer and the type he sets.

These judicial perversions of justice ignore the fact that labor power is inseparable from the body and personality of the worker—that it is part of his very being. Labor in the speech of commerce and economic theory would not infrequently imply an inanimate something to be bought and sold exactly as an article of trade or commerce. Labor is the great, creative, productive force of the universe. It is that which gives dignity, nobility, and purpose to human life.

The workers through their organization have been urging this principle as the reason why trust laws should not apply to them. Upon innumerable occasions in writing, in publications and in public statements has this principle been pressed home upon the minds and the consciences of the citizens of our land. It has been urged in the form of demands for legislation upon the political representatives whom the people had placed in offices of responsibility. For twenty-four years this campaign of education and agitation has been in progress. Now the results of that campaign are apparent in the views of all manner of public representatives—judicial, executive, and legislative. Those views are manifest in public speech and official action. There can be nothing more gratifying than this common and implicit acceptance of the fundamental principle for which Labor of America has contended these many years. It has become a part of the thought and the action of our nation.

Its acceptance and incorporation in the law of the land has been gradual. In reports to former conventions its progress has been recorded as shown by the affirmation of this principle in amendments to the trust sections of sundry Civil bills, providing that the funds appropriated for the enforcement of the trust law should not be used in the prosecution of a worker or an organization of workers for entering into any combination or agreement having in view the increasing of wages, the shortening of hours, or bettering the conditions of labor, or any act done in furtherance thereof not in itself unlawful.

These amendments did not secure to the workers the full protection to which they were entitled. Full and complete justice could be done only by removing them from the provisions of the Sherman Act and establishing their freedom by legislation of a constructive, substantive character.

Legislation to regulate the trusts was one of the big measures which the party in power had pledged itself to enact. The Democratic party had twice made its pledge in the following platform provision:

The expanding organization of industry makes it essential that there should be no abridgment of the right of wage-earners and producers to organize for the protection of wages and the improvement of labor conditions to the end that such labor organizations and their members should not be regarded as illegal combinations in restraint of trade.

The Progressive party in its platform declared:

The Progressive party, in order to secure to the people a better administration of justice, and by that means bring about a more general respect for law and the courts, pledges itself to work unceasingly for the reform of legal procedure and judicial methods.

We believe that the issuance of injunctions in cases arising out of labor disputes should be prohibited when such injunctions would not apply when no labor disputes existed.

We believe also that a person cited for contempt in labor disputes, except when contempt was committed in the actual presence of the court, or so near thereto as to interfere with the proper administration of justice, should have a right to trial by jury.

We favor the organization of the workers, men and women, as a means of protecting their interests and of promoting their progress.

The Republican party refused to make any favorable declaration on the subject. Mr. Wilson, presidential candidate of the Democratic party, and Mr. Roosevelt, candidate of the Progressive party for President, represented the principles enunciated in the two party platforms of 1912. Those principles quoted above declared in favor of this legislation urged by the workers, and received, computing together the votes for both the Democratic and Progressive presidential candidates, 10,412,977 votes as against 3,484,974 votes for Mr. Taft, the candidate of the Republican party which did not declare for Labor's principles. Surely no one can truthfully declare that the people are not in sympathy with that which the workers deem necessary for their welfare. The spirit of the age is sympathetic, humane.

Those in charge of the trust legislation thought it best to redeem these pledges by incorporating in the measure to regulate commercial and industrial organizations provisions securing to the workers the right of organization and to the activities necessary to make organization effective for protection and betterment. As this line of action seemed most practical and most promising of early results the representatives of the A. F. of L. agreed to the plan.

The representatives of the A. F. of L. had many conferences with the members of the House Judiciary Committee and the Labor Group in the House upon the labor provisions of the trust bill.

The Labor Group in Congress, consisting of seventeen union card men, was of material assistance in outlining and carrying into effect a campaign to secure favorable action by Congress upon Labor's demands. The legislative representatives of the Railroad Brotherhoods met frequently with the representatives of the A. F. of L. and cooperated with us in every way. They heartily joined us in circularizing the members of Congress and in keeping the membership of organized labor in touch with the legislative situation and advising them when their aid was necessary in convincing Congress that immediate and favorable action was demanded by the people.

The administration trust bill, known as H. R. 15657, was reported by Representative Clayton for the Judiciary Committee, on May 6, 1914. Section 7 of the bill as reported by the committee intended to exempt labor organizations from trust legislation was not satisfactory to the A. F. of L., but a rule had been secured from the Rules Committee which threw the whole bill wide open to amendment on the floor of the House. The representatives of Labor knew that if the fight was made on the floor of the House to secure amendments which would make the bill satisfactory to Labor there would be no difficulty in securing action. It is a most significant feature of our efforts to secure legislation for the workers, that whenever these measures have come before the members of Congress for vote they have never failed to endorse Labor's principles of equity and justice. However, the Judiciary Committee offered as committee amendments the changes which Labor demanded and which were necessary in fulfillment of party pledges.

As we said above, section 7 of the bill freed the workers from the provisions of trust legislation, thus assuring them the right to organize and the exercise of their normal activities. Because this section contained the fundamental right necessary for industrial freedom, a right that must precede every effort for protection and betterment, it is known as Labor's Magna Charta, or Labor's Charter of Industrial Freedom. Section 18 established the right of the workers to such activities as are necessary to secure the purposes of organization. It is to prevent abuses of the injunctive process which has been used to deny to workers rights secured them by laws and customs. The use of the injunction was further dealt with in other sections which also provide trial by jury and other protective features in proceedings for indirect contempt.

On June 1 Chairman Webb for the Judiciary Committee offered an amendment which made section 7 satisfactory to the representatives of organized labor. The House in Committee of the Whole voted to adopt that amendment by 207 ayes and not a single dissenting vote. An amendment to section 18 which Labor desired was adopted without a dissenting vote.

The House then passed the Clayton bill with the labor provisions satisfactory to the representatives of organized labor by a vote of 277 yeas, 54 nays, 3 answering present and 99 not voting.

The bill then went to the Senate. On June 5 the Senate referred the bill to the Judiciary Committee which reported it out with amendments July 22. The committee report left the principle of section 7 unchanged, but struck the picketing proviso out of section 18 together with other less vital changes.

The representatives of organized labor urged upon the individual Senators the justice of Labor's contentions. Their efforts were supplemented emphatically and vigorously by the workers all over the country, who left no doubt in the minds of their senators that the bill as reported by the committee was not adequate to meet the platform pledges of the party.

The debate in the Senate as well as in the House was of unusual interest and power. On every hand were manifest evidences of the campaign of protest and education which the workers had been waging for greater and larger conceptions of freedom. Men accepted as a matter of course the distinction between labor and the products of labor, which was treated as absurd or inconsequential when first advocated by the representatives of Labor. The needs of Labor were considered with understanding and with appreciation.

On September 1 Senator Cummins moved that in lieu of section 7 the following be inserted:

That the labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce, and nothing contained in the antitrust laws shall be construed to forbid the existence and operation of labor organizations having for their objects bettering the conditions, lessening the hours, or advancing the compensation of labor, nor to forbid or restrain individual members of such organizations from carrying out said objects in a lawful way; nor shall said laws be construed to prevent or prohibit any person or persons, whether single or in concert, from terminating any relation of employment or from ceasing to work, or from advising or persuading others in a peaceful, orderly way, and at a place where they may lawfully be, either to work or to abstain from working, or from withholding their patronage from a party to any dispute growing out of the terms or conditions of employment, or from advising or persuading other wage-workers in a peaceful and orderly way so to do, or from paying or giving to or withholding from any person engaged in such dispute any strike benefits or other moneys or things of value, or from assembling in a peaceful and orderly way for a lawful purpose in any place where they may lawfully be, or from doing any act or thing which might lawfully be done in the absence of such dispute. Nothing contained in said antitrust laws shall be construed to forbid the existence and operation of agricultural, horticultural, or commercial organizations instituted for mutual benefit without capital stock and not conducted for the pecuniary profit of either such organization or the members thereof, or to forbid or restrain such members from carrying out said objects in a lawful way.

This substitute was a combination of sections 7 and 18 of the House bill. This splendid declaration won favor with many Senators particularly because of the impressive wording of the principle set forth in the first sentence.

On the next day, September 2, while Senator Cummins was discussing his proposed amendment, Senator Culberson, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, asked Senator Cummins if he would be satisfied with section 7 if the words "That the labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce, and" were inserted therein. Senator Cummins replied that he had intended making that suggestion if his amendment was rejected.

Without a dissenting voice the Senate agreed to the suggestion and the splendid statement was incorporated in section 7.

Senator Cummins then moved that section 18—as it was numbered in the House bill—be amended by inserting in place of the section on picketing struck out by the committee a provision which incorporated the contention of Labor. This amendment was accepted by the committee and adopted by the Senate as Committee of the Whole without a dissenting vote. The unanimity of the endorsement given to Labor's contentions was one of the most impressive features of the legislative declarations of both houses.

The bill was adopted by the Senate by a vote of 46 yeas to 16 nays. The bill then went to conference. The conference committee made its report September 24 with the labor provisions of the bill practically unchanged. The opposition which occurred in the Senate to the conference report was directed only against the industrial and business sections of the bill. However, the Senate adopted the report of the conference committee October 5. On October 8 the House agreed to the report.

On October 15, 1914, President Wilson approved the bill and the pen with which he signed the act was presented to President Gompers.

The labor provisions of the bill are a splendid victory for organized labor. A few days after signing the bill, in a letter to Representative Underwood, President Wilson wrote the following as his interpretation and understanding of them:

"Incidentally, justice has been done the laborer. His labor is no longer to be treated as if it were merely inanimate object of commerce disconnected from the fortunes and happiness of a living human being, to be dealt with as an object of sale and barter. But that, great as it is, is hardly more than the natural and inevitable corollary of a law whose object is individual freedom and initiative as against any kind of private domination."

In these incisive and forceful words President Wilson endorses the principle for which we have waged this long fight.

The labor sections of the Clayton bill, as finally enacted, are section 6, known as section 7 of the House bill, and sections 20-25, which were sections 18-23 of the House bill. The text of these sections is as follows:

Sec. 6. That the labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce. Nothing contained in the antitrust laws shall be construed to forbid the existence and operation of labor, agricultural, or horticultural organizations, instituted for the purposes of mutual help, and not having capital stock or conducted for profit, or to forbid or restrain individual members of such organization from lawfully carrying out the legitimate objects thereof; nor shall such organizations, or the members thereof be construed to be illegal combinations or conspiracies in restraint of trade, under the antitrust laws.

Sec. 20. That no restraining order or injunction shall be granted by any court of the United States, or a judge or the judges thereof, in any case between an employer and employees, or between employers and employees, or between persons employed and persons seeking employment, involving, or growing out of, a dispute concerning terms or conditions of employment, unless necessary to prevent irreparable injury to property, or to a property right of the party making the application, for which injury there is no adequate remedy at law, and such property or property right must be described with particularity in the application, which must be in writing and sworn to by the applicant, or by his agent or attorney.

And no such restraining order or injunction shall prohibit any person or persons, whether single or in concert, from terminating any relation of employment, or from ceasing to perform any work or labor, or from recommending, advising, or persuading others by peaceful means so to do; or from attending at any place where any such person or persons may lawfully be, for the purpose of peacefully obtaining or communicating information, or from peacefully persuading any person to work or to abstain from working; or from ceasing to patronize or to employ any party to such dispute, or from recommending, advising, or persuading others by peaceful and lawful means so to do; or from paying or giving to, or withholding from, any person engaged in such dispute, any strike benefits or other moneys or things of value; or from peaceably assembling in a lawful manner, and for lawful purposes; or from doing any act or thing which might lawfully be done in the absence of such dispute by any party thereto; nor shall any of the acts specified in this paragraph be considered or held to be violations of any law of the United States.

Sec. 21. That any person who shall wilfully disobey any lawful writ, process, order, rule, decree, or command of any district court of the United States or any court of the District of Columbia by doing any act or thing therein, or thereby forbidden to be done by him, if the act or thing so done by him be of such character as to constitute also a criminal offense under any statute of the United States, or under the laws of any State in which the act was committed, shall be proceeded against for his said contempt as hereinafter provided.

Sec. 22. That whenever it shall be made to appear to any district court or judge thereof, or to any judge therein sitting, by the return of a proper officer on lawful process, or upon the affidavit of some credible person, or by information filed by any district attorney, that there is reasonable ground to believe that any person has been guilty of such contempt the court or judge thereof, or any judge therein sitting, may issue a rule requiring the said person so charged to show cause upon a day certain why he should not be punished therefor, which rule, together with a copy of the affidavit or information, shall be served upon the person charged, with sufficient promptness to enable him to prepare for and make return to the order at the time fixed therein. If upon or by such return, in the judgment of the court, the alleged contempt be not sufficiently purged, a trial shall be directed at a time and place fixed by the court; Provided, however, That if the accused, being a natural person, fail or refuse to make return to the rule to show cause, an attachment may issue against his person to compel an answer, and in case of his continued failure or refusal, or if for any reason, it be impracticable to dispose of the matter on the return day, he may be required to give reasonable bail for his attendance at the trial and his submission to the final judgment of the court. Where the accused is a body corporate, an attachment for the sequestration of its property may be issued upon like refusal or failure to answer.

In all cases within the purview of this act, such trial may be by the court, or, upon demand of the accused, by a jury; in which latter event the court may impanel a jury from the jurors then in attendance, or the court or the judge thereof in chambers may cause a sufficient number of jurors to be selected and summoned, as provided by law, to attend at the time and place of trial, at which time a jury shall be selected and impaneled as upon a trial for misdemeanor; and such trial shall conform, as near as may be, to the practice in criminal cases prosecuted by indictment or upon information.

If the accused be found guilty, judgment shall be entered accordingly, prescribing the punishment, either by fine or imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court. Such fine shall be paid to the United States, or to the complainant, or other party injured by the act constituting the contempt, or may, where more than one is so damaged, be divided, or apportioned among them as the court may direct, but in no case shall the fine to be paid to the United States exceed, in case the accused is a natural person, the sum of $1,000, nor shall such imprisonment exceed the term of six months; Provided, That in any case the court or a judge thereof may, for good cause shown, by affidavit or proof taken in open court or before such judge and filed with the papers in the case, dispense with the rule to show cause, and may issue an attachment for the arrest of the person charged with contempt; in which event such person, when arrested, shall be brought before such court or a judge thereof without unnecessary delay and shall be admitted to bail in a reasonable penalty for his appearance to answer to the charge or for trial for the contempt; and thereafter the proceedings shall be the same as provided herein in case the rule had issued in the first instance.

Sec. 23. That the evidence taken upon the trial of any person so accused may be preserved by bill of exceptions, and any judgment of conviction may be reviewed upon writ of error in all respects as now provided by law in criminal cases, and may be affirmed, reversed, or modified as justice may require. Upon the granting of such writ of error, execution of judgment shall be stayed, and the accused, if thereby sentenced to imprisonment, shall be admitted to bail in such reasonable sum as may be required by the court, or by any justice, or any judge of any district court of the United States or any court of the District of Columbia.

Sec. 24. That nothing herein contained shall be construed to relate to contempts committed in the presence of the court, or so near thereto as to obstruct the administration of justice, nor to contempts committed in disobedience of any lawful writ, process, order, rule, decree, or command entered in any suit or action brought or prosecuted in the name of, or on behalf of, the United States, but the same, and all other cases of contempt not specifically embraced within section 21 of this act, may be punished in conformity to the usages at law, and in equity now prevailing.

Sec. 25. That no proceeding for contempt shall be instituted against any person unless begun within one year from the date of the act complained of; nor shall any such proceeding be a bar to any criminal prosecution for the same act or acts; but nothing herein contained shall affect any proceedings in contempt pending at the time of the passage of this act.

THE ESSENCE OF THE CLAYTON LAW.

By SAMUEL GOMPERS.

To Workers and Students:

There is an insidious and persistent attempt by the enemies of organized labor to minimize the importance of the labor sections of the Clayton Antitrust Act and to create the impression that the legislation had not secured for the workers better protection in exercising their rights. Because the ultimate purpose of this attempt is to mislead the workers and to discourage efforts along the only lines from which progress can reasonably be expected and because many workers have not at hand sources of information by which they could inform themselves that the attacks upon the Clayton Antitrust Act are based upon untruths. I am putting in your hands this simple, concise statement. In your work among the rank and file of the workers you will find many opportunities to press home these truths and to counteract this attempt to mislead public opinion.

I urge upon you to let no misrepresentations go on unchallenged and unrefuted in regard to the great victory won by organized labor in the legislation embodied in the labor sections of the Clayton Act, which became law October 15, 1914.

The two sections of the act that are of greatest importance to Labor are 6 and 20. Section 6 is as follows:

"Sec. 6. That the labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce. Nothing contained in the antitrust laws shall be construed to forbid the existence and operation of labor, agricultural or horticultural organizations, instituted for the purposes of mutual help, and not having capital stock or conducted for profit, or to forbid or restrain individual members of such organizations from lawfully carrying out the legitimate objects thereof; nor shall such organizations, or the members thereof, be held or construed to be illegal combinations or conspiracies in restraint of trade under the antitrust laws."

The first sentence of this paragraph "that the labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce" enacts into law the fundamental principle which is the basis of industrial liberty. That principle distinguishes between the labor power of a human being who produces an article and the thing which he produces.

In brief, the thing upon which that principle is justified is as follows: Men and women are not of the same nature as the things they make. Labor power is not a product—it is ability to produce. The products of labor may be bought and sold without affecting the freedom of the one who produces or who owns them—but the labor power of an individual can not be separated from his living body. Regulation of and conditions affecting relations under which labor power is used are a part of the lives and the bodies of men and women. Laws which apply the same regulation to workers, and to the products made by workers, are based upon the principle that there is no difference between men and things. That theory denies workers the consideration and the rights given to human beings. It denies the freedom and protection of free men and women.

All manual work was formerly done by slaves. Slaves were property. The law treated them as things. Legal theory was built upon that principle. The principle by which workers were branded with slavery runs through ancient legal precedents, procedure and judicial decisions.

The common law of England was tainted by this idea so degrading to human workers.

The law of the United States was built up on this legal and judicial heritage from Europe and chiefly from England. Although slavery as an institution never applied to white workers in this country, yet in the courts they have had to suffer from and combat this ancient injustice placed upon former workers. This injustice came by injunctions issued in industrial disputes and through perversion of the Sherman Antitrust Law, its provisions were interpreted so as to apply to human beings. Both the injunction and the trust law are intended to apply to property, extension of their application to human labor power and normal human activities for human betterment reduces the workers to the same legal category as things.

This is a brief explanation why this statement "the labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce" is epochal. It marks the end of the old period where workers were under the shadow of slavery and the beginning of a new period when workers nor their labor power are to be regarded as things—the property of another.

As all workers know that under present conditions they have benefits from industrial freedom only when they organize, as individuals they are unable to secure better conditions from employers or even to make agreements—otherwise they can only accept or decline whatever terms the employer chooses to offer. Immediate necessity may compel them to accept terms that are unfair. Judges have treated labor unions as organizations in illegal restraint of trade and have held that their normal activities were conspiracies.

One of the reasons assigned by the Supreme Court of the United States for holding that the Sherman Antitrust Act applied in the case of the Danbury Hatters was that the hatters' organization had succeeded in establishing the union shop in seventy out of eighty-two hat manufacturing establishments.

The second sentence of section 6 secures to labor organizations recognition as legal organizations, the right to exist and to carry out the legitimate purposes of organization. It exempts labor organizations and their members from the provision of trust legislation, when they are performing the duties for which the unions were instituted.

The activities which are the legitimate purposes of organized labor are of vital importance. Courts through abuse of the writ of injunction and by judicial interpretation have denied workers the right to do that which is necessary in order to promote their welfare and secure their protection against employers' greed and injustice. Section 20 specifically enumerates certain rights formerly denied by courts which are now lawful. The text of Section 20 is:

"Sec. 20. That no restraining order or injunction shall be granted by any court of the United States, or a judge or the judges thereof, in any case between an employer and employees, or between employers and employees, or between employees, or between persons employed and persons seeking employment, involving, or growing out of, a dispute concerning terms or conditions of employment, unless necessary to prevent irreparable injury to property, or to property right, of the party making the application, for which injury there is no adequate remedy at law, and such property or property right must be described with particularity in the application, which must be in writing and sworn to by the applicant or by his agent or attorney.

"And no such restraining order or injunction shall prohibit any person or persons whether singly or in concert, from terminating any relation of employment, or from ceasing to perform any work or labor, or from recommending, advising or persuading others by peaceful means so to do; or from attending at any place where any such person or persons may lawfully be, for the purpose of peacefully obtaining or communicating information, or from peacefully persuading any person to work or to abstain from working; or from ceasing to patronize or to employ any party to such dispute, or for recommending, advising or persuading others by peaceful and lawful means so to do; or from paying or giving to, or withholding from, any person engaged in such dispute, any strike benefits or other moneys or things of value; or from peacefully assembling in a lawful manner, and for lawful purposes; or from doing any act or thing which might lawfully be done in the absence of such dispute by any party thereto; nor shall any of the acts specified in this paragraph be considered or held to be violations of any law of the United States."

You will note that the second paragraph declares that workers have a right to quit work "singly or in concert"—that is, to strike. They have a right to ask others to join the strike movement. They have a right to "picket." They have a right to "withhold their patronage," or, in everyday English, to "boycott," and they have a right to recommend, advise or persuade others "to boycott." They have a right to pay strike benefits. They have the right of peaceful assemblage.

Then note particularly this significant clause: "Nor shall any of the acts specified in this paragraph be considered or held to be violations of any law of the United States."

These rights enumerated here, now secured by the Clayton Act, have again and again been denied workers through the abuse of the injunctive writ. These injunctions were issued by the courts extending their jurisdiction and power, and then using this extended jurisdiction and power as precedents for further encroachment upon the workers' rights and liberties.

Now as to the decision in the Hatters' case, which occasioned the campaign of misrepresentation carried on through the daily press and organs of hostile employers. The Hatters' case was begun in 1903. That case and the decision of the Supreme Court in 1908 holding that the Sherman Antitrust Law applied to organizations of labor, were what convinced the A. F. of L. that legislation to prevent such litigation was necessary to protect the very existence of organized labor. It was the effort to secure such legislation that finally succeeded in the enactment of the labor provisions of the Clayton Act, which became law October 15, 1914.

